Ditches And Streetside Parking Plan Given Attention By Village Council

Ditches dug a uniform distance from property lines was advocated by commissioner Ed Antosh at a regular meeting of the village council, January 14.

There is going to be quite a program of drainage for the town, Antosh said, and relocating of ditches could be avoided later on if a definite distance was established now.

Chairman Jacobsen said it was a good idea but many existing ditches were out of line already. Misplacement of transmission poles was one of the problems.

Stan Clarke urged settlement of the matter saying that the location for all new ditches could be established. He said the present policy was to build sidewalks one foot from property lines, then four feet of sidewalk, then a four foot boulevard and then the ditches.

Antosh said there should be room on each side of the 18-foot blacktop to park cars.

Jacobsen said they were attempting to dig the ditches nine feet from the property lines, which on the 66 feet road allowance, leaves plenty of space for parking. Perhaps, he said, nine feet on each side of the blacktop could be gravelled for "roll-in" parking. He anticipated a much greater need for parking space this year when the new highway opens.

Antosh suggested and it was agreed that the council as a group should inspect all the streets in respect to the problem of drainage.

Commissioner Kindree asked if there was an engineer's plan showing which way the flow of surface water should go. The chairman replied that Budgell and Frost had done such a survey a few years ago and the plan had been followed very closely by the commissioners.

Council Work Allotted To Committees For 1958

At the first regular meeting of the village council this year, January 14, committees for 1958 were appointed by chairman, John Jacobsen.

There is no change from last year: finance, Jacobsen; bylaws, Stan Clarke; parks and municipal buildings, Clarke and Ed.

Teachers Should Stick Strictly To Teaching

Moonlighting by teachers, now that they have received a substantial wage increase, will be frowned upon by the trustees of School District No. 48, it was disclosed at a meeting of the board January 9.

During a discussion of the work of the janitors, Carl Walton, Woodfibre trustee, said the job should not be given to teachers unless there was no alternative. At some of the more isolated schools in the district janitor work has been done by teachers.

Board members felt, though they could not forbid moonlighting, that the teaching staff should be discouraged from taking part time jobs.

Centennial Library Justified

Library Circulation Increases Three Times In Two Years

Circulation has grown from 4,667 in 1956 to 6,101 last year according to the report of the librarian, Mrs. A. McLellan, read at the annual meeting of the Squamish Library Association last Monday evening. In the two years since it was opened the library has also grown from 100 books and nine borrowers on the first day it opened to 1,044 books and a one-day borrowing high of 75 last November.

Total volumes in the library's adult section are 440 fiction and 133 non-fiction, while there are 471 juvenile books. To this total are added 110 volumes from the Public Library Commission in Victoria, which are changed every four months. Mrs. McLellan also stated that there are 358 registered borrowers on file, 130 adults and 228 children.

Circulation in the first month was 227. In November 1957, the peak month last year, circulation was 675, almost three times as much. "This is justification without further comment of the existence of a library in Squamish and proof of the acceptance of the library as part of the village's life," she stated.

Children's books have enjoyed the greatest circulation, with well over half of the books in 1957 taken out by children. Figures were, children's books, 3,519; adults fiction, 2,077; adults non-fiction, 505. Fifty new children's books had been added to this section in the past two weeks.

The need of more space was stressed. Mrs. McLellan said that additional bookcases had been added and these were already filled to capacity, and she did not know where to put the new shipment expected from the travelling library.

The library staff, all volunteers, worked a total of 338 hours in the library. This did not include cataloguing, ordering, repairing books, and other essential jobs. She expressed her thanks to those who had helped in the library in the past year, Mrs. Munro, Mrs. Nott, Mrs. to be found.

JACK MELVILLE, 42212 Evergreen Drive, has been appointed director of Pacific National Exhibition, representing the Vancouver Board of Trade. Mr. Melville is director of public relations for Home Oil Company.

The guests of honor entertained their hosts with demonstrations of the newest steps and dances.

The Squamish Club hopes to have a caller in the near future.

Kick It Around

Some people in Squamish Valley unconsciously love trouble.

With faces as long as a wet week they moan and groan about how tough they are feeling, how much money they owe, how badly the house needs repairing and so on into the night.

When they get through telling of their own troubles, they'll automatically start on someone else's. By the time they are through gassing, they'll make you feel badly, too!

Just the other day, we read an interesting statement in one of our national magazines. "If you could kick the person who caused most of your troubles, your trials and tribulations, you wouldn't be able to sit down for a week."

Whether you are a chronic complainer or not, we leave that thought with you. Kick it around for a while and see if it isn't true.

Remember, we in the North Howe Sound area, and that includes Pemberton Valley, live in a land of majestic beauty and with good neighbors.

Weeklies Close to Grass Roots

Probably the hallmark of weekly newspapers is the homely, down-to-earth touch that is so often missing from the large city sheets. This is usually more marked in the Letters to the Editor, and the following gem was found in the Lynden Tribune one of the top-notch weeklies on the Pacific coast.

We are printing it without alteration, though find ourselves a bit confused as to the real story that must be lurking behind all those words.

Editors, The Lynden Tribune:

It has just been brought to my attention that an article on the front page of your paper of Aug. 22, 1957, was misinforming and contained untrue statements concerning my father, the late Jed D. Parrish's former trucking and stage business there in Lynden known as Lynden Rapid Transit Co in the early 1900's.

I wish to clear up false statements in your article. First you stated that Lee Parrish was a partner with Jed which was untrue. Jed Parrish's partner was a Mr. Lauckhart who he bought out and later Vern Parrish, another brother, was Jed's partner. Lee Parrish (Glenn Parrish's father), was never in business with Jed. Also you stated that the man in the picture was Lee Parrish (Glenn's Dad). This is false. This man is Jed D. Parrish, owner, operator of this truck and others in the business. His other driver was Vern Parrish, not Glenn's father. Lee Parrish was not in the transfer or freight business at all and he was engaged in livestock and horse trading, buying, selling, etc., in another part of the country at this time.

Another thing I wish to clear you on is the spelling of Glenn and Lee's name. They have always spelled their names with one "r" until Glenn came to Lynden recently. (This was evidently the reason for the change). Jed Parrish was the only one of six brothers (Anson, Harlon, Byron, Vern, Jed and Lee) who spelled his name with two "r's".

Your article states that Mr. Glenn Parrish recalled that "when his dad had the transfer business the roads were bad." What transfer business did Lee have? None, that the rest of the Parrishs ever heard of. Jed Parrish was also the driver of the truck going through Wiser Lake bridge. Lee did not drive that truck. A man with Dad (Jed Parrish at the time was named George Leake of Lynden). Lee was not in or near the truck.

I remain respectfully,
Mrs. Lorna M. Reiff,
Formerly Lorna H. Parrish,
Jed Parrish's daughter,

Contemporary Opinion

Women vs. Prices

An increasing number of American housewives are reacting unhappily over food prices just now.

For they know that wholesale food price indices have been slumping. Yet prices of many of the processed foods they buy have been climbing right over the top of the cash register.

One reason is that the busy housewife—often holding down an extra job—tends to buy more and more foods already prepared. At a price.

It is unlikely this trend will be reversed. For before the backtracking went very far a great many women would have to shift from office or shop to kitchen. One reason there has been no greater consumer revolt against steadily rising prices is that many consumer incomes have also risen. And one overlooked source of this rise has been the money working women have added to family income.

In the years from 1947 to 1956 the employment statistics show a gain of 20 per cent in the proportion of married women under 35 going to work outside the home. But the big gain has been one of 50 per cent among women above that age. These figures hold the secret of a very large addition to family incomes which in other periods have been limited to the husbands' earnings. But this trend must be nearing an upward limit.

Those who think prices can continue to be pushed up might well take notice: Not only are housewives displeased; there is not an inexhaustible number of women who could add to family income by taking jobs. When women can't earn more they will be slow to spend more.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, The Times, Sir:

The talk given to the Teachers' Association concerned only health activities among school and pre-school children with special emphasis on the need for dental care, and further discussion on the advantage of fluoridation.

The health standards as judged by the very high response of parents to the immunization program and recommendations by local Doctors, following school medicals, is very high, but I am not qualified to say that general health standards are better than average within the Province.

The health care of infants, pre-schools and school children, though a very large part of the Public Health program, is by average within the Province.

no means the complete health very extensive activities of the Sanitarian and many problems concerned with adults.

Local Organizations and the general public have shown more than keen interest and willingness to help with the health program in this district, and the staff of the local health office would like to take this opportunity to express their appreciation and extend best wishes to all for the Centennial year.

Joan Anderson
Public Health Nurse

Ed. note: A report in last week's Times said... health standards in the district are very high, far better than the average within the Province.

Letter of Thanks Recalls Mid-air Crash, Year Ago

A year ago, on January 13, two RCAF jets collided in mid-air and crashed in flames on a remote part of Brandywine Mountain, 16 miles north of Squamish. Two of the flyers survived and two were killed.

Found and air-search parties quickly organized by the RCAF, struggled through deep snow and freezing temperatures to rescue one survivor the next day and the other a day later.

The parents of Reserve Flying Officer Bernard McCormack, one of the survivors, have written to Mrs. May Gorsuch, thanking her for her part in the search and rescue and asking her to pass on their thanks to all those in this area who participated. Mrs. Gorsuch, a member of the Ground Observer Corps, reported the accident to the RCAF.

They write that their son spent three months in hospital recovering from burns to his

Local Teacher Weds Australian Engineer

Miss Jean Marie Ferguson became the bride of Arthur Jacob Henry Looker at a beautiful Christmas theme wedding in Vernon, December 28, 1957.

Miss Ferguson is well known in Squamish, having taught school here for one year and a half. Mr. Looker, formerly from Australia, was here last year as an engineer with H. H. Marshall & Associates Ltd. The bride wore a full length white chiffon gown with a long-sleeved bodice of lace. A tiara studded with mother-of-pearl sequins held the fingertip veil. She carried a band bouquet of red carnations.

Ruth Simpson, of Vernon, the bride's elder sister was matron of honor. Birdie Cooney of Vernon, was bridesmaid. Both attendants wore elegantly simple, white chiffon over taffeta ballerina length dresses. Red taffeta sashes, crossing at the waist front, draped gracefully to the back hem of the full skirts. The attendants wore bands of white feathers in their hair and carried white carnations in bouquets similar to that of the bride.

Graham Wills of Sydney, Australia, was the groom's best man, while the bride's brother, Robert Ferguson, also attended the groom.

The singing of the Lord's Prayer at the beginning of the service set the sacred mood of the double ring ceremony. Mr. G. Nuyans also sang a second number during the signing of the register.

Ushers were Doug Simpson and Bill Roth.

A reception followed in the Vernon United Church Hall. The head table was decorated with holly and centres of red taper candles.

Ed Wiggins of Didsbury, Alberta, proposed the toast to the bride.

The bride wore a powder blue going away dress. Her accessories included a fluffy white fur hat, black patent shoes and bag and a corsage of pink and white carnations. The couple motored to the United States for their honeymoon. They will establish their home in Vancouver.

To prepare, spread a layer of flour ¼" deep in a pan.

Bake in a hot oven about 3 min., or until a golden-brown. Stir once while browning.

$1100 Car Port Too Elaborate For Teacherage Board Decides

Preliminary sketches and cost estimates of car ports for three bedroom teacherages, submitted by architects Allan Gray, Stillwell and Lobban Vancouver, were turned down by the school board of District No. 43 at their meeting January 9.

Built as an adjoining 10x20 structure with one wall, the back closed, and a concrete slab floor, the architects estimated the cost at $1100 for a single carport and $2200 for a double.

Archibute Smith, trustee from Mount Sheer, said the price seemed much too high. A friend of his from North Vancouver, he said, had built a car port for $300.

Harold Bailey said the cost could be greatly reduced by eliminating the closed back wall and the concrete floor. These were not essential, anyway, he said.

Trustees Hurley, Fougberg and Phillip urged strict budgeting for the year to help compensate for salary increases granted to teachers.

The board agreed to advise the architects of the changes desired and to hold the matter in abeyance until revised plans and costs were submitted.

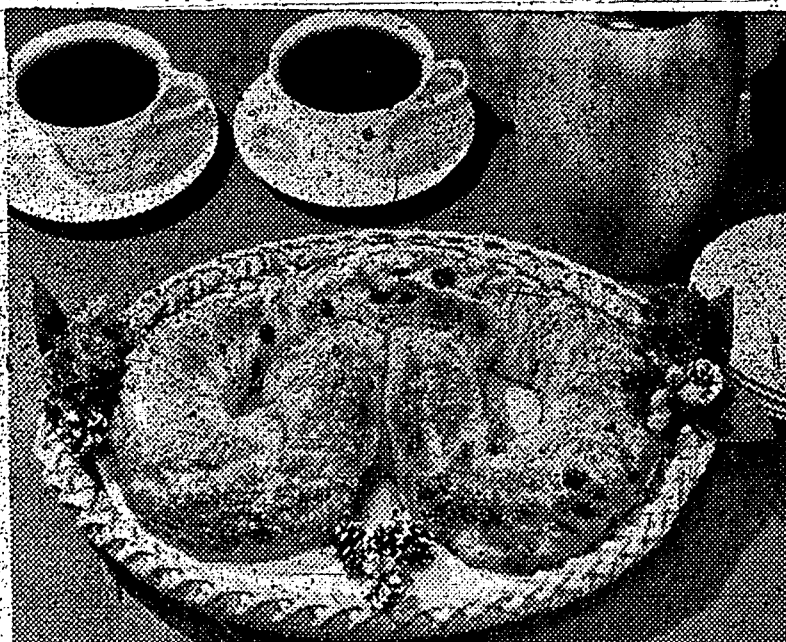

Car ports were requested by the resident teachers. The school board's plan is to recover the cost in ten years by increased rents. Cost of such building is not shareable with governments grants.

Screech owls do not screech. They have a soft quavering call. Owls are not blind in daytime but prefer to hunt at dusk or early dawn when their enormous eyes give them an advantage in the dim light.

This recipe for Danish Twist which is native to Denmark gives a delectable tidbit to go along with the hospitality and cups of tea and coffee served when neighbors and friends drop in. Served with butter, this yeast-raised coffee cake is a homemade work of art that brings a sense of accomplishment and pride to its creator.

DANISH TWIST

Yield - 1 twist;

- 1/2 cup lukewarm water
- 1 teaspoon granulated sugar
- 1 envelope active dry yeast
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1/4 cup granulated sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons shortening
- 1 well beaten egg
- 2 1/2 cups (about) once-sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 cup seedless raisins
- 1 well beaten egg
- Icing sugar

Measure lukewarm water into large mixing bowl; stir in the 1 teaspoon sugar. Sprinkle with yeast. Let stand 10 minutes, then stir well.

Meantime, scald milk; stir in the 1/4 cup sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Stir into dissolved yeast along with well-beaten egg and 1 1/2 cups of the flour; beat until smooth and elastic. Stir in raisins and sufficient additional flour to make a soft dough — about one cup more. Turn out on floured board or canvas and knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl. Grease top. Cover. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk — about 1 1/2 hours.

Punch down dough. Turn out on canvas and knead until smooth. Form dough into a roll about 28 inches long. Twist the roll by turning ends in opposite directions. Carefully lift the roll onto greased cookie sheet and shape into a large "pretzel" by forming the roll into a crescent then drawing ends into the arch and tucking them under to keep dough from untwisting. Brush with well-beaten egg and dust generously with icing sugar. Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk — about one hour. Bake in a moderate oven. (350 degree F.) 20 to 25 minutes.
