Railway Accepts Council Proposal

Village Offered Water System

Present Rates Sufficient;
Self-Supporting Utility

Pacific Great Eastern Railway Company has agreed to sell the Squamish and district water works to the Village for the sum of one dollar.

Large Funeral Thursday For Max Draney

One of the largest Squamish funerals in recent years took place at the United Church, March 5, when friends and family paid their last respects to Macaveny Rush "Max" Draney, 47, killed in a car accident March 2.

Rev. Norman Penrose was in charge of the ceremony at the church while Eric Kusch, district deputy of the Elks Lodge, officiated at the burial in the Elks plot at Squamish Cemetery. Arrangements were by Burrard Funeral Chapel and Anderson's Funeral Service.

Mr. Draney, a resident of Squamish for the past 15 years and superintendent of logging for Squamish Mills at the time of his death, came from one of the pioneer families of British Columbia.

His grandfather, in the early days, built the first fish cannery north of the Fraser River at Namu near the town of Ocean Falls, where Max was born, being one of the first white children born in that area. His father was a sea captain.

He is survived by his wife, Mary at Squamish; two daughters, Mrs. Maxine Croxall, Toronto, and Miss Myrna, Vancouver; two sisters, Mrs. Barbara Higham and Mrs. Hilma Hamm; and two brothers, Robert, New Westminster, and Deane in the RCAF at Toronto.

Pallbearers were: Frank Buckley, Pat Brennan, Ernie Naud, Mike Johnston, Tom Johnston and Norm MacDonald.

Elks from the Squamish Lodge, of which the deceased was a member, acted as honor-pallbearers: Buster Marks, Hendrickson, Bill Walmsley, Al McIntosh, Lou Brooks and Lonnie Wray.

Shannon Falls Site For Residential

A residential survey of 25 acres on the mountain side of the road at Shannon Falls between Olsen Creek and Shannon Creek has been undertaken by the new owners, Bob Bishop and George Behner.

Mr. Bishop said development of the property, formerly owned by Fred Burgess of Chemainus, would await demand.

A former option held by the same partners on 125 acres in the Shannon Bay area was dropped because cost of development was found to be too costly.

2nd TEACHER FOR MT. SHEER

A second teacher has been employed at Mount Sheer to accommodate increased enrollment.

She is Mrs. Ruth Tomlinson of Woodfibre and wife of the school principal there.

There is a three-room elementary school at Mount Sheer, two of which are now in use.

Mrs. E. M. Friesen is principal.

Negotiations, off and on over a period of years, were culminated in the acceptance of the Council's latest proposal to the railway company: mainly, a charge for water supplied to the PGE at 8 cents per 100 cu. ft. up to 40,000 cu. ft. per month and regular industrial rates for water used in excess of that amount. This agreement is for 10 years.

The PGE had asked for free water for the shops and station for a period of 30 years.

SELF LIQUIDATING
A survey by the village last year indicated that much of the system, installed about 30 years ago, should be rebuilt. Maintenance costs during the past few years when rates were $1 a month were in a year $14,000 in excess of revenue.

Residence rates were raised in 1958 to $3 a month. It is the opinion of the Council and Associated Engineers, who did last year's survey, that this rate is sufficient to permit liquidation in 20 years of debentures sold to raise money for renewing the system.

PLEBISCITE
Finalization of the transfer of ownership must await approval of a plebiscite by the voters, and the passing of the necessary by-laws.

The water system was originally built to service the PGE locomotives and shops and gradually expanded over the years to accommodate residents.

For many years a power house supplying electricity to the PGE and locality was operated in conjunction with the water works. This utility is no longer in use with power now supplied by the B.C. Electric.

Superintendent Special Speaker

T. G. Carter, superintendent of schools for District No. 48, will be special speaker at the Elementary PTA meeting, on March 17, in the Squamish Elementary School.

The meeting night was changed to Tuesday instead of Thursday to accommodate the speaker.

Regular business session will be held at the early part of the meeting.

PGE PASSENGER TRAFFIC DOWN BUT RIDES LONGER

Decrease in passenger traffic on the PGE and steps taken to offset it were discussed recently in the Legislature.

Down to 166,206 in 1958 from 263,454 in 1957, the Premier attributed the reduction to five factors:

1. Closing of Britannia Mining and Smelting Company's plant at Britannia Beach and Mount Sheer.
2. Curtailment of operations at Woodfibre.

3. Extended fire season and forest closures, with the resultant shut-down of lumbering and logging operations and the restriction on tourist traffic.

PGE HALL REPAIRED

... NYGARD BUILDING IMPAIRED

STORY OF TWO buildings; that of the PGE Hall continued and uncertain; the chronicle of the other ended. Volunteers of the Squamish Centennial Committee and the PGE Employees Association, which owns the building, replaced a supporting beam and now the hall is considered safe for use. In the top picture Ray Street, chairman of the Centennial Committee, and Bert Summerskill, president of the PGE Employees Association, are shown effecting repairs. Others on the job at the time were: Lloyd Twiss, George Behner, Andy Greatrex, and Max Tetachuk. The hall has been offered to the Centennial Committee free of charge for a Fun Nite, April 20. The Nygard building, condemned and ugly, after almost half a century of use as restaurant, pool room, living quarters, garage, etc., is gone, a definite improvement to the scenery of the business section of the village.

Squamish Mills Buys From Grandview Logging

A timber claim (approx. 15 million board feet) has been bought by Squamish Mills from Grandview Logging.

Pat Brennan and John Drenka, partners in Squamish Mills, have also taken over some of Grandview's logging equipment and the roads into the claim.

The Grandview Company, owned by Ed and Emil Deering will contract the hauling of logs from the operation.

The timber claim is in the Squamish Valley, about 15 miles north of the village.

Road repairs are now being made and logging will begin as soon as the road is completed.

CUBS AND SCOUT VISIT RCAF STN.

Cubmaster Tony Martin took Cubs of White 6, 1st Squamish A Pack, to Sea Island for a tour of the Royal Canadian Air Force Station, March 8.

Eight boys were on this trip and Mr. Martin said other excursions will be arranged for the rest of the Cubs during the year.

On this trip were: Tom Macconnell, Billy Flack, Tommy Jardine, Douglas Harley, John Kristianson, David Lapierre, Stephen and Douglas Martin.

Douglas Martin is a sixer from Purple Six, and Stephen is from the Scout Troop.

A new ruling regarding pay checks of the Howe Sound Company is now in force.

In future wives will have to have signed authorization to pick up their husbands' checks.

This way the poor working man will at least be able to handle his check for a few minutes.

Election & Reports Of Hospital WA At Annual Meeting

At the annual meeting of Women's Auxiliary to the Squamish General Hospital, new officers were elected and reports given of last year's work.

Mrs. E. Gedge was elected president; Mrs. D. Barnfield, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Ruth Smith, 2nd vice-president and treasurer; Mrs. V. J. Clarke, secretary.

A total of $623.43 was raised during the year chiefly by raffles, Tag Day, and from the Baby Gift Booth at the hospital.

Most of this was spent, $586.17 in direct gifts to the hospital; $115 for linen; $172.34 for four bedside tables and stools, $25 for six mirrors and $201 for six mattresses.

Since the report an additional six mattresses have been donated by the W.A. and are now in use at the hospital.

Resident Doctor At Britannia Beach

Dr. John E. Burrows is the temporary resident doctor at Britannia.

A graduate of Queens University, Dr. Burrows completed his internship at the Royal Jubilee Hospital in Victoria.

He started work here on March 5 and expects to stay a month.

During his stay here he will be associated with Drs. Kindree and D'Appolonia of Squamish, who have contracted to provide medical services to Britannia Mines.

Chiefs Champions In Local Basketball Series

The final game among the local basketball teams saw the High School Chiefs emerge as champions on February 21st.

The contest was a closely contested all the way with the Jets making every effort to win.

Never did more than six points separate the battling teams; at half-time the score stood at 25-23 for the Chiefs who pulled ahead very slowly during the second half to win 59-53, in spite of the fact that the Jets were able to tie the score more than once.

In the opening game of the evening the Shirts defeated the Hornets 16-8.

The second game between the Hornets and the Britannia Pacers saw the latter win 47-33.

Although the Pacers led at half-time 21-15 the Hornets rallied to tie the game early in the second half but the Pacers came right back to lead once more.

PGE And Crown Hold Over 40% Tax Free

An audience with Premier Bennett is being sought by Village Council to effect relaxation of Crown and PGE land reserves in Squamish and district.

Council contends that normal growth and development is seriously hampered by this reserve on over 40 per cent of the land in the village.

COUNCIL STYMIED
Recent requests for re-zoning for commercial and industrial accommodation have made the council keenly aware of the limited area over which they can make a ruling as to immediate occupation.

Lifting of the land freeze, or at least a partial thaw, the council feels, is imperative.

USELESS TO REZONE
Re-zoning or expansion of the village would be of little value, unless land so classified for use can be occupied. Demand for property for new businesses has increased greatly, especially since the opening of the highway to Vancouver.

This has created demands for spot re-zoning which the council has found not to be in the best interests of the village.

A delegation of three, chairman John Jacobsen, commissioner LaVerne Kindree, M.D., and village clerk Mrs. Hannah McCormack were appointed at a special meeting of the council, March 3, and a letter drafted to the Premier requesting an appointment with him and the Minister of Lands and Forests, the Hon. Ray Williston. Both men are also directors of the PGE.

FOR VILLAGE USE
For municipal use the village would like property for storage yards and garage facilities.

Applications to buy such have been turned down by the PGE though offers to lease have been made.

Council does not feel justified in building on leased land and will press for clear title to the land needed.

These and other points will be contained in a brief to present to the Premier and his minister.

Edith Marchant, one of the few Squamish girls to be awarded the Gold Cord for Guiding, will receive her Cord from Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Ross at Government House in Victoria, April 2. Edith, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cy Marchant, is in Grade 12 at Howe Sound High, and is high school columnist for The Times.

Preparation for Paving

Road Work Now By Village Crew

Road work by the village crew in the past week indicates where some of the street paving will be done this year.

The big jobs for the works crew has been cleaning up Second from Vancouver Street to Westminster at the dike; and relocating the deep ditch on Fourth from Victoria to end of travelled portion past St. Joseph's Church.

Both sections will be widened and gravelled in preparation for paving.

Other sections being readied for paving are lower end of Newport Avenue and from Brandyfold's on Third to Main to Second.

Sixth Street is being extended to dike as single lane gravel road for use in case of emergencies.

Britannia's New Community Spirit

Britannia Beach mines are alive and slowly getting into high gear. But the working giant is only half awake until a community spirit is born.

So once again dusty, unused activity halls and meeting rooms are clanging to renovations and humming to the yak-kyak of small town conversation between interested neighbors. Like a huge transfusion, Britannia is living again with the rush of fresh supply of healthy interested people, building and repairing in every section of the operation's pulsating form.

This newspaper is pleased to see the rebirth of Britannia Beach Community Club with an executive of sincere, hard-working citizens. There is nothing more important than a strong, dedicated steering committee to formulate and direct a sensible and sustaining program of community activity.

However, a vital ingredient to all successful community activity is the populace itself. Co-operation, or the lack of, from parents, young people and children can mean the direct life or death of such a community organization. It is as simple as that.

So while we congratulate the growing membership of the Britannia Beach C.C. we urge every local resident at the Beach and surrounding area to pitch in with a membership and a willing hand. It is a good investment.

Already through the Club's efforts, many of the amenities of the community are back into operation. In fact just about everything is being done to make Britannia a better place in which to live for young and old.

So if you haven't taken out a membership yet, Mr. and Mrs. Britanniaite just trot down to Don MacGregor's store and take one out now. Let's see the old Britannia Beach spirit blossom forth with the vigor of a young blood.

Go man, go!

Women and Local Economy ...

Swiss voters (male) recently decided at the polls that a woman's place is not in politics. But it is unnecessary to understand Swiss women.

There is a parallel in the business community of the North Howe Sound centres.

Women's opinions and their likes and dislikes have a far-reaching effect on the policies of many a community, economically. For when the "little woman" goes out to buy for her family, it is not an exaggeration to say that she has it in her power to make or break the village economy of any business area.

It would be foolish to suggest to the family shoppers who are influenced by price, quality and service, that to buy locally should always be their first concern. But it is a fact that unless they buy a high proportion from local stores, the economy of Squamish and environs will suffer, job opportunities will diminish and wages will shrink.

And this will happen all along the line from the bobby pin to the loaf of bread to the shingle nail.

It may not be a woman's place to don a safety helmet and work in heavy, dangerous industry, but the local woman's buying habits are of grave concern to the economic health of North Howe Sound industry. Any man who has ever drawn up his chair and sat down to a meal of meat, potatoes, gravy and apple pie could write a companion piece on man's influence in the kitchen.

It's not always the cook who decides on the menu.

Ain't Science Wonderful? ...

How many people, that is, well meaning housewives, like the idea of buying "milk from contented cows?" We wager there will be thousands.

To the familiar advertising slogan of "Milk from Contented cows" there may soon be added another similar phrase, "Beef from tranquilized steers."

Recently experiments were conducted in the United States with a new tranquilizing drug, which was injected into steers a few days before they were slaughtered at a Kansas City packing plant. The effect of the drug, it is reported, is to induce a devil-may-care mood in the animals which lasts until they are slaughtered.

Untranquilized beasts fidget, lose weight, go off their feed and fight.

An experiment conducted with newspapermen also revealed that the majority of them, after tasting steaks from both treated and untreated animals, were agreed that the meat from the tranquilized steers was better.

The inventor of the new drug, asked whether it was good to use on people, said: "I really don't know. I've never eaten people."

Haste in Decision May Cause Regret ...

Metford Chapman, manager, of the West Vancouver transportation department, found it his duty to report that our municipal buses are showing a loss for the last six months on the P.G.E. station to Vancouver run. But while there was a $66.86 deficit for the last half of the year, the twelve month P.G.E. operation registered a profit.

Like any board of directors of a large corporation, the Reeve and Council spent some time discussing the development. Suggestions all the way from dropping the P.G.E. shuttle service entirely to setting up a fresh route from a proposed flag stop at 17th Street in West Vancouver were canvassed.

Let us review the facts which were brought out. Revenues from P.G.E. fares have been dwindling since the opening of the Upper Levels Highway to Squamish last August. Train travel conditions were further hindered by the summer-long forest closure of the entire North Howe Sound area resulting in the loss of many large scheduled charter trips from North Vancouver to Alta Lake resort.

But on the other hand, not only is the P.G.E. Dayliner traffic to points north of Squamish as far as Dawson Creek and Fort St. John on the increase, but there is every indication of heavy short hauls to the revitalized and bustling Britannia and expanding Squamish. The P.G.E., devoid of its political implications, is unquestionably the awakening nerve of the industrial, resourcefully rich giant sprawling north to the Arctic circle.

Another important aspect is the positive nature of the municipal bus shuttle service. So efficiently pared down, the P.G.E. service to Vancouver is actually fitted in with the drivers' shifts so that there is a bare minimum of overtime. This effects a small operating loss when traffic is down and a handsome profit when volume is normal.

Should the good service reputation and the knowledge of all the short cuts developed by the Blue Buses be handed over to another bus system who are willing to take the chance?

The Squamish Times feels strongly that little, if nothing, can be gained by initiating a new bus route to a proposed "whistle stop" at 17th Street and Bellevue. Nor do we feel that this is the time to panic over a temporary setback in railway passenger revenue.

Few municipal taxpayers would criticize the Reeve and Council for taking a rational, year-round aspect of the shuttle service and arrive at a decision of continuing it for at least a year. The condition is fluid, and it would be very regrettable to chop off a potential money-making service because of taking a myopic look of a $66.86 loss.

Reading a financial report of a public transportation system is one thing, but interpreting it with a weather eye to the projected economic factors attending it is another. The hesitant may call it a gamble while the astute businessman would call it a business risk often enjoyed by successful corporations.

But we believe this is a good risk which will eventually pay tremendous revenues and indeed might someday be the deciding factor in saving the Blue Buses cookie. Hold on to the P.G.E. service for a year at least.

Prejudice

By FATHER ALBERT EISENBERG

There is a sign hanging in some office I know which says:

"I've got my mind made up. Don't confuse me with facts."

Most of us don't have a sign so obviously displayed to justify our actions. We just go on the principle. Prejudice it's called. We are prejudiced when we pre-judge a case, hold an opinion or even a conviction before the facts are known. The diabolical thing about this business is that by the time our minds are made up the facts don't look like facts.

Prejudice, of course, is not an invention of our times. It has shown its ugly face so often in history that by now one would think that men realize its destructive power. Take the famous case: Christ was condemned to death not because He was guilty, but because some people had made up their minds up and didn't want to be confused.

We still find prejudice in our time of enlightenment.

The heart of much prejudice lies here: judgments noisily made and wrongly made. It's done all the time, on the national scene and more often in the home in front of one's children or at work. How much injustice and self deceit have followed on the proud decision not to back down, not to be shown publicly wrong? We sacrifice our honor rather than look the fool, and thus become fools.

The high priests of the Supreme Council in Jerusalem were just such victims of prejudice as this. After Lazarus was raised from the dead they said of Jesus: "This man is giving many proofs of power. What then are we to do? If we let him go without interference, all the world will believe in Him." (Jn. 11: 48) They acted on their prejudice, their previous judgment which was not to be dislodged.

Some prejudices can be cured by increased knowledge. But that's only part of the answer. Ultimately there is only one guarantee against prejudice and that is supernatural love: love for one's enemies.

Prejudice is an unlovely enough business in any case. It is especially reprehensible in those who follow Christ, because He died a victim of it. Prejudice can only be removed when we are willing to listen to the other side, when we take the trouble to investigate and find the truth, even if the truth will hurt us.

It is easy to condemn and ridicule and feel righteous if our judgment is based on distorted facts. Knowing the truth doesn't often make it easier but, the love that Christ taught us should give us respect for the convictions and beliefs of our fellow men.

YOU CAN'T GET THERE FROM HERE

By OGDEN NASH

If I could train
My brain,
To exude apparently ingenuous fluff,
That would yet be ingenious enough,
To carry a message in it—
A message so obviously wise and true that even he who runs could grasp its meaning in less than a mint,
Because the sensible sentences would be so very sensible,
They would make the nonsense seem almost non-sensical.
And then, instead of putting all my verses in the can labelled "trash,"
I could humbly admit I had modelled them after
Mr. Ogden Nash.
Because one of the books that has delighted me above all other books I have read this year,
Is dear Mr. Nash's ingeniously ingenuous volume,
"You Can't Get There From Here."

THE FEMININE TOUCH

By ELSIE MARSH

They say, "Education is everybody's business." If you'd never think it to judge from the handful of parents who turned up at the high school for the Education Week evening program.

Seventy-five parents, one of the teachers estimated, out of nearly five hundred, and the great majority of them women. I felt quite proud because I'd managed to drag my husband out for once, and he actually enjoyed himself when he got there. Yours would have too, if you'd only dragged a little harder—or weren't you there, either?

If not, you missed a stimulating evening. There was one demonstration of a reading machine, for instance, now being introduced into this area, which projects a line of print on a screen and then flashes a light on a few words at a time, going from left to right as one reads across the page. This can be gradually stepped up in speed, encouraging the eye to travel faster and faster, because it is a proven fact that the faster you read the more you comprehend.

The average grade six level of reading is 236 words a minute. This speed does not increase with higher education unless one makes a conscious effort to read faster. By increasing the speed of this machine gradually without the pupils being aware of it, they learn to read much faster.

There were clinics in various subjects which were actually discussion groups between teachers and parents. (The name "clinic" to me still suggests a place where you take small babies for a monthly check-up.) We learned that the purpose of English teaching is to master the sentence and its simple parts, leading up to the ability at the grade 13 level to write an essay on any topic.

In the science room we gazed at the nucleus in an onion, but nobody told me where the smell comes from or why I week every time a chop the wretched things. We were told, however, that the science courses are closely related to the life and environment of the pupil.

In social studies it was learned that the subject may be separated as of old into history and geography, with more emphasis on geography so that pupils can learn where things are in this modern world.

A comparison of the University course with the general course evoked much interest. More attention is to be given students in the general course, and as a result they will acquire greater prestige as graduates.

It was interesting to learn that out of every hundred pupils who start school, only 12 go on to university, and only five graduate. (When I went to university, the percentage was four, which shows a very slow increase.)

It was suggested that lack of interest in higher education largely caused through easy money. When young people can work at unskilled labor for high wages, they see little point in getting more education.

There were several displays of pupils' work set up throughout the school which must have taken considerable time to prepare, but as no specific time was allotted to view them, I only had time for a quick dash into the home economics room, where I admired particularly a smart grey sack dress, a red and white check housecoat and a pretty blue party dress with velvet trim.

It occurred to me that a much larger turn-out of parents would have resulted had pupils been on hand the early part of the evening to show their parents round the display rooms. The appeal of "Come and see what I made!" is one few parents can turn down.

Coffee served in the cafeteria made a sociable end to an evening that was well worth while, if only for the opportunity it gave the parents to talk to a most interesting group of teachers.

On Thursday afternoon I rambléd through the school again, watching a girls' physical education class go through their paces, and they really had a strenuous workout. They marched, they crawled on all fours, they ran, they touched their toes, they lay on the floor on their stomachs and rocked from head to feet. "Bet you can't do that one," their instructor said to us.

Then they ran a relay and ended up with a basketball game. It looked like wonderful fun—if you could do it.

I ended up in the library, where a book called "Paris" with beautiful photography appealed to me. One table featured books on art, richly illustrated. I picked up a book of Bartlett's quotations and was astonished to find, tucked in along with the verses from Shakespeare and the Bible, the following quotations under "Mae West":

"Come up and see me some time!" from "She Done Him Wrong"—and "Peel me a grape," from "Diamond Lil."

Jack Nelson is again driving the school bus on the Pemberton Valley run. He will be driving until a permanent man is appointed to replace Jack Guthrie, who resigned last week.

HARRY LONG ALMOST CONVINCED

Another one of those unlucky days occurs in March when the 13th falls on a Friday and there is one man in the Cariboo who will breathe a heartfelt sigh of relief when the day is over, according to the Williams Lake Tribune.

There may have been a time when Harry Long paid little heed to this superstition but that day is long gone, if you'll pardon the pun. During February the second Friday of the month occurred on the 13th and Harry saw his lumber mill at McLeese Lake go up in flames for a loss of $20,000. Cause of the fire is believed to have been an overheated motor.

Two years ago Mr. Long had another mill destroyed by fire. That's right — it happened on Friday, the 13th, too.

Harry is about ready to concede that Friday the 13th is indeed an unlucky day.

INDIAN GIRL A NUN

The first Indian girl to enter the Sisters of St. Ann in their 100-year history in British Columbia received her habits at an investiture ceremony in Victoria. She is Dorothy Bob of Lillooet who received the name Sister Mary Juan Diego at her own request.

Juan Diego was a Mexican Indian who saw the vision of Our Lady of Guadalupe.

Commenting on the investiture, Bridge River-Lillooet News reports Sister Mary was educated at the Kamloops residential school. After completing her studies she continued to work in the school kitchen until she was received as a postulant to the Sisters of St. Ann.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Bob of Fountain, she is 27 years old.

STILL GOING STRONG

A man who took part in the Klondike gold rush, Peter Bull, celebrated his 101st birthday at the Shaw Rest Home in Cranbrook last month.

Item in Cranbrook Courier tells of gathering of friends and well-wishers who congratulated the East Kootenay old-timer and veteran trapper and miner on reaching another milestone.

There were six birthday cakes for Mr. Bull, including a special one made by Mrs. C. A. Sneath. It carried 101 candles and "flamed like a burning bush," said the Courier.

NO ACCIDENT

An insurance agent, writing a policy for a cowpuncher in the Kamloops area, asked if he had ever had any accidents.

"No," said the cowboy, then added, trying to be helpful, "a bronc kicked in a couple of my ribs and a rattle snake bit me a couple of years ago."

"Well," said the agent, "don't you call those accidents?"

"No," replied the knight of the branding iron, "they done it a purpose."

CONFUSING

This hasn't happened in B.C. up to now, but it could.

Political representative in Chicago reported this complaint from a bewildered voter:

"The man was handed a ticket for driving the wrong way on a one-way street."

An hour and a half later, the same motorist drove down the same street going the other way. Another policeman stopped him and gave him a ticket for driving the wrong way on a one-way street.

In the interval, street crews had discovered they had put up the signs facing the wrong way and turned them around.

PANTHERS WIN AT LILLOOET

Pemberton Panthers won by a wide margin over Lillooet Jokers in a hard-fought basketball game February 15 at Lillooet.

Scoring up a comfortable margin for the Panthers were Fred Thompson, captain; Billy Hamilton, Bobby Miller, Mauri Hjelt, Ed Gilmour, Frank Shore and Roy Crowston, reserve.

Playing for the "Old Men" were Fred Oostmann, Kal Harris, Henry Menzel, G. Grahame, Ronald Ronayne and Sam Gilmore (the only "old man" who had played before).

The Christian Way

'TO BE' NOT 'TO DO'

By ANDREW LAM

In one of my radio broadcasts on Morning Devotions a short time ago, I said that our emphasis in life as Christians should be "to be" rather than "to do."

As we find it in the New Testament, "A good man out of the treasure of his heart bringeth forth that which is good; and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart bringeth forth that which is evil; for of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh."

A good man may do things that are not good—but usually not intentionally so. An evil person may do things that are good—which seems to indicate that bad people are not altogether bad—but doing good is not characteristic of his general trend or way of life.

Notwithstanding our desire to do good, as children of God and followers of Jesus Christ, the first claim on our life is this consideration of being what we ought to be. What we do, we must realize, comes from what we are.

The Christian, then, is concerned first with being what he professes to be—to possess the distinctive character of a follower of Jesus Christ, a copy taken out of the mould that comes from Jesus Christ himself. He is anxious to see that in his whole being he recognizes his intimate relationship with God, his Creator and his Father in heaven; that in his thinking he accepts the truths that are eternal in worth and universal in application; that in his relationship with others he acknowledges love to be the guiding principle and spirit; that in his general outlook in life he strives to fulfil his destiny as one who is akin to God, in whose image or character he was created, to whom he owes the first obligation and with whom he seeks to be at one.

In affirming this principle, there is no belittling of the necessity of doing good to others or living a good life, no detracting of the splendid work done for the needy or for the welfare of the community. The fact of being a Christian involves all that but more. The point that is brought forward is one of emphasis, that is, the fact of being as being greater basic importance than that of doing.

All that we do as Christians is grounded in our first being good Christians; what we do for the church is superficial if we are not first good church members; and the way we live and act as citizens is grounded in our first being good citizens.

"You are the light of the world," Jesus said. "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven."

ELEMENTARY PTA AT BRITANNIA

The monthly PTA meeting of the Britannia elementary school was short and to the point.

Due to the importance of the Club meeting inadvertently booked for the same evening, the PTA cancelled their program and adjourned en masse to the Upper Club immediately following the conclusion of the business.

Their next meeting, March 25, will have as guest speaker Mr. Jan de Bruyn of the Department of English, UBC.

Four boys became Scouts at a "Going Up" ceremony in the Elementary School gymnasium March 3.

Bobby Skerrett and Willy Equis were taken into the Brackendale Troop, while the Squamish Troop accepted Ricky Taylor and Mike Buchanan, after a Grand Howl and a rousing cheer. All were from Squamish B Pack.

At the ceremony to receive the new Scouts were Archie Finter, Brackendale Scout leader and Larry Urquhart, leader of the Squamish Troop, as well as Frank Downing, Akela for Squamish B Pack.

Since the Scouts have obtained a regular meeting place in the United Church Hall, Scoutmaster Mr. Larry Urquhart and his assistant, Mr. Clarence Tatlow have done a wonderful job of reorganizing the patrol.

Seven new Scouts have joined. Anyone interested in scouting may join on Wednesdays at the United Church Hall.

The trip was organized as a reward for obtaining most points during the month of February for attendance and good cubbing.

The boys were shown around by Sgt. Gillespie, RCAF, who is Akela of Richmond Air Force Pack.

Tour of the hangars and aircraft before lunch gave the lads a hearty appetite so that lunch in the Airmen's Mess was a real feast.

UBC Library Gets Books From China

One of the most important collections of Chinese books and manuscripts in the world has been acquired by the University of British Columbia library, according to information received from UBC information office.

The 45,000 volume collection, which has been purchased by the Friends of the Library, will make UBC one of the five most important centers in North America for the study of Chinese history, philosophy, literature and geography.

Other North American centers which have comparable collections are Harvard, Columbia University, the University of California at Berkeley, and the Library of Congress in Washington. The only other major Chinese collection in Canada is at the Royal Ontario Museum in Toronto.

The collection was purchased from Yao Kwan Shek, a Chinese resident of Macao, the Portuguese colony on the mainland of China opposite Hong Kong. Negotiations for the purchase have been going on for almost two years.

This is the second major collection of books purchased within the last year by the Friends of the Library, an organization formed two years ago to encourage support of the UBC Library.

Last October the Friends purchased a 20,000 volume collection of Canadiana from the estate of Montreal book seller Thomas Murray.

President of the organization is Kenneth Caple. Other executive members are Dr. Wallace Wilson, past president; Mr. Walter Koerner, vice-president and Neal Harlow, secretary and librarian.

These and other special collections will be housed in a new department of special collections to be established when a new $1,500,000 wing is added to the present UBC Library. Contract for the addition will be awarded in June.

Edith Marchant Wins Guiding Honour

The Gold Cord for Guiding, the highest honour awarded by the Girl Guide Association, has been awarded to Edith Marchant, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Marchant.

She will receive her Cord from Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Ross at Government House in Victoria on April 2.

Edith has been interested in Girl Guides since she was 12 years old and has worked her way up until she is now troop leader.

She now joins Dianne McPherson and Wilma DeBeck who are the only other local girls who have been awarded this outstanding honour.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Smith of Enderby were week-end guests of the A. T. Smiths.

Mrs. Gary Frieson and her children have left to spend a couple of weeks in Cloverdale.

Mrs. Dave Anderson has returned after spending a few days in New Westminster.

Mr. and Mrs. R. McQuaid have left to make their home in North Surrey.

Old timers may remember Mr. Howard, who was a mill foreman in the early '20s. His son was an interested visitor this week. He recalled that they had lived on Silk-Stocking Row. Where would that be?

Bob Conway and Johnny Leret suffered similar accidents within a couple of days of each other on the same stretch of the highway recently. Both cars rolled over after blowouts. Mr. Leret is still in Squamish Hospital.

Bridal Shower For Miss Betty Hales

The home of Mrs. A. Hankey was the scene of a miscellaneous bridal shower last Tuesday in honor of Miss Betty Hales, who has resigned from the nursing staff of Squamish General Hospital.

The bride-elect has been on the staff for more than a year and for the past month has been matron in charge.

Many lovely gifts were tastefully arranged on a table gaily decorated with miniature yellow parasols and silver horseshoes. Suspended over the table was a yellow watering can dispensing showers of cellophane rain.

Miss Edna Reid assisted Miss Hales in opening her gifts.

During the evening an amusing skit was presented by Mrs. W. Hamilton, Mrs. J. Chapman, Mrs. P. Alder, Mrs. G. Barone and Miss D. Grevelling.

House Numbering Plan Progresses

House numbering plan for Squamish submitted to the council by the Lions Club was approved at the special meeting on March 3.

Village clerk said a by-law would be necessary and probably the numbers allocated to property would have to be registered with the Land Registry Office at New Westminster.

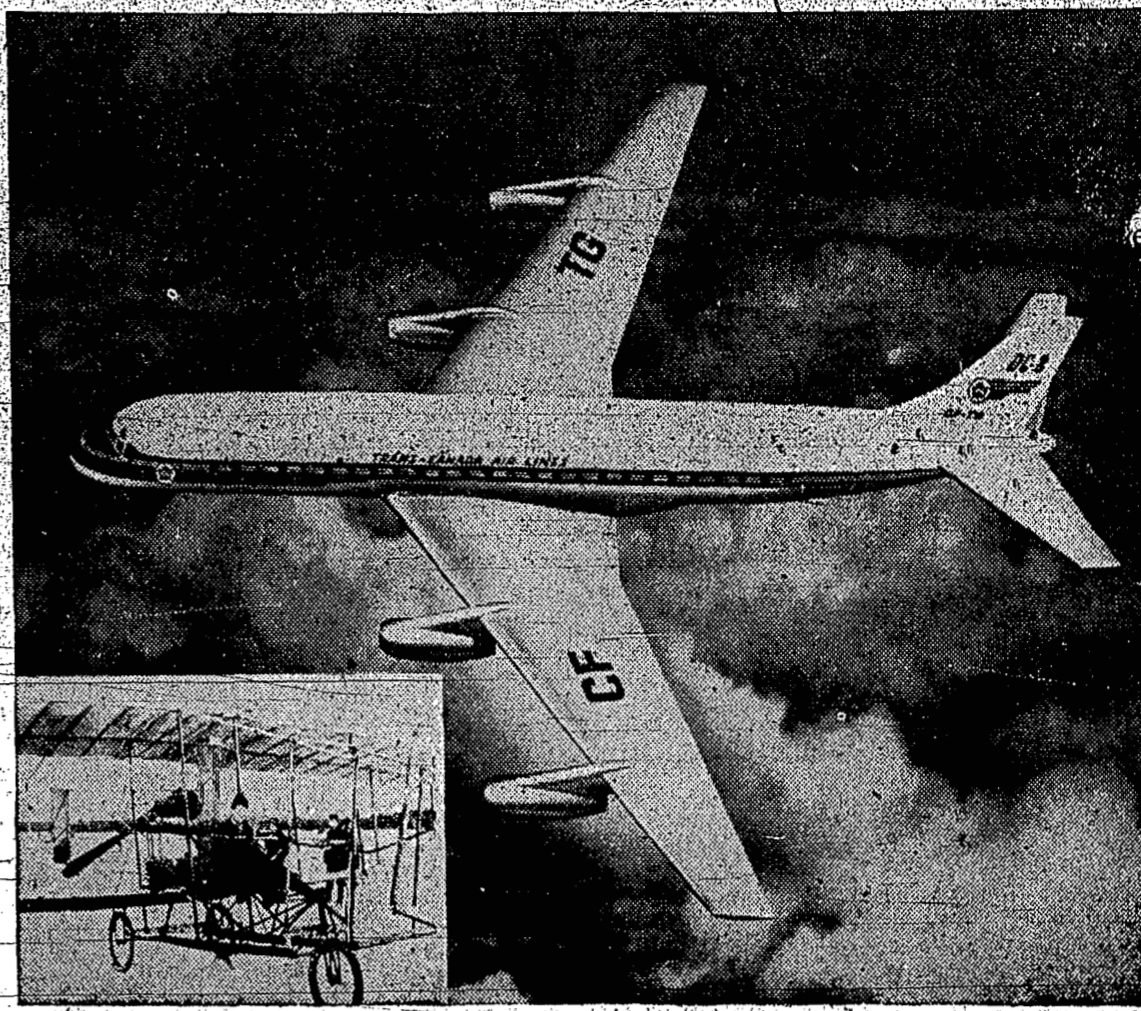

The Lions ask for permission to sell numbers to residences and businesses.

SOCIAL NOTES

Mrs. Elizabeth Dent has returned from a three-week visit with her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Dent, Summerland. She also spent a few days in North Vancouver with her brother, Mr. R. Mahood.

Mrs. R. R. McCormack is on three weeks vacation from her job as village clerk.

Golden Anniversary of Powered Flight in Canada

Fifty years ago, on February 23, J. A. D. McCurdy flew his Silver Dart (inset) at Baddeck, N.S., marking the first powered flight in Canada. Since that historic event, development in aviation has taken tremendous strides. Another milestone will be reached later this year when Trans-Canada Air Lines takes delivery of the first of its huge DC-8 jetliners which will fly at 550 miles an hour and carry 137 passengers. Mr. McCurdy will be taking part in many of the Golden Anniversary celebrations throughout Canada this year.

Chiefs Take First Playoff Game

On Saturday the Chiefs won the first game of the playoffs by defeating the Jets by a score of 46-37. The school team took the lead early in the game and held it quite easily.

In the other game of the evening North Van Senior B defeated the Hornets by 22 points.

The local team never threatened the visitors who piled up a good margin without any difficulty. The final tally was 44-22 for the visitors.
