To Form Civil Defence Unit

Legionaires Sought As Auxiliary C.D. Police

First step in Civil Defence organization in the Squamish area was taken, May 11, when John Jacobsen, co-ordinator, addressed an appeal to the Legion for CD police volunteers.

M. Cartwright, North Vancouver co-ordinator, also spoke to the Squamish branch, offering full co-operation of his North Shore organization.

SAFE AREA

Squamish, considered a safe area from fallout and atomic attack, will be, in the event of such an attack on Vancouver, a staging area for evacuees from the North Shore.

All available transport will be commandeered, routed over the new Squamish Highway and directed to parking and services on arrival by auxiliary police.

TRAINING BY RCMP

Training of these police, which will be done by Vancouver RCMP, is considered of paramount importance.

Other services, according to Mr. Jacobsen, will be organized and trained later until all possibilities are covered.

NEED ALL SERVICES

Some services mentioned were: sanitation, fire fighting, first aid, and communications. Joe Henderson, Legion president, said all members (approx. 100) will be circularized and an executive meeting held later with co-ordinator Jacobsen.

Woodfibre Queen Crowned May 23rd

Marcia Malm, 13, Grade 8 student of Woodfibre Junior High School, has been chosen this year's queen of May Day celebrations, May 23.

She will be crowned by the retiring queen, Mary Eadie.

Her attendants are: Elizabeth Spink, Beckie Sharp, Rosemary Carrigan, Judith Davis and Dianne Cranston.

Marcia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Malm, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. St. Laurent, Britannia Beach.

Jim Buchanan, 23, received his Bachelor of Physical Education diploma at UBC graduation ceremonies, May 20. He was valedictorian for his class and also its representative to the Undergraduate Society Committee. Jim, who is a former graduate of Squamish schools, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Buchanan.

LINDA MAE HAMILTON, seated centre, reigning Queen of the May for 1959, and the royal entourage: her attendants, Marilyn Robertson and Priscilla Williams, and her page boys, John Lasser and Michael Manson, at her feet. Standing centre, is last year's queen, Linda Mitchell, and her attendants, Elaine Rennie and Joyce McKinnon. Also on stage for ceremonies was page boy, John McKay, as well as flower girls, master of ceremonies, Reg. Robinson, chairman of School Board, Len Allan; president of HSH PTA, Mrs. Mary Smith; and vice-president of Elementary PTA, Mrs. Grace Harley; and the Rev. Norman Pennington, who gave the invocation address.

No Grades Over 7 1/2%

Road Survey Now To Diamond Head

Survey crews are now locating a road to Diamond Head Chalet in Garibaldi Park that will not exceed 7 1/2 per cent gradient.

A grade of this degree on a hard surfaced road would be easily travelled by automobiles.

According to Ottar Brandvold, chalet operator, grades on the present road to the Base Camp at 3200 feet are up to and over 20 per cent.

From Base Camp to the Chalet the existing seven miles road is limited, because of excessive grades and lack of road bed, to four wheel drive or caterpillar-tracked vehicular traffic.

A road located from the park boundary to the chalet so as to avoid grades in excess of 7 1/2 per cent would probably extend for 15 or 16 miles, said Mr. Brandvold.

Survey engineer Mr. Feirhurst said that the survey was to be completed this summer. Last year a limited survey of a different nature, planning of park utility, was carried out in this northwestern sector of the 1000 square mile provincial park.

United Church At Pemberton

Formation of a United Church congregation at Pemberton is being undertaken by the Rev. George Searcy of Lillooet.

Sunny Skies Summons the Door Knocker . . .

As no one will deny, the warm, longer day with daylight saving, is a harbinger of the summer inroads of door-to-door salesmen. Each year, as persistent as weeds in your grass, they grow upon your doorstep with new ideas and new gimmicks.

The latest subterfuge is the phony "wholesale" tag presumably set to give you a real "bargain." Already spreading into Squamish and Pemberton Valleys is the promoter with the phoney price tag pitch cleverly presented to catch the buyer's fancy . . . and money.

An investigation by the Canadian Jewellers Association showed that the "super-duper", special to you, wholesale price being quoted is the same or sometimes higher than the regular price of the same or similar goods in local stores. The retail price quoted in the catalogues bears a closer resemblance to fiction than fact.

This practice is employed with remarkable success in just about every line of merchandise. The loaded price tag is indeed an old dodge but it is cleverly exploited by the pedlar with the end result that your local store keeper . . . a fellow taxpayer and neighbor . . . is the loser.

Do your shopping locally and help your community grow.

Is That a Robin Behind You . . . ?

If The Times were a daily newspaper our "wire copy" would abound in stories of persistent lady robbers . . . of a robin who built her nest on the seat of an automobile for sale, or on the top of John Drenka's all-steel spar tree . . . or in the cab of a P.G.E. engine . . . to cite a few authentic instances.

Meanwhile tenderhearted onlookers meaning us humans . . . cease our profitable transactions or journeyings or labors, as the case may be, while Madam Robin takes her own sweet time.

But weekly newspapers rarely get reports such as the one printed in a

New York paper about the expectant robin who is building nine nests on nine successive steps of the fire escape just outside the office window of the Bronx Zoo's curator of birds. None of the nests is completed.

Perhaps the most obvious comment for a North Howe Sound resident is to remark that most of us can't think of people we have known who behaved just like the inconsiderately stubborn robin or the capriciously captious one. Or is it expecting too much to admit that we all are "just for the birds?"

Fire Season Begins; Burning Permits Required

Fire season began officially, May 1. Burning and campfire permits must be obtained by the general public and industrial operations before they can light a fire for any purpose within one-half mile of a forest or woodland.

According to Joe Henderson, forest ranger at Squamish, that one-half mile limit just about excludes any spot in Squamish.

Permits are issued free of charge, by the village office for inside the incorporation, by the forest service for the area outside the village.

ONE RESIGNATION ON TEACHER STAFF

There has been only one resignation notice so far from the teaching staff of School District No. 48 though there have been some requests for transfers within the district, according to Don Foss, secretary-treasurer.

Miss A. L. Ritchie, home economics instructor, plans to marry soon and teach next term in a lower Mainland school along with her husband.

There will be some vacancies on the staff due to the termination of temporary appointments, said Mr. Ross.

Some application have been received, he said, though no advertising has yet been done for teachers.

Pre-School Medical And Registration

Notices of appointments for pre-school medicals for children starting Grade 1 in September have been sent out to parents by the Health Office.

Parents are asked to bring children's birth certificates so that pre-registration may be done at that time.

Location of these services will be Squamish Elementary School.

What a Wonderful Holiday . . . !

While some people battled traffic on the highways, some watched the big city ball games, and others got rained out on their camping safaris, most people had the best time of their lives taking part in the annual Twenty-fourth of May celebrations here.

And what co-operation from the weather!

But no festival is possible without the toil of hundreds of mothers, fathers, civic officials and commercial establishments. To all of them too many to enumerate, a rousing cheer for a grand job from start to finish.

But let's plan now for a bigger effort next year.

New Books To Borrow At Squamish Library

A number of new volumes have been placed upon the shelves at the Squamish Library. Readers may be especially interested in the following titles:

- MRS. ARRIS GOES TO PARIS, by Paul Gallico, tells the delightful story of the London charlady who wanted a Dior gown—and of how she got one.
- INSIDE RUSSIA, by John Gunther. This time Mr. Gunther gives us his impressions of present-day Russia.
- PORTUGUESE ESCAPE, by Ann Bridge, is a story of Communist intrigue in Portugal.
- gal seen through the eyes of a young girl who has escaped from Hungary.
- THE FIRST GLENCANNON OMNIBUS, by Guy Gilpatrick. A volume of some famous sea stories involving Mr. Colin Glencannon, Chief Engineer of an infamous tub, the Inchcliffe Castle.
- FLIGHT INTO DANGER, by Arthur Hailey and John Castle is the suspense-filled novel of a flight between Winnipeg and Vancouver during which pilot and co-pilot are immobilized by food poisoning.

Is Teenage Drinking a High School Problem . . . ?

Squamish Times recently received literature from the Alcoholism Foundation in Vancouver inviting high school students to write to it for a special information packet of booklets and pamphlets.

The item is addressed to all high school students in the area who may require "material to supplement their school studies in alcohol education.

But is drinking a problem in our local schools? It is somewhat shattering thought that there is correctional need for A.A. literature, but on the other hand, this worthy institution may only wish to offer an advanced course from an academic viewpoint.

Alcohol stimulates first, then depresses. It is the experience of humans the world over that use of hard liquor among the young is all too often responsible for sexual promiscuity, with all the trouble and anguish that follows for the unmarried mother; a person who needs help not scorn.

Wild parties, excessive drinking, accidents, broken families are all too common occurrences in the community. It is useless to deny that youth in its probing of life will not sooner or later come into contact with alcohol.

But is the responsibility of guidance in this matter entirely up to our high school teaching staffs? This newspaper feels that proper understanding of it should be taught in the home as well where information brochures prepared by Alcoholics Anonymous could be studied.

In many cases, it is the parent who needs the help.

Slaughter on the Water . . .

The time is rapidly approaching when the Safety Council of America, along with safety councils in every town located near water, will be estimating the number of deaths that will take place in speedboats.

Carelessness in water navigation and seamanship is becoming so serious that the Federal Government found it necessary to make revisions of small vessel regulations under the Canada Shipping Act. If you are a boat owner, are you familiar with these regulations?

It is gratifying, however, to learn that pleasure boat owners, and there are hundreds of them with crafts moored at the Squamish small boat harbor and neighboring lakes will be advised of the new safety regulations.

For instance, there is the section on water skiing, which has become a foremost aquatic sport. The new regulation will require that two occupants . . . one to steer and the other to watch the skier . . . occupy boats towing the performer.

hour before sunset and not begin until an hour after dawn. Another change will require operators of craft under 18 feet in length to carry a fire extinguisher if the fuel tank is fixed to or built into the boat or if built-in heating and cooking stoves that burn gas or liquid are carried.

Previously an extinguisher was required in this size boat only if it carried an inboard motor. Now outboard motor craft with built-in tank are being covered. But why go on? This is not of interest to landlubbers, unless, that is, your husband, son, daughter or best friend might just happen to own a boat.

The Department of Transport is distributing a booklet on water safety and other boating regulations for small boat owners. Get one and read it.

Remember the maximum penalty for infractions of sea laws is $500 or six months in the digger. The court may also bar the convicted person from operation of a small boat for up to one year. Then again, you could be stupid and ignorant of marine laws and lose your life.

Spectacular Rise In PGE Freight

Carloadings on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway jumped 77 percent in April over those of April, 1958.

Figures released by the company show that cars loaded on the line last month totalled 3823 as against 2142 for the same period last year.

Figures for car loads received from connections totalled 239 as compared with 150. Totals from both sources were 4062 as against the 1958 figure of 2292.

Still in effect are requirements that such boats not endanger navigation, life or limb and that this sport stop an

The Parson's Column

"Hope For Alcoholics"

By Rev. N. J. PENROSE

(There are 21,650 alcoholics in B.C. — enough to populate approximately 10 villages the size of Squamish! Because of my concern about this very serious problem I have invited a member of the local branch of "Alcoholics Anonymous" to write today's column.)

First of all, what is an alcoholic? It is important to realize that an alcoholic is not a drunkard. A drunkard drinks too much, but can stop drinking whenever he or she really wants to do so — but usually a drunkard just does not want to stop.

An alcoholic, on the other hand, is a compulsive drinker. There's nothing in the world he may desire more than to be a successful moderate drinker, but with him, moderate drinking is an impossibility. One drink and the craving starts, and then he has to have another and another, and so he goes on his merry way, until his home is broken, his health gone, and finally he finds himself beyond human help.

In the first two decades of this century, majority of people in these persons' position would have kept falling until the grave met them, but in the past three decades a veritable miracle has taken place.

Two of these alcoholics got their heads together and came up with the thought that they had gone about as far down as they could go and there was no way to go but up. So they started a movement, and from those two drunks, who by the way are now sober and exceptionally respected men, there grew an organization which encircles the civilized world and has over a million members, all of them ex-drunks.

This organization is called Alcoholics Anonymous, or as is commonly referred to, A.A. You will note that I called them ex-drunks; well, that is how these men and women refer to themselves. They consider they are no farther away from alcoholism than one drink, but they are doing something about it.

They gather together in groups whether it be in city, town or village, the common bond that holds them together is the knowledge that each of them is an alcoholic and that one is no better than the other whether he be doctor, lawyer or laborer.

There are no dues or fees to this organization. The only thing that is asked of you is that if you feel a drunk coming on, you will take the time to phone one or more of the members so that they may dissuade you. Their sole aim is to help people like themselves and they are not ashamed of the fact that they are A.A.s, because medical science has proven beyond the shadow of a doubt that alcoholism is a sickness or an allergy.

In conclusion I would like you to know that the Squamish AA group meets every Thursday night.

Anyone with an alcoholic problem is welcome regardless of whether it is your own or whether it involves some relative or friend. Some of our members have only had a few weeks of sobriety. Others have been sober for 2, 3 — up to 9 years.

If you have a drinking problem, get in touch with AA. Your minister, priest or doctor will give you the name of a member.

We will be glad to help you at any time, day or night.

Hoo's Hoo At Howe Sound High

BY EDITH MARCHANT

Introducing Mrs. MacCosham. Mrs. McCosham is known to the students as "Mrs. Mac."

Mrs. Mac received her elementary and secondary education in Calgary and Edmonton. When she was in Grade 8 she had to face the fact that her eyes were getting very bad. The doctors said she would be blind at 35. Mrs. Mac made the decision to have surgery. The operation was a success and her eyes are now as good as any one else's of her age. We too are grateful.

When Mrs. Mac was in Grade 12 she received the Lieutenant Governor's gold medal for English in Alberta. She also won second prize for her French, competing against college students. Mrs. Mac didn't want me to tell you this but I am very proud to anyway.

She entered the University of Alberta and for her first two years studied arts and law. In her third year she changed to journalism. She completed her B.A. and B.Ed. at UBC and she has only her thesis to do to complete her M.A. (She says she's lazy!)

While attending university Mrs. Mac started working as a cub reporter in Edmonton. She says she early developed into a hack writer. She has done magazine work and has written for radio. After the war Mrs. Mac wrote many scripts about war brides and service men. She said doing radio work was not work, but fun. Her education was furthered through interviews with both national and international personalities.

Between newspaper work and universities Mrs. Mac was busy raising a family. She has been a teacher for 15 years and she says that Squamish is like her home and that after being here eight years the kids seem like her "family." She especially likes it when the old grads come home to visit. (I think this is a hint to the Grade Twelves.) Remember when Allan Dent and those kids were in Grade 13. One day they were making some noise and the teacher in the study hall got quite annnoyed. All of a sudden everything was quiet. Mrs. Mac and her students were creeping by the teacher with shoes in their hands. Then in a surprised voice Judy Slack called out: "Oh, I've got a hole in my sock!"

PET PEEVE

"My laziness. It keeps me from doing the things I want to do." She also disapproves of people who don't like sports cars.

FAVORITE FOOD

Chili (real hot) and cream puffs.

HOBBY

Mexico. Most fascinating place to live and also an excellent place to get husbands (remember Miss Blackie). She loves Mexico and speaks of it as an "artists' paradise." The people are simple, direct and lovely.

FUTURE PLANS:

Mrs. Mac would like to go to Europe and stay a long time in Spain. She would also like to go back to Mexico and live the Life of Riley.

PRIDE

Intellectual honesty.

FAVORITE SAYING

"Nothing too much." This sums up the greatest civilization that ever was — Greece.

Mrs. Mac also has another pride, I believe, and that is her tiny dog Gigi, which was born in her car in the middle of Lions Gate Bridge.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR ERIK HANSEN

Erik Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Hansen, celebrated his sixth birthday, May 8.

Among those helping Erik to celebrate the day was: Linda Moore, John and David Lasser, Alex and Raymond McDougall and Einar Hansen.

Highlight of the afternoon was attendance at the local matinee.

When your call is finished, hang up the receiver and turn the crank vigorously for about three seconds. This will let the operator know that the line is free so she can disconnect.

REMEMBER: the RING-OFF is important. Otherwise the operator will report your line as "busy" to anyone trying to call you.

OTHER IMPORTANT TELEPHONE POINTERS

Air Age Comes to The Forest

Aeroplanes, fixed wing aircraft and helicopters flying high over our mountain ranges with men and supplies or skimming close above the tree tops in spraying operations, are constant reminders today that the air age has come to the forest industry.

While aircraft have many uses in modern forestry, the greater number are merely adaptations of techniques developed and practiced in other fields. Insect spraying operations, for instance are merely the logical extension of crop spraying. Log scalers visit remote booming grounds by float planes. Many logging operators, log buyers and others interested in quick round trips between timber shows and headquarters in the big city maintain and fly their own planes.

Aerial surveys help us to keep our forest inventory up to date.

In all the above instances, however, techniques have already been developed and to a high degree standardized, but there is one application in which methods of operation are still in a state of considerable flux. This is the use of aircraft for fire control.

In addition to their use as observation posts from which to direct ground crews in fire fighting, aircraft are now being increasingly employed in water bombing of fires.

"The supply of water or chemicals directly from an aircraft to a fire is a relatively new fire fighting art in B.C.," comments L. L. B. Boulton of the B.C. Forest Service. "It has been both seriously underrated and over-rated. But it is definitely considered to be potentially a very important aid."

In the opinion of D. Owen, B.C. Forest Service, helicopters have the greatest potential for protection work on the Coast. "This versatile machine," he points out, "can carry out, with varying degrees of effectiveness, every single task performed by fixed wing aircraft and several others besides. The helicopter can be used for fire detection, transportation of men and equipment, water bombing, reconnaissance and observation on larger fires, air dropping of equipment and even hoist laying."

In an effort to assist those who may have need for the use of aircraft in forest fire control work in Coastal B.C., a sub-committee of the unofficial Forest Fire Protection Group, comprising Forest Service and company fire protection officers, has prepared a manual which will be published shortly by the Canadian Forestry Association of B.C.

Subjects dealt with in this booklet include the following: Observation by Aircraft, Personnel Transportation, Aircraft supply Drops, Chemical and Water Dropping, Communications Aircraft.

After eight years with the Squamish branch of the B.C. Telephone Co., Mrs. Squires will join her husband at Alta Lake.

As a token of their affection, her co-workers presented her with a travelling clock, a good (?) book and a box of chocolates. Mrs. Rimell, who resigned for reasons of health, was the recipient of a compact.

Mr. M. McLaurin has been the guest of Mrs. W. Neilson for a few days.

Bridging of Lillooet To Tenquille Lake

Cable suspension bridge across the Lillooet River at Pemberton is being built by Leonard Fowler.

When completed the bridge will provide an easier route to Tenquille Lake, the local "holiday resort," about 20 miles north of Pemberton.

Helping him last weekend were Morgan Miller, John Ronayne and Clifford Ronayne.

For many years a cable ferry was used but this was swept down river a few years ago by high water.

Since then holidayers have crossed the river in canoes, swimming their pack horses over.
