ALICE LAKE PARK used to be a lovely place to picnic and relax on a summer weekend. The local park board scrounged materials, labor and equipment and converted a section of beach and shore into a recreation spot which served Squamish and district well for a few seasons. Then the road to Vancouver opened and the provincial government spoke of taking over the lake and its environs and making it into a Class A park on a similar scale to Cultus Lake.

But no development has yet started and as the picture shows, the small area developed by local volunteer help is suffering terribly from indiscriminate use of out-of-towners seeking a little outdoor recreation. Cars are being driven down to the beach over grades (in lower picture) never designed for cars, and recently planted lawns and picnic grounds which are fast becoming to look like a used car lot at a country fair.

No Rezone For Drive-In: PGE & 2nd Ave. Likely

Public Against Spot Rezoning: No Grade 13 Next Whole Blocks or None at All Term at HS High

Rezoning from residential to commercial of the south west corner lot at River Road and Cleveland Avenue was emphatically rejected at a public meeting called by the council, May 14.

Council decision will likely follow that of the meeting and turn down the application of Gordon K. Henry who proposes to spend $30,000 on the property building a modern drive-in restaurant, a paved parking area for 100 cars and a public picnic and playground. Plans for which were circulated at the meeting.

TWELVE AGAINST

Twelve residents spoke against the rezoning. Only voice of approval was that of Mr. Henry.

Of the residents who spoke against this commercial spot rezoning, one, Jack Jardine, lives adjacent to the lot in question.

Six others live on the opposite side of Wilson Crescent that bounds on two sides of the residential block.

They are Harold Bailey, E. P. Yarwood, Eric Stathers, Mrs. Stathers, Bill Gedge and Stu Foreman.

Others against rezoning were Bill Manson, Don Kirkwood, Bernhard Brown, Dave Stewart and Mrs. D. DeBeck.

DEPRECIATE VALUES

Depreciation of residential property values, traffic hazard to school children, undesirability of ribbon development, litter from drive-in, one of two should not profit at expense of others, were some of the reasons given against rezoning.

Alternatives suggested were: rezone whole block commercial, keep business establishments down to better serve people, rezoning of whole village.

COMMERCIAL ADJACENT

Block across the street is already commercial occupied by Turquist's Appliances, Economy Grocery, Harrison's Shoe Repair, Elliott's Insurance, and Squamish Valley Timber Company.

Commissioner Antosh asked the people if they thought the lot would be used for a residence. Eris Stathers answered, "Yes" "If the place was right." Antosh said the council had no control over the price which was too high for residential interest because of the commercial proximity.

Commissioner Kinde asked Mr. Henry if he would consider an alternative site. Mr. Henry said that he thought not. In his opinion this corner lot was best in town for his purpose. His purpose, he stated, was to have a properly operated restaurant out of the business district of the village where people could dine and relax in pleasant surroundings.

ZONE OTHER LAND

Rezoning to commercial of property adjacent to Second Avenue from Winnipeg to Pemberton Road and that contained in the area bounded by a prolongation of the lane between Second and Third to the PGE tracks and Cleveland Avenue was also discussed.

Leon Thomas of West Vancouver, owner of the north west corner lot at Pemberton and Cleveland, said he bought the lot for speculation and it was of little value to him as residential property.

NO IMMEDIATE PLAN

Eric Stathers countered that little prosperity accrued to the village by out of town speculation, but if plans to build were "laid on the line" then an application such as Mr. Thomas's would be worthy of consideration.

Mr. Thomas said he had no immediate plans for use of his lot but made several suggestions: that the site would suit a large store, or two or three shops with apartments above.

Mr. Manson said he was not against rezoning of large areas such as this. Shortage of property here in Squamish was not the problem, he said, but ownership (in reference to PGE and Crown land held in reserve).

TRYING TO DO BEST

Chairman of the council, John Jacobsen, said though the council didn't like spot rezoning they were trying to do the best with what land they controlled.

"Whether we like it or not," he said, "if the town grows the business section cannot be contained in one little downtown block".

There was little public interest and less opposition to rezoning this area at the meeting. With the exception of Mr. Thomas' lot and the properties along Second Avenue, the land is owned by the PGE. Council will likely make their decision at the next general meeting.

RON TINNEY ON

SRA EXECUTIVE

Ron Tinney, Mamquam school teacher, was added to the executive of the Squamish Recreational Association at last week's meeting.

There will be no Grade 13 taught at Howe Sound High next term.

W. C. Campbell informed the school board by letter that there were only five Grade 12 students wanting to take Grade 13, which is not enough to warrant a class.

He recommended that it be dropped for next year and resumed when needed.

50 Years Ups Travel Costs

Return fare of $1, Vancouver to Squamish, calling at Bowen Island, Britannia Beach and way points, was the charge per passenger set by the Terminal Steam Navigation Co. inaugurating a daily service with a new steamer, Baramba, on May 21, 1909, according to the "50 Years Ago" column of The Province.

BARREL DERBY WON BY FRED BENNETT

Fred Bennett, Standard Oil agent, won the $500 Squamish River Barrel Derby, May 18, with an exact guess of the time required for the barrel to float down river from Ned's Ripple near Cheekye to the suspension bridge near Buckley's Crossing.

Official timer, George Aalton, clocked the barrel at one hour, sixteen minutes and two seconds.

Members of Brackendale Women's Institute, sponsors of the derby, on the bridge for the finish were Mrs. J. Riis, Mrs. I. Thorne and Mrs. D. Reimer.

Starters at Ned's Ripple were Irwin Thorne, Lyle McPherson and George Aalton.

Brackendale Grounds To Be Improved

Dead trees around the grounds of Brackendale Elementary School, considered a hazard by school superintendent T. G. Carter, will be removed with the approval of the school board.

Mr. Carter said the Brackendale location was a beautiful site but looked rather unkempt.

He recommended removal of loose rocks on the grounds, some of which could be done by the pupils supervised by their teachers.

Fear Port Second Choice

Payne and B.o.T. At Odds Over Harbour

W. H. Payne's recommendation that Squamish harbor be developed in complement to Vancouver harbour met with opposition at the regular meeting of the Squamish Board of Trade, May 20.

The Conservative M.P. for Coast-Capilano said in a letter to the board that lack of a proper harbour authority at Squamish hampered negotiations with industry and government.

A separate authority would be difficult to set up, he advised, and recommended affiliation with the Vancouver Harbour Board which already has the necessary personnel and contacts.

His letter stated that he thought harbour facilities at Squamish should not compete with those of Vancouver but serve rather as an extension complimentary to the needs and capacity of the big port.

Board of Trade members did not mind the idea of administrative aid but they objected to harbour development of this nature; Vancouver first, Squamish second.

B Pack Cubs Hike At Swift Creek

Squamish Cubs B Pack took advantage to beautiful weather, May 22, for a hike and day's outing in the Swift Creek area.

In charge of the expedition was Cub leader Frank Downing and his assistant, Walter Cudmore.

School Board Supports Chapter

Classes for Retarded Children In District

Retarded children in School District No. 48 can expect special training in classes next term sponsored by a local chapter of the Association for Retarded Children of B.C., and supported by the school board.

Support of the school board through the Department of Education extends to $375 per pupil per year and the use of one room of the old Mashiter School.

School board costs for this service will be shareable with the department.

Securing and paying a teacher is the responsibility of the Association.

AT LEAST SIX HERE

Miss Joan Anderson, public health nurse for Squamish and district, advised the trustees at their regular meeting, May 21, that there were at least six retarded children in the district.

Ron Tinney, principal of Mamquam Elementary School, was spokesman for the local chapter at the meeting.

T. Grove Carter, district superintendent of schools, referred to a class at Ladner, said a fine job was being done and that the children were making definite progress.

IQ OF 70 OR LOWER

Children having an intelligence quotient of 70 or lower would be eligible for the classes, said Miss Anderson.

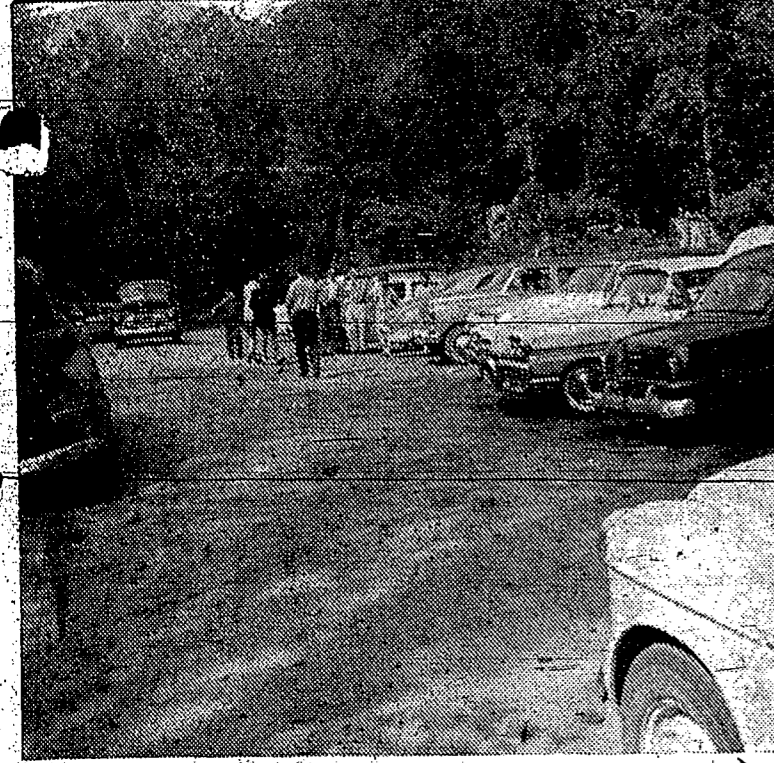

In case of physical disability where the child cannot look after itself, Miss Anderson said the parents or an attendant would probably have to assist the teacher.

Mr. Carter said the children, in many cases, responded well to organized routine, gaining confidence in themselves through the mere fact of attending school as other children do.

Retarded children could attend from school age up to the time they might be ready for vocational training.

Unlicensed Dog Owners Liable to $25 Fines

All dogs in Squamish over the age of four months are to be licensed for 1959 by April 30, according to Bylaw No. 20.

Though notices were sent out to all known dog owners in the village, reports from the municipal office are that a large number are still unlicensed.

All dogs at large must wear suitable collars and 1959 tags or the owner is liable to a fine not exceeding $25 and costs of prosecution, or in default a sentence not exceeding 30 days.

Bitches in heat, the bylaw states, are not to roam at large. The penalty in such cases is not to exceed $5.00.

Cost of licenses is $2 for males and spayed females, and $5 for females.

A. D. JULIENS CELEBRATE 40 YEARS WED

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Julien celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary as guests of honor at a party at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ryan, May 16.

Others of the immediate family attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lassmann, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur "Butch" Julien, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Wright of Surrey.

Mr. and Mrs. Ian Hamilton were unable to attend because of a previous commitment.

From out of town were a brother of Mrs. Julien and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. William Pascoe, Vancouver, and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Will, also of Vancouver.

From Squamish were Mr. and Mrs. Norm Anderson, Mrs. Mollie Evans and Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Rennie.

Squamish, B. C., Thursday, May 28, 1959

Come Home Joe ...

For the past two years there has been a steady change in the population of Squamish. Taxpayers and citizens, who have become firmly rooted to the community have suddenly been wrenched from their lifetime holdings and moved to other rail centres in B.C. Most have been with employees of the P.G.E. which has found it more economic to deploy its personnel in new centres in order to speed up service and at the same time cut down on overhead. What used to be the headquarters of the rail line, Squamish, has now shifted to North Vancouver, and with it have left scores of Squamish families.

We are genuinely sorry to see one public-spirited citizen leave ... a man who has spent hours upon hours devoted to the interests of Squamish public affairs. There is no second guessing here. The person is Joe Gault.

Joe, as he is known to just about everybody who call themselves citizens of Squamish, is a man who has made public service a hobby. He has a philosophy of life which has been the envy of thinking people.

We admire Joe because he has the wonderful ability of weighing gains against losses, knowing that he can't have one without the other. He knows that it is not concrete words like money and power that give dignity to character and happiness to individuals, but misty words like honour, love, loyalty, trust and faith.

Joe Gault, we have found, does not try to evade his duties to society, nor does he allow himself to become negligent of them. For instance, he has served on the Court of Revision for Squamish, the Squamish Hospital Board, and the Centennial Committee, just to mention a few.

He has without a doubt found something that is lacking in many of us; his greatest significance must consist in his contribution to the lives of others.

The more complex the more highly-organized Squamish life becomes, the more it requires competent, self-respecting, well-rounded individuals like Joe Gault to make it work.

The Alice Lake Situation ...

In the beginning there was a lake, set like an emerald green gem in the tall, cool timbers of the Squamish Valley. Man found it and named it Alice Lake.

There was a time when Alice Lake was just the spot to hike on a fine, sunny Saturday or Sunday. Then it became accessible through logging roads and more local resident began using it as the community's picnic area.

Furthering this thought, a group of Squamish businessmen volunteered time, labor, machines and money to the clearing and lawn seeding at one end of the lake. Restrooms were constructed, tables and a wharf built, yards upon yards of gravel were dumped for beach purposes. It wasn't long before the families of Squamish had one of the choicest public picnic areas in lower British Columbia.

But in the last few months there have been signs of the tourist and not too happy indications, at that. Weekend campers have gradually taken over the picnic grounds and with utter abandon have literally laid waste to what was a clean, orderly picnic ground.

One cannot, in all sincerity, blame the camper and his family from the big city. It is a beautiful and restful spot and safe for the children. There is fishing for the "old man." What more could a suburbanite ask for?

The fault is partly our own in not placing signs prohibiting overnight camping of any description. Then there is the provincial government who share part of the blame for not setting up a government regulated camping site as now exists in other parts of B.C.

Let's face it. We enjoy the business from the tourist dollar; we like to have visitors and there is absolutely nothing wrong with picnickers. But some authority, such as the Squamish Board of Trade, must immediately undertake to see that "No Camping Permitted" signs be erected on the approaches to Alice Lake to protect our only properly developed picnic grounds.

Death by Dust ...

For a great many reasons, it is unfortunate that a member of the Provincial Government Cabinet does not live in or come from the Squamish or Pemberton Valleys. Like the Okanagan, like Kamloops area, like sections of Vancouver Island, the taxpayers of our potentially great, little valleys would have paved roads throughout, connected with wonderful new bridges.

This is not satire, but observations based on the accumulation of facts.

But the most deadly of facts is the dust problem; worse than driving in the rain; worse than driving in a blinding snow storm; worse, even, than feeling one's way through fog.

Dust clouds, such as we have been hacking and coughing through during the past two weeks, hold unseen dangers for the motorist. Unlike fog when traffic slows to a crawl, dust is the creation of fast traffic and can swirl in great clouds of impenetrable haze, sometimes in front of you, sometimes behind you.

Both in heavy snow storms and pea-soup fog, the motorist gears down and, like an obedient cow, follows the single path right behind the taillight of the car in front. Seldom is the case with motorists on a dry unpaved highway. His one aim, rather than eat dirt-laden dust spewing out the back of the car in front, is to get out and pass and "to hell with the speed limit."

So along a stretch between Squamish and Cheekye it becomes a veritable drag race between ordinarily safe, sensible drivers who have a decided dislike for eating the other cars dust.

Then the other danger is on the winding, narrow Squamish to Britannia road where high speed is practically impossible. Here there is the ever-present danger, particularly of visiting motorists who are unfamiliar with the cliffside path, of over-driving on one of the more dangerous corners.

Most of us know the story, but do the asphalt drivers of our government?

The taxpayers of Squamish and Pemberton would, quite naturally, like to have their roads paved but realizing this is a major expense and cannot be thought of until the bridge at Kelowna is paid for, would settle for the application of dust-settling chemicals. Calcium chloride, NOW, not late in August as was done last year, would help the hazardous driving situation greatly.

How about it, Mr. Gaglardi.

To Clip or to Staple?

A short time ago we paid brief tribute to the role of the paper clip in holding civilization together. The advertising manager for a firm which manufactures stapling machines now questions whether we are completely up to date on modern methods of fastening papers.

He mentions that his company, not alone in the field, consumes 25 tons of wire every day in the manufacture of staples for its machines. And asks if it can be that we "still use the bulky and unreliable paper clips for fastening papers."

That's one we must straddle; we sometimes use clips, sometimes staples. We can envisage arguments and counterarguments between the two. The staple has the advantage in sticking power; the clip can be used more than once. The staple has to be pried loose (and can be rough on fingernails); the clip has been known to change its affiliations to the wrong papers in an overloaded desk tray. In one case it's a matter of initial investment, in the other a question of upkeep.

Mainly we wish to make clear that (happily) our functions do not include the responsibilities of the purchasing or cost accounting departments.

The Parson's Column

By REV. C. H. GIBBS

I recall reading an editorial some years ago in one of the Vancouver papers. Its title was, "Been to Church lately?" Now usually, such a question is put by parsons. But mark you, this one wasn't and I think this is the first striking feature about it.

I am confident that if more laymen wrote such articles, more good would come from them than, say, those from parsons. You see, people expect this sort of thing from parsons and I fear, treat it accordingly.

I am equally sure that we, the clergy, may have overstepped the reasonable barrier—that is to say, we perhaps have preached and written on the subject to the point of it being nauseating. There have been pretty sharp and critical statements made which I expect had the tendency to drive rather than lead people to church.

This reminds me, Jesus is called the Good Shepherd—those who do His work are supposed to act like shepherds to their flock, which is, the people entrusted to their spiritual care. In ancient biblical times, and for that matter, it may still be the custom in the East, shepherds led their sheep—they did not drive them.

Of course, like any other calling in life, the parson has to learn by experience like any other human being and it is just by experience that he comes to realize his mistakes.

It is said we live in an age of insincerity, yet there never was a time when men were more able to see through pretences than now. It is spoken of as an age of irreverence when people neglect the churches, speak slightly of ministers and are said to be atheistical and sceptical.

A little too strong, I think. There is more reverence for things that are pure and true than ever today.

Now I don't want to give the impression here that my object is to lull you to sleep! Subsequent remarks will prove to the contrary.

Last week-end in the church section of a Vancouver paper, I read of an English bishop stating that only 10 per cent of the people in England attend church; that they like, he said, and I quote, "to be baptized, confirmed, married and, of course, buried by the church but apart from these things, they couldn't care less." (End of quote.)

It is true; many men seldom attend our churches. It is true that ministers are often lightly spoken of and that there is an apparent neglect of religion. Now, whatever be our conduct in other matters, it is shocking to be insincere in our religion. Men are better fitted today than ever before for seeing whether our practice squares with our profession.

The parable of the pharisee and the publican was not put into the New Testament to fill up space. Quite obviously, our religion must not be confined to churches and chapels but seen in our every-day life. Only then will men and women respect it.

I've heard it said that the empty pews in many churches are due oftentimes to the practice of professing Christians who fill the others. That there is a lack of sincerity in their religion. In other words, their words and deeds are different

In God's name, why is it that some people knowing of these things, brand the whole church and think of religion as something born of ignorance and stupidity?

In St. James' letter in the New Testament, it is written, "The religious service which is pure and stainless in the sight of our God and Father, is to visit fatherless children and widowed women in their time of trouble and to keep oneself unpotted from the world." This is what church people by their constant efforts strive after, but it is not easy. The way of the cross was and never can be easy. It takes "guts" not criticism to try it.

The question of not going to church is not a new thing. The apostolic church of ancient times had the same trouble right at the start. Maybe some of those early Christians felt like asking St. Paul and other church leaders of his day, what some people ask now, "Why should I go to church?" Someone turns round the question and asks, "What does the church do that appeals to all that is best in manhood and national life?"

Before we answer the question, let us ask another: What is the church? As a general definition, it is the school of Christ, where men and women who wish to follow Him come together to be trained by Him in Christian character, for Christian service. As we see every day—they are far from perfect.

I should like to continue this topic in my next column.

To get your prospect lukewarm, you have to get yourself red hot.

SQUAMISH LADIES LUCKY AT B'DALE

Ladies from Squamish took most of the prizes at the Brackendale Women's Institute home cooking and sewing Sale, May 11, in the Farmers Institute Hall.

Winner of the Chinese auction was Mrs. L. Armstrong; pillows and pillow slips went to Mrs. A. Fowler; and the winner of the door prize was Mrs. A. Fuller.

Mrs. J. Riis, secretary, on behalf of the W. I., would like to thank all those who attended for making the evening such a success.

SURPRISE SHOWER FOR MISS BUGERA

Miscellaneous shower for Miss Ann Bugera, Squamish Elementary School teacher, was held at the home of Mrs. A. McRae Jr. on May 20.

Miss Bugera was married to Barry Green of Britannia Beach, on May 23.

Assisting hostess, Mrs. McRae, were Mrs. Svava Brown and Mrs. Gloria Clarke.

The guest of honor sat in a chair gaily decorated with streamers from a suspended umbrella.

Other ladies attending were: Mrs. A. Bird, Mrs. C. Gibbs, Mrs. G. Forsythe, Mrs. Lorraine Hurren, Mrs. Dorothy Dawson, Mrs. J. Jardine.

Miss June Hong, Mrs. D. McRae, Mrs. Doris Kennedy, Mrs. A. Martin, Mrs. Buechert, Mrs. N. Anderson, and a sister of Miss Bugera.

Dairy Farm Income Up But Still Below Par

Milk profits in the North Okanagan have shown a steady rise over the past two years due to higher fluid milk prices and a swing to larger dairy herds. Growing conditions have been favorable too, with high crop yields and lengthy pasture seasons.

W. L. Pringle of Kamloops Experimental Farm, reports that the average cost of producing milk on Illustration Station Farms was $3.83 per hundred pounds of milk, which included $1650 a year for labor.

Income derived from milk sales was 62 per cent of the farm income. The average selling price was $44.74 per hundred, leaving a return over cost of production of 92 cents per hundred. The cost of production per cow was found to be $309 per year. The return over cost per cow amounted to $48. This gave an average of 8.4 per cent return on capital invested in the farm for the dairyp enterprise, leaving a labor return of 3.4 per cent over the 5 per cent expected return for invested capital.

While this amount is an improvement it is still low in comparison to other businesses. Most other businesses expect a return to capital of 10 to 20 per cent in order to remain solvent.

No substantial increases in the price of milk can be expected for some time, so increased returns from the dairy business must come from lowering the costs of production. Farmers are trying to do this in two ways. First, by acquiring better livestock for higher per unit production—an average of 10,000 pounds of fluid milk per cow is well within reason. Second, by more efficient use of land, buildings and machinery, which are the major portion of farm capital investment.

98TH BIRTHDAY FOR HANK LOVE

Born in Ontario, Mr. Love came to B. C. in 1898 and to Woodfibre in 1914 where he worked on the log booms for 24 years before retiring and coming to live in Squamish 22 years ago.

Very active for his age, Mr. Love was well known as an avid square dancer but has to curtail this pleasure in recent years because of failing eyesight.

Now he is a great radio fan listening to old time music, ball games, news and fights.

Mr. Love is a bachelor with a fondness for children and many now grown people in Woodfibre and Squamish remember his kindness to them during their early years.

Robin Desjardins Christened May 17

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Desjardins of Great Central, Vancouver Island, chose May 17th, the anniversary of their wedding for the christening of their two-year-old son.

The ceremony took place in Squamish United Church with Rev. Norman Penrose bestowing the names Robin Munro upon the small principal.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford Picketts of Great Central were godparents.

During the afternoon a family tea in honour of the occasion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Goad.

Mrs. Desjardins is the former Julie Munro, of Squamish.

CLERK TO CONVENTION

Bad Seed

A Play by MAXWELL ANDERSON

Horror is more horrible in familiar places. This is a fact accepted by most story writers today. The mysterious Eastern poison and the strangely curved murder weapon have vanished in a cloud of incense, and the best-modern murder stories are built around people who talk the way we talk and live the way we live. When the final blow falls on them it falls on us. We shudder. "It could happen here!" Horror has come close to home.

This trend does not make everyone's cup of tea it can be fascinating, especially if you are aware that any apparent simplicity of style is really the mark of expert craftsmanship.

Please notice, if you should read this play, that every sentence is there for a purpose, either to explain a situation, to bring out a characterization or to lead the story forward to the first climax in the Act Two, Scene Two.

There is no need to say more about Bad Seed. If you know the story you have already felt its chill in your bones. If you don't know it let Maxwell Anderson lead you in his own way towards the horror that is more horrible because the surroundings might be your own.

The happiness of your life depends upon the quality of your thoughts.

School Foreman For Pemberton

Cyril Esche, 50, formerly of Salmo, near Nelson, was hired by the School Board of District No. 48 to become foreman of school services for the Pemberton area.

Mr. Esche is married to a school teacher and they have four children of school age. His duties begin June 1.

Letters to The Editor

Editor, The Times, Sir,

Missing, believed lost, 100 parents. Impossible to find any thing worse unless maybe their children with them, and this possibility is almost definite in some cases.

At the Little League baseball game last Sunday afternoon when some fifty to sixty of our boys played baseball, an important day of their young lives, only ten parents showed up and this was just for a few innings. The total of four parents stayed to see both games.

Where were their parents, who should take a big part in any sport that their children enter? Dad, maybe, has a car to fix, a garden or some other excuse. Could he be just too lazy or just not interested. Mother quite likely cooked up a similar or maybe poorer excuse than father.

We don't have to pick that particular baseball game; take a reading on most of the sports or other activities of our children. The school P.T.A. as an excellent example. Out of a possible thousand parents, our P.T.A. considers it a wonderful response if seventy five attend. This sometimes happens once a year — disgusting.

The shortage of parents or audience certainly didn't help the fact that there were no umpires and few coaches at Sunday's game. These positions could easily be filled from the benches of anyone had been sitting on them. Here, I will thank the man who umpired both games and did a wonderful job, too.

There are many more games coming, P.T.A.'s and what have you. This condition can be changed easily, or will we hear more lies about our angelic childhood, only because father had the club handy and used it, once in a while. But also found plenty of time to show an interest in the many things we did and made them worth while.

DISGUSTED.

Always give A LONG VIGOROUS RING

- when calling the telephone operator
- when ringing off

In a magneto telephone system, it is important that you turn the crank vigorously and continuously for about 3 seconds at the beginning and end of each call. The first long ring tells the operator that you want to make a call and the last tells her the line is free.

REMEMBER: the RING-OFF is especially important, otherwise the operator may report your line as "busy" to anyone trying to call you.

MR. AND MRS. S. A. KWASNYCIA

Mauve lilacs and white narcissi decorated Britannia Community Church for the marriage of Kay Elaine Blakeston and Steve Alec Kwasnycia, Red Lake, Ont.

Rev. N. Penrose, assisted by E. Dinsley, officiated at the 3 p.m. ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blakeston of Britannia and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kwasnycia of Red Lake, Ont.

For her wedding the bride wore a gown of lace posed over satin in ballerina style. The fitted bodice was designed with high round neckline and lily point sleeves and sheer nylon combined with lace to form the bouffant skirt.

A small coronet of pearls and sequins held the chapel veil of French illusion and the bride carried a bouquet of Talisman roses.

Miss Phyllis Blakeston was the bride's only attendant and wore a ballerina gown of powder blue net over taffeta. Her picture hat was in tone and she carried a bouquet of yellow gladioli.

Bill Blakeston was best man and Howard Blakeston, uncle of the bride, ushered the guests.

Sven Anderson was organist at the church. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents where Ray McInnally proposed the toast to the bride.

Later the young couple left for a honeymoon motoring in the States. For travelling the bride changed to a gray wool jumper suit with black and white jacket and white accessories.

They will reside at Red Lake, Ontario.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Miss Claire Mortenson, Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. R. McInnally and son Garry, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. C. Greenaway, Miss Mary McGhie, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Martenuk, North Vancouver and Miss Diane Radcliffe and Miss Norma Clemente, Vancouver.

BEACH CGIT HEAR OF OTHER GROUPS

C.G.I.T. in Canada was the subject chosen by Miss Alice Phillips from the Provincial Headquarters when she spoke to the Britannia Beach C.G.I.T. Thursday night.

She spoke briefly on groups across Canada she has visited describing in detail the farthest west group, an Indian group in Port Alberni.

Another guest at the meeting was the student minister, Mr. E. Dinsley. Mrs. C. Wiseman, the leader, introduced him to each of the girls. Graduation banquet and lanyard service were planned for June 6.

Local loggers have set up a committee to organize an annual sports day which they prophecy will become in a few years one of the best known and attended yearly events in the province.

August 8th is the date set for this year.

Proceeds will be donated to some worthy community project. That project will be chosen by the public through letters to the editor in The Times.

The Loggers' Sports Day committee asks everyone to make their wish known publicly so there will be no basis for re-creation once the project is undertaken.

On the committee is A. Hen-

ROGER MERCIER BROAD JUMPS CAN. RECORD

Roger Mercier, 15-year-old Grade 9, Howe Sound High student, beat the Canadian Midget broad jump record by 3/4 inches, May 2 at Vancouver.

Roger stretched the distance to 19 feet 9 3/4 inches at the Vancouver Olympic Club High School meet, coming fourth in competition with older boys.

The midget championship, for boys 16 years and under, was set in 1955 by Paul Winn, North Vancouver.

Stu Foreman, physical education teacher, said Roger would likely try for an official record this season at some event, such as the Caledonian or Vancouver Police Games, having a midget class.

Police Court

Inge Bonsdorf for failing to produce driver's licence fined $10.

Jack Lyman Simpson, fined $50 for driving while licence under suspension and for impaired driving sentenced to 30 days.

Howard Smith, 30 days for contributing to juvenile delinquency.

George Hutchinson, fined $125 for impaired driving.

John Joly, fined $40 for driving without due care and attention.

Mrs. Joyce Ward, fined $15 for speeding in a school zone.

Rolf Fougberg, fined $10 for having no trailer licence.

Bernard Barreau, fined $10 for having an over-height load on logging truck.

Russell Brune, fined $25 for an indecent act.

BOARD OF TRADE SUPPORTS CHANGE OF ASSOCIATION

Squamish Board of Trade supported a suggestion by Pemberton Board of Trade that their interests would be better served in an association comprising of North Vancouver, West Vancouver, Sechelt, Squamish, Pemberton, Bridge River, Seton and Lillooet, at a meeting, May 20.

Their present affiliation is with Lower Mainland and Fraser Valley boards.

R. H. E. Taylor, president of the Pemberton and District Board of Trade, in a letter to the Squamish board, was of the opinion that the group suggested would have more in common than the present association.

George Behrner, secretary of the local board, explained the family tree of the country-wide organization, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, to which local boards are affiliated through the Provincial Chambers of Commerce, then the Associated Boards of Trade.

Mt. Currie Indians In Big May Day Event

By MOLLIE RONAYNE

Mount Currie Indian Band celebrated the Queen's birthday in traditional fashion last Monday. After a colourful parade down the main street, with the band and floats carrying the May Queen and her attendants and the Indian dancers, the May Queen, Miss Sadie Wallace, was crowned.

ROYAL PARTY

Miss Wallace was attended by maids of honour Miss Betty Wallace and Miss Barbara Joe. Flower girls were Miss Viola Pascal and Miss Stella Jim. Pages, Randy Pascal and Gordon Dick.

The float was beautifully flowers, which were given away as souvenirs after the ceremonies.

Paul Dick, former chief, spoke to his people in their native tongue. His speech was translated by Master of Ceremonies Baptiste Richie. He emphasized that these celebrations combined two traditions.

DIAN DANCES

Then followed the Indian dances. First, four Indian boys in costume performed an Indian dance. They were Bert Williams, Leonard Pierre and Arvin Pascal.

Next was a dance by the women, also in costume; they included Mrs. Rosie Ross, Mrs. Jim Ross, Mrs. Ben Sam, Miss Vera Joe, Miss Annette James, Miss Mary Ann Leo, Miss Pearl Jim, Miss Elaine Dan. Mrs. August James and Mrs. Stanley. Dan accompanied with background chanting.

The School Boys, looking very smart with white shirts and dark pants, and carrying Union Jacks, marched to the band in fine style, finishing up with cheering and flag waving.

Several horse races were run, finishing with the half-mile "Derby" which was won by Eddie Thevarg of D'Arcy mounted on Beau Black.

RODEO

As soon as the races were finished the sound of thundering hoofs was heard as the Mount Currie boys with many whoops and hollers drove a herd of horses and cattle for the rodeo.

There were plenty of helpers to yell and wave and the rodeo was soon under way, a crowd of watchers perched on the rails of the corral.

The rodeo lasted until nearly dark so all in all it was quite a day.

FAREWELL PARTY FOR TWO NURSES

A German style dinner at Fergie's at Cheekye was given in honor of two nurses who have resigned from Squamish General Hospital to visit their families in Germany.

Staff members of the hospital were hosts to Miss I. Krause and Miss L. Kreuger who have been on the staff for nearly four years.

In proposing a farewell toast Dr. L. C. Kindree paid tribute to their work among the patients of the local hospital.

On behalf of the nursing staff, Dr. Kindree presented a gift to each of them.

Those present in addition to the guests of honor were: Dr. and Mrs. Kindree, Dr. and Mrs. G. L. D'Appolonia, Miss Agnes Leret, Mrs. A. Greatrex, Mrs. A. Hankey, Mrs. J. Taylor, Mrs. G. Barone, Miss D. Gravelling and Mrs. K. Barthel.

The travellers expect to spend eight months in Germany, and then hope to come back to Ontario.

SOCIAL NOTES

By Freda Munro

Congratulations to Mr. Hank Love who celebrated his 98th birthday on May 24.

Miss Loys Allott of Gibsons spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Allott, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Geddes and their daughters visited with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson over the long week-end.

Mrs. Len Marchant and Gary accompanied Mr. Marchant to Exeter for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Thor Halvorson and their sons spent the long week-end at Haney.

Miss G. M. Bruce and Mrs. E. Cottam, sisters of Mr. and Mrs. R. Bruce, were week-end guests at their home recently.

It was a girl for Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Mitchell on May 16 at the Squamish General Hospital.

Mrs. Knight is visiting her sister in White Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Buchanan attended the graduating ceremonies at UBC when their son Jim received his Bachelor of Physical Education diploma. They were accompanied by their younger son Michael.

New Snack Bar in Pemberton Hall

Mrs. Noreen Austin's new snack bar in the Pemberton Community Hall served its first customers at the dance, May 18.

Mrs. Austin looked after the kitchen department while her sister, Miss Sharon Shier, and Miss Denise Hass served at the counter. The refreshments were very tasty.

PEMBERTON NEWS

Framework of a new home for Grahams is noticed just outside Mount Currie village on the Pemberton Road. The builder is Harold Campbell.

All residents will be pleased to hear that the Community Hall has finally completed their washrooms.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Earle Rivett on the birth of a baby daughter.

Mr. Gerry Boulanger is in the Vancouver General Hospital recovering from an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Perkins have returned from their honeymoon. Their new home is close to that of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Perkins.

A party of fishermen from Vancouver, guided by Preston McCaskell made a fine catch of steelhead from a creek near Mount Currie.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hellevang, on a Sunday drive with their family got stuck in the mud near the Perkins ranch (at present unoccupied) and were obliged to walk six miles carrying the youngest two of their three children. Naturally the mosquitoes added to the enjoyment of their evening "stroll".

Canadian males will be getting a share of the air-waves from now on. Since radio began, there always have been programs devoted to women's interests, but nothing designed specifically for men. Rod Coneybeare, above, will correct the balance with his new Show Man to Man which deals with masculine interests only — women, clothes, food cars, sports and business. Contributions will also come from free-lance writers and interviewers all over Canada. The fairer sex also have an interest in men's interests and will be tuning in to CBC radio's Trans-Canada network each Monday for this close-up of the Canadian male.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR J. WUTTUNEE Personnel Change In School Office

One year old, May 21, John Wuttunee had a real ball at a party with some guests about his own age.

Innocence of social graces resulted in the occasional bit of spontaneous mayhem, such as banging on heads, pulling hair and stepping on toes and fingers.

Survivors were: Peter Schmidt, Barbara Stewart, Isobel Rennie, Diane and Laura Lassmann and Leslie Wuttunee.

Parents pacified with birthday cake and coffee were: Mrs. Elsie Stewart, Mrs. Kit Rennie, Mrs. Eileen Schmidt, Mrs. Hazel Lassmann and Mrs. Mae Wuttunee.

Mrs. Pat Fraser is transferring to the School Board offices as assistant to the secretary-treasurer to replace Mrs. Doreen Barr who is resigning in June.

Mrs. F. K. McCormack has accepted the position of office clerk and secretary at Howe Sound High which will be vacated by Mrs. Fraser.

Ferry Trip Scares Them

Woodfibre Finds No Lure At HSH

Majority of Woodfibre parents do not want their children travelling by bus and ferry to Squamish to take advantage of what the board claims is better and more extensive training at Howe Sound High.

A questionnaire circulated by K. Y. Tomlinson, principal of Woodfibre Elementary-Senior High School, disclosed that only a few were in favor.

The school board feels that HSH, being larger and better equipped, offers more opportunity in training for university or vocational courses.

However, the board decided that every encouragement would be given to students who do choose to attend HSH.

They hope that once a few establish the precedent, more will follow.

It is estimated that there will be 42 high school students at Woodfibre for next term.

Uncertainty of ferry service in bad weather, "hazards" of such travel, and fear that Woodfibre High would never be reopened if once pupils transferred to Squamish were some of the reasons against commuting.
