To Be Ready For Disaster

Civil Defense Calls Now For Volunteers

An auxiliary police force for civil defence to be organized through the Squamish Legion will be the first active unit in the local program, according to John Jacobsen, co-ordinator.

Reporting to the village council, June 23, Mr. Jacobsen said the Legion has shown keen interest in giving their assistance. Several legionnaires had already offered their services in communications and first aid, he said, and he hoped that the ladies of the Legion Auxiliary would volunteer to organize as registrars.

POLICE FROM LEGION

President of the Squamish and District Branch, J. E. Henderson, has circularized all members emphasizing the vital services that may be needed in peacetime as well as war.

The Legion has been chosen for auxiliary police work because the majority of the members have been trained in the issuing and taking of orders and for taking action in times of stress.

In the event of disaster, the circular states, existing services such as fire, police, health, etc., will have to be supplemented and for this reason auxiliary services are being formed.

SERVICES NEEDED

The following is a list of what constitutes the Organized Civil Defence Services:

Police Service, with volunteer auxiliaries to maintain law and order.

Fire Service, with volunteer firemen to meet additional fire hazards.

Warden Service, to provide aid, information and leadership.

Health Service, for the treatment of casualties and maintenance of community health.

Ambulance Service, for the rapid evacuation of casualties to a point where they can receive treatment.

Rescue Service, for rescuing people who may be trapped in homes and buildings.

Welfare Service, to reduce such stress on the people as might be occasioned by a disaster.

Engineering Service, to aid in restoration of public utilities to normal.

In order to achieve co-ordinated action from the above services, the circular states, it is essential to have an organized control system which would include communications, transportation, supply, training intelligence and other essential services.

Kindree Appointed Council Delegate

Village Council agreed to send a delegate as requested by the Squamish Farmers' Institute to a proposed local meeting with the Hon Newton P. Steacy, minister of agriculture and chairman of a government committee on river control.

A letter from Mr. Steacy indicated his intention to arrange through Don Robinson such a meeting to discuss river problems.

Commissioner L. C. Kindree, M.D., agreed to be the council delegate.

Some other delegates considered likely are Len Gorsuch, Rod and Gun; Eric Axen, Farmers' Institute; Bob Lasser, Board of Trade; Joe Henderson, Legion and forest ranger.

Teachers Leaving Pemberton Get PTA Gifts

Presentations to teachers who will not be returning next term were made at the annual meeting of the Pemberton PTA on June 17, at Pemberton Meadows. Forty-five members were present with Mrs. Grethyl Watson in the chair.

One high school pupil will be sent to the UBC High School Seminar with expenses paid by the PTA. Mr. Art Tinney, principal, will choose the candidate.

A presentation was also made to Mrs. Kathleen Lundgren in recognition of her work in cleaning up after PTA activities.

Teachers leaving are Jerry Langton, principal of Pemberton Meadows; Mr. and Mrs. Jim McKellar, Pemberton High and Elementary; and Miss DeWert, Pemberton Elementary.

WHIRLING HER MOUNT in an about-face manoeuvre required to start the stake race elimination at Squamish Valley Riding Club Horsecapades, June 21, Ruth Sweet drew the cheers of an excited audience for a splendid display of co-ordination between horse and rider as they went on to finish first against stiff competition for 3rd place.

Pemberton Barrel Roll Tickets

Tickets to the Pemberton Fall Fair Barrel Roll are now on sale throughout the valley to raise funds in advance to meet costs incurred in staging the fair.

The Barrel Roll will be held on the day of the fair, September 5. Timers will be Ronald Bonayne and Gus Zurcher who will put the barrel in the water 17 miles above the finish line at the Lillooet River bridge.

End of School Term

July 1, Moving Day At Britannia Beach

The end of the school year brings more than the children's release from routine.

The first of July is rivaling May 1 as a moving day.

Farewell parties have been frequent at Britannia.

J. MacDonald, Mrs. D. McGregor, Mrs. D. Clark and Mrs. R. Blundell. Mrs. Thomson will make her home in Vancouver.

Mrs. Hugh Chisholm entertained at a luncheon for Mrs. Alex Reid, who with her family is moving to North Vancouver.

The mothers of Miss Dale's class, her fellow teacher and members of the PTA executive united to honor her at a tea at the home of Mrs. C. Pringle. On behalf of the group Mrs. Fred Baxter presented her with a purse in appreciation of her work in the community. Miss Dale plans to attend summer school and then U.B.C. in the fall.

Mrs. Gladys Thomson was guest of honor at a large party at the home of Mrs. Earle Nelson. Mrs. Thomson has lived at Britannia for about thirty years so many old timers were present to say goodbye to her.

Bridge was played during the evening with the prize going to Mrs. R. Blundell. Mrs. T. Raeburn and Mrs. Jim MacDonald. Mrs. Rita North presented Mrs. Thomson with a travelling case and expressed the wish of those present that she would use it on frequent return visits.

Mrs. Al Stewart, who came up from West Vancouver for the occasion, presided at the tea tables. Tea was served by the co-hostesses, Mrs. North, Mrs.

MOVE TO OWN WATER WORKS

Council Agrees To Conditions of Sale

Village council made its first commitment to take over the PGE water works system when commissioners moved to accept the conditions outlined by the railway company.

The first commitment to take over the PGE water works system was made by the village commissioners in council, on June 23.

BUY FOR $1.00

Conditions of sale outlined by the railway, after lengthy negotiations with the council were accepted. Sale price is one dollar.

Further engineering reports to establish costs, revenue and extent of the utility are being studied before full plans are announced.

Several plans have been suggested. One is for renewal of most of the system and extensive work at the dam and reservoir.

Another is for the work to be done at the dam and repairs and renewals of the line only where absolutely necessary.

Another, proposed by Commissioner Kindree, is to take over and operate the system as it is for six months or a year before planning any big expenditure.

The village will ask for a reserve on the Stamish watershed and full water rights on the river. The PGE has indicated their intention to apply for these rights.

SUPPLY MAMQUAM

The Mamquam water works will likely be supplied with water from the village system at a metered rate approved by the Public Utilities Commission.

It has been recommended that the volume of water made available to the neighboring system be governed by the needs of the village. Surveys show the supply to be quite ample for both even with considerable new development.

FIREMEN PRAISED FOR PROMPTNESS BY COUNCIL

Squamish Volunteer Firemen were commended at the village council meeting, June 23, for their promptness in answering alarms.

John Jacobsen, council chairman, said the time elapsed from when the siren was heard on the evening of June 18, until the truck crossed the intersection at the Squamish Hotel was just over one minute. This, he said, was prompt action indeed.

Sid Bishop, on the fire department committee of the council, said that they (the firemen) seem to be a very wide awake bunch of boys and they should be highly commended for the good work they are doing.

The fire on June 18 was in a shed near Squamish Valley Timber offices and was extinguished before much damage was incurred.

Fire Chief Jack Clarke said the fire was probably started by children.

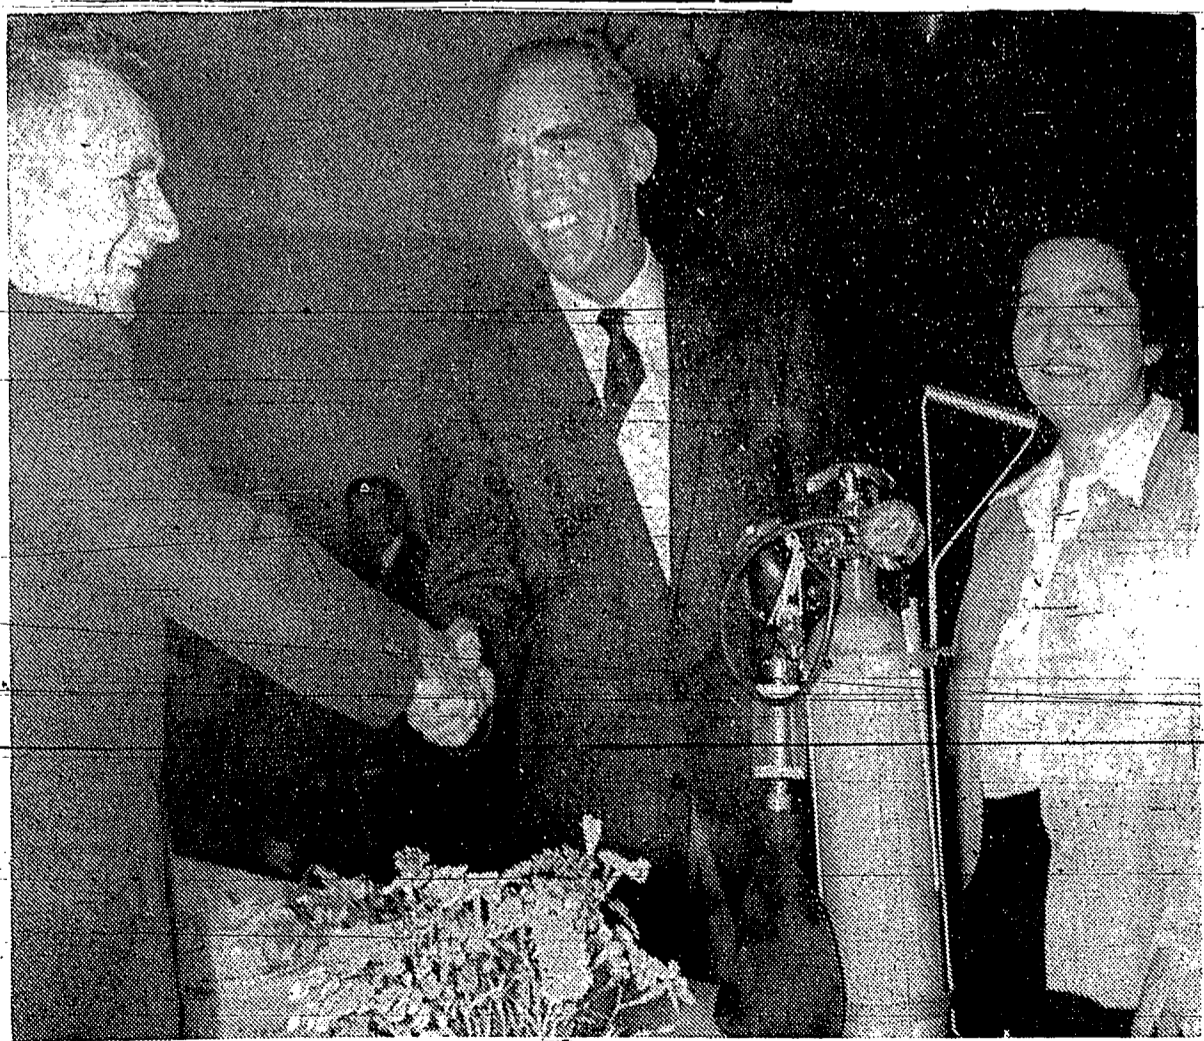

The Rev. N. Penrose On Holidays in Ont.

Rev. and Mrs. N. J. Penrose and their sons, David and Martin, are spending their holidays in Hamilton, Ont., and will return early in August.

Former member of Squamish United and now a resident of Vancouver, Roy Graham will conduct the service at Squamish July 5.

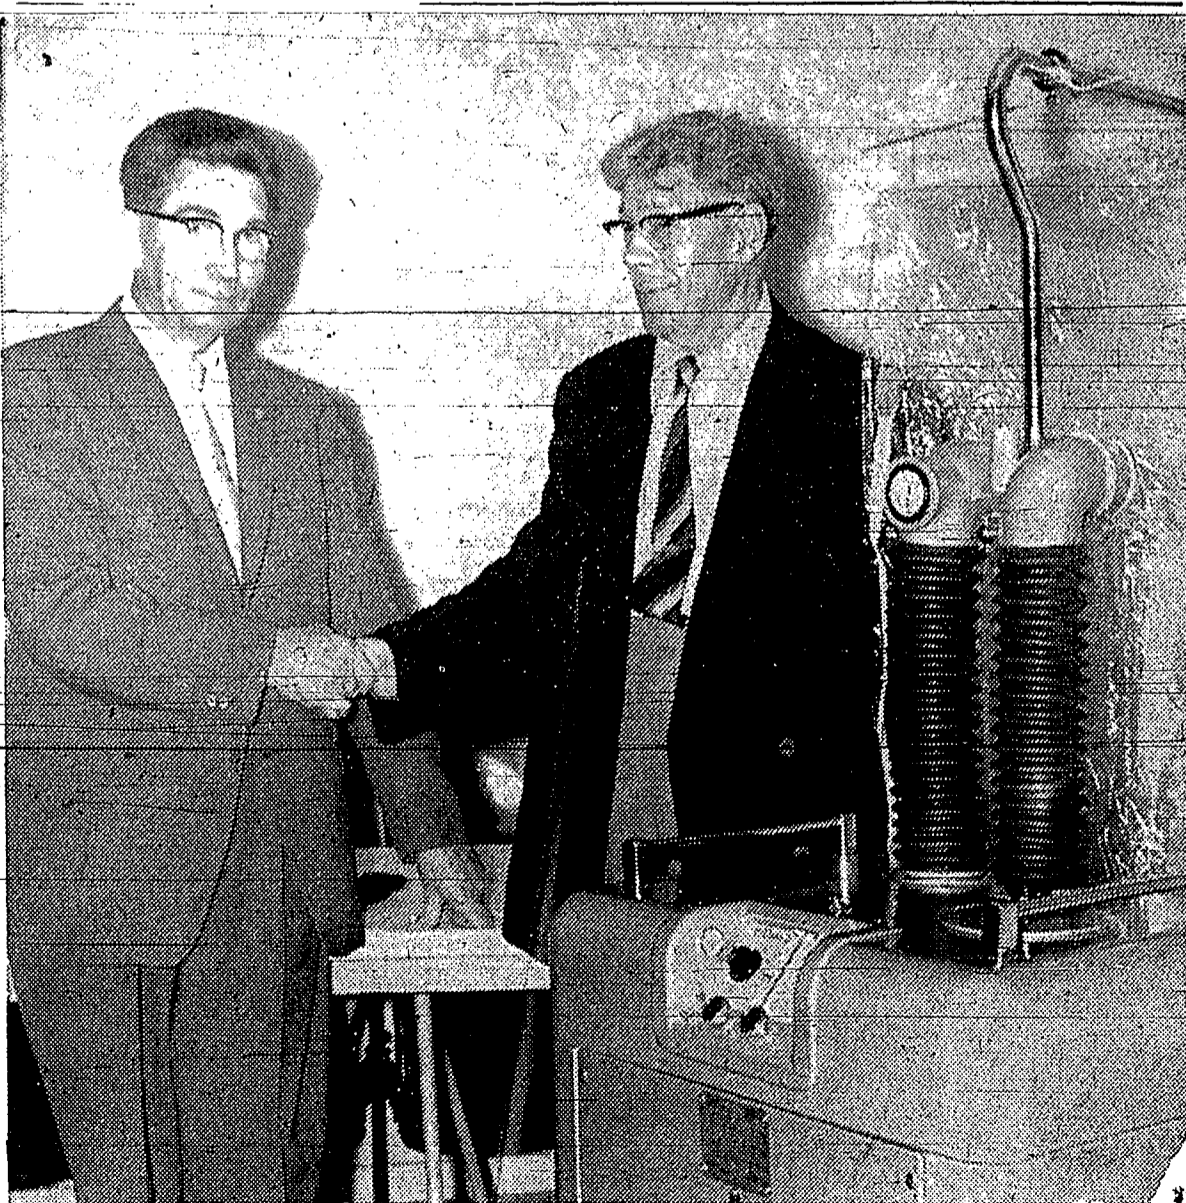

The Rev. T. V. Clark of London, Ont., will occupy the manse during Mr. Penrose's absence and conduct four services July 12 to August 2.

Mr. Clarke and his wife and 11-year-old daughter will arrive in Squamish during the second week in July.

FURTHER EQUIPMENT, a portable oxygen mask and tank, for the new ambulance the Lions presented to the community last year, was donated at the annual meeting, to Mr. and Mrs. Ottar Brandvold who have been chief operators of the ambulance. Presentation was made by Pat Flack, past president of the Squamish club. Danny Thom, retiring president, thanked the Brandvolds for taking over the operation of the ambulance which they report is now "paying its way." Mrs. Brandvold paid tribute to volunteer drivers who had taken ambulance calls when the regular operators were away and commented that the ambulance was providing a wonderful local community service as well as indirectly serving from Pemberton to Mount Sheer.

OXYGEN TENT presented to Squamish General Hospital by Squamish Lions Club is being received by H. H. Bailey, government appointed member of the hospital board, from Pete Nainsmith, Lions zone chairman. Wilf Munton, president of the Canadian Lions Association, praised the local club for the good work they have done for their community since their formation two years ago.

Greener on the Outside ...

The world's best and most usable wisdom by and by gets itself into a story. Then and only then it seems to become a help to mankind.

A farmer had become tired of his farm in any place Pemberton, Squamish or Tisdale, Sask. He lived on the place all his life. He was born there. When a boy he drove the cows in the field, hoed the turnips, swam in the creek, and carried his books through the field to the one-room school down the gravel road.

As a young man he plowed and harrowed in the spring, made hay and harvested his wheat and hauled fodder to the cattle in the winter.

He had brought his wife to the old place and three children were born there. He dreamed of a restful spot where he could spend the rest of his days in comfort.

So he went to a real estate agent in town and listed his farm for sale. The agent drove out and looked the place over. The property was in very good condition and the agent said he would have no difficulty in selling it.

When the farmer got his next week's edition of the weekly newspaper, he read the real estate listing in the classified ads. It stated that his farm was for sale. It was all fertile, there were 40 acres of lush pasture, a strong well-built barn, large modern home with all conveniences and other buildings. There was a beautiful stream through the property and it was only a mile out of town. A good head of cattle, along with well-serviced farm machinery made it an above average piece of property. In fact an excellent buy for someone.

The next day the farmer called at the agent's office and said: "Say, I read your advertisement and as near as I can figure, that is exactly the kind of a farm I have been looking for all my life. I'll keep it myself."

How is YOUR Front Yard ...?

Never let it be said that we want you to clean up the back yard! That is your business and generally you are the only one who has to look at it.

But the front yard appearance is part of the community and affects everybody.

A Canadian Press news release this week from New York disclosed that "Starting Monday, New York city pedestrians can be fined $25 for tossing empty packages or other litter on the street. Summonses to court instead of warnings will be handed to offenders."

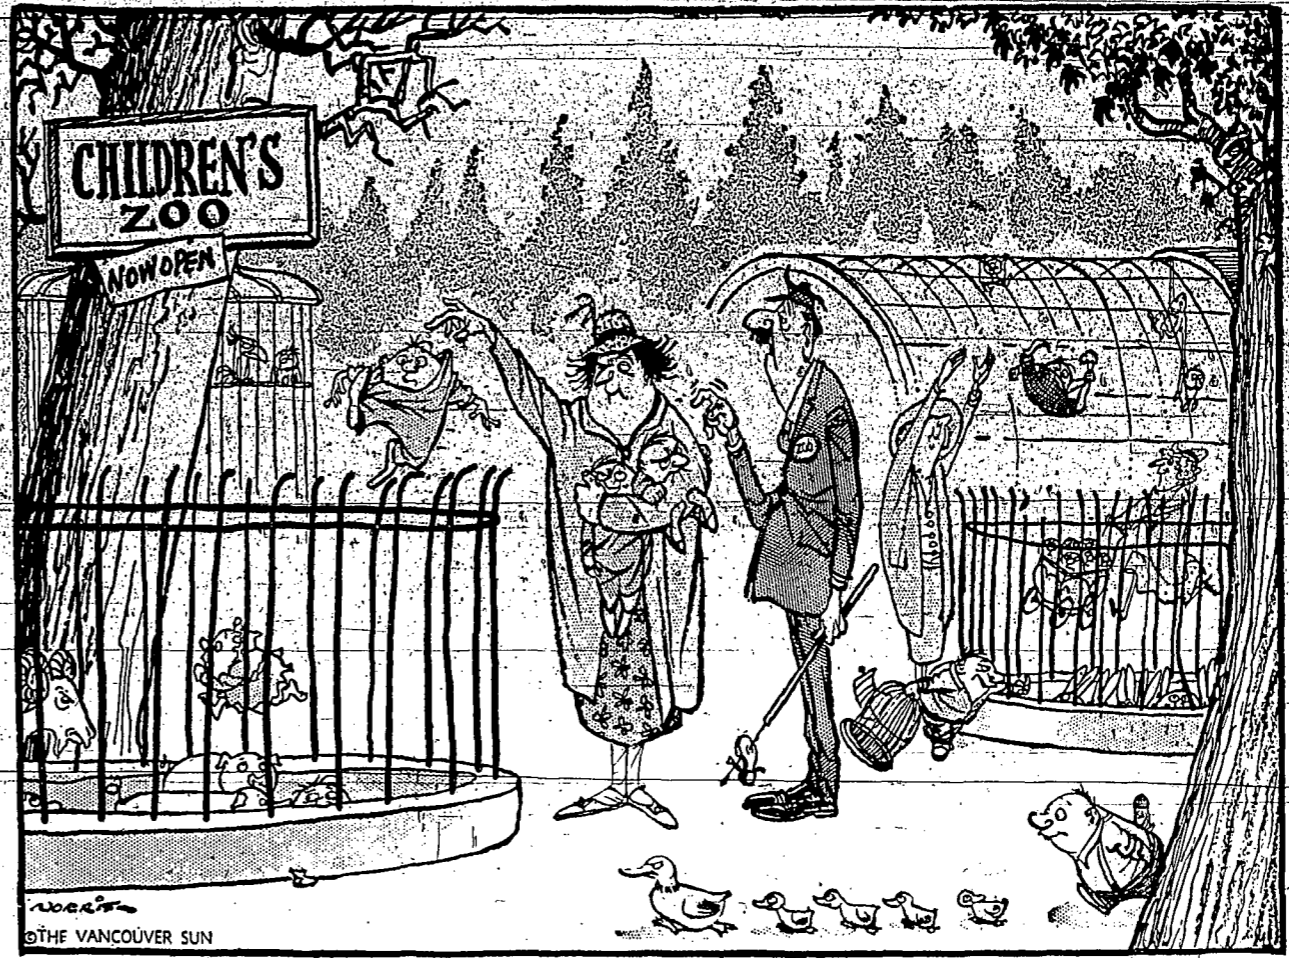

When we look at the streets of Squamish, the thought runs through our minds that it might be a good idea to institute a fine here for "litter" offenders. On second thought, however, The Times feels that citizens of this community as well as those from surrounding areas who pay regular visits here should have more pride in the town.

Squamish, with its limited budget, has not the ability to pay for a clean-up crew and therefore it is up to local residents to do their share of back-bending. If there is a concerted effort to keep our community clean, then everyone of us will stop throwing waste on the sidewalks and streets.

Possibly it's not too late this year for an identifiable group to get a few large oil drums, convert them into litter barrels and paint them a brilliant color as disposal units. This would also help to combat the litter-bugging tourists who inundate our valley on weekends.

There are many methods, as for instance, through the schools, contests and clean-up weeks, but basically it is up to the individual.

Let us do our best to keep Squamish and district clean. Just keep saying to yourself: "I'm proud of Squamish and my community. Is Squamish and my community proud of me?"

"Pardon me, madam . . . are we not arriving at a rather hasty interpretation of the sign?"

The Parson's Column

By REV. J. L. YORK

The incomparable excellence of the teachings of Jesus challenge the most thoughtful consideration of all who are responsive to the sublime message of Him who made the clarion call, "Come unto Me!"

There is a reason why Jesus Christ made and is still today making a strong bid for the attention of a restless humanity. The same reason brought the Lord from heavenly glory to earth's squalor and sin, and finally to that old rugged cross.

Preceding the cross, His ministry was to lay a foundation on which to build for eternity. Following the cross, Christ has left the world that foundation in the form of His Word. The heart, the soul, the all of the New Testament is of Christ, His message, and His mission. The philosophy of Jesus is the key to the Scriptures. "What did He teach?" is the question of greatest concern to all who would master His divine philosophy. What did He teach; what did He command; what did He enjoin; what would He have me do; what sacrifice did He make for me; what gift of gifts did He give?

The Scripture will answer all these questions, to turn carefully and prayerfully the word of God, to believe and to receive Christ, then to commence to walk in that new found path, is the beginning of Eternal life.

You will notice if you read John 14:6, that Jesus did not say the church is the way, or that the ministers are the way,

9 Out of 10 Non-Drivers

Women Walk Safer Than Male Walker

Women are better pedestrians than men, reports the British Columbia Automobile Association, which has figures to show that men are involved in seven out of every ten pedestrian traffic deaths.

Other statistics revealed by the BCAA show the following fatal facts:

Of every 100 adult pedestrians killed in traffic, 38 are over 64 years of age. Poor eyesight, hearing and muscular co-ordination are important factors.

Nine out of ten adult pedestrians killed in traffic have been licensed to drive. This indicates the importance of driving experience in learning how to cope with traffic while on foot.

Of the adult pedestrians killed in accidents, 23 out of 100 had been drinking.

Two out of every three victims had violated a traffic law or committed an obviously unsafe act.

Over a third of pedestrian deaths in cities occur when the victim is crossing the street between intersections. In one-fourth of pedestrian deaths, the victim was crossing at an intersection uncontrolled by a traffic signal.

Three out of every five pedestrian traffic fatalities occur during hours of darkness.

The average pedestrian crosses the street at a rate of four feet per second. A car traveling at 30 miles per hour is moving 44 feet per second.

Pondering a little now over these figures and taking heed of their implications may prevent you from becoming another fatal statistic.

CHURCH CLASS AT MOUNT SHEER

Miss Colleen Erb conducted a Church Recreational School training class at Mount Sheer recently.

She demonstrated the teaching of songs and the use of crafts and made many useful suggestions.

After an enjoyable and productive session tea was served by a Mount Sheer group of Mrs. G. Pickard, Mrs. Fodchuk, Mrs. Busco, Mrs. Best and Mrs. Holoien.

A number of ladies from Britannia, Mr. and Mrs. Dinsley and the Rev. Norman Penrose of Squamish attended the class.

Tenders Out To Pave Streets And Sidewalks

Tenders for blacktopping approximately one mile of streets in Squamish are out.

Though no specific time has been set for the job, most of the preparation of streets has been done by the village crew.

New sidewalks will also be built, mainly from Winnipeg to Pemberton Road along the west side of Cleveland Avenue and along the east side of Cleveland from the school to Britannia Avenue.

End of August is considered to be favorable time to do road and sidewalk work.

Cost of blacktopping last year was approximately $3 per lineal foot 18 feet wide.

This material was brought in by barge before the opening of the Squamish-Vancouver highway.

Suffer Little Children

By MANSON TOYNBEE

Over the years I have come to believe that children, even quite young ones, are probably capable of accepting a good deal more responsibility than we adults ever dare to thrust on them.

This belief has been strengthened by what I have observed and experienced since coming to Sarawak.

Native children in this land are much smaller than Canadian children at a similar age. However, what the children of Sarawak lack in physical stature they more than make up for in energy and reliability.

CHANGE OVERNIGHT

At seven or eight years of age a native youngster is quite capable of looking entirely after himself. This is all the more remarkable when you understand that native children may not be weaned from their mothers until they are three or four years old, and that until the age of five or six they are terribly pampered by their parents.

Then, almost overnight, they seem to change from spoiled babies into the most dependable and self-reliant youngsters imaginable.

Natives in Sarawak generally live in longhouses in which anywhere from two or three to a hundred or more families all share a common roof. The larger longhouses usually possess enough children to warrant having a primary school of their own, but this is not often the case with the smaller longhouses.

FAIR FROM HOME

Children from the smaller longhouses frequently must travel considerable distances to reach the nearest school.

Often these distances are so great that it is not possible for the children to return to their homes on weekends, or if the distances are very great, perhaps only three or four times during the year.

It is said that these children board at their schools, but the word, 'board', requires a little explanation. The children bring with them the rice, clothes and other articles that they will require until they are able to return home next.

ON THEIR OWN

At the school there may be some accommodation, but often the boarders must build their own little huts.

They are left almost completely on their own to look after themselves, receiving little if any supervision.

They must get their own fuel for cooking, secure and cook their own food, wash their own clothes and themselves, put themselves to bed and get themselves up. Should they exhaust their supply of rice by not rationing it out properly, they will have to go hungry until such time as they can return home for a fresh supply.

Remember, these are just six, seven, eight, nine, ten and eleven year old children, and ones who are generally the size of Canadian youngsters about two or three years their junior.

NO JANITORS

Schools in Sarawak do not have maintenance crews to look after buildings and grounds. Indeed, the schools do not even have janitors.

All grounds maintenance and janitorial work is performed

About the Author

Manson Toynbee, former principal of Glen Eagles Elementary school in West Vancouver, is teaching in the East Indies as part of Canada's contribution to the Colombo Plan. Mr. Toynbee is group headmaster at Marudi, Sarawak, Borneo, and this is the fourth in a series of articles he is writing for the Times.

before and after school hours by the pupils acting under direction of their teachers.

An amazing sight is to watch the children of a native primary school cutting the grass on the padang (playground). Most of the schools possess large padangs, the grass on which requires frequent cutting because of the rapid growth induced by the climatical conditions.

HEART FAILURE

The first time that I witnessed school children cutting the grass on their padang I very nearly had heart failure. More than forty small children were squatted on their haunches and working shoulder to shoulder they were vigorously cutting the grass, using knives with razor-sharp blades measuring some two or three feet in length. (These knives, known as parangs, had another use when the collecting of heads was still Sarawak's national hobby.) I felt certain that it would not only be the grass that was cut, and I fully expected that there would be a lot of patients requiring first aid. However, when the entire padang had been mown there was still not so much as a scratch on any child.

SHARPENS PENCIL

Since then I have seen a lot more grass cut in the same fashion, but I have yet to see the first casualty.

By the way, parangs are also useful substitutes for pencil sharpeners. When I remember how at home in Canada I used to worry about children bringing small sheath knives to school, I cannot help but snicker as I watch a primary one youngster expertly sharpen his pencil with a knife that is as large as he is.

In his excellent book, "The Art of Teaching," Gilbert Highet says: "A Sudanese tribesman, a Fivaro Indian, a Borneo highlander trains his children far more purposefully and far more successfully than many fathers in the mightiest cities of the World."

Perhaps Highet is right.

How many islands in the British Isles? It is rather astonishing to learn from the Book of Knowledge that there are over 5000. However, most of them are uninhabited and some are very small. The largest group is the Hebrides, with about 500 islands.

NORTH YARD NEWS First of Its Kind in B.C.

by Peg Tinney
Pupils of the Mamquam Elementary School spent a wonderful day last Tuesday, Mr. Tinney took his class to Porteau where they swam, played games, caught crabs (and then brought them home—ugh!), ate too many hot dogs and marshmallows, and generally had a wonderful time. Mr. Tinney treated a lady's broken ankle much to the awe of his giggling pupils.

Miss E. Noll and children took the bus to Farquharson's farm to eat, drink and be merry all over the 40 acres. Helping Miss Noll with her boisterous charges were Mrs. L. Skerratt and Mrs. W. Lang.

Thanks to Mr. Tinney and Miss Noll for giving the children a day to remember. Also to Mrs. Farquharson for the use of her property and her patience for the many drinks of water and "Please may I use the—"

Hundreds of finalists in more than a dozen tournaments will compete at four different locations in Exhibition Park during the two-week run.

In the weeks leading up to the fair, literally thousands of contestants will battle for finalist spots at elimination contests all over the province.

FIRST IN B.C.
The mammoth tournament will be the first of its kind in B.C. If it is successful it will be a continuing feature of the PNE.

"Our prime motive is to develop and promote amateur sports in B.C." said M. L. Barr, chairman of the sports committee. "When we proposed the tournament to the Amateur Athletic Union several months ago it was accepted with unqualified enthusiasm."

"The organization is behind us all the way. We have also had whole-hearted support from other sports organizations such as bowling, darts and table tennis."

The AAU is backing the following tournaments: weight lifting, bicycle racing, amateur wrestling, fencing and gymnastics.

NEW EVENTS
Those tournaments are already on the program. Negotiations are now underway to include judo, swimming, archery, track and field and fly casting.

Scores of trophies will be awarded by the PNE and there will be other prizes put up by various sports organizations.

The different events will be staged in the B.C. Building Annex, The Bowl, Empire Stadium and PNE officials are now considering a fourth permanent building for some of the indoor tournaments.

Several of the competitions will be continuing events, others will be held on special days. A vast amount of organizing has already gone into the overall project and no effort or expense is being spared to make it top quality, Mr. Barr said.

SCOTIA PLAN CHEQUE-CREDIT

The Bank of Nova Scotia's new system of "revolving" credit

Last year the BNS introduced SCOTIA PLAN LOANS. The response was so enthusiastic, the BNS now offers a second kind of Scotia Plan credit — also life-insured at no extra cost to you:

How Scotia Plan Cheque-Credit Works

1. Select a monthly payment that you can afford. You then apply for twelve times that amount.
2. When your application has been approved you receive a book of special cheques.
3. Use these cheques whenever you need funds—good anytime, anywhere in Canada.
4. Each month the BNS sends you a statement of cheques written, payments to be made, and the amount of credit still open.

5. Your monthly payment is one-twelfth of the amount of credit you have used, so far.

6. As you make a payment, the amount of the payment becomes available again for your use.

EXAMPLE:

Assume you are eligible for Cheque-Credit up to $600. You write a cheque for $100. Your monthly statement from the BNS will indicate one cheque used for $100, a payment due of $8.33 (1/12 of $100), a charge on the $100 of 50¢ per month, and credit remaining of $500.

Find out all about Scotia Plan Cheque-Credit at your nearest branch of the BNS, soon. Ask at the Scotia Plan Department.
