Trudi Malm May Queen At Woodfibre, May 13

Trudi Malm, pretty grade 8 student at Woodfibre Elementary-Senior High, will be crowned May Queen of Woodfibre on May 13.

Her maids of honor will be Diane Cranston and Sharon Wickstrom.

She will be crowned by retiring Queen Elizabeth Spink.

Trudi is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Malm.

Some May Day Entertainments

One of the most enjoyable features of past May Day celebrations has been the entertainment provided by the students of the elementary schools.

This year, as well as the traditional Maypole dance by Grade 3 girls of Squamish Elementary, there will be a novelty square dance by a group of senior students of that school.

At Stawamus the primary class is preparing an Indian pantomime. Mamquam and Brackendale have come up with something new and entirely different. These unpredictable principles are combining talents to present an inter-high game.

Harvey Hurren will be master of ceremonies and the Rev. Norman Penrose will give the invocation.

The Legion Band will play before the ceremonies begin and during the time allocated for taking pictures.

Nurses' Club Gives TV Set

Squamish Nurses Club have donated a television set to Squamish General Hospital for use in the nurses' quarters.

Howe Sound Electric has volunteered to install the set waiving all labour charges.

Recent donations to the hospital, other than the TV set, by the club have been a centrifuge for the laboratory, an inhalator and a vein stripper.

Funds spent, less the one third BCHIS grant for the first two items, amount to $174.20.

Squamish Officer Learns Survival

Lieutenant Daniel E. Munro, RCN, 27, of Squamish has successfully completed the RCAF Survival Training Course at Edmonton and the North West Territories.

The three week course is designed to teach students how to keep themselves alive and well in the event of a crash or forced landing in the wilderness.

Theoretical studies are completed at Edmonton and Lt. Munro then went to the Rockies foothills for ten days, using only parachute teepees and brush lean-tos as shelters while surviving on emergency rations.

Last week of the course was spent living in an igloo on Cornwallis Island, NWT. Instructors, including an Eskimo resident of Cornwallis Island, taught survival skills throughout the course.

Subjects included signalling search planes, emergency shelter construction and living-off-the-land techniques such as netting fish, trapping and snaring.

On completing the course, Lt. Munro returned to his base at Victoria, B.C., to continue his duties as an RCN pilot.

Cancer Drive By Legion LA

Cancer Fund drive now under way in Squamish and district is sponsored by the ladies of the Legion Auxiliary and convoked by Mrs. Daisy Barnfield.

Sound Employees' Association, service employees of School District No. 48. This is the first year for the trophy and the first year for boys soccer in the Squamish district.

Saturday PM Closing Of Squamish Post Office

Closing day at Squamish Post Office will be Saturday afternoon starting May 13, a change from former closing on Monday afternoon.

From that date the office will be open all day Monday through to Saturday noon.

If there are complaints about this change it is requested that they be made in writing to the district director of postal services, Vancouver.

The change was instigated by Squamish Chamber of Commerce.

Elks To Sell Mixed Nuts

Squamish Elks will again support the Cerebral Palsy Association of B.C., selling mixed nuts door to door to raise funds.

The drive is slated for May 16. The Elks will be assisted by the Ladies of the Royal Purple.

Elks throughout the province provide the greater portion of funds required by the Cerebral Palsy Association.

New Look For Legion Band

Squamish Legion Band will appear in natty blue jackets at their next public function.

The Legion is paying half of the cost with the members paying the other half.

There are now 24 members in the three-year old band and are now, with their stripped trousers and peaked caps completely outfitted.

Banquet For Soccer Boys

All soccer players, their parents and coaches are invited to a banquet, Friday, May 12, in the high school cafeteria as guests of the Service Employees of School District No. 48.

Official presentation of the Howe Sound Boys Soccer League Trophy will take place and each player on the winning team will receive an inscribed silver shield, also donated by the Service Employees.

New Books At Squamish Library

The Library Board is adhering to its policy of adding approximately 15 new books each week to the stock on hand.

Among the new adult titles which should have a wide appeal are those listed here.

RIZPAH, by Charles Israel, is the story of the fiery beauty who influenced the lives of David, Samuel and Saul and shared their tumultuous destiny.

FATE IS THE HUNTER, by Ernest Gann, tells of a series of incidents within the author's experience about flyers, their problems and their dedication to their occupation.

THE CITY THAT WOULD NOT DIE, by Richard Collier, is a graphic account of London during its struggle for survival under enemy air attacks.

THIS IS THE HOLY LAND, by H. V. Morton and illustrated by Yousuf Karsh, describes a visit to Biblical lands in words and pictures.

THE WASTEMAKERS, by Vance Packard, is another revealing account of modern business methods. In this book the author deals with the "planned obsolescence" of industry.

These are but a few of the new books available to the readers. Come and make your selection.

Members of the Board also expressed their willingness to store and distribute the films which the Lions Club are obtaining for use in Squamish.

A typewriter for the library has been acquired and is already being put to good use.

In order to keep patrons interested more adult books are being ordered and should arrive shortly.

Library Open House

At a meeting of the Squamish Library Board on May 1, it was decided to hold Open House on Saturday, May 27, from 2:30 to 5 p.m.

As in the past there will be a door prize. As an added attraction J. Moon and J. Wuttunee are collaborating on an exhibition of pictures of May Day, 1960.

Representatives from Britannia managed to win the competition. The boys were completing their Golden Arrow Head course.

They were accompanied by their leaders, Rr. Muise, L. Urquhart and G. Rakoes.

Four Await Trial For Possession

Three men and a woman from Mt. Currie have been remanded to May 15 on a charge of possession of stolen goods allegedly taken from Mr. Dadds of Sunshine Lodge, D'Arcy.

John Isaac Andrew, Hector Andrew, Nancy Dan and Anthony Dick have been charged. Pemberton police were alerted by Jay Moore, whose car was taken from his farm for the escapade.

Grad Banquet

Plans were formulated for the Graduation Banquet on May 26 at the regular meeting of the HSHS PTA last Wednesday. Mrs. A. Finter is the head of the committee in charge.

As election of officers for the ensuing year will take place at the June meeting a nominating committee was made up of Mrs. A. Martin and R. Farquharson.

To Cost $150,000

Mamquam Sewer Plan

Planning for a sewer system north of the Mamquam River has reached the stage where engineering reports on costs will be submitted to Victoria this week.

Total cost to serve 500 outlets is estimated at $150,000. This includes the collection system, mains, a rated aeration treatment plant and outfall.

Proposed cost to residents is $150 for connection charge and $30 a year.

If Victoria approves plan a referendum will be held to get the approval of the people.

Garibaldi Park Estates would be one of the principal users of the system along with the proposed VLA housing development and the Mamquam school plant.

The treatment plant would be at the north west corner of Tantalus Road in Garibaldi Park Estates.

On the sewer board are W. Goss, chairman, and Mrs. H. Fairbanks and Mrs. D. Dodd.

Plans are such that the system and plant can be enlarged when development of the area warrants.

Guild Sale
Makes $113

A total of $113 was raised by the St. George's and St. David's Guild of Pemberton at their spring rummage sale and bazaar in the Community Hall on April 22.

Refreshments were served by the Girl Guides.

Schools, 19.3

Mill Rate Up: 35.35

Mill rate for school purposes will be roughly 19.3 this year, up 1½ mills, though total expenditures are down and total assessment in the district is up. Total mill rate for the Municipality of Squamish will be 36.35 mills.

School expenditures are down to $648,124 from $652,330 in 1960. Assessment is up to $26,597,935 from $22,261,015 last year. Amounts shareable by the Department of Education are also up.

Reason for the higher mill rate to raise the lesser amount of taxes is the change in the government's basic mill rate change from 9 to 16, according to F. D. Ross, secretary-treasurer of School District No. 48.

Mill rate for village purposes remains the same at 17 mills. Last year there was an additional levy of 5 mills to repay a government loan to the Hospital Improvement District made in 1959.

Tony Confortin Dies At 58

Anthony "Tony" Confortin, 58, long time PGE employee, died unexpectedly in his North Yard trailer home on April 28.

He had been hospitalized recently for a chest ailment, other than the heart attack to which he succumbed.

Born in Italy, he came to Canada in June, 1922, got a job with the PGE and worked for this company until his death. He was section foreman.

His next of kin are Danny Confortin, a nephew who lived with him; and two cousins, the Confortin brothers Ivo and Ed of Squamish and Quesnel.

Last rites were conducted at Corpus Christi Church in Vancouver with burial at Ocean View cemetery.

Pall bearers were Bob Armstrong, Ray Patrick, Bob McIntyre, Ted Teachman, Mike McCormack and Jim Bolger.

Some years ago he survived an attack by a grizzly while walking at night along the track between Cheekye

Crossing and Cheakamus Station.

Though severely mauled about the head, back and thigh, he had the presence of mind to lie still as though dead until the bear went away.

United We Stand...

We suppose that the life of a town, its growth, its amenities, and all the aspects that make it either a desirable place to live or one with just the bare necessities, depends to a great extent on the people who inhabit it.

And people, in all their variety, when they have passed the pioneer stage, when they have the time and the means, usually group together in some form of public or private enterprise to make their community into their version of a better place in which to live.

There is no classic example to follow and if there was the people probably would not follow it anyway unless there was some trusted leader to show the way. So at times there is conflict of opinion, distrust of motives, and even downright rivalry and hostility.

Such dissension is not conducive to orderly, well planned progress and growth but it is probably inevitable in a community where there is no central direction, no body of elected or appointed people with the best interests of the community at heart and with the confidence of the majority of the populace.

Some such organization is needed in Squamish. A start could be made with a Community Planning Committee, to be followed by an Action Committee, or just one group to carry out both functions. It should represent all the people and all the people should be encouraged to make their views known to it.

Squamish has the people with the ideas and with the energy to carry them out. No one will deny the need for community improvements, whether it be a curling rink, a swimming pool or a golf course. There may be difference of opinion as to which should come first and how it should be financed.

The Times believes these problems could best be handled by a community organization chosen by the community for the community. And the time to do it is now.

Schooling In Home Finance Needed...

One incomprehensive fact to this newspaper about B.C. education is that it allows so many good students to emerge from high school and even college with little knowledge of the management of their own affairs.

Financial and legal education is simply not a part of most curricula though a knowledge of the subject is absolutely essential to the successful conduct of our private lives. What is the result?

Intelligent people who have received required instruction in all phases of arts and sciences to pass out of junior or senior matriculation or even with university degrees still do not know how to buy wisely, how best to manage their taxes, little do they know how to save and invest their earnings to handle their estate, to plan their insurance.

Those without instruction in these subjects who feel their financial ignorance fill in their education on their own. They take night school classes from those knowledgeable, following consumer reports, reading magazines and books relating to personal financial management.

But what of the vast majority of people in Squamish or Pemberton? They are simply left to the winds of chance and their own ingenuity in many financial situations.

The facts hit home.
Thirteen cents of every dollar of take-home pay goes for interest on debt-consolidation loans are profitable loans and installment purchases and enough to advertise in newspapers and on radio, loans which make the unsuspecting debtor pay interest twice on the same principal. This shows the financial naivete of many citizens in British Columbia.

Almost every car repossession—and there are a great many—denotes a serious financial mistake. Every sale of a poor and unnecessary product means that the intrinsic strength of the economy is weakened.

The burden of this ignorance falls on the whole society, not only so many worthless products, phoney investment deals are sold, but because the government must make up for the failure of the individual by increased welfare programs, controls and taxes, taking financial management out of the hands of the people.

When it has always been acknowledged that the people of our province of B.C. must be educated to their duties as citizens, it is hard to understand why management of personal finances and affairs is not an intensive required part of the curricula of junior and senior high schools. So many subjects less pertinent to daily affairs, the pulse-beat of our economy, are required by rote.

Pedestrians On Upper Levels Highway...

It is neither fair nor factual to assume that when a pedestrian is struck on the street or highway, the driver of the car is at fault. Statistics have proven that in two thirds of the pedestrian traffic fatalities last year, the person on foot was mainly responsible.

Fortunately, most people seem to take precaution when crossing Marine Drive, Taylor Way, Inglewood Avenue, Mathers Avenue and other through streets in the municipality. But when it comes to walking on or along side of the Upper Levels Highway, pedestrians seem to have thrown safety to the winds.

The provincial government has spent millions of dollars building a freeway across the highlands of the North Shore for the express purpose of avoiding traffic congestion, stop lights and pedestrian hazards. With this in mind, it has set a sensible speed rate of 50 mph maximum with slow zones on corners and at the odd crosswalk.

Now it is up to adults and their small fry to remember that the Upper Levels is not a boardwalk and is to be crossed only at designated crosswalks. The whole purpose of moving traffic quickly and directly is defeated if motorists must dodge wandering pedestrians, like an obstacle course.

Pedestrians in British Columbia are a sheltered and pampered lot. Nowhere else in the world, not even in eastern Canada, is a motorist at the complete mercy of a pedestrian. Here, supported by the police, he can dawdle and even defy a motorist in a crosswalk; leap from the curb with no warning; wander at will on a busy highway. And the motorist ignores him at his peril or he is haled to the courts.

It is a refreshing and overdue change to have the Minister of Highways set realistic speed limits and let the traffic move on our expensive highway system. And the onus is on the pedestrian to keep out from under the wheels.

(Lions Gate Times)

Food For Cosmonaut...

The brilliant scientific achievements of cartwheeling Major Yuri Gagarin around the globe and lobbying Commander Alan Shepard into the South Atlantic, somewhat overshadows our local problems of filling pot holes in municipal roads as an editorial subject, so may we beg forgiveness if we digress from the urban scene.

The first question that has been answered is whether any of us would see the day when man would be put into orbit. Like it or not, you have now lived to witness this cosmonautic achievement.

The other question, be it rather facetious, is whether the Russians or the Americans build their space ships of edible plastic? Amazing strides in plastics and packaging announced recently foretell the possibility of constructing the future space vehicle of digestible, nutritious materials.

No thanks; not for us. When we leave this wonderful municipality for a space trip, it'll be ham-on-rye or jam 'n peanut butter.

Letters To The Editor

The Editor;
Squamish Times;
Dear Sir:

How easy it is to attribute false motives to explain a person's actions, especially when his actions displease us!

Newspaper generally take great pains to avoid this temptation, but I regret to report that "The Squamish Times" slipped up in this regard in its May 4th edition.

Both John Alexander, in his article "Down In the Valley", and the publisher, Claude Hoodspith, in one of his editorials, were guilty.

I'm particularly surprised that Claude Hoodspith would do such a thing. He should have known better.

Both Claude and John were obviously upset by the fact that the big swimming pool raffle had to be cancelled, because someone reported to the attorney-general. I have no idea who that person is, but there was no justification whatever for branding him or her as an "informant", a traitor, as these than Judas, and some one hardly fit to be called a human being! How silly can you get?

After all, since we don't even know who this person is, how can we judge his motives? He may have been just as enthusiastic about building the swimming pool as John and Claude claim to be. All that we know is that this person objected to the illegal manner in which the money was raised. And is that a sufficient "crime" to warrant such verbal abuse?

Perhaps the publisher of "The Squamish Times", (like myself, until I checked with the RCMP), was not fully aware of the fact that raffles are illegal in B.C., even for charities, if the prize exceeds the value of $50.

The prize in this case, a lot in Garibaldi Estates, is probably worth at least 20 times this sum, and so the question can hardly be regarded as a mere "legal technicality", as was implied in the editorial.

Some people may not like our raffle laws any more than they like some of our traffic or liquor laws. But they are laws, nevertheless, and should be respected.

Anyone has a right to try to get our laws changed, if they so wish. But it hardly seems fair or right to me, to condemn some person who apparently had the courage and conviction to protest the violation of one of our laws.

As responsible citizens, on the side of law and order, Claude Hoodspith and John Alexander might better have reserved their criticism for the committee which organized this illegal raffle in the first place. Even here, however, sympathy might be more appropriate than criticism.

In all probability the committee was simply unaware of the legal restrictions on raffles. It is most unfortunate that they did not check into these matters before proceeding so far with their plans.

Yours Sincerely,
Rev. Norman Penrose.

EDITOR'S NOTE:

Do we know that this person objected to the "illegal manner"?

Is it apparent that this person acted with "courage and conviction"?

If raffles involving certain amounts are legal, would not the illegality of raffles above that amount be rightly construed as a "legal technicality"?

We commend Mr. Penrose for speaking out publicly against what he believes to be an injustice. We, in effect, have done the same thing.

We, too, could be wrong.

But, with the evidence at hand, we rest our case.

Editor, The Times, Sir:

How small some people are in Squamish has come to light again. Why all this back-stabbing has to take place in a town that has no entertainment, only goes to prove that people have nothing better to do.

We with small children can not go all the way to Vancouver to bowl, curl, or take our children to swimming lessons. Sure, they can go to Britannia, but that is a hard trip for six-year-olds and that is the time to teach them to swim.

I say for everyone to send $1.00 to the swimming pool fund. If you have a ticket, please do not ask for a refund. If we don't get a pool this year, we'll never get one.

Louise Fowler,
Box 486, Squamish, B.C.

Editor, The Times, Sir:
Upon obtaining legal advice, our club was made aware that bingo run on a schedule basis is illegal; therefore, to prevent embarrassment to anyone, we thought it best to change our plans and so we will be running bingo from time to time, unscheduled.

Watch your papers and our bulletin board in the Royal Bank, as well as posters, for announcements of coming bingos.

F. P. Flack,
Secretary,
Squamish Lions Club.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Pickard and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Knudsen Sr.

Net results, gross results, or just results, a lot depends on what is expected or required. When you are selling property, what you are concerned in is the net results, or the amount of the cheque after expenses.

When you are buying a house, you are primarily interested in the gross results, or the amount of house you are getting for your money.

Either way, you are assured of the most value when you deal with us, because we are interested in the "end result," or, in other words, "customer satisfaction."

Four Team League For Squamish Jets

Squamish Jets, the local fastball team in the North Shore Senior C League, will be in regular competition this season with Evans, Coleman, Evans, Vancouver Piledriving, and West Van Hardware.

The Jets were league champions last year but lost out in the semi-finals at Chilliwack. League opener will be a double header at Squamish on May 24.

Jim Sanderson is again manager with Sonny Rennie and Pres Thompson as coaches.

Jets Win One And Tie One

With a win and a tie in the double header Sunday with Evans, Coleman, Evans, the Squamish Jets are all set to defend their North Shore softball championship next Sunday against ECE, the same team they beat out in the playoffs last year.

TIE 5-5
Jets made their bid to win this seven-inning game a bit too late as they came from behind 5 to 1 in the last of the seventh with five hits and four runs as ECE pitcher Leighton started to tire.

Righthander Jim Sanderson, on the mound for the Jets, gave up only three hits over seven innings and no earned runs. Leighton gave up seven hits, one a first-inning home run by young Lefty Hendrickson.

Glen "Snowball" Baillie, Jets' starting pitcher, scattered eight hits over the nine innings and was in trouble only in the third and sixth when the ECE boys bunched their hits and scored seven of their eight runs.

Nine Teams For Soccer

Nine teams are expected to be in the Howe Sound Boys' Soccer League next season with an earlier September start planned, according to Merv Doherty, high commissioner.

With the Grade 7s switching to Elementary schools in the fall there will be one more team fielded by Squamish Elementary, one more at Britannia and a new entry from Woodfibre.

We are very pleased to hear Roy Binning is home from hospital and wish him a speedy recovery.

E. B. MacDonald of Brackendale recently attended a Recreational Association convention in Penticton.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Tinney were her mother, Mrs. A. Appleton of Vancouver and aunt, Mrs. Elsie Longdon from Calgary.
