Underground Wiring For Garibaldi Highlands

Underground wiring is planned for the Highland section of Garibaldi Park Estates. It will be one of the few residential areas in the province to be free of unsightly poles and overhead wires.

The Highlands, a 1200-acre flat gravel bench adjoining Garibaldi Park Estates, is to be surveyed this week for a layout plan for an estimated 3300 lots of approximately 9500 square feet each to sell around the $2500 figure.

Elevation of the bench slopes from the 350-foot level to 200 feet with the down grade to the south.

According to Pat Goode, one of the principals of the subdivision development, this is a 20-year project with development proceeding in 40-lot parcels.

First opened will be one mile of road from their lookout, due east to the site of the old Merrill-Ring bridge over Mashiter Creek.

Lots are to be serviced with paved streets, water, sanitary sewers, and electrical power.

Harmony Circle Amateur Hour

Canadian Collieries Takes Over

Canadian Collieries Resources Limited, announces that its bid to acquire the assets and undertaking of Mt. Baker Plywood Ltd. and the Keeley group of companies, including Empire Mills Limited, has been accepted and the transaction will take effect as of March 30, 1962.

In round figures the accepted price is $2,600,000. For this Canadian Collieries acquires the Mt. Baker waterfront property adjoining Collieries' property in South Westminster together with the veneer mill thereon and the Mt. Baker timber holdings.

Collieries also acquires ownership of Empire Mills Limited, which company is the holder of a tree farm licence and owns roads and bridges into such licence. Collieries in addition acquires offices, workshops, road building, logging and log dumping equipment at Squamish and timber at Tisdal and in the Soo public working circle, together with a small sawmill on the north arm of the Fraser.

Also included is a 50-acre waterfront plant site and other real estate at Squamish. Financing has been arranged by the issuance of 1,820,000 of Collieries' 5 per cent cumulative, redeemable preferred shares and 110,000 common shares. There will be no public issue.

Collieries has obligated itself to build an export hemlock sawmill at Squamish, with a planned capacity of 125,000 board feet per shift.

It is planned to have this mill in operation sometime before the end of 1962 at an estimated cost of approximately $1,500,000.

It is anticipated that employment will be provided for approximately 170 to 175 men.

Village Assured Of Performance

There will always be a major wood processing plant in Squamish in connection with controversial Tree Farm Licence No. 38 granted to Empire Mills in 1960, or the licence will be taken from the holder.

This was the assurance given to delegations from village council and the Chamber of Commerce by the minister of lands and forests.

TIGHT CONTRACT

The minister, the Hon Ray Williston, is reported to have said that he would draw up a performance contract that will be "so tight it squeaks."

Williston outlined main features of the new performance contract:

● Sawmill cutting 125,000 feet per shift to be in production by March 1, 1963, and cut at capacity for duration of licence.

● Any default on the part of the company will cause the licence to be revoked.

● In case the licence is cancelled, the company would not be reimbursed for development work within the TFL.

● Company must contract 66 per cent of 24 million feet, whichever is greater, of the annual cut to local logging contractors.

Contracts are to be drawn up yearly and the minister will be final arbiter in case of dispute.

CONCERNED
A copy of the contract will be given to the council so, in effect, the performance can be policed locally.

When it became known about a month ago that Empire Mills had merged with Canadian Collieries and that they were asking for a change in contract to allow a sawmill instead of a plywood plant, both the village council and the chamber wired the minister asking for a stay of proceedings until they had a chance to meet with him.

In the meantime the council met B. J. Keeley of Empire Mills and R. Ellison, executive vice-president of Canadian Collieries. The Chamber of Commerce met with Ellison and other members of C.C. and with D. F. Robinson, M.L.A.

WANT GUARANTEE

At these meetings it was made apparent to Canadian Collieries that the people of the community were going to insist on every possible assurance that would guarantee a plant at Squamish for the duration of the licence.

Ellison attempted to ease their fears by expounding the business point of view: If Canadian Collieries were going to invest 1½ million, it was in their interest to get in production as soon as possible and to stay in production to get their money out of the investment.

NOT ENOUGH

This was not enough, said Dr. L. C. Kindree, a commissioner and a member of the Chamber of Commerce, who was one of the most persistent cross examiners of C.C. during these meetings.

Canadian Collieries is a relatively small company, he said, so what happens if in a year or two, if it sells out or merges with a larger company which already has a sawmill cutting hemlock for export? Then, if the market dropped, it might be in that company's interest to close the plant at Squamish.

These deals are allowed within the terms of the licence, he said, even though the licence itself may not be sold.

Regardless of the assurance given now, companies do change and plans change with them. We started out dealing with Empire Mills and now we are dealing with Canadian Collieries.

ALWAYS A PLANT

The assurance we want is that, regardless of what company controls the licence, there will always be a major wood processing plant at Squamish.

If the TFL were to be revoked the whole area would be turned into the Soo working circle.

Mr. Williston said he could not, at this time, say that the licence would be turned over to the village or some local responsible body, but he said it could be a possibility.

The council had asked for this, thinking that in case of a shut-down of the plant, the village would be in a position to explore all possibilities of keeping it operating.

They Should Know Better...

Out of the millions, upon millions of dollars that are invested and spent in radio and television advertising, it is amazing that the industry cannot at least produce announcers who know English pronunciation and grammar.

The name Fowler is a tonable one among the band of brothers who have tried, and whose successors are still trying, to maintain English as a civilized tongue. There was a Fowler who was chairman of a royal commission on Canadian broadcasting.

Possibly he could be induced to set English examinations for the broadcasters and announcers who are employed in Greater Vancouver radio and television stations.

We have not yet touched on the CBC in which $80 million plus of taxpayers' money is used for the development of Canadian "culture." It would seem that a small sum might be set aside for the teaching of proper English to announcers, especially sports announcers.

This little note of protest was inspired by the words of wisdom on a recent sportscast in which someone "shoulda know he was beat" before he started. And, of course, the phrase "it looks like" he did the right thing can be heard almost any day or night.

If sports broadcasts are not cleaned up grammatically in these days of sports-minded children, it is inevitable that the quality of English tongue will deteriorate and more rapidly in the next generation than it ever has before.

Must Our Stamps Be Dull?

There is a little part of Canada that is carried on wings to every corner of the world. A little part that must reflect our spirit and it couldn't be more dull: Our stamps.

Safe, somber replicas of the Queen's face, in safe somber colors.

The airmail stamp, with its goose in a debatable pose for safe flight, and the occasional memorial issue take a daring turn in color and form, but over the long haul we cling to our colonial image.

With a wild, beautiful, young country like Canada, imagination should take wings. Our stamps should reflect our mountains, our dazzling scenes, our adventuresome history. Our stamps should be tourist bait.

A collection of one week's stamps of an international company brought to this office and tumbled on the desk was a kaleidoscope of color. South West Africa's 10c stamp glittered with diamonds, another a graceful flamingo; Trinidad was a composition of blue and bright yellow; Spain, that country of poverty, could design a stamp of great beauty, gold gilt superimposed with a graceful figure of a woman holding a red clay jug.

Germany reached back to its fables and depicted a scene from Hansel and Gretel and the Republic of South Africa has an entire series in brightly colored flowers.

What would you expect from Greece? Art from its past? That is what it used, ancient urns against a soft green background. Other issues showed modern shipping fleets in bright blue harbors.

Israel shows a figure of a Crusader, done in the colors of stained glass window panes and Switzerland clings to its famous Alpine flowers. The brightest and sharpest of all come from Japan—modern design advertising the third Asian games and others using flowers or butterflies against contrasting backgrounds.

Isn't it time to retire the Queen's head and let something truly Canadian march out on our letters? If we are never to get our own flag, we can surely portray our heritage on our stamps.

To Whom the Owl Speaks...

A Brackendale taxpayer reported seeing a small barn owl sitting on his carport last week. This nocturnal visitor, he reported, was only heard to whoot once.

But then again "only an educated owl uses 'whom'," according to George Bernard Shaw. And maybe this is the reason why the famous playwright soliloquized:

A wise old owl swooped from the blue

Into the gloaming gloom.

He never said, "To whooo, to whooo,"

He only said, "To whooooo."

What Can I Do...?

It is easy to be cynical about the news of the world around us and even of our districts of Squamish and Pemberton. Headlines by themselves are a depressing diet.

Reporters consider themselves realists and unless they are careful it is only a short step from there to professional pessimism. A good many pre-election reviews wallow in the swamps of the country's problems.

Here is an example of irresponsible thinking. Fill in your own blanks: "..... is a mess. The situation in ..... is hopeless. We have been promised a solution to ..... How can you make any sense out of ....."

It is child's play to pull things apart. It takes courage and tenacity to put things together and make them work. We do this in material affairs.

But how many citizens of our municipality and entire Howe Sound area have the good sense to look at a tangled series of conflicting interests like the B.C. Electric grab and the Garibaldi situation and think—not out of impatience and irk, but think as if you were the Minister in Victoria? There is no substitute for saying, "What would I actually do, if the decision were mine?"

The Younger Generation...

Our earth is degenerate in these later days. Children no longer obey their parents. (An Egyptian priest of 4000 B.C.)

The children now ..... have bad manners, contempt for authority. They show disrespect for their elders and love chatter in place of exercise. They no longer rise when their elders enter the room.

They contradict their parents, chatter before company, gobble up dainties at the table, cross their legs and tyrannize over their teachers. (Socrates, in the fifth century B.C.)

Now what were you saying about the modern kids of Squamish?

REBUILDING THE FORMER Kashmir Lumber sawmill at Squamish; Alex Earl and his son, Bud, centre, are assisted by Barney Lantz, left, and Howard Brown. They plan to be in operation within a week cutting mostly maple, alder and birch, some of which will come from Gibsons, the rest from Squamish. Before coming to Squamish, the Earls had a similar operation at Ladner where they found hardwood in increasingly short supply. In their new mill they plan to cut 8,000 feet of hardwood a day.

An Open Letter To The Public

HOWE SOUND HIGH NEWS

—by Judy MacDonald

On April 1, 1960, Squamish Dairy started delivering milk in this area. It has been difficult to break down a great many of the barriers that were set up by the previous operator.

We started with 35 customers, and three months later we had 60.

We have gradually risen to where we now have 200 customers. This gain although representing only 30 percent of the milk consuming public of Squamish, Brackendale area, and considering that during this time we have only lost five customers, I think it is safe to assume that these 200 are satisfied.

We have since January 1st, 1962, been getting some of our milk from Messrs. Sam Gilmore & Son of Pemberton.

The Gilmores are noted as the very best of dairymen, in fact a brother, Les Gilmore of Richmond, has one of the top ten herds in Canada, from which the nucleus of the Pemberton herd originated. I am very proud and fortunate to receive his milk down to the Budd, which is only 1½ hours in transit.

As Pemberton is part of our own district and has a potential to produce the required milk for the whole Howe Sound area, and they are very anxious to do so, it is their hope as well as mine that you, the consumer, will help us develop this new market soon.

Pemberton, as well as Squamish, is a totally disease free area.

I would like to make a comparison with another agricultural product for which Pemberton is famous—seed potatoes. I would compare the soil to the dairy herds. The reason that Pemberton sells the bulk of their potatoes for seed is that the land, being comparatively new, is not disease and blight infested. The same applies to dairy herds.

With all due respect to the Fraser Valley and its concentrated dairy industry, the fact of its long establishment has plagued them with most of the diseases common to the dairy industry. Last year the Federal Government made a very large effort to declare the Fraser Valley a Brucellosis (cause of undulant fever) free area. In so doing they had to destroy as high as 60 percent of some herds.

Naturally, this fact was not publicized and I realize that my saying so will not be regarded too kindly in certain quarters. However, I am prepared to back up any statements I make to anyone, any time, at any place.

It is true that pasteurization kills 99 percent of all pathogenic germs. However, it is also true that to make a good finished product with high keeping qualities you must first start with a good clean, disease free raw milk. I am sure you do not realize nor fully appreciate the potentialities of the Pemberton Valley as a new and clean supply.

As our sales, although gaining slowly, still only represent 30 percent of the milk consumers, I have been prompted to ask certain people why they did not drink Squamish Dairy milk. Some of them were quite frank and told me they felt it was unsafe. I would therefore like to make it quite clear that the laws pertaining to the milk industry as a whole have been set forth for the benefit of the consuming public and these laws are very rigid. The same inspectors test and inspect Squamish Dairy milk and plant as they do the larger dairies in Vancouver. These laws apply to Squamish Dairy the same as to any other dairy in British Columbia. Bacteria counts are taken of my milk as they are of other dairies, and the results of which have been second to none. Therefore I wish to assure you that Squamish Dairy milk is as safe as any high quality milk anywhere.

There are two approved methods of pasteurization, both consisting of heat and time. The one known as the Holding method, as defined in Milk Ordinance and Code, consists in heating every particle of milk to at least 140 degrees F. and holding it at such temperature for at least 30 minutes in approved and properly operated equipment. This is the Squamish Dairy method.

I realize that there is a certain element who are too prone to condemn any product produced in their own area. For this element it is necessary that it be imported from any other region that that it have a popular brand name. This popularity coming in most cases not from quality but from promotion and advertising. This element normally constitutes 5 percent of the total population of a community.

I hope in the near future to put in a full line of dairy products and as I used to ship my milk to Dairyland when I farmed in Ladner, I am naturally partial to Dairyland. This coupled with the fact that they are the largest dairy in British Columbia, producing 90 percent of all butter manufactured in B.C. and 100 percent of all evaporated milk, they are in my opinion the only dairy in British Columbia capable of furnishing me with a full line of dairy products.

It is, therefore, not my intention to have everyone drink Squamish Dairy milk but as our very livelihood depends on a fair share of your business, I humbly ask you to give us a chance to serve you, and I'm sure the Pemberton farmers share this hope with me.

LARRY LARAMEE,
Squamish Dairy.

Time is going fast! There are only two more weeks to Easter Exams and forty-nine more school days until summer holidays.

The Badminton Tournament ended this week. Winners were Wayne Drenka and Phyllis Allen.

Eric Lush has a Lobster Red sunburn! When asked if his skin felt tight when he smiled, he replied, "No, my ears just pull in."

To replace badminton at noon hour, floor hockey has been organized. A Senior boys floor hockey team has been formed also. They played their first game Friday night against Gibson's. Our boys beat the seasoned Gibson's players 14-5. Harvey Halverson, Danny Sullivan and Wayne Drenka tied for high scorer with 3 points each.

The boys have planned several more floor hockey games with outside teams. They met Gibson's again Friday night. To those of you who like to watch a fast, tough game, I'm sure you'd enjoy it.

Some grade 12s are so enthused with their "Romeo and Juliet" that they just can't put it down—not even for History class.

Eric Lush has been chosen as Valedictorian for the graduating class of '61 and '62. Congratulations Eric!

Today's MEDITATION

The World's Most Widely Used
Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

© THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Read Psalm 92

Those that be planted in the house of the Lord shall flourish in the courts of our God. (Psalm 92:14)

Springtime brings me the task of pruning out tea roses. I carefully cut away the dead wood. Sometimes at the base of a bush I find new shoots. Rose experts tell me I must prune away these "suckers" or they will prevent the bush from bearing the best possible roses.

The Lenten season is a good time for pruning from our lives things that hinder our spiritual growth. We must look for the dead wood of resentments or regrets about the past. We may find that we are engaged in too many activities—sending out shoots of energy in too many directions.

It is not easy to use the pruning shears of self-discipline. But when we say "no" to things that keep us from concentrating our lives on God, we gain precious moments to feel the warmth of God's grace coming into our souls. Thus nourished, our spirits rise slowly but surely to flower in new serenity and beauty.

PRAYER:

God of each new bud and leaf, we bow before Thee amid the wonder of growth. Help us to prune from our lives everything that separates us from Thee. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY:

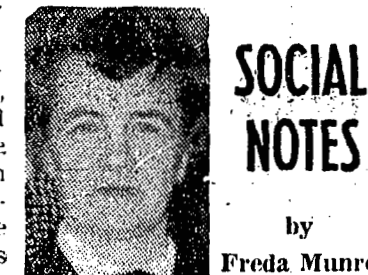

We must say "no" to some things if we want to say "yes" to God.

MAIL-ORDER QUACKS, HARVEST DEATH

A recent article in the American Medical Association's "TODAY'S HEALTH" told how people gamble, not just their money, but their very lives when they order medicines and medical devices by mail.

AVOID MAIL-ORDER QUACKERY

Postal inspectors say: "Any therapy, device, remedy, or 'cure' sold by mail should be treated with suspicion; especially if it makes sweeping claims."

UNITED STATES POSTMASTER GENERAL SAID

"In an era when wonder drugs and great advances in surgery have produced medical miracles, it is puzzling why so many people pay money for frauds. Do not take or use any medicine or health device sold by mail without first consulting your physician."

As your pharmacist, it is our moral, willing and legal duty to give you an informed answer to any ethical question. We can tell you when it would be wiser to depend on a physician, rather than on advertising claims.

Three donations totalling $972 were made by Squamish Loggers Sports Committee, net proceeds from their 1961 activities.

The Community Swimming Pool Fund received the largest chunk, $540; the Howe Sound Retarded Children's Association and Brackendale Volunteer Fire Department got equal donations of $216.

Tourist Influx Gets Early Start

Early signs of a record influx of visitors to British Columbia during 1962 are seen in figures released today by the Hon. Earle C. Westwood, Minister of Recreation and Conservation.

February count of Traveler's Vehicle Permits issued to American motorists at provincial border points shows an increase of 26.6 percent over the same month in 1961.

A substantial 21,250 foreign vehicles entered the province during the short month, 4464 more than the total of 16,786 recorded the previous February.

British Columbia's increase was registered despite a 1.9 percent decrease in the national average.

Comparisons covering the first two months of the year give added support to Department predictions and to the generally optimistic outlook throughout the province's important visitor industry.

Permits issued during January and February totalled 36,214 or 10.8 percent more than the 32,693 reported for the same period in 1961, while car entries into Canada as a whole to the end of February were down 3.3 percent below last year's national average.

Said Mr. Westwood: "The development of new skiing areas and improvement of existing winter sport facilities, backed by B.C. Government Travel Bureau promotions and publicity, are undoubtedly having the desired effect of attracting thousands of additional winter visitors, and this is a trend which can be made to snowball, if all sections of the travel industry recognize its value and get behind it."

BCAA Says: Don't Panic, Ladies

There is no reason for a woman to panic when her car breaks down at night while she's driving a nearly-deserted road, says the B.C. Automobile Association, but she should be armed in advance with knowledge of what to do.

The auto club's advice to women motorists is simple: Get to the side of the road if possible, fasten something white to the door-handle on the driver's side, lock the car and wait inside for help.

"There are more Good Samaritans, traveling the highways today than criminals," a BCAA official said, "and sooner or later help will come along."

He added that breakdowns on lonely roads are rare, since 95 per cent of car failures happen within five miles of the motorist's home.

Semi-Finals In Soccer Start Saturday, April 7th

This week winds up regular play in the soccer league with the playoffs starting Saturday, April 7.

In the Seniors the Canucks and Stawamus are tied for fourth place with 12 points each and a winner will have to be decided here to play off against the first place Woodfibre team.

Second and third place teams in this division, Bombers and Brackendale, will have their semi-final action on Sun., April 8.

In the Juniors the semis are likely to involve first place Brackendale against fourth place Mamquam; second place Bombers against third place Woodfibre. These games will be on Sat., April 7.

There was a lot of soccer last week with four league games: Canucks, 1, Stawamus, 0; Bombers, 3, Brackendale, 2, in senior play; and with the juniors, Brackendale, 0, Bombers, 0; Bombers, 3, Canucks, 1.

There were two all-star games with Squamish host to North Vancouver. In the Seniors North Van won 4 to 3; in Juniors Squamish won 3 to 1.

Even the men who have been telling the kids how to play all season, decided to give them a live demonstration. Two teams, loosely defined as Brackendale and Mamquam, played Sunday at Brackendale.

and the home team lost 3 to 1. They play again, April 8, in the afternoon at Squamish school grounds.

For the round robin competition, which starts next week, Brackendale PTA has decided to present a Memorial cup in honor of the late Mrs. E. T. Judd.

Safety Rules For Walking

Each week in Canada, 15 pedestrians are killed and as many as 150 injured when struck by automobiles, according to the All-Canada Insurance Federation.

Although the fault often lies with the motorist, pedestrians must also observe sound safety precautions. The Federation, which represents more than 220 Canadian fire, automobile and casualty insurance companies, recommends these precautions for pedestrians:

1. When walking on highways or streets without sidewalks keep to the left, facing traffic.
2. Wear light-colored clothing and carry a flashlight when walking on dark roads and highways at night. Even carrying a handkerchief helps motorists to see you.
3. Do not wear hoods or high collars which obscure vision.
4. Obey traffic lights. They are meant for pedestrians as well as motorists.

5. Cross streets only at crosswalks; don't jaywalk.

6. Go to the sidewalk when leaving buses or streetcars; don't cross in front of or behind the vehicle.

7. Consider the motorist's problems. It takes a car much longer to stop than it does a pedestrian.

8. Teach children proper safety rules and set a good example yourself.

It is estimated that the $10 monthly increase in the universal old-age pension will cost $113,400,000 and that in the coming fiscal year the pension fund will need total revenues of $737,050,000.

Britannia Hears Probation Man

A. Byman, District Probation Officer told of his work at the monthly meeting of the Britannia Elementary PTA.

A probation officer's time is spent in court, writing presentence reports, supervising those on probation and parole who are finishing the indeterminate part of their sentences.

Mr. Byman is the only probation officer from Squamish to Deep Cove which means that Squamish and Britannia get but a small amount of his time.

The speaker said there is a lack of good foster homes, lack of psychiatric assistance and lack of staff in the treatment of juvenile delinquents.

But the greatest lack in the correctional program is the lack of segregation in the treatment of delinquent boys.

Brannan Lake Institute, built for 121 and holding as many as 190, is the only institute for juvenile boys in B.C.

Here, boys 8-18 are sent for correction. There can be no age segregation in the crowded facilities available and little help for the boys.

Mr. Byman felt that individuals and groups should write their M.L.A. demanding improvement.

A good recreational program backed by interested parents was suggested as the best defence against delinquency. Trained school counsellors can also help greatly.

LETTER FROM SARAWAK

Toynbee Introduces Us To A Borneo "Sumatra"

Many people likely still picture Borneo as being a land of swamp and jungle where lions and tigers roam about at will, and where headhunting is not yet a completely lost art.

Father Meghan, a Scottish priest whom I met a few months ago, confirmed that not only Canadians regard Borneo in such a light.

He said, "You know, my dear old mother and two of my sisters live in Glasgow and they think that Borneo is still a very wild place."

"So when I write to them I always tell them about all of the lions, tigers, crocodiles, snakes, and fresh heads that I have seen recently, and about the numerous close escapes that I have had. The good Lord will perhaps pardon me for making up these stories for if I didn't do so, my dear old mother would be greatly disappointed."

I am sure that some of my young friends in Canada are a little disappointed when I am unable to relate stories about savage wild animals and narrowing experiences.

Soon after I arrived in Sarawak I received a letter from a former pupil in which he asked two questions.

1. "How many headhunters have you seen?"

2. "How many tigers have you shot so far?"

I feel certain that both Borneo and myself went away down in my young friend's estimation when I had to report that headhunting was no longer in vogue, and that there were no tigers in Borneo.

Had I gone on to report that I never even carry a gun the young fellow's disillusionment would have been complete.

cover before sitting back to wait for the rain to reach us.

We were not prepared for what struck! Not only were there sheets of rain, but with almost certain that the boat in seconds, the sea that had been perfectly calm was lashed into a frenzy. Huge waves wrenched our boat and smashed it in its roof. Water poured in, and only by the three of us bailing at top speed did we manage to keep the craft afloat.

I soon realized that what had struck us was a kind of flash storm known locally as "a sumatra". I had been warned about these sudden storms, though I had found it hard to believe that they could strike quite as suddenly as people

For about fifteen minutes almost as suddenly as it had started. Within a very few moments the rain stopped and the waves became no more than gentle swells. By the time we reached our destination there was only the smashed roof of the boat and our sodden condition as evidence of our experience.

Next week: An Unwelcome Passenger.

It is nature's pastime to grow trees so that the grain of the wood often forms interesting patterns and designs—even human figures, animals, and other familiar objects. Many home owners choose wood paneling with lots of curls and swirls to achieve a unique effect in room decoration.

Puzzled about the difference between hardwoods and softwoods? Generally, hardwoods come from broad-leaved trees. Most softwoods come from evergreens.

Life Is Still Exciting

Still, life in this corner of the world is not without exciting moments, and so that I will not entirely lose favour with the younger set, I will relate a couple of recent experiences.

The first has nothing to do with jungles as it took place at sea.

Some of the schools that I am responsible for supervising are located along the coast, and to reach them I must travel across stretches of open sea.

The South China Sea can become pretty wild at times, so I don't set off on a sea-trip when there is any sign of stormy weather.

A couple of months ago I made a visit to the most distant coastal school that I am responsible for.

I was accompanied by the young Kayan lad who works for me, and by a Melanau chap who was serving as outboard driver. We reached the school late one afternoon, and were going to make the return journey the following afternoon, but postponed our departure as the sea became rather rough.

We were up early the next morning, when the weather looked ideal. Not a cloud was to be seen, while the sea was as smooth as glass. There seemed no reason why we should not have a very pleasant crossing, and so we set out at shortly after seven o'clock.

Black Cloud Descends

After we had been at sea for about ten minutes we noticed a very black cloud bearing down toward us, but this didn't concern us greatly as it appeared to be nothing more than one of the heavy showers of rain common to this part of the world.

However, we did make sure that all of our bedding and other equipment was under

To Bring In Fair Visitors

Wake Up - Right Away Says AKRA President

"The train is ready to run, but unless British Columbians—and the British Columbia tourist industry in particular—buy their tickets soon, they'll find no seats for them when the train starts to roll. The Seattle World's Fair is a golden opportunity for British Columbia. We'll miss that opportunity if we don't wake up—right away."

This was the warning sound this week by J. J. DiMarzo of Hope, president of the Auto Courts and Resorts Association of B.C., and B.C. president for the Pacific Northwest Travel Association.

GREATEST INFUX
Mr. DiMarzo said the Seattle Fair will bring to the Pacific Northwest the greatest influx of visitors the area has ever known. Many of them will look toward British Columbia.

"But," he said, "they won't come to British Columbia simply because it is handy, and has nice scenery and good fishing. The rest of Washington, along with Oregon, Idaho and Montana, will be offering similar attractions. What's more, they'll be making the 'hard sell' to everyone they can reach. And don't forget Nevada, California and Mexico will be reaching for them too. British Columbia has to work, to do as much and perhaps more, to bring those people into this country."

MAKE STRONG BID
Mr. DiMarzo said that while the tourist industry and the government should show leadership, the whole business community should join in making a strong bid for Seattle Fair visitors.

"Everyone in British Columbia has a direct interest," he said. "The tourist accommodation operator receives only 24 cents of the tourist dollar; 31 cents go for food and beverages, 20 cents go to retail stores, 16 cents to transportation and nine cents to entertainment and miscellaneous items."

"These are government figures, not mine. Even if one of these groups received the whole dollar, all of the others would still benefit, because it is impossible to drop a fresh dollar into any community, in any direction, without the whole community benefitting. The tourist business belongs to all of us," Mr. DiMarzo stated.

Because of the Seattle World's Fair, everyone expects 1962 will be a "bumper" season for visitors.

BUILD FOR FUTURE
"But this is only half the story," he said. "The biggest opportunity of all lies in doing such a good job of welcoming visitors that they will want to come back. We can, this year, build solidly for the future—simply by a cheerful greeting and smiling service."

"Once again the whole community—not merely those actually engaged in the industry—is involved," said Mr. DiMarzo. "The first impression is naturally made by auto courts, hotels, motels, resorts, service stations and restaurants. The really important impression will be made by the individuals who come in direct contact with our visitors."

tors, clerks, at registration desks, waitresses in cafes, clerks in stores, and so on. These people can do as much as anyone—perhaps more—to sell repeat trips to B.C. or to drive visitors away unhappy for the lack of a little cheerful courtesy.

CREATE GOOD IMPRESSION

"We must let these people know how important they are in the tourist business. A bus boy can do as much as a bank president to create a good impression, and he meets many more travellers than the banker."

Mr. DiMarzo said it was unfortunate the Rogers Pass Highway would not be open till later in the year, but B.C. still has plenty to offer in the Southern Transprovincial, the Fraser Canyon, Okanagan, Cariboo, Vancouver and Coastal routes, and should not "undersell" any part of B.C.

"Our tourist business has enjoyed a remarkable and continuous growth for some years now," said Mr. DiMarzo. "It's time we realized that much of it has been in spite of us, rather than because of us. It has grown in the face of what we haven't done as much as what we have done."

"Let's go out this year and really do a job," he urged. "We have so much to offer, and everything to win by offering it. Let's do a really good job of selling at the Seattle Fair, and another good job of selling when our visitors arrive. Make them so welcome they'll want to come back and bring their friends," he said.

"It's up to us—to everyone in British Columbia."

NET RESULTS COUNT

Net results, gross results, or just results, a lot depends on what is expected or required. When you are selling property, what you are concerned in is the net results, or the amount of the cheque after expenses.

When you are buying a house, you are primarily interested in the gross results, or the amount of house you are getting for your money.

Either way, you are assured of the most value when you deal with us, because we are interested in the "end result," in her words, "customer satisfaction."

Lady Baden-Powell

World Chief Enthralls Guides And Brownies

By Capt. Margaret Flack

Four bus loads of Guides and Brownies from Mt. Currie, Pemberton, Squamish and Woodfibre travelled to the PNE grounds to join with thousands of other Guides, Brownies and leaders to welcome our world chief, Lady Baden-Powell, to Vancouver on March 25.

What a sea of brown and blue! What a tumultuous welcome as she came in the Hall! Contrary to city papers, there was no shrill screaming. It was cheer after cheer combined with clapping that should have been heard for many blocks!

Everything was very orderly, well organized and capably handled. The Rangers acted as usherettes, seating the thousands as closely as possible to save anyone being left out. The District Commissioners were seated on the stage at the back of the hall, the Division Commissioners and honoured guests in the centre of the hall, in plain view from all sides. Colour parties from each Company in the hall were marched in, placed their colours in front of the stage behind the area reserved for Lady Baden-Powell, and took their places in front of the District Commissioners.

Lady Baden-Powell was accompanied by the Canadian Association Secretary from Toronto, and our own lovely Provincial Commissioner, Mrs. Holmes of Vancouver, as well as Mrs. Eldridge, our Division Commissioner. She had a ready smile and wave of the hand to all nooks and crannies in the hall, wherever a Brownie or Guide might be seated, and with a few very brief words of introduction, she then addressed the girls.

She was extremely witty, very active, and had a certain magnetism that held even the youngest Brownie completely quiet for 15 or 20 minutes, while she told stories of the beginning of Guiding, which was started by her husband, at the insistence of many sisters of Scouts who did not want to be left behind.

She was taken on a tour of the hall, where she spoke to as many as possible, while all the gathering joined in singing several of the Guide and Brownie songs, together with the Vancouver Song, and also My Country is My Cathedral. We were all sorry to see the hour go so quickly, but knew that thousands were lining up, just as we had done, to see her as soon as we left the hall. The Brownies and Guides filed out, orderly, quickly and quietly, and onto the waiting buses, to return home.

The Guides from Pemberton and Mt. Currie were taken back to their billets in Squamish for dinner, and then put on the night train to return to their homes, tired, exhilarated, and grateful for an opportunity to see our World Chief Guide.

On Monday evening, the Guides of this area were guests of the Scouters at an informal meeting with Lady Baden-Powell in the High School adjacent to the Upper Levels Highway. There they joined with several hundreds, programmes were made up for 500, and had to be shared early in the evening; in a lively sing song, while they awaited the arrival of Lady Baden-Powell.

Rangers and Rovers from West Vancouver formed a torchlight parade from the road to the school, and were able to meet Lady Baden-Powell. She was welcomed by the mass singing of "Scouting Along Together", when she arrived with Mrs. Holmes, Col. Smart, Regional Commissioner of the Vancouver Region, and District Commissioner Shepherd, who introduced Lady Baden-Powell to the audience.

Her informal talk, which lasted well over half an hour, during which she refuted the statement in the press that she was a "frail, old lady" ... was inspiring to all who heard it.

She spoke briefly on the aims of Scouting and Guiding, and how she hoped that the main meaning behind this movement would not change, but rather, be made richer by the addition of the local interpretation of Scouting in the various countries throughout the world where Scouting is found.

As she talked, she held the interest of everyone; it seemed that she spoke to each person individually, and that she had something for each individual.

Following her talk, the leaders were entertained for coffee or tea by the Councils of West and North Vancouver Districts, in the Cafeteria. Much to the surprise of all, as the Leaders filled down the stairway, Lady Baden-Powell was standing in the hall, waiting to shake each and every hand of the hundreds who were there, and to each she had a short word of greeting and encouragement and thanks.

When the group for Squamish were ready to leave, almost an hour after they had left the auditorium, Lady Baden-Powell was still busy, shaking hands and talking to those still in line.

Three Scouters and Guides from Czechoslovakia were also in attendance, as well as Scouters from Quesnel and Victoria and other Island points, who had come to see her so briefly.

Everyone left the hall enriched in the knowledge that Lady Baden-Powell, despite a heart attack in the Maritime Provinces, last fall, was able to visit B.C. and bring so many thousands together and closer to Scouting and Guiding, as a large family, with she at the head.

How grateful we all were, to be able to see and hear her, and know that Scouting and Guiding meant so much to her that she would travel from one end of the world to the other, bringing greetings from one country to another, joining the links together in one complete unit.

Streamline Advertising

Community Newspapers Form One Association

Over 300 Canadian newspaper publishers (daily and weekly) have joined together to provide advertisers and agencies with a more economical and convenient method of placing advertising in their medium.

With the formation of Canadian Community Newspapers Representatives, advertisers or agencies may place from one to several hundred ads across Canada with one order, and make payment for all the ads with one cheque.

A target date of April 1, 1962, has been set by C.C.N.R. to begin operations.

The result of many months of study and careful planning by a special committee of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association and by member publishers of Class 'A' newspapers, C.C.N.R. is expected to receive full support from the advertising agencies.

The new concept, in addition to overcoming the burdensome task, and expense, of placing advertising with weekly and small daily newspapers, is also expected to help reduce the costs of agency media and market research time.

Expanded and improved statistical data on all markets served by member newspapers will be made available.

Class 'A' newspapers, who have provided national sales representation for a group of weekly newspapers since 1928, and from 1955 for daily newspapers, passed a resolution in February to support and assist in the formation of the new organization.

The 64 member papers of Class 'A', in addition to the C.W.N.A. members papers that have signed contracts, brought the initial number to be represented by C.C.N.R. to over 320.
