SQUAMISH, B.C. THURSDAY, MAY 10, 1962

10 Cents Per Copy

THESE LOVELY LADIES, part of a group of 29 tourist councillors who visited Squamish, May 4, on a familiarization tour, are being shown a local tourist brochure by Fred Bennett, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Bernhard Brown, one of the welcoming committee, before going to Alice Lake Park and Paradise Valley. From left are B.C. Ferries' tourist counsellors from Victoria, Jane Wheaton, Leslie Gowan, Sharon Dougan, and from Olympia, Wash., Winnie Liles of that city's Chamber of Commerce tourist bureau. Others on the three-day trip which took them to tourist spots at Powell River, Sechelt and Vancouver, were from Nanaimo, Vancouver, Seattle and Bremerton. The tour was sponsored by B.C. Toll Authority Ferry System.

At Amateur Concert

Jacquie's Trumpet Holds Trophy Second Year

By Freda Munro

A capacity audience attending the fifth annual Amateur Concert sponsored by the Harmony Circle of the Squamish United Church saw Jacqueline Buffery win the Leeworthy trophy for her second consecutive year. This award is presented to the outstanding performer of the evening.

Contestants ranged in age from three years to 39 and selections varied from novelty dances to instrumental solos.

In the Children's Single Class first prize went to Jacqueline Buffery for her trumpet solo "Wonderland by Night"; second prize was a took part in the competition between Judy Magee for her Dorothy Provine type of pantomime and Kathy Sorban for her rendition of "Sad Movies"; and third prize was awarded to Beth Sorban for her singing of "La Paloma."

First prize in the Children's Group Class went to the new famous Shorty's Gals for their "Beatnik Twist"; Michael Buchanan and Bob Skerratt received second prize for their instrumental duets "Love Letters in the Sand" and "Are You Lonesome Tonight?"; and third place was tied between the Boo Boos for their "Cane Dance" and the "At Sundown" dance routine of Lolita and Leigha Armstrong.

In the Adults Single Class first prize was won by Mr. Dick Wagner for his euphonium solo, "Song to the Evening Star," accompanied by Miss Catherine Allan at the piano; and Mrs. R. Roberts received second prize for the rendition of her own composition, "Today the Sunshine of Your Smile." The Open Class for Groups was won by the Legion Band.

In addition to the competitive numbers, much was added to the program by the non-competitive numbers offered by Miss Anne Stockman and the bagpipes and Scottish dance offerings of Janet and John MacLeod of West Vancouver. The dancers which

If It Moves, Salute It; If It Doesn't, Paint It

A naval recruit from Britannia Beach was warned by his minister that during the first year he would have to salute everything that moved and paint everything that was stationary.

This was the advice given to Bob Dodyk by the Rev. W. Howie at the Hi-C farewell party given for Bob before his departure to Digby, N.S., for training with the Royal Canadian Naval Reserve.

$30,000 Expansion

Squamish United Approves Plans

Approval of a $30,000 expansion program for Squamish United Church was given at a congregational meeting, April 30.

The plan is to build a new Christian Education Centre consisting of a large hall 36 by 60 feet, plus a kitchen, furnace room, washrooms and an office for the minister.

Main objective of the plan is to provide Sunday School accommodation for 150 children at one time or for 300 at two different times.

The present Sunday School hall has room for only 50 children and the enrolment is now 215. This has made necessary double sessions and renting of the Elks Hall and Brackendale School.

The present Church Sanctuary will be renovated to provide space for another 50 children. The new centre, planned for a variety of uses, will provide for another 50 children in one half while the other half will be used for church services, seating a congregation of 100.

Removable partitions will separate the church and Sunday School sections making it possible to use the whole area for special services and events, providing room for at least 200 people.

For this new building another lot adjacent and north of the former four lots was purchased. The centre will be located on the fifth lot and one half of the fourth. Space will be left on next two lots.

"Buy At Home" Pemberton's Self-Assistance

Guild Raises Over $90 At Pemberton

Over $90 was raised by the St. George's and St. David's Guilds annual spring tea and sale at Pemberton, April 28.

Conveners were Mrs. Bertha Miller, Mrs. A. J. Ross, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. W. Watson, Mrs. J. O. Decker, Mrs. R. H. E. Taylor and Mrs. J. A. Tailfefer.

The Girl Guides had a fancy goods stall. In charge were captain Mrs. Perkins and Ella Miller.

Pemberton and District Board of Trade are on the ball again this year promoting their third annual "Buy At Home Week" to run from Saturday, May 12, to Friday, May 18.

Simple in plan, the Week is designed to point out to the community the potential advantages that accrue to the district from the dollar spent at the local stores.

Graphic illustrations will be in the articles donated by the merchants to be auctioned off and in the percentage of local sales that they will turn over in cash at the end of the week.

This money goes to further such projects as parks, roads, education and recreation, all amenities vital to the well-being of the citizens.

According to some of the men, such as Jack Graham, president of the B. of T.; Fred Collister, R. A. Taylor, R. H. E. Taylor, Warren Taillefer and Don Hardacre, buying at home is not only good business, it is good sense, because it builds up the social structure on which the whole community depends.

After a week of intensive business, the people of Pemberton and district will relax. Noted for their joie de vivre, the final night promises to be a gala celebration.

Full particulars are on an inside page.

Elks' Nut Sale On May 15

Annual door-to-door sale of mixed nuts will be held by BPO Elks, Tuesday evening, May 15, to raise funds for the B.C. Cerebral Palsy Association.

Britannia Beach and Woodfibre will be canvassed later in the week.

Coming Events

May 10

Annual meeting of Brackendale Volunteer Fire Department at the Farmers' Institute Hall.

May 11

Howe Sound Soccer League Banquet at 7 p.m. at High School Gymnasium and cafeteria. Players, parents, coaches and officials invited.

Squamish Barber Dies At Work

A. F. "Tony" Mitchell, 53, died unexpectedly Saturday morning, May 5.

Stricken while working, he casually excused himself to those in his barber shop and went to the washroom where he was found unconscious. He died in hospital a short time later.

He was widely known and respected throughout the community in which he had been the barber for 12 years, coming here from Hope and New Westminster. His home town was Revenue, Sask.

He is survived by his wife, Emma; one daughter, Linda, at home; two sons, Wayne and Gray, Squamish; three granddaughters, five sisters and six brothers.

The funeral service was held in Squamish United Church at 2 p.m. May 9, with interment following in Squamish Valley Cemetery. The Rev. N. J. Penrose officiated.

Squamish Elks Lodge No. 119, of which he was immediate past Exalted Ruler, conducted a graveside service.

Directors were Hollyburn Funeral Home, West Vancouver.

Mr. Mitchell had been a diligent worker for his church, serving on the Session and being that as chairman of the Committee of Stewards.

NEW CHRISTIAN Education Centre blueprint for Squamish United Church is examined here by W. J. Boscarol, chairman of the building committee, and the Rev. N. J. Penrose. The new building will serve as church and Sunday School hall while the old church will be renovated to accommodate Sunday School, also.

ROD HORNE, municipal clerk for the Village of Squamish, began his duties May 1, coming here from the town planning department of Surrey. He is married and has four children: Leslie Anne, 7, Diane, 5, Davie, 4, and Linda, 1.

Veterans Choose Lots In New Development

Applications for VLA land settlement are being processed and choice of lots on the new subdivision north of Squamish will be made by qualified veterans on May 22.

Field staff of VLA will be at the Squamish Legion on that day.

Any veteran wishing to settle under VLA and has not yet inquired as to procedure is asked to contact the Squamish Legion, not on the 22nd, but any day.

Blood Or Money For Mosquitoes...?

Mosquito control would be a happy event in the village of Squamish which we are certain citizens and visitors would applaud. The only applause these savage little freeloaders have rated in the past has been the clapping of hands to keep them from dining on us. This has done little more than encourage them to an uninvited encore.

We are of the opinion that the council of the municipality would be doing us a large service if they would see about removing us from the entree of these vicious little pests.

If this proposal moves anyone to some such remark as the mosquitoes were here before we were, then we dare to say that they are immune, not only to the power of the press, but to mosquitoes, also—and who could be so insensitive.

Many municipalities have become fed up with feeding the mosquitoes on taxpayers' blood and have used the taxpayers' money, instead, to buy a special eradicator which kills the mosquito larvae before it emerges from its stagnant water breeding ground.

Though there is a great deal of self interest evident here, we heartily recommend this painless policy to the village council.

Guesswork In The Courts...

Weeks often go by without any action in our police courts arising from auto accidents, but our traffic is increasing and it seems reasonable to anticipate an increase in accidents.

Some courts are already finding that the increased weight of cases dealing with auto accidents tend, by their difficult nature, to bog down efficient proceedings of justice.

Evidence in motor car accident cases is notoriously unreliable. Deciding what really happened in a crash must usually be guesswork. Then there is more guessing to be done in distributing the blame and fixing damages.

Earlier this year, Chief Justice McRuer of the Ontario Supreme Court, stated that in handling such cases, he feels he is not administering justice but running an adjustment bureau. He would remove these cases from the judiciary and set up a police board, like the Workmen's Compensation Board, to compensate the injured by monthly payments from a fund.

This scheme, according to the Chief Justice, would have two practical merits.

It would lift a heavy burden from the courts and it would relate payments more closely to the severity and duration of an injury than is possible now.

Court awards, which are final, often prove to be too high if the victim makes an unexpected recovery; too low if he has a relapse and the damage turns out to be more serious than was supposed.

The Attorney General's department would do well to study the suggestions of Chief Justice McRuer in the light of removing the mounting work that is being placed upon our courts of justice in British Columbia. There has never been a surfeit of magistrates in the province and the establishment of such a board would be one move to relieve the pressures on our courts.

Where Are The Mothers And Fathers...?

Success of the ensuing baseball season in Squamish can be measured in the hours spent by scores of mothers and fathers who unselfishly give their time to coaching, providing transportation, acting as score keepers and umpires or just standing on the sidelines and rooting for the youngsters.

But where are they? The work of organizing and running the games is left up to a handful of stalwarts who, fortunately enough, make time and put the effort into a project that is just as important to the well-being of a community as a service club.

This lack of parents' support is not only discouraging but also imposes a hardship on those who do help. Setting aside a few hours each week to join a son or daughter at the school ground diamonds is a small inconvenience when measured against the benefits to be derived by our young people from these and other similar, worthwhile activities.

There is only a short time in your life, Dad, when you can enjoy the company of a son or daughter. Before you know it these precious years will have slipped imperceptibly by and your mopey will have become a gangling young man or woman coldly indifferent to home and parents.

Go For A Drive...

Leisurely drive along the side streets of our three north shore municipalities can be a rewarding way to spend an after-supper hour or a Sunday afternoon.

Few areas in the lower mainland can offer such beauty. In the coming weeks the west and north shore will be breaking forth in its finest spring dress. Green velvet lawns, flowering shrubs, fruit tree blossoms and fresh mountain streams can be rewarding to tired eyes.

There is nothing quite like the excitement of exploring a new subdivision or coming to a point on a road that bursts forth a panoramic view of the Gulf of Georgia. New street names, new ideas in garden designs, house construction, new parks all make interesting visiting and excellent conversational pieces.

For the more adventuresome motorist, there are easily accessible vantage points from where the view of distant landscapes, snow-capped mountains, mountain streams along the Squamish highway, the warm beaches, the busy marinas and yacht basins.

Take not your municipality too much for granted. A few pleasant hours discovering the incomparable beauty of West Vancouver is time well spent.

Batter Up...

It's baseball time again in Squamish. When mother was a pig-tailed brat and father another rowdy, neighbor's kid, baseball was played in any lane, vacant lot or school yard. But now this famous sport has been organized in our municipality, at least.

What is baseball? Baseball is too many things that football, soccer, or any other spectator sport could never be.

It is your young son, Babe Ruth and Warren Spahn, a succession of warm personalities.

It is the boo and the cheer that fills the air over Ambleside Park after supper and on the weekends.

It is the hot dog, soda pop and milk shakes, it's the "who's better, Firemen or Fire Eaters?"

It's the sun on the diamond, the home run, the leaping catch against the fence, nicknames, the seventh-inning stretch, the World Series.

It's the ever-present chance of the upset, of the awakening of the underdog, of the unexpected arrival of the unknown player.

It's catching a foul ball in the spectators; the cheering and laughing with strangers around you; the feeling of pride when your son comes up with the hit that wins the game.

It's the second guess, the grandstand manager.

It too, is getting the homework done and review of Easter exam reports before the backcatcher is set free after supper.

It's the thrill of seeing your picture in the Squamish Times with the other players.

Incidentally, we are looking for a sports editor to give you accurate, colorful coverage on the Times sports page.

This is the community's family game, this baseball—theirs to boo and cheer, theirs to praise or criticize—and tradition dictates that it must all begin in the home where everybody bands every effort to get junior out on the field.

It's "Play Ball!" again in Squamish.

Twisting The Truth

By Manson Toynbee

Possibly some of you have seen the movie, "The Lost Continent," produced by an Italian film company. The photography is excellent, and I am sure that the film is enjoyed by all who see it.

The movie was made in various parts of the Indonesian Archipelago with the last section being photographed in Sarawak.

A few weeks ago "The Lost Continent" came to our cinema. The portion dealing with life as it was supposedly led among the Dayaks of Sarawak. About a quarter of the audience was made up of Dayaks.

A large audience was delighted by the film, especially by the usual lingering kiss.

Pictures showed Dayaks crouching in trees from where they spied on the party. Rather poor spies to be photographed so easily!

Later the Dayaks jumped from the trees into the river and swam out to encircle the boat.

All of the Dayaks just happened to have nice new loin cloths, and to have just had their hair cut in the prescribed fashion.

The film went on to show how the Dayaks hunted with blowpipes, though it was obvious that the Dayaks who were photographed were not very adept at using this hunting instrument.

Then of course there was the inevitable love scene, only with nose-rubbing replacing the usual lingering kiss.

As might be expected, the pictures, especially those of the love scene produced howls of laughter from the Dayaks who were present, for the pictures no more represented normal Dayak behaviour than the antics of Imogene Coco (is she still on T.V.?) represent the behaviour of the average American.

It was easy to see that before coming to Sarawak the producer of the film had decided how Dayaks should behave and had then got them to act the part.

Strangers Glorify Natives

So many people who prepare pictorial and verbal accounts about life as it is led in this part of the world start out with notions and prejudices that colour their observations.

There is a tendency to glorify the noble, savage, while overlooking the desperate conditions under which some of the more backward peoples exist.

More than one writer has waxed lyrical when recounting the life of the happy, carefree Penan.

We are told that this nomadic life every need can be supplied by the bountiful jungle.

This is an enchanting story, but unfortunately very far from being true.

The average nomadic Penan does not know where his next meal is coming from. When the wild pigs fail to show up he must try to find wild sago with which to fill his belly.

Starvation and disease frequently decimate Penan bands. I have come across pitiful groups of Penan who have lost almost all of their children, and nobody in the world thinks more of his children than does a Penan.

Persons who picture jungle living conditions as approaching Utopian standards either are ignorant of actual conditions or are deliberate liars.

Writers Decry Missionaries

It is common practice for writers to decry the havoc reaped by the work of Christian missions.

Missionaries are held responsible for false modesty, deterioration of morals, economic recession, poor sanitation, dirty children, and venereal disease.

The author of a recent book about Sarawak states that he not only found pagan longhouses to be much cleaner than Christian ones, but the people who had remained pagans were much more honest than those who had adopted Christianity.

Sweeping statements such as this are just not true.

I would be the last person to approve of everything that the various Christian missions have done in Sarawak, nor would I say that all of their influences have contributed to the well-being of the indigenous peoples.

Instead of uniting the people in brotherly love, there have been times when sectarian Christianity has contributed to division and hate.

Still, I am convinced that any fair-minded person who was to survey the situation carefully would agree that, taken as a whole, the Christian Missions have made a significant contribution to both the spiritual and material welfare of the indigenous peoples.

This in spite of grievous shortcomings.

By and large the Christian longhouses possess better buildings, are cleaner, are more healthful, and are better off economically than the ones that have remained pagan.

The student failed to mention that he had taken with him on his journey the very latest type of transistor radio, plus a satchel filled with the most up-to-date photographic equipment.

Can we expect the native to stick to the customs and crafts that were good enough for his father, when people of the other half of the world consider that last year's automobile is obsolete?

We all know the way that we would like things to be, but we find it much more difficult to accept things as they are.

Today's MEDITATION from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

SUNDAY, MAY 6
Read Deuteronomy 6:17;
John 14:15-23

As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord. (Joshua 24:15.)

A youth delegate to a conference was entertained in the home of her parents' friends. Returning home after the conference, she said, "I've been in grander homes filled with finer furniture, but this was different. I knew right away it was a Christian home. You felt—well, you felt God as there."

Would the casual visitor recognize your home and mine as Christian? Is God a member of our household? Have we adopted as our own the declaration of Joshua, "As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord?"

Not all of us can have elaborate houses with beautifully landscaped surroundings and expensive furnishings. But we can have Christian homes if we dedicate them to the service of the Lord. No one can measure the far-reaching effects of the Christian homes in our communities and in the nations.

If our homes are not Christian, let us pray God to help us make them Christian, homes in which visitors may feel they meet God.

PRAYER

Our heavenly Father, make our homes Thy dwelling places. May persons associating with Christians in their communities learn to know Thee better. In the name of the Master, who has promised to be with us always. Amen. THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

The Christian home radiates the peace of God to all who enter its doors.

THE TURNING POINT:
"Take A Stand For Tomorrow"
by Jack Davis
Liberal Candidate
For Coasi-Capilano Riding

On June 18, Canadians will make a choice that will affect not only our lives but the lives of our children and, perhaps, the future of the world. It will be one of the most important national elections in Canada's history.

Because I feel it is vital that you fully understand the issues, I propose to use this space to present the Liberal point-of-view. If you disagree with anything I say, please write or call me. If you agree, then give me your support. In any case, let's talk things over.

I'll be in Squamish soon. Watch this column for the exact date.

Perhaps you think I exaggerate the importance of the election. I don't think so. I feel that the election of our Liberal leader, Mike Pearson, as Prime Minister can do more for world peace than any other single action we Canadians can take. As everyone knows, Mike Pearson has a tremendous record as an international leader. There's not a person in Coast-Capilano Riding who doesn't know about Mr. Pearson's efforts in promoting understanding between the great powers of the world. I feel that with Mike Pearson as Prime Minister of Canada, the whole world will breathe a little easier and we can get on with the business of building a better Canada. Without a lasting peace, nothing else matters.

Youth Guidance Charge of Adults

From the Church Bulletin by the Rev. C. H. Gibbs

We hear a great deal about juvenile delinquency these days, but this evil menace has always been to a greater or lesser degree. We adults tend to forget the conditions of our own childhood days—natural enough perhaps, in our eagerness to guide the youth of today. However, gathering from press reports and from other sources one is inclined to believe that the rate of juvenile delinquency is on the increase—a matter of opinion perhaps, yet nevertheless it is an evil thing we must always be on our guard against.

Love, affection, happiness and pride to many are but signs of weakness in other people and their children, to be battered at and exploited.

The natural feeling of inferiority and the natural self-consciousness seem no longer to be regarded as the normal and desirable stages of growth. No, let them be exploited and to hell with the damage they do.

The really serious result of a lot of slipshod method of discipline is, that some would know less and less about God and His commandments. Our advanced notions of personal freedom have run riot to the point of making people say that everyone is free to pick and choose what he wants to believe and indeed to do.

TOO MUCH CHOICE
I personally, cannot see much wise parental guidance. When a child is given too much freedom of choice—it usually means that other well meaning people are put to great inconvenience.

If youngsters join this or that youth organization, they should not (except for good reason) be allowed to throw the whole thing up and quit. This is an occasion, where parents should take a firm stand. If we don't, we make it so hard for ourselves in the long run and in addition to this, consideration should be given to those who give of their time and interest in training our children.

It is sickening, how often one hears people talk about letting their children make up their own minds on issues far beyond their ability to understand. One hears it with regard to church and religious training.

To me, it seems somewhat idiotic for anyone to say that their children can make up their own minds what they want to believe and indeed to do.

There are many sources from which parents receive help in the raising of their children and it is up to us, to support these aids by our own common sense.

What we fail to do, has serious repercussions outside our own homes—the influence of our children upon others—this is what makes our parental duty of great importance.

One does not presume to interfere or indeed to criticize other parents but there are the broader issues of discipline and behaviour that becomes the duty and obligation of all of us—whether we like it or not.

I have an increasing respect for families of our parish who attend the family service—it is an important witness they give to all of us parents. It is a witness and contribution of no mean importance they make to the parish and the community in which they live.

COMMUNITY HELP
I have respect for Sunday School teachers, who Sunday by Sunday give of their time for the religious training of our children.

The community as a whole is indebted to the leaders of the scout, cub, girl guides and brownies who in turn, give of their time and interest in a type of training and discipline of our children.

My understanding goes out to the teachers of our day schools. These need the help and support of all parents. They do not exist, to do what we, as parents should be doing. Their responsibility is quite heavy enough.

To the members of the school boards who work and plan for our children's interest and well-being.

To leaders of our community who in one way or another work for the interests of us and not least our children.

All these are trying in their several ways to instill some semblance of discipline and order into our children.

These are some of the outside sources which aid us parents in the well-being and raising of our children. If we cooperate, the task on the part of all becomes easier.

There was a time, when I knew everything, or I thought I did, about the raising of children: the time when I didn't have any. I now find myself, like other parents, learning how to do it.

Like the man with no children and six theories about child raising who later had six children and no theories.

Continuing Policy

Long Distance Rates Come Down Again

Station-to-station long distance telephone rates on ment by B.C. Telephone calls between British Columbia and points in Canada east of Alberta will be reduced beginning May 6, telephone officials said. For example, in 1937 a daytime station-to-station call from Vancouver to Montreal cost $7. In 1951 the same call cost only $4.80, and the latest reduction will bring this down to $3.15—less than half the 1937 rate.

Generally, the latest reductions range as high as 35 cents on three-minute station-to-station night calls to points in Saskatchewan, Manitoba, eastern Canada and the Maritimes.

For example, the station-to-station day rate on three-minute calls from the Vancouver area to Regina will drop from $2.35 to $2.10, and the night rate will go down from $1.75 to $1.65. The day station rate to Winnipeg will be reduced from $2.75 to $2.50 and the night rate from $2.05 to $2.

Similar rates from Vancouver to Toronto will go down from $3.35 to $3 and from $2.50 to $2.40, respectively. The day station rate to Halifax will drop from $3.70 to $3.35 and the night rate from $2.80 to $2.70.

Station-to-station rates on calls from other places in B.C. to points east of Alberta will be reduced according to a similar pattern.

Recreation In Forest Program

There is a crying need for sensible policies in handling public travel in recreation areas, says F. A. Harrison, president of the Federation of Canadian Forestry Associations, in commenting on the nationwide observance of Forest Conservation Week, May 12-19.

"Multiple use of lands and forests is not a new idea," Mr. Harrison said, "but the concept has not been translated into action until quite recently. Now we must aim at managing our forests to produce other values besides sustained yield of successive timber crops—values that are fully compatible with the growth and harvesting of timber."

"Industry recognizes that many forms of wildlife find food and shelter in healthy, growing forests that they cannot find in unmanaged wilderness stands. It recognizes the opportunities for public recreation that are offered in forest clad hills and mountains, lakes and streams."

"But the key to forest recreation is accessibility, and only the managed forest can offer this advantage through roads and trails built for logging and fire protection," he declared. "Today, land management programs should be designed to develop the full potential of these areas for all these purposes. That is multiple use of the forests—for harvests, watershed protection, wildlife protection and public recreation."

California Visitors Praise Amateur Show

Two couples from California, tourist guests of Squamish on the night of the Amateur Show, had praise for the entertainment, especially the Legion Band.

They made their pleasure known to the Rev. Norman Penrose after the show when they picked him out of the crowd to turn over to him a one dollar bill they had found on the floor of the auditorium.

NDP Speaker

by
Freda Munro

Forestry And Power Mishandled, Says Coxe

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Walter Goss over the holidays was their daughter, Kathleen, who is teaching at Field, B.C.

Jack Mahood and Stan Goad are off to Montreal on a business trip.

Miss Sandra Edge of New Westminster is staying with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Sullivan while doing her practice teaching at the Squamish Elementary School.

C. Stan Clarke and his daughter, Mrs. J. Knight, have left on a five-month trip around the world with a lengthy stopover in England to visit relatives.

Mrs. B. E. Valde of Vancouver spent a few days in Squamish last week looking up old friends and acquaintances.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Halvorson and Mrs. F. Munro spent the weekend in Victoria.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. Tatlow last week were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R. Mason, and their children and Miss Lisa Rinfret all of North Vancouver.

Recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. J. Drenka was his sister, Mrs. George Helmbacke and son, John, of Seattle.

"The present forestry policy will lead to a monopoly by MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River," was the statement made by Cedric Coxe, M.L.A. for Burnaby, when he addressed a small but interested audience on behalf of the New Democratic Party at the Parish Hall, April 30.

His visit is part of a new provincial policy of the NDP to send their representatives to every area in B.C. to report on the session just completed in Victoria.

Enlarging on his statement regarding M.B.P.R. the speaker claimed that the small logger is being squeezed out by the tentacles and resources of the huge company. He believed that the Forest Department should be allowed to handle timber resources.

Of special interest to his audience were Mr. Coxe's remarks on the power dispute now raging in British Columbia. "Bennett has staked his whole future on the simultaneous development of the Peace and the Columbia," stated Mr. Coxe.

"B.C. Hydro is already committed to the development of the Columbia," but Wenner-Gren's plans to develop the Peace ran into difficulty when the B.C. Electric refused to consider buying Peace River power because of its cost.

"That left Wenner-Gren without a market for its product and led Bennett to take over the B.C. Electric so that the company would have to take over and develop the Peace."

According to Mr. Coxe, power from the Peace River is too costly and, as yet, unnecessary.

Power from the Columbia is more readily available and much cheaper.

In considering the possibility of a provincial election in the near future, Mr. Coxe made the firm statement that should the NDP be elected, the party is prepared to spend $10 million to develop Garibaldi Park. It would become a major tourist attraction in North America, as the tourist business is our third largest industry, B.C. is well advised to attract and please travellers.

The meeting was chaired by Steve Kilby and Frank Snow. sel outlined the present growth of the NDP in B.C. before turning the meeting over to Mr. Coxe.

History Notes

By W. Green

EARLY STEAMBOATS

The first steamer to serve Squamish was the Saturna. This little vessel was really a tug adapted to accommodate a few passengers.

Joseph Mannion, who had retired to Bowen Island after selling the Granville Hotel in Gastown, had bought the Saturna in Victoria in 1889 and after having her available for charter until August 1890, started the weekly service to Mashiter's Landing on the Squamish River just at the time that Mr. Mashiter was building his hotel. The Saturna served until the spring of 1893 when the S.S. Iona replaced her. However she was not alone on the route. The Union Steamship Co. placed the Skidegate on the same route in the spring of 1891 and in July the Velos commenced, all on different days of the week, Murry and Kemp being agents for Velos.

Sometime in the early or mid-nineties, Joe Mannion lost his two sons in a boating accident off Point Atkinson. After this disaster he sold all his assets on the Sound and moved away. Hard times chased the other boats off the run too, but Capt. Dan Mooney (who had been master of Saturna) filled the gap with his Burt which made Squamish her terminal port of call, though often hours late, until 1899 when Captain John Cates as head of Terminal Steamship Co., put his S.S. Defiance (the first and smallest of his five passenger ships, to serve Howe Sound) on the route.

The Defiance was an 82-foot wooden hulled vessel that was almost new. She had been built in Tacoma in 1887 so was only two years old when Cates bought her in Seattle in 1899 and changed her to Canadian registry.

Britannia Mine was opening, and with the rush to the Klondyke and its resultant shot-in-the-arm to business generally, the depression of the mid-nineties was over and the run became a profitable one. Within three years a larger ship was needed. This need was filled when the S.S. Britannia slid down the ways of the Cates Shipyard into the waters of False Creek in the evening of Monday, July 7, 1907 "amid the cheers of over a thousand citizens."

The Daily News Advertiser says: "The new steamer is designed for service on the Vancouver-Howe Sound route as a daily excursion boat. She is very handsomely equipped as a passenger steamer, being fitted with velvet-upholstered pullman seats in all her saloons, which are elegantly furnished. She will be commanded by Capt. J. A. Cates with Mr. Turner as Purser and Mr. Cates, Chief Engineer.

"The steamer is 114 feet long, 23.5 beam, and can accommodate 300 people. When the Britannia goes on the Howe Sound route, the steamer Defiance will be placed on the North Arm (Indian River) run. The house flag of the Terminal Steamship Co. is a red, white and blue flag with the letters T.S.S.Co. in the centre."

The S.S. Britannia served Howe Sound continuously until May 21, 1909, when she was replaced on that run by the stern-wheel ship Baramba. Just as she had relegated the smaller Defiance to the North Arm run, seven years before, she was put on that same run when the larger Baramba took over in Howe Sound. The Britannia had completed 2,022 trips up Howe Sound between July 16, 1902 and May 21, 1909.

Net results, gross results, or just results, a lot depends on what is expected or required.

When you are selling property, what you are concerned in is the net results, or the amount of the cheque after expenses.

When you are buying a house, you are primarily interested in the gross results, or the amount of house you are getting for your money.

Either way, you are assured of the most value when you deal with us, because we are interested in the end results, or in other words, "customer satisfaction."

Letters To The Editor

Editor, Squamish Times:

On behalf of the Executive and Members of the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club, we wish to extend to all the people at Squamish our sincere appreciation for their wonderful hospitality over the Easter weekend.

There were so many people who assisted the Chamber of Commerce Committee that we are not able to single out the names of those who worked so hard to make this weekend a success.

Every Yacht Club member who attended the Cruise was very impressed with your wonderful town, and we look forward to another Cruise to Squamish sometime in the future.

Again we would like to thank you for your wonderful co-operation and friendliness extended to us.

Yours sincerely,
K. J. McRae,
Acting Commodore,

61 TEMPERATURES. You will need one of them next time you cook. Will you get it?

Guessing games should be played in the living room - not the kitchen. With an electric range, every meal comes out just as you'd planned: meat done to a juicy, tender turn, vegetables plump and tasty, cakes light and high.

Why? Because electric cooking gives you precision temperature control. Take the oven for example. You select the exact temperature a particular food requires - from 200° to 500° - and you get it! Set the timer and leave the oven to do the rest. The temperature is maintained and when the roast, cake or pie is done, the timer rings. Or, if you're planning to be out gardening or shopping during the day, put the food in the oven and set the automatic clock control. While you're out, the oven comes on automatically, cooks the meal for the correct length of time, then shuts off!

Your appliance dealer can show you a variety of range styles and models. Dozens of automatic controls and features - all automatic and all designed to take the guesswork out of cooking.

National Warden Ass'n. Newest Youth Group

In tribute to the year-round forest fire prevention activities of the Junior Forest Wardens, the week beginning Saturday, May 12 will be known as "Junior Forest Warden Week," says Dr. B. C. Griffith, president of the newly formed Junior Forest Wardens Association of Canada.

Objectives of Canada's newest nationwide youth organization, incorporated just a year ago, are listed by Dr. Griffith as follows:

1. To create an interest in the conservation (wise use) of Canada's renewable natural resources, with special emphasis on the resources of the forest, through the:

- a) establishment of a training program for youths from the ages of 10 to 18 years.
- b) establishment and maintenance of summer training camps for boys of 10 years of age to 18 years.
- c) promotion of public service projects to be carried out by the Junior Forest Wardens.

2. To protect the forest resources from fire, disease and insect attack by:

- a) understanding and upholding the Forest Protection laws of all the Provinces of Canada.
- b) informing the public in regard to forest protection measures.
- c) aiding the authorities in the suppression of fires wherever and whenever possible.

3. To promote good citizenship among our Canadian youth through participation in a program of healthful outdoor recreation and service to the community.

While new to the country as a whole, the red-shirted wardens have been familiar figures in British Columbia's forests for 32 years. Since their ready supports 10 very active formation by the Canadian clubs with 240 boys in training. Association of B.C. Inc.

According to W. F. Myring, boys have received training in Chief Warden for Canada, the elements of forestry and Quebec, New Brunswick and woods fore.

One of their major camps organizations based on the is at Evans Lake, north of Junior Forest Warden training Squamish.

Currently, the B.C. unit has B.C. and it is expected that a total enrolment of approximately within the next year the wardens 5,500 boys, while affiliated youth heretofore province outside groups would number some B.C. to receive a charter from 28,000 boys active in forest the national association, all conservation in five provinces.

KITCHEN KAPERS

—by PEG TINNEY

Start Them In the Morning, So That If You're Rushed At Night You Can Still Serve a Tasty Meal

Many home-makers are busy with special interests outside the home. Sometimes this makes it difficult for them to get dinner ready on time. Dishes which can be served as a complete meal without side vegetables or salad are useful to add to recipe files for such emergencies.

Probably the most important advantage of these types of dishes is that they can be started early in the day. An example is that recipe for Stuffed Pork Chops, which can be cooked in the morning to the point where the vegetables are to be added.

When Mother gets home all she needs to do is add the vegetables — which can be ready, too — and cook about 20 minutes. She will be proud to serve such a tasty, attractive and nutritious meal. And it saves on dishes, since it is cooked in only one pan.

Stuffed Pork Chops
4 double pork chops
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery, with leaves
1/2 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 cups soft bread crumbs
1/4 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup water
1 green pepper, cubed
6 carrots, sliced
4 medium potatoes, sliced
1 cup water.
Have butcher cut pocket in chops for stuffing.

Melt butter in heavy skillet. Add onion, celery, 1/2 teaspoon salt, poultry seasoning, 1/2 teaspoon pepper and half of bread crumbs. Cook gently until onion is tender, stirring constantly. Add to remaining crumbs and toss lightly.

Cut excess fat from chops. Stuff with bread mixture and fasten opening securely with toothpicks. Combine flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/2 teaspoon pepper and dip chops into mixture to coat both sides.

Heat some of fat cut from chops in heavy skillet and brown chops well on both sides. Add 1/2 cup water, cover tightly and cook gently until chops are tender, about one hour. Turn occasionally and add more water if necessary.

Add vegetables and remaining one cup water. Cover again and cook until vegetables are tender, about 20 minutes. Serves 4.

Babe Ruth League
Raises Three Teams

Age-limit of the local Babe Ruth League has been extended one year, to 16, according to organizer Frank Downing, to fill a popular demand from the older boys.

Three teams have been lined up and are known as just 1, 2, 3, until they get sponsors and proper names.

Schedule for May sees them playing Saturday mornings at 10:30 and Tuesday nights at 6:30.

Umpires are Jack Maveety and Gil Rande.

Team 1, coached by Gordon Goodall, has Mike Muchanan, Allan Horth, Danny Sullivan, Jim Cameron, Jim Walton, Ronald Sweet, Tom Shields, Stephen Manson, Darrel Mc-Clure, Rusty McBride, Donald Aalten, Robert Billy, David Kennedy, Pat Magee, David Prevort.

Team 2 is coached by Bill tuck, Bobby Skerratt, Rocky Galley and John Shaw; Jim McCann, Carl Green, Charles Chamberlain, Spencer Dyke, Harpey, John Davis, Ken Joe Hobson, Danny McDonald, Dyke, Billy MacDonald, Ron-

Firemen & Elks Win In Baseball

Little League Baseball started with all four teams in action last Sunday, May 6. The Firemen beat the Legion 11 to 2 and the Elks trimmed the cup-holding Lions 5 to 4.

On the whole it was fair ball for season openers but the youngsters' diamond savvy still needs a lot of honing.

For instance, the Firemen combined nine hits and a walk to score eight runs in the third inning and went on to trounce the Legion 11-2.

Batteries: Legion, Harold Stockman, Dorwin Hurst (3); and Gary Woods. Firemen: Dave Bennett and Ian Taylor.

The Lions, last year's winner, lost opener to the Elks in a game of walks and errors.

The pitchers, who figure largely in any game, came in for a little extra attention this game with Ron Kuhn allowing only one hit in losing and that to winning pitcher, Dave Lepitre. Batteries: Elks, Dave Lepitre and Richard Otto; Lions, Ron Kuhn and Jim Skerratt.

LIFE of the PARTYCHARLIE ALWAYS REMEMBERS

Depend on Charlie never to forget, even when his firm suddenly makes him fly up to Prince George on the very weekend we're celebrating a birthday. And sure enough, it was the long distance call he made that eventually got the party mood going.

Charlie is always the life and soul of a party - and how he hates to miss one! As long as he can reach a telephone, bless him, he very rarely does.

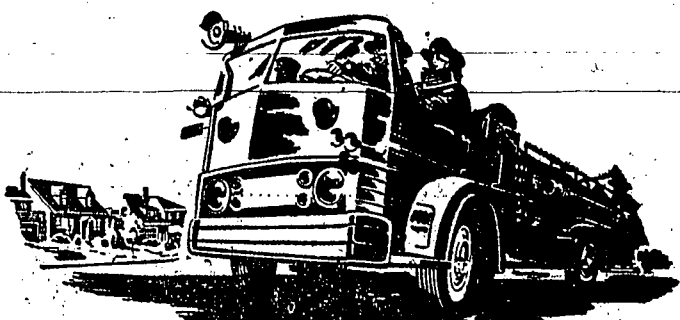

After 6 p.m. each evening (and all day Sunday) long distance rates drop by about one quarter. Vancouver to Kamloops, for example, can cost as little as $1.05.

Why don't YOU phone somebody near or dear tonight, when long distance calls are cheapest?

YOUNG MR. WESLEY

by V. H. H. Green

This book not only contributes to the understanding of Wesley's work and character but also illuminates the workings of Oxford University in the early years of the eighteenth century.

PERCYVAL TUDOR-HART

by Alasdair Alpin MacGregor

Percyval Tudor-Hart was born in Montreal and became an artist despite parental discouragement. This biography is written by one who knew him intimately and who admired his art tremendously, but feels that he has been denied the recognition he merited.

SUMMERHILL

by A. S. Nell

Summerhill is perhaps the most unusual school in the world. Children are not compelled to go to classes, yet they learn. In fact, being deprived of lessons is a severe punishment. This is the fascinating story of a unique experiment in education.

SKYLINE

by Gene Fowler

Sub-titled "A Reporter's reminiscence of the 1920s," this is the last book written by Gene Fowler before his death in 1960. His main story is built up with many stories of the people he knew in his New York newspaper days of the 1920s.

MARIETTE

by Abram Stillman

This excellent Canadian novel tells what happens when a Jewish English-speaking law student falls in love with a charming French-Canadian Catholic girl. The scene is modern Montreal.

WHEN YOU BRING someone for lunch you may end up with half the supply as in this case of two calves feeding at once at the Brackendale cattle ranch last week.

Power Capacity Plates For Boats

Plates stating the recommended safe maximum engine power and weight capacity limits will be compulsory after July 1 on pleasure boats 16 feet or less in length and carrying outboard motors of 10 horsepower or more, throughout Canada, the Department of Transport announced today.

As in the past, when such plates have been installed on boats on a voluntary basis, the stated limitations are recommended figures, aimed at informing boat owners as to safe margins within which to operate. The compulsory plate scheme has been instituted in an effort to reduce the small boat accident toll, which investigation has shown to be due in large measure to overpowering of small craft, overloading or a combination of both.

CHARGE: $1.00
To obtain the plates, where they have not already been affixed to boats by the manufacturers, boat owners must obtain application forms at Customs offices, where they have been accustomed to obtain motor boat licences, or Department of Transport Steamship Inspection offices. On these forms they will fill in the figures showing the various dimensions of their craft, and send them, in a postage-free envelope which will be provided, to the Superintendent of Nautical Safety, Department of Transport, Ottawa, along with a fee of one dollar. The charge is levied to help offset, in some measure, the cost of the plates and of the administrative set-up necessary for their issuance.

In the event that there is some delay in forwarding the plate to the applicant, he will be sent immediately an official receipt certifying that he has made his application. This receipt will be accepted in lieu of the plate by any law officers until such time as the plate itself has been received and affixed to the boat by the boat owner.

PERMANENT PLATE

The plates will be self-affixing, and will readily stick permanently to any surface. Once placed on a boat, the same plate will remain on engine design.

that craft for the remainder of the boat's operational life. The figures stating power and load capacity (by weight) will be arrived at from departmental calculations made with the use of dimensions given by the boat owner on his application form. The form itself will show clearly and simply how these measurements are to be made. The formulae used in calculating the limits were arrived at through extensive scientific studies and tests of boats and motors, in which the Department of Transport received full co-operation of boat and engine manufacturers and nationally recognized boating authorities.

Representatives of these groups from all parts of the country served as members of the Canadian Small Boat Load and Horsepower Committee that studied the problems involved and reviewed the proposed formulae prior to their adoption.

CAPACITY FORMULA

The formula for arriving at weight-carrying capacity is worked out to provide a recommended maximum load of 12 and a half pounds per cubic foot of hull volume, to afford a reasonable margin of safety. The formula for arriving at maximum recommended motor horsepower takes into account not only the volume of the boat, but the width of the transom (i.e. width across the stern) since narrowness at this point has an important bearing on the boat's performance and its tendency toward tipping.

In establishment of these formulae, the department has left the way open for their review, from time to time in the future, to ensure that they take into account changes that may be necessary as a result of improvements in boat and engine design.

Beautiful B.C. Summer Issue

The summer issue of Beautiful British Columbia Magazine featuring articles of special interest to both British Columbians and their guests has arrived on the news stands of the province.

The 48-page, four-colour magazine contains features on Rogers Pass, White Rock, Mission City's Soap Box Derby, Kamloops Indian Days and an educational feature on logging in B.C., plus the usual array of double-page scenic photographs.

An extensive feature on the province's summer harvest will delight rural readers and the double-spread photograph of hop fields in the Kamloops area is a gem.

Beautiful British Columbia Magazine, in its third year of production, goes to 66 different countries and has a subscription list of more than 16,000 subscribers. It is expected that more than 75,000 copies of the summer issue will be sold, with the majority of the copies going beyond the borders of the province.

BARRY GOLDWATER

by Stephen Shadegg

Stephen Shadegg, the author of this biography, has been a friend of Barry Goldwater for many years. The material for his book was collected from his personal knowledge of the Senator, from extensive interviews with his family, and research into the Arizona frontier history as affected by the Goldwater family.

WILL NOT WE FEAR

by C. E. J. Warren and James Benson

The story of H.M. Submarine Seal is one of the strangest, most frightening and in its own way one of the most heroically stirring adventures of the Second World War. The authors, submariners themselves, have succeeded in creating the atmosphere of increasing tension in the damaged submarine.

THE VANDERBILTS AND THEIR FORTUNES

by Edwin P. Hoyt

The story of the Vanderbilts is the story of the old Commodore who ran 100 dollars into a 100 million dollar fortune. Edwin Hoyt brings the story of this opulent family up to the present generation.

Register & Gems At Open House

A display of the lapidary work and an old hotel register will be special attractions at the forthcoming
Open House at the Squamish Public Library on May 12 from 2 to 5 p.m.

The hotel register is one used by the late David Galbraith when he operated a hotel in the building now used as headquarters for Empire Mills.

It contains the names of guests who were visitors at the beginning of the century;
the signatures of many old-timers appear on its yellow pages as well as guests from such far away places (at that time) as Germany and New York.

This register has been donated to the library by P. J.
Brennan and will become a permanent part of a growing archives.

Also on view will be lapi-dary work done by members of the night school class supervised by Mr. and Mrs. Wayne
Boyd. Some of this very lovely jewelry is made from rocks which can readily be found nearby.

Tea will be served during the afternoon and there will be a door-prize. Members of the Library Board and the Circulation Department will be on hand to answer questions on this vital branch of our community life.

Progress
"up in the air"

You can call a halt to progress any time — even "up in the air".
The quickest way, for both individuals and business is to stop planning for the future — or not to have the ability to plan for any future.

In essence, the principle of fire, automobile and casualty insurance is that it is a plan for the future. It ensures progress by banding people together to share the expected losses of the few among the many. Because it allows people to "average out" their chances of a completely crushing loss into a relatively small fixed expense, insurance enables them to move ahead on a planned basis.

The fact that Canada's fire, automobile and casualty insurance companies are paying out more than a million and a half dollars every day this year in claims indicates that prudent Canadians make safe plans for their future.
