Tree Now In Bloom Lone Mamquam Flood Survivor

The October blooming apple tree mentioned in last week's paper is the lone survivor of an orchard planted on another local site in 1906.

This tree, now at Crow's North Yard home, was one of 100 fruit trees planted on a five-acre site where the Mamquam river now flows between the highway bridge and the railway bridge, according to Mrs. A. P. Barnfield who helped plant them.

HELPED PLANT TREES
She helped plant them for her brother-in-law, Henry H. Gaunt, on this property he had recently purchased from Mrs. Mills, Mrs. Minnie Armstrong's mother.

A few years later Gaunt's property was gone, his house and his orchard victims of Mamquam floods, and the river flowed right where he had been living.

But railway section foreman John De Laine spotted this lone apple tree standing on the new shore, dug it up and replanted it in his own yard at the North Yards.

And there it has been ever since. The fruit trees, says Mrs. Barnfield, came from Henry's Nursery in Mount Pleasant. Fifty of them were apple trees and the others were fruits such as plums, peaches, apricots, cherries, quince and pears. The survivor is a tasty winter apple.

MAMQUAM FLOODS
Speaking of Mamquam floods, Mrs. Barnfield says she remembers well the time the Mamquam changed its present course and confluence with the Squamish river.

"It started first coming through like a little trickling ditch and two weeks later it came right through and wiped out the orchard, land, house and everything.

"The house was dynamited as it came down the river to keep it from smashing the railway bridge."

The Gaunts had been flooded before, she relates, and at one time were forced by high water to live in the attic of their house for a week.

At Squamish

PGE Shops Invent New Chip Cars

A new type of chip carrying car has been developed by the Pacific Great Eastern Railway at its Squamish shops.

The new cars are not only larger than others in use in Canada but are also more versatile. They may be unloaded in the conventional turn over dump or they may share a dump with trailer trucks and dump through a specially designed end gate.

AT SQUAMISH
This is the innovation which is being perfected at the Squamish shops under supervision of car equipment, Eric Stathers.

Two pilot cars, 52 feet long, holding 28 units of chips, six more than CN and CP cars hold, were converted from gondolas.

It is as a result of a study made two years ago by Stathers that the end dumping technique is incorporated. He had found that in the United States, under similar conditions that

City Choirs To Present Concert

Two outstanding church choirs have accepted the invitation of Squamish United Church to present a Sunday evening of sacred music, October 28, at 8 p.m., in Squamish Elementary School auditorium.

Choirs of Dunbar Heights United Church and West Burnaby United Church will combine to form a 70-voice choir under the direction of Leslie W. Monk.

Featured will be the Cantata — Song of Thanksgiving — by J. H. Maunders. Organist will be Mrs. Constance Monk and pianist will be Betty Mercer.

Complete program with names of individual soloists will be in next week's issue of The Times.

Five years ago when the Rev. H. S. Clugston was minister of Squamish United the Dunbar Heights Choir presented a similar evening of sacred music to a packed audience in Squamish Elementary.

For Year-Round Use

Government Aid Sought To Cover Swimming Pool

Government assistance is being sought to enclose the Squamish swimming pool and make it a year-round recreation facility.

Representatives of the school board and the Squamish Recreation Commission agreed with village council, October 10, that maximum use of the pool was desirable, especially to supplement physical education already given in the schools.

VILLAGE SHARE COST

This was not possible in a pool, though heated, without cover or change rooms. The village's share of the construction would be to supply the labor under a winter works project.

Delegates to the council meeting, were school board chairman W. V. Manson, trustee H. H. Bailey, secretary treasurer F. D. Ross, and from the recreation commission, chairman E. B. MacDonald and W. J. Elliott.

School board members were in Victoria this week for a trustees convention and will present their proposals to the department of education.

If the pool were covered much more use would be made of it by the secondary school, according to principal W. W. Baldry, and by the local elementary schools, he thought.

USE BY SCHOOLS

He mentioned the Prince Rupert covered pool which was used all year by students of the whole district where swimming training was given to all, starting at Grade 5.

Such use of a covered pool could be made here, he said, in training students from Mamquam, Stawamus and Squamish elementary schools providing qualified teachers were available to supervise.

Howe Sound Secondary School has been operating the pool since school opened and it was used regularly, three hours a day, for physical education classes during the month of September.

Also meeting weekly at the pool was the school swimming club and an inter-house swimming meet is at present awaiting some decent weather. Limited public use was allowed during this time after school and on weekends with teachers and senior students supervising.

Village Plans Winter Works

Four winter works projects are planned in the village of Squamish.

They are house numbering, water main replacement, tree planting along the main street and further construction at the swimming pool.

Winter works programs were instituted several years ago to help relieve municipalities of unemployment and to encourage them to undertake community improvements.

SHARE LABOR COST

Under winter works all labor payrolls are shared 50 per cent by the federal government, 25 per cent by the provincial and 25 per cent by the municipality.

If a laborer has been on welfare for several months before being employed on a winter works project the senior government pays his entire salary. The period of winter works runs from October to May.

PROJECTS

Further construction at the pool, replacing the Rev. Oswald swimming pool in the way of a roof and/or change rooms will depend on materials coming from the school district and the Squamish from Hope.

St. Joseph's New Pastor

New pastor at St. Joseph's Parish is the Rev. John Holzapfel, replacing the Rev. Oswald F. Sorel who has taken over at St. Ann's at Alder Grove.

Polio Victim's Recovery Thwarted By Broken Leg

Rolf Fougberg, stricken with polio over two years ago, had a further misfortune last week when his leg broke as he was taking walking lessons at the G. F. Strong Rehabilitation Centre in Vancouver.

He is recovering in Heather Pavilion, D Floor, Vancouver General Hospital.

JUST OFF BRIDGE when washout hit at 3:30 a.m. October 13, was Cst. Doug Calverley of Squamish on routine road patrol. "I was just up the road a few hundred yards when I heard the roar. I turned around to see white water where the bridge used to be."

Mamquam Logging To Be Modest But Expanding

Logging program by MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Limited in the Mamquam watershed next year will be "modest" according to company information. However, it is said it will be an expanding operation.

The road construction work which started recently will continue over the next few years.

The company does not intend to set up a logging camp but will seek employees from the community.

HURRICANE DAMAGE at Lions Bay was extensive with trees down on houses, roofs off, windows broken and power lines down. Squamish escaped the storm.

Is There No Limit To The Cost Spiral...?

Looking at some prices in advertisements in a Vancouver paper, June 28, 1940, makes one ask, "Is there apt to be a similar increase in prices in the next 20 years and if so, where will it end?"

We are not saying that today's prices are out of line with other facets of the economy, such as wages, but we do wonder if there has been any tampering with the laws of supply and demand? Will man's ingenuity to make a product cost more always be balanced with his ability to pay for it?

Will the time come when the cost of improvements is entirely borne by greater demand, improved production and other things that we are told should offset such increases in cost to us but never does?

One thing of which we are fairly sure is that the time will never come when the fruits of a man's labors will be in direct ratio to the extent of those labors. There are too many non-producers to support these days. Obvious examples of these are the middlemen and the state. They exist for the good of all, they claim, and they are probably right.

The state was set up to keep man's affairs in order through the institution of law and established custom. But somewhere along the line man ceded his authority to the administrators, his servants, and they became more powerful than he.

As we said before — the day will probably never come when conscientious workmanship, honesty and compassion will be the universal attributes of the successful business man. So in the meantime we hire a whole raft of inspectors and bureaucrats to set up standards to protect us from shoddy products; we have a judicial system of lawyers, courts and state laws to decide if things are being done honestly or not; we have vast and costly social welfare schemes to look after those in need.

The cost of a half pound of bacon being 12 cents and spring salmon at 12½ twenty-two years ago may have little to do with conscientious workmanship, honesty and compassion but we do believe that more and more people are making a fat living off the primary producer.

What we don't need is more people telling us what to do. What we do need is more of us doing what we know should be done.

The old saw — what they don't know won't hurt them — should be stricken from the mind and conscience of us all. Mutual trust between the consumer and producer might eventually undermine the middleman to such an extent that he would be forced to move along, maybe into something productive.

COMMUTERS from Britannia Beach clear roadway for cars trying to get as near to Vancouver as possible on Saturday morning but no cars got past wash-out at Brunswick until Sunday.

Apple Day Good For Scouts, Cubs

East-Howe Sound Boy Scout Association wish to thank all those who made their recent apple day so successful. A grateful thanks to the businesses that donated the apples and to those who either purchased apples or worked on this project.

The boys decorated boxes in which to deliver their polished apples.

The winners of the boxes for Brackendale were: 1st, Shane McCann; 2nd, Frank Laing.

Squamish winners were: 1st, David Flack; 2nd, Doug Urquhart; 3rd, Sandy McCrae.

There was only one scout box entered, the winner being Bill Flack.

New recruits did a splendid job polishing all the apples for the boys in uniform in the three different locations.

All those cubs and scouts in Brackendale, Britannia and Squamish who worked so hard and did so well are to be congratulated.

The funds will go into the local association to assist in paying the 1962 assessment from scout headquarters which wasn't completely covered by the financial drive held this spring and to assist in training leaders in this district.

Pemberton School Ready January 1st

New two-room elementary school in Pemberton village is expected to be ready for use January 1, 1963.

Trustees inspected the site, October 10, and found building progress up to schedule.

A duplex teacherage will also be built.

When the school opens it will accommodate 44 pupils, one class of which is now being taught in an improvised classroom at Pemberton Elementary-Secundary School while the other is using a temporary arrangement at Pemberton Meadows Elementary.

Principal of the new school is Brian Edwards. The second teacher will be Mrs. M. Vaughan-Jones.

OTHER CONSTRUCTION
In the southern section of District No. 48 two one-classroom additions are now in use, one at Mamquam and one at Stawamus.

New covered play areas have also been built at these schools. The former play areas were so designed as to incorporate the roof and wall structure of the new classrooms.

There are now 83 students and three teachers at Mamquam Elementary and at Stawamus 61 students and three teachers.

Plans for further construction approved in the June referendum this year are in Victoria awaiting approval. They include an addition to the school board offices, addition to activity room at Squamish Elementary, one classroom at Britannia Beach, and a duplex teacherage at Mamquam school.

In the drawing board stage is a duplex teacherage for Britannia Beach.

Letters To The Editor

Editor, Squamish Times:

In last week's paper, there appeared a write-up regarding the C.A.R.S. fund drive at Woodfibre, which was highly successful. Also, it was stated that the Squamish Lions' Ladies would canvas Squamish, under the sponsorship of one of its members.

It is regretted that, although the matter of the drive was given careful consideration a year ago when the Lions' Ladies were contacted to assist this very worthwhile organization, it was firmly decided that such a small group as this one would be unable to canvas as capably as they would like to do, and especially since October is the month when they assist the Squamish Lions' Club in their canvas for the C.N.I.B.

Another reason against canvassing was that the policy had already been laid down that the Club would canvas for only one organization per year; that organization or group being the Salvation Army.

Instead, Miss Pack, the C.A.R.S. Organizer, was asked to a meeting, and invited to suggest other means of helping C.A.R.S. in this District.

She kindly suggested working as contact between the Doctors and C.A.R.S., making information available to the general public in Squamish regarding the benefits to be obtained from this organization; and assisting in transportation when needed by the doctors to the C.A.R.S. clinic in North Vancouver.

As yet, the club has not been called upon for their services, in this manner, but would be only too pleased to assist in that capacity when required.

C.A.R.S. handicrafts have also been purchased and encouragement given to others to purchase these handicrafts made by the patients.

In view of the fact that the Squamish Lions' Club will be canvassing this month for the C.N.I.B., it is hoped that the above information will clarify which organization these two Clubs will be working to assist this month, and also, it may interest another Ladies Group in a worthwhile project to assist the C.A.R.S.

Trees For Pemberton, Alta Lake

Alta Lake and Pemberton are among the 13 separate tree planting projects undertaken by the B.C. Forest Service. This fall and next spring 14,000,000 two-year-old seedlings, chiefly Douglas fir, will be planted on 30,000 acres of productive land previously logged or burned over.

This will bring to 165,000,000 the number of trees planted since 1939; the year the artificial reforestation policy was begun.

Seedlings are normally planted eight feet apart. Some trees are planted in the Campbell River area in 1939 are now 40 feet high.

It takes from 60 to 100 years, depending on climate, soil and the use to which they will be put, before trees are ready for harvest in the continuing cycle of sustained yield forestry.

About 90 per cent of the new crop will be Douglas fir. Some Sitka spruce will be used on the Coast and small quantities of Ponderosa pine and Interior spruce in the Interior.

Put Your Locks On Your Lockers

By Christine Mader

Too bad it's over, but all good things come to an end, and so the witching hour came around much too early. Mary-Lou was M.C. and the mixerclub did a great job. Everyone liked the autumn leaves, the records and the novelty dances. Most of the boys wore suits and the girls looked very pretty in their dresses.

The battle of the lights didn't seem to have been won by either side. For almost as soon as the lights were turned off, a member of the lights-on group would flick the switch again. Perhaps the "lights-on" group doesn't believe that students are quite capable of dancing in semi-darkness.

A number of teachers came, and many stayed till the end. One boy remarked that even our coach was present, and sans sweat suit at that!

Our spur of the moment pep rally was also held on Friday. Even as late as lunch hour girls were pondering the thought of not having a rally. But when the announcement came over the P.A. system, it said that all meetings were cancelled because of the pep meet, we were forced into revising our program. We gave Marty a list of names, told Diane to play the record, talked Mr. Bird into playing the piano, asked Mr. Zebroff to find the milk, gave Carol F. the job of handing out cheer sheets, persuaded Wayne to go first, and were all set.

Most of the students yelled. But when they did the actions to our "clap your hands, clap your feet" cheer, it sounded as if the bleachers were about to cave in. Although the M.C. said the cheering wasn't very good, it actually showed considerable enthusiasm. From where I was standing, the rally could be labelled "operation success".

But here is a suggestion: could everyone learn our school song? Not too many kids seem to know our "official" one.

To the tune of our unofficial school song: GIVE A CHEER TO everybody that deserves one.

Cards and Titans Stand 2nd & 1st

Squamish Cardinals won on Saturday and lost on Sunday, 26 to 6 over Packers, 21 to 7 under Roughriders.

Saturday's game was nothing spectacular, says coach Lochie Brock. The Packers are just about the weakest in the league.

Hobson scored two touchdowns and Skerratt got one major and two converts.

But Sunday's game was something else — "we came closest to beating the unbeaten Roughriders of any team this year."

Cards were winning at half time by 7 to 6 and played one of their best games of the year even though they lost.

This game did the Cards a lot of good, says Lochie, because the boys proved to themselves that they have got what it takes.

They contained the ball just as much as the Roughriders; they had as many chances to score even though they didn't score as much.

Cards are now tied for second place with the Titans whom they will meet at Squamish in two weeks' time.

Next week the Cards play the Giants, the top team in their division.

TITANS

The minors added to their lustre with a 25-0 win over Rams on the weekend, adding another triumph to their unbeaten season.
