Fire siren breaks up meeting

Village council has had a ringside demonstration of the speed with which their volunteer firemen respond to the siren's call.

If the firemen have shortcomings, the commissioners can attest that alacrity is not one of them.

A discussion between the council and the firemen of the fire department's problems was broken up by a fire alarm, Tuesday night, November 13.

One moment there were 10 firemen seated in the board room of the Municipal Hall and the next moment, there were none.

One of them vaulted over the counter to get out the door while the tenth fiddled vainly with a tricky catch on a half door through which people normally pass.

A house on the Stamish Reserve, owned by Chuck Billy, was destroyed in the fire.

Firemen fighting the blaze were hampered by a live electrical connection to the premises. Arrangements are being made with the B.C. Hydro firemen to have one of their men at every fire in case the electrical connection has to be cut.

Fire at Britannia

Adults and teenagers manned the hoses to put out an attic fire in the old section of the Surface Dry, at Britannia, Tuesday night, Nov. 13.

The alarm was given by Kathleen Akers at 10:00 p.m. and a few minutes later the flames were visible all over the beach.

It took till midnight to quell the stubborn blaze which demolished the roof of the section of the dry which houses the furnace room and showers.

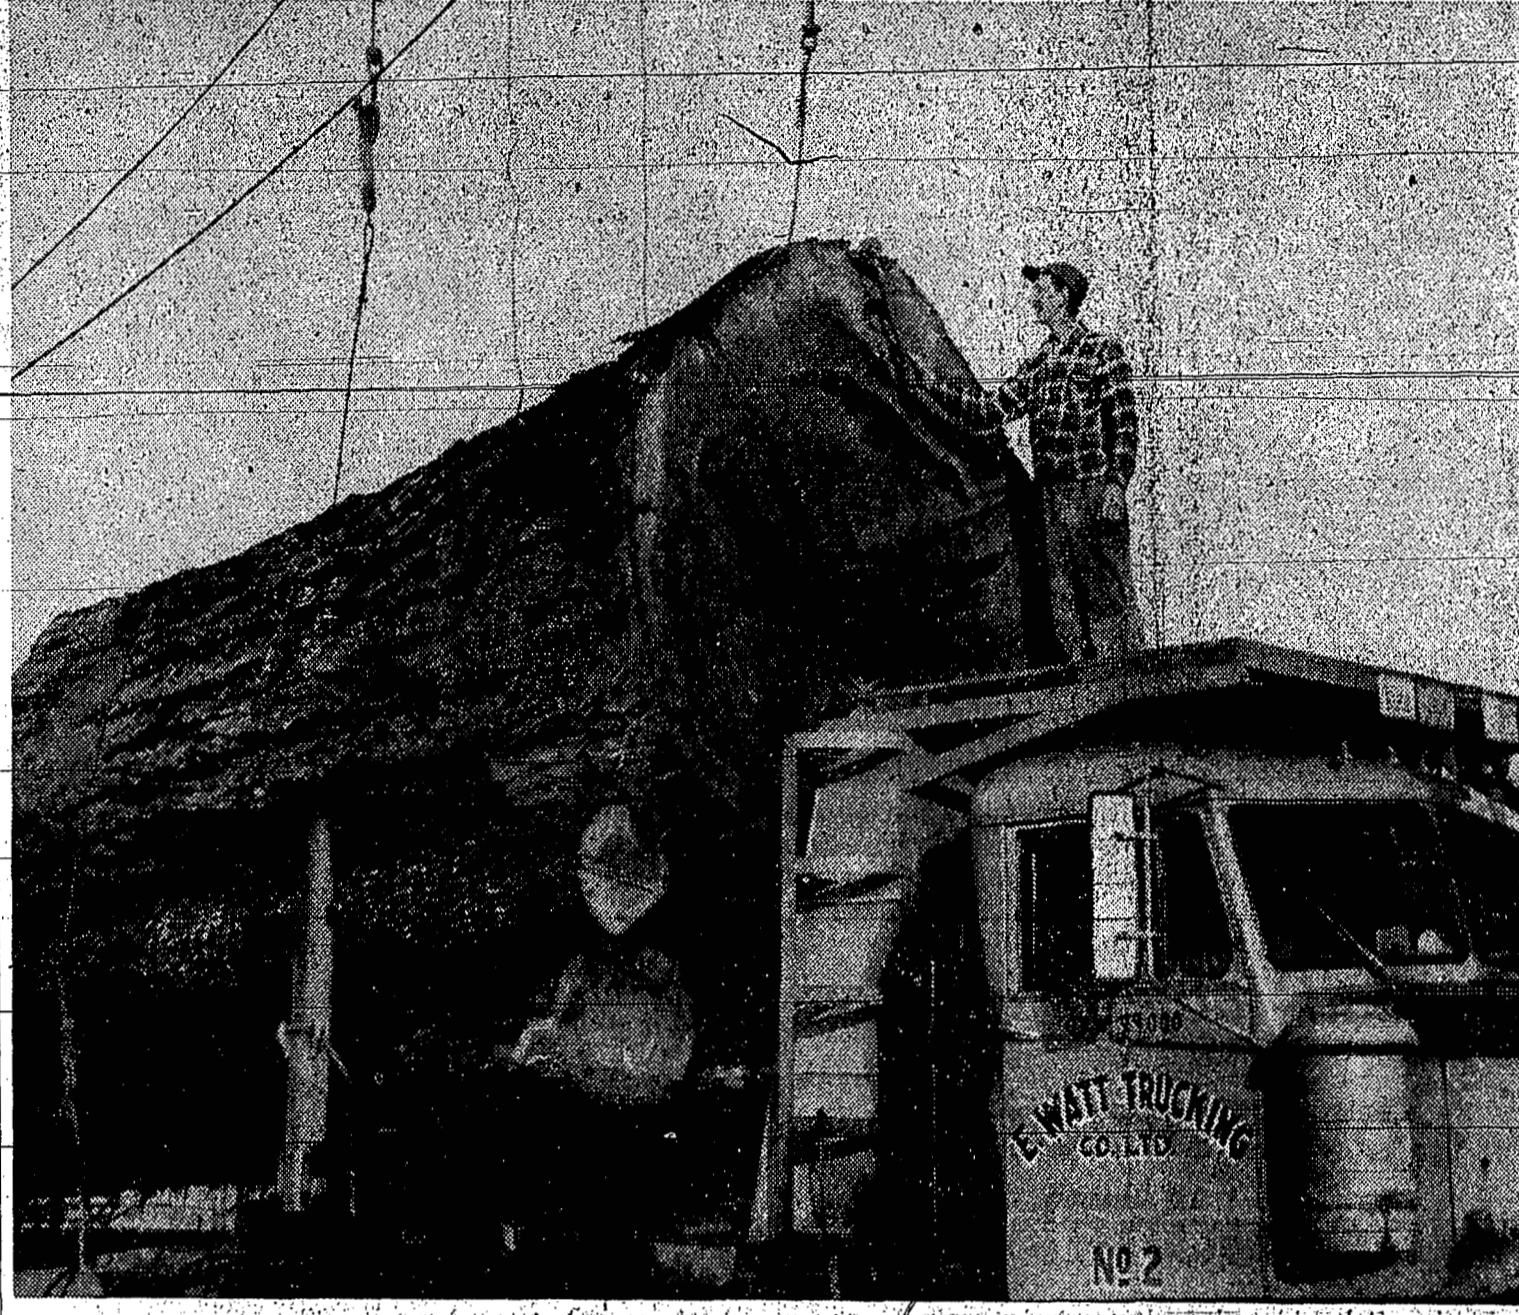

The new section containing the lockers had only water damage.

Hard candy rends screen

A childish prank at a matinee caused extensive damage to the $400 screen of the Star Theatre, November 10.

Owner Sam Bonda claims that someone somehow fired a hard candy, ripping the expensive material and the backing.

He thinks that a sling-shot or catapult of some sort was used.

GIANT FIR from the Shovelnose area of the tree farm licence is marked at Empire Mills' dump by George Binning. Estimated board foot measure of butt log is 5000. Contractor Earl Watt said it is the largest log he has taken out of the Squamish Valley.

The shovel loader, normally with power to spare when loading the trucks, needed the assistance of the yarder to lift this big one. Butt diameter of the 16-foot long log is nine feet. The other end is 6 1/2 feet.

Trophy honors for school team

The football team of Howe Sound Secondary School, champions in the first year of the Skyline Conference, will be honored at a special school assembly, November 23.

Parents and friends are invited to see the team accept their trophy from Denny Veitch, co-ordinator of minor football for B.C. Lions. A playing member of the Lions, possibly Joe Kapp, will also be on hand.

Crests will be presented to members chosen for the conference's all-star team.

The assembly will be in the secondary school auditorium at 12:45 p.m.

Pemberton W.I. elects officers

Mrs. W. C. Hamilton was elected president of Pemberton's Women's Institute at the annual meeting, November 5.

Other officers are: Mrs. E. O. Hellevang, secretary, and Mrs. J. O. Decker, treasurer.

Directors are: Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. J. Leach, Mrs. B. Cherry and Mrs. L. Shore.

On committees are: Mrs. Ed Ronayne, C. A. C.; Mrs. Leach, Sunshine; Mrs. Hellevang, publicity; Mrs. Morgan, UNESCO; Mrs. Cherry, hall; Mrs. P. Sines, home economics; Mrs. R. Fotsch, agriculture; Mrs. L. Shore, social welfare.

Future meetings of the W.I. will be held on the third Monday of each month.

School's role explained

School district representatives for Mount Currie, Pemberton and Pemberton Meadows met on November 8 and 9.

D. H. Campbell, district superintendent, attended and spoke on the role of the secondary school in the community.

Alpha Circle Officers

At the final meeting of the year the members of the Alpha Circle of the Squamish United Church elected their officers for the coming year.

They are: Mrs. A. Hankey, president; Mrs. F. Munro, vice-president; Mrs. A. R. Barr, secretary and Mrs. D. D. Morrison, treasurer.

Party for Mansons at Britannia

Friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. E. Manson held a surprise party for them Friday night in the Upper Club Room.

Mr. and Mrs. Manson who are moving shortly to their new home in Garibaldi Estates in Squamish have lived in Minaty Bay for 16 years.

Mrs. Manson was Britannia's first war bride. Mrs. E. Oakes, Mrs. G. Manson, Mrs. R. Sherwood and Mrs. A. McNair were hostesses for the party.

Presentation of a fire screen and accessories was made by Jack Balderson.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. These of Squamish, Mr. and Mrs. J. Balderson and Mr. and Mrs. Jersey Johnson of Vancouver.

Pemberton posting for Cst. E. Greba

Cst. Ernie Greba has been transferred to take over the RCMP detachment at Pemberton early in the new year.

At the time he will have been at Squamish just two months short of five years. Presently manning the one-man detachment at Pemberton is Cpl. Ray Nelson.

Smell from Woodfibre

Howe Sd. citizens band together to ban mill odor

A concerted effort to curb disagreeable odor from Woodfibre pulp mill is being made by a group of Squamish and West Vancouver citizens.

A delegation from the newly formed Howe Sound Air Pollution Control Committee will confront chairman Walter Koerner of Rayonier Canada for assurance that something will be done.

ASK LEGISLATION If this fails the group will go to the government and ask attorney-general Robert Bonner for effective legislation.

West Vancouver councillor John Menzies, who called the meeting, was named chairman of the committee, and will head the delegation to press for action.

Alistair Mackenzie, J. V. Puttkamer and Bernhard Brown from Squamish were named with Menzies to the delegation.

First meeting of the citizens from Squamish, Howe Sound areas and West Vancouver was held in West Vancouver, November 14.

Menzies had previously contacted the B.C. Research Council and was told that a chemist could make studies that would prove what the odor is and where it is coming from.

Cost of the survey could reach $20,000 but it would be the only positive proof that could be used to challenge the company responsible.

REAL ESTATE DOWN This action climaxes more than a year of agitation against the stench that drifts on the wind up and down Howe Sound. West Vancouver residents claim it is depressing real estate values in the western end of their municipality.

Squamish Chamber of Commerce invited the cooperation of the other communities affected some time ago and named Mackenzie to head the local delegation.

Rayonier executives attended a West Vancouver council meeting a year ago and promised they would investigate.

They also said that the evidence presented did not prove that the odor came from their mill.

There is another kraft mill at Port Mellon, farther along Howe Sound towards Gibsons.

Seed potato prices uncertain

Prices for Pemberton seed potatoes are expected to be low this year.

So Charles Bradbury, Vancouver agent, told a special Farmer's Institute meeting in the Upper Valley Hall, November 8.

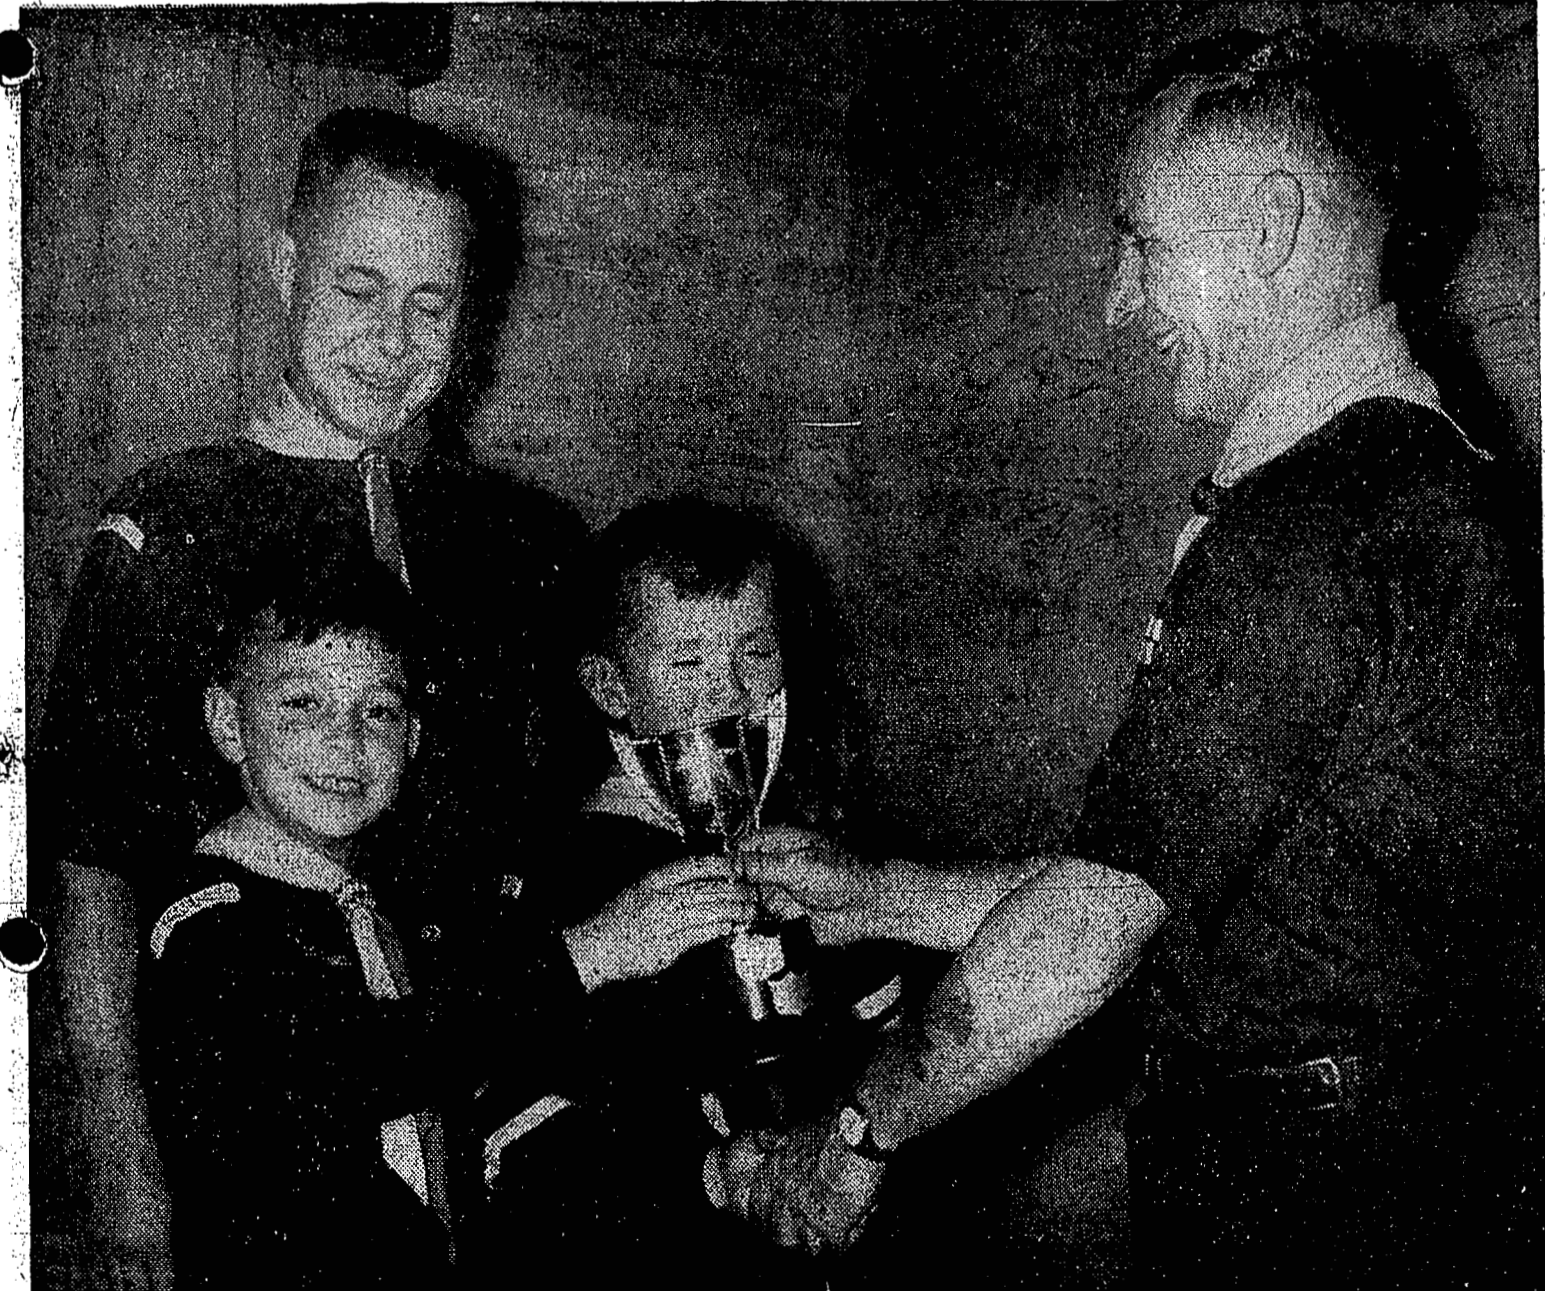

He said the sales outlook is not good because of the large potato crops on the Prairies.

$35 bake sale at Britannia

It was a busy day at Britannia Beach, November 17, with the activities of the Disc Club.

Both the bake sale in the afternoon and the Sadie Hawkins dance at night were quite successful. About $35 was made on the sale.

The club would like to thank all who participated, especially Mrs. Minto Marchuk, convenor of the bake sale.

TROPHY for best Cub Pack is received from district commissioner Pat Flack by 3rd Squamish boys Mike Manson, left, and Pat Hurren while their leader, Tommy Clarke beams in the background. Sponsored by St. John's Church, this pack won the trophy two years ago. Presentation was made, November 14, at the annual banquet at Paradise Valley.

Rock riprap for soft gravel dyke

The Mamquam River dyke near the highway bridge is to be riprapped. Quarrying of heavy rock for the job began about 10 days ago and hauling to the dyke will start in about a week.

Provincial highway officials did not disclose the amount of rock to be moved or the cost of the work but said that the whole dyke would be done. Its length is about five or six hundred yards.

REMOVE THREAT

This would alleviate a flood and corrosion threat that has plagued the low lying Mamquam area for many years. Floods have been frequent.

The rock is being taken from the Rod and Gun Club range near the river.

A long gravel dyke on the south bank of the river was pushed up by the highway department last summer.

Gravel, alone, will not long contain the river during its frequent high water periods.

LONG ADVOCATED

Adequate protection from the Mamquam has long been advocated by "The Times". Private citizens Eric Axen, and more recently, Gene Jordan, have among others sought to arouse the populace to its danger.

Without the protection of riprapping a change of course of the river is highly probable. This could bring destruction to the North Yard homes, the PGE shops, and even the village of Squamish.

This is the second riprapping job the highways department has undertaken this year in the Squamish area. Last summer the Big Bend section of the upper Squamish river was done.

In conciliation

Teachers settle on 2.7% increase

Teachers of Howe Sound District settled for a 2.7 per cent increase in salaries, November 15. No increases were given in the 1962 agreement.

Salary talks have gone through four negotiation meetings with the board, and two conciliation meetings. Settlement was reached on the conciliation, deadline. After November 15 arbitration would have been mandatory.

Serving on the board's salary committee were: W. V. Manson, chairman, and trustees C. P. Kidson, H. H. Bailey and L. L. Allan.

Negotiating for the teachers were K. Y. Tomlinson, chairman, P. Zebrof, N. K. Smith, M. A. Carrico, T. F. Sawtell, R. F. Wagner, as president of the Howe Sound Teachers' Association, was present as an observer.

P.A. $5,300-$8,800 ($5,200-$8,500)

A reorganization of administrative allowances resulted in increases to principals of some schools.

Conciliator for the school board was Harold B. Stringer of North Vancouver.

Acting for the teachers were Dr. Stuart Jamieson, a professor of economics at UBC, and D. M. McKay, principal of Chemalvus Secondary School.

Shuttleworth farewell

A no-host farewell party for Herb Shuttleworth was held in the Upper Club Saturday night.

R. Lasby presented the guest of honor with a hostess chair. Herb has left for a position in the Texada Iron Mines at Gillies Bay, Texada Island.

Mrs. Shuttleworth and family will follow him at the end of the year.

Scholarship club gives best pupils recognition

Students who achieve very high standings in their subjects will become members of the newly formed Scholarship Club.

Aims of the club are to provide interesting activities designed to stimulate and enrich their experience.

Projects will be planned to enable the members to pursue topics of interest to them.

Parents will be asked to contribute of their time and ideas to help this new endeavour to succeed.

Thank you, Bill Smith: Pemberton Bd. of Trade

A good deed by a Squamish citizen has brought him commendation from citizens of another community who benefited.

Station agent Bill Smith, on the day after Halloween, found that pranksters had let the air out of the tires on all cars on the PGE parking lot. In most cases the air valves had been removed. Smith replaced the valves and pumped up the tires.

A vote of thanks to him was passed by resolution at the November 13 meeting of the Pemberton and District Board of Trade.

The resolution said, in effect, that car owners were gratified and assured to know that their vehicles left on the station lot received attention.

SQUAMISH, B.C.—THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1962

Keep The Tourists Longer...

From all reports the tourist season in the Squamish area has been a good one but those benefiting from the industry would do well to heed these words by the Hon. Earle C. Westwood, minister of recreation and conservation.

"If tourists could be persuaded to stay an extra day in British Columbia it would mean an added 40 per cent in revenue to the province."

"This would mean that instead of an estimated $145,000,000 of new revenue to the province in 1962, $160,000,000 would have been added."

He urged that guests be made to feel "the warmth and personality" of a place and said: "I don't think it is good enough to spend a small fortune building a motel or hotel and just leave the guest to it. Charm and decor of a building are factors every operator should try to achieve but the warmth must be there too."

This makes good sense. It also follows a line of thinking The Times put in an editorial last June, entitled: Be Charming: Make Our Town The Friendliest.

It may be hard to turn on the charm now that the rain is more frequent than the sunshine but we mustn't spoil the good impression we made during the summer by being sour during the winter.

What we said in June is timely now. Our summer specialty, and for that matter our year round specialty, should be that of helping our visitors to enjoy

Peer's Pigs & Pulp Mills...

The smell from Woodfibre and/or Port Mellon has finally sifted its way down as far as Ambleside and Park Royal. Unmistakably, the entire lower sections of West Vancouver were drenched in the putrid gas Wednesday morning.

But there were no headlines such as the little short story which appeared recently from Wickhambrook, England. It said: "Peer's Pigs Pollute Perfume of Posies".

It seems that the custodians of the village had complained of the "most objectionable smell" emanating from Viscount Ebrington's pig farm. The unpleasant odor had made it difficult to enjoy a flower show held in the hall.

What the legal rights of the complainants may be we cannot say, but we can cite a very early decision bearing on the point. The finding dates from 1607 and was handed down in a com-

Status Symbol: Thumb Tacks Or Cars...

In a municipality where the second or third automobile in a family has been generally accepted as a good status symbol of success, more than passing interest will be given to the following item.

"The executive's status symbol for 1962 is now a thumb tack."

Now on sale for only $1.98 (plus 20c tax) is a set of two jumbo size sterling silver thumb tacks — monogrammed with two or three initials. Now there is an item to gladden the heart of Mr. Big of the Executive Suite or tickle the fancy of Joe "Lunch-Bucket" Blow.

We can recall that Canada's trade minister Hees, about a year ago wore cuff links which some thought amusing. They were initialed Y.C.G.B.S.O.Y.A. (you can't get business sitting on your Highway Statistics...

Another long weekend and to be followed by another sordid news story of tragic highway deaths. But the motorist still doesn't seem to learn.

A quick look at the facts assembled by a leading insurance company (and who should know better?) indicates that recent statistics on highway safety leave little room for optimism or comfort.

The report admits that highway fatalities are decreasing, but it points out that the number of injuries has risen. The reason for the fewer deaths is that the injured are being cared for better and more promptly in highway accidents.

An analysis by the insurance company points up a fact of previous years: that it is the "experienced drivers" (96%) who are involved in mishaps; that passengers cars are involved many Stimulants...

Naturally the Times' editorial writer does not expect the majority of his readers to agree with him on every editorial piece.

The average writer of editorials is not so naive to feel that his efforts are read by all of the paper's subscribers. Of course he realizes that there will be disagreement and sometimes hurt feelings especially when he is bold or stupid enough to print the truth.

themselves. Happy visitors, pleased with their hosts, are likely to stay longer than those who are just left on their own to discover what they can. And they are more likely to come again.

We stress the importance of being hosts because we believe this factor to be the most important in promoting a flourishing tourist industry. Granted, we have lakes, we have mountains, we have trees and rivers, but so have a thousand and one other communities. How then are we to establish our place in the minds and memories of tourists as a good place to go?

We do not have the money to launch an extensive advertising campaign such as Vancouver, Victoria, and larger centres, but we could out do them in hospitality. We could become known as the friendliest tourist centre in the Northwest, or the South-west, depending on from which direction our tourists come.

Most of us have had the experience of being strangers in a strange place and this is just what most of our visitors will be. When they arrive they will ask questions and the manner in which they are received will largely determine whether they stay or go on to one of the thousand and one other communities. If we are to earn the accolade of the friendliest town in these parts everyone must be willing to turn on the charm and be helpful. It won't cost us anything except a little time — and it's a poor host who cannot spend a little time with his guests.

mon law proceeding against a candle-maker who was indicted for causing a nuisance.

(Those were the days when candles were made of tallow rather than petroleum and even a small rendering plant could make its presence known for a long distance such as our Port Mellon or Woodfibre.)

The finding was reported in the bastard French that was the English court's inheritance from the Norman conquest. The learned judge ruled:

"Le utility del chose excusera le noisomeness del stink."

Unanswered, of course, is the question in West Vancouver whether "le utility" of candlelight of 1607 was greater or less than of our own breakfast bacon, eggs and toast in 1962. Who wants to be treated to an early morning stench of rotten eggs?

... or some such interpretation. The Hees bauble raised a smile, if not much business, but did serve in some vague way to underline the minister's zeal.

In the 1860's, at the height of Victorian respectability, a very famous and highly priced lady of the night with the nom de lit "Skittles", had a swansdown seat in her boudoir which, as well as raising a giggle, was even more practical than the Hees jewelry.

But is there not a limit to this mad production of monogrammed money belts, beer trays and golf balls? If we have cash to spare (after liquor and cigars, of course) there is the Greater Vancouver Red Feather appeal which is still short of its goal.

more times (proportionately) than trucks; that cars on straight roads in clear weather and in good mechanical condition get into most of the trouble.

Foolhardiness born of false confidence, perhaps, but the facts are there.

The insurance company, in looking ahead at the holiday weekend, sums it up in rhyme:

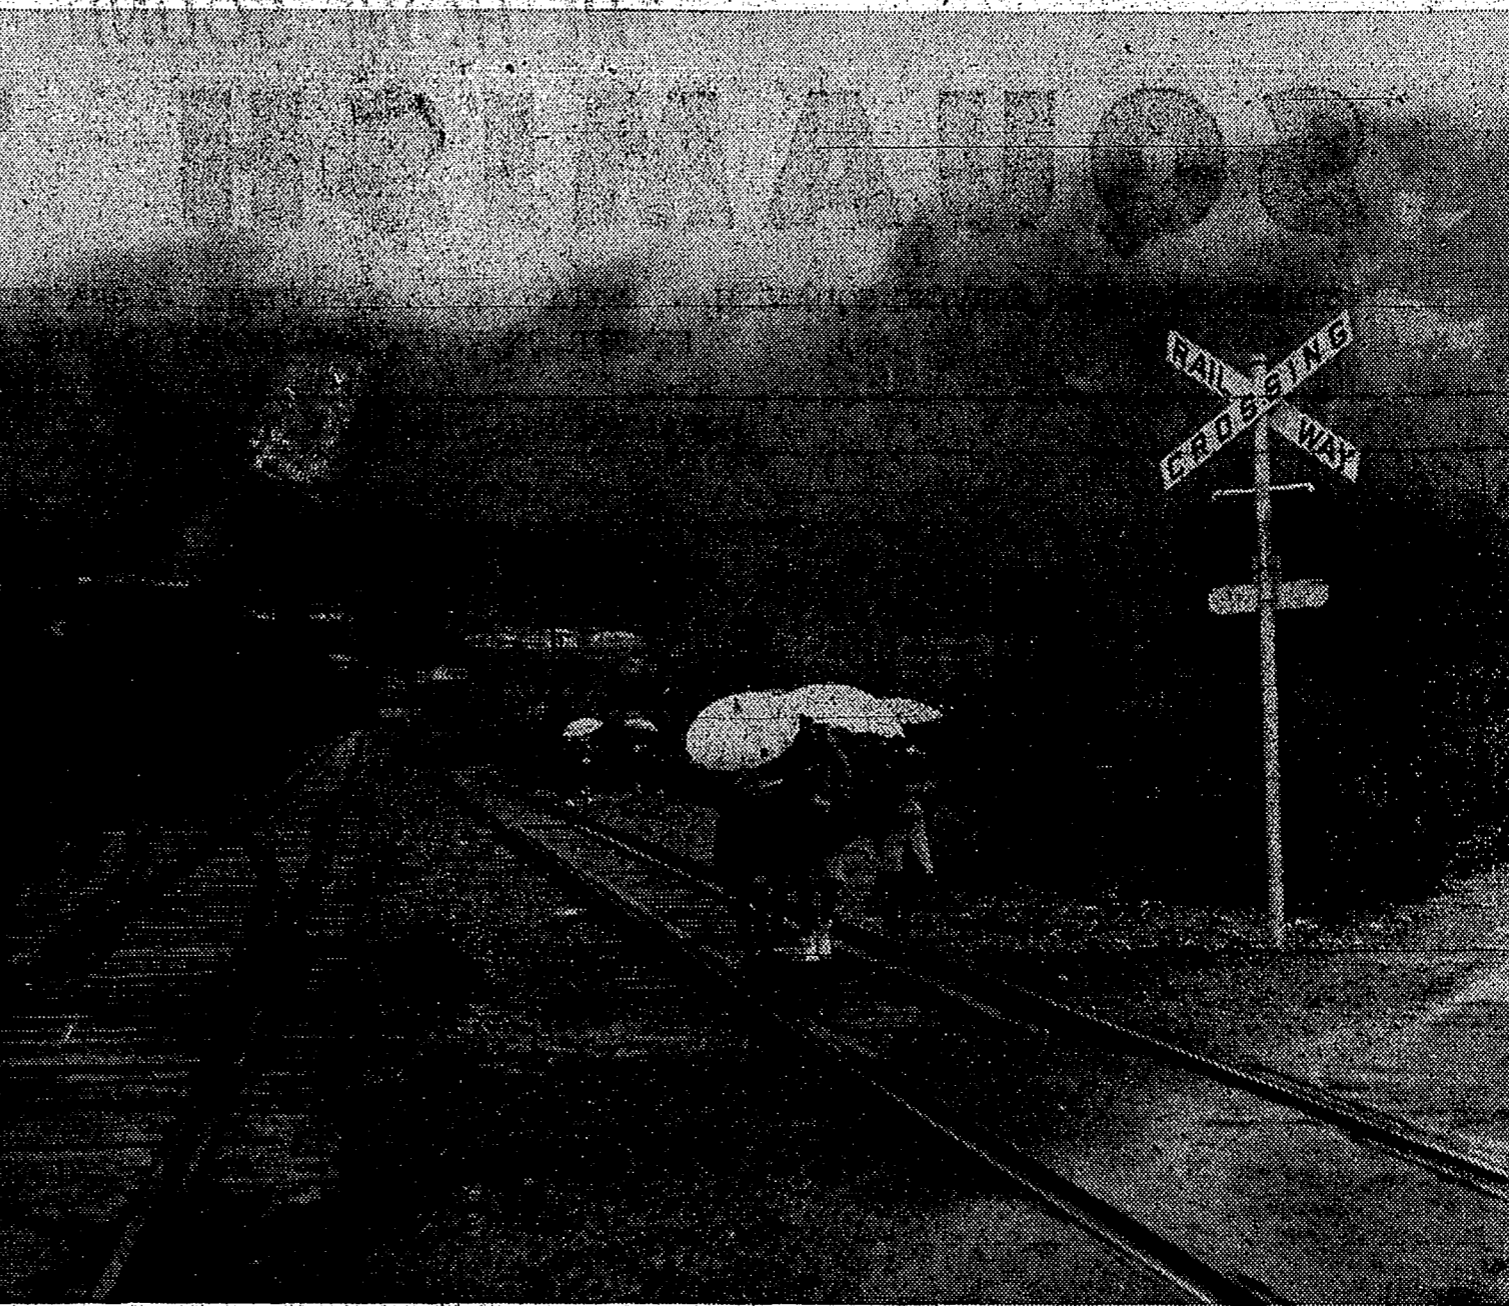

Driver failures, not the car
Caused most accidents by far.
It's not the curve that takes the toll,
But the heavy foot on the speed control.

As the sun goes down (and so does the liquor),
The road toll rises a great deal quicker.

No doubt where the responsibility lies.

Often times, complaints written by citizens to their local newspaper, if logical and in good faith, are more apt to get results than through other "more official" means.

The editorial pages of the Squamish Times are usually designed to stimulate interest and opinion. We, therefore, try to attain this by presenting as much varied thought and discussion as possible.

THE RAIN and the railway tracks may some day be just a memory to these girls but for now it is the shortest route between their homes and the Squamish schools. One odd thing about these girls is how they huddle under their umbrellas for protection from the camera.

Perrault tables figures

Government failed in vocational training

British Columbia educational facilities and the people who would use them have been cheated by the action of the provincial government in not taking advantage of the federal government's vocational school subsidy plan, Ray Perrault, Liberal leader and member for this riding, said.

In speeches before the Trustees' convention in Victoria recently and at meetings on the Lower Mainland, Perrault has revealed how vocational training facilities have been lost through action of the Social Credit government.

Perrault pointed out that the federal government announced on April 1, 1961, that it would assume 75 percent of the cost of new vocational school construction completed before March 31, 1963, and after that date, the national subsidy would drop to 50 percent.

"There was every reason for British Columbia to move into the field vigorously to take full advantage of the offer," Perrault said.

"Not only is vocational training a vital need for the people of this province, but a major program of vocational school construction would have been of great help to B.C. unemployed construction workers."

ONTARIO GOES AHEAD
Perrault tabled figures to show that as of August, 435 projects had received approval with an estimated cost of 418 million dollars, providing new places for 122,000 students.

Ontario will spend $277 million and under the plan 75 percent will be paid by the federal government.

Here is only part of the Ontario plan: 21 new schools; 16 additions to vocational schools; 19 new complete schools; 41 vocational additions to composite schools, 88 vocational additions to high schools.

What has been done in British Columbia?
"A record of abject and utter failure," claimed Perrault.

"Even if we were to achieve some sort of a construction miracle overnight, B.C.'s program under the 75 percent subsidy offer would amount to a relatively meagre $15 million, with, perhaps, some 3,750,000 paid by the B.C. government and the rest by Ottawa."

Perrault laid the blame on the shoulders of the government.

FAILED TO REALIZE
"To begin with, Mr. Peterson (minister of education) and Mr. Bennett failed to recognize the enormous potential of the offer and started far too late to plan."

"When we did plan, it was on a 'small bore' basis. When their plans were drawn up, they ran into a summertime cash shortage."

"As a result, the premier obviously ordered a 'go slow' policy which simply means that we're not going to meet the March 31, 1963 deadline and we're going to receive, not 75 percent, but only 50 percent from the federal government for construction completed after that date."

Perrault said the School Trustees Association and school trustees as such were not consulted when this decision was made.

The government of Alberta a few months ago announced that it would assume the entire 25 percent remaining cost of construction and equipment. Ontario is doing the same.

Party for Belinda

Fifteen friends gathered at the home of Belinda Hololen on November 4 to celebrate her seventh birthday. Bingo was played and refreshments of hot dogs, cookies, icecream and birthday cake served at the gay party.

Guests were Wendy Shurtteworth, Marie Arkinstal, Carol Hansen, Lisa McCall, Debbie Hoodkoff, Sharon and Valerie Dyck, Frances, Peter and Diane Cartwright, Norma Cripps, Gordon-MacDonald, Brett Gardiner and Van and Kim Hololen.

NO BOARD SHOULD REFRAIN

It was a wistful cry from Dr. G. F. McNally, chairman of the National Vocational and Technical Training advisory council, to the trustees' convention.

"I submit, ladies and gentlemen, that no wide-awake and self respecting school board could refrain from sharing in such a deal as this—for example, the City of Edmonton gets three vocational high schools and if Jasper Place is concluded, four such schools at a total cost of nearly $9 million, all 'for free' so far as the local boards are concerned."

The Royal Commission on Education, chaired by Dean Chant, recognized the importance of vocational training.

What has been Bennett's policy?
"To take an inadequate amount of the 'no limits' federal funds available and to build centrally located, large technical and vocational institutions at various points in B.C.—directly; controlled by Victoria and operated outside the sphere of school board authority," Perrault said.

An irresistible power is always at work in the life of anyone who comes to be in Christ. Though the power is sometimes unobtrusive like the perfume of the violet, sometimes penetrating like a light upon a hill, it is never inactive.

If we are in Christ, we are never inactive. If our lives are committed to Him; there is no question as to the effect our lives have upon others.

PRAYER
O God, who hast called us to be ambassadors for Thee, help us to remember that today we shall meet some people and work with others who do not know Thee. Grant us the grace to live this day so that Thy name shall be glorified. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Ottawa Diary

Opposition Leader Pearson recently asked Prime Minister Diefenbaker "Whether he could assure this House that Canada was being consulted by its major allies."

His question focussed attention on one aspect of the Cuban crisis which has caused a great deal of concern, not only in Parliament, but throughout Canada.

Throughout the post-war period Canada, like many other middle class powers, has protested vigorously against a tendency on the part of the super powers to make important decisions, which could take the world to the very brink of all-out war, without their prior knowledge or consent.

Nor has this concern been limited to the smaller powers. At the time of the Suez crisis, the Anglo-French intervention was criticized by the United States — so sharply in fact that a prompt withdrawal became necessary.

With these circumstances in mind the North Atlantic Treaty Organization set up a committee of "three wise men" to see what could be done to ensure greater cooperation and a more statesmanlike approach to urgent problems of this kind. The committee strongly advocated "collective decisions on matters of common interest". This, it said, would "ensure that no action is taken by one member without a knowledge of the views of the others."

One of the three wise men who wrote this report was the present Leader of the Opposition, the Honourable Lester Pearson.

The Diefenbaker government is concerned about this break down in communications. The New Democratic Party is openly critical of President Kennedy's action on Cuba. So far, the only group in the House which has not paid much attention to this matter is Social Credit. Its members have confined their efforts to monetary reform.

KITCHEN KAPERS

—by PEG TINNEY

Start them in the morning so that if you're rushed at night you can still serve a tasty meal.

Complete meals-in-a-dish are a must for home-makers who are busy with special interests outside the home.

Dishes which can be served as a complete meal, without side vegetables or salad, are useful to add to recipe files for such emergencies.

Probably the most important advantage of these types of dishes is that they can be started early in the day. When Mother gets home all she needs to do is add the vegetables — which can be ready too — and cook about 20 minutes.

She will be proud to serve such a tasty, attractive and nutritious meal. And it saves on dishes, since it is cooked in only one pan.

STUFFED PORK CHOPS

- 4 double pork chops
- 2 tsp. butter or margarine
- 2 tsp. finely-chopped onion
- 1 cup chopped celery, with leaves
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. poultry seasoning
- 1/2 tsp. pepper
- 2 cups soft bread crumbs
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 green pepper, cubed
- 6 carrots, sliced
- 4 medium potatoes, sliced
- 1 cup water

Have butcher cut pocket in chops for stuffing. Melt butter in heavy skillet. Add onion, celery, 1/4 tsp. salt, poultry seasoning, 1/4 tsp. pepper and half of bread crumbs. Cook gently until onion is tender, stirring constantly. Add to remaining crumbs and toss lightly.

Cut excess fat from chops. Stuff with bread mixture and fasten opening securely with toothpicks. Combine flour, 1/2 tsp. salt and 1/4 tsp. pepper and dip chops into mixture to coat both sides.

Heat some of fat cut from chops in heavy skillet and brown chops well on both sides. Add 1/2 cup water, cover tightly and cook gently until chops are tender, about 1 hour. Turn occasionally and add more water if necessary.

Add vegetables and remaining 1 cup water. Cover again and cook until vegetables are tender, about 20 minutes. Serves four.

Letters To The Editor

Editor, Squamish Times:
Winners of the Howe Sound Soccer League draw last week were: W. L. Murphy, Paul Christensen and Anne Boscafiol.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who participated in this draw which will help us to get equipment that is desperately needed when the regular soccer season gets under way in February.

We would also like to see a few more spectators out after the New Year. The boys are playing good ball and would probably put in more effort with more support from their parents.

We would like to thank the Pup and Sulphite members who donated $50. to the soccer league to help buy equipment.

If there is anyone in the district who would be interested in coaching or helping out in any way would they please phone 892-3927.

There is an over abundance of boys and not enough coaches to train them properly. Howe Sound Soccer League

MICHAEL MANSON, standing before head table and facing over 100 guests at the East Howe Sound Boy Scouts Association annual banquet at Paradise Valley, thanks leaders, group committees and the district council for making Scouting possible. He is a cub with 3rd Squamish Pack.

Story hour draws kids to library

The first Story Hour was held in the Squamish Public Library for children eight years old and under, Saturday morning, Nov. 17, at 11 a.m.

A dozen or more young people arrived to listen with rapt attention to three typical stories for the young: L. C. Minchin read the story of Big Mac, the baby moose who was the friend of a lonely French-Canadian boy until the day Mac became too big for the small farm.

Mrs. F. Munro delighted her audience with the tale of a colt who raced a train and how people rallied to feed the animal when heavy snow left it marooned on a rocky outcrop. "Little Toot", the story of the little tugboat who was such a nuisance to the other boats in the river, rounded out the program.

The young patrons were given a brief instruction as to the purpose of libraries and how to use the facilities available.

The library staff hopes to hold another such Story Hour during the Christmas holidays.

Marital rites at St. John's

St. John's Anglican Church was decorated with white chrysanthemums, pink carnations and silver sprayed Ponderosa pine for the wedding of Dianne McPherson to Kenneth Ray Vanderberg, November 10, at 7 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle McPherson and the groom is the son of Mrs. Richard Vanderberg of Red Deer, Alta.

The Rev. C. H. Gibbs conducted the ceremony.

Dianne is a graduate of Howe Sound High and, from three years at UBC's College of Education. Her husband took a two-year electrical course at the Provincial Institute of Technology and Art at Calgary, Alta.

For her wedding the bride wore a full length white satin gown with a high cut neckline and belted skirt. A brief lace overblouse stopped short of the waist and her bouffant veil was fastened with a pearl crown. She carried a bouquet of white roses. Her only jewelry was a pearl drop.

Bridesmaids, Miss Pamela Proctor of Mission and Miss Jean Marsh of Squamish, wore a shorter version of the bridal gown in pink, omitting the overblouse, with matching hats and shoes. They carried white chrysanthemums and wore crystals, gifts from the bride.

Assisting the groom was best man Hilary Taschuk and usher Robert McPherson and Frank Green.

For her going away costume the bride wore a two-piece dress in red wool crepe, a white maribou hat, kid gloves, black patent shoes and bag.

The young couple will live in Vancouver, 4098 West 34, after their honeymoon at Harrison Hot Springs.

The reception was held in the Elks Hall and Larry Dent was toast master.

Out of town guests were: Mrs. Hazel Vanderberg and Les, mother and brother of the groom from Alberta; his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lewis and daughter, Jody, Alberta; his aunt and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCullagh and son, Mervin, Sooke, B.C.

Relatives of the bride were: her grandmother Mrs. C. L. McPherson, Vancouver; her aunt Miss Dorothy Luck, Richmond.

Federal beer tax not just suds

Canadian government revenue from beer sales in 1961 was $225,000,000, according to a survey of the economic importance of the brewing industry just completed.

Since the end of World War Two the brewing industry in Canada, owned and controlled by more than 40,000 shareholders (almost all Canadians), has paid more than $2,000,000,000 (two billion dollars) in taxes to the federal government alone. Translated into practical terms the $225,000,000 taxes paid last year are sufficient to pay: • All expenditures of the Federal Department of Agriculture, including payments to western grain producers, freight assistance on western feed grains, assistance for storage and the Prairie Farm Emergency Fund, or

• One half the cost of all Unemployment Insurance claims, or

• The total of all provincial spending for the aged, the unemployed and the unemploy-

Calgary, which had a population of 279,062 in its metropolitan area at the time of the 1961 census, nearly doubled its population in the 1951-1961 period and in the decade had the largest proportionate increase of any of Canada's four major cities.
