SQUAMISH, B.C. — THURSDAY, DECEMBER 20, 1962

10 Cents Per Copy

Christmas Greetings

CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS made by Guides and Brownies are featured here at their tea and sale, December 15, in the Parish Hall. From left are Guide Barbara Goss, Capt. Margaret Applin-

Flouch, Gaye Bouwman, Brownie Gerry Thom, Mrs. C. E. Tatlow and Patricia Mahood.

All streets now named in village

Some in honor of oldtimers

Some new streets in the village and some old ones were given names at the December 11 meeting of Squamish council.

All existing streets are now named and council is proceeding with plans for house numbering to be done this winter.

No particular pattern was followed in the naming because the unnamed streets were scattered all over town. Some were named after residents, past and present, and some were named to suit their location.

Veteran commissioner Stan Clarke who retires from council this year, has the street that runs from the highway at the Forestry Station through Southridge, up Hospital Hill and leading down into the new Valleycliffe subdivision named after him. He was not at the meeting.

Former commissioner Frank Scott is honored with Scott Crescent, which turns left off the Red Bridge and goes up the hill past the auto court.

McNamee Place is that short dead-end off Wilson Crescent on which Roy McNamee lives.

Carson Place is another short street running from Cleveland Avenue to the end of the swimming pool property just past the high school. This continues on to River Road. What is commonly known as River Road is not a registered street because it belongs to the PGE. It is on this road that George Carson lives.

Wilson Crescent will be the complete crescent, looping around from Harold Bailey's to Wilson Crescent Centre.

Galbraith Avenue runs from the end of Vancouver Street at the small boat harbor to the Government wharf. Galbraith was one of the pioneer hotel owners here and the building now used as a bunkhouse by Canadian Collieries was his.

Daly Place is a short cul-de-sac running from the Pemberton Road railway crossing to the east dyke on which the Magees live. Daly was an engineer who did some early surveys in Squamish.

Northridge Drive starts at the entrance to Northridge subdivision and curves to the right and along the ravine at the extreme north-east corner.

Vista Crescent will be the street running along the bluff of the subdivision and joining Northridge Drive near where Street used to live and Paul Drenka now lives.

View Place is the dead end street in the lower section in front of the bluff in Northridge subdivision.

Hospital Place is the short street on which Flacks live and crossing Clarke Drive up to the hospital.

Harbor View turns off Clarke Drive to the homes of Fred Collins and Vic Long.

No "TIMES" Dec. 27

There will be no publication of The Times between Christmas and New Years. The Squamish office will be closed from December 22 to January 2. Next edition will be January 3.

The management and staff of The Times takes this opportunity to wish readers and advertisers a Merry Christmas and a Prosperous New Year.

Sawmill opens Jan. 21

Official opening of Canadian Collieries new sawmill at Squamish is slated for January 21, several months ahead of the contract date of March, 1963.

The Hon. Ray Williston, minister of lands and forests, and company directors will attend.

Plans for putting a couple of logs through last Friday were thwarted by a faulty air compressor.

Britannia school to be enlarged

Approval to add one classroom to Britannia Beach Elementary School has been received from Victoria.

Awaiting approval are plans for a duplex teacherage for Britannia. Tenders for the classroom are not being called until after the new year in the hopes that both jobs can be called at the same time.

The classroom is part of the $200,000 school building program in the June 2 referendum. The teacherage had the voter's approval at the same time. It is part of the $57,000 non-sharable referendum.

For Britannia

Mrs. Kay Pickard joins school bd.

There will be one new trustee, Mrs. Kay Pickard of Britannia Beach, on the school board in 1963. T. B. M. Fougberg, trustee for Pemberton village, is back on the board after a two-year absence.

Mrs. Pickard was elected by Britannia attendance area representatives for one year to complete the term of Len Allan who has moved out of the district.

Re-elected by representatives for two-year terms were Mrs. Myrtle Philip as trustee for Squamish rural and Alta Lake, and C. P. Kirson for Woodfibre.

Other trustees with one year to go are Mrs. Ben Cherry, Pemberton rural, and H. H. Bailey, Squamish village. W. V. Manson, chairman of the board, and Squamish village trustee, was re-elected in December for a two-year term. Committees and chairman for new year will be chosen at the first meeting in January.

Holiday road blocks

Periodic road blocks by Squamish district police, started a week ago, will continue throughout the holiday season.

According to Sgt. H. T. Routledge the blocks may be set up anywhere in the detachment area which extends south to Sunset Creek on the Squamish - Vancouver highway.

December 27 & 28
 Dental Clinic commences at Squamish Elementary School. Please return forms and fees immediately.

Park completion gets council nod

Major park improvement in the park adjacent to the high school has been authorized by Squamish village council as part of winter works program.

Permanent gravel access roads are to be built, especially to the covered kitchens, and side trails will lead to camping and picnic areas.

The sheltered kitchens and washrooms were a Lions Club project completed last summer. Camping and picnic sites will be cleared to the extent of grubbing roots from the soil in preparation for grass seeding.

Council felt that this method would be best to keep the park free from underbrush and to encourage use of the area. The intention is to have the work completed so that the park is finished and usable for next season.

A provincial park planner will be giving advice on layout.

The Peace Of Understanding...

This is the time of year for the Christmas editorial but there doesn't seem to be much to say that hasn't been said before. "Peace on earth, goodwill to men" succinctly expresses the hope of millions today as it must have done when it was authored many Christmases ago. We are saddened to say that the message is now, perhaps, more apt than ever.

Man has learned much over the years but, on the whole, he seems incapable of achieving peace. Is it an illusion or is it obtainable?

One might think that if everyone were to practice the golden rule, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you," there would be no chance for discord to arise. But this won't work because one man's conception of how much he should do unto another may be far short of the other's expectations. The golden rule doesn't provide us with this information and yet, our dependence on another may be such as to leave a deep hurt and discontent.

The solution, it would seem, is to acquire a sufficiency adequate to meet one's needs, so that the appropriation of others is of less importance than knowing that you have done your best and will continue to do so.

This is a hard road to peace but peace will be an illusion as long as we depend on others for it. We must learn to understand and depend on ourselves and in so doing may we hope to understand others.

But there is joy, still, in this troubled world and our wish to you, dear reader, is that it may not be too fleeting.

Santa Claus Forever...

This is the time of year when someone begins dumping psychological salt in the sentimental sugar bowl over Santa Claus.

For a while the professional headshrinkers had us all convinced that anyone who loved Mother was a 98-pound mental weakling. It should be no shock then, to learn that there are still some people in the world who have tried to give lumps to Santa Claus.

One of our own west coast citizens, Dr. Brock Chisholm has expounded: "Any child who believes in Santa has had his ability to think permanently injured."

A gent named Sereno claimed that children are forced to believe in Santa against their will. Santa, he claims, was created by adults to delight adults.

This will be news to harassed parents who, chivvied by whining small fry, buck the Christmas mob so the little monsters may sit on Santa's knee and whisper their heart's desire into his aching ear.

Sereno also expressed the view that Santa is hammered into children by parents who suffer a chronic anxiety about being worthy of their children's love. After an exhausting day of diapers or delinquency most parents take an opposite view. They wonder if the little darlings are worthy of any parental affection.

A Kansas parson, a Rev. Fehsenfeld, denounced Santa as a dirty lie, and some members of his congregation took him to court to force a retraction. Another minister said, "Santa is a modern representative of Santa's earliest effort to produce an anti-Christ."

If this is true, then we publish the New York Times.

George Bernard Shaw once snorted, "Santa be blown!" Hitler barred Santa from Germany and there was the American, Glenn Voliva, who besides believing the world was flat, barred Santa from Zion, Illinois.

Against such nonsense there is clear evidence. The happy saint is a symbol of what all men of good will know in their hearts. The greatest joy is giving, the most blessed gift is of oneself.

On Christmas morn we may weep for those tortured few who have never learned that there is, indeed, a Santa Claus.

Christmas Tree Fire Safety Tips...

Millions of Canadian families in the next few days will be buying Christmas trees and decorating them for the holiday season.

Unless care is taken, this happy symbol of the holiday season can bring tragedy, warns the Canadian Underwriters' Association.

These suggestions are offered by the C.U.A. to keep your Christmas tree fire-safe:

1. When you buy a Christmas tree, choose one which appears fresh. Before you buy the tree, run your hand over the needles to make sure they are firmly attached. If needles fall when brushed, the tree is dry and you should select another one.

2. When you get the tree home, keep it outdoors until you are ready to decorate it. You can keep it fresh by standing it in a pail of water.

3. You should wait until just before Christmas before setting up the tree.

4. You should place the tree in the coolest part of the room, away from radiators, heaters and the fireplace. This will keep the tree from drying, and reduce the chance of fire.

5. Your Christmas tree stand should be of the type equipped with a water container in which the trunk can rest. Fresh trees will "drink" a sizeable amount of water, and you should fill the water container daily.

6. Only flameproof decorations should be used on the tree—those made of glass, metal or fire-resistant material.

7. Use only electric lights to illuminate the tree and be sure to check light strings before placing them on the branches. Those with frayed wires should be thrown away. If you buy a new set, select a type that bears the Underwriters' Laboratories label.

8. The switch controlling the tree lights should be some distance from the tree.

9. Electric trains — part of Christmas in many homes — should be set up away from the tree. Sparks from toy trains could be fire hazards.

10. Lights on Christmas trees always should be turned off when everyone is away from home.

11. Check the tree frequently for dryness. In particular, check tree needles near lights. If they have started to turn brittle, change the position of the lights.

12. When needles become so dry they start falling, take the tree down at once and put it outdoors.

13. When Christmas presents are opened, the gift wrappings you intend to keep should be folded and put away. Other paper, ribbon and boxes should be gathered up and thrown away promptly.

14. Even if the tree still appears to be fresh, take it down the day after New Year's.

15. Merry Christmas!

Have An Escape Plan...

Every household from Capilano Highlands to Lions Bay, 14 miles west, will be preparing for last minute details for Christmas. While the main thought will be on giving, some time should be spent on safety within the home.

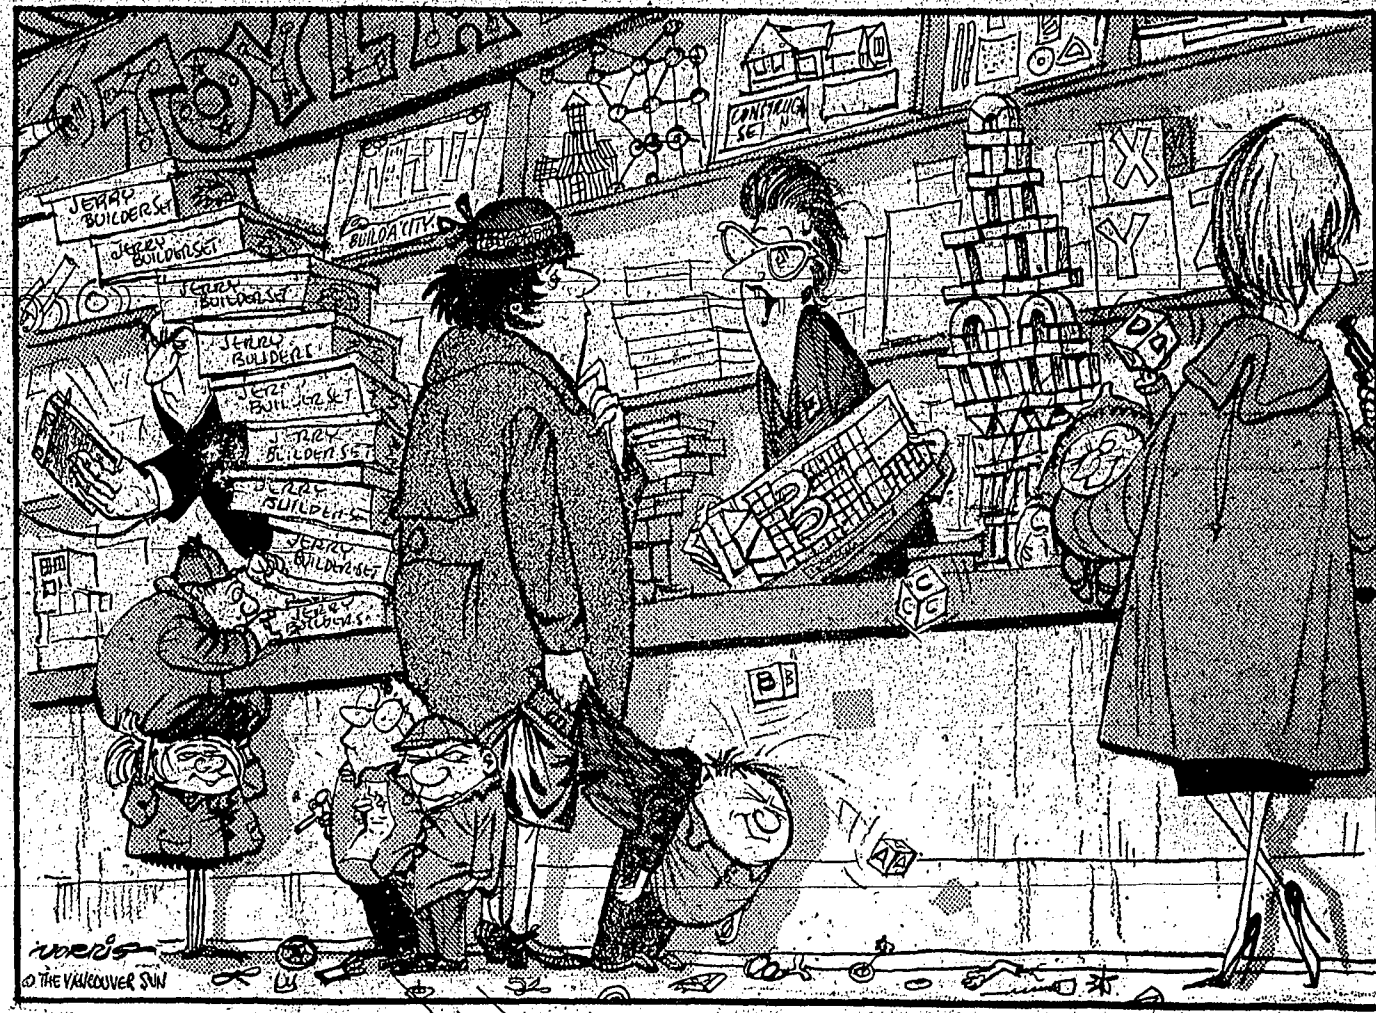

This is a mundane subject, but very necessary. Every family should have an escape plan, worked out in advance, with at least two different routes of escape.

In the case of fire, particularly at night, it is possible for anyone to become confused if an escape route is not known in advance. Be sure to tell overnight guests of the plan. When attending church, be sure to instruct anyone who may be left at home how to evacuate quickly and easily.

Everyone, including little children and elderly people, should be able to get out of the average one-family house in less than a minute.

In an apartment house, both members of the family and guests should be familiar with front and back exits, and how to find the fire escape quickly, if the building has one.

"Sights and insights"

Book by North Shore pair pays homage to city

by Poppy McKenzie

"Vancouver: sights and insights", published by Macmillan of Canada, is an act of homage to the city and those who made it by two North Shore residents, George Kuthan and Don Stainsby.

While it is an ideal book to send to relatives in other places or for the tourist to take home as a souvenir, it is also a book to delight the Vancouverite.

Kuthan's pen and ink drawings of familiar scenes give pleasure in the recognition, and in the freshness with which he sees places we've looked at so often that familiarity has dulled perception.

of telephone wires from some drawings, but in others he hasn't neglected the juxtaposition of the beautiful with the ugly, though he concentrates on what he likes about the city.

There are occasional flashes of humour in the drawings and the arrangement of them, as well. For instance, a scene of Convocation at the University and a drawing of turkeys at the experimental farm on the same pages.

CAPSULE HISTORY, VERBAL TOURS

Text by Don Stainsby provides a capsule history of the town, and verbal tours through such places as Stanley Park, Chinatown and the PNE.

Most of the time, I found myself in agreement with Stainsby's assessment of Vancouver (though I can't agree that it is a clean city, for all the rain and sea breezes) and sometimes his prose evoked mental pictures nearly as vivid as the book's drawings.

Most amusing to a Vancouverite, is his closing dissertation on "Rain as a Way of Life."

But it is Kuthan's pen and ink sketches that are the core of the book.

CAME FROM BOHEMIA

George Kuthan lives with his wife and children (son Sasha, 6, and daughters Tanya and Katya, 4 and 2) at 1384 Hope Road in North Vancouver.

Born in Bohemia, Czechoslovakia, Kuthan was a student at the University of Prague when it was closed by the German occupation of the country. He turned then to art and spent several years in Paris before coming to Canada in 1950.

He has had a number of one-man shows since coming here, including shows at the Vancouver Art Gallery and the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria, and his line-cuts and drawings have been bought by libraries, by the Glenbow Foundation and by the B.C. Government.

His next project, he says, will be a limited edition book of line-cuts which he hopes to publish himself. The subject he refuses to reveal.

"That is what will be interesting," is his only comment.

FAMILY HERE IN EARLY DAYS

Don Stainsby, who wrote the words for "Vancouver Sights and Insights," was born in Fernie, though members of his family were living in Vancouver before the Great Fire of 1886.

He graduated from UBC and has worked for newspapers and the CBC in Vancouver and Montreal, as well as for Reuters in London.

Since 1961, Stainsby has been a free-lance writer and his current project, which he hopes with luck to finish next summer, is, to quote him, "a somewhat different history of B.C." He proposes to produce "assorted fiction" now and then for a change of pace.

Stainsby now lives "beyond the North Shore," he says, at Brunswick Beach on Howe Sound with his wife, Judy, and two small sons, Eric, 2½, and Leif, eight months old.

The property has been in when it was bought by his father, and this is the first winter the house has been occupied.

Stainsby is building it himself and remarks, "I'll still be building it for the next ten years."

Finding Jesus

Tuesday, December 25 (Christmas Day)

Read Luke 2: 1-7
Thanks be unto God for his unspeakable gift. (II Corinthians 8: 15.)

The shepherds and Magi found Jesus both in the physical sense and in the spiritual sense. They came where Jesus lay and looked upon His face. They devoutly knelt in His presence and worshipped Him.

Today we celebrate the birth of Christ. Unlike the shepherds and Magi, we cannot find Jesus in the physical sense or look upon His face. But He is everywhere on earth; in spirit, the Savior is on each continent, on every island of the sea, in every nation, in our homes, and even among the homeless. He is not far away from any of us at any time.

Since Christ is everywhere all the time, it is with expectant confidence that we can seek Him. Our attitude toward Him spells the difference between His coming into our hearts or remaining outside—even on His birthday.

This Christmas Day, let us rejoice with Paul, saying: "Thanks be to God for his unspeakable gift." We need to love Jesus Christ, admit to Him our need of redemption, and have faith in Him as the one who can save us.

PRAYER: O God, we thank Thee for Jesus whose birth we this day celebrate. Grant to us an attitude of mind that will open the way for our receiving Him into our hearts. In His name. Amen.

Thought for the Day: Finding Jesus for ourselves is our responsibility; helping others find Him, our duty. Russell Q. Chilcote (Tennessee)

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor, Squamish Times:

A recent news item in the Howe Sound - Squamish Times devoted to the activities of the Chamber of Commerce warrants a reply by this writer. I refer to your efforts to have a game reserve placed on Garibaldi Park.

In my opinion, gentlemen, you voted on a motion based on hearsay, not backed by facts.

First, as any half-informed hunter will tell you, game does not spill out over any imaginary lines designating a park or other area. They are more apt to be influenced in their actions by habitat, numbers and weather rather than the fact that it is Garibaldi Park.

You seem, also, to be suddenly interested in the safety of hikers and other recreationists. I have heard of no other recreationist being shot other than a few hunters every year throughout B.C., and not once has any Chamber of Commerce rushed to the poor hunter's protection by placing a game reserve on the area involved.

In closing, all I ask is that you gentlemen, who I trust, are normally conscientious and thoughtful, give more studious consideration to any motions placed before you that involve so many people.

JACK DAVIS Ottawa Diary

Two years ago Parliament passed a new technical and vocational training assistance act.

It attracted little attention. Yet, it may well change the face of Canada.

Behind the bill was an uneasy awareness that Canada's educational system was not providing the skills which the nation needed so badly. Surveys showed about 70 percent of all jobs require high level of technical training. Vocational programs were quite inadequate. Nor were immigrants coming in sufficient numbers to take up the slack.

Under the new Act, the Federal Government undertook to pay — until March 31, — 75 per cent of all provincial government expenditure for the construction and equipment of technical and vocational schools. The new teachers were to be trained at Ottawa's expense. And the Act also provides for 75 percent of the cost of retraining unemployed persons and 50 percent of the cost of training Canadians with physical and other disabilities.

Within the space of a few months, all provinces had agreed federal-provincial agreements of the type called for by the act, and unparalleled expansion of training facilities began.

Some 543 projects have been approved. Of these 221 are for new vocational high schools, technical schools, trade schools or institutes. There are 156 projects which involve major alterations and additions to existing schools.

The total cost of this program, so far, has been $442,000,000. Of this the Federal Government is paying no less than $235,000,000.

In all, these new facilities will provide accommodation for 130,000 more technical and vocational students.

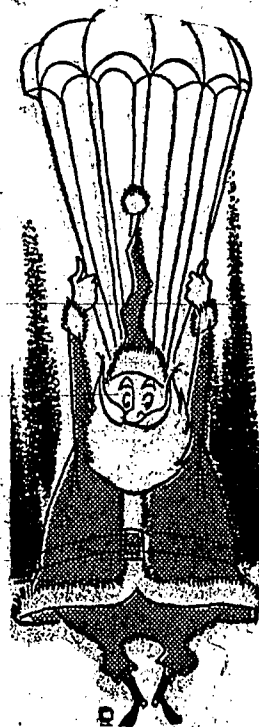

This program, unfortunately, hasn't much longer to run. After the end of next March, Ottawa will no longer pick up the tab for 75 percent of construction costs on the assumption, apparently, that enough trained people will be coming on to the labour market to look after our needs in the building, trades and equipment fields.

Paved streets throughout Squamish by end of 1963

When 1963 is over all presently existing streets in the village of Squamish will be paved. Provision is being made in next year's budget for about one mile of blacktop, the major portion of which will go on the streets of Northridge subdivision.

Other blacktopping will be on Garibaldi Avenue in Dentville, swimming pool parking area and the short street to the east dyke where Magee's live.

White gift day draws full house

White Gift service of Squamish United was attended by over 200 children and adults, filling the auditorium of Squamish Elementary School, December 16.

Near the end of the service the children brought forward their gifts and laid them before a manger scene.

White gifts consisted of canned goods wrapped in white paper. They will be put into hampers and given to needy families in the district.

To insure variety, each department of the Sunday School was asked to bring a different type of food.

This food is combined with toys, clothing and other gifts from the Anglican Sunday School and from other community organizations to make up the hampers.

Last Christmas 15 hampers were distributed.

Children and their teachers assisted in the service. Robert Rande, senior department, led in prayer; Diane Lassmann, primary, read the Scriptures; Stephen Sellers operated the projector for showing of Christmas film "When the Littlest Camel Kneel."

Billy Flack, Max Lassmann, David Bennett and Terry Nichols took the offering.

The juniors, as a group, read the Christmas story from Matthew under the direction of Mrs. Andrew Vickers.

The beginners sang "In a Little Stable" directed by Mrs. Harold Kyle.

The primary department, directed by Mrs. Harry Nichols, sang "Gentle Mary Laid Her Child." This is one of the very popular carols to be written by a Canadian. The author is the Rev. Joseph Cook, a United Church minister.

POLICE COURT

Sherwin Frank MacKay, Chilliwack, was sentenced six months for contributing to juvenile delinquency. The incidents took place in Squamish in April and May of 1962, involving a 15-year-old girl.

Ernest Stanley Harry was fined $125 for impaired driving and $125 for failing to remain at scene of accident. His driver's license was suspended for nine months.

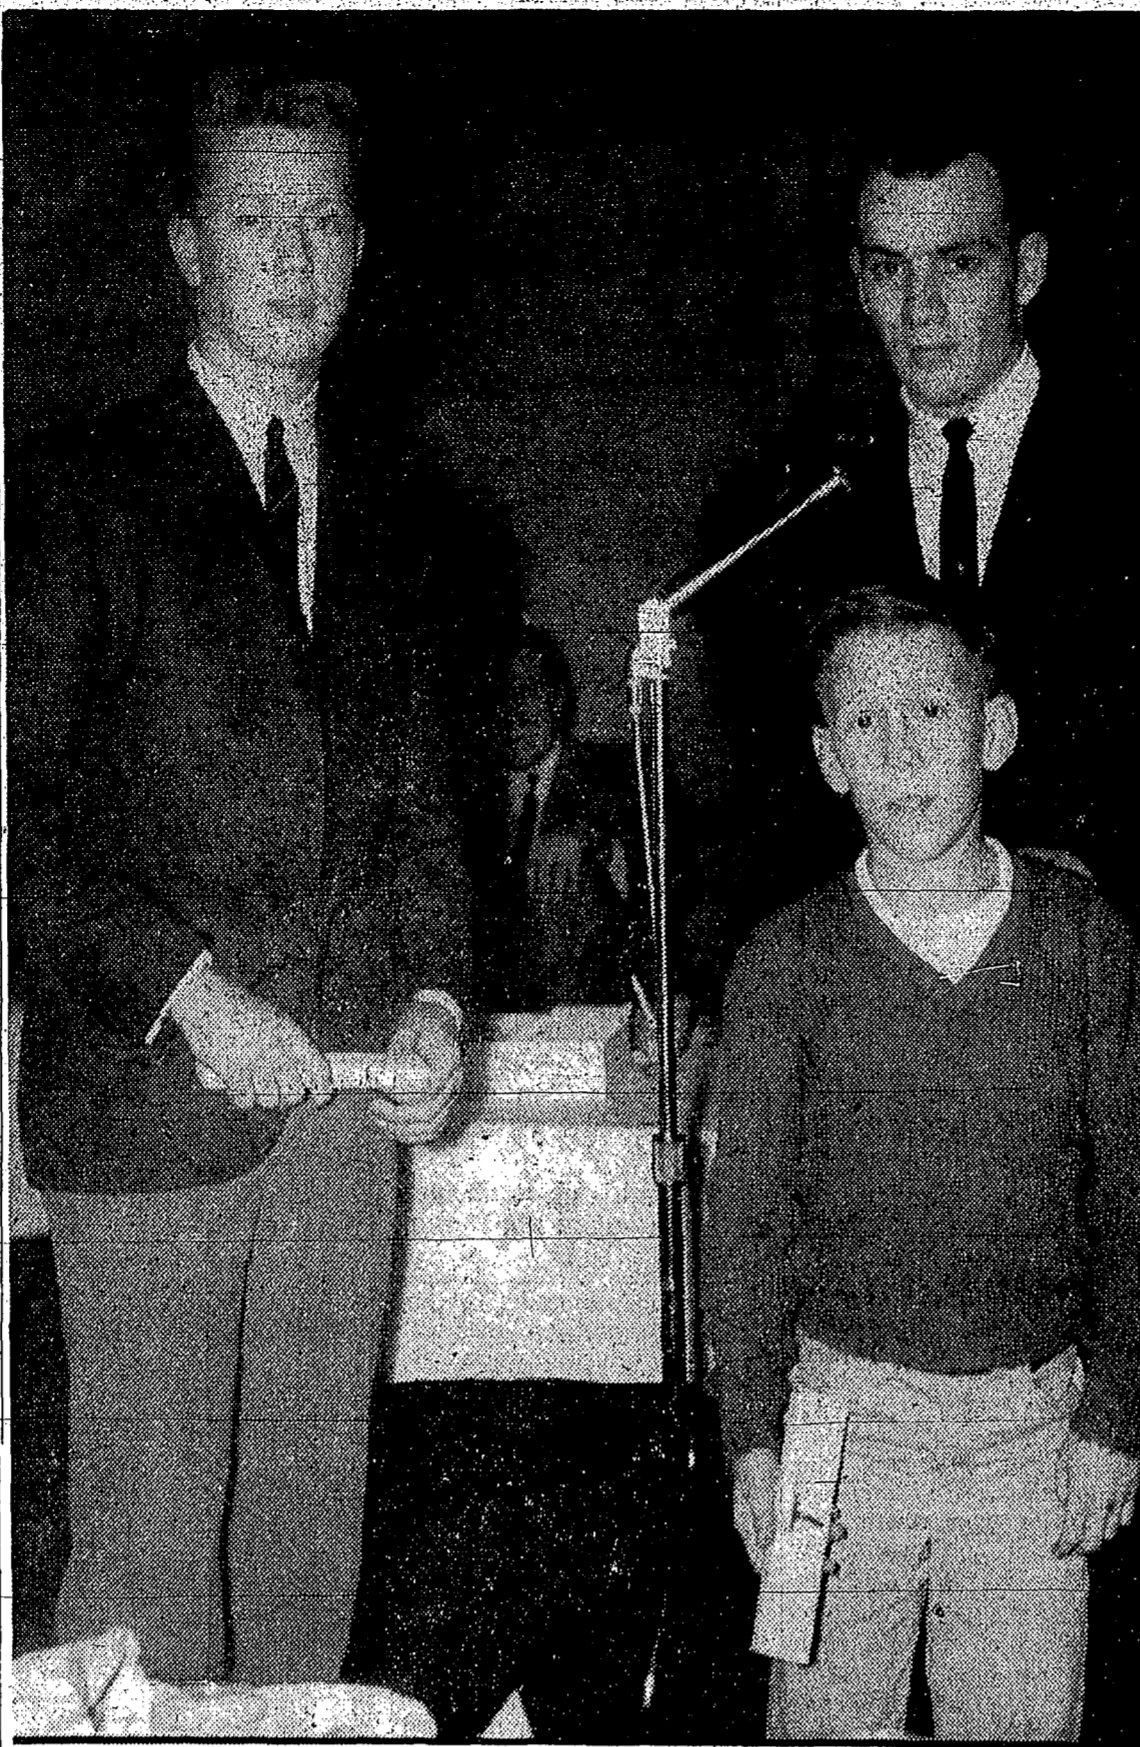

Clayton Middlemiss and James Marlowe were fined $50 and $20 respectively, for creating a disturbance at the Howe Sound Secondary School basketball game December 1. Middlemiss was fined an additional $50 for being a minor in possession of liquor.

Bruce Albert Erickson was fined $50 for being a minor in possession of liquor.

Neil John Grant, Woodfibre, in a motor accident south of Britannia Beach, December 1, was fined $125 for impaired driving and his license was suspended for 30 days.

Fluoridation dangerous leading medical men say

Dumping sodium fluoride into public water supplies is both "ridiculously costly" and "shamefully dangerous", say many top world health authorities, according to a survey of medical opinion in Liberty magazine.

"No one knows what the lifetime effects of fluoridation are," says Dr. M. B. Dymond, Ontario Minister of Health.

And endorsement by the Canadian Dental Association, and the Canadian Medical Association was made in the face of stiff condemnation not long ago by the 15,000-member Association of American Physicians and Surgeons, writer Sherwood Sugden points out.

Others who oppose fluoridation are: The Mayo Clinic, Pasteur Institute of France, New York City Water Department, famed British bio-chemist Sir Edward Mellanby, and Dr. Theorell, Swedish Nobel Prize winner.

Experiments show fluoride does decrease decay in children's teeth, 50 to 65 per cent. But, Dr. J. J. Rae, Associate Professor of Chemistry at the University of Toronto, says overdoses of fluoride may cause chronic toxicity, since it is absorbed into bones and teeth—very little being excreted.

Dr. Rae points out it is impossible to regulate concentrations of fluoride once it has been added to water supplies. Analyzing samples of Brantford, Ont. water—fluoridated since 1945—he found all samples were above or below the 10 per cent margin recommended by the World Health Organization.

"If a child under nine drinks a quart of fluoridated water a day, he'll get 40 times the maximum dosage food and drug laws permit," Dr. Rae said.

Fluoride is available in pills containing accurate daily dosages, at 35¢ a thousand. Inexpensive fluoride mouthwashes and toothpastes are also on the market. Sugden estimates a city the size of Toronto would save $140,000 annually by supplying free fluoride pills to children instead of adding fluoride chemicals to its water supply.

Underground fire out at Britannia

The mine at Britannia is just about back to normal operation after the fire which broke out in no. 8 min, December 10.

Monday morning when the smell of smoke was reported, the mine was quickly evacuated. Most came out with the regular train but the workers in Victoria mine came out by way of the surface, walking down Furry Creek logging road to the highway where they were picked up by company trucks.

Fighting the fire then became a continuous operation for four or five days. A fire underground can not be attacked in the same manner as a surface one.

The only safe way is to block off the air. When the oxygen in a confined area is burned up the fire goes out.

Water is never used. Special local mine rescue work crews were called on to seal off the area while other mine rescue teams stood by with special equipment to assist if the work became hazardous.

Meanwhile the mill, too, was shut down and most of the surface crew laid off.

Cause of the fire is still unknown.

By Monday morning of this week it is expected all men will be able to return to work.

Squamish people winners

All winners of the Grey Cup Contest conducted by Howe Sound Association for Retarded Children were from Squamish this year.

Winning first and second quarter score prizes were Max Bailey and Cliff Lear, respectively.

Third quarter and final score tickets were unsold. At a special executive meeting, December 11, it was decided that two of the sold tickets be drawn and a quarter score prize be given to each.

Lefty Hendrickson and Mrs. Owen Reeve were called and they drew two more Squamish names, Eric Anderson and Sandy King.

9th birthday for Isla

Isla Patterson was nine years old on December 7. To mark the occasion she entertained a number of her friends at a birthday party at her home in Minaty Bay.

Her guests were Norma Cripps, Christine Allison, Christine Manson, Gwennyth Mori-crief, Juliette Hoeflick, Gwen Clark, Don Hustad, Carol Hansen and Susan and Linda Patterson.

The birthday cake was more of a conversation piece than usual in that it was decorated to look like the new nine-year-old.

HERRING fishermen swarmed all over docks at small boat harbor in Squamish, December 9, as bright sunshine and myriads of the silvery little fish attracted visitors from all over Lower Mainland.

Volunteer fire brigade now has waiting list

The fire brigade of the Squamish volunteer department is up to strength and two are on the waiting list.

Four new men joined in the last month: Harvey Halvorson, Don Behner, Danny Carson and Ted Deacon. The brigade has long been short of full membership.

KITCHEN KAPERS

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL TIMES READERS

What to do with the left-over turkey, ham, etc. after Christmas and New Year's dinner, is a question we have all asked ourselves sometime or the other.

And how often has the casserole come to our rescue. They do not take long to prepare and give tired mothers a break from cooking another big meal.

This casserole uses turkey and ham, but chicken or any other left over meats may be used equally as well.

Add undiluted soup, ham, turkey and pimiento. Stir in thyme and sherry. Adjust seasoning if necessary.

Turn into greased casserole, sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees about 1 hour. Garnish with sprigs of parsley.

Makes about eight servings.

TURKEY CASSEROLE

- 1 1/2 cups sliced celery
- 6 tblsp butter
- 1 tsp salt
- 3 cups milk
- 2 cups cubed cooked ham
- 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
- 6 tblsp flour
- dash pepper
- 1 can cream mushroom soup
- 2 cups cubed cooked turkey
- 2 tblsp chopped pimiento (optional)
- 3/4 cup grated nippy cheese
- 2 tblsp sherry
- pinch thyme

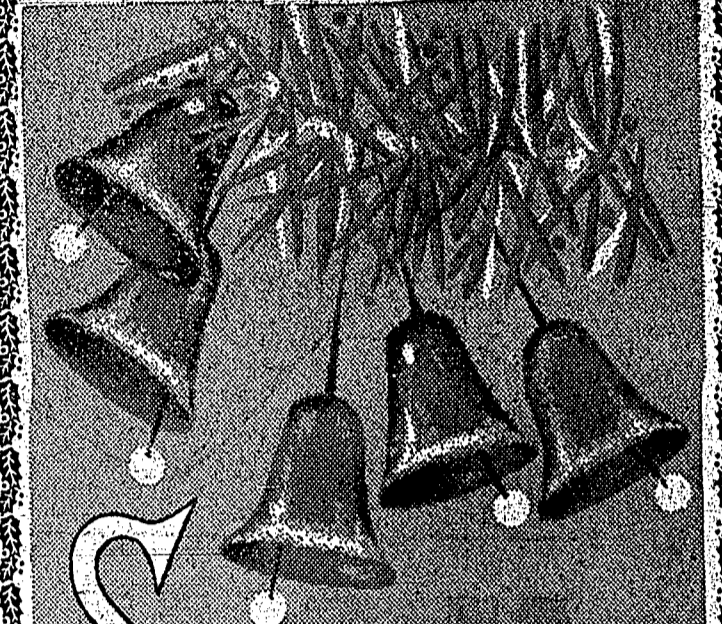

Slice celery diagonally and saute with the onion in butter until onion is transparent. Stir in flour, salt and pepper. Slowly add milk and cook and stir until smooth and thickened.

LOTS OF SURPRISES IN THE CLASSIFIED

Riprap goes on Mamquam river dyke

Heavy rock riprap is being placed along the Mamquam river dyke this week by the department of highways.

Part of the material for this job was blasted out of the rock bluffs near the river on the Rod and Gun Club's shooting range.

Rock drilling will continue at this site to prepare enough riprap for the complete job.

Bulldozers were at work last week reshaping the dyke with gravel from the river bed.

DOWN IN THE ALLEY

by J. G. Street

Since the holidays are coming nearer and nearer, strategy seems to be the order of the day at the league games.

Wives who have beaten their husbands' scores are bowling modestly, the Bantams are going all out to make their parents proud of them and the men—well, they are lapping it up!

Could be Santa Claus has something to do with all this. Next week wraps up the leagues until after New Year's and open bowling is the order of the day except—and watch this:

The management of Squamish Lanes are putting on a turkey and ham shoot on Dec. 23rd, 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.; Dec. 24, 1 p.m. and 3 p.m.; Dec. 30, 7 and 9, and Dec. 31, 1 p.m. and 3 p.m.

Anyone can win so get your entries in well in advance. The prizes are given for hidden scores and the registration fee of 50c plus $1 for 3 games is all that is required to compete for a big juicy ham or turkey.

See Ken, or Verna and get those entries in!

This week the Independents went to town with the Untouchables getting a 2826 three-game team total. Norm Barr had high three 642 and single of 244. Doreen Barr made Santa sit up and take notice with high three of 723 to tie the top of all leagues with Alice Bonde of the Royal Purple. Doreen also had 293 high single. Pull up your socks boys! The Mix-masters lead with 29 points.

The Hospital Hill men came up with 568 three-game going to Don Sanford and Joe Mulhern and Don, both having 237 high single. Eve Worthington still holds 3 for ladies with 568, Marg Flouch 191 single. The Viewridgers are on top with 21.

We see some new names coming up in the Early Birds League. Jessie Brock came up with 234 single and Jo Reeve 566 high three. Gladys Wood has high average of 156. The Mocking Birds are still in there singing with 25 points.

The Untouchables of the Bantams have 25 points and Sam McRae an average of 158. The double goes to Robt. Kuhn with 455. The girls came up with high doubles 300 to Elaine Cameron and single as well of 180.

Ron Kuhn had a good single of 267.

In the Men's Tens, Sam Bonde has 155 high average, 555 high three and tied for single 219 with Joe Skarraft. The Spares lead with 33.

The Hens Tens brought the Butterballs up with 13 and Edie Bishop took 432 for high three and 188 single. Doreen Barr has high average of 125.

The PGE League finds the Hi-ballers with 26 points, even after taking a trouncing this week. Dick Smith took 550, high three and 217 high single; Olga Kuhn 495 three-game and 220 single.

The Garibaldi Estates Credit Union have 24 points. Jim Antash has 621 three game and Clare Harvey, 236 single. The ladies came up with Shirley Halvorson high three 590 and 246 single.

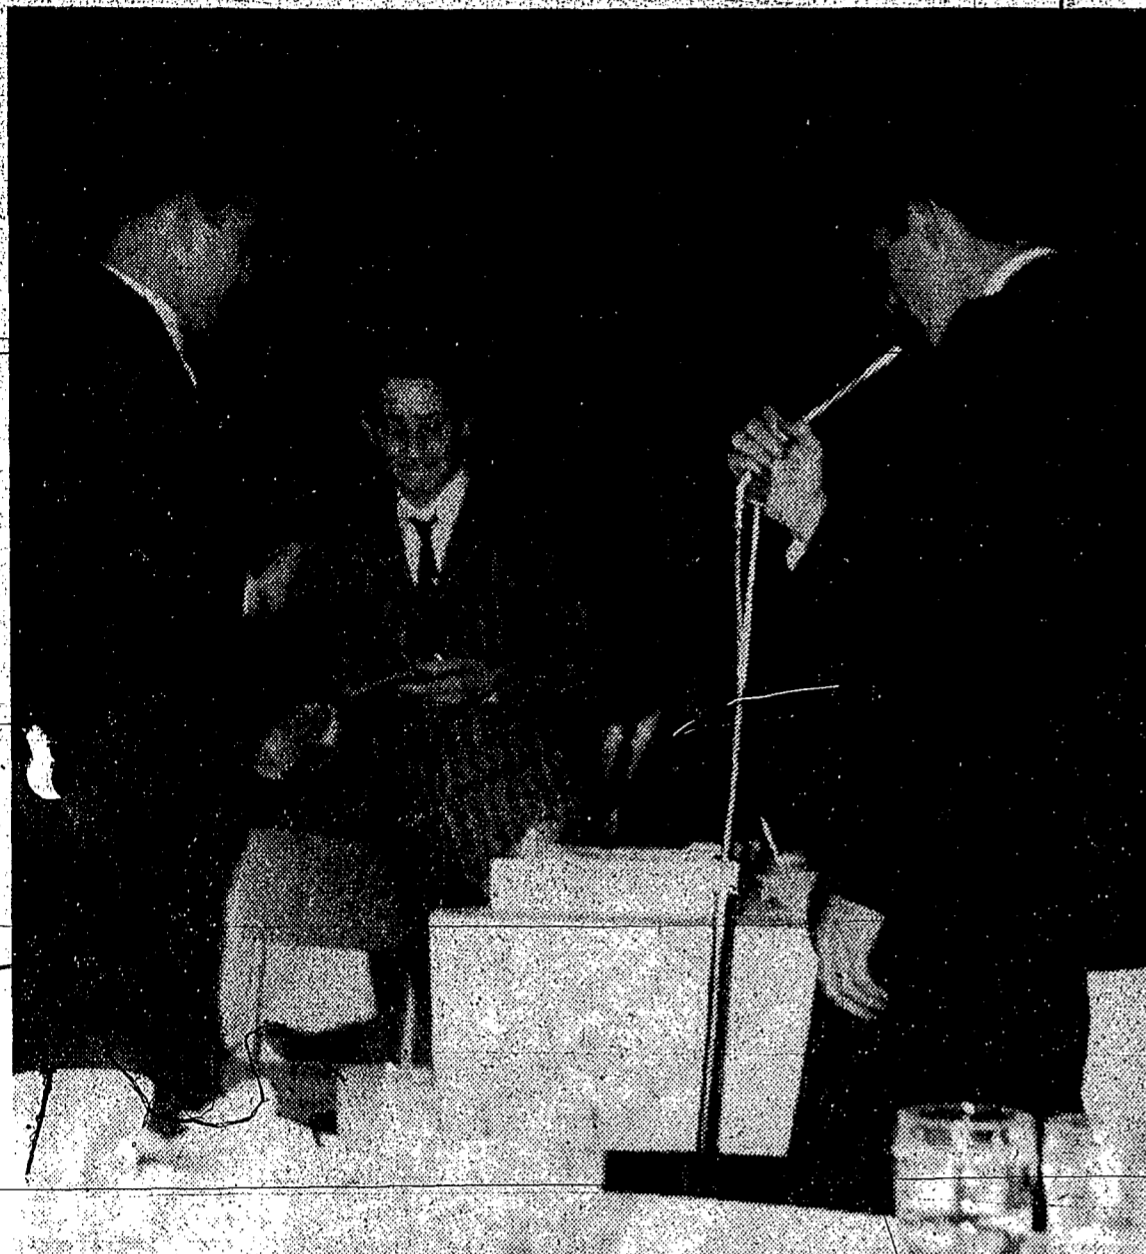

The Royal Purple feel their bowling was a bit uninteresting this week. The Bouncers have 26 points. Peg Tinney stacked up 575 high three and Crystal Hurran beat the sound barrier with 313 single. Congrats Crystal! That tops the ladies' high for all leagues. Who said the game wasn't interesting?

In the Elks, Ed Antosh had 3-game high of 658 and 279 to Bud Ellingson for high single. Donna Calverly took both high three and single with 698 and 263.

Britannia Beach League player Ollie Sherwood took 576 3-game and 250 single. Tom Croft 648 and 247. A couple of congratulations to Barb and Joyce with 161 and 181 respectively. This seemed to be the top scorers' off night, so get rollin' gang and keep the captain busy marking in those little squares!

Had no report from the Riding Club League or the Squamish League. We did notice a couple little "blow pots" in the former league last week and understand they rattle handsomely! Ken has more of these little "pots" for sale and I must say there are a few players who sure shied away from blowing.

Good bowling to all, and get your entries in for the turkey shoot.

Third annual

Football banquet fills Paradise Valley hall

Football fans and players, about 175 of them, sat down to the third annual Squamish football banquet in Paradise Valley Hall, December 12.

Titans, cheerleaders, Cardinals and former Cardinals were there.

At the head table were Alistair Mackenzie, president of the Squamish Football Association and a director of Gordon Sturridge League; Bernhard Brown, master of ceremonies; Lou Walker, coach of Howe Sound Secondary School team; Frank Johnson, offensive line coach for B.C. Lions; Tom Hinton, Lions player for four years; Rod Pantages, a Vancouver boy who has played for Calgary, Montreal, Edmonton and Regina, been in four Grey Cup games, twice on winning teams.

Also on hand were the directors of the local club: Manuel Seymour, secretary; Fred Bennett, Hap Allott, Bernhard Brown, Dick Smith, Bud Butterworth, Bill Curran, trainer.

They were thanked for their invaluable assistance by Cardinal player Mike Buchanan.

THE BROCK BOYS
Brown commended the Brock boys for giving so much of their time and energy as coaches. Lochie for the Cardinals and Dave for the Titans.

Later he amended his statement to include the four Brock boys—Archie, the father, was presented with a gift by Cardinal Art Fors for having been their most loyal fan throughout the season.

His other son, Bob, assistant coach of the Titans, received a presentation from Phillip Manson.

Victor Marks made the presentation to Dave and Mike Buchanan did the honors to Lochie.

Also making presentations, Dave Bennett to Titan manager Dick Smith; Steve Manson to Cardinal manager Bud Butterworth; Danny MacDonald to trainer Bill Curran; cheerleader Helga Helgason to chaperone Mrs. Sylvia Buchanan.

For being chosen most inspirational players of the year Art Fors of the Cardinals and Doug Robertson of the Titans received presentations from Paul Mackenzie of Mackenzie's Department Store.

GUEST SPEAKER
The message coach Frank Johnson brought to the boys was that the qualities that make a good football player are also the qualities that help to make a good man.

He stressed three points: physical condition, mental condition and moral condition. These together with a good sense of humor, he said, were more than likely to make a winning combination.

Football, he said, opens many doors but the key to the advantage behind these doors is a good education. This also, may be obtained through football and athletic scholarships.

"If you remember nothing else from this evening, remember this," exhorted Johnson, "Get an education."

Soccer men give Dober farewell

Farewell stag party for Merv Dober, ex-soccer commissioner, was given by his friends connected with soccer, December 7.

Bill Gosling acted as host and arranged the entertainment for the 15 coaches and managers that attended.

An out of town guest was Brian Edwards, Pemberton soccer coach and teacher.

Dober, school district librarian, leaves December 24 for Australia.

MRS. SYLVIA BUCHANAN received an is their chaperone. Presentation followed the football banquet at Paradise Valley, December 12. Cardinals to every game. Mrs. Buchanan

JOE HOBSON is congratulated by his coach Lochie Brock for a season of excellent play — he scored 24 touchdowns, breaking previous records. Joe was team captain.

Britannia W. A. elects officers

The December meeting of the Britannia W. A. was a dinner party at the waterfront home of Mrs. E. Fullerton at Sunset Beach.

A slate of officers for 1963 was elected. Mrs. R. Lasby will again be president of the group. Vice-president is Mrs. T. J. MacDonald. Mrs. M. Moncrieff is secretary and Mrs. W. Mitchell treasurer. The programs will be handled by Mrs. W. Hanson.

Entertainment for the evening was the viewing of slides of oriental works of art depicting various episodes in the life of Christ. They were particularly enjoyed because of their vivid coloring and unusual beauty.

Timber salvaged in watersheds

Seven million board feet of timber on 200 acres of watershed lands came toppling down during the storm of October 12-13.

ROCK DAVIS

Ottawa Diary

An important ingredient of our Parliamentary system is supposed to be free discussion, free expression of opinion, the individual in the House of Commons speaking honestly out of the beliefs of his constituents and himself — so that all the voices of our vast and disparate country may be heard and considered.

This is the theory. It is not generally the practice. The vocal politician on the hustings becomes too often, when he arrives in Ottawa, merely another repeater of the by line; a man who speaks as he speaks up at all, only in party caucus, and never to embarrass the party.

OTTO SPEAKS

It is, therefore, refreshing to have a backbencher stand up in public and tell his party some home truths, as Steven Otto, Liberal member for York East, did recently.

One may not agree with some of the proposals which Mr. Otto put forward. But his criticism of party politics in this country was right enough.

He charged the Liberal Party with failing to be a liberal party; also with refusing to take a firm stand on certain critical issues because the public might be opposed to it.

Most of us are inclined to extend these charges to cover the major party, the Conservatives. The electorate said as much in the June 18 election. Then no party offered sufficient leadership to merit a majority in the House of Commons.

N.D.P. CLEAR

Of all the political parties vying for the electorate's favor, only the New Democratic Party offers a program based on a clear political philosophy, the philosophy of Socialism; and the majority of Canadians do not want to vote for Socialism.

The two major parties, meanwhile, appear to have confused and frustrated the electorate by swapping political philosophy for political opportunism, with a strong dash of backdoor Socialism.

They no longer advocate conservatism or liberalism, but a patchwork promises born of what they think will please the voters.

Curiously enough, as June 18 demonstrated, these promises do not please the voters. Canadians want to know where they are going more than they want handouts. They can know where they are going only if their political leaders have the courage to map the road, however thorny, that must be traveled to reach their destination... that of a free and prosperous Canada.

This was revealed recently at a meeting of the administration board of the Greater Vancouver Water District by Commissioner T. V. Berry.

The commissioner told the board that 60 per cent of the timber was on lands owned by the water district, and that 1,500,000 board feet would be salvaged during the first two months of 1963. Remainder of the district-owned timber will be salvaged later in 1963.

INCOME REALIZED

At the same time, Mr. Berry revealed that a net income of $225,000 had been realized this year from the sale of logs covering salvage programs No. One and No. Two.

He said that program No. Two is progressing on schedule, and should be completed by April 15, 1963. Production on December 21 will have reached 7,250,000 board feet.

Program No. Three, calling for the removal of a further 10,000,000 board feet, is being finalized and will start May 1, 1963.

The board members also learned that construction of a perimeter wall at Little Mountain reservoir will start next week, and that pumphouse construction will start early next year.

Both projects will involve District forces, and will be carried out under the Winter Works Incentive Program.

RATES REVISED

The board also approved a revision in the 1962 water rates from 11.98 cents per 1000 gallons, to 12.26 cents per 1000 gallons. This revision was necessitated by the abnormally damp and cool summer, which reduced water consumption by approximately 2,573,000,000 gallons.

The commissioner noted that although the rate is being increased, the revised amount each member was asked to provide in 1962 would be less in all but six cases. Paying slightly more than budgeted will be District of Coquitlam, City of Port Coquitlam, Pitt Meadows, Fraser Mills, Delta and Port Moody.

HOME from the mountains at Sun Valley, Idaho — Skiers at the Union Pacific resort pass the glass-enclosed swimming pool at the Challenger Inn as they return from a day of skiing.

New truck for village

Village council approved the purchase of a new truck for municipal works at the December 11 meeting.

It will be a 4-ton Mercury costing $4400 with a 4-5 yard box and hoist at approximately $1300.

The old three-ton truck has been in use for five years and break-downs are becoming too frequent.

Businesses may get Saturday garbage service

Village council will ask Squamish merchants if they require and are willing to pay for garbage service on Saturdays.

It was reported at the December 11 meeting that some had asked that the pickup be more frequent.

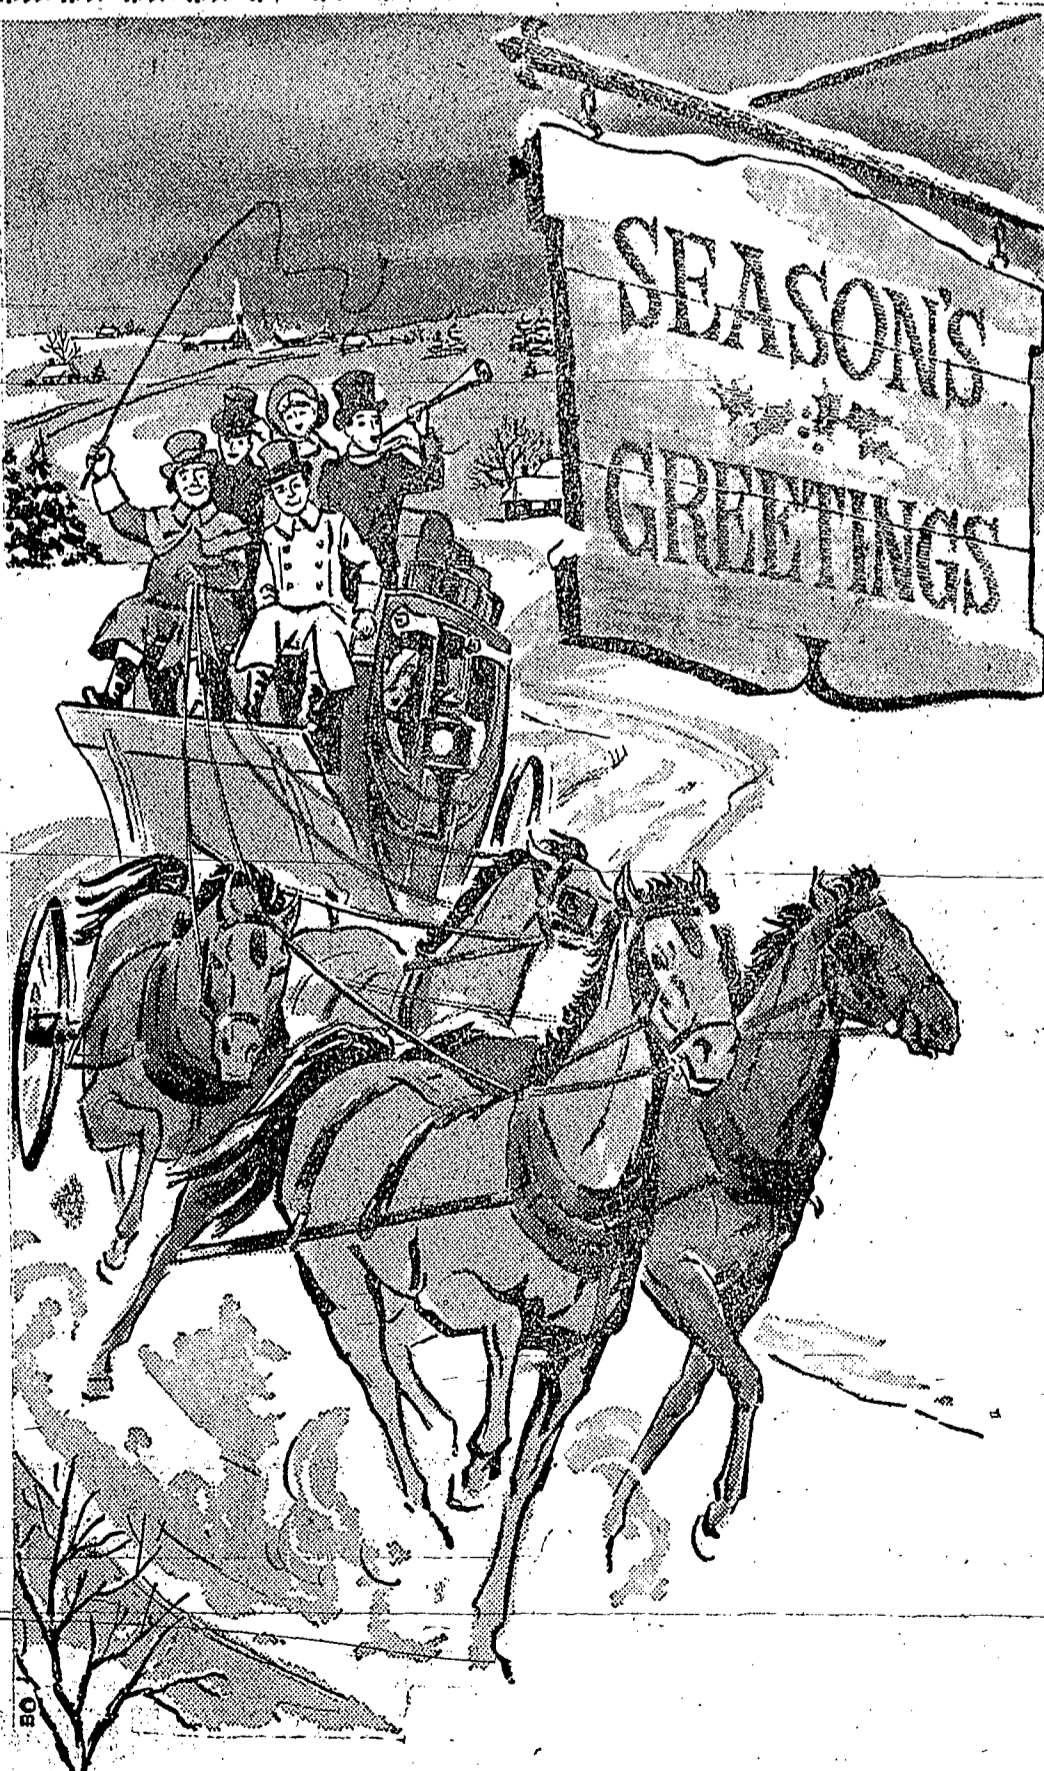

Council will consider Saturday service if those using it will pay the extra expense. This was estimated to be about $40 per Saturday for two men and the truck for four hours.

Britannia woman dies

Mrs. S. Leret, who passed away Friday morning, came to Britannia to live at Mount Sheer in August 1933. When the camp closed there, Mr. and Mrs. Leret moved to the Beach and later bought their own home in Minaty Bay.

In her 20 years in the community Mrs. Leret proved a good neighbour and a skillful worker for church bazaars and community affairs.

The sympathy of her many friends goes to the family. She is survived by her husband, "Johnny", her daughter, Margit, Mrs. Charles Arthur of Vancouver, and Agnes, at home, her grandchildren Jeanette and Vashti, and her sister, Mrs. J. Stacey of Lulu Island, an relative in Finland.

Christmas Story Hour

Young patrons who enjoyed the Squamish Library's first Story Hour last month have been looking forward to the next one. Plans have been made to hold this one on Saturday morning, December 22, at 11 a.m.

On this occasion, the stories read will be based on the timely theme of Christmas. There will be familiar old favorites and some new tales about this holiday.

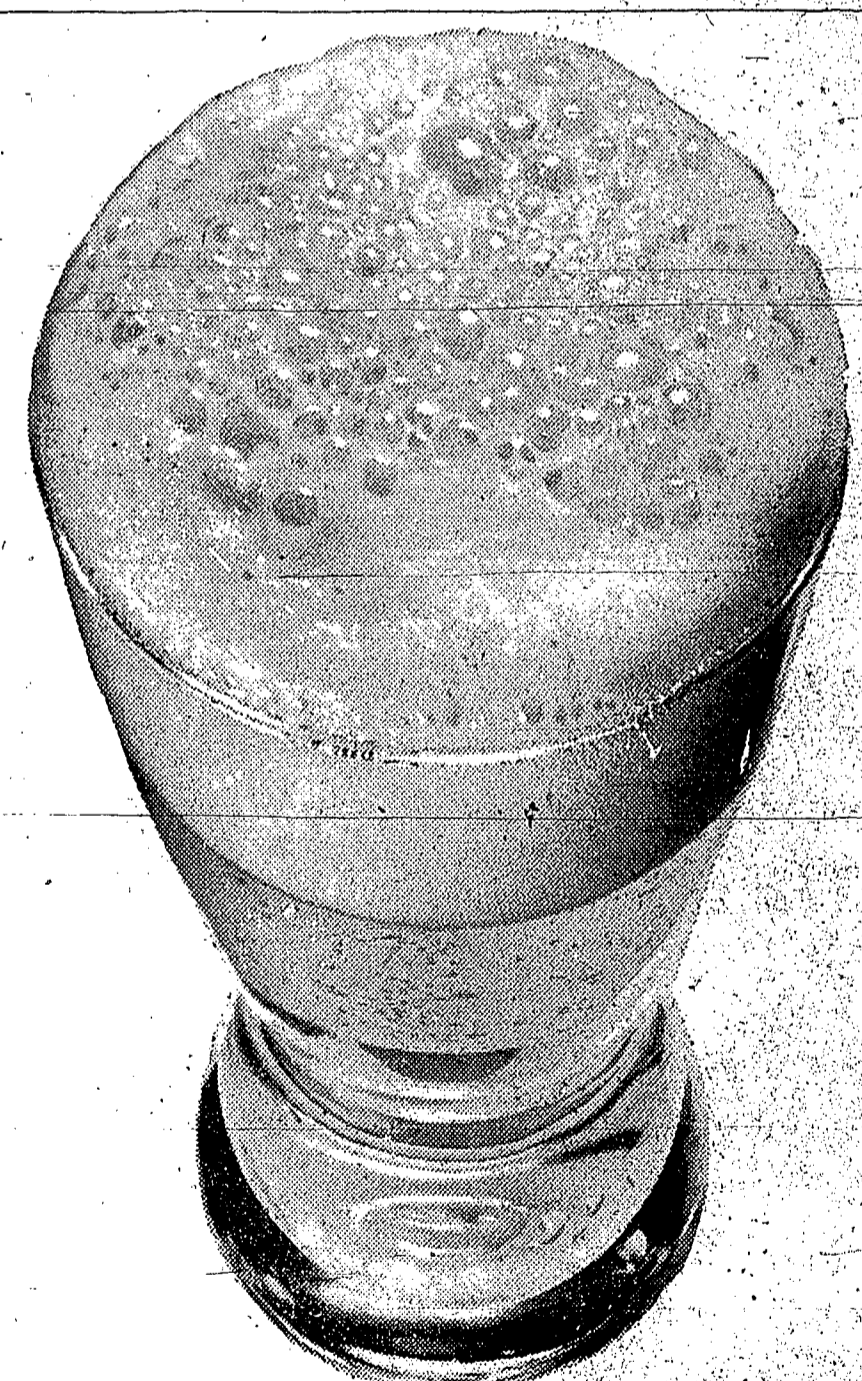

December 20

Elementary PTA Christmas hamper will not be drawn Dec. 13 as announced, but will be drawn Dec. 20. Please be sure all tickets are returned to Mrs. Tinney by December 18 or 19 and that donations are in hamper boxes.

Scholarship committee works hard for students

Until such time as plans for a Student Assistance Fund are more definite, information on this subject is unavailable. Plans for scholarships for Grade 12 students are much further advanced.

At present, approximately $800 is available to students of Grade 12 on the university program.

This is made up of the large MacMillan, Bloedel & Powell River Scholarship, one from the teachers, another from the Howe Sound Secondary PTA, one from the Britannia Beach PTA and one from the Legion.

The scholarship committee hopes to increase the number of awards; the amount needed at present has been set at from $1000 to $1500. These would be presented to top academic students.

It is also hoped that funds will be available to give an award of perhaps $100 to the top student in special fields such as English, mathematics, social studies, foreign languages and science.

The possibility of awarding scholarships to students advancing to special areas of training such as teaching, or nursing is also being investigated.

As the number of terminal students increases there will be deserving students whose marks will not win them a top scholarship; such students may not be able to continue their studies because of a lack of finances.

When one remembers that the cost of one year at the university varies between $1000 and $1500 it is readily understood that this cost may present an insurmountable problem especially in a large family where students may be fairly close in age.

After overcoming the financial hurdle of the first year, students have five months in which to earn a portion of next year's expenses but only two months lie between terminal examinations in June and the beginning of the university year.

Thus it is virtually impossible for a student to earn enough to finance his first year. This is the student who would receive help from a bursary fund; needless to say, his past record and terminal marks would influence the awarding of such monies.

Christmas mass at Britannia

Father John Holzappel will celebrate mass on Christmas day in St. Michael's Church at Britannia.

The music will be provided by the girl's choir under the direction of Mrs. M. Adamson.

Members of the choir are Jean Mizurka, Clarice Kristiansen, Eileen and Sheila McDougall and Judy Brander.

Students trek homeward

At Christmas, more than at any other time of the year, all roads lead to home.

Local young people who have been studying in Vancouver are looking forward to a fun-filled holiday with their families and old friends.

Coming home from private schools in Vancouver are Debbie Routledge, Stella Eross and Cam Mackenzie. Karen Halverson and Dianne Elliott will enjoy a change from their nursing studies.

It will be a wonderful Christmas for Mr. and Mrs. Tom Marsh when their three offspring, Margaret, Jean and Tom Jr. return from studies at UBC. Other students from UBC coming home to recover from the Christmas exams are Linda Mitchell, David Silcock, Ron Inghram, Jim McDougall and Eric Lush.
