Squamish girls attend future teachers meet

Christine Mader and Corrine Finter joined 160 future teachers from high schools throughout B.C. to take part in a two-day conference at UBC, January 25 and 26.

Theme of the conference, sponsored by the UBC Future Teachers' Club, is "Future teachers — where are they going?"

The conference ended with a banquet in the lounge of the education building and a dance in Brock Hall in the evening.

New subdivision

34 homes by Aug. in Stawamus

Residential development in the Stawamus valley came closer to reality with the unveiling of plans of 34 houses to be built by Westway Ltd., in the first phase.

Clearing is under way and construction of homes will begin in April with occupancy slated for July or August, Dan McNaughton, president of Westway, told council, January 22.

Four different types will be built ranging in price from $13,500 for a three-bedroom house with 1,116 square feet on the main floor, paved carport, completely finished with extra fireplace and plumbing roughed in for future use in a basement designed to allow three more bedrooms.

Income required for this home would be $4,500 provided buyer has $1,800 for down payment. Payments per month would be $80.38 on principal and interest with taxes extra. McNaughton estimated taxes at a flat $20 per month. This, the council thought, was a bit high.

If a buyer did not have a down payment, said McNaughton, and had to have a second mortgage, he would probably need an income of $5,000 a year to comfortably handle the payments.

The other houses with basements were somewhat smaller and $500 cheaper. One with two bedrooms has 1,012 square feet on main floor with good layout for future two bedrooms downstairs with roughed in fireplace and plumbing in basement and carport.

A split level is the other basement type with no carport. There is also one house type with no basement.

These prices include rough landscaping, all services, including sewers and paved streets.

Construction of the sewerage treatment plant is to start in March.

Asked if there was a possibility of more expensive homes being built on higher levels at this time, McNaughton said he would be very glad to do so if enough buyers could be found to make it feasible.

He would have to sell eight to 10 homes in the $18 - $20,000 price range to warrant opening up of a higher section with extension of services at this stage. For this, he said, he could have house plans within six weeks.

Council members were very pleased with plans, homes and terms suggested and urged all haste in fulfillment. This, said McNaughton, was his company's first consideration.

Legends and artifacts

Rangers collect local Indian lore

The collection of Indian lore has been undertaken by the girls and leaders of the Squamish Rangers.

Legends of the local Indians, artifacts and museum pieces will be collected, appropriately arranged and turned over to the village council for safekeeping and display in the Public Library.

There are only three Rangers, as yet: Lee Gebhart, Arlene Ingraham and Judy MacDonald. Leaders are Mrs. Pat Flack and Mrs. Clarence Tatlow.

Mrs. Sam Baker was invited to their January meeting and volunteered to help in the collection of Indian lore.

The Rover group, six boys, were also invited to the meeting to make joint plans for the week celebrating the anniversary of Lord Baden-Powell, founder of Scouting.

Theme for the week will be, "Flashback '62, Preview '63".

One of the features planned is the showing of Judy MacDonald's pictures, taken on her Guide trip to Denmark last summer.

With some, or most of the proceeds from their money-raising projects, the Rangers plan to assist in paying Michael Flack's expenses for his trip to Greece this summer. He is one of the Queen's Scouts chosen to represent B.C.

Farewell party for Alexanders

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hansen were hosts at a farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. Tom Alexander, January 26. Guests enjoyed an evening of dancing followed by the presentation of a framed picture of Garibaldi to the Alexanders.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. George Forsythe, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Summerskill, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Kilby, Mr. and Mrs. Alex McBride, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Owens and Mr. and Mrs. R. Woolley.

Before going to California where they will make their new home, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander plan to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ron Tinney in Port Alberni.

Williston says new mill a strength in world market

Magnet for manufacturing

Speaking at the opening of Canadian Collieries new hemlock sawmill at Squamish, January 21, the Hon. Ray Williston, Minister of Lands and Forests, said that "this mill will ensure British Columbia a place in the forefront of the lumber markets of the world."

Looking around the mill, he said, it is apparent that Canadian Collieries has come to stay for a long time.

"We are going to have to market increasing amounts of hemlock in B.C. and this mill will do its part."

SMALLEST WITH ON-SITE PLANT

Tree Farm Licence No. 38, one of the most controversial in B.C., is one of the smallest in the province associated with an on-site plant. It is the only one in a small area that has required construction in a village such as this. There were recommendations of the late commissioner, Sloane, said the minister, who presided at much of the hearings.

DRAW TIMBER TO SQUAMISH

In granting this licence, said Mr. Williston, the required cut was 25 million feet a year. This company, he said, has agreed to cut 60 million feet a year with the new plant which will require other supplies and serve as a magnet to draw timber to Squamish for manufacturing.

R. H. Ellison, executive vice-president of the company, was master of ceremonies at the opening which drew about 400 visitors, most of them from the Squamish area.

Other speakers were Norman Whittall, president; Pat Brennan, chairman of the village council; and E. R. McDonald, manager of the new mill.

First shipment of export hemlock was loaded on a barge at the plant on Wednesday, January 30. Chips for pulp are also being shipped out by barge.

Down In The Valley

by John Alexander

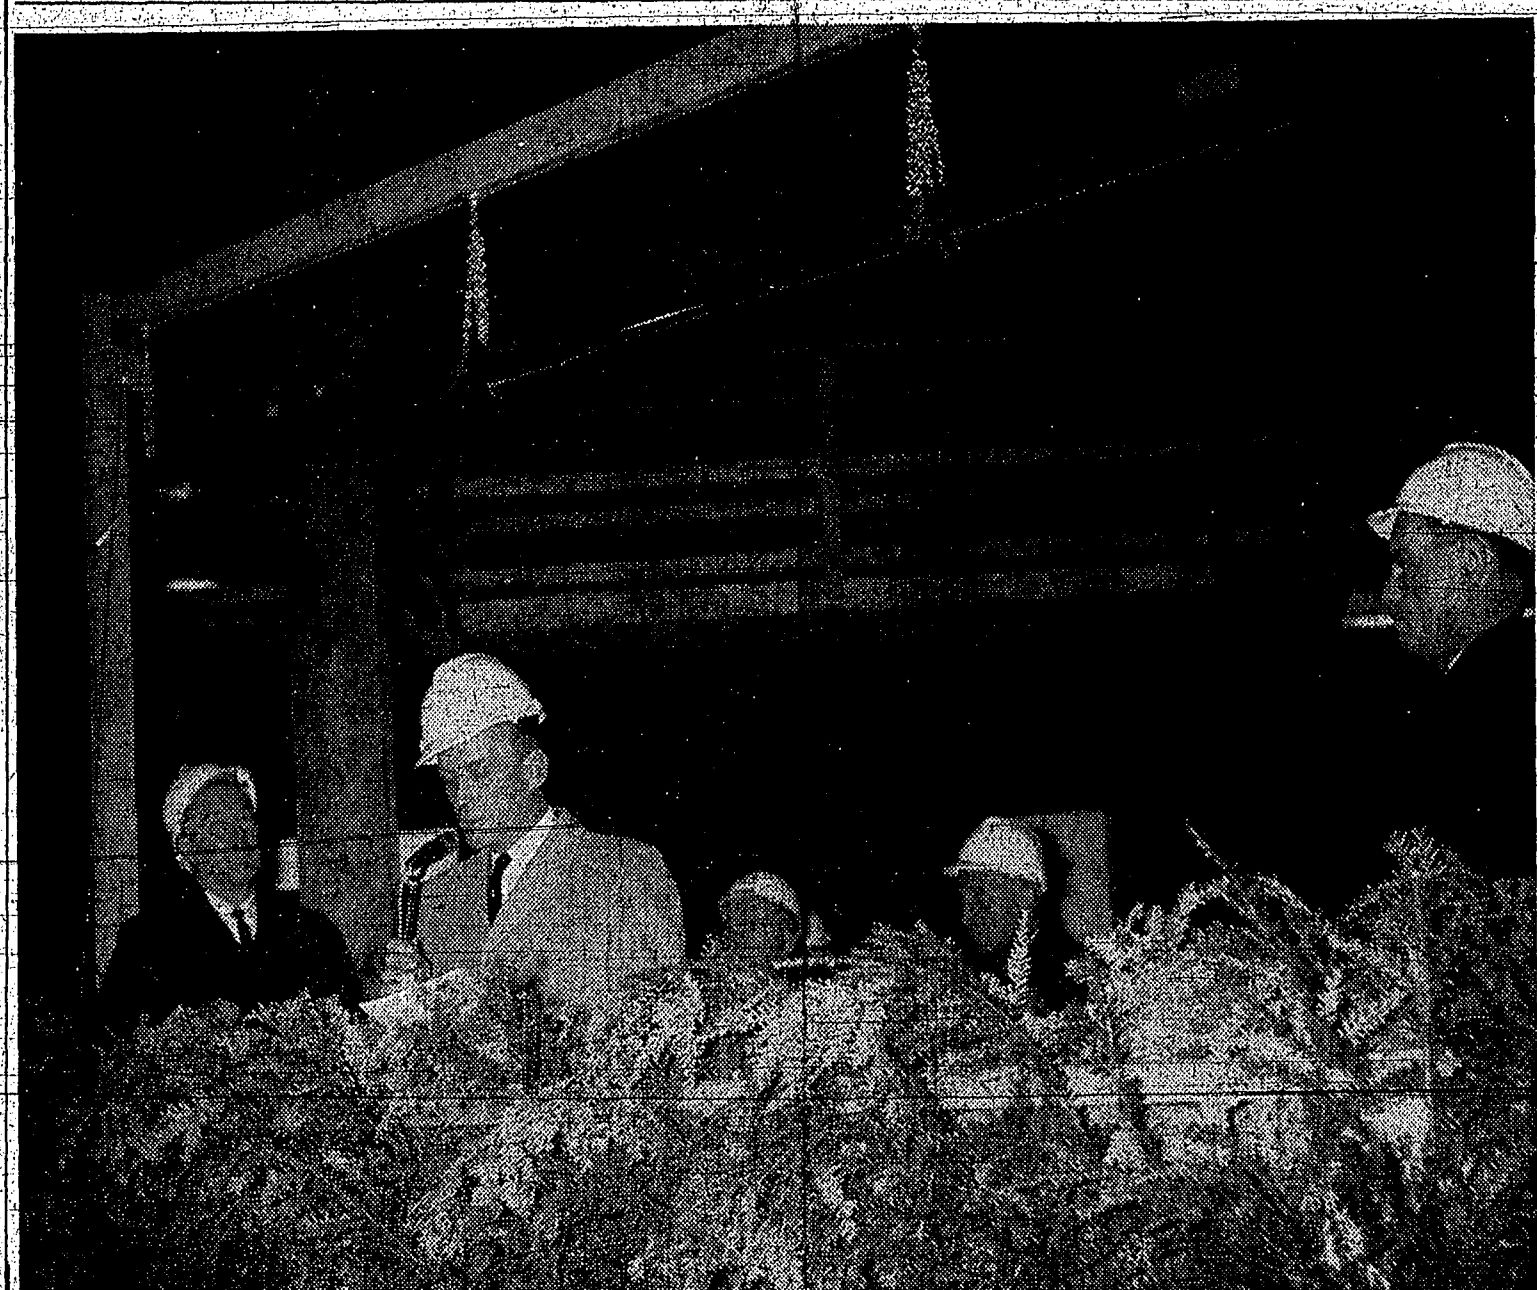

We look forward to this year with anticipation. With the new mill in operation we expect to have more houses, more people, more prosperity and any day now a protest from Woodfibre for the smoke we are sending their way.

3rd teacher at Alta Lake

Student enrolment at Alta Lake one-room school has been fairly steady this term but they are now on their third teacher.

Mrs. Greenway started out the year and left with her husband when he moved away. She was replaced by Mrs. Susie M. Wilkins who left recently because of ill health.

Now teaching is Mrs. J. Andrusko.

Norman R. Whittall

Pres. Canadian Collieries speaks at mill opening

At this official opening of my company's new hemlock mill I particularly would like to welcome the Honourable Ray Williston, Minister of Lands and Forests, because he, as the spokesman of the Government, has been instrumental in enabling my company to build this mill through assurance of a continuous supply of logs from Tree Farm Licence No. 38 located in the area north and west of Squamish.

Mr. Williston, your government's policy of putting Crown timber on a sustained-yield basis means that our forests will be an increasingly valuable asset with long term benefits to the economy of the province.

Tree Farm Licences are primarily devices designed to enable and encourage the practice of sustained-yield forestry by private interests thereby shifting the costly burden of forest management from the Forest Service to industry with the overriding control still remaining with the Crown.

I believe I am right in stating that the Squamish Tree Farm and our company already have a first in this connection inasmuch as an area was logged, slash-burned and replanted all in one year.

Further, tree farm licences provide an assurance of continuity of supply of a percentage of a conversion mill's requirements and has enabled the spending of many millions of dollars over the past 10 years in the expansion and erection of pulp and paper mills and now our $2 million hemlock mill. These should all lead to a maximum continuity of employment and to settled and prosperous communities.

Your policy of providing independent loggers with opportunities through quotas in working circles and as contractors in Tree Farm Licences to log not only for the open log market but for the smaller mills throughout British Columbia has been wise and borne good fruit.

One of the problems which the forest industry has to face is the diminution in the supply of fir, and an increase in the supply of hemlock and cedar. The challenge for the industry is to convert these latter two species at a profit either through sales of pulp and paper or through lumber into the world market.

I am also glad to welcome Mr. Pat Brennan, chairman of the Village Council. I think the construction of this mill will be the start of a prosperous period in the Village of Squamish and I wish to thank him and his Commissioners for the assistance they have given us in enabling the prompt construction of this mill.

Dredging on this site commenced in May 1962, with actual construction starting July 9th and the timing for completion was set at January 1st. Realizing the delays which so often take place I wish to congratulate the company's committee in charge of the construction for the very thorough investigation which took place through visits to very efficient mills in the United States and Canada before the final machinery and flow plans were adopted. I feel sure that the operation of this mill will indicate to the industry the low cost of production which is so desirable and necessary in disposing of our product against the competition of other woods in the world market.

I will not deal with the mechanics of the operation of this mill because many of our guests who can freely question any of our officers will be able to get this first-hand information.

I am glad to welcome all our friends who have taken this trip to our plant for our opening ceremony.

Dead herring litter beaches

Dead herring whitened Squamish beaches in the vicinity of the small boat harbor a little over a week ago and many theories on the cause of their death have been heard.

Some said continued cold weather and lack of winds was leaving the water dormant, unstirred by convection and other currents which would normally allow adequate mixing of oxygen with the water.

Others said it was sawdust from the sawmill getting into the herring gills. Another theory was that the fish were feeding on ash from the mill burner as it settled to the water, as a trout feeds or surface flies. Residents are hoping that the thousands of seagulls attracted to the area will have them cleaned up before the weather turns mild.

Fisheries Inspector Arthur Reynolds made an investigation and concludes that the herring died of suffocation. His reasons are given in a letter to the editor on page 2 of this issue.

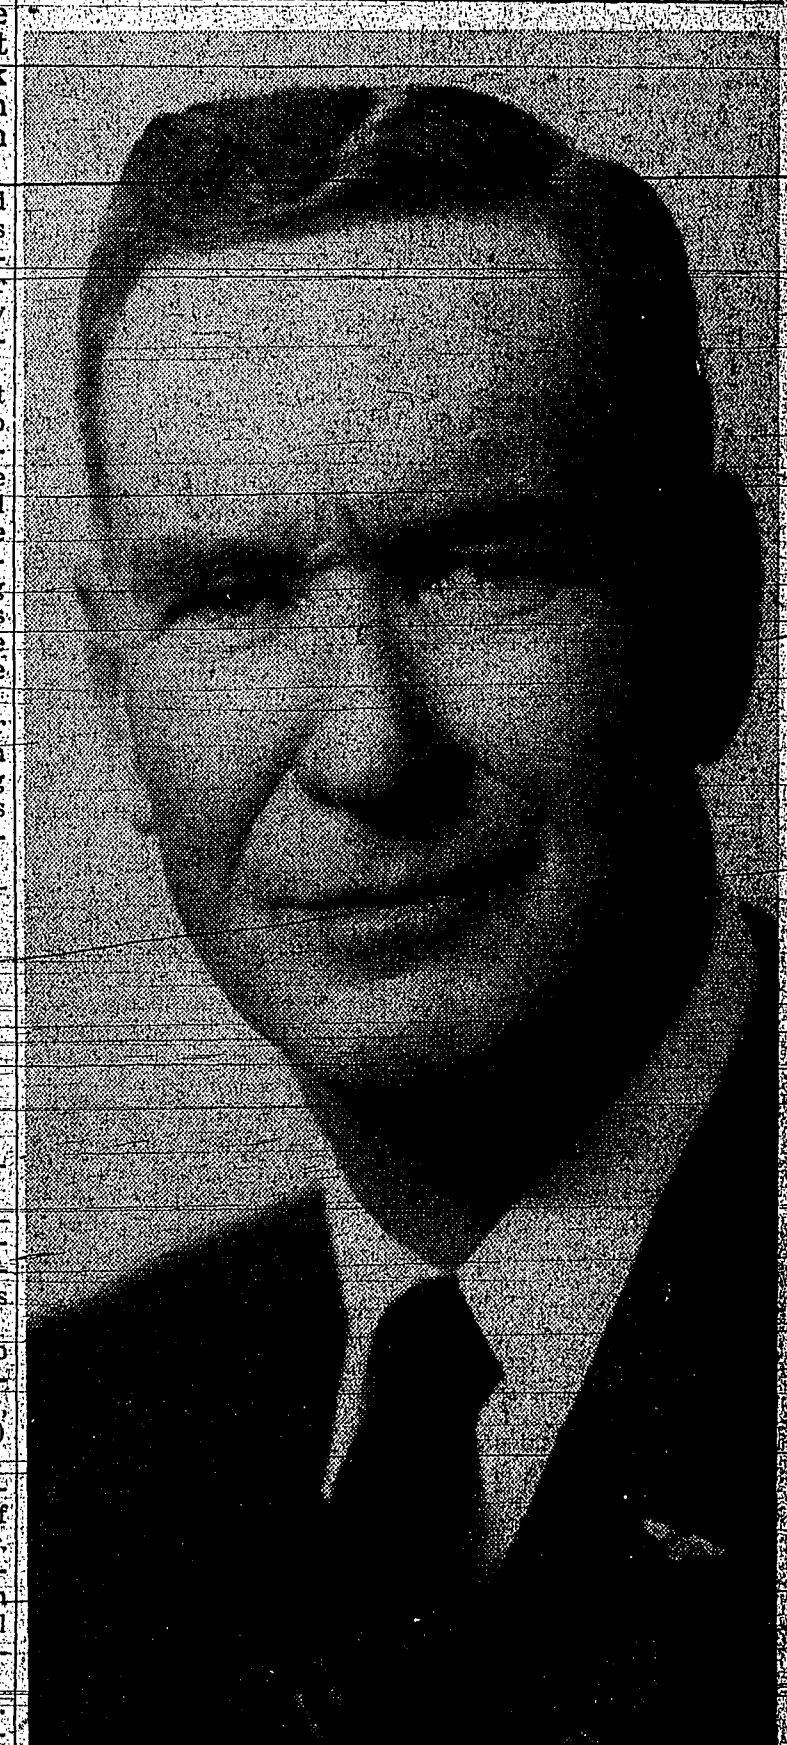

Anaconda's new man at Britannia

John B. Knaebel has been appointed to the newly created post of general manager, new mines.

Mr. Knaebel will function as a liaison officer between Anaconda's exploration and operations activities in the development of new properties.

He will continue to be a vice-president of the Anaconda Company (Canada) Ltd., and will be in charge of the establishment of a western division of that company to extend Anaconda's existing exploration and development programs in Canada.

In 1946, Mr. Knaebel joined the Anaconda organization to take charge of exploration projects in British Columbia and Brazil. Later, as manager of the company's New Mexico operations during the years 1951-56, he was a key figure in the de-

C. P. KIDSON

C. P. Kidson School Board chairman

C. P. Kidson was elected chairman of the School Board for District No. 48 at the January 16 meeting. He is a Woodfibre trustee now starting on his second two-year term.

New trustees welcomed to the board were Mrs. K. Pickard of Britannia Beach and T. B. M. Fougberg of Pemberton. Past chairman is trustee W. V. Manson.

Collectors Of Native Lore...

The legends and histories of ancient peoples, of races and civilizations that have flourished in the past, have provided a fertile source of material for poets, painters, authors, musicians, and artists of all kinds. It is not unlikely that the lore of our local Indians should someday make such a contribution to our culture.

But first, someone must record the legends and trace the history while it is still in the memory of our native people. This now is to be done by the Rangers, a group of teenage girls and their leaders. They have undertaken this as one of their projects and will turn over their collection to the village.

We ask the cooperation of anyone who can make a contribution to their project. It may be a formidable task that the girls have undertaken but we are certain that it is an important one. It could bolster the dignity and pride of our native people and for all time, be a source of cultural interest and inspiration to the community.

Is Youth Degenerating...?

Degeneration, moral, intellectual and physical, seems to be a recurring accusation against the younger generation by those who have moved along, at least in years. The trouble is that age and experience does not necessarily bring us the wisdom to judge but it does have a convenient way of making us look back kindly on the shenanigans of our youth.

A bit of objective reflection might put our youth in proper perspective.

Let's have a look at this heresay, on a small scale, in our own community. We don't intend this to be a catalogue of virtues and faults of either generation but to pick at random a few of our young people as examples.

Last year one of our girls, Judy MacDonald, was chosen to represent British Columbia at a Girl Guide function in Denmark, to which Guide representatives came from all over the world.

This year Michael Flack has been chosen as a B.C. representative to a world Scouting jamboree in Greece. This, indeed, should be a cherished honor that these young people have brought to our small community.

Then we have Gerry Kristianson, who won one of the top scholarships in the academic world and is studying political science in Australia. David Axen has distinguished himself as a scholar of science and is continuing study and research at UBC on one of the top national scholarships.

Roger Mercier made the national trials for the British Empire Games last year. The dedication of this athlete has overcome the handicap of having one leg and one foot shorter and smaller than the other. He is continuing his education at an American college under an athletic scholarship.

There may be others in our community just as worthy of mention but our point is that our youth are bringing distinction to their home town and to themselves. Just keep this in mind the next time you tee off a harangue on the foibles of modern youth. It could be that they are doing quite well.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

HERRING-FATALITY AT SQUAMISH

Editor, Squamish Times:

On the morning of Tuesday, January 22, 1963, a considerable quantity of herring were observed dead on the bottom of the small boat harbour and on the banks up to high tide level. It is estimated that there were between 100 and 150 tons involved, although this would be in the category of an "informed" guess. Dead herring were mostly concentrated in that portion of the channel between the small boat harbour and the "red" bridge, with none in the lower portion of the channel near the outer wharf.

No evidence of the small boat harbour being polluted was observed, but two dead herring samples were taken one given to the local health officer, Dr. Kindree, and the other sent to the Pacific Biological Station at Departure Bay. Further information may come later from these sources.

For the past two months there has been a large quantity of dogfish and a number of spring salmon at the head of Howe Sound between the outer wharf and Shannon Bay feeding on the herring at this location. Recently there has been a tidal difference of 10 ft. between high and low tide and it is suggested this huge quantity of herring were chased into the small boat harbour area on a high tide by the salmon and dogfish, and when the tide went out there was insufficient oxygen for that quantity of fish.

While theoretically the herring could get out of the harbour, invariably they stampede much the same as humans do sometimes when they are caught unexpectedly in a house fire.

It is therefore concluded that the herring died of suffocation.

Mr. and Mrs

Woodfibre Digester

by Arthur Saul

The fishing season seems to have opened again as fishermen have taken their poles out of cold storage and dusted off their favorite fish stories ready for use. One such story heard lately around the town is that of Glen Rudkin and Bob Ramsay, as they were believed to have caught some nice salmon around Woodfibre. Bob Ramsay sported a nine-pound salmon and Glen Rudkin produced an 11-pound and a 16-pound fish. I noticed the herring have been running lately and in some spots there are literally millions of fish. A Vancouver man got wind of the fabulous fishing and in his dinghy set out for the Sound. As soon as he got his boat in the water, he began to pull in fish. All told he got 10 fish for just a few hours work.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Cote on the arrival of their first born, a son, at Vancouver General Hospital, January 22nd, 1963.

Miss Heather Rudkin was home for the weekend. She has completed her Bookkeeping course at Pitman's and started January 21 in a new job with Five Roses Flour Company in Vancouver. She may become the sixth rose. Best of luck in your new job, Heather, from all your friends.

Vibeke Schott celebrated her birthday January 19 with many friends from Britannia and Squamish attending the party. Congratulations Vibeke from all of Squamish.

The Woodfibre Legion Branch 181 had joint installation of officers, January 18.

In the Men's division, President was D. Stephens, 1st Vice, R. Hodgson, 2nd Vice, F. Bailey, Sec., W. Flockhart, Treasurer, G. Sinclair, Sgt. at Arms, C. Mawer.

In the Women's division, President, Dot Wickstrom, 1st Vice Pres., F. Kidson, 2nd Vice, E. Van Sickle, Sec., B. Lloyd, Treasurer, K. Smith, Sgt. at Arms, L. Mawer.

Other positions are held by B. Lloyd, B. Stephens, on Ways and Means committee; D. Anderson and E. Hodgson, Entertainment committee; F. Brunn and B. Hebert on the Publicity committee.

Installing officers were Dave Simms, Zone Commander, and Mrs. Wells, District Representative from North Vancouver.

G. Hendrickson weds Vilma Berno

Standards of white gladioli decorated St. Augustine's Church, Vancouver, January 19, for the wedding of Miss Vilma Ilona Berno, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Enrico Berno, Trail, B.C., to Gary Wayne Hendrickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hendrickson, Squamish. Conducting the ceremony was the Rev. Daly of Vancouver.

Miss Berno is a 1960 graduate of St. Paul's Hospital, Vancouver, and had nursed recently in Hawaii.

For her wedding she wore a gown of Idoo satin with full bouffant skirt, scooped neckline and lily point sleeves. Embroidery and edging was of pearls. Her shoulder length veil was fastened with a satin rose headpiece and she carried a bouquet of white gardenias.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Maurice Young who had trained with the bride. The bride's matron was Mrs. W. Riggs, of Hawaii. They wore gowns of turquoise satin with petal skirts and carried white carnations.

Best man for the groom was his brother, Keith, while his other brother, Lynn, and Paul Mackenzie assisted as ushers.

The reception was held in Squamish at the Elks Hall. Alistair Mackenzie was toastmaster and Al McIntosh was master of ceremonies.

Out of town guests, including Mrs. E. Darke, the bride's aunt from Trail, numbered about 50 relatives and friends.

The bride and groom are spending their honeymoon in Southern California and Mexico.

For her going away costume the bride wore a beige coat and dress ensemble with black accessories.

The new couple will live in Squamish.

Mrs. K. Mikkila is a patient in St. Paul's Hospital. Mrs. George Williams, Ed. Linda and Marni were visitors at the beach this week.
