QUEEN CONTEST CLOSES FRIDAY

The Timber Queen contest will close at 5 p.m. on Friday, July 31st. At that time, ballot boxes from the B.C. Hydro office, Mackenzie Ltd. and the Squamish Times will be opened and the name of the queen will be determined.

Be sure to cast the ballot, found in this paper, before 5 p.m. on Friday afternoon.

1972 winter games

New support for olympic bid

The Garibaldi Olympic Development Association is taking some extra ammunition with it in its second try for the Canadian nomination as a site for the Winter Olympics.

In its first attempt, the Garibaldi Park area was beaten out by Banff as the Canadian nominee. Banff was nosed out by France, as the final site for 1968.

Garibaldi officials said they will take their new bid in the 1972 event to a meeting of Canadian Olympic Association in Montreal, Sept. 12.

They estimate that about $10 million of the total $12 million needed to bring Garibaldi to Olympic standards would have to come from the federal and provincial governments.

Jack Bain, new president of GODA and president of Vancouver Visitors' Bureau, said Tuesday: "This time we are assured of the backing of the provincial government. We have a letter from Recreation Minister Kierman. I know we can put it over."

It might be a year to a year and a half before a decision on Banff or Garibaldi area was made and in the interval, the Garibaldi bid would surpass Banff. City of Vancouver has given official backing and would act as host city. Vancouver Board of Trade has endorsed the bid.

Only a part of two events, the men's and women's downhill, would be on Provincial park territory. The Olympics and buildings necessary would be on about 2,000 acres of private property.

A highway into the area, which was non-existent in 1961 when the Garibaldi area was one of five B.C. sites contending for selection, is well on the way to completion at an estimated $3 million cost.

Garibaldi Lifts Ltd. has more than half a million dollars which is expected to be released in the near future for a gondola tramway, the largest in Canada. By 1970 the company would have $2 million invested in lift facilities. It hopes to have a T-bar lift ready for this winter.

The area and terrain has unlimited possibilities for the cross country courses needed to meet Olympic standards.

Officials feel since Banff lost out for the 1964 Innsbruck meet and the 1968 meet which is to be at Grenoble, France, "a new face" might give added drive to win Canada's bid. George Sherwood, President of Capilano Winter Club said 5000 active figure skaters in 12 Lower Mainland area clubs all support GODA's bid.

FISHING DERBY AT BRITANNIA

Members of the Britannia Beach Boat Club and their families will hold a Fishing Derby on Sunday, August 2.

Three prizes are offered, 50 percent of ticket money, 20 percent, and ten percent. Tickets can be obtained only from Ernie Akers. They are two dollars. The derby hours will be from dawn until 7 p.m.

George Friesen is president of the 40 member Boat Club, with Marvin Arkinstall as vice-president. Earl Trace, secretary, and Ernie Akers treasurer.

The Club has just built a new float, nine feet by thirty-six feet. This will alleviate the present congestion at the dock. The float was built with logs donated by Rustad Logging.

Fishing is a very popular sport with the people at Britannia.

New business "a family project"

"You could call this a family project," Harold Boomer said as he looked over the restaurant and garage which was being completed in readiness for next week's opening.

"It's taken a long time since May of last year when we first started to work on it. We came up every week-end for more than a year, and some of them were cold and wet, too," he added. "It's hard to realize how much work there is to clearing a piece of property until you try doing it yourself."

"We really feel that we've accomplished something," his vivacious brunette wife added. "My father, Arthur Glaus, has worked with us and every one of our five children from 15-year-old Wayne to the youngest, has also helped. I think it means more to us because it has taken so much time and labour."

"I've been a mechanic for 18 years with experience in garages and service stations, so 'Snocap Service' will be my responsibility," Mr. Boomer said. "My father-in-law, who has had many years experience as a chef, will handle the restaurant."

The 35 by 40 ft. garage, with full cement floor and twin post hoist, will be equipped to service any vehicle from a small imported car to a truck. Campers' supplies, including ice, white gas, and a supply of groceries will also be carried.

The Alpine Cafe, with its log cabin siding exterior and cedar shake roof is bright and airy. The warm golden tones of the chipboard paneled walls, complements the off-white of the floor tile and counter tops.

"Tangerine and brown will be the accent colors," Mrs. Boomer said, "and these will be picked up in the drapes. Table and counter service will be provided and we will serve full course meals, take-out orders and snacks."

"Dad has been a chef for many years," she said. "He is Swiss, and learned to cook in the European manner."

Mr. Glaus worked as a chef for the Hudson Bay Co. in Calgary, at Lake Louise and Banff, and in recent years at Oscar's and The Barn Restaurant in Vancouver.

"There's a lot of work still to be done," Mr. Boomer said. "We want to put a playground area for children north of the restaurant, with swings and play equipment, as well as picnic tables for those who wish to eat outside. But this will all take time."

Mrs. Boomer said one of the reasons they had decided to come to Squamish was their desire to bring the children up in the country. "With a business like ours, there will be many things for them to do," she said.

Fees may be refunded

The school board of Howe Sound School District No. 48, at its regular meeting last week decided to adopt a policy of refunding seventy-five percent of the cost of short course fees to employees of the board, who take courses other than those eligible for the summer school bonus.

Many courses are open to teachers, maintenance employees and others which will assist them in their work, and it was for this reason that the board decided to encourage an interest in taking advantage of them by assisting in paying for the fees.

The board also visited Sechelt last week and discussed securing the services of a psychologist and psychiatrist for students in the schools in both districts.

They had recently visited Langley to see what that school district is doing in regards to psychiatric help for children.

Climbers are practicing

The loggers' sports area is a busy place on a nice evening with the climbers practicing for the big events on August 8th.

Several of the local boys are getting up and down those tall trees at the park. Owen Carney and Vic Didier were out the other evening getting some instruction and advice from Richard Munro, who has been working with the climbers.

Owen Carney shaved 17 seconds off Jim Antosh's time last year in one of his climbs.

Tree climbing is almost a forgotten art, as most camps now use steel spars, and it will soon be seen only in shows such as the Squamish Loggers' Sports Day.

Men reject board's report

Britannia miners ask for strike vote

Employees of the Anaconda Co. (Canada) Ltd., requested a government supervised strike vote last Wednesday, July 22nd, after rejecting a majority report of the conciliation board by 95.3%.

At press time, no date had been set for the strike vote.

The present rates of pay at Britannia range from $1.82½ per hour for labourers, $2.00½ per hour for miners and $2.15½ per hour for tradesmen on a 14-hour week.

The union is asking for a 40-hour week with the same take home pay, plus 20 cents an hour on a Monday to Friday work week with penalty time for Saturday and Sunday and other improvements to the contract.

This still would not bring conditions up to those enjoyed in 1956 before the mine closed down.

Local 633 business agent G. A. Bennett said that a request would be made for the government supervised strike vote.

B. Greenlees, general manager for Anaconda, said on Monday morning that "the door is still open for further negotiations and it is hoped that a settlement can be reached before too long."

The contract between the union and the company is the most important issue in the mining community.

The economic picture has changed very little in the past five years.

In February, 1958, when the Howe Sound Co. Ltd. closed the mine, the rate of pay for miners was $1.85 per hour, and there was a 40-hour work week. This agreement had been obtained in 1956.

When the mine re-opened in December of 1958, a new contract was signed. At that time a great many of the gains which had been won during the previous ten years were given up in order to see the mine resume its operations.

A five-cent raise was given at that time, but the 40-hour work week was lost and the men returned to the 44-hour week basis.

In 1961 a raise of 10½ cents over a three year period was agreed upon.

The Anaconda Co. (Canada) Ltd., purchased the property from the Howe Sound Co. Ltd. in 1963 and many improvements have been made to the property and a feeling of community spirit has been re-kindled.

However this does not add to the pay cheques and while many people assume that miners receive additional income through a bonus system, only a few of them do.

Diamond drillers working on the property and contractors working on the new road above the Mt. Sheer townsite, all enjoy top scale union wages.

While both factions are still hoping that an amicable settlement can be reached, the community is facing the prospects of a strike which could close the town.

School building tenders opened

Tenders for the addition to the Elementary-Secundary School at Pemberton were opened by the school board on July 22nd. The six tenders, all higher than the minimum provision of $147,000, ranged from $160,000 to $188,888.

The architect recommended that, if the board could arrange the financing, the low tender of Pender Construction be accepted.

A refund of 2.4 per cent of the federal sales tax on building materials could result in considerable saving and bring the cost down to $156,466.

The board was also hopeful that the Indian Department, which had agreed to pay 45 percent of the original cost, might be willing to do so on the additional cost.

The addition consists of a Home Economics room, Industrial Arts room, lunch room, science room, commercial room and staff room.

Bids for the addition of two classrooms, an activity room and administration area for the Stawamus school were opened on July 16th, and as all bids were more than $20,000 above the architect's estimates, none were accepted.

The architect's estimates were based upon the costs of the addition to the Manquam school last year.

It was decided to arrange for a temporary classroom and to call for tenders again in September when two other projects, the addition to a classroom and office area at Brackendale, and two more classrooms for Manquam, could be included in the tenders.

The contract for the addition to the maintenance shop was awarded to Cliff Read Const. Co. of Squamish.

Children and dogs

The local Public Health nurse, Mrs. Joan Madill, says that there have been several cases of children bitten by dogs in the last few weeks.

She suggests that during the warm weather, when the animals become irritable, it would be wise to see that they do not play with children.

New anglican minister named

The parish of Squamish learned recently that the Rev. Dennis Harris of Gibson's had accepted the invitation for this living, he will take up residence here October 1, 1964.

Mr. Harris has been in Gibson's for six years and has a married daughter and a son who will be in grade 12 this year. He will take up residence in the new rectory being built in the Garibaldi Highlands. Completion of the rectory is expected to be about mid-September.

Both the Rev. and Mrs. Harris will visit Squamish some time in August in order to meet with the local organizations and make arrangements with the church committee for their transfer from Gibson's to Squamish.

During the time the parish has been without a minister it has been very well looked after by visiting ministers this last six months. However, Anglicans will now look forward to Mr. Harris's arrival knowing that he will be resident and will be with us for a few years, during which time we shall see the erection of a new rectory, church and parish hall.

District municipality or separate areas?

Incorporation of the Squamish Valley as a district municipality will be the subject of a public meeting in the auditorium of the Squamish Elementary school on Thursday, Aug. 13th at 8 p.m.

Residents of the village are asked to come to the meeting to hear the arguments for and against such a step and to try to decide which is the better course for the community.

Capacity of the hall is limited to two hundred people and a meeting of this size should give a clear indication of the wishes of the village taxpayers.

Several factors have made the suggestion of incorporation of the valley as a district municipality, an important one at this time.

The trend is towards creation of larger administrative areas, similar to the proposed union of Alberni and Port Alberni, and the possibility that suburbs of Victoria will join that city.

With the ever increasing possibility of industry coming to the village, the people will move outside the present boundaries to unorganized territory, thus losing the benefits of tax reductions through the coming of industry.

Another important point is river and flood control. Any overall plan for the valley would have to have the co-operation of the village and outlying areas, and this can be done most efficiently and easily under one body instead of several separate entities.

Certainly the cost and extent of river control in the Squamish valley would be of such magnitude to require the support of the entire population of the valley, whether within or without village boundaries.

Amalgamation would also encourage the implementation of some overall plan for the development of the valley, possibly along the lines suggested by the UBC Community Planning group, and many people feel that this is the responsibility of not just the village but the valley as a whole.

Development of any such plan would be difficult, if not impossible, under separate improvement areas, but could be done much more easily within the framework of a district municipality.

Several times within the past year the extension of village services beyond the present boundaries has been suggested and this will become more frequent as people move into unorganized areas and want some of the benefits of a municipality.

Also in this category are the parks, swimming pool, and other services or utilities, either wholly or partly subsidized by the village and which everyone can use or enjoy.

Many other factors would have to be considered and it is in the hope that these will be brought forth and discussed that plans for the public meeting were made.

We can do anything we want to do if we stick to it long enough. — Helen Keller.

SQUAMISH, B.C. — THURSDAY, JULY 30, 1964

What Do They Want? ...

In a recent discussion concerning willful destruction of property and the increasing number of young people who seem to enjoy committing these acts one woman suggested that "we'll never solve this until we give them enough things to do."

We disagree. Most emphatically. The person who would destroy plants and damage trees in the schoolyard and on the main street, who kicks holes in the walls of the boy's changing room at the pool and who breaks lights, fixtures, meters and anything breakable he can find, isn't going to be stopped by a program of activities provided for him.

We're wondering just how far we are supposed to go to provide amusement and interests for these people. We don't like to say "when we were kids we didn't do that sort of thing" but so help me, we didn't. Maybe it was just because we didn't think of it, but it's a certainty that practically any youngster in our time would have had a session behind the woodshed if we did some of the things these kids today get away with. And we provided most of our own amusements in those days. Perhaps part of the reason we didn't get into so much mischief was that we had to work harder at our fun. No one handed it to us.

So we don't provide enough things for them to do! A group of men who are interested in ball organized the Little League, another group of football enthusiasts work with the boys throughout the football season and long before getting ready to play.

Another group works on the Recreational Commission to provide further activities, mostly for young people. There are Scouts, Cubs, Guides and Brownies, church groups and a Teen Town as well as other groups for both boys and girls. Adults give freely of their time and money for these various groups.

A library, with a wide variety of children and adult books, has been built, and until one leaves high school books can be borrowed without charge.

Community minded men and women built a swimming pool, which is maintained and staffed with the assistance of grants from the provincial government and the village.

Parks, one with gym equipment, and another with picnic facilities, have been built and these are for the use of everyone, including children.

What more are we supposed to do? We build a swimming pool and they kick holes in the walls; we build a park and washrooms and rocks are used to smash the facilities. We plant trees for shade and beauty and they are broken.

We treat these people as adults and they act like children; we treat them as kids and are accused of suppressing them.

What are we supposed to do? What do they want?

The Most Effective Measure ...

Life guards, warning signs and a telephone, were three recommendations made by the coroner's jury which investigated the drowning of a child at Alice Lake. These were considered as measures to reduce the danger of drownings.

We could add a few more. We've been continually amazed at the number of children who are permitted to go into water far beyond their depth with only a small inflated toy or air mattress to keep them afloat.

In fact, one friend of ours said he had to turn back while rowing at Alice Lake because a youngster on an inflated air mattress was following him and he was afraid of the consequences.

Children are permitted to go into the water without the adequate supervision of an adult, often with only an eight or nine year old who can barely swim, supposedly taking care of them.

Lifeguards would be of great help, warning signs would be most useful for the child who can read but worthless to the younger ones, and the telephone would bring help once an accident had occurred.

There is, however, one precautionary measure which could prove more effective than all the others which have been made.

This measure would need a parent, or responsible adult, to keep close watch on the children, and to be in the water with them, especially if the children are small. Watching them from the beach or the picnic tables would be useless.

This measure, coupled with swimming lessons as soon as possible, would reduce the number of child drownings. Continuing supervision, even after a child has learned to swim, would still be necessary.

A closer watch by parents, or the adults who are looking after the child, would be more useful than lifeguards, warning signs or a telephone.

Let's Use Porteau ...

On a recent weekend when the Eagles held their fishing derby in Howe Sound, the cars lined both sides of the road at Britannia Beach, people camped on the privately owned property at Minaty Bay, and cars were parked at all points along the highway.

The need for more points at which boats can be launched, and the necessity for some form of marina and beach park is clearly pointed out by the numbers of people who come to the Howe Sound area in the summer and early fall months, especially for the salmon fishing.

For some time now, the PGE, which owns the property at Porteau, has not permitted access to the beach and blocked the road which used to lead to it. The property lies unused, and is perhaps the only beach area left along this side of the Sound.

The railway should consider either making some active use of the property or else permitting the Department of Recreation and Conservation to use it and make a park out of it.

It's certainly of no use to anyone the way it is now.

The water isn't too warm for swimming but there is a nice sandy beach which youngsters could enjoy, and an attractive picnic and camping area could

The Efforts Of One Man ...

It is refreshing in these days of brainwashing and regimentation to find a knowledgeable Squamish citizen who has the gumption and persistence to get something done.

Located at the junction of Upper Levels and Squamish Highway, the attractive new sign informs the motorist and/or tourist of the scenic drive and exciting new country of the North Howe Sound areas.

But despite the obvious benefit of such an attractive sign in aiding our expanding tourist industry, it was nothing less than a monumental chore to get the necessary authority from Victoria to erect such a sign. But persistence — not stubbornness or bellicosity — was the quality exercised.

This newspaper congratulates Jesco Puttkamer, who after months of tireless negotiating and spending uncountable dollars managed (with the assistance of the Squamish Chamber of Commerce and the Village Council) to have permission for the erection of one of the best single tourist information signs in the province.

SQUAMISH DOWNS ST. ALICE NINE

At Squamish July 19th, the Squamish and Chieftain Hotel team behind the strong four-hit pitching of Tom Rivett, downed the St. Alice Hotel men 9-2. Tom had lots of help from his teammates, as they banged out 10 hits including doubles by Rivett and Jim Arntosh.

Rivett who went 4 for 4 at the plate for the night, struck out 9 and walked 6 for his twelfth victory of the season. Tom was only in trouble in the first, when St. Alice scored their first run on three walks and a single.

Next Sunday the third place Lynnwood Hotel will play at Squamish. They have won their last four games. Game time, 6:45 p.m.

Total points: Britannia 129; Squamish 74.

Last rites for Mrs. O'Neill

Funeral services for Mrs. Agnes Lydia O'Neill, killed in an accident in the Interior on July 21st, were held in Squamish United Church on Monday, July 27, at 2 p.m. Rev. H. W. Wingfield officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill and four of their six children, who had been visiting her mother at Sicamous, were on their way back to Squamish when their car was hit by falling lumber from a truck on the southern transprovincial highway near Princeton. Mrs. O'Neill was killed and her husband was injured, but the four children escaped unhurt.

Mrs. O'Neill is survived by her husband, Reginald, six sons: Wayne, Camp Borden, Ont.; and Gary, Dennis, James and Bruce, all of Squamish.

Squamish sweeps double-header

With 8-4 and 13-7 wins over the Lynnwood Hotel in a double-header last Sunday at Squamish, the Squamish and Chieftain Hotel team moved two steps closer to the North Shore St. Men's Softball league championships.

In the afternoon game, won by a score of 8-4, the local nine rapped pitcher Bill Ross for nine hits including two doubles by Bill Gosling of Squamish to drive in four of the hometown runs.

The only other extra base hit of the afternoon was a two-run triple by Lynnwood's right fielder, Bill Irlam.

In pitching his 13th win of the year Tom Rivett gave up only four hits and struck out 14 batters.

In the evening game, won 13-7 by the locals, Lefty Handrickson was the big gun at the plate, with a three for four night to drive in six runs and a single.

The Squamish nine got to pitcher Bill Ross for a total of 15 hits including a triple by starting pitcher Jim Sanderson and two more doubles by Bill Gosling. Also hitting doubles for Squamish were Tom Rivett, Burnie Wood and Paul Mackenzie.

Bill Irlam of Lynnwood hit his second triple of the day in the nightcap for Lynnwood's only extra base hit.

Social Notes

Mr. and Mrs. G. Goodall and the family are off on a two week holiday at D'Arcy.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Street are spending a week's holiday in Calgary and Edmonton.

June 5th Lots to do in one day at sea

by Freda Clarke

Just what can one find to do day after day on board ship? From Port Everglades to Le Havre six full days are spent on the open sea and every effort is made to keep over 2,000 passengers from becoming bored. Programmes vary from day to day but here is a typical day, Friday, June 5th, literally in mid-Atlantic.

Second sitting reservations in the dining room mean that you don't go down to breakfast until 9 a.m. so you can relax for a few moments before rising.

All meals are leisurely so you just have time to run a comb through your hair before attending the gym class. And from the restaurant to the games deck there are 89 steps (I counted them) so your muscles have unlimbered by the time you arrive.

Following the exercises, you bravely enter the mixed doubles in deck quito. It is almost 12 noon before you and your partner are eliminated, and you are just warm enough that the pool lures you. A quick dip follows. By this time you are so ravenous that you dash for the luncheon buffet set out on deck.

FUN AND GAMES

What next? It's time to change and clean up for the whistle drive. You don't win but it's fun anyway. Perhaps your luck will be better at bridge tomorrow.

Next you go to the Bonito Club for a cup of tea while you watch the very energetic people take a lesson in dancing the Samba.

Then forward to the Crow's Nest, an observation lounge, where you linger over a pre-dinner drink (gin fizz for 45c) and watch an approaching storm.

Suddenly to starboard a ship appears and soon the German cargo ship Rhein is overtaken. She is bound for her home port of Hamburg from Norfolk, Virginia.

Just as you are ready to go down for dinner there is noise and confusion in the hallways. Suddenly you realize that the motion of the ship has changed. What is wrong?

From the porthole in the hall you see the lifeboat readied for lowering. The steward informs you that the "man overboard" signal was given. This action automatically sends up a flare, slows the ship and sends her into a complete circle.

FALSE ALARM

The lifeboat is manned, ready to be lowered should anyone be sighted in the water. However some joker must have pushed the button as all passengers are accounted for and the ship resumes her journey, after some dire warnings from the bridge.

Following dinner at 8 p.m., five mechanical races are held in the Stadium ballroom.

Each race has five participants who wind in the horses. The events are run off with typical race track fanfare and there is fervid betting on each race.

For variety five officers take part in a hilarious travesty of a race. Then the winners of the five races compete in a final run for the Canberra Cup.

It's been a busy day. Ho hum, it's time for bed if you plan on participating in tomorrow's programme. And so, good night!

POLICE COURT

On July 20th, Michael W. Tuley pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to drive on the right side of the road. This charge arose from a motor vehicle accident near Deeks' Creek where Tuley's vehicle was in collision with another motor vehicle. Both cars were totally demolished as a result of the accident. Tuley was fined fifty dollars and costs and his licence was suspended for three months.

On July 24th, Lionel Marzocco, convicted of possession of stolen property, was remanded until Aug. 14th for pre-sentence report.

Police Court

The following cases appeared before Magistrate W. J. Elliott on July 24th.

On July 24th, F. W. Tomlin, who was involved in an accident at Kury Creek, was charged with impaired driving. He contested the charge, was convicted and fined one hundred and fifty dollars and costs and his licence was suspended for twelve months.

T. G. Knowles, Britannia, charged with being in a beer parlor while under the age of 21, was fined twenty-five dollars and costs.

Ken Crowston appeared on three charges, two of speeding and one of being in possession of liquor while under 21. He pleaded guilty to the first speeding charge and was fined fifteen dollars and costs. On the second speeding charge, he pleaded not guilty and the case was dismissed. He also pleaded not guilty on the charge of possessing liquor, was found guilty and fined twenty dollars and costs.

The following cases appeared before Magistrate C. I. Walker recently.

On July 7th, Edward Charles Raven, who had been remanded from June 23rd on a charge of contributing to juvenile delinquency by supplying liquor to a minor, was fined one hundred dollars and costs.

On July 14th, Alvin Lynn Loeppky pleaded guilty to charges of driving across a solid line and to driving with tires in not good working order. The latter charge arose out of an incident early in the morning of July 12th, when he drove with a flat tire from the vicinity of Pemberton Road to Depot Road in Brackendale, sometimes on the wrong side of the road. By the time he reached Brackendale, he was driving on the rim and had gouged the highway for several miles.

He was fined seventy five dollars and costs on this charge, and twenty dollars and costs on the charge of crossing the double solid line. In addition, Loeppky's right to obtain a driver's licence was suspended for three months.

On July 14th, Archibald A. Chisholm pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of a firearm without a permit. He was fined thirty-five dollars and costs and the firearm was confiscated.

MR. AND MRS. J. ANTOSH

California trip follows rites

Pink hydrangeas with white Shasta daisies and baby's breath decorated Squamish United Church for the wedding of Alberta May Tams and James Edward Antosh on Saturday, July 25, at 7 p.m.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mrs. H. Tams of Edmonton while the groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Antosh of Squamish.

Rev. H. M. Wingfield officiated at the double ring ceremony.

White nylon lace in a floor-length style fashioned the bride's gown. The three-tiered skirt was topped by a sequin-trimmed bodice with long lily-polish sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil of white nylon tulle fell from a crown of mother-of-pearl blossoms and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses and stephanotis. She also wore a wrist watch, the gift of the groom, and cultured pearl earrings.

Mrs. W. P. Marks, the sister of the bride, was matron of honor with Miss Elaine Rennie and Miss Judy Green as bridesmaids.

They wore identical gowns of powder blue nylon taffeta with matching jackets of nylon lace. Powder blue net hats and matching flowers complemented their gowns and they each wore pearl necklaces, the gift of the bride. They carried bouquets of blue carnations to match their gowns.

Rudy Novak supported the groom and ushers were Richard Munro and Dale Menne.

A reception at the Elks Hall followed the ceremony. Here the pink and white theme of pink hydrangeas with white Shasta daisies and baby's breath was again used to decorate the hall.

master of ceremonies and Mr. Don Kirkwood proposed the toast to the bride.

Before leaving for their honeymoon in California the bride donned a three-piece powder blue knit suit with white maple leaves on the jacket pockets. A white pillbox hat and accessories completed her costume.

Mr. and Mrs. Antosh will live in Squamish.

Out of town guests at the wedding included the bride's mother, Mrs. H. Tams, and her brother, Fred, of Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Marks, Mr. and Mrs. R. Sherburne with Miss May Sherburne, and Mr. Walder Paulston, all of Edmonton; Mrs. F. Kuzbach, Stockholm, Sask., the groom's grandmother; Mrs. A. Antosh and his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. Jurick, all of Esterhazy, Sask.; Mr. and Mrs. G. Simenson and Karen; and Mr. Stuart Kristoff of Cloverdale. Mr. and Mrs. F. Placatha, Mr. and Mrs. D. Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. H. Potter, Mr. and Mrs. F. Ticehurst and Mr. and Mrs. V. Schneider, all of Vancouver; Miss Sharon Wagner, Smithers; and Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Wheatley of North Vancouver.
