NEAR ALL YEAR HIGH ON OCTOBER 7th

Temperatures on October 7th hit a new high for October with 80 degrees recorded. The previous high in past years had been 72 degrees. This was only two degrees below the 1964 high temperature of 82 recorded on May 31st.

However the low of 29 degrees was below average for October with only 1961 equalling it. High for October of last year was 67 degrees and the low was 33.

A total of 6.34 inches of rain fell last month bringing the year's precipitation to 66.6 inches.

Hallowe'en party at Britannia

A gay Hallowe'en party was held in the Upper Club Room at Britannia on Saturday, Oct. 31st for the elementary and pre-school children. Witches, black cats, space people, Indians and even a red robin attended the party.

The costumes were all so well made and planned that it was very difficult for the judges to reach a decision.

Deanna Sintich as a devil, won the prize in the pre-school class. Kenny Shavela took second prize as a clown and Allan Oakes as an Indian, won the third prize.

Vicki Andrzejczuk, as an Indian maid, was the first prize winner in the Grade 1 and 2 class; Debbie Adams, the second prize winner as a witch and Darlene Sintich took third in an old fashioned girl's costume. Johnny Andrzejczuk took first prize in the 3rd and 4th grade group in his space man's costume, another witch, Wendy Clark was second and Victor Harrison, dressed as a miner, won the third prize.

Grades 5, 6 and 7 were divided into two groups. Claris Kristianson won first prize for her Outer Limits costume, in one group while Carol Hansen and Sharon Dyke as a caveman and his wife, took second prize. Kevin Kirby was all tied up as a mummy, Egyptian kind, for third prize.

In the second group Juliet Hoeflich as a scarecrow was first; Reg Fogarty took second as a witch and Anneke Van Der Ham as Peter Pan was third. Mrs. J. Powell and Mrs. A. McNair were the judges and Mrs. Powell acted as master of ceremonies. Mrs. D. Manson opened the evening.

The bonfire and fireworks planned for the evening were cancelled until Sunday evening at 6 p.m. because of the weather. An appreciative audience turned out on Sunday evening to watch these events which ended the Beach's Hallowe'en celebration.

REPRESENTATIVES of the Recreational Commission in this area who attended the Zone Meeting at the Chieftain Hotel last week are R. Kilmartin, President, Squamish Recreational Commission; Mrs. L. Shore, Pemberton; T. Ruben, consultant for the Fraser Valley-Sechelt area; C. Bell, recreation director from Delta Municipality and George Leo from Mt. Currie.

Expect peak year

Cancel production to reach 50 million feet

by Rose Tallow

Canadian Collieries Empire Logging Division expects to attain its goal of 33 million feet of timber this year. With the additional Westly timber which is also being taken out amounting to between 15 and 16 million board feet, the total production from the TFL will amount to fifty million feet.

Log production on such a scale must be planned for two years in advance of this year's cut. Cloudburst mountain, which was one of the first areas to be logged, is now completed, and this will be left for fifteen to twenty years to permit the young growth to reach sufficient height and density to permit logging to commence again with the new growth forming a natural firebreak.

Maurice O'Connor, superintendent for Canadian Collieries explained that the TFL is being farmed, just as the name implies. In each compartment, or area of the licence, a number of areas are logged each year on a rotation basis with the intervening ones left to form natural firebreaks.

EXTENSIVE ROAD PROGRAM

Roads are the lifeblood of any logging operation and this is even more important in a TFL as these roads must be used for fire protection as well as logging. They are being pushed into the further limits of the licence at the rate of 14.6 miles to the end of October this year. Mr. O'Connor estimates that the mileage will be even more by the end of the year unless adverse weather conditions curtail the road construction program.

Road building in this difficult terrain has been costly and the Squamish River presents a continual problem. So much so that Jack Pearce, road construction foreman, said that "some of the holes in the road are plugged with ten dollar bills." High water this summer took out some portions of the main haul road below the first canyon of the Squamish and brought the main body of the river close to the mountain necessitating the construction of a new portion of road. Deflectors consisting of wings of massive chunks of rock have been built out into the main current of the river to divert the flow away from the road.

RIVER A CONSTANT THREAT

The river is a constant threat. No sooner is one portion of the road protected but another is menaced. In September the Squamish was threatening to take a new course near the bridge by Schoonover's bluff. The changed course would have cut the road leading to the Ashlu Valley. Work crews and heavy equipment were moved in and the river bank was ripped with heavy rock to prevent further erosion.

"This has served two purposes," Mr. O'Connor said. "We not only protected the road and the river bank, but in taking the rock from the bluff, widened the main road." He added that further preventative work on the river would be done this winter when a salvage crew would come in to take usable timber from the log jams.

"The work will be done this winter when the water is low, and in taking out the good logs, the jams will be broken up and high water next spring should clear away the debris. This would result in fewer log jams and lessen flood danger," he said. "We are fighting a continual battle with the rivers, both the Squamish and some of its tributaries."

MUD CREEK IS AWE INSPIRING

"The most awe inspiring sight I've ever seen was Mud Creek in flood," he said. "The bridge is forty feet above the creek and it's usually such a small one you'd wonder why it has to be so high. Imagine a turgid brown flood, thick and viscous, slowly pouring down the river bed, filling it from side to side. It rolled under the bridge and filled the bed of the Squamish river with a thick dyke of mud and silt, damming the river for several hours. I wouldn't have believed it if I hadn't seen it."

He said the bridge had been rebuilt several times before it was high enough to be above the flood level.

Above the confluence of the Squamish and Elaho rivers the north fork of the Squamish passes through a narrow valley before it opens out into a wider area. Here the road construction program will be able to slow down and within two years it will keep pace with the logging.

During low water this winter a bridge will be built across the Elaho to enable them to log the Westly and CanColl timber which lies on the west bank of the Squamish below the junction.

An estimated seventy five percent of the timber in the TFL lies in the upper reaches of the Elaho. "We have five miles of heavy rock work before we reach this timber," the superintendent said after he had shown me the timbers which would be used to build the bridge.

"We plan to build two miles each year," he said. "This will take us into 1967 and then we should be ready to log the Elaho. We are looking forward to the lagging but the road work will be tough," he added.

He said that once this had been accomplished they would only have to build about ten miles of road each year in order to keep ahead of their production.

"The logs from the TFL are brought down to tidewater, the longest hauling distance in this area," he added. "At present the average haul is 39 miles each way and this will increase to about 42 miles in the next two years. Most of the trucks can only make two trips each day."

TAKING INVENTORY

"We're not quite sure just how much timber we have in the licence," he explained. "We've had crews working this summer on an inventory of the Upper Squamish and Elaho valleys in an attempt to determine just how much there is and to estimate the growth. Once this is completed we should have a better idea of the amount of timber we have."

He explained that the work could only be done in the summer and it might be some time before the study was completed.

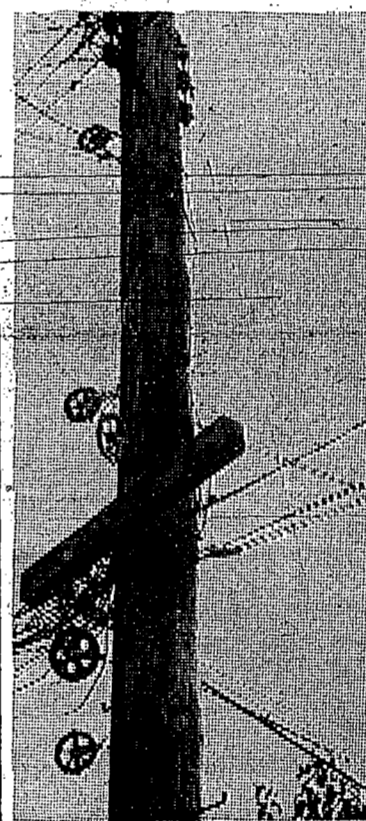

A giant picture of the area was being prepared as well. Aerial photographs had been taken and these would be assembled to form a picture of the entire TFL. This would show the forest cover and assist in plans for logging it.

The growth of the operation within the tree farm has naturally resulted in an increase in the number of employees. With both contractors who work for CanColl having sizeable crews as well as the men they directly employ Mr. O'Connor said there were one hundred and twenty five men engaged in their operations.

Once the workmen at Empire Lumber Division's sawmill in Squamish are added to this number, Canadian Collieries is easily the largest employer in this area.

With an independent estimate of two hundred million board feet of logs either produced or processed through Squamish this year, Empire Logging's fifty million feet accounts for a sizeable proportion of this production, approximately one quarter. "It's quite an operation!"

Pity the poor lineman

Step over number one. Bend under number two. Twist between numbers three and four.

The count could extend to eight — not as part of a daily exercise or a dance step but as part of a lineman's manipulations in dodging clotheslines and pulleys, as he works on telephone poles.

A campaign is underway within the B. C. Telephone Company to improve safety conditions on poles.

"Hazards such as clotheslines and pulleys have caused some accidents among our men, although none has been serious yet," an official said.

He noted that every time a lineman climbs among pulleys, he has to unfasten his safety belt to change positions. The official said that up to eight clotheslines were counted on a pole in a Vancouver (Point Grey) lane, although other areas produce equal hazards.

"When we learn that a particular pole is hazardous to climb because of obstructions, a supervisor will contact the householder concerned and request removal of the hazard," the official said.

The Workmen's Compensation Board is in accord and has regulations requiring removal of hazards within a two-week period. Conditions aren't quite this bad in Squamish but members of the local B. C. Telephone line crew say that there are clotheslines on some of the telephone poles in the town and they do make a lineman's work difficult.

Curling rink opens its doors

The Howe Sound Curling Club opened on the last week in October. The ice was finally ready for play on Sunday, Oct. 25th and by all accounts there must have been a lot of fun that afternoon as everyone tried to get in the act.

By the end of the week curling was starting in earnest and some of the teams were organized. The school children have shown a keen interest in the sport and there are already more than sixty youngsters signed up to play.

Four games can be played on the ice surface at one time and visitors may watch the play through the glass which lines one end of the rink. A refreshment counter also occupies a corner of the lobby. The upstairs lounge has not yet been finished and the formal opening of the rink will take place on Saturday, November 14th.

The club has been the realization of the dreams of a group of dedicated curlers who have worked for a long time to see it become a reality. The building was financed through the sale of shares and debentures and there are still a few shares which may be purchased.

Original plans called for the opening early in September with a period for skating preceding the start of curling. However delays in the arrival of the ice-making machinery prevented this and the skating period will follow the completion of the curling season.

Judging by the interested numbers of curlers and the obvious enjoyment they seem to be getting from the game, this new sport should really become popular in the north Howe Sound area.

Improvements for Library

The library board plans to add shelf space to the unfinished back room of the library as soon as the floor has been tiled. Tile for this purpose was purchased when the building was built but this had not been done because of the leak in the roof.

The roof was refinished this summer and the work of tiling the floor is planned for this winter. The shelves will be needed to hold supplies, extra books, books to be catalogued and those needing mending.

Other improvements which were discussed at the last library board meeting were a new lock for the front door and the installation of a time switch to permit the staff to get down the steps at night before the outside light goes off. This could prevent a serious accident as the steps become quite icy in winter.

The board was most grateful to the Lions Ladies for the donation of a card catalogue file and are hoping to add a second section to this filing cabinet. The purchase of good adult reference books was discussed but it was felt this should be investigated and looked into at a later date as most adult encyclopedias are quite costly. Mrs. Clarke announced that some new adult books had been purchased and more were due to arrive before long. New children's books were still being placed upon the shelves.

Memberships and circulation were both up and the library should top the ten thousand circulation for the first time this year.

A native mask from New Guinea has been donated to the museum section of the library along with some Indian baskets made by the Nootka Indians. These will be placed on display in the near future.

vote on strike

About 200 trainmen on the Pacific Great Eastern railway began voting Monday on whether to strike to back up demands for a new contract.

It is a government supervised ballot, at the request of the company. It is expected to take ten days to complete.

The vote was called, even though negotiations between the P.G.E. and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen are continuing.

The union has turned down a proposal by Conciliation Officer C. A. Carmichael. This suggests a two-year contract with a five per cent increase in stages of two per cent one per cent and two per cent between January this year and May 1, 1965.

The union had asked for 12 per cent.

Fitch speaks at Logging Congress

One of the speakers at the 55th Pacific Logging Congress at Vancouver later this month will be C. R. Fitch, manager of MB & PR's Squamish Division.

Mr. Fitch will speak on "Rock Drilling and Blasting Using Amex" during the wind-up feature "What's New in Logging" which will be a series of talks and slides on new logging gimmicks.

Amex was used in the road construction in the Squamish and Mamquam area and has proved to be very efficacious.

A tribute to Leon Keyes...

"I don't think I ever heard anyone say an unkind or an unpleasant word about Leon Keyes," Fred Bennett said as he was talking about the many kindnesses which Leon had shown the boys belonging to the two local football teams during the past few years. "And there aren't very many people one can say that about," he added.

Mr. Bennett had just finished saying that everyone is missed once they have gone but few will be missed the way the late Leon Keyes would be. "He always went out of his way to be nice to people, especially the kids. I don't think there is one who won't be affected." Last year, he had been suggested as a candidate for a "Good Joe" award if there had been such thing, and was also cited for the "Good Citizen Award" because of his interest in the kids. He had taken a bus load to a football game and then personally delivered every one to his door before he went home to bed. "That's a lot, after a day's bus driving," Mr. Bennett said.

It wasn't just the younger football players who would miss him. Mrs. C. C. Marchant said that Wayne, who had been a star player in both the ball and basketball teams said that Leon had been wonderful to them. "There isn't a football player in Squamish who wouldn't have something to think about remembering what Leon had done for them."

Richard Dwight Merrill, a partner of Merrill & Ring which logged in the Squamish valley from 1927 until the middle thirties, was a substantial shareholder in McMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd. In 1927, Merrill & Ring came to Squamish to log crown timber in the valley. They had a camp at the site of the old houses in Skunk Hollow, now Valleycliffe, and later the camp was moved to Edith Lake, known in those days as Bologna Lake. They built a logging railroad in the valley and portions of it can still be seen near Alice Lake, behind the Joyce Ranch and in Garibaldi Highlands. The old road to the dam follows the railroad grade. Several high trestles were built to cross the Manquam, Mud Creek and Little Manquam.

In the last years the company logged here they brought their logs out with trucks, abandoning the old style "locies" or "shays" to move into the newer methods of bringing the logs from the woods.

Britannia Beach News

By BETTY McNAIR
Sorry to report the Hans Horstings are leaving Britannia. They moved to North Surrey on Nov. 1st after having lived at Mt. Sheer and Britannia Beach for sixteen years.

Another family which is leaving are the Holgar Bjurmans, who have gone to North Delta. Holgar has been at Britannia for 22 years and worked with the community club and the union. He was elected recording secretary of the Mine Mill Union in 1946 and has been on the executive since that time.

Another familiar figure at Britannia for many years who also left on Nov. 1st was Mrs. Reta Best. Mrs. Best, who was recently widowed, has gone to stay with her son Donald in New Westminster.

Our best wishes and a sad farewell to all those who are leaving our community.

In a year in Canada there are about 1,000 twin and 100 triplet births.

Check That Medicine Cabinet!

YOUR SUPPLY OF MEDICINES CAN BECOME DANGEROUS WITH AGE. OUR PHARMACISTS OFFER SOME SUGGESTIONS TO SAFEGUARD YOUR HEALTH.

Time can turn your household medicine chest into a supply of worthless or even dangerous drugs. The higher the temperature and humidity the faster the deterioration. Almost all medicines deteriorate with age. Improper storage hastens the process, the culprits being exposure to air, light, heat or moisture.

For advice about the lasting qualities of drugs ask your pharmacist. He can advise you how long the medicine may be kept, how it should be stored, and when to discard it.

Any time you have any questions about prescription drugs, call our pharmacists, giving him the date and prescription number.

Here are some safety hints from the B.C. Pharmaceutical Association:

- All ointments and salves should be discarded if they have separated or darkened, become caked or watery, or if their container shows corrosion.
- If, at any time, iodine stains a dark brown, it signifies harmful concentration and can no longer be used safely.
- Aspirin-type pills, the "pain killers," may become highly irritant with age. A crystal formation on the tablets, the presence of a vinegar odor, or a change in color from white to brown, means they should be discarded.
- Make certain all items are fully labelled and identified as to patient.
- Date all non-prescription drugs when you buy them.
- Keep medicines tightly capped and stoppered when not in use.
- Clean up your medicine cabinet at least twice a year.

S.R.C. to help with May Day

The Squamish Recreational Commission at its last meeting decided to write to the local elementary school PTA groups to offer its assistance with the May Queen ceremonies next year. They will be glad to assist the PTA in any way possible.

R. Kilmartin, president of the group, mentioned that this year the May Day celebrations were in danger of being cancelled until the four elementary school principals stepped in and decided to take over the plans for the ceremonies. However, it is understood that there is now a more active PTA group and they wish to sponsor the celebrations.

The SRC said that if it appeared that the same difficulties would arise next year, the recreational commission would undertake to hold the May Day celebrations.

The youth program and meetings were discussed and it was suggested that the committee meet with delegates from the Centennial Committee and the park committee for further study on the youth program and a possible civic centre.

NEWSPAPERS ARE WONDERFUL

Next to weather and matrimony, the daily newspaper is the most popular topic for town talk.

It has been cursed and blessed, damned and praised.

It has been boomed and doomed. Some vow that it is the guardian angel of democracy; others vow it is an agent of the devil. Some swear by it, others swear at it.

Yet in the eyes of the reader and advertiser it goes its merry way, getting bigger and better oblivious to its detractors.

Why? The answer is simple—it is a loyal and faithful servant to all.

Pemberton Year Book praised

The Pemberton Secondary School annual, "The Minaret" received high praise in the annual Daily Province contest for high school annuals in competition with other schools with less than five hundred pupils.

Excerpts from the annual were printed in the Squamish Times last summer and the students were complimented at that time on the excellence of their work.

The report on the annual said: "Six students produced this little gem which paid tribute to the pioneer families in the area since the 1920's and a pioneer teacher. It is written like an Indian tale and page by page it tells the story and is pictorially illustrated. Each page comes out of a brown tree bark mottled background to give an unusual effect. One of the best."

The students and teachers who worked on the Pemberton annual should feel highly complimented by the report.

Len Marchant coaches top Alberta team

Leonard Marchant, who was instrumental in seeing football started in Squamish, is now in Edmonton where his interest in the game and the youngsters who play it is as strong as ever.

This year the team of 13 to 15 year olds which he coaches won the Alberta championships. He said their last game was a perfect one, "the boys didn't make one error!"

Mr. Marchant is also on the board of directors of the Edmonton Husky football team, which has just won the Western Canada championships. This team plays in a league similar to the B. C. junior big four.

Rev. D. Harris instituted here

Rev. Denis Harris was instituted at a special service at the Church of St. John the Divine in Squamish on Tuesday, Oct. 20th. The Rt. Rev. G. P. Gower conducted the service.

In his service the bishop outlined the duties of both the congregation and the priest when he turned the parish over to Rev. Harris.

Visiting members of the clergy who attended the service were Rev. W. Munday and Rev. P. Moore, who took the services during the time the parish had no resident priest, and Rev. C. H. Gibbs, former minister at the Church of St. John who left last year to take a trip to the Holy Land.

Rev. Harris comes to Squamish from Gibsons where he had been for the past six and a half years.

A parochial dinner for all members of the parish and their friends preceded the service and the ladies of the Women's Auxiliary served the meal in the Parish Hall which was packed to capacity.

Night school basketball

Night school basketball has formed a league which plays in the high school gymnasium each Tuesday evening at 7 and 8 p.m.

In last week's games, the four teams, which have not selected their names, met and Tom Rivett's five defeated Gary Hendrickson's squad by a score of 34 to 27.

In the other game the teachers defeated Dick Munro's team 42 to 38.

Stars for Rivett's team in the first game were Rick Hunter who scored twenty points. Tommy scored ten for his side to match Gary Hendrickson who was high scorer for the losers. Brother Keith was one point behind with nine.

Dick Wagner starred for the teachers with 20 points while Bill Gosling and D. Dosen each racked up eight points.

Burnett Woods with fifteen points and Graham Farquharson with ten were the high scorers for Munro's team.

"WONDER whether they will make Jack-o-lanterns, or would we rather have Mom make them into pies?" could be the question which is bothering Toni and Kelly Mitchell as they stand beside this table full of pumpkins which their mother, Mrs. Wayne Mitchell, grew in the garden of her home at Garibaldi Sstates.

Carloadings still high

Despite a slight drop in carloadings during October, total for the year so far on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway continues well above that of 1963.

October carloadings amounted to 6550, compared with 7464 in October of last year. However, the total for the year so far amounts to 59,436, compared with 58,029 for the corresponding period last year.

What's your stand on registering life insurance policies to claim certain income tax deductions?

Mr. Campbell: If it's possible, I'm all for it!

Interviewer: You'll be pleased to know you may register any Mutual Life policy, except Term, under the Income Tax Act. Subject to certain limitations, the savings portion of your premium can then be deducted from your taxable income each year.

Mr. Campbell: It seems to me that everybody should know about this!

Interviewer: You're right! Particularly people who are building a pension for themselves. Even people now contributing to a company pension plan may qualify for further tax relief.

Mr. Campbell: Look, I'd like to check into this before I file my 1964 return. Where can I get complete information?

Interviewer: Just call your nearest Mutual Life representative.
