ANOTHER STRIKE AT BRITANNIA

A labour dispute between the Operating Engineers Union Local 115 and Construction Aggregates and Routledge Gravel Ltd. brought the operations at Britannia and Furry Creek to a halt on Friday morning.

The Union had voted 92% in favour of the strike for higher wages on March 19th. Despite further meetings between the two parties the strike went into effect.

Basic wage at present is $2.38 per hour and the Union is asking for another 40c per hour over 2 years and additional working conditions.

About 40 men are employed at these two operations.

Deepsea wharf for Woodfibre

A new sea wharf and warehouse at Woodfibre will be built at a cost of about $850,000, according to a statement issued last week by Rayonier Canada (B.C.) Ltd.

The wharf will be located in deep water in order to accommodate the largest ocean-going ships. These new facilities will provide for direct loading of deep sea ships in order to handle the large increase of pulp exports when the new expansion to the mill comes into production this summer.

The warehouse, whose capacity will exceed 10,000 tons of pulp will be pillarless. The new facilities will also include the necessary pulp handling equipment.

Tenders for the warehouse will be called shortly. Cost of the project is additional to the $26 million plant expansion which was started two years ago.

The plant, which now produces 300 tons of kraft pulp per day will be doubled in size with the extension producing an additional 300 tons.

Company spokesman say the firm is installing the latest odor control methods and that a team of research men are working on the reduction of the odor associated with kraft mills.

New look for Cleveland Ave.

Howe Sound Timber Co. Ltd., requested permission to remove the shop and office building, now occupied by Westbank Logging Co. Ltd. from Cleveland Ave. to premises owned by the same firm on Pemberton Road. They also wished to demolish the adjoining building.

Rifle safety program

Dan Otto of the Squamish Valley Rod and Gun Club says he is just one jump ahead of the proposed provincial regulations as he is teaching a class of eighteen junior boys the safe way of handling firearms. "These boys will later graduate to range work," their instructor said. "I'm sorry there weren't any girls this time but maybe some will enroll in the next class to be formed within a few weeks."

Mr. Otto is assisted by club president Jack Carradice and Jack Rempel.

Several years ago the club held a very successful safety and training program for the junior members and this was decided to be repeated this year.

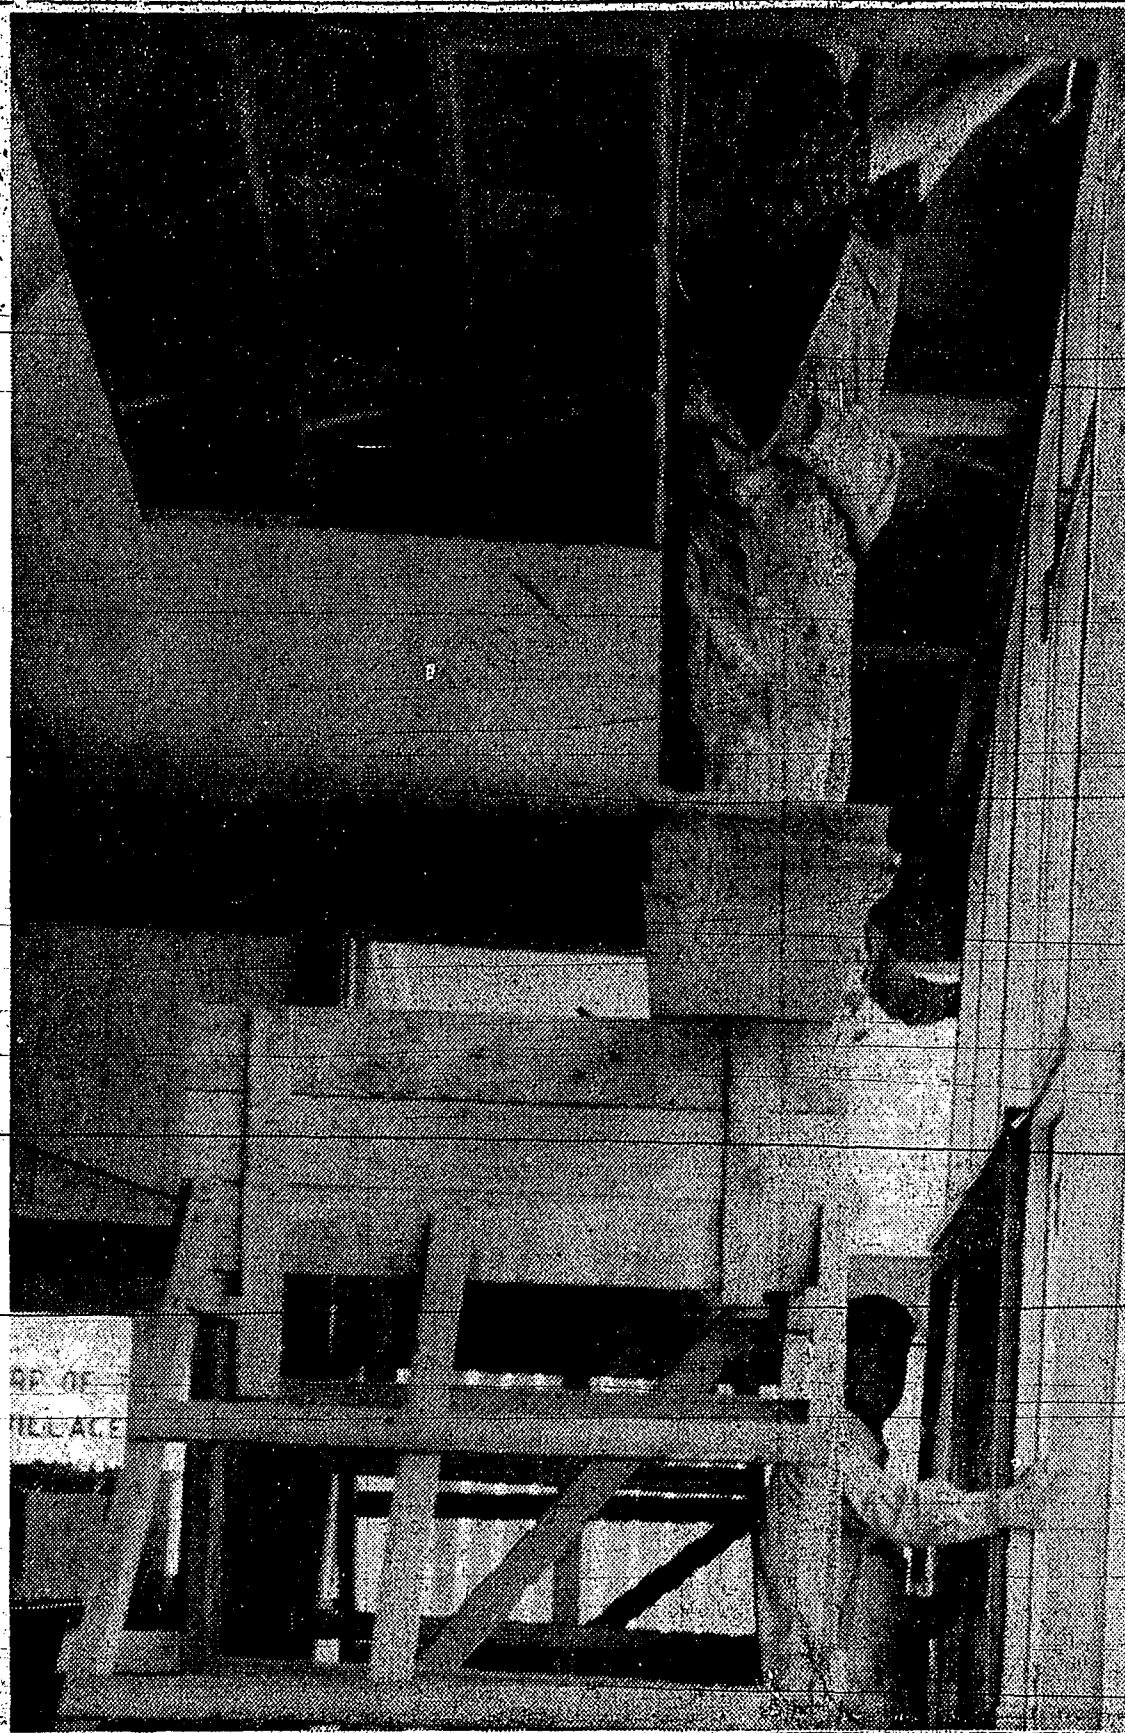

The bylaw committee, in a report last week, had recommended that the bylaw be changed to permit the removal of buildings of a certain value from the commercial or industrial area to a more suitable one if this was deemed necessary.

The company said this action would also result in the removal of all heavy equipment from the area in question.

Several of the councillors expressed their pleasure at the suggestion and it was felt this would lead to construction of a commercial building on the site which would be an asset to the main street.

The company had indicated it had plans for the area which would be a decided improvement.

With the councillors feeling this would be a good move, it was suggested that the matter be held in abeyance until the changes in the bylaw had been effected.

PUTTING the front wall of the municipal hall, which has been moved forward, into place during the alterations to enlarge the building are contractor Stan Banyard and two of his crew, Angelo Vangelista and Babuin.

Want Timber Supply

Pemberton loggers have Robinson's support

Lillooet MLA Don Robinson last week asked the forest service to negotiate a better deal for small loggers in Pemberton.

He claims that large timber companies are not developing large timber holdings, some of which were acquired fifty or sixty years ago. They do not appear to have any immediate plans to develop them.

These holdings now cost the companies only $140 a section per year and this is nothing. He urged the government to negotiate swaps and make other suitable arrangements with the large companies in order to open the already over mature timber in the valley to independent operators.

New arrangements should be on a 21 year lease basis, Robinson said. They should be made with the welfare of the independent loggers in the Pemberton district and the area at heart. He was speaking as the legislature gave second reading, which is approval in principle, to amendments to the Forestry Act.

AT VICTORIA

Recently two delegations from Pemberton presented briefs before the Select Standing Committee on Forestry in Victoria.

Danny Francis, on behalf of Tyee Forest Products, headed a delegation which asked for timber to guarantee an extended secondary timber processing industry.

He wanted a combined sawmill and pulp chip operation with a plywood or veneer plant and said this would provide further jobs for the people in the district.

He said his firm is prepared to invest up to three million dollars to expand the sawmill operation if the government will grant sufficient timber to make this economically possible. The firm, which now employs 75 people could be expanded to employ 250 if this was granted.

Timber in the area is scarce and this may be part of the difficulty facing the firm as the only large holding belongs to McMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd.

The following day the Independent Logging and Sawmill Operators of Pemberton presented their brief to the committee.

They asked that no one company receive additional timber volumes on a non-competitive basis. They claimed this would be unfair to present quota holders.

They asked if it would be possible to have some available timber at the north end of Lillooet Lake obtained by the government from the private owner and then turned over to the municipal council as a small TFL.

They also suggested that if the allowable cut be increased by 28 percent, the amount which was cut back some time ago, this timber, including any which might come from utilization of suitable pulp timber, should be fairly divided among the existing quota holders.

50th anniversary for Overwaitea

Overwaitea is celebrating its Golden Anniversary this year. The oldest food chain in B.C. has stores in every major area outside the cities and is well known to the housewife.

The name arose from the owner's practice of putting 18 instead of 16 ounces of tea in his packages, thus causing the customers to remark on his "Overweight" tea.

The founder R. C. Kidd of New Westminster, started in a small store on Columbia Street. In 1918 he opened his first branch store in Nanaimo and then he never looked back. Today they can be found on the Island, the lower mainland and in the interior.

In the past twelve years alone Overwaitea has opened thirty two markets and made repairs or renovations to 23 others. It is hoped that the 50th store will be built this year.

The 525 employees of Overwaitea all hold common stock and the harder they work the more the company grows and the more profits there are to share. The dividend has never been less than 8 percent and the annual payroll amounts to two million dollars.

A constant watch is being kept on the big developments in B.C. and as soon as the opportunity presents itself an Overwaitea store will be available to produce the same kind of quality and service at the lowest possible prices, the chain's trade mark for the past fifty years.

Tenders for dredging

Tenders for dredging at Squamish are being called. This is for 49,000 cubic yards, place measurement, class B materials.

These tenders are due not later than April 24, 1965, and are called by the Department of Public Works at Ottawa.

A provision of $50,000 is contained in next year's estimates to complete this dredging program.

Club plans April dance

The Squamish Future Citizens Club is planning to hold another dance at Paradise Valley's Melody Hall between 8 p.m. and 1 a.m. on Friday, April 9th. Music will be by the Majestics and everybody is invited. Semi-formal ties must be worn.

Keen interest shown

Thirteen candidates vie for six seats on council

A record turnout is anticipated at the first municipal election in the District of Squamish. Thirteen candidates have been nominated to fill the six seats on council. Barring some unforeseen set of circumstances, this will probably be the only time a full slate of councillors will be chosen.

The three candidates who head the poll will serve the remainder of the two-year term to the end of 1966, and the next three will serve for the balance of this year. There will be another election in December for three councillors to replace the retiring ones, and then three will be elected each year with a reeve elected in alternate years.

With a voters' list of 1935, and the new areas voting for the first time, a higher percentage than usual can be expected to take advantage of the opportunity to select the council.

65 PER CENT VOTE IN NOVEMBER

Last fall when electors were voting for amalgamation of the district, 584 ballots were cast. This was 45 percent of the actual voters' list, but when those living outside the district and unlikely to be present were deducted from the list the figure rose to 65 percent.

Saturday's election, with a record number of candidates, more than two for each seat, will undoubtedly draw out a great number of voters.

Three polling stations have been set up, one at the Brackendale school, another at Marmquam school and a third at the municipal hall. Polls open at 8 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

Six members of the present interim council are standing for re-election and the other seven candidates are making their first bid for public office.

A HEALTHY SIGN

Reeve P. J. Brennan, elected by acclamation to serve as the first elected reeve of the district, said: "The number of people running for council is a healthy sign. I am pleased to see so many taking an interest in municipal affairs."

A referendum for the extension of the municipal water supply will be presented to the electorate at the same time. The bylaw, asking for the authority to borrow $250,000 for the extension of the water main, is to cover the installation of a water supply for Brackendale and the possible development of an alternate source of water for the district.

The council presented the details of the referendum to the public meeting on Monday evening.

Lots of building activity here

This is quite the busiest March, from a building standpoint, that I think any of the residents of the district can remember.

Largest construction project is of course, the FMC chemical plant, but considerable other activity is also taking place.

Ocean Cement Co. has built a small plant on the former Emil Anderson property near the Stawamus Indian Reserve.

In Squamish itself, the addition to the Squamish Hotel is rapidly taking shape and Halter's Garden Shop should soon be completed. The municipal hall is also being extended.

On Cleveland Ave., two new buildings are well under way and additions are being built to two others. The new Times building is expected to be ready for occupancy by the end of this month and further up the street, near Pemberton Road, a new cafe is being built.

The extension to the Behner building to house the Alpine Sports Shop and provide additional room for the 5 to a Dollar store, is coming on well, while further north, the Little Chief Drive-In is also being enlarged.

Two new houses are being built in Northridge on the hill overlooking the town and two more are projected.

Considerable construction is also taking place in Garibaldi Estates and in the recently opened addition to the VLA where several homes have already been completed.

With three apartment projects planned one on Wilson Crescent, one in Garibaldi Estates and another in Valleycliffe, some of the need for additional housing for the construction workers expected here when the chemical plant is further advanced, will be met.

With various other building projects under consideration, this could well be a record year for construction in the Squamish Valley.

Fine for negligence

The by-law committee of the municipal council, on checking the bylaws, found a penalty clause in the present one concerning fires, which can be invoked.

Under this penalty clause, a fine of fifty dollars can be imposed if negligence concerning a fire can be shown.

The fire department has been very concerned about the number of grass and brush fires which have occurred during the past few weeks. Members feel that in many cases, carelessness in setting or looking after these fires has necessitated calling out the department.

A MULTIPLE VOTER WOULD END IN JAIL

A three time voter in this week's election would end up in the pokey.

Squamish, along with most municipalities in the province, allows its voters to choose any poll to cast a vote.

A candidate had raised the point that a person could vote as many as three times (there are 3 polls). He wondered what would be done if this occurred.

Municipal clerk, Glenn Fell, said the numbered list is cross-checked with the master list after each election and a multiple voter would be in jail before the ink was dry. Reeve Brennan said he didn't think any local person would even think of such a thing.

YOUNGEST curler at the Howe Sound Curling Club is Grant, the year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hendrickson. He really looks as if he knows what to do with that rock, doesn't he?

It's Your Choice, Choose Wisely...

Many people in the District of Squamish will go to the polls on Saturday, to exercise for the first time, their right to select their own councillors to handle their local affairs for the next two years.

It will be a momentous occasion. They will be asked to choose the six people to whom they wish to trust the growth and development of the district, in its most important formative years. It is an occasion which will never come again. In future, councillors will be chosen each year, three at a time, with a reeve elected every second year.

There are thirteen candidates to choose from. All have signified their willingness to serve on municipal government and this will, at times, prove to be quite a burden. In the past three months council has been meeting each week, and until the backlog of work is cleared up, this may have to continue. In addition there is a great amount of committee work which has to be done and as the district grows, this will grow also.

The candidates are drawn from the entire district and the entire district can vote for anyone. There is no ward system in municipal politics and there should not be one. Your councillors should be chosen on the basis of suitability for office. In other words, choose the one best fitted to conduct your business.

There is no longer any Squamish, or Mamquam, or Brackendale. Rather there is a district. Councillors must be just as concerned about the farthest reaches of the Cheakamus Valley which lies within the municipal boundaries as they are with the man next door whose problems are familiar and easily understood. It's not an easy task but it is up to you to elect that kind of councillor.

The basis of good government begins at the municipal level. We have always maintained that the standards we demand of people in public office in our own village, district, town or city, can be the basis for better government on a provincial and national level. Most of us will never know our MLA or MP but we all know the man down the street who is on the council.

By expecting the highest standards from people in public office we will get these standards. We are sure that every candidate has decided to run for office because he is motivated by the desire to do the best he can for the community.

It is up to you, the elector, to make a wise selection. The next few years may well determine the future of the Squamish Valley. You can decide that future by the ballot you cast. Use it wisely. But please use it.

Who Needs Sidewalks...?

Several times in the past few years urgent requests to build a sidewalk along the east side of Cleveland Avenue have been received by the municipal authorities.

The requests are for a sidewalk from the corner store at Wilson Crescent down to the elementary school in order to keep the young children from crossing the road.

We may be stepping out of line but we think the young elementary school students are very safety conscious, particularly those who go to the Squamish Elementary school.

They are very careful about crossing the street and use the sidewalk on the left side of the road. Those who have to cross again up at Wilson Crescent observe the same caution when they reach that corner. They are a credit to their parents and their teachers.

We wish we could say the same about the high school students. Speaking as a motorist, we are sure there must be many others who have almost aged ten years if they drive past that stretch of road at noon hour in particular.

The high school pupils, heading for the corner shop or for the drive-in close to town, walk just about anywhere they please. They are on the road, over the road and anywhere between the school grounds and the sidewalk. We're not kidding. We think it would do many parents a lot of good to take a look at the number of so called "senior" students who can't be bothered to cross the streets and use the sidewalk.

It's a dangerous situation. Any motorist who accidentally hit one of these pupils would never forgive himself, even if the youngster wasn't hurt. It was a fatal injury, there wouldn't be just one embittered family, the driver would bear a heavy burden for the rest of his life.

These are the students who should be setting an example for the younger ones. It's rather a shock to find the junior students being more safety conscious and careful, as well as respecting the rules, than those who should be setting them an example.

How about it, seniors? Why not try crossing the road to the sidewalk once in a while?

Insurance And Personal Morals...

"It's covered by insurance."

The little phrase is invoked on both sides of the legal fence these days. It cushions the loss of losers, such as the society woman who reportedly said it of her stolen jewels, after keeping the police waiting while she had breakfast.

It cushions the conscience of thieves and destroyers who reason that no one is hurt but the insurance company, and "they can afford it."

But as statistics from Victoria show in the above editorial where automobile damage from accidents on the North Shore is on a dangerous increase, the cushion is not so comfortable for the local insurance firms.

Not only is there careless, out-and-out damage to autos there have been instances of fraudulent insurance claims. Thus when insurance companies attack "moral decay," they have a certain self-interest in winning the battle.

It is refreshing to note that a large United States insurance company has launched an advertising campaign designed not to sell specific policies but to combat what it considers a moral decline. We hope it is successful and will be carried in B.C.

But the cynic who doubts the efficacy of newspaper ads against sin is reminded that Smokey the Bear did a lot to diminish the forest-fire problem in B.C. At any rate, for those who believe certain kinds of advertising, per se, contribute to moral decay, it is refreshing to have this weight on the better side.

OTHER OPINION

Chinese Checkers...

Canada has been edging towards a new China policy for almost as long as there have been two Chinas. Officially this country is still committed to the China of General Chiang Kai-shek, but in practice more and more de facto recognition is being given to the Peking regime. Trade relations are now firmly established with the Chinese mainland; Canadian officialdom has its contacts with Peking officialdom; every step has been taken, in fact, except the formal exchange of diplomats.

In the last few weeks both Mr. Martin and Mr. Pearson have taken up the China question once more. Mr. Pearson argued, before the Atlantic Treaty Association in Ottawa, that China was "arrogant both in its nationalism and its Communism, and its leaders know little and understand less of the outside world. If we exposed them more to the views of the rest of the world, we might some day expect a more realistic policy from them."

It is doubtful on the record whether such an exposure would do what Mr. Pearson suggests. The Chinese People's government is not isolated today. It has diplomatic relations with a large majority of the peoples of the world. It does not have them with North America, nor does it sit in the United Nations. But the issue is not the education of a Chinese regime; it is the simple fact that the government of China is not Chiang Kai-shek but Mao Tse-tung, and that the chances of the Formosa regime ever returning to the mainland are nil.

Inevitably the issue of recognition must be faced first in the United Nations and then by this country. In doing so we must take into account American views. To suggest we ignore them is to be as unrealistic about Washington as Washington is being about Peking—that we just cannot afford to be.

A controversial subject

Concerning report cards and what they indicate

by MRS. H. FAIRBANKS,
Elementary Supervisor,
Howe Sound School District
No. 48

I do not think there is any one element in education that causes more headaches, more heartaches and more heated arguments than the "Report Card".

Regulations require schools to send to the parents or guardians of each child a report showing his department, attendance, punctuality and progress. The first three points are usually accepted by parents without question, but the last — "progress" — presents the problem. Is it not strange that we, as parents, find no difficulty in accepting the fact that our Susie is not a brilliant musician or a great painter or a fine athlete? However, we do find great difficulty in accepting the fact that Susie might not be a "top student" academically.

SCHOLASTIC APTITUDE TESTS

During a pupil's school life he is given several scholastic aptitude tests (I. Q.) to determine his general range of ability. These ability ranges are the British Columbia norms or letter grades established by testing hundreds of students in our province and then using the normal distribution curve:

A	top 5%
B	next 20%
C plus	next 15%
C	next 20%
C minus	next 15%
D	next 20%
E	last 5%

Is it not reasonable to assume that if a child has an ability rating of "A" (among the top 5 percent of the students in B. C.) that, in basic subjects, he might be expected to achieve ratings in the A range? Is it not reasonable to assume, also, that if a child has an ability rating of "D" that he might be expected to achieve ratings in the D range?

There are exceptions of course as a "potential" A pupil can and does, at times, under-achieve with a C plus or a B mark, and some "potential" D students do, at times, achieve ratings of C minus or even a C mark, but these are exceptions.

ABILITY AND ACHIEVEMENT
In assigning letter grades the teacher bases her marks not only on classroom tests but also on district wide tests with B. C. norms and letter ratings. Thus, if your child receives an A in Reading then he should be expected to receive an A in Reading anywhere in B. C. (and we could possibly add — anywhere in Canada).

When tests have been given, results tabulated and letter grades assigned according to marks then, and only then, does the teacher check the pupil's achievement against his ability. In 90 percent of the cases they show the same result.

An "A" ability produced an "A" achievement;
A "B" ability produced a "B" achievement;
A "D" ability produced a "D" achievement.

All these pupils are achieving at the top of their ability — yes, even the "D" pupil.

However a few cases may give the following results:
An "A" ability produces a C plus achievement.
A C minus ability produces an E achievement.

These are distress signals which the teacher recognizes immediately and action is taken: (I) What is the cause? (II) What is the remedy?

Ed. Note: There has been a great deal of discussion and controversy recently on the subject of report cards. The following article by Mrs. Fairbanks should prove interesting and enlightening. Parents, especially those with younger children, will find it very helpful.

SOME SIMPLE SOLUTIONS

Sometimes the solution is very simple: glasses are needed or hearing is slightly impaired and needs treatment. But often the solution is not so simple. The teacher confers with her principal who, in turn may confer with school administrators and or public health nurse.

As a team these people explore every angle of the case and often come up with the answer. Sometimes they feel the need of more expert advice and refer the pupil to a clinic. We are interested in the progress of each individual child. Is he achieving up to his ability? If not, why not, and what remedial procedures are necessary?

In rating our students with British Columbia norms we feel it is the only fair and honest way to rate them on an all over pattern. Eventually our children must face up to outside competition — not just in our district or in their own school.

Take for example a small rural school with 3 pupils in grade four, all C minus ability. Would it be fair to give the top mark an A just because the pupil got the highest mark in the class even though it was much below the highest mark in another school?

NO MARKS WERE HIGH ENOUGH

We sometimes hear the remark that there were no A's given out. Why? Simply because no student was high enough to warrant an A according to B. C. standards.

We have had many new pupils enter our Howe Sound district during the past year. The majority of cases follow a pattern. The pupil who comes from a small school or a private school has been marked on a standard pertaining to only one room or one school and consequently the standards of marking are entirely different. On the other hand we have had pupils leave our district with a C minus ability and immediately rate A's and B's elsewhere. If this should happen to your children just be very sure that you inquire as to the standards upon which they are being rated.

ONLY FIVE PERCENT ARE BRIGHT STUDENTS

Please do not jump to conclusions that your child is "bright". Only about five percent of our total population of children are "A" students. To judge a child by his bright remarks and glib repartees is a very inaccurate gauge of his academic ability.

Most of our children are average. Why not use this as your yardstick unless the judgement of such authorities as the Child Guidance Clinic counsels you otherwise.

Nothing is more heartbreaking to a teacher than to have little Johnnie with a "D" ability say "My Dad has promised me a bike if I get an 'A' on my report". Why not promise him the bike, if he makes the Olympic team; he could possibly have more chance.

Many defenceless children have led unhappy, broken-hearted years in school because overambitious parents expected them to get top grades and top marks in all their work. Every child is unique.

Every child has been given his own set of talents which never conform to any talents inherited or "dreamed-up" by relatives.

REPORT TIME IS NOT REPROACH TIME

Do not let "Report Time" develop into a courtroom scene where child, teacher and school are on trial. Rather let it be a time when you get to know your child a little better.

What are his likes and dislikes, his strengths and his weaknesses? Encourage him and praise him no matter what his marks — if he has done his best.

God's great gift to you is your child. Help him by being interested and patient, by accepting him as he is and by being thankful that you have the wonderful privilege of raising a healthy, happy youngster.

Merit the great trust that has been given you in your child and do not let him look forward to "Report Time" as "Reproach Time".

Howe Soundings

Direct distance dialling really has one local business man all confused. Just listen to the tale of woe he told the B. C. Telephone representatives who attended a recent Chamber of Commerce meeting.

"I tried to get a long distance call," he said, "Doing my own dialling, and on the first try I got Burbank, California, of all places."

"That was bad enough," he said, "So, I tried again. This time I reached Dawson City. I don't know anyone there, and it sure sounded cold, even over the phone."

"I wasn't going to give in," he continued, "So I tried a call to Britannia Beach and lo, and behold, I reached the operator and gave her my number."

"She asked me where that was and I said, Britannia Beach."

"Will you please get Vancouver," she replied, "This is Regina!"

He gave up.

When Denny McDougall put up his building on Cleveland some of the local boys were asking him if he was going to put a sign on it. He said no, that he was painting it the brilliant mauve shade and everyone will be sure to notice it.

Last week a neon sign went up in front of the Music and Furnishing shop. Guess the color must be fading.

This must be a week for corny jokes but I heard a cute one the other day. The little old lady broke her leg and the doctor put it in a cast and cautioned his patient not to climb up and down stairs.

A month later he removed the cast and the old lady asked, "May I climb the stairs now?" "Yes" was the doctor's reply. "Good," she said, "I'm sick and tired of going up and down the ladder and in and out of the window!"

Notice how the good weather brings out the visitors? Every time the sun shines on the weekend the tourists simply descend on us. Even if not too favorable they still show up. By the time the summer comes and the city residents learn about the new road to Pemberton we'll need a flock of traffic lights at the intersections or we won't be able to get on the highway ourselves.

I just hope some of them stop off in Squamish and they don't all rush past in their urge for greener pastures.

Does any gas station in Squamish open before 8 a.m., or don't they think people ever get up before that hour? I know, one should realize he's going to need gas and get it before he runs out but what if he forgets and has to make an early morning trip to Vancouver or up the new road? Just curious, but with summer coming we're going to find more and more people arriving here early in the morning and they may need gas.

They don't all have to open early, perhaps they can take turns at it. Just so one is open and a poor fuel-less resident or tourist doesn't have to cool his heels for an hour or so when he's in a rush to get away. This could really annoy people. After all, gas stations are service stations!

People are getting quite a chuckle out of a sign in the window at the Little Chief Drive In. The notice had slipped down and the part showing said "Short Order Cook Wanted For Graveyard."

Ottawa Diary

The mood in parliament has changed. Suddenly the four Opposition Parties appear to have run out of steam. At one moment they were in full cry after the Government for giving up too much power to the provinces. Next they were taking the opposite tack.

Now Ottawa is charged with trampling on provincial rights. It is reserving too much power unto itself.

Mr. Diefenbaker's recent differences with his own Conservative caucus illustrates this point.

He wanted to attack the Canada Pension Plan on the grounds that Quebec could make its own administrative arrangements.

He wanted to oppose the Government's "opting out" legislation — a bill which allows any province to administer conditional grants in the provincial fields of education and welfare.

He also wanted to attack the new Constitution amending formula on the grounds that it entrenched the main powers of the provinces.

His caucus balked at the idea. Why? Because the provincial premiers had unanimously endorsed all three of these measures.

Also the Favreau-Fulton formula for repatriation of the Constitution is in its essential features, identical with the Fulton proposal put forward by the Diefenbaker administration in 1961.

Then there is Quebec to think about. How could the conservative Party hope to re-establish itself in that Province if it denied Quebec's right to legislate the fields which are specifically reserved for the provinces under the British North America Act?

The results are predictable. Mr. Diefenbaker was rebuffed. He has been silent on these issues — silent while his conservative front benchers have been thundering about provincial rights.

National unity is all very well they say. But the provinces must be allowed to go their own separate ways. After all the Conservative Party has always stood for a minimum of interference from Ottawa.

The intellectual flip-flop of the NDP is even more surprising. Mr. Douglas usually talks in terms of planning at the national level. But his followers are now saying that "opting out" is mere window dressing.

The provinces should have greater freedom to run their own welfare schemes. They should even have their own banks.

This is an amazing reversal, especially when one recalls that the Pearson administration has so often been accused of giving in to the provinces — all the provinces and not just the province of Quebec!

Silver Bowl ski races planned for Diamond Head

Diamond Head Ski Club is planning a gala ski weekend with races scheduled and a dance on Saturday of this week.

Called the Silver Bowl Slalom Race, the events will take place on Saturday, April 3 and Sunday, April 4th with the slalom on the first day and the downhill race on Sunday.

The dance will be held at Paradise Valley Resort on Saturday evening, commencing at 9:00 p.m.

The race is approved by the Canadian Amateur Ski Association.

DRAMA CLASS VISITS VANCOUVER

The drama class from Pemberton Elementary-School travelled to the coast recently. They visited the Vancouver Museum then went to see the show "My Fair Lady" and the play "Stop the World I Want to Get Off".

Making the trip were Alma Lundgren, Linda Miller, Mariana Polomski, Louise Reid, Glenda Mitchell, Margaret Mitchell, Judy McCulloch, Verna Shier, Judy Currie, Pat Gimse, Brenda Ayers, Jack Bryant, Chris Erickson and Paul Newman. Acting as chaperones were Mrs. Elsie Miller, Mrs. Marion Ayers, and Mr. Merrington.

According to the chaperones and girls they all had a marvelous time.

Predicts boom for Pemberton

Two cabinet ministers said last week the influx of visitors arriving over the new Squamish-Pemberton highway will improve the economic prospects of the Pemberton district.

Pemberton family has pet bear cub

by Mollie Ronayne

Mr. and Mrs. Toni VanLoon and family had a record number of visitors over the weekend to see their new pet, a baby bear cub about two months old.

The bear is about the size of a large cat, though of course considerably heavier. It has black fluffy fur and has the same rolling gait of a fullgrown bear.

The baby was found when Toni was clearing land. He bumped into the tree, a large cottonwood (half dead) with a bull-dozed and saw a bear emerge from a hole well up the tree.

Later in the day he decided to fall the tree, which he did and saw the bear take off into the bush. After the tree was down he heard a crying sound and chopped into the tree, finding the baby bear in a nest in a hollow part of the tree about 15 feet up the trunk.

The bear was bleeding a little but seemed otherwise unharmed. Toni took it home to his wife who fed it milk and honey from a bottle, on which it appears to thrive.

Signal Hill open house

Signal Hill School held open house on March 23 for all parents especially those who have pre-school children. Mrs. Fairbanks, Elementary Supervisor for Howe Sound District was guest speaker.

Her topic was "Emotional Needs for Pre-school Children". One of the main points of her talk was that parents should spend more time with their children.

Mrs. Vaughn Jones, grades 1 and 2 teacher, spoke on how to prepare your child for school. Refreshments were served following the meeting.

Education minister to open Pemberton school

The Hon. Lester Peterson, Minister of Education will formally open the additions to the Pemberton-Elementary-School at 2:00 p.m. on Friday, April 9th.

Baptiste Ritchie, chief of the Mount Currie Indian Band and A. W. Ratcliffe, Regional Superintendent of Indian schools, will also say a few words. The band and department contributed about 45 percent of the cost of the new additions.

A luncheon will be held prior to the opening ceremonies.

The additions to the school, approved in last year's referendum, consist of an Industrial Arts room, Arts room, Commercial room and Home Economics room. These will be needed even more when the vocational program is instituted this year.

Cost of the additions amounted to $160,000 and almost half was paid for by the Indian Affairs department and the Mount Currie band. At present almost 50 percent of the pupils come from Mount Currie and this can be expected to increase as time goes on.

GROWTH IN AREA

The growth in school attendance in the area is phenomenal. In 1948 there were only 22 pupils in the valley, twelve at Pemberton Meadows and ten at Pemberton. Today there are 272 pupils in the entire area, a growth of 250 in 17 years.

A school was opened at Creekside, now Mount Currie, in 1949 and at Pemberton, Signal Hill, in 1962. They had 14 and 44 pupils respectively.

The opening of the new high school will be sure to encourage additional settlers to come to the Pemberton Valley and the school board already has plans for the growth in present population and the anticipated increase.

MORE CLASSROOMS.

In the referendum passed earlier this year, the board included plans for bringing up the Industrial Arts room to standards with an addition, and enlarging the gymnasium to full size.

Three classrooms and an activity room are planned for Signal Hill while another classroom is to be added to the Creekside school.

The additions to the Signal Hill school will result in elementary students attending that school and Pemberton Elementary-Secondary will then become a full secondary.

St. Patrick's day supper

The Pemberton Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion, held a St. Patrick's supper on March 19th. Hot Turkey, pies, potato salad, buns and coffee were served buffet style.

Mr. Andy Anderson who was 81 years of age was presented with a beautiful birthday cake made by Mrs. Sinnis and decorated by Mrs. Marion Ayers. Mrs. Phemia Mezel was also presented with a lovely birthday cake made and decorated by Mrs. Marion Ayers.

During the evening 3 small raffles were held. Winners were: Mrs. Dodds from D'Arcy who won a pen and pencil set, John Cosulich, a box of chocolates, and Bert Lundgren a long play record. The Rod and Gun raffle of a Polaroid camera was won by Mr. George Furniss.

This affair was well attended and a good time was had by all.

SPRING is here. This shot of crocus in a local garden offers proof that it has arrived.

GUIDES HOLD TEA AT PEMBERTON

The 1st Pemberton Girl Guides held a mother and daughter tea on Tuesday evening, March 23rd, with the guides doing the baking and serving of the lovely cakes and cookies.

Captain Dawn Ross presented badges to some of the girls. Joanne Minzel, Barbara McCulloch, Irene Decker, and Rebecca Collins, received their 2nd class badge and 1st year pin.

Janice Messenger, received her 2nd class badge and 2nd year pin.

Lena Kuurne and Janet Miller received 2nd year pins, June Halliday received her hostess badge and 2nd year pin.

At the end of the evening the mothers and daughters had a camp fire sing song. Everyone had a lovely time.

Around Pemberton

by Agnes Taillefer

St. David's United Church held a pot luck supper on Sunday March 21st with the men preparing the food, which was delicious. Following the supper a short service was held with a film following the service. A good time was had by all.

Travelling to the coast recently were Mr. and Mrs. L. Talbot and boys, Const. and Mrs. D. Gamble, Mr. and Mrs. D. Gill and children, Mrs. Beth Pipe and son Randy, Father Scott, and Mr. Tom Allen.

Best wishes are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Salter who are leaving our valley after being with us in the forest service for almost six years. Mr. Salter has been transferred to the forest service in Merritt. Good luck, Folks!

The Women's Auxiliary to St. George's Anglican Church held their annual St. Patrick's tea and bake sale in the cafe of the community hall. The ladies feel that the sale was quite a success.

Valley dance

The Pemberton Farmers Institute held a dance in the upper valley hall on March 19th. Mr. Merrington, Mr. Elmer Hellevang and Jamie McCulloch supplied the music. Mr. George Hayes played the violin accompanied by Bert Lundgren on the accordion.

They kicked up their heels and had a good time until the wee hours of the morning.

B.C. Hydro announces:

$7.1 MILLION REDUCTIONS IN ELECTRIC RATES

The fourth decrease in rates since formation of B.C. Hydro will bring total customer savings to more than $20 million annually. Cumulative savings will reach $50 million by March 31, 1966

RESIDENTIAL

Residential rates are to be reduced by $5.5 million, giving home-owners an average reduction of almost 15%. This decrease in rates is effective for the first full month's billing after March 31, 1965 and will be reflected in May bills. Combined with previous decreases made since formation of B.C. Hydro in March 1962, it will bring total savings to home-owners alone close to $14 million per year.

This new residential rate will replace two existing rates:

NEW RATE		OLD RESIDENTIAL RATES
		without electric heating	with electric heating
First 300 kwh per month	2¢	2.5¢	2.5¢
Next 400		0.9¢	0.9¢
All additional	1¢	1.25¢	1.0¢

Examples:

SMALL USERS, say 150 kwh per month, (lights and small appliances) now paying $3.75 for electric service will pay $3.00 in future —

20% SAVING

MODERATE USERS, say 300 kwh per month, (lights, small appliances and cooking) now paying $7.50 for electric service, will pay $6.00 in future —

20% SAVING

LARGER USERS, say 1000 kwh per month (lights, small appliances, cooking and water heating) now paying $14.85 for electric service will pay $13.00 in future —

12.5% SAVING

ELECTRIC HEATING AND AIR CONDITIONING

All residential customers will now be able to use electric heating at the new low rate of 1¢ per kwh. A new reduced flat rate of 1¢ per kwh for all power consumed is now available to non-residential customers for space heating and air conditioning. This new rate will be of special interest to schools, motels and apartments.

IRRIGATION

For all irrigation pumping loads up to 100 hp, important rate reductions have been made. The energy charge for these loads will now be 0.85¢ per kwh for all customers, subject to a standard minimum charge of $6.60 per hp per season. This new rate will result in savings of up to 50%.

For all larger installations of 100 hp and over, there will be a new low rate of 0.60¢ per kwh, subject to a minimum charge of $6.60 per hp and a minimum bill of $660.00 per season.

GENERAL PRIMARY RATES

Rates charged to non-industrial customers supplied at primary voltages, such as department stores, hotels, office buildings, large schools and universities, will now be standardized, and will result in customer savings of $1.6 million annually.

These new rates are further evidence of B.C. Hydro's determination to make abundant low-cost power available at standard rates in all the areas it serves.

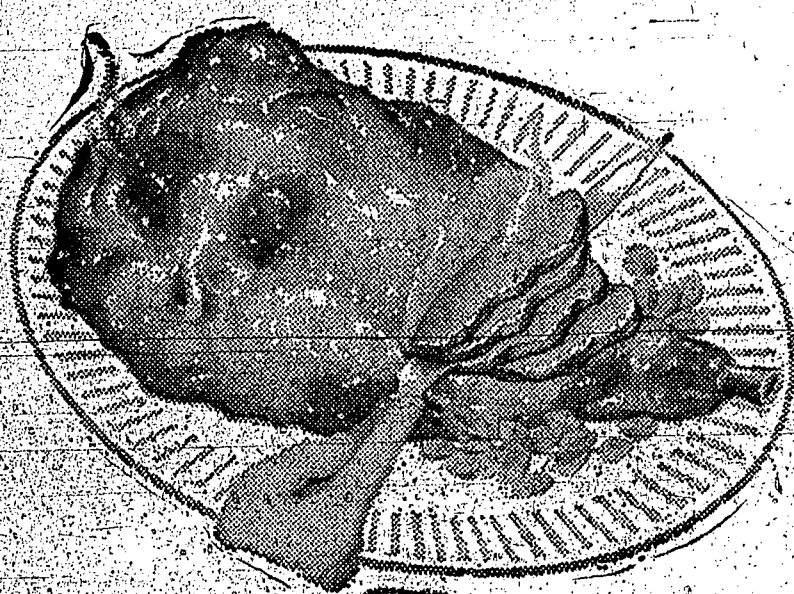

Through the development of massive amounts of low-cost power from the Peace and Columbia Rivers, British Columbians can look forward to decreasing power costs in future years.

Letters to the editor

Editor, Squamish Times:
By law dog owners have to buy a license for their dogs, yet it seems Squamish has no "By-Law" which prohibits dogs to run at large.

I buy a license for my dog, but I keep my dog at home. It is not allowed to roam. Why must I put up with other people's dogs, which don't even live near by? The dogs come and run shrubs, dig up gardens and scratch up lawns. There are several small children here. One of these days a child is going to be bitten by one of these dogs that roam.

People with no dogs have the same problem. Is it fair that we have to put up with these dogs? I suppose do not care enough about their pets to know where they are and make them stay home, they should destroy the dogs instead of letting them pester people.

Why doesn't the council or someone do something about this problem. The SPCA does not seem to be doing the job, as soon as he leaves the dogs are let go again.

With rod and rifle

Game official speaks to club

by John G. Wright

Reg King of the Department of Recreation and Conservation was the guest speaker at the Rod and Gun Club's regular meeting on Monday of last week.

He spoke on hunting and fishing and how conditions affecting them were changing with what we call progress. He said that, in the not too distant future the local deer population would be practically all gone but he expected that new areas now being opened up would more than compensate for this.

Five more lakes would be stocked with fish this year. They are Edith, Starvation, Lucille Butterfly and one other.

Mr. King took exception to an article under my by-line, asking where were the game wardens? He explained the department just doesn't have enough men to go around but they do visit different areas.

EDUCATION

NOT PROSECUTION
The department's main interest these days, he said, "is not to see how many they can catch (they do this if the situation warrants it) but rather to educate them wherever possible."

More post office boxes

Two hundred and twenty-four post office boxes have been added to the post office at Squamish, bringing the total number to eight hundred and four.

Postmaster Harvey Hurrey says this should be adequate for a short time but applications had already been received for one hundred and twenty-five.

He said if the present rate of growth in the area continued more will be needed before long.

Attend BCLMA meeting

H. M. Stilson, manager of Empire Lumber Division at Squamish, and R. Kilmartin, personnel supervisor for the local plant, attended the annual meeting of the B.C. Lumber Manufacturer's Association in Vancouver on Thursday, March 14th.

R. H. Ellison, former executive vice-president of Canadian Collieries Resources Ltd., president of the BCLMA, in his report, said the lumber cut, 94 percent of which is supplied by members of the organization, was up 6 percent to reach a record of 3.43 billion f.b.m. shipments by members to all markets were up 3 percent over the previous year, primarily due to higher sales in the United Kingdom.

Mr. and Mrs. Stilson and Mr. and Mrs. Kilmartin attended the dinner which followed the meeting.

COUNCIL CANDIDATES: Six to be elected

Dr. L. C. Kindree, physician and surgeon, seeking re-election for a fifth term on council.

During his eight years on the former village council he has worked on several committees, among them health, parks and finance. His chief interests have been the parks and recreational facilities.

"I am very gratified to see the valley united as one unit. There will be a few difficult times but I am sure it will work out for the best.

The immediate projects which must be undertaken in the coming term are the creation of a well functioning dual fire department and the extension of the water system to Brackendale.

It is urgent to get Woodfibre into our municipality as soon as possible.

I would like to see a good start made on the planning end and project the major stages of park development as well as setting out a program for the future."

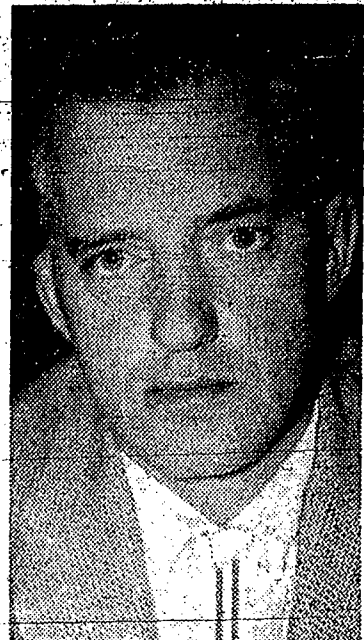

Robert Kilmartin, personnel manager for Canadian Collieries Empire Lumber Division, elected for the first time last December

Served as townsite manager as well as personnel manager for Tahsis for six and one half years. A town of one thousand people, it had problems similar to those which face Squamish; water, sewers, paved roads, trailer courts, docks and a small airport. Lived in Squamish for three years.

"I think it is important to plan now. The way this is done will affect this valley for the next fifty years.

I want to see proper zoning in the district, with suitable uses for the various areas.

Most anxious to see a government wharf here in order to attract small industry to the district. A wharf is also necessary to tap the volume of freight building up in the interior of B. C. which could be shipped through a port at Squamish."

George Dickie contractor, appointed to council in January as representative from the Mamquam Water Board.

Member of the Mamquam Water Board for two years and served on the Dyking and Drainage Committee. Has lived in the valley for seven years.

"I would like to make the Squamish Valley and the district a better place in which to live. In working on council for the past three months, I have helped to start some projects for the district and would like to remain to see them implemented. I would work for the community to the best of my ability.

Interested in dyking and river control because they are essential for the proper development of the district.

I would like to see adequate provision made for parks and recreation and to see these areas properly developed.

A planned building program is necessary for the district so it will grow step by step, instead of in a hit or miss manner."

Arie Hoogenboom, Carpenter, first try for council.

"I have lived in the valley for ten years and during that time served on the Mamquam Water Board and also was a member of the Recreation Association for two years.

Am interested in public affairs and I would like to work for the growth and development of the valley.

Dyking of the river systems, both the Squamish and Mamquam, are of prime concern to me, as well as to all residents of the valley and I am anxious to see something done to control them.

I am also interested in the young people of the area, but unfortunately I do not see as much of them now, since I have taken over my new duties.

I would like to be of some use to council in working with young people and their problems."

Melvin Carrico, school principal, first try for council.

Member of the Advisory Planning Commission and secretary of the Dyking and Drainage Committee, served on Library Board.

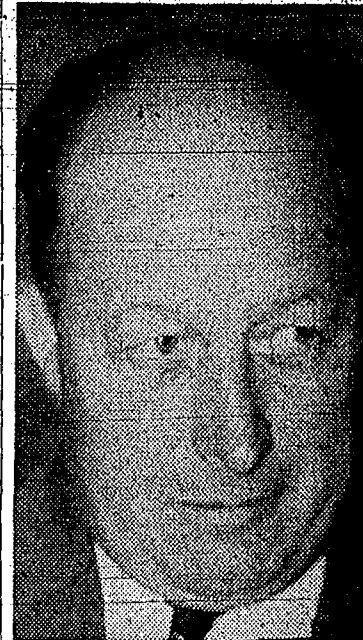

Lived in Squamish for four years and prior to that at Alta Lake for four years. Also with Dep't of Labor as an industrial officer for five years and later spent four years as an industrial relations manager at Kitimat.

"My prime interest is in river control because without it we have nothing at all. I would like to continue working for this project.

I would like to take part in creating, in the Squamish Valley a planned area in which people will wish to bring up their families.

Foresight should be given to provide adequate parks and desirable community activities as well as industrial, residential and commercial areas.

I would also advocate extension of the district boundaries to include Britannia and Woodfibre."

Glen Henderson, administrative engineer at Woodfibre, first try for council.

Appointed representative for the Brackendale area on the interim council which took office on January 1st.

"Although I have only lived in the valley for one year, since I built my home in Brackendale, I am no stranger to the Howe Sound area, as I came to Woodfibre the first time when only a small child, and have been around most of the time since then.

I have found the past few months on council an interesting and challenging period and feel I have learned a little about municipal affairs. I wish to be able to contribute to the community in which I live to the best of my ability."

Alfred Hendrickson, logging operator, seeking re-election for a third term.

Lived in Squamish for twenty two years and has seen it grow from a town with muddy streets and cows wandering around the fields to paved roads and sidewalks.

"Serving on council and on the various committees requires a lot of work but the rewards of seeing the work done are well worth the problems involved.

I stand for an aggressive and progressive council. I shall continue to work to the best of my ability for this community."

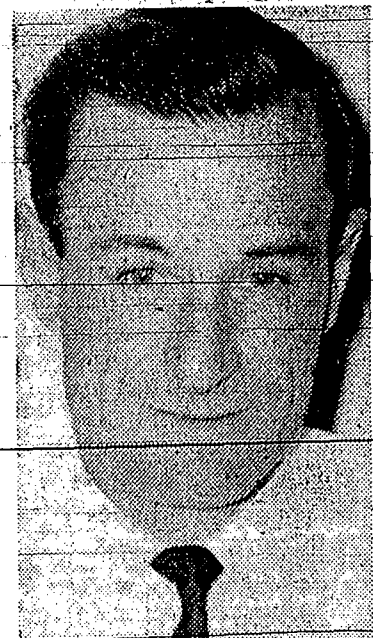

Gray Mitchell, harbor running for a second term on council.

"During my year on the village council and in the first three months of this year I have seen a program instituted and I want to see it carried through. The next few years undoubtedly will be the most important in the history of the valley.

I will work for anything which deals with the betterment or future development of the district of Squamish to the best of my ability.

I am interested in any problems which may concern the people and will do my best to try to solve them."

Isidoro Boscarol, logging operator, first try for council.

President of the Brackendale Farmers' Institute, member of the Squamish Valley Dyking and Drainage Committee and the Advisory Planning Commission. "Originally my interest in civic affairs was prompted by the need for a water system for the Brackendale area, and this has led to a desire to participate more fully in the business of the district.

I want to see the valley developed in the best possible way without a disproportionate rise in taxes."

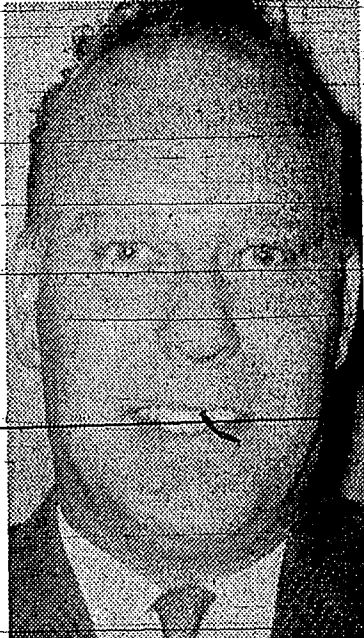

Elizabeth Antille, stenographer, first try for council

Member of the Advisory Planning Commission and a resident in the valley for the past two years.

"I am running for council because the job interests me and it is something I want to try to do. I would like to see a wider representation on council with people from all vocations and types of business.

I have a great respect for all forms of government and would like to do my best to see that respect fostered. I enjoy living in the valley and want to take a hand in making it a nice place in which to live.

I am interested in one unified valley with planning and development done for the good of the entire district. I would also press for action on an improved road between Squamish and Britannia."

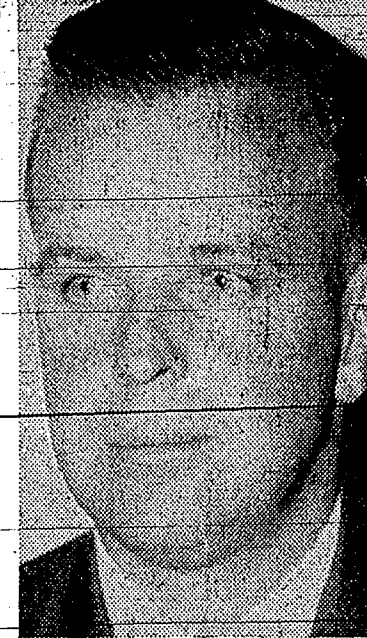

Evan MacDonald, electrical subforeman, first try for council.

Former chairman of the Recreational Commission, resident of valley for eight years and also a small business man.

"I have lived in all three districts in the valley and feel that I am familiar with all of them.

I am interested in the valley and its growth and would like to take part in making it the kind of place everyone would want to live in.

Recreational and park facilities for both young and old are another interest which I would like to see developed throughout the district."

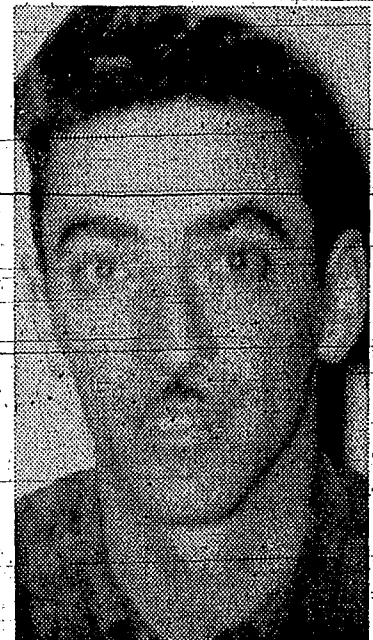

John Fredrikson, building contractor, first try for council.

"I have lived in the valley for four years and feel that my experience as a builder gives me a practical knowledge which might be of benefit to the district.

I am interested in the valley as a whole and want to share in making it a better place in which to live. I have no specific interest but just want to work for the general good of the valley and everyone living in it.

I want to see full cooperation in the district with everyone working for the whole valley."

Frank Golai, faller, first try for council.

"I have lived in Squamish for seventeen years and am very interested in the progress of the community.

I have seen the village grow until it became a district and feel that I would like to take part in the further development of our community.

Service to the people and the community will be my main interest."

MELBA TASS coming down the track at the Brennan farm during a regular morning workout. Driver Gordon Rea is helping Buster Marks get his trotters in shape for the harness racing season which starts in May.

From timber to trotters

Racing season climaxes long months of training

by Rose Tatlow

There doesn't seem to be any connection between logging and harness racing but you couldn't tell two local men that. Both Pat Brennan and N. H. (Buster) Marks share an interest in the logging industry and both men are the proud owners of horses which have done well at the harness tracks in Ladner.

Early on a sunny March morning, I drove up the valley to Brennan's track where Mr. Marks and his trainer, Gordon Rea, were working with the horses which included two who brought home considerable prize money for him last year, Melba Tass and Rippon Tass. Also at the ranch were Queen Harvester Scott, owned by Jack Wright of Calgary; Paradise Valley Ranch's Shafter Spud, and two horses belonging to Mrs. Marks, Margie Tass and Miss Long.

PROMISING FILLY
Veteran horse lover Frank Buckley was also watching the trotters and he brought out the nine month old filly, Misty, who Mr. Marks said with a laugh would be "Squamish's George Royal."

"If breeding and blood mean anything we think we have a winner in Misty," he said. "Her dam's grandsire was a world champion Billy Direct and her dam's sire was A. J. Hall by Hal Dale who sired Adios, the greatest sire of all time, a pacer who sired the present world champion Adios Butler. She is by High Key, by Long Key, a famous sire in the States." "But you never can tell," he said looking at the filly, who seemed quite unconcerned by the recital of her lineage. They have already started her on a course of training and in a few years she will be racing at Patterson Park.

MONTHS OF PREPARATION
"We start working the horses about the beginning of the year," Mr. Marks said, "and we spend hours with them every day. They have three one-mile workouts each day and after several hundred hours of this we start speeding them up. The races start about May 20th and the horses have to be in shape for the season."

His trainer, Gordon Rea, has been a lover of horses all his life but has only worked with the trotters during the past few years. "Guess you could say I've always loved horses," he said.

The Brennan horses, all members of the Tass family, were already in Ladner, having been taken down at the beginning of the month for further training. Two of them, Lindy Tass and Nano Tass, were among the consistent winners at Patterson Park last year. The others are Alonzo Tass and Maria Tass. They have been in training since the middle of December, preparing for the three month season which ends on August 14th.

BEAUTIFUL SPOT
Marks and his trainer led Queen Harvester Scott and Melba Tass out of the barn and harnessed them in the shafts of the light sulkies in readiness for their three laps around the track.

It would be hard to imagine anything much lovelier than the sight of the horses, eager to be off and running, against the background of green track, with the soft blue hills in the distance flooded with bright sunshine from a cloudless blue sky.

Frank Buckley stood beside me as we watched the horses go around the course, and even I, who admit to being afraid of horses, especially big ones, could see the beauty of their free flowing stride and it was easy to see how on could become a harness racing enthusiast.

After seeing them practice, it would be interesting to watch them in an actual race at the Ladner Park.

Britannia Beach News

By BETTY McNAIR

Parents who attended the elementary school PTA at Britannia Beach last Thursday evening were treated to a very pleasant surprise. Miss Bowers, our Grade 3 teacher, has been working with some of the girls and formed a choir. They presented a very enjoyable program.

At the business meeting it was announced a fund raising project will take place on April 8th. This will be a movie shown in the school auditorium called "Inn of the Sixth Happiness" starring Ingrid Bergman.

A panel discussion by four of our teachers on educational problems ended the evening.

Mount Sheer old timers were saddened to learn of the passing of Roly Beauchamp of Richmond on Monday, March 15th.

Roly and his family were residents of Mount Sheer for about 8 years. They left when the mine closed in 1958. He was a miner and was working as a shift boss when the mine closed. He will be remembered most for his cheerful smile and happy personality.

Our sincere sympathies go to his wife, Olga, and children, Karen and Randy.

Smorgasbord

a success

The Catholic Women's League Smorgasbord, held in the Parish Hall last Wednesday evening was a great success. The crowd which attended last year prompted the move to the larger hall and once again there were times when the patrons had to wait for tables.

The CWL would like to thank everyone who patronized the smorgasbord and made it such a success.

Mrs. Mollie Evans of Squamish won the cushion raffle and Pat O'Mahoney won the door prize.

MERCHANTS WIN HOME GAME 2-1

The Squamish Merchants scored their fifth consecutive victory March 21st when they downed Coquitlam by a score of 2-1 in a game played on the school grounds in Squamish.

It was a heady victory as Coquitlam is at the top of the league and defeated Squamish by the same score the last time the teams met.

Manager Gray Mitchell says the people of Squamish missed an outstanding soccer game when they failed to turn out in any quantity for the match.

Bill Gosling made both goals and special mention should be given to both Tom Rivett, and Armand Constatine who played a splendid game. Gary Hendrickson was in top form in goal, but it was hard to select stars with the whole team playing an excellent game.

Travels in America

Travel is fun but it's nice to be home again

by Wayne Marchant and Tom Stockdale

We went down to Key West last week and took a ride on this "conch train" which takes you almost right around the island and the driver explained the history behind everything you see.

We first toured through the navy base, seeing every kind of ship but mostly submarines. We couldn't get any photographs though cause it was a restricted area.

We also saw the southernmost point in the U.S.A., 89 miles from Havana. We saw several writers' houses, including Ernest Hemingway's. Key West is the second oldest city in Florida, and was owned for forty years by an English pirate who bought it from Cuba for one thousand dollars.

HURRICANE CUT RAILWAY

It is also the only city in the world to turn in its city charter. They did this in 1935 when a hurricane cut off the railway between Key West and the mainland.

Since the only industry was shrimping and tourists, the city died because the railway refused to rebuild the damaged track as it was too expensive.

Water was also a problem, their only drinking water was what they collected when it rained. Every house had galvanized roofs and drains. Now the navy has put in an eighteen inch pipeline to Key West but water is still a problem.

Most of the people in Florida aren't natives. Practically everyone I've talked to was born in the northeastern sections of the country. Of course the state only keeps out of debt by its winter tourist trade. This time of year is when the cheapest motel is twelve dollars. In the summer they give you rooms for one fifty a night. Miami Beach in the winter has a population of 48,000, in the summer, 8,000.

WE VISIT WASHINGTON

The second best part of our trip was Washington, D. C. We arrived in the afternoon and went to the White House but couldn't get in, but we came close to the "top brains" of the world. Johnson, McNamara and another man flew to a top secret hideout to discuss Viet Nam.

We went up the Washington monument, 550 feet high, and viewed the city. We also went through the first Smithsonian Museum, of history and technology. We saw the first telephones, cameras, clocks, cars, trains, motors, telegraph, clothing, weapons, you name it; it was there.

Next day we took a tour in a 1965 Cadillac limousine. We saw the aircraft building; here was the Wright brothers first plane, first balloon, rocket, etc.; the satellites which were recovered, the one with the monkey, the Friendship 7 and 8, Glenn and Shepard's space ships. All the major rockets were there, Thor, Atlas, etc.; spacesuits, and planes from the First and Second World War.

MUSEUMS AND THE MINT

The next building contained weapons and they had everything in that line. We went through the Navy, Army and Airforce Buildings, the Museum of Natural History, where we saw dinosaurs and every kind of animal and bird. We saw the Dead Sea scrolls too.

The Authors: Wayne Marchant and Tom Stockdale graduated from Howe Sound Secondary school last June and decided to save their money and tour the United States after Christmas. They left early in January and the following excerpts from their letters give us a young person's view of the country to the south.

If you spent one and one half minutes at each exhibit in the Smithsonian it would take seven years to see everything!!

We saw the Mint, where they make forty million dollars a day. We watched them actually printing each side of the money. They make a sheet of eighteen notes at a time and then cut them later. They were making twenties when we were there and the man cutting the bills into individual notes picked up one hundred thousand dollars every time he made a cut. Just amazing.

It takes fifteen days to make one bill. The room is only about twice as big as our house. The money is counted by machines and by hand, eight times, and each bill is inspected. The smoke coming out of the chimney was worth twenty thousand a day.

THE CAPITOL AND THE SENATE

Then we went to the Capitol building. It would take a month to tell about it. We saw the House and the Senate in operation. Bob Kennedy was chairman of the Senate.

We were going to go through the White House but it was closed because of picketing about Alabama. There was a Nazi demonstrator there with a sign saying "Who needs niggers?" Isn't that something?

BEST PART OF THE TRIP

We have seen many things including the Keys, coral reefs, Washington etc., but the best part of the trip by far was going over the Rainbow bridge into Canada.

For the first time I realized that Canada and Canadians are much different to our friends across the border.

After crossing the border, we had to pay a fifty-five cent toll to an American, who never said thank you. One hundred feet later, Canadian customs. The man said "Welcome home" before we said a word. He asked us if we had any booze or women in the back and then sent us into the office.

The man in there asked us what we bought in the States, it came to over fifty dollars but he said it didn't matter so we went into Canada without a search. He was a great guy.

NIAGARA FALLS

We went to the first motel, overlooking the falls. We thought it would be really expensive, but it was only ten dollars for TV, twin beds, two bathrooms (really).

In fact it was the best room we've stayed in and overlooking Niagara Falls. Supper was great and inexpensive.

"I'll never again say, we're like Americans. We are better!"

Nine Britannia Brownies enroll

by Betty McNair

Nine girls were enrolled in the Britannia Brownie Pack at a ceremony on Thursday afternoon, March 25th. Mrs. Holioien is the Brown Owl, assisted by Mrs. Yaky.

Enrolling were Vicki Andrzejuk, Lisa Bouley, Noreen Busko, Betty Ann Cayen, Debbie Holowachuk, Anita Kannik, Marg Rankmore, Valerie Shavella and Linda Sherwood.

Seven girls, Jean Auclair, Valerie Dyck, Doris and Juliet Hoeflich, Patty Holowachuk, Debbie Marion, Delaine Pickard and Cindy Price, received their Golden Bar while Isla Patterson and Linda Sametz were the first two girls to receive their Golden Ladder. Brownie World Pins were presented to Jean and Susanne Auclair and Betty Ann Cayen, and with the acquisition of her third stripe Norma Cripps will now be the head sixer.

Many mothers attended the ceremony and refreshments were served by four members of the Girl Guide company who baked the cookies and did the serving to obtain their Hostess badge. The girls were Paula Baverstock, Claudette and Sharlene Friesen and Denise Levesque.

Ninth birthday for Carl Halvorson

Carl, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Thor Halvorson entertained a number of his friends and relatives at a weiner roast last Saturday to mark the occasion of his ninth birthday. Replete with weiners and buns, the youngsters took off for the matinee at the local theatre.

Among those wishing Carl many happy returns of the day were Don Lloyd, Robert Kominuk, Kim McRae, Allan and Randy Lewis, Rene Trudeau, cousins Olaf and Don Halvorson and his brother Gary.

Elks fund aids local children

Few people here realize that the local lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of Canada and its auxiliary, The Order of the Royal Purple, will grant assistance to any needy child 16 years or under in this community.

Such aids include medical attention, surgery, glasses, hearing aids, dentures, braces for limbs, artificial limbs, or the essential necessities of life which they are being deprived of through unemployment or sickness of the parents.

Sam T. Dare, Grand Exalted Ruler of the B. P. O. Elks of Canada, said in a recent statement that last year B. P. O. Elks and O. O. R. Purple lodges contributed a total of $75,000.00 to their National Objective in aid of children throughout Canada.

"Communities such as this need only apply to the local lodge and state the case of a child in need for their consideration," he said. "The National Fund," he added, "is solely supported by contributions from B. P. O. Elks and O. O. R. Purple lodges."

"This fund is unique in re-

Fire damages RGE bridge

A fire on the railway bridge over the Copper Creek at Britannia caused some excitement here on Friday night.

Mrs. C. Kristianson was first to spot it at about 9:30 p.m. she immediately phoned the Anaconda Co. volunteer fire brigade and the railway.

About 10 ties were burning fiercely when they arrived with a smaller fire burning 20 to 30 ft. further up the track. It was quickly brought under control.

THREE CHRISTENED IN LOCAL CHURCH

On March 21st during the morning service the three children of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Carson were christened by Rev. Harold Wingfield. Terence Gene were the names bestowed upon the six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carson while their two-year-old daughter was named Danise Rose and their little nine-month old girl received the names Vicki Lynn. Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Gilmore were sponsors for Terry and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Regier are godparents for Danise and Vicki. Following the service an informal get-together was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carson. Rev. and Mrs. Wingfield were present in addition to the children's godparents.

OAP elects new officers

Vincent Yates, provincial president of the OAP, and Mrs. Yates were special guests at the annual meeting of the Squamish OAP held in the Elks Hall on March 22.

Fun day provides fun

The ladies of the Jean Neil Circle of the UCW held a Fun Day at the Squamish Lanes on Saturday March 27.

Among those playing five pins Anne Chamberlain won the prize for the highest three game score while Rita Woolley won the prize for the high single. Winners of hidden scores were Li Antosh, Rose Patenaude, Anne Chamberlain and Freda Clarke (two).

In the group of ten pin players Bev Munro was the winner of the high single prize and Jacquie Brock winner of the award for high three.

Hidden score winners were Pat Woodcock, Jacquie Brock, Hilda Golay and Bernice Boscarol (two).

Lucy Skerratt was the winner of the prize rack donated to the Fun Day by the Squamish Lanes.

In addition to the bowling the ladies held a most successful bake sale.

Officers installed

The Pemberton Royal Canadian Legion Branch 201 held their regular meeting on March 16. Mr. McLennan secretary of Pacific Command installed the officers for the incoming year, and also gave an informative talk to the membership.

At the same meeting T. B. M. Fougberg presented past president medals to Fred Collier and Jack Graham, a past secretary medal to W. R. Taillefer, and a past treasurer medal to E. H. Gethen.

Many attend whist drive

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Legion held their fourth successful Military whist drive in the Legion Hall on Friday, March 26th at 8:00 p.m. Seven tables participated and refreshments were served by the president, Doreen Shaw, Mrs. Rose Lamport, and Mrs. Irene Hurford.

Prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. Rene De Smet, Mr. and Mrs. R. Silcock, both from Garibaldi who took the first prizes, while consolation prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. Rod Farquharson, Mrs. Ellen Binning, and Mr. Lou Erickson.

Mrs. O. Reeve would like to thank all those who have supported these whist drives. They hope to have them about every fourth Friday of each month. Watch for further notice in the Bulletin.

Social Notes

by Freeda Clarke

Lee Gebhart is holidaying in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Moule of Grand Forks visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Moule last week.

Our sympathy is extended to Mr. J. Crowston on the death of his mother.

Mrs. Gary Hendrickson and her son Grant spent two weeks in Trill visiting her parents.

Mrs. L. Keyes and her son have moved into the former Leach home on Garibaldi Ave. Mr. and Mrs. Danny Thom and their children spent a recent weekend visiting relatives on Vancouver Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Sisco and their son Kent were weekend guests at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sisco.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Keith Hendrickson on the birth of a daughter, Diane Lynn, weighing seven pounds four ounces at the Squamish General Hospital on March 27.

Lefty Hendrickson returned to Eugene, Oregon after spending a week and a half with his parents Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hendrickson.

Mrs. M. Daniels of the Beauty Salon is now the proud possessor of a mink stole which she won at a hairdresser's show in Vancouver early last week. She got it just in time for the cold weather we had at the beginning of the week.

Mr. F. Bennett is away on a trip to California with her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Allott were delighted to hear that their daughter and son-in-law, Const. and Mrs. A.A. Dreger, who had been in Regina, are now in Vancouver where he is working with the crime laboratory.

Our feelings are hurt

In the March 8th issue of the Vancouver Daily Sun there was a picture of a portable building being constructed.

Nowhere in the accompanying text was any mention made of the fact that this was a school classroom on the Stawamus School site. Take a drive up the hill and you will recognize the building which houses Miss Anne Stockman's young learners.

Fortunately for the local alerts the mountains in the background were a dead give-away.

POLICE COURT

The following cases appeared before Magistrate C. I. Walker last week.

On March 16th, George R. Richardson was convicted on a charge of following too closely behind a vehicle. The charge arose from a motor vehicle accident. He was fined twenty dollars and costs.

On March 23rd William J. Marsh pleaded guilty to a charge of driving without due care and attention. Marsh, who had apparently fallen asleep in the vicinity of Browning's Lake on February 24th, drove off the road causing approximately $1,200 damage to his car. He was fined $35 plus costs.

On March 9th, a juvenile appeared before Magistrate C. I. Walker and pleaded guilty to unlawful possession of explosives. He had dynamite and blasting caps, stolen from a magazine at Britannia Beach.

The juvenile was placed on probation for eighteen months. Magistrate Walker, in his talk to the youngster, stressed the danger of explosives and warned him of the possibility of serious injury if they should be accidentally detonated.

Bake Sale

The W. A. to Squamish General Hospital held their Spring bake sale and cake raffle on March 26.

Winner of the cake was Mrs. D. Woodcock of North Yards.

The W. A. wish to thank all those who so kindly donated baking for the sale.

The next sale will be held in June.

LOOKING north from the Squamish Hotel in the early 1920's. The old slough which ran between Cleveland and Second Street is bordered with huge spruce trees and horses are grazing behind the site of the present Chieftain Hotel. To the left of picture lies Second Street and the bowling alley would be just a little further left.

Students win Clinton bonspiel

by Linda Lush

Our curling teams really tied things up right when they came back from the Clinton bonspiel with all 8 trophies! On March 20 and 21, 4 of our best teams went to Clinton to curl in a bonspiel against Mr. Swanton's school. We reigned victorious! Pam Shaw, Mike Buchanan, and Brian Shaw skipping the Sr. Girls', the Sr. Boys', and the Sr. Mixed teams, are proud to say they won all of their games. But Jay Drenka is a little embarrassed when people ask which team lost to the Clinton Jr. Girls.

Mr. Swanton greeted us at the train station in Clinton with a bright smile on his face. I think he was glad to see us again. At the curling rink we got organized, met our billets, and saw the schedule for our games. The two boys' teams had to play right away but the girls and the mixed team had a chance to freshen up before meeting the opposition. Each team curled two games—one Saturday night and one Sunday morning.

PARTY AT SWANTONS

On Saturday night, Mr. and Mrs. Swanton opened their home to us and we had a really terrific party. Our boys seemed especially taken with the Clinton girls and when Mr. Baldry jokingly said the party had to break up in 5 more minutes, there was a resounding roar of groans. Everyone went home around midnight so they would be fresh to curl in the morning — or, at least, that was what they were supposed to do. After our games on Sunday, everyone went back to the Swantons' to take up where we had left off the night before. But that was short lived — the P.G.E. would not wait for us.

Even the long 6-hour trip back on the train was fun what with being excited about our victories and hashing over the party the night before. We couldn't have asked for a better weekend — seeing the Swantons again, partying, getting in some very good curling, and winning all the trophies. I think we all have the curling bug now and can hardly wait for another chance to enter a bonspiel.

START PLANNED ON GARDEN APARTMENT

An immediate start is planned on a 30 suite garden apartment complex to be built on Garibaldi Way in the Garibaldi Estates subdivision.

Mr. Jeske, who will be building the suites, appeared at last week's council meeting to present his plans and request permission to start immediately on the project which will contain suites with one, two and three bedrooms.

Approval will be granted if this use falls within the zoning bylaw plan now being prepared and council assured the builder he would be notified in the near future.
