Lions back Centennial project here

Pemberton — At the regular meeting of the Lions Club a request for signed pledges of money, labour or materials, for the $2,000.00 needed by the Centennial committee as the required amount of money for the district, to make the valley eligible to receive the grant from the government was read.

The Pemberton Lions Club, after discussion has donated 200 man hours, valued at $2.50 an hour, and will give $100.00 in cash to the Centennial Committee. This is in reality a donation valued to $600.00, a big boost for the project.

If the Centennial Committee finds that further assistance will be needed, the Lions will help wherever they can to see that the project is completed.

To hold talks on tourism and allied subjects

Mrs. A. Makowichuk and her tourist committee will meet with representatives from Pemberton to discuss tourism and other questions allied to the influx of summer visitors.

A request from the Pemberton Board of Trade for such a meeting was discussed but the Chamber felt it would be better dealt with at the committee level than at a full meeting of the group.

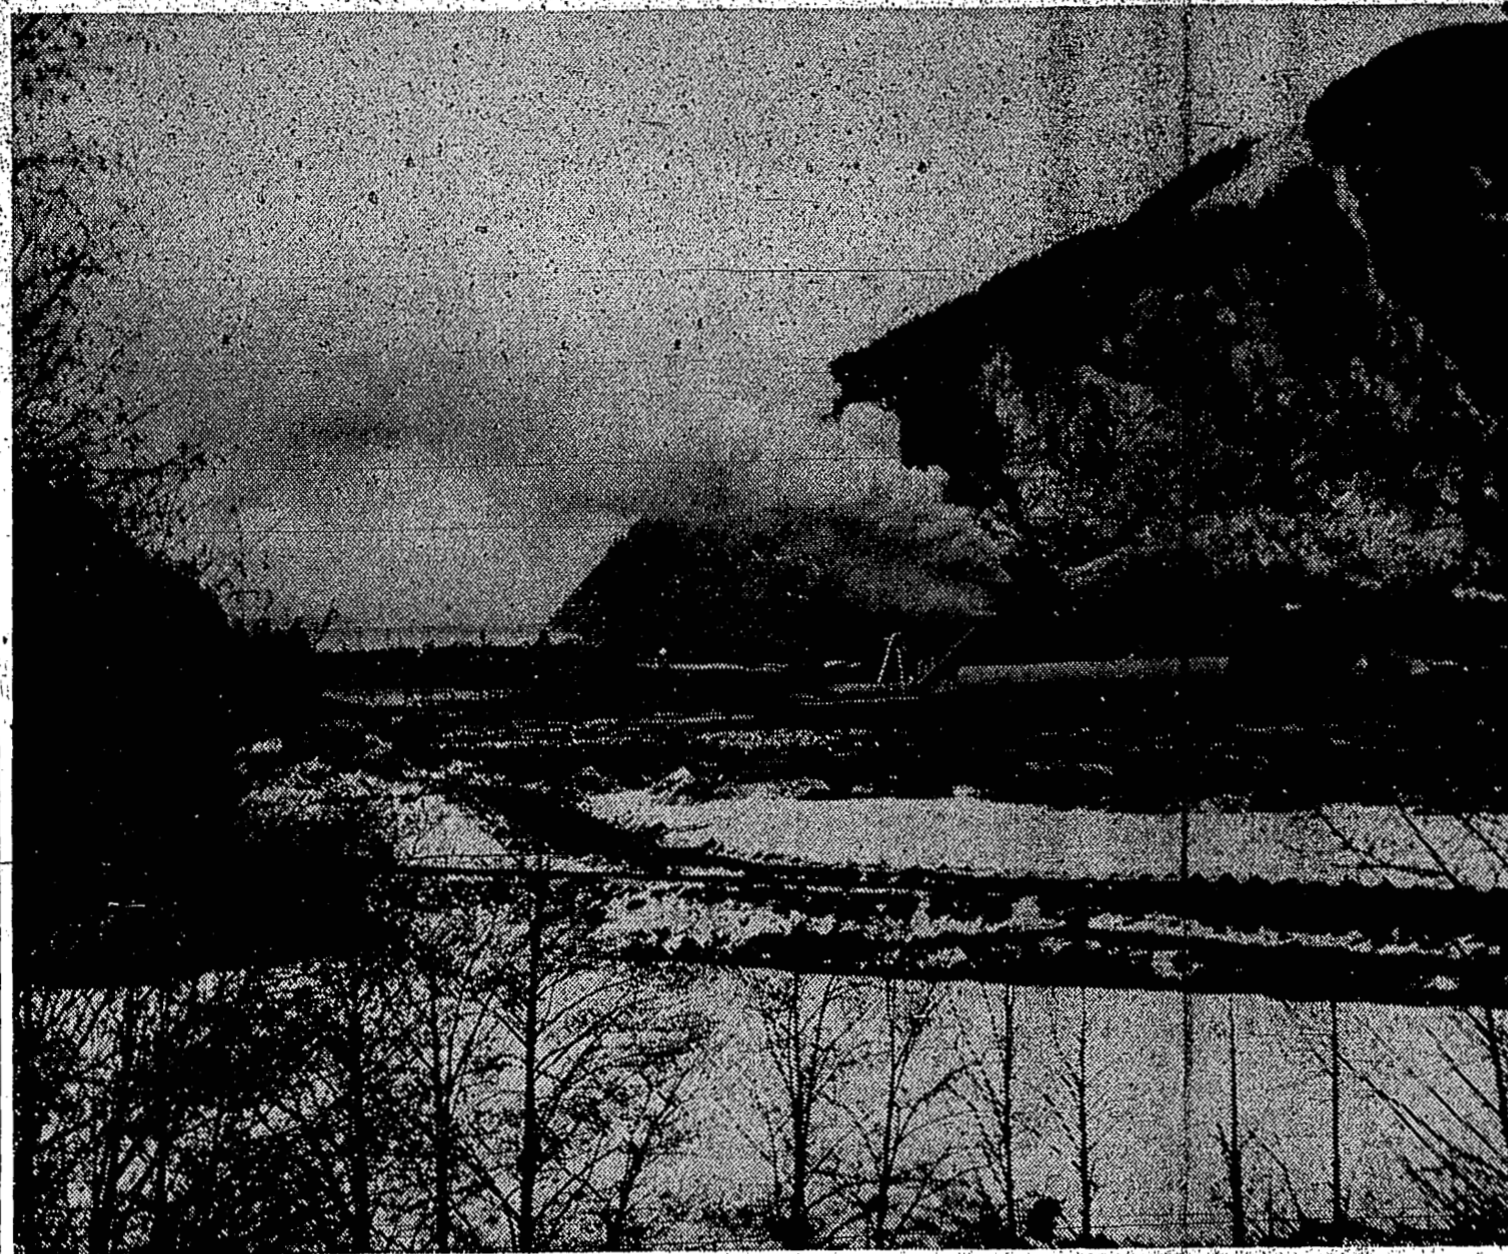

With the tourist season only a few months away early attention to the visitors and their problems is essential.

Poster competition

March 6th to the 13th is Education Week and the Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a poster competition in the elementary schools for the best poster on the subject.

A committee will judge these posters and they will be displayed in the window of the Town and Country Shoe Store. J. Phillips, manager of the store, and vice-president of the Chamber, has kindly agreed to permit the display.

Further particulars on the contest can be obtained at school.

PLUMES of smoke which have been causing all the complaints in the valley in the past few weeks are here shown heading down the Sound. Later in the day they seem to lie over the town and this is when the fallout of flyash and cinders occurs.

Paving for access road

A report from the Public Utilities committee of the Chamber of Commerce last week said the access road from the new highway north of the new bridge to the centre of town would be paved as soon as the weather permitted.

Apparently temperatures of 55 degrees would be necessary before the paving could be attempted.

New members welcomed

Three new members were admitted to the Squamish and Howe Sound Chamber of Commerce at last week's regular meeting.

B. B. Greenlee, manager at Anaconda's Britannia Beach plant; B. Mobius of Garibaldi Glass and W. T. Lewis, accountant are the new members.

Outstanding record of service

T. M. B. Fougberg named "Citizen of the Year"

T. M. B. (Slim) Fougberg was presented with the Squamish Times "Good Citizen Award" for 1965 at the civic dinner at Paradise Valley last night.

Dr. L. C. Kindree, last year's award winner, made the presentation, saying it was for an outstanding record of service over a great many years.

Best known in Squamish as one of the members of Howe Sound School District's Board of Trustees, Mr. Fougberg has been affectionately called "Mr. Pemberton" by the many people in the district.

Recently he was referred to as a "tall, trim guy, who has a finger in every pie" and these words could not be truer for in the almost forty years he has lived in the Pemberton area he has participated in practically every activity there.

Slm has been a president of Branch 201, Royal Canadian Legion and the Pemberton Board of Trade. He is an elder of the United Church and Session member of the Committee of Stewards, has served on the Board of School Trustees in 1959 and 60 and again since 1963; is a past chairman of the group committee of the Boy Scout Association, and now represents the school district on the Union Board of Health.

He has served on the Pemberton Diving Commission and at present is chairman of the Centennial Committee and a vice-president of the newly-formed Lions Club.

INTERESTED IN YOUNG PEOPLE
The latter club's motto "we serve" could be the slogan which Slm has adopted throughout his life.

His keen interest in young people is shown by his work on the Scout group committee but even more in his interest in the J.O.T.P. of the Royal Canadian Legion where his two interests, young people and sports can meet.

He is always loading down his truck to take youngsters to ball games, to Vancouver to see or take part in athletic meets, or for any sport activity or other function which may interest the youth of the valley.

With his wife, Margaret, a former trustee and now on the teaching staff at Pemberton Secondary School, he is working on the integration of the native children with the others in the valley. To further the understanding between the two races they have often taken young people for holidays at their cabin on Blackwater Lake.

BORN IN NORTHERN SWEDEN
Born in 1906 at Ranea in Northern Sweden, above the Arctic circle, Thord Bure M. Fougberg, was one of four children in the family of a government forester who lived near the Finnish border.

While still a youngster, with his brother Rolf, who now lives in Vancouver, he worked in the forest before leaving home when he was 17, going to Finland where he spent two years in the forest industry.

He came to Canada in 1925 and worked in eastern Canada before coming to the west two years later, going almost directly to the Pemberton Valley where he worked at sawmilling, truck driving, and mining and also ran his own trap lines in the valley of the Lillooet River. It was during this time that he made a trip from the head of the Bridge River over the ice and down to the head of the Lillooet River. He was also an excellent skier and interested in all forms of sports.

He married shortly before the Second World War where he served with the Canadian Army overseas and in Sicily where he contracted arthritis as a result of his war service.

FARMED IN THE VALLEY
He spent two years in Shaughnessy before returning to his home in the Pemberton Valley in 1945 where he took up a VLA farm which he operated until 1945 when he sold it to Sam Gilmore.

Since that time he has been unable to work because of his arthritic condition and has instead devoted himself to service to the community and its young people.

His love for the Pemberton Valley is shown by the way he delights in showing it to the many people who have come to know him during these years, and he is never happier than when he is able to take these friends to Blackwater Lake where for many years he enjoyed fishing with his cronies, Magistrate J. O. Decker and the late Joe Taillefer.

He is still an ardent fisherman and last spring Education Minister Peterson looked forward to a fishing trip with Slim and Don Ross as a wonderful relaxation after a busy week. Another hobby, working with the native stones and creating attractive objects and items of jewelry from them, has been absorbing some of his interest in recent years and many people proudly wear a tie clip or other item which he has fashioned.

Perhaps the finest statement anyone could have made about "Slim" Fougberg was uttered by one of his friends a short time ago. "I've argued with him bitterly at times," she said, "but even though we have disagreed, I know that he is still my friend."

Seven girls join Guides

On Feb. 3rd seven girls were enrolled at a candle light ceremony. The Captain, Mrs. Lipsey enrolled the girls who were: Darlene Crowston, Patty Richards, April Connolly, Ethel Kennedy, Lori Boscarol, Patsy Carrico, and Lyn Fredrickson while their sisters of guiding looked on.

The meeting was ended by the camp fire led by Judy Brander and Taps.

Cost in the millions

Government surveys suggest port facilities possible here

Surveys and studies by both the provincial and the federal governments indicate the possibility of port development in the Squamish area and in three others on the lower mainland.

Trade minister Lofmark said in Victoria last Thursday that PGE Rly and B. C. Hydro are jointly conducting engineering surveys with the provincial government of port prospects at Boundary Bay, Squamish and Sturgeon Banks.

The federal government will possibly build several docks in the Vancouver area under the NHB.

In his statements regarding ports Lofmark said the limited future of Vancouver harbour was created by the advent of bulk loading large freighters whose draft prevents them from entering Vancouver harbor. He also said sufficient land for bulk loading facilities was not available in the port area.

$100 MILLION FOR SQUAMISH?

Studies at Squamish could result in the building of facilities costing $100 million the minister said, while the other two projects mentioned, Sturgeon Banks and Boundary Bay could be $200-$300 million and $500 million.

He added that development of harbor facilities would require joint federal-provincial participation but that the provincial department would be prepared to pay part of the cost. The federal government would be expected to put up the bulk of the money.

He also said he could not emphasize strongly enough the need for bulk loading facilities with plenty of industrial land adjoining.

When asked to comment on the minister's statements, Reeve P. J. Brennan said, "I can remember when we were promised an assembly wharf. That was in Jimmy Sinclair's time. We still haven't got it."

He added that suggestions for port development had been mooted many times in the past thirty or forty years and they are still unrealized. "I would like to see Ottawa wake up to the fact that there is a portion of Canada west of the Rocky mountains and do some developing here instead of concentrating on the east."

WAIT TILL PILES ARE BEING DRIVEN

The reeve went on to say that no one would be happier than he would be if more industry arrived and port development took place, "but I won't believe it until I see the piles being driven and even then I'll keep my fingers crossed."

A. Reynolds, of the Public Utilities committee of the Chamber of Commerce who has long been interested in the possibility of port development here, said he would like to know a little more about it.

"Silt and dredging at both Boundary Bay and Sturgeon Banks would be costly," he said, "and Squamish could be developed at less cost." He felt a key factor could be the amount of money which was going to be spent on these port areas outside the city of Vancouver.

Sturgeon Banks has been under study for fifty years and Boundary Bay-White Rock area has often been suggested for development," he continued. "And of course, Squamish has been mentioned previously."

F. W. Allott, chairman of the Squamish and Howe Sound Chamber of Commerce, when asked to comment on the port prospects as outlined by Mr. Lofmark said, "When I hear the Queen Mary hooting as she comes around Watts Point, I'll believe there is going to be a port at Squamish."

Consensus of opinion in the area is that it will be wonderful if it comes but let's see what is planned before too much enthusiasm is aroused. It could lead to nothing, as it has in the past.

Council, Chamber hear complaints on smoke, flyash

The municipal council and the Chamber of Commerce last week heard many complaints about the smoke and flyash coming from the Empire Lumber Mill at Squamish.

Last week council wrote to the firm stating that they had been in receipt of many complaints on this matter and wanted to know what action was being taken to remedy the situation.

The Chamber of Commerce discussed the situation at length at the meeting last week and decided to ask John Bene, president of Canadian Collieries, to come to Squamish to discuss the matter with the executive council.

Meanwhile numerous queries regarding the ash and smoke reached the Times office with one woman angrily saying she was considering taking up a petition to request that something be done.

She said this had been started last spring when the announcement concerning the sale of waste material was made and had subsequently been dropped. However in view of the apparent lack of action she felt this might be a good time to recirculate the petition.

Another resident of the mill area said she thought it would be a good idea if the mill provided a free car wash for every vehicle in the area as they certainly needed it on the days when the smoke lay over the town and this would get worse as spring and summer approached.

A third suggestion, and one that was novel, was that next time quantities of fly ash fell in her yard, she was going to sweep them up, enclose the mass in an envelope, and mail it to the local firm — without a stamp.

Credit Union in valley school

Pemberton — The students of the Signal Hill Elementary school brought home cards to be filled out by the parents, which will allow their children to become members in the Credit Union School Savings plan.

The initial cost is ten cents and after the child has brought this, he can bring any amount weekly, and this will be put into a savings account for them. Working on this plan are Mrs. Audrey Oberson and Mrs. June Perkins.

The reason behind the plan is to try to teach children the meaning of systematic saving, and is a very popular method used in many areas.

The annual meeting of the Pemberton and District Credit Union will be held at the Community Hall on Friday March 4th at 8:30 p.m. All members, and anyone interested in the work of the local Credit Union are urged to attend.

SCHOOL curlers off to ashcroft last week to attend the Ashcroft Invitational Bonspiel are Bruce Robinson, skip; Pam Shaw, third; Tom Shields, second and Susan Barnabe, lead.

RECREATIONAL commission chairman Ray Bryant with the secretary, Mrs. Phyllis Goss, at a recent meeting discussing recreational needs for the community.

Absentee Landlords...

Absentee landlords aren't too common a sight in B.C. but in one respect giant American firms, whose home bases are in New York or some other metropolitan area to the south of us could qualify under the above definition.

Absentee landlords have been notorious for not being too interested in anything except the concrete results of their investments, or perhaps we should say the cash returns for their money. This has often resulted in a lack of interest in anything except production, and especially in the attitude towards the areas in which they have invested their funds.

We are not making a blanket indictment of large American firms. This would be foolish. But certainly some of them do qualify. We would like to think that one of the reasons for the delay in eradicating the smoke and flyash problem at Empire Lumber by the construction of the machinery and facilities to convert the waste into hog fuel is partly caused by the failure of the firm in question to realize the feelings of the community in which they are operating.

We don't like to tell them it is their duty to spend vast sums in removing the source of this problem but surely converting something which is now going up in smoke into a source of revenue, even if it does mean an initial expenditure is not unrealistic.

We would like to think the attitude of the company could be expressed by a statement made two years ago, shortly after a new manager arrived at the local mill. Prior to that time there had been a great deal of controversy regarding statements made before it began operating which said there would be no smoke or flyash or that it would be kept to an absolute minimum.

In May of 1964, speaking before the municipal council, the manager said "We will do all we can, logically, practically and economically, to solve this problem. Even if it isn't economical, if we can find a user for our waste, we will do so."

That was two years ago. Last May they announced they had found a user for the material but now it would appear that the company is dragging its feet and no contracts have been signed, thus leading us into another summer of ash and smoke, soot and cinders.

Perhaps some of the difficulty lies in the fact the people who make the decisions are thousands of miles away and have probably never seen the plant, or know it merely as a figure on a cost sheet, and probably one which may be entered in red. If the mill was spewing smoke and ash into their air-conditioned office high in Manhattan, they might take a different attitude.

The answer to the matter lies in a few words also spoken at the meeting mentioned above. "I have a personal interest in the eradication of this problem," he said, "as I intend to live in this community and work with you. We will do all we can."

A conscientious landlord would probably take immediate steps to remedy the condition if he lived here and realized the effect it was having on the community and the public image his firm was projecting.

Timetables Needed...

Last week a young gentleman dropped into our office and enquired about schedules for the Woodfibre ferry. Thinking he wanted information we contacted the taxi and Coach Lines, discovered he could come down there and copy the timetable but there were no small ones containing this information available.

In fact, the young lady at one office said their schedule had been copied from one in the Chieftain Hotel. No one seemed to know if there were any available or where these could be obtained.

There must be many people in the same position as this young chap, who are anxious to get to Woodfibre, but who don't know when the ferries run unless they come up and find out. All he wanted was a small wallet sized schedule to carry in his car so he would be sure to reach the vessel in time.

Surely it is an oversight on the part of the Highways Department, which operates the ferry, not to have a supply of these printed and available for distribution in Squamish and perhaps at Britannia.

He realized it was impractical to have an attendant at the wharf to answer questions but did feel there should be some way of securing information regarding the time the ferry left and arrived.

Public Debate On The Death Penalty...

Mr. Wagner is riding again in his statement that the situation in England to retain the death penalty for and is alarming and desperate. There is this difference between his weekend broadcast and his earlier argument for or against the death statements on this subject: he agrees there is little value because comprehensive data and hence statistics cannot be obtained.

That it should be heard. He invites the death penalty was abolished in people who hold views either for or against it. He invites the death penalty was abolished in people who hold views either for or against it. He invites the death penalty was abolished in people who hold views either for or against it.

Mr. Wagner says that an "alarming" argument for retention of the and "desperate" situation has arisen in death penalty. Neither is there statistical England since the abolition of the death penalty support for his gratuitous penalty, and about 200,000 persons have stated that the issue is being left for signed a petition to restore it. This last decision to "an unrealistic and naive figure need not be challenged. What is minority."

Vale...!

The computer has caught up with the regimental sergeant-major. No longer will that stentorian voice put the fear of God into new soldiers on the parade ground or teach young officers the ways of righteousness.

In England the other day 52 regimental sergeant-majors attended a course in the use of the computer to solve logistic and other problems senior officers always delegated to the sergeant-major. One of them did indeed beat out the computer, as men using the abacus have done, but despite this small victory the sergeant-majors saw the handwriting on the wall.

It's a great pity. We have a nostalgic longing to hear again that ear-shattering voice reverberating across the parade ground: "When I says 'fix' you don't fix; but when I says 'byenets' you whips 'em out and whops 'em on!"

—The Montreal Star

"Two million a year so's he can come home and say I failed in arithmetic again because of a maladjusted vertical hold."

Life insurance stocks gilt edged bargains

LAST WEEK IN THIS SPACE I DREW UP A KIND OF Profit-and-Loss statement on my recommendations of the last few years, not to prove my rightness or omniscience, but to show that over the years high-grade stocks offer some phenomenal opportunities for profits.

Such stocks have none of the happy and tragic volatility of the speculative issues but, in the end, and on the average, I honestly believe they pay better — a good, sound 20% increment each year, and always with maximum safety.

One major recommendation which I omitted was the Life Insurance company stocks, which readers may remember I first began urging on the public in the Fall of 1963. I omitted them because I feel that they are in a special classification, even an extraordinary one.

Just study as an example the following figures on one Canadian life insurance company—Imperial Life.

Year	High	Low
1960	30	73
1961	161	89½
1962	153	112½
1963	192	140
1964	245	180
1965	390	243

Notice this about the foregoing — that each year's low is substantially higher than that of the preceding year, and that clients who bought Imperial in 1963 have about doubled their money in less than three years.

Imperial is just an example, and most of the other Canadian insurance company stocks show comparable records.

NOW, DEAR READERS, IF ANYONE CAN SHOW ME any other stock in any private industry hog-tied by some of the strictest government regulations in the world, supervised, regulated and administered to the quintessence of conservatism, that will show double capital in a few years — well, I'll eat that new Easter bonnet I have bought for this year, artificial cherries, plum blossoms, and bugs, down to the last straw.

But there is one, simultaneous disadvantage and advantage to these stocks. When I published my original recommendation, and the buying started hot and heavy, the market rose too swiftly because, after all, the total number of shares in public hands is relatively small. Too-heavy buying pushed the market too hard, and some who bought late have stocks today below their original purchase price.

Such Life Insurance stockholders watch fortunes being made (and lost) in Western Slope-Off Consolidated Mines, and feel that they are missing something. They are.

What they are missing is gigantic risk-taking which, compared to the risk in insurance stocks, is a flight to the moon compared to the distance I have to walk in the back yard to my own window boxes. And this year will see a high as sure as the sun will rise tomorrow morning, about 20% higher than 1965's, and a low appreciably better than that.

TAKE A QUICK LOOK WITH ME AT THE LONG perspective. In 1900, life insurance held in Canada totalled $431 million. In 1930, this total had climbed to $6.6 billion. And wait! By 1964, this total had soared to $66.5 billion. And as I explained in my 1963 article, the business is just warming up, because with the last decade's multiplication of families, insurance wants are increasing astronomically.

Too, better actuarial practice is each year placing the companies on a sounder footing, and investments are paying better, particularly in the mortgage field.

All systems are "GO!" As never before, I would recommend the purchase of Canadian life insurance stocks, not for quick appreciation, but for steady capital gains from one year's low to the next, without worry, without board-watching, as an investment in Canada's soundest industry.

In the last ten years the Life Insurance stocks have climbed 1000%, and as one random example, Great West Life common shares are today still selling at only eight times earnings! Just match that!

HOWE SOUNDINGS

Did you hear about the gal who wanted to know if they used a special film or paper or technique to take passport photos, cause she couldn't see how they could turn out so horribly if someone didn't do something to make them so gruesome? Talk about mug shots! Or wanted posters!

Squamish Times classifieds really get results. Wayne Boyd who advertised to see if he could get some books he had loaned to people returned was astounded to find that not only did the ones he wanted come back, but also some he didn't even know were missing!

That's what we really call action.

Someone once told me if Easter was early there would be an early spring.

I wonder. It is fairly early this year, April 10th, about mid-way in the cycle and that should mean a fairly early spring but with snow threatening these mornings one is almost afraid to believe it.

I have my pussy willows. Several people commented about having them in their homes and one woman even said she had been receiving bouquets from the children ever since mid-January. (Those pussies must have really had fur coats).

Several people were kind enough to bring me beautiful bouquets of them and they are so lovely. As long as you don't put them in water.

Must try bringing in a few branches of almond, daphne and forsythia to see if I can force them into early bloom. They always look so cheerful, especially the forsythia.

ed on it during the past week. Perhaps FMC and the mill should get together and solve their problems.

Between smoke and ash and chlorine, couldn't they be combined to bleach the color out of the smoke and ash so only a fine white powder fell (that could be annoying, too!) and perhaps the ash could absorb the odor from the chlorine so we would no longer have that smell.

This might even work on Woodfibre although in all honesty we must admit the odor does not seem to have been so predominant lately.

Notice that Franz Wilhelmson of Garibaldi Lifts was named "Tourist Man of the Year" recently. Now if Phil Gagardi would just get busy and reconstruct the highway between Squamish and Britannia, pave the one between Alice Lake and Pemberton as well as finish the bridge and pave the stretch to the Mamquam, we might consider nominating him for the position once he finished the link between the Mamquam River and Alice Lake.

But at the rate things seem to be going around here we might get around to nominating him for the position in 1976, and then we will be wanting him to finish something else.

Every columnist loves a fan mail and when one gets a letter from as far away as Illinois, that really is something! Particularly when it contains compliments. Isn't it nice that we can always forget the ones which don't?

But there is a thrill to getting a fan letter that cannot be equalled by anything else.

I wonder why practically every magazine that one picks up has articles urging women and wives in particular, to keep themselves young and attractive, keep their minds active, make a perfect home for their husbands, always be cheerful and gay and try to be a combination of superwoman, Florence Nightingale, Elizabeth Taylor the goddess of wisdom.

Frankly I'm sick and tired of reading them.

No one ever stops to tell the men that they ought to smarten up, reduce that paunch, shave off the whiskers and quit running around looking like a refugee from the ragman.

I'm not picking on the men who do make an effort to keep up with the women but looking around Squamish I'd be rather tempted to say the reverse is true and I think this is probably the case in most places outside the big cities.

Perhaps the articles are aimed at city people. I wouldn't know, but I'd be willing to wager that in a great many of the areas where the husband is not working in an office, the women do a much better job of keeping themselves up than the men do.

I'm sick of being brainwashed about all the things I'm supposed to be and do. Isn't it enough to be a person, and to try to do a reasonably good job of bringing up your family without being expected to be a superwoman?

And with all the suggestions about helping one's husband to get ahead, etc., how many suggest a husband should help his wife to do the things she is interested in?

Memorable Quotes — by a member of the Chamber of Commerce who had just heard the suggestion that a letter be written to the Minister of Highways protesting the condition of the district roads for the umpteenth time. "Why don't they just mimeograph a letter and send him one each Monday?"

Working in an office, the women do a much better job of keeping themselves up than the men do.

Working in an office, the women do a much better job of keeping themselves up than the men do.

Working in an office, the women do a much better job of keeping themselves up than the men do.

JACK DAVIS Ottawa Diary

The United States is having trouble with its balance of payments. More dollars are flowing out of the U.S. than are being brought back as a result of American activities elsewhere.

This, unfortunately, has been going on for a long time. So President Johnson has decided to act. He has issued a directive through his Secretary of Commerce, Mr. Connor, to literally hundreds of big U.S. firms with a view to having them manage their overseas operations in a manner which will keep more U.S. dollars at home.

Canada naturally objects. It objects to the U.S. drawing these so-called "guidelines". It is not concerned so much about what the head offices will do in the U.S. but how their branch plants will behave in this country in the months ahead.

Washington has, in effect, put U.S. top management on notice. It has asked hundreds of top level executives to cause their firms to expand U.S. exports and curtail U.S. imports.

Washington has also asked them to curtail the construction of new branch plants abroad and to send more of their foreign owned profits home to the United States for re-investment.

Washington's decrees can obviously hurt us. If they work, our purchases in the U.S. will go up and our sales to the U.S. will go down.

The building of new plants may also slacken off and production, at least, in U.S. branch plant operations will hit a new plateau. New jobs, and some of the better paying jobs in Canada, may therefore be harder to find.

This prospect caused an immediate reaction in official circles here in Canada. Finance Minister Sharp said bluntly that he would take counter-measures in Ottawa if the U.S. guidelines began to hurt Mr. Kierans, one of the more outspoken members of Mr. Lesage's Cabinet, said they were bound to hurt Mr. Winters, Canada's new Trade Minister, called in representatives of sixteen major U.S. companies doing business in Canada. They said that they were not paying any attention to the U.S. guidelines. But the rest of us can merely wait and see.

There is, however, an important principle at stake. U.S. Secretary Fowler put his finger on it when he said that "U.S. firms, not only have a commercial importance, but have a highly significant role to play in U.S. foreign policy." This is "guided capitalism" with a vengeance. Free enterprise is given international as well as domestic goals to meet. Big government is speaking with a compelling voice. It is directing literally thousands of businessmen to become the agents, in their everyday work, of Washington itself.

Because large international corporations have not only generated a good deal of technological know-how, but they have also brought the benefits of mass production to many other parts of the world. Now the U.S. is tending to make them political, as well as commercial, agents of the U.S. economy. Other countries are bound to react. Their reaction, inevitably, will take the form of counter-restrictions on the operations of U.S. branch plants.

President Johnson's "guidelines" may perhaps have one good effect. They will curtail U.S. investment in Canada. U.S. control of new manufacturing and resource developments will be limited thereby. But it can also hurt our own balance of payments as well as reduce the number of jobs which would otherwise have resulted from the initiatives of U.S. firms and branch plants in this country.

The attitude in Ottawa, for the time being, is one of "wait and see". If we are hurt, then the Federal Government will take corrective action. Perhaps it may have to even set up its own guidelines. However, I hope it does not come to this.

It Pays To Advertise!

Chamber wants tour of new chemical plant

A request that the Chamber of Commerce be given a tour of the FMC chemical plant brought the reply that the plant is still not quite ready for a showing.

Ray Bryant, controller for the company and a chamber member, said they were still cleaning up around it. Much of this work would be completed if the heavy snows had not arrived so early in December, but due to delays caused by the weather, it was not clean and tidy enough for visitors.

He added that, as soon as this was done, he was sure a tour could be arranged.

A further question concerning chlorine odor noticeable earlier in the week brought the reply that the company was still getting the plant running and occasionally there was a leak which resulted in a slight escapement of the gas. This had been rectified and once this preliminary period was over there should be no further difficulty.

One member wondered if it might be a good idea to get a gas mask!

Progress report on water main

Progress on the Brackendale water main was reported to council at the first regular meeting of the month by councillor N. R. Barr.

The committee made several recommendations: that a cross be installed at the crossing to serve Judd Road east which would allow the installation of an extension to serve any development in that area without cutting into the 8' main.

Continuation of a 4" line along the small road parallel to the railway north of Leski's Crossing would be approximately two thousand dollars and at present the buildings there do not warrant this expenditure. The present line will remain but a tee will be installed at this crossing which could possibly serve a commercial area when the highway is built.

Drawings for the pump house should be ready and as soon as these are done Van's Contracting will be asked to quote a price with or without the superstructure. Prices for the superstructure will also be obtained from firms supplying prefabricated buildings.

PART OF ROAD PROGRAM

The committee reported the creek crossing on Judd Road, if modified could be done when the grant-in-aid road work is underway and thereby reduce the cost to the water system. This action was recommended.

The committee also authorized the extension of a four inch main on Peterson Road.

Another recommendation was the installation of a tee and flange north of the Paradise Valley Horse Ranch to allow for the future installation of a hydrant and also the addition of a tee and flange at the end of the line on Axen Road to permit a hook-up to the well on the Indian Reserve.

Council was pleased with the clarity and conciseness of this report and accepted the recommendations made by the committee.

Telephone choir enthralled audience

A scant, but responsive audience, turned out on Saturday, February 12th to hear the B.C. Telephone Choir in a two hour concert at the high school auditorium.

Mr. Monk, the conductor, of the fifty voice choir, said the applause and audience response was outstanding and he had performed before many larger but far less appreciative groups.

The program was varied with excerpts from musical comedies and negro spirituals among the selections. An elocutionist gave several recitations, among them the famous Robert Service poem "The Shooting of Dan McGrew."

sponsored the choir's appearance, said later that he was very disappointed with the public response and added that the group was considered to be one of the best of their type in British Columbia and that we were fortunate to have them appear in Squamish.

Future plans call for similar entertainment offerings, sponsored by the Chamber, if there seems to be sufficient demand for programs and events of this nature.

Coffee and refreshments, provided by Frank and Thea Feild, were served to the members of the choir after the evening's performance.

F. W. Allott, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce which ## what's life like in the R.C.M.P.?

TOUGH? YES.
FOR ANYBODY? NO.
GOOD PAY? YES.
ORDINARY JOB? NO.
FINE CAREER? YES.

A career in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police is no picnic. Neither is it grim. You like it—or you don't. There's no in-between. The force selects young men who measure up to its standards—and offers these men a life that's rewarding and satisfying, a career they're proud to pursue. If you like the cut of the ordinary, if you have a basic respect for law and order, if you like people, if you like working with other men as a team, if you are self-reliant, if you like learning new things, if you love Canada and all our country stands for—you may make the grade with the R.C.M.P. ## Road conditions in district cause concern

The perennial question of roads in the Squamish district was the subject of discussion at the Chamber of Commerce meeting last week. The new highway, relocation and construction of the old one, the upper Squamish road and the highway to Pemberton all came for discussion.

Questions concerning the Britannia-Squamish link and whether the contract had been awarded were unanswered and the chamber decided to write to the Minister of Highways asking if this had been done. Emil Anderson Const. was the lowest bidder when tenders were called last fall.

At the same time complaints about the conditions of the existing road were to be included in the letter. Members stated it was too narrow in many places as the edges have been breaking away during the winter due to weather and the heavy snow removal problem.

A letter from the minister stating that the condition of the upper Squamish road between Cheekye and the R.F.L. would be looked into was considered unsatisfactory and the chamber wanted to know what was going to be done about this.

ed it was extremely rough and full of potholes as well as being muddy. Heavy traffic throughout the winter and especially on weekends has worn through the layer of gravel and surfacing, exposing the base and making it extremely rough.

The narrowness of certain portions of the road was also considered unsafe, particularly when heavy traffic and large vehicles were using it.

The question of snow plowing the road to the Alta Lake school, discussed at last month's meeting, brought an answer from one member who said VanWest was willing to permit the government to plow the road providing the strip between the highway and their dump was not declared a public road.

This would appear to bear out the claim that the road along the west side of Alta Lake is public and not a private one as the highways department claimed.

However a road has been surveyed from the highway to the south end of Alta Lake and if this could link up with the existing one the whole question would be resolved.

General discussion regarding the status of roads in the area led to the suggestion that the minister or a responsible member of his department should be asked to speak to the chamber on the roads in the district and those leading into it or out of it.

The Canadian pavilion will have five separate theatres showing the history of our country.

LIONS LADIES ENTERTAIN OAP

On February 15 the members of the local Lions Ladies entertained the OAP at a dinner and evening of whist at St. John's Parish Hall.

Over thirty members of the group enjoyed the pleasant evening. Following the dinner a brief business meeting was held during which the officers for the current year were elected.

Lou Erickson was elected as president with Sandy Fowler as first vice-president and Mrs. D. D. Morrison as second vice-president.

Elected to the post of Secretary-treasurer was Jack Castle while Jack Nelson will head the Entertainment Committee, Mrs. A. P. Barnfield heads the Refreshment Committee and Mrs. A. R. Barr and Sandy Fowler will act on the Sick and Visiting Committee.

During the business meeting a moment of silence was observed in memory of Mrs. M. G. Armstrong.

Winners at the whist drive which followed were Mrs. J. M. G. Hurren, high ladies, C. Wheeler, high men's, while Mrs. A. P. Barnfield won the ladies' consolation prize and Mrs. C. Perraton won the gentlemen's (?) consolation prize.

After coffee and cake the new president extended a hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Alf Angell and her Lions Ladies for a most enjoyable evening.

Boy Scouts Assoc. report for 1965

By LES CARTWRIGHT
Registered Cubs, 135.
Registered Scouts, 42

These figures show that this area has the highest number of boys registered per capita, in the Vancouver Coast Region (there are seven groups in the area, 2 of which were inactive during the year). Recent reports indicate that interest has received in Pemberton and Woodfibre, with the revival of the Brackendale group added to this, membership is expected to increase considerably.

DISTRICT ACTIVITIES
About 300 people attended the Baden-Powell day ceremonies held in the High School Gym. The service was handled by five church leaders.

The Scouting in action show held in May at the P.N.E. was a tremendous success, over 20,000 attended. Special mention should go to the 1st Squamish Scout troop and their leader, Dave Pinchbeck for the mountain scenery back drop in the Howe Sound booth. Their handiwork was the talk of the show.

Cub Rally day in June was based on a Space Age Theme. The competition in which proficiency in cub skills played the major part, was won by the 2nd Squamish Cub Pack.

Forty-two boys attended the annual foray to Camp Byng. Xmas tree returns have been beyond all expectations. With Art Lloyd at the helm, the cutting and sales far surpassed previous efforts. After expenses, each participating group received $100.00—a very healthy start for scouting this year.

The council has adopted a policy of paying all out-of-pocket expenses of leaders taking training courses designed to improve the effectiveness of their services to the boys.

Due mainly to the persistence of Mr. and Mrs. Pinchbeck we now have adopted a District crest. These crests will be available for distribution shortly.

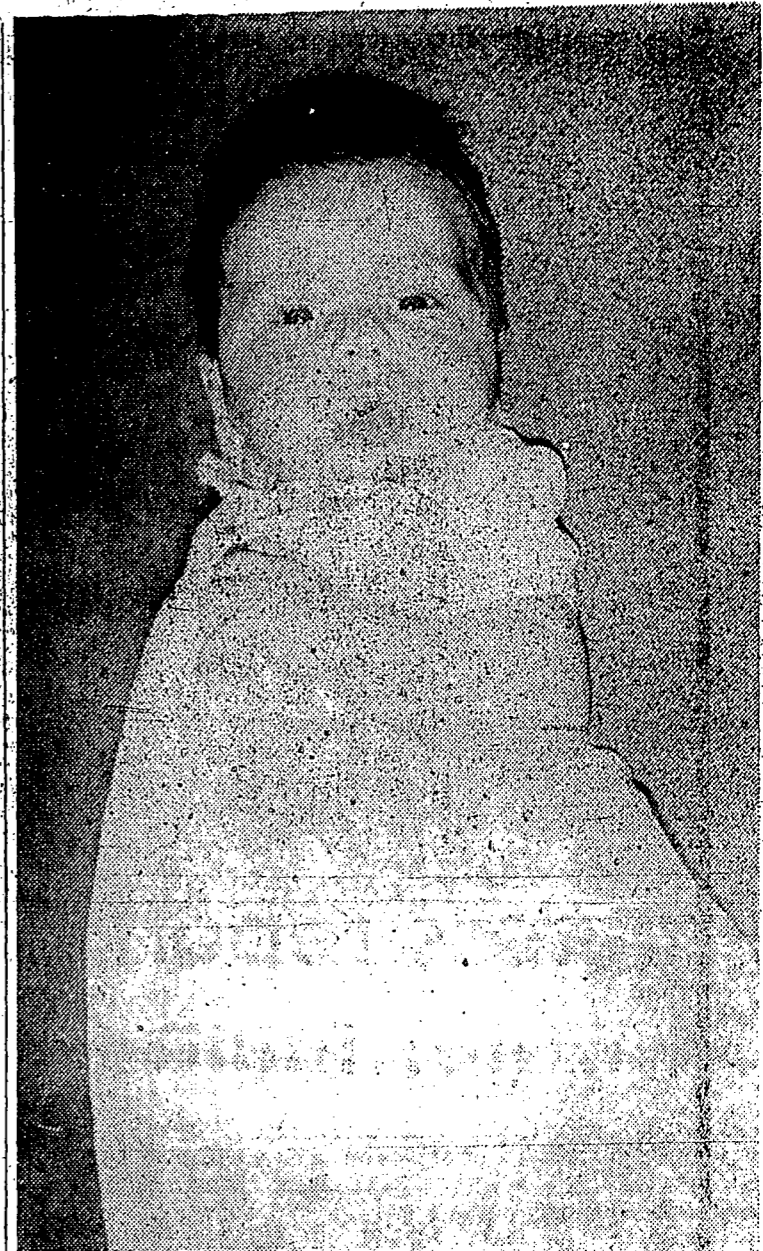

Over 1700 people attended the annual Scout dinner in Vancouver in January 28 were present from our area—the highest representation per capita of all the districts.

D'APPOLONIA BABY CHRISTENED

The five-week-old son of Dr. and Mrs. D'Appolonia was christened Sunday, February 6, in St. Joseph's Church at noon.

Father Powers officiated at the ceremony, giving the names, Douglas Keith, to the infant. Mrs. M. Hurren, and Mr. and Mrs. L. Joseph were godparents.

Guests at the dinner following the ceremony were, Mr. and Mrs. E. Morfini, grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Joseph, Miss M. Joseph, and J. Rice, all of Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. M. Hurren and family, and Father Powers.

Student's loan fund meeting

The annual general meeting of the Howe Sound Students' Loan Association will be held in the library of the Secondary School on Friday evening, March 4th.

A review of the year's business will be given by the president, W. Gedge, followed by a report on the financial standing of the association.

Directors for the forthcoming year will be elected and the new executive will later meet to appoint the president, secretary, treasurer and auditor.

Membership in the Student Loan Association can be secured on a yearly or life membership basis. Yearly dues are five dollars, a life membership is fifty dollars, and these can be obtained from Mrs. Brock.

In the past few years many students have been assisted by the loan fund which is set up to help those who are unable to continue their education for financial reasons. The loan does not have to be repaid until the student is working or finished with his further training.

In the past year, since the federal government has established a loan fund for students wishing to enter university there have not been as many demands upon the local fund. However, this one is not restricted to university students but to assist any student who wishes advanced training whether it be a vocational school, technological institute, business college or some other form of study.

The meeting is open to those who are interested in assisting students reach achieve further training.

Family living for our schools?

Sex education in the school was discussed at last week's regular school board meeting, with most of the board being in favor of such teaching but feeling that it must be carefully done.

District superintendent D. H. Campbell said it is becoming obvious that a doctor cannot give this course, nor can a public health nurse. "It takes a special kind of person to teach this class," he said.

The board discussed the team in Victoria which has been doing an outstanding job of teaching this course in that city's schools. They are now giving it at other island communities and the board felt it might be a good idea to attempt to get them to come to this district to teach this course.

Mr. Campbell said the subject, better called family living than sex education, is an important one as it affects the students in many different ways.

The question of family living has become increasingly important in the past few years and many schools are attempting to deal with the subject but Mr. Campbell said the approach by the Victoria team has been the best one to date.

MB & PR acquires giant log loader

A huge Skagit 777 rubber tired log loader, the first of its kind on the B. C. mainland, arrived in Squamish on Thursday of last week for McMillan, Bloedel & Powell River's Squamish division.

Les Rush, divisional manager for MB & PR said the machine was purchased to increase production of their Squamish division. "We are trying for 94 million feet this year," he said. "Last year it was 71 million, up considerably from our first year's operations."

The machine, the largest mobile log loader in the B.C. woods, was made in Vancouver by Skagit of Canada Ltd. One other is in use on Vancouver Island for Crown-Zellerbach and MB & PR are purchasing another to use in their island operations.

Patterns for the castings in this machine were made by Fullerton Pattern Works in Vancouver and A J Steel and Canadiana Summer did the casting while the machinery and assembling were the work of Canadian Car in Vancouver. The machine is ideally suited for the rugged logging conditions of the company's Squamish logging division as it can climb steep hills and negotiate sharp curves.

McMillan, Bloedel and Powell River's Squamish division, located only a scant forty miles from Vancouver, is one of the company's showcases and the giant machine, the largest mobile log loading equipment in the B. C. woods, will be one of the feature attractions when visitors tour the logging area.

Traffic tips for elder citizens

Don't hasten the day you become a statistic for the third time! We are a statistic when we are born, when we marry and when we die. Avoid being classed as a "Killed Pedestrian" by taking the following precautions:

1. If possible cross streets at intersections that have traffic lights.
2. Always look both ways before stepping off the curb. You can stop but an automobile takes 30 to 40 feet to stop.
3. Yes, you have the Right of Way but better to yield than be taken to the hospital or the morgue. At night wear white. Carry a white umbrella or a cane tipped with reflectorized tape. Dusk is the most hazardous time for pedestrians.

5. Plan to arrive home before the sun sets.
- Simple basic rules, but each year dozens of elder citizens die because one of them was broken.

Steelhead, the king of fresh water fish

By JOHN G. WRIGHT
Let's go steelheading! This is much harder to do. Most people have not tried to catch this fish which is probably the king of fresh water fishing and the hardest to hook and land of all the fish that enter the west coast streams.

reel well filled with fifteen pound test line. The purist may scoff at this remark but the idea is, when having hooked a fish you want to land it. When this has been done a few times then you can start to play around.

Mrs. Shantz brought music to the Pemberton Valley

By G.V.W.
 With the coming of the Centennial Celebrations in our country, our thoughts often turn to the way of life that our parents and their parents must have lived to have been able to establish our country for us.
 In the Pemberton Valley there are many people who have given much to make this place the nice community we live in today.
 One of the ladies who has given a great deal of her time and talents to this purpose is Mrs. Milton Shantz, a kind and thoughtful person, who has always worked quietly to help whenever she was able.
 Mrs. Shantz, the former Stella Barron, was born in the state of South Dakota, at a community called Flandreau, in Moody County. Her father Jim Barron had a homestead there, and also was the sheriff for the district. Mrs. Shantz recalls living in the sheriff's quarters above the jail, and remembers many of the happenings connected with her dad's job.
 Following the death of her father when Mrs. Shantz was seven, her mother moved the family out to the farm, where they lived for many years. At the farm, two years after the passing of Mr. Barron, Mrs. Shantz's oldest brother had an attack of appendicitis, and the doctor operated on him in the kitchen of their home. Operations of that day were not often successful, and her brother failed to come through it.

TOOK MUSICAL TRAINING
 At the age of seventeen, Mrs. Barron insisted that her daughter start taking piano lessons, and after taking two years of training, she was advised to go to college, and get her teacher's certificate in music.
 Mrs. Shantz went to Des Moines Iowa, for this training, living in a girl's dormitory at the college. She recalls that the Dean of Women was a very big woman, and one night when the boy's dorm caught fire, she was able to pick up a big trunk, and walk out with it.
 Following her training she returned home and taught for a year or so, then went on to Chicago Musical College for another year of training, here she got her Diploma of Music. Again she went home to teach music, and at this time she was teaching about 60 pupils.

LIFELONG INTEREST IN THE CHURCH
 At the age of sixteen, Mrs. Shantz joined the Presbyterian Church in Flandreau, where she played the piano and the organ for a few years. At one time, she was the organist, and one of her advanced pupils was the pianist, and when these two instruments were played together, the effect was tremendous. Mrs. Shantz is still a member of this church, although she has always given of her time and talents to the churches in this area.
 Mrs. Shantz developed trouble with her hearing, and went down to Davenport Iowa, on the Mississippi River for treatments. Here she met her husband, Milton, who was taking advanced training at a college there.
 Mr. and Mrs. Shantz were married on June 28th, 1924, and stayed with her family until fall, when they went to Chicago. A point of interest here was a wedding gift they received, a pair of sheets. Mrs. Shantz mended them the other day, they have been used for the last 42 years.
 In 1925, they went to Detroit for about a year, back down to South Dakota, to see her family, to Ontario to see the Shantz family, then they started west, working a harvest in Saskatchewan and on to Vancouver arriving in December 1926.

WALKED INTO PEMBERTON IN 1931
 After five years in Vancouver, they started a walking trip through the Fraser Valley up to Lytton, Lillooet, down Seton and Anderson Lakes, staying at D'Arcy for a little while, then on to Pemberton to stay with Mrs. Shantz's Uncle, Jim Duff.
 The Shantz's first lived across the road from the present Harris place, in a little place that they rented from the late Harvey Derrick. During this time, they were building their own place in the village, presently owned by the Walter Green's.
 Although condemned now, many have rented this little house, one of the renters even had the audacity to keep his horse in the bedroom.
 The Shantz's rented the Green farm for one year, then they moved to their present home. Aside from trips, have remained here.

Times were grim in the Pemberton Valley in those years, with flooding every year. One year they planted three acres of potatoes by hand, and three days after completing the planting, there was 12 feet of water covering the three acres.
 Also that year they had planted an acre of turnips, and after the flood when Mr. Shantz went out to see how the turnips had fared, there were large-moose tracks right through the turnip field. He got nine sacks of turnips.

 Mrs. Shantz was organist for the Anglican Church in Pemberton for 26 years, and for the last seven of these, she also took on the job of organist for the United Church. She is still teaching piano and at present has seven pupils.
 For many years she was the pianist for the schools, with the school children going up to her home for their music lessons. Choir was often held in her home, and many of us can remember staying until the wee hours of the morning 'singing'. Whenever a wedding was held, Mrs. Shantz was called upon to be organist, and to accompany the soloist.

REMEMBER THE FLOODS
 The Shantz's can remember sitting on their front porch, and watching the water from the flooding lapping near by. Often they would get into boats at the Taylor corner and go down to the station for visiting and supplies.
 Some of the people they remember are the late Dr. Paul of Squamish, who would come into Pemberton for the Indian people, and when here would attend the whites also. He is remembered as being a very kind and thoughtful doctor. Another one dear to the Shantz's was Jimmy Landsborough, a farmer in the upper valley, who was very well educated and had travelled a great deal. He was a nice man, always trying to help wherever he could.
 Another vivid personality well remembered and loved was the late Bert Perkins, who would do anything for anyone at any time. His children and wife still live in the valley.
 Two of the older Indians remembered by this couple are the late Mrs. Smith, who was commonly called "Cups of Tea". This lady drowned while getting water from the river. The other lady is Mrs. Rosie Ross, who is living in Mount Currie still. She is remembered as a good scout, and a willing worker, as colourful a person as anyone would want to know.
 To know Mrs. Shantz and her husband, is to know as kind and thoughtful a couple as anyone would meet anywhere. Mrs. Shantz has given a great deal of culture to our valley. There are many who know how to play the piano who would never have learned without her help, but there are many more that go to this understanding lady with their troubles and their cares, who have a shoulder to lean on, knowing that love and guidance will be given.
 A thank-you for all you have given to Pemberton is very inadequate for there is no way of measuring now what you life in this valley really means to the people of Pemberton.

Pemberton Secondary news

By Jim Watson
 Pemberton — The Senior Basketball teams, boys and girls, are heading up to 100 Mile House for the playoffs for the north, on Friday, February 18th the winner of the games there will go on to play the Prince George winner. Schools entered in these playoffs are 100 Mile, Clinton, Lillooet and Pemberton.
 A 'Fun Fair' is being planned for the Pemberton Secondary School for March 4th; money raised by this affair will go into the Student's Council.
 A fish pond is planned for the smaller children, games of skill, a bakery, a saloon with real foot bear, a book store, and many other things. It is hoped to have cartoons.
 On Feb. 11th the Senior and Junior boys went to Lillooet for basketball games. The boys, and their chaperones, Coach Norman Arnold and George Henry left on the noon Budd, and attended school in Lillooet in the afternoon. Billets were arranged at the close of the school day, with the boys going home for dinner with the Lillooet students.
 At 6:30 the Junior game was held, with the Lillooet boys winning by a score of 41 to 26. At 7:45 the Senior boys played, this time the winning score was made by the Pemberton team, it was 52 to 49.
 Following the game, the Lillooet students held a sock hop for their guests, ending at 11:30.
 The next day the boys from Pemberton attended a bonspiel at the Lillooet Curling Rink, where they watched teams from Bralorne and Merritt in competition with the Lillooet team.
 The boys caught the evening Budd from Lillooet, ending another enjoyable weekend.

The name of the bridge linking the United States and the Soviet pavilions will be Cosmos Walk.

UC women meet in Pemberton

The Regular meeting of the United Church Women of St. David's United Church in Pemberton was held in the church on Monday the 14th day of February, at 8:00 P.M. Mrs. Grethyll Watson presided at this meeting.
 Reports of the various committees were heard, with a plea for used nylons, and Christmas cards to be brought in. These will be sent to the United Church Welfare Industries in Vancouver for distribution.
 The local group decided to purchase potatoes locally to be taken down to Central City Mission, to be used for the needy in Vancouver.
 Mrs. Marion Ayers has been elected president for the remaining part of the year, and will start her duties as president immediately.
 Mrs. Betty Talbot, the Programme convenor and the sewing convenor asked for ideas for programmes for the coming year. Sewing was given out to the various members, for the sales later on in the year.
 Mrs. Eleanor Collister was elected as the U.C.W. representative for the newly formed Pastoral Relations Committee.
 Following the business part of the meeting, the programme chairman Mrs. Talbot introduced the guest speakers for the evening. They were Rev. D. Collett-White, the Anglican Minister at present relieving Rev. Len Jenner, and the United Church Minister, Rev. Douglas Archibald.

 These men were asked to come to the meeting to speak to the ladies on the proposed union between the Anglican and the United Churches. Mr. Collett-White spoke on the workings of the Holy Spirit, that with His presence, the union discussions will proceed. Mr. Archibald spoke on the history of church unions, stating this is not a new idea, it is very old, and in some cases and countries it has and is working very well.
 Some of the Anglican ladies, some guests, and the U.C.W. members formed into buzz groups following the talks by the two ministers, and from these groups questions were brought forward and discussed.
 Following the closing of the meeting with the reading of the Mary Stewart Collect and prayer by Mrs. Watson, the guests enjoyed coffee and eats in the basement. The secretary, Mrs. Gay Guthrie introduced the people present.

Pemberton prayer day

Pemberton — Plans for the Women's World Day of Prayer for the Pemberton District have been completed. The service will be held in St. George's Anglican Church Parish Hall, with members of the Anglican, United and Roman Catholic choirs in attendance.
 The service will be conducted by Rev. Father W. Scott, Roman Catholic Priest, from St. Christopher's church, Mount Currie, with Scripture readings being taken by Mrs. Terry Olsen, on behalf of the Anglican Communion, and Mrs. Gay Guthrie, for the United Church.
 The service will begin at 4:00 p.m. and is open to all women that are interested in attending. This is the first time in the valley that a full Women's World Day of prayer has been held, and a good attendance is anticipated.

Father and son banquet on Friday

Pemberton — The annual Father and Son banquet, sponsored by the local Scout group committee, will be held in the basement of St. David's Church on February 27th at 6:30 p.m. The dinner will be pot-luck, with the boys and their fathers bringing the food.
 Following the banquet, there will be a church parade at 8:00 p.m. Two of the Scouts will be taking part in the church service, one will be reading the Scripture lesson, and one of the boys will speak on "What Scouting Means To Me". The boys will be in charge of the collection for the service.
 The scouts recently brought home tins, with stickers on them which read, "PLEASE SAVE YOUR WASTE KITCHEN FAT FOR THE CUBS AND SCOUTS". These cans are being put into the homes in the district, and the women are being asked to save fat. Each month on the first Saturday, these tins will be collected, and new ones given out.
 The group committee will be selling this fat for 3½ cents a pound, and any money raised in this manner will be used for the purchasing of troop supplies; tents, etc., also used for hikes and campsorees.
 This is a community service which is good for the boys, for it teaches them to learn the value of routine and regular work habits.
 The boys appreciate money spent on them, when they earn it themselves.
 The boys who have given out the cans will be responsible for picking them up again. Arrangements for distant points will be made. Any enquiries concerning this, can be directed to group committee chairman Len Pickell, or vice-chairman, Wendell Watson.
 Any animal fat may be used, and the cans do not need to be refrigerated. No mineral or vegetable fat such as Mazola oil should be added to the cans.

Pemberton — At the evening church service held in St. David's United Church on Sunday February the 13th, the new member of the Session, Mrs. Rose Hamula, and the new members of the Committee of Stewards Mrs. Elsie Miller, Mrs. Eleanor Collister, Mrs. Grace Sillis and Bob Herron were brought forward to the front of the church for the service admitting them to the position they now hold.
 The service was conducted by the minister, Rev. Douglas Archibald, assisted by one of the Session members, T.B.M. Fougberg.
 The Expo symbol was designed by Julien Hebert, a Montreal graphic artist.

Look-ahead people are choosing electric heating

These look-ahead homeowners already have. Here's why:

D. H. BROWN, North Kamloops, B.C.
 "I find it's an economical way to heat. You control the temperature in each room without waste. It uses less space and there's no maintenance cost."

EDWARD McFADDEN, Terrace, B.C.
 "Very even temperature. It's a healthy way to heat too — no dust. And with no furnace we have space for another room."

VICTOR KELLEY, Agassiz, B.C.
 "We have found electric heating to be completely satisfactory in our home as it is clean, quiet and most economical."

MRS. L. BAXTER, Victoria, B.C.
 "Our house heats quickly, quite an advantage for taking off the chill on cool days. I like the temperature control in each room, too. Keeps the bathroom warm."

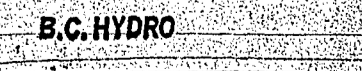

MRS. L. J. SMYTH, Vancouver, B.C.
 "I particularly like the even heat and being able to control the temperature in the rooms individually. Especially in the nursery."

MRS. M. CALLISON, Fort St. John, B.C.
 "I have nothing to worry about with electric heating. And I like the feeling of warmth without drafts. Convenience and comfort are very important to me."

At today's low electric rates, over 9,000 B.C. families have learned that electric heating costs little more than ordinary automatic heating systems. But it offers plenty more: (1) Room-by-room temperature control means extra comfort, extra savings. (2) Sunshine-clean electric heat saves drudgery and expense. No dirt, no soot. (3) Equipment is practically maintenance-free. Usually lasts longer, too. (4) Electric heat is easy to live with. Gentle, even heat. Very quiet heat. (5) Compact, too. Simplifies home construction, saves valuable floor space. (6) Resale value? As the trend to all-electric living gains ground, this is the heating system more buyers will be looking for tomorrow. If you're about to build, remodel or extend your home, don't overlook the advantages of electric heating. Ask B.C. Hydro for a heating cost estimate, plus the informative booklet: "Electric Heating Facts." It's free.

Open house at Pemberton school

The second open house in the Pemberton Secondary School was held on Wednesday, Feb. 16 at 9:00 P.M. The parents assembled in the cafeteria, where the programme for the evening was outlined by the principal, George Hayes.

Emphasis at this open house was on the Vocational-Technical programme for the school, and in accord with this students in the school were asked to attend to show the parents and guests the work in some of these fields.

In the commerce division, students, Peter Proudlock, Les Brotherton, Linda Miller, Alma Lundgren, Margaret Mitchell, Louise Reid, Phyllis and Sylvia Lester, along with their teacher Mr. Bateman showed the parents the teaching methods used in the school.

In the Industrial Education Shops, Mr. Henry and students Martin Sam, Franklin Andrew, Eldon Talbot, David Spetföre, Richard Englund and Richard Staehli, showed the parents the tools and how they were used.

In the Home Economics Division, Miss Glenda Mitchell and Janet Miller were preparing food under the guidance of their Home Ec. teacher, Miss Ann Maxwell. Sewing was also being done by some of the students.

Many of the parents took this opportunity to discuss with teachers the problems of the students in the school. About forty parents attended.

Following the meeting, members of the Student's Council served coffee and cakes, (which had been made in the Home Economics room that evening) to the assembled parents, teachers and guests.

Open house at Pemberton school

The second open house in the Pemberton Secondary School was held on Wednesday, Feb. 16 at 9:00 P.M. The parents assembled in the cafeteria, where the programme for the evening was outlined by the principal, George Hayes.

Emphasis at this open house was on the Vocational-Technical programme for the school, and in accord with this, students in the school were asked to attend to show the parents and guests the work in some of these fields.

In the commerce division, students, Peter Proudlock, Les Brotherton, Linda Miller, Alma Lundgren, Margaret Mitchell, Louise Reid, Phyllis and Sylvia Lester, along with their teacher, Mr. Bateman, showed the parents the teaching methods used in the school.

In the Industrial Education Shops, Mr. Henry and students Martin Sam, Franklin Andrew, Eldon Talbot, David Spetifore, Richard Englund and Richard Staehli, showed the parents the tools and how they were used.

In the Home Economics Division, Miss Glenda Mitchell and Janet Miller were preparing food under the guidance of their Home Ec. teacher, Miss Ann Maxwell. Sewing was also being done by some of the students.
