SHELL STATION EXPANDING HERE

The local Shell station is being enlarged with new gasoline installations and an additional bay being added to the garage.

Jim Sanderson and Dennis Hollingsworth said plans for the construction have been considered for some time but the work has just been okayed.

Crews were busy last week tearing up the black-topping in front of the garage for the installation of more gasoline pumps and work has been started on the new bay for repairs.

The owners hope the work will be completed before the snow falls.

Increased business and the prospect of further increases with the number of tourists visiting the area both in summer and winter, prompted the move to enlarging the garage.

No problems with Christmas trees

District Forest Ranger Tag Neighbor said last week there had been no real difficulties regarding Christmas tree cutting in this area so far this year.

The check point is manned for 24 hours a day and in addition patrols are carried out during daylight hours with some patrols maintained after dark to see that no trees sneak through.

The ranger said a few trees have been seized but there has been no great attempt to smuggle trees through the area. "People seem to be taking care to obtain their permits," he said. "And are not taking the risk of being caught with illegal trees."

This might change as the season proceeds but he felt most people were taking the warnings seriously and were only too anxious to co-operate with the authorities.

Mr. Neighbor said a number of people have obtained rights to sections of the hydro line for Christmas tree cutting and most of the trees which are coming through have come from these areas.

He said the Forest Service is attempting to encourage this activity as it will mean there is a continuing source of trees in the area and there will be no need to cross power line boundaries to cut illegal trees.

Mrs. Gedge gifted on retirement

Mrs. W. Gedge, who has retired as secretary to the Coast-Garibaldi Health Unit office at Squamish, was the recipient of a pen as a retirement gift last week.

Dr. P. J. Reynolds, the district health officer, made the presentation in Squamish last Wednesday.

Mrs. Gedge, who has been with the health unit for more than fourteen years, has given unstintingly of her time and often been the sole representative when there was no public health nurse in Squamish.

Dr. Reynolds said she took a great pride in her work which was of the highest professional integrity.

The presentation was made on behalf of entire health unit staff.

Candidates speak tomorrow night

The Squamish and Howe Sound Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring an all-candidate and stewardship meeting in the Parish Hall tomorrow night at 8:00 p.m.

All candidates for municipal and school board office will be speaking, along with the reeve, councillors and the school board which will be presenting their case for the referendum.

In a statement J. P. Phillips, president of the Chamber of Commerce said, "The Squamish and Howe Sound Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a stewardship and all candidate meeting to be held at 8:00 p.m., Nov. 30, at the Parish Hall. As the president of your Chamber I urge all voters to attend this meeting in the belief that this meeting will give you a chance to become a better informed voter and better informed voters select better qualified candidates on election day.

"The Chamber, being completely non-political, in no way supports any individual candidate or group of candidates, but rather hopes by sponsoring this meeting to give each and every candidate an opportunity to present his platform to the public."

Easement for satellite

An easement through the park property on Garibaldi Highlands will be granted for Channel 8 for a television satellite and pole.

Council last week decided this was easier than granting a lease and could be done without endangering transfer of land for park property.

This would provide the site for a television satellite to bring television to the area in Brackendale which presently is unable to get Channels 8 and 2.

Grant for library

Squamish Public Library received its annual one thousand dollar grant from the provincial government last week.

This grant, matches any grant made by the municipality up to one thousand dollars and forms the basis of the library's annual revenues.

Keen competition shown in contest for school board and council seats

Logging firm to sell timber holdings

Vanwest Logging Co., which has been operating at Mile 73 on the PGE Railway for many years, and which is also working in the Squamish area, will be selling its timber holdings in Canada.

The company is also closing sawmills at Nanaimo and in North Vancouver, according to statements made by Vanwest president Fred Brown last week.

The company, a subsidiary of Georgia Pacific Corp. of Portland, has two mills as well as timber holdings in this area and on the north end of Vancouver Island.

About 260 employees are involved in the mills.

Brown said that sawmills to be economic must be integrated with a pulp and paper operation.

The company sent termination letters to mill personnel last week and these will close on Nov. 30.

The company is trying to sell its timber at the north end of Vancouver Island to Rayonier Canada Ltd. If the timber is not sold, the company plans to log it next year and sell it locally.

The Squamish operation of Vanwest is still working but a shutdown is expected as soon as the adverse weather affects their operations.

Local representative of Vanwest, Steve Blasko said last week their Alta Lake operations had closed but this was the normal winter shutdown.

He said he was sure the company would sell its timber holdings in the Squamish area and would probably reopen under another firm.

Parents discuss referendum

Parents of school children, and all other interested people, are cordially invited to attend a series of meetings in the various elementary schools in the district where the questions concerning the referendum will be discussed and answered.

Meetings will be held in Brackendale on Monday, Dec. 4, at Squamish Elementary on the 5th, at Mamquam on the 6th and at Stawamus on the 7th. All meetings will start at 8:00 p.m.

In addition H. H. Bailey, chairman of the school board, will be sending a letter to parents of the high school pupils asking them to attend the meetings at the elementary schools and also to come to the all-candidate meeting on November 30, when questions concerning the referendum will be discussed.

Parents will also be invited to come to the high school and see the classes in action. This will give them an idea of the reasons behind the need for the referendum and the school expansion.

The provincial government has authorized the holding of the referendum in conjunction with the municipal and school board balloting on December 9.

The referendum, for more than $1.7 million dollars, will provide additions and improvements to a number of schools in the district as well as site improvements and equipping schools.

Ten candidates for four seats

Competition will be keen for three seats on municipal council and one on the school board when the voters go to the polls on December 9.

Only one of the incumbents on council, I. L. Boscarol, is seeking re-election. N. R. Barr and M. A. Carrico, both have decided not to run again.

Barr will be away from Squamish for much of the next two years and Carrico says duties at Mamquam Elementary School, the largest in the district, are becoming too insistent and take more of his time.

Two candidates will be running for school board with the chairman, Harold Bailey seeking re-election. Opposing him is L. C. Minchin.

Boscarol, in seeking re-election, said he was anxious to see a number of projects which have been started, completed. He also said he felt this council had done a good job. "Of course, there have been mistakes," he said, "but show me a group who have never made any. I think we have learned a great deal from our errors."

Squamish Ratepayers' president Charlie Bellis, who has been a vociferous critic of council and council's policies in the past, is making a strong bid for election.

Fred Bennett, prominent businessman and local Standard Oil agent, is also a candidate. He says he feels there should be more businessmen on the council, but has no axes to grind.

Making a first bid for council is Mrs. Mary Harris, a prominent member of the Recreation Association and instrumental in the Saturday morning and summer recreation programs for young people.

Tony Halters, local nurseryman and florist, is specifically interested in pollution problems and this is one of his main platforms. River control and water are two others.

Mrs. Alice Makowichuk, secretary of the Ratepayers' group and prominent in many other organizations, is also campaigning for one of the three vacancies.

Pat McCawley, running as an independent, says he feels there should be opposition to the establishment which has been in charge of municipal affairs. He feels a strong opposition is essential for good government.

Also making a first bid for council is Arthur Saul who says his platform is three fold; development of tourism, development of industry at a faster rate and full exploration of the river control program.

Candidates will be speaking at the all candidate and stewardship meeting in the Parish Hall tomorrow evening, Nov. 30, at 8:00 p.m. At this time they will present their various platforms.

Voters will go to the polls on Saturday, December 9, at four places in the district; the municipal hall at Squamish, Brackendale, Mamquam and Wood-fibre schools.

At the same time voters will be asked to approve the referendum authorizing the spending of $1.7 million for school expansion and improvements including equipment and sites.

Polls will be open from 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m.

GODA support from Chamber

The Squamish and Howe Sound District Chamber of Commerce last week voted in support of GODA's request for endorsement of their plan to try to bring the 1976 Winter Olympics to Squamish.

B. H. Brown outlined the plan presented to council the preceding evening and said if this happened it would be the "wild-est thing that ever happened to this area."

He said more than $56 million had been spent in Grenoble in France preparing for the 1968 Olympics.

All the group wanted at this time was verbal support from the chamber and later they would be asked to appoint someone to act as liaison with the group.

President Jeff Phillips said "It would be difficult to find a reason for not supporting the request."

Approval was given and a letter promising the utmost support was to be sent to the committee.

Wednesday opening

The Squamish-Britannia Highway will be open on Wednesday, Nov. 29, and closed the other four working days of the week.

Closure hours are from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. on the other four days.

Drier, cooler weather has brought better road conditions to the highway with the surface being much firmer and easier to travel over.

An influx of visitors was expected for the American Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

The Country Philosopher

By ABO

Well, it's me again and must say I'm a little riled up about things I have heard said and read about our council. I have lived in this community a mighty long time and as a taxpayer feel I have the right to express my opinion. I am not asking anyone to agree with me, these are my personal feelings.

Seems to be that of late it has been open season on councilmen! In the last election I voted for what we have today. I believe they have done the best they can. I don't believe any other group could do any better without the support of all of us. It seems no matter what is done there are always some people who are never satisfied and go around yelling what they could do as if they were God himself.

To say or infer that we have a bunch of hippies and flower girls running the town is not only ridiculous but very childish. To me this seems a very poor way to try and get votes — you also must include all of us here in that group — we voted for them.

Think some of us had better clean up our own back yards and tend to our own business FIRST before trying to run a community.

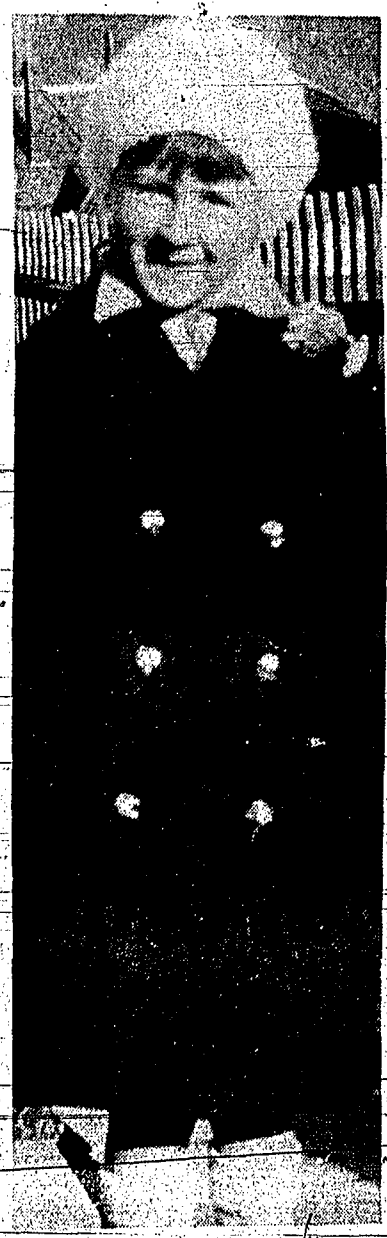

I am not saying that our present council is perfect. We all make mistakes, and it would be an awfully dull place if all of us were perfect.

As far as there not being any "action" at the council meetings, well that's not the way I heard it!! As far as I can see the council is like a jury — they must all agree on a final decision and when that is made they present a united front.

I doubt very much if there would be any change at all this year, if the council members were standing for re-election. So I can only say this; you who are condemning the present group are still going to have some of them left there. And how can you, the way you seem to feel, associate with these characters you say are of the "hippy age?"

If you cannot get votes on your own merits without this kind of garbage; well, you are fighting a losing battle as far as I am concerned.

See you at the polls. And don't forget to wear your flower. Mine's a skunk cabbage!! It is everyone's duty as a taxpayer to get out and vote for those of your choice. Do hope to see a record turnout at the polls this year.

Think by the looks of things a lot of people are going to be living on deer meat this winter! Sure a lot of hunters out and from what I gather quite a few deer being shot at. So you are not alone, councilmen... the deer are getting it too!!

The councilmen and deer are having it tough but hear that some dogs around town are living high off the hog. Deep Secret... roasted a lovely chicken last Sunday to a golden brown and proudly left it on the kitchen table and wandered out for a drive. On returning she found her poodles had already had Sunday dinner. Why didn't you leave them the burnt one from the week before?

See you next week chicken.

As far as this guy can discover, no one but no one, has sold almost half of the memberships in the golf club. A great many people have worked damn hard to make this a success but you can't single any individual as being responsible for getting members.

By the way, Pat do you think this lassie pictured would make a honey of a flower girl??

Don't cut that tree...

If you are planning to get a Christmas tree for your family why not drop in at the Boy Scout tree lot either at Snocap Service or at Fred Bennett's Standard bulk plant?

A tree will only cost two dollars and there won't be any wet brush to slosh through, no worry about whether you were cutting it where you were supposed to, no fear of the Forest Service breathing down your neck and no danger of being fined for illegally cutting.

This year the boys have cut fourteen hundred prime trees from their Christmas tree farm in the Pemberton area and these will be sold throughout the district to raise money for the various Scout activities.

It used to be fun to go out, father, mother and all the children, find a lovely tree and bring it home. But in recent years, and especially since the road to Vancouver was opened, tree cutting has become a danger to the reforested areas. In fact two years ago it was estimated that practically as many trees were cut as were replanted. And many were cut illegally.

So regulations had to be imposed and while one can obtain a permit to cut a tree on sections of the Hydro power line or on private property, permission must be obtained from the owner and this must be presented to the Forest Service.

Tree checks have been instituted along the highway along with warnings that trees must not be cut on Crown land.

With all the regulations, and with the danger of losing not only the tree but your vehicle, we'd suggest you give the Scouts two dollars and get your tree without any difficulty.

Don't forget to collect your receipt. The Forest Service may ask for it.

But don't cut that tree. It could be costly.

The "Sharp" tax increase

Most economists are agreed that some sort of tax increase is desirable.

The business and financial Canadian community finds itself split on the issue. Bankers tend to argue that without a tax hike the resulting budget deficit will generate dangerous inflationary pressure. But many manufacturers, experiencing a profit squeeze, maintain that the additional burden of higher taxes will force them to raise prices and hence add to inflationary pressures.

The public understandably tends to oppose a tax increase. It is easier for a person to see how the money goes when it is taken in income taxation than when it is eaten up by inflation. And it is especially hard for the taxpayer to understand the use of tax policy to counter certain undesirable short-term trends in the Canadian economy or to help meet certain unforeseen budgetary needs.

Finance Minister Sharp's announcement of a coming tax increase is an admission that the economy is still confronted with inflationary pressures, although no one is suggesting imminent danger of run-away inflation.

Industrial prices have been going up. A number of strikes, followed by generous wage settlements, will add to employer costs. And these are likely to be passed along to the consumer in the form of higher prices. These factors, taken together with an inflation-producing budget deficit, would suggest the immediate need for a tax increase.

When the plea for voluntary restraint has obviously failed the federal government has had little alternative but to impose mandatory restraints. Industry must now take the hint and join in the general drive to fight inflation before our country's economic well-being develops into serious proportions.

OTHER OPINIONS

Suburban unions

Organized labor's new approach to political action in the suburbs was preceded by a poll that developed some interesting statistics. It was indicated that nearly 50 percent of all union members now live in the suburbs, and that about 75 percent of union members under the age of 30 are suburban dwellers. The unions have tended to work politically where their members are affiliated, rather than where they live.

Now the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education sees many opportunities in the suburbs, "the new frontier of politics." The poll suggested that suburban dwellers are presently more interested in local and neighborhood issues than other problems, so COPE urged the union members to concentrate on local problems such as those involving property taxes and sewer lines, and then move up toward state and national issues.

A COPE booklet containing ideas for political action in the suburbs might well be of value to others beside members of labor unions. It does seem that the rush to the suburbs has created political potentials that have not yet been realized. There have already been many shifts in political alignments because of this, of course. But increased political activity is likely in the future, and ought to be encouraged.

—St. Louis, Post-Dispatch.

LATE AFTERNOON sun was hitting the peak of Garibaldi and the surrounding mountains one afternoon when this picture was taken. The mountain was brilliant while the lower slopes already showed the encroaching darkness.

"I can never remember... is it too much money chasing not enough goods that causes inflation, or vice versa?"

COMMENT

'Stanfield isn't perfect'

By MARTIN KING

OTTAWA — With all the adulation and euphoria that surrounds a new Conservative leader Robert Stanfield, it was heartening last week to discover that the new Leader of the Opposition is not perfect. In fact, he already seems to have made a blunder which could cost him the sorely-needed all-out support of the party's seven Quebec members of Parliament.

The seven were infuriated when he announced the appointment of young Quebec City lawyer Michael Cogger as associate national director of the organization. The MPs told Mr. Stanfield that they neither needed or wanted to be patronized, and that he should have consulted them before he made his announcement.

At 26, Cogger could hardly be considered a seasoned political observer. His only previous contribution of note to the party was his association with the leadership campaign of former Tory justice minister E. Davie Fulton who was defeated in his bid for leadership at the party convention in September. Yet his new post is one of the most important in the P.C. set-up.

The Quebec MPs feel that Mr. Stanfield's action was politi-

(Former West Vancouver student Martin King is now living in Ottawa. Interested in national as well as international affairs, he hopes to write a 'comment' from time to time for the Lions Gate Times. While living in West Vancouver, King contributed many articles and opinion columns for the Times. Editor) cally motivated. His "gesture" did not show the sincerity and genuine goodwill that they feel it should have. They have informed Mr. Stanfield that they will not be used for his or anyone else's political gain. The implications of this first "blunder" cannot be shrugged off and ignored, especially if they are considered any indication or premonition of things to come.

After only one week in office, Stanfield may already have succeeded in alienating not only his French-speaking MPs but also a good deal of the French-speaking electorate, a feat which took Tory Prime Minister John Diefenbaker three, possibly four years to accomplish. But then, Mr. Diefenbaker had the now defunct Quiet Revolution, which he chose to ignore, working in his favor.

All Stanfield has is the Union Nationale and Daniel Johnson, who is busily running around making sure that United States investors know the differences between a separatist and a French Canadian nationalist, and he is one of the latter.

Even before taking office, Stanfield conceded that his biggest headache would be "keeping the Quebecers in the fold." By now that headache must be a migraine at least, especially when one considers that the French-speaking community is no longer contained solely in the province of Quebec, but also exists in considerable numbers in the province of New Brunswick, where Premier Louis-Robert comes from Acadia stock, and Manitoba, which, for the Liberals has produced Veterans' Affairs Minister Teillet.

The situation with regard to French-speaking Canada is not the only problem the new leader has come up against. He has yet to demonstrate his ability to lead a cohesive and united party.

During the debate on capital punishment, Mr. Stanfield could not refrain his Tories from hooting and jeering throughout the eloquent speech of the Prime Minister, which was certainly the most sincere expression of wisdom the House has heard in quite some time.

In contrast, the Liberals remained respectfully silent during a bitter attack on the Prime Minister's speech by Davie Fulton until an outraged Judy LaMarsh, who is not known for her love of Lester Pearson, could stand it no longer and burst into a "tirade."

Stanfield also could not stave off Conservative House Leader Michael Starr from introducing a last-minute Conservative filibuster which resulted in a postponement of the vote, which would have gone to the abolitionists, who include among them the new P.C. leader.

Nor could the Conservative leader shut-up one Tory backbencher who innocently blubbered on for three minutes about the retention of "capital murder," making a fool of himself and most of the arguments of his fellow Tories.

Has the Conservative leadership really changed so much that the party can now claim to be a credible alternative to the Liberals? It is still too early to tell, and it is also too early to tell whether those still Stanfield waters are running as deep as Dalton Camp would like us to believe.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, The Squamish Times,

I want to reply to Mr. A. B. Mackenzie's statement about the Ratepayer's Association being a pressure group.

The whole activity of the community is becoming so controlled and such a conviction runs so directly counter to experience.

A free democratic society cannot survive indefinitely under this control. Economy cannot survive unless expenditures are directed to productive ends. Inefficiency cannot forever be paid by the taxpayer.

The person who is dissatisfied and sees the need of what should be done are persons who are responsible for major achievements in community affairs.

There are taxpayers who are satisfied with things as they are.

There are taxpayers who seek personal prominence or business favors.

AND there are taxpayers who are dissatisfied and who have a vision of things as they should be and work unceasingly towards this worthwhile achievement.

Leaders come from the ranks of the discontented; the ones who recognize the need, and who are willing to do something about it. If this entails rocking the boat in a few places, I suggest we rock the boat. Enquiring minds and provocative ideas tend to lead to a better environment.

The community will be improved in proportion to the awareness concern and action of its citizens. The key to this improvement is maximum citizen participation and a citizen committee can promote and follow up every aspect of community improvement.

Independent voices and outlook on views and policies are vitally necessary.

Progress and development on a planned organized basis pave the way for future growth. Diversification is essential in this area to help maintain a sound balance in the economic progress of this valley.

To assist us to obtain this sound balance we must:

Appraise and plan for the future: Cite the value of local industry: Promote the economic health: Promote retail and wholesale trade: Advertise and publicize the area: Promote better rural relations: Organize thinking on municipal projects: Promote maps, folders, lists, etc.: Encourage more tourists: Last but not the least, seek favorable taxation.

Maybe the Association is stepping on some toes but it is because they have to be stepped so as to ensure proper value for tax money and the economic growth of the area.

Alice Makowichuk.

Editor, The Squamish Times,

The area between Birken and Devine, a distance of about 7 miles, has 3 Hydro power lines running through a valley 1/2 to 3/4 miles wide. The people in this area have been asking for electric service for years. They should have had electric service when the first power towers were put through 20 years ago.

Now a 4th power line is going through the valley. Peace River power bound for California. Now 4 power lines through ones property and no electricity for light, freezers, fridges, water etc. is insulting.

The point of this and what should interest the people of B.C. is the fight a resident of B.C. must put up to gain the most simple benefits from our resources. The hocus pocus, the phoney agreements, and proposals put forward by the Hydro managers have been an insult to the intelligence of the residents and a disgrace to the government.

This is 1967, Canada's Centennial year and in Montreal the World's Fair features "Man and His World," an invitation to people to make use of the products of science and technology.

Automatic machines are capable of turning out a tremendous amount of everything needed. Every 25 seconds a new scientific invention or technical invention is discovered and goes into production in a very short time. Also in the space of 10 short years science and technology will be able to deliver anything man is able to dream of.

And here in B.C. it requested to complete fencing of the P.G.E. or paving a road or supplying electricity to the householder the managers will tell you, "WE ARE NOT OBLIGED TO DO THIS."

Please note that the engineers do not talk in this manner nor scientists. It is the managers of government enterprises who are the obstacles to progress.

This is very important to the people who need paved roads as we do here. This is one of the most wonderful parts of B.C., 6 lakes Birken, and Anderson being the best known. Fishing, riding to alpine meadows, rock hounds, hunting, to mention a few, also the famous scenic drive.

It is important to know who is responsible for holding up the ditching of the P.G.E. through an organic type soil which is capable of producing vegetables from a soil that is not poisoned by insecticides.

Vegetables of a distinctive qualities for the thousands of tourists and campers many of whom will stay at the camp sites at Birken, Twin Peaks D'Arcy and Ponderosa.

Who is responsible for neglecting to complete the fencing of the P.G.E. to protect the farmers stock that might get out of the pasture? It is important to know who is responsible for delaying the electrification of this district.

It is important that the people of this district and other districts of B.C. to know who are the ones responsible for obstructing the progress of B.C. in order that we may remove them. "We are not obliged to do the things you request," is not an answer that answers the needs of the people.

OTTAWA DIARY

by JACK DAVIS, MP
Coast - Capilano

Canada's offshore mineral rights belong to Canadians. This obvious fact was officially recognized in a recent ruling by the Supreme Court of Canada. Of course Premier Bennett was upset. So were half a dozen other provincial premiers. But perhaps this is why both he and they were reluctant to see their claims tested in the courts in the first place.

They have cause for playing for big stakes. Take Quebec's Premier Daniel Johnson for instance. He was laying claim to all of the mineral rights under the Gulf of St. Lawrence, part of the Grand Banks, and half of Hudson's Bay.

Premier John Robarts of Ontario wanted the other half of Hudson's Bay. Joey Smallwood was hoping to get all of the Continental Shelf off Newfoundland. And Bob Stanfield, when he was Premier of Nova Scotia, was asking for all of the Grand Banks from Newfoundland south to the U.S. border.

In turning them down, what did the Supreme Court say? It said, in effect, that the provinces, individually, did not bring any offshore rights with them when they joined Confederation. It said that such offshore mineral rights as have since been agreed upon by other countries in negotiation with Canada, now belong to Canada as a whole. And since any other country whose rights may be further affected by the action of Canadians would have to get compensation from Ottawa, not the provinces. What in effect Ottawa obtained, and what in effect is its responsibility, therefore becomes its own property as well. Or, to put it in other words, our undersea mineral resources belong to all of the people of Canada, not just to those who live near the shore.

Admittedly there is a great deal involved. In 1958 the International Convention on Offshore Mineral Rights agreed that each country claims went halfway to the shore of its neighbor. Canada, in other words, can now claim all of the offshore resources on the seabed which run out to the midway point in the Pacific Ocean between B.C. and Japan. The same reasoning applies off our Atlantic Coast and in the Arctic Ocean as well. Even if one were to confine their calculation to our Continental Shelf, the potential area for mineral development within Canadian jurisdiction is automatically increased by about 50 per cent.

While Ottawa's hand has been strengthened by the ruling of the Supreme Court, it now has to face the realities of administration. How does it look after the details of operations which are close in shore so to speak? Perhaps a compromise will therefore have to be made. And it could be along the lines of a similar settlement in the United States. There the administration of mineral rights out to the old three-mile limit is looked after by the individual states themselves. Beyond that the Federal Government does the leasing and collects all the revenues from the oil well drilling and other activities which are going on there.

Ottawa, of course, has to look both ways. It has to look, not only to the provinces for a scheme in this country, but also to our neighbors in the United States, France, etc. I mention France because that country still owns the Islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. What offshore mineral rights does it have there? And how far do they extend out from St. Pierre and Miquelon to the shores of Quebec, Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island?

Ottawa will have to deal with General de Gaulle on his issue. It will also have to deal with Washington in respect to our limits along the 49th Parallel. This, too, is a Federal responsibility. And our provinces can thank their lucky stars that the Supreme Court of Canada has seen to it that the representatives of all of the people of Canada still have to do the bargaining on our behalf.

SCOUTS were busy unloading trees on Sunday at Fred Bennett's Standard parking lot. These trees will be going on sale in the immediate future.

Amalgamation talks now ready for Victoria comment

Talks on amalgamation with Britannia have reached the point where representatives from the District of Squamish and Anaconda Company (Canada) Ltd. are prepared to go to Victoria to talk with the Minister of Municipal Affairs.

On Tuesday of last week B. B. Greenlee, manager of Anaconda's Britannia Beach operation and the company lawyer I. Robertson, met with council to discuss the latest steps in the amalgamation story.

Mr. Robertson said the company was sympathetic with the request to extend the boundaries of the district. The understanding was the District wished to obtain tax monies now going to the provincial government and to obtain the Municipalities Aid grant in respect to population.

There was no desire to disturb the present status quo as far as other matters were concerned.

However problems were bound to arise and the company wished to obtain clarification of these points before either Anaconda or the District made any commitments.

Robertson said the company was willing to co-operate with the District in finding answers to these questions.

BOUNDARIES

Boundaries were one point. Would the District want all properties including those which run far back into the mountains or only the small strip along the shoreline? How far up the hillside would this property go?

What about Crown timber and Crown granted mineral claims? If boundaries have to be surveyed who would pay the costs?

Dr. L. C. Kindree, acting as reeve in the absence of P. J. Brennan, said the boundary would be a set altitude above the water line, probably the 1000 foot level. Mineral and timber claims do not come into the question and the boundaries have been set by using existing boundary lines so no surveying is needed.

OTHER POINTS

— Will school representation be lost if the area comes into the municipality?

— Would subdivision of property be costly for the company?

— Would roads have to be surveyed? Who would bear costs of improvement?

— Would recreational facilities be integrated with Squamish?

— What of garbage collection and fire protection?

— What would happen to the Mobile Home Park area?

— Maintenance costs of various services would have to be considered.

— Questions on special taxation and taxation exemption would also have to be thoroughly investigated.

— Application of various by-laws of the district would have to be investigated and some agreement reached as to whether they would be binding or only some would be applicable.

— Unexercised powers of a municipality as defined in the Municipal Act would have to be considered in respect to the status quo. These are government and procedure; licensing and regulating; use of highways; acquisition and disposal of property, public works, utilities, and some miscellaneous matters.

— Administration of justice would have to be considered, including that of cost.

— Possibility of imposition of a business tax is another matter of concern.

SOME ANSWERED

Council heard the questions and some were answered while others would have to be discussed at length with government authorities in Victoria.

Dr. Kindree pointed out that in the case of Woodfibre, roads, subdivision, water, power, etc., along with roads, fire and garbage would still be Britannia's concern as they would, in effect, be a single property owner.

This would be equivalent to a large ranch which maintained all its own services as it was responsible for them and asked no assistance from the municipality. Therefore there would be no interference from the municipality.

Mr. Robertson asked what would happen if Britannia closed down, would taxation still continue? Municipal clerk W. D. Kennedy said as long as the buildings and plant remained they would be taxed but this would occur even if the provincial government was collecting the taxes.

Councillor Mitchell said Squamish could certainly use the taxes from Britannia Beach but stressed that Britannia could use the services provided by the district. This would become increasingly more important when the road was finished and possibly more Britannia employees might be living here.

Greenlee said the company was not planning on further housing developments in Britannia and would look favorably upon workmen residing in Squamish.

At present out of a work force of 464 men some 251 live in Britannia, 42 commute from Squamish and the remaining 161 commute from the Greater Vancouver area.

This could radically change when the highway is completed and the mining town is no more than 20 minutes away from any portion of the district.

Then Squamish could become even more of a residential area for Britannia Beach.

Council and the company's representatives decided to make application to the minister for furthering the talks.

Police Court

The following cases appeared before Magistrate C. I. Walker in police court on November 21. Joseph Edward Gough and Terrence Michael Foran, who appeared on Nov. 14, on a theft charge and were remanded to the 21st, were found guilty of theft under $50.

Gough, who had no previous convictions, received a one year suspended sentence. Foran, who admitted to previous convictions, was fined $250.

Barry Galley pleaded guilty to being a minor entering licensed premises and was fined $25. Kenneth Hanson, on the same charge, received a similar fine.

Selina Pascal pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance by fighting, shouting and swearing and was placed on a suspended sentence for six months.

Roger E. Menear was convicted of driving without due care and attention arising from an accident at Windy Point, eight miles south of Britannia Beach when his automobile was completely demolished after coming in contact with a rock face. He was fined $35.

Richard Paul, pleaded guilty to being in a state of intoxication in a public place and was fined ten dollars.

Access road needs light

The Chamber of Commerce last week decided to ask for better lighting or cat's eyes for the access road to Squamish.

Letters were to be written to the highways department and council asking for cat's eyes on the highway leading to the access road, and either cat's eyes or street lights on the access road and the road leading to the schools and Wilson Crescent.

Members said the dark condition of the highway and access road where the white lines were almost impossible to see made it hard to keep in the correct lane or to stay on the road.

Earlier in the week the question had come up at council where it was decided to ask the highways department for use of their equipment to paint the white lines on the road as they were almost obliterated.

Stop sign for Ayr Drive

A stop sign at Ayr Drive and Skyline Drive was recommended at last week's council meeting. It was also suggested one be installed at Braemar as well.

Street lights should be placed in three spots in the shop area according to councillor N. R. Barr. These would be at Hartnell's Trailer Court and at the entrance to the PGE shops. He also advocated done for the foot of Skyline Drive.

Boyle's Bros. Drilling was to be contacted regarding the feasibility of putting a pipe under the PGE tracks south of Buckley's Crossing. The old channel had been filled with material from the 8 Mile pit which does not contain large boulders, leading to the belief a pipe could be placed under the fill to bring river water through to flush out the slough.

Lloyd again heads east Howe Sound scout group

Art Lloyd was re-elected as chairman of the East Howe Sound Boy Scout District Council at last week's annual meeting.

H. McCulloch is vice-chairman with Cpl. L. Biggeman and Mrs. D. Pinchbeck as secretaries. D. Llewellyn, treasurer and Mrs. D. Pinchbeck, badge secretary.

Elected members at large were H. Boomer, L. Pickell, M. N. Neighbor, R. Street, Mrs. C. Tatlow and Sgt. D. Wilson. Fred Fearman, vice-chairman of Coast Region said the movement's sole aim is producing good citizens; spiritual, mentally and physically.

"Boys like action," he said, "they like doing things, variety, someone to lead them and to be different. They are full of energy and at the same time lazy; imaginative, gregarious, wasteful — if we let them and are hero-worshippers."

He said they like the outdoor life and this is where we are fortunate; to be so close to one of the real joys of Scouting.

"Scouting can begin in a hall but this is just the beginning. The simple backwoods experience is best," he said. "One night a week is not sufficient to be with the boys. There must be weekends and camp trips."

He said leaders must be supported and added that Cubmasters are not babysitters. He also singled the RCMP out for praise and said he was pleased to see they were so actively engaged in Scouting in this district.

MLA Allan Williams, one of the guests of honor, said he had the pleasure to represent one of the most exciting parts of B.C., and that he wished to honor the courage of the young people of the community; the boys in the Scouting movement.

Reeve P. J. Brennan welcomed the opportunity to be with them and said Scouting is tapping the greatest resource, youth.

W. J. Elliott spoke briefly on the centennial project, the combined tourist booth - museum, and said he hoped the boys, and indeed everyone, would feel this is their project and contribute towards it.

Reports were heard from the various groups who said there was a total of 10 Cubs and 50 Scouts, without including Britannia which had no representative at the meeting.

Pemberton with 22 Scouts and 14 Cubs, had also started the first Venturer group in the area and L. Pickell in making the report said he suggested any group which didn't have Venturers should start them.

One Pemberton boy, Peter Proudlock, went to the World Jamboree and enjoyed it.

Pickell also commented on the closer liaison with the rest of the district and said "We have the best Christmas tree country in the world and we've managed to sell you on that idea and get you up there."

Gene Klymchuk reported on Ist Squamish with 33 Cubs and said lack of leaders had forced them to give up Scouts who were divided between the other two troops. A few more volunteers would be of assistance here.

R. Lasser gave the report for 4th Squamish which had 33 Cubs and 16 Scouts and hoped to start a Venturer group. Ladies auxiliary had been very helpful and the group had organized a first aid kit sale, using the proceeds to buy camping equipment.

Bob Robson asked for another Cub leader for 2nd Squamish and said they had 21 Cubs and 12 Scouts.

In the District Commissioner's report given by A. D. C. Sid Pudney in the absence of R. Bryant, lack of sufficient leadership was deplored. He also reported the resignation of Bryant who planned to continue working as Scoutmaster with the boys.

Lloyd, in his speech said the new Cub program was now in effect and the Venturer program was attracting the older boys. "It's completely different, boy-oriented and boy controlled," the leader is only the adviser," He added the new Scout program would be a challenging one.

The Christmas tree drive, held on Nov. 18, was mentioned. Fourteen hundred trees were cut by a force of approximately 60 people who spent the day at the Scout tree farm at Pemberton. In connection with this Barry Shaw presented the "man of the year — as far as trees go" award to R. Lasser.

The executive looked forward to a full year of activity with the interest in the movement growing in this area.

Minchin candidate for School Board

A contender for election as School Trustee this year, is L. C. (Minch) Minchin, who has been resident in Squamish since 1957.

Mr. Minchin was born in England in 1917, and educated in Grammar School to the equivalent of Grade 13. He served in the army for six and a half years during World War II, and has had a great deal of administrative experience, being currently employed as a co-ordinator at the P.G.E. Railway, Squamish.

He has been quite active in community affairs, having been president of the High School P.T.A. for two years, a past president and treasurer of the Fall Fair Committee.

For some years he has been chairman of the Squamish Public Library Board, Sergeant-at-Arms and Poppy Committee chairman for the Royal Canadian Legion, Squamish, a vice president of the West Vancouver-Howe Sound N.D.P. Constituency Association, and is P.R.O. of the newly formed Howe Sound Olympic Club.

He is, perhaps, an example of the saying, "If you want something done, ask a busy man".

Three of his children are currently attending school, two in Howe Sound Secondary, and one at the Squamish Elementary.

It is his conviction that the human resource is the most important of any country's resources. "We have been blessed with an abundance of every kind of natural resource in our country," he said, "but the human resource is the most important."

"You can have minerals in the ground, vast forests, an abundance of water and so on, but without a trained, skilled labor force and able administrators, you have nothing. Of equal importance is the fact that we must have an informed, alert, and thoughtful electorate."

"Without this, our democratic form of government, for whose preservation so many have suffered and died in the past, will also suffer and die. Never was the much quoted truism that the future belongs to the rising generation, truer than it is right now, on the eve of our country's second century as a sovereign state."

"That is why our educational institutions are so important in this era of swift technological change and advance; not only to the future of our Canada, but for Canada's role in the world. And that is why I wish to serve this community as a member of the School Board!"

McCawley urges voters to elect new candidates

Patrick McCawley, one of the candidates running for municipal council in the December 9th election, last week urged the voters to elect new independent candidates to office.

In his statement McCawley said "The time is approaching when taxpayers of the valley must make up their minds whether or not new blood is needed in the local government."

"If you, the voters, decide that the present council and its advisors are acting in your best interest, re-elect the council supported candidates."

"If, however, you desire representation which will put your interests forward, elect independent candidates who will oppose, when necessary, the old regime."

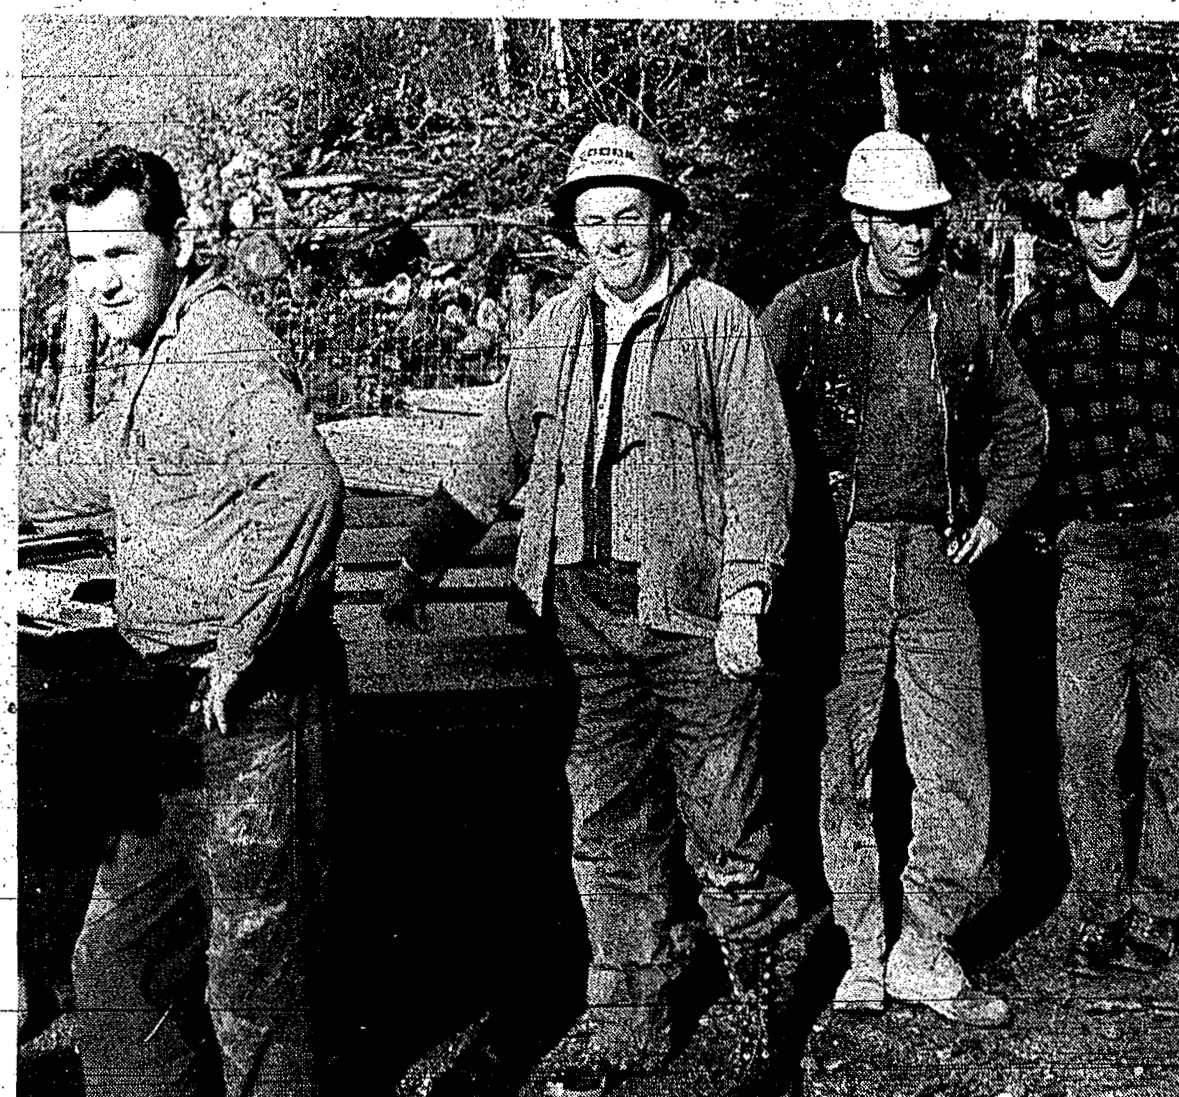

"Remember, even the best of governments need a strong opposition to keep them on their toes and to ensure that the voice of the public is heard at all times."

Off to Europe

Four youths, Allen (Butch) Walton, Rudy Venekamp, John Simpson and Jan H. Hinkema, left on Saturday, Nov. 18th for Europe.

They crossed Canada by CPR, and went across the Atlantic on the S.S. Carmenia, and will be visiting Portugal, Germany, England and Switzerland.

Allen plans to spend Christmas in Holland with the Dutch lads and John will be spending Christmas in England. Jan and Butch plan to work in different countries, Rudy will be on holidays and John plans to be back in Squamish in February.

BUSY working on the new Goss Contracting shop in the Mashiter Service are l. to r. Sam Goss, Pat Goode, Walter Goss and Bernie Van Sickle.

Brownies fly up to Guides

Ten Brownies flew up to Guides and one walked up at the ceremony in the Parish Hall on Wednesday, Nov. 8, when the girls also received badges they had earned.

The girls were members of the 1st Squamish Brownie Pack. A swimmer's badge was presented to Margaret Lemcke and to Brenda Newson.

Guide Commissioner Brandner attended the fly-up and Brown Owl M. Laing said a few words to the girls who were leaving her to join the 1st Guide Company under the leadership of Captain E. Carson.

Girls who took part in the flyup were Golden Hand Brownie Margaret Lemcke, Janice Banks, Bonnie Filgate, Diane Horne, Angelo Favaro, Annie Halter, Barbara Lloyd, Cindy McCrae, Kathy Mannix, Jane Anne Manson and Brenda Newson.

Tree planting completed here

Last week saw the completion of the fall reforestation program in the Squamish Ranger District.

However, local Forest Ranger Tag Neighbor said tree planting would commence in the spring at the lower elevations. All planting done so far has been at the higher elevations which are not accessible till late spring.

A total of 260,000 trees, more than two thirds of which were bare root were planted. Neighbor estimated that between 70 and 80 thousand trees were in capsules. This was as many as could be obtained this fall.

He said he had high hopes for this method of planting and felt it would be more widely used next year.

Up to 22 men worked on the reforestation in the past five weeks, with four main areas planted. These were Rainbow Creek at Alta Lake, Harvey Creek on Howe Sound, Raffuse Creek and in the Mamquam area.

Early snow in October drove the planters out of the Alta Lake area. This was followed by flooding conditions and the crew never returned.

Work on reforestation was completed last Friday. He said he had hoped to plant more trees but unfortunately was unable to get more done in the time at his disposal.

Further planting will be done as soon as possible in the spring.

OLD AGE PENSIONER chairman W. St. Laurent cut the cake at the dinner given to the group by the Lions Ladies while convener Mrs. S. Rizun looks on.

Lions Ladies entertain OAP

Members of the Lions Ladies were hostesses at a dinner and whist drive for the Senior Citizens in the United Church Hall on Tuesday, November 21st.

The tables gave a hint of the coming festive season with their colorful centrepieces of holly and poinsettia glowing in the light of candles. Some thirty members of the OAP enjoyed a turkey dinner for which President W. St. Laurent thanked the ladies heartily.

A very brief business meeting followed the dinner, after which Mrs. R. McKilligan supervised a few hands of Crazy Whist. Winners of the prizes were Mrs. D. D. Morrison and W. St. Laurent with Mrs. R. E. McNamee and Jack Nelson receiving small gifts to console them for their low scores.

Hostesses for the generous occasion were Mrs. Steve Rizun, Mrs. C. C. Marchant and Mrs. Danny Thom.

DECEMBER WEDDING FOR KAREN LEWIS

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lewis of North Vancouver wish to announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Karen to Earl Edward George, Squamish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell of Burnaby, B.C.

The wedding will take place at St. Paul's Catholic Church, North Vancouver, December 30th.

The bride's father is Chief and business manager of the Squamish Indian Band and the groom is a great-grandson of the late Chief August Jack.

A Trustee Answers

Question: IF THE SCHOOLS HAVE TO GO ON SHIFT, WILL IT MEAN A LOT OF OVERTIME AND OTHER ADDITIONAL COSTS TO THE SCHOOL BOARD?

Answer: Yes, the cost of transportation of students particularly would be greatly increased. All of the existing high school bus routes would have to be duplicated in order to have one shift start at 8:00 a.m. and another at 12:30 p.m. If the elementary schools were on the same shift they could be transported on the high school runs as they are now. However, if one of the elementary schools was able to continue on regular shifts, a special bus run would have to be put on for the elementary students entitled to transportation to that school. Some of the school bus drivers would be working as much as a twelve hour day unless other part-time drivers could be found. Other costs, such as maintenance, cleaning and operation would also be higher if a shift system becomes necessary. It is estimated that these additional costs to the Board would be more than the cost to the Board of paying the principal and interest on the debentures to be issued under Referendum No. 8.

Question: IS IT TRUE THAT THE YOUNG PEOPLE IN THIS AREA CAN ONLY HAVE SOCK DANCES IN THE HIGH SCHOOL GYMNASIUM?

Answer: No. The Municipality of Squamish, through the Parks and Recreation Commission, has come to an agreement with the School Board whereby the Future Citizens Club can hold dances in the high school gym using normal footwear. The Municipality has guaranteed that any undue wear on the floor will be repaid at Municipal expense.

Question: WOULD COMMUNITY USE OF THE SCHOOLS BE INTERFERED WITH IF THE STUDENTS ARE ON SHIFT?

Answer: Yes, to a certain extent. Late afternoon and early evening activities would have to be curtailed as the schools would still be in use for school purposes.

Question: WHAT ARE THE STANDING COMMITTEES OF THE SCHOOL BOARD?

- Answer:
- (1) Education Committee — Mrs. Marchant and Mrs. Philip.
  - (2) Finance and Salary Committee — Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Mulhern.
  - (3) Building and Grounds Committee — Mr. Bailey and Mr. Fougberg.
  - (4) Public Relations Committee — Mrs. Marchant and Mrs. Mitchell.
  - (5) Policy Committee — Mr. Fougberg.
  - (6) Regional College — Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Fougberg.
  - (7) Coast Garibaldi Health Unit — Mr. Fougberg.
  - (8) Squamish Advisory Planning Committee — Mrs. Marchant.
  - (9) Squamish Parks & Recreation Committee — Mr. Mulhern.
  - (10) Teacher Recruitment — Mrs. Marchant.
  - (11) Mount Currie Education Committee — Mr. George Leo.

Social Notes

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Rudkin on the birth of a second daughter, Shevaun, weighing 8 pounds in Squamish General Hospital on November 23rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim You and their three children have moved to Lillooet. Mr. You has been owner of the Waltz Inn Cafe for more than ten years.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Barnfield of Kitimat on the birth of a daughter, Lisa weighing 7 pounds 7 ounces on Sunday, November 19.

Mrs. W. Ridgeley is enjoying a holiday in the sunshine at Hawaii.

Mrs. Gene Muskett, a former resident of Squamish, now living in Seattle, was a recent visitor. She is a close friend of Mrs. P. Powell and Mrs. Jessie Henderson.

Mrs. J. Graham of Silverton is visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. Fairhurst.

St. Johns WA scores

It might be said that the Annual Sale of Work sponsored by the W.A. to St. John's Anglican Church ushered in the Christmas season.

Small pots of holly on the tea tables and a large holly tree aglow with many colored Christmas lights formed an attractive setting for the very successful event. The holly tree was donated by Mrs. A. P. Barnfield who had one of her trees topped. Branches of holly were sold at a novelty table along with many other interesting items.

There was a table of home sewing, one of home baking which was soon sold out, a Kiddies Corner, a table for plants and a NU 2 U Counter. All the booths did a roaring business; in fact, as over one hundred persons partook of the tea the ladies had to discontinue this service as they had run out of food!

The very pretty little three-cornered apron offered as a door prize was won by Mrs. Basil Hartnell while Mrs. C. Tatlow won the brightly colored apron offered as a draw.

Social Notes

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. R. Bruce on the birth of a daughter, Gwinith Mifany in Squamish General Hospital on Thursday, November 23, weighing 7 pounds 4 ounces.

Ken Jamieson, who has been working at Englewood for the past 14 years, has finally decided to return to Squamish where he will live with his mother, Mrs. E. Jamieson.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Gedge spent the weekend in Chilliwack.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Saul on the birth of a son, Christopher Thomas, weighing 7 pounds 8½ ounces on Tuesday, November 21, in Squamish General Hospital.

In 1966 the St. John Ambulance graduated more than 130,000 Canadians in first aid, home nursing and child care.

Housewarming and birthday party

A joint housewarming for Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Staton, and a birthday party for Mrs. V. H. Hurford, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Staton on Saturday, November 18.

Mrs. Hurford and Mrs. Staton acted as hostesses for each other and the guests, who were in on the joke, found it amusing to be invited to the double function unknown to the principals. Mrs. Hurford received a set of eight beautiful steins while Mr. and Mrs. Staton were given an electric can opener.

During the evening the guests chatted and admired each other's hard time costumes and later danced.

A buffet luncheon was served. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. R. Cleaver, Rev. and Mrs. A. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Downling, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. John Ross, Mrs. M. Vroom, Mrs. M. Fulmek, Mr. and Mrs. M. Bailey, and Mrs. C. Tatlow.

ASK EVA

Dear Eva;

Why don't parents realize that boys have feelings too? My sister is little and cute with big blue eyes and they are always saying how cute she is.

I have to wear glasses and I know I'm growing too fast but why do they have to act like I'm someone who ought to be hidden away and doesn't belong to them?

I just wish they'd realize that it hurts me when they compare us. I've tried to do what they want me to but they never seem to notice what I do and make such a fuss about her.

I'm not jealous and I like my sister but don't people judge a kid by how he behaves and not how he looks?

Lonely-Boy

Dear Boy;

People are often cruel and thoughtless with those they love. No one knows why. But that's not your real problem is it?

Of course you are jealous. This is a healthy feeling under the circumstances. You can like some one and still resent them. Admit that you are hurt and begin to do something about it.

You are self conscious of your own awkwardness and everyone about you can feel this uneasiness in you. Even your parents.

Make your strong feelings work for you. Find something you do well and do it, (there's always something). Don't waste precious time feeling sorry for yourself. There are people around you every day who like you and are waiting for you to be friendly. Enjoy them.

Keep on with your good conduct and take pride in the most valuable thing you have. Your youth and honesty.
Eva Robertson.

Newlyweds to reside in Squamish

Two lovely bouquets of dahlias from Mrs. W. B. Gosnell's garden, the groom's grandmother decorated Fleetwood Memorial United Church for the wedding of Marilyn Lenore Honey and James William Chamberlain on Saturday, November 4, at 7:00 p.m. Rev. Frank Muir officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle K. Honey of Cloverdale, while the groom is the son of Mrs. Annie Chamberlain.

The bride's choice for her wedding was a beautiful traditional floor length skinner satin gown. A simple scoop neckline highlighted the graceful panel design of the bodice and from the waist a gently pleated skirt flowed into a detachable train.

Two tiers of shoulder length french veiling fell from a single white rose. The bride carried a bouquet of trailing red roses entwined with white carnations.

Mrs. Betty Christensen was matron of honor, Miss Leila Honey, sister of the bride and Miss Vickie Chamberlain, sister of the groom were bridesmaids. The attendants wore identical floor length sleeveless gowns of royal blue velvet accented with over the elbow length white gloves. They wore pearl necklaces, gift of the bride. All the attendants carried carnations ranging in shade from a dark to light pink.

Stanley Olsen was best man and Rolly Douillard and Ron Honey were ushers.

A reception at Fernwood Acres, North Surrey followed the ceremony.

The young couple left for a honeymoon trip to California with the bride travelling in a stunning yellow and orange print fashioned into a very smart double breasted suit. Her hat and accessories were brown.

The newly wed couple are making their home in Squamish.

Out of town guests included Vickie Chamberlain from Halifax and J. P. Legault from Blind River, Ontario.

Bridal shower for Mrs. David Parfitt

Mrs. David Parfitt, the former Christine Brown, was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous bridal shower held in St. John's Parish Hall on Thursday evening November 23rd.

A large bouquet of chrysanthemums in glowing shades of bronze and yellow centred the head table while the additional tables were decorated with branches of red-berried holly.

Seated at the head table with Mrs. Parfitt were her mother Mrs. B. H. Brown, her sister Miss Linda Brown and Mrs. E. P. Yarwood. Each of the ladies was presented with a corsage of mums made by Mrs. Alex Sullivan.

Following a period of games the bride opened her many lovely gifts while her sister Linda fashioned a bonnet with streamers using the many-hued bows from the presents.

Delicious refreshments brought the pleasant evening to a happy close.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. S. Hinde, Mrs. Alex Sullivan, Mrs. Harry Waldron, Mrs. H. Butterworth and her daughter Carol, and Mrs. D. Fenton.

New books and films at library

Librarian Mrs. G. S. Clarke told members of the Squamish Public Library Board last week that new books and films have been added to the library shelves and to the film library.

New children's books have arrived and are being placed on the shelves a few at a time and a new order of adult books should arrive shortly.

One work bee has been held and so much work was done there has not been a need for another. She also commended the Girl Guides who came in one Saturday to assist in cleaning up the shelves.

The girls worked like beavers, cleaning up the shelves of children's books, putting on covers and pasting "keep me clean" stickers into the books. She said she planned to have another group of Guides in when the new book covers arrived.

A number of new people answered the call for volunteer librarians and while she now has practically all she will need for regulars and spares, anyone who is interested in taking part in this community activity is cordially invited to contact her.

The annual Library Board meeting will be held on January 15, and a nominating committee of Mrs. J. Jardine and Mrs. W. Regier has been set up to find a slate of members who will stand for election to the board.

LETTERS

Editor, The Squamish Times,

My sympathy goes out to the people of Birken who have been caught up in the corrosive tentacles of the B.C. Hydro.

My sympathy stems from the fact that I too have been adversely affected by power lines. One has to have lived with the affliction to fully comprehend the consequences and injustice being inflicted by the B.C. Hydro. Although the same people largely make up the B.C. Hydro as the original B.C. Electric, their methods have become progressively worse since Mr. Bennett took it over and used the Crown to hide behind and to cover up their iniquities.

And they have many. But Mr. Bennett has a large crown. He chose a gentleman who wants it and set him high up in the ivory tower, the B.C. Hydro building, with all the necessary powers to coerce, cheat, trespass and if necessary, expropriate facilities to further the transportation of power at the property owners expense, no matter who may be unfortunate enough to be in its path.

We all realize the necessity of this public utility and we are all, or we do become resigned to the fact that if we own land which if necessary must be used for this utility, we accept this fact. The injustices however, we cannot as human beings accept, particularly as these injustices are being perpetrated by our own government which we believe is elected by the people and for the people.

I believe that justice should prevail for the property owners as well as the consumer of electric power, and therefore if deemed necessary to obstruct and use private property for the transportation of the same, that the consumer or ultimate user should be charged for adequate compensation of property used and encumbered to bring him this power.

For we who own land along power lines are a minority compared to the large number of users, therefore we are also in the minority so far as political votes are concerned. It makes good political fodder when the government can tell the people of Powell River we are giving you cheap power, therefore you should vote for us. They do not tell them that they have encumbered 7 1/2 acres of my land for which they paid $1200 ten years ago, and that this encumbrance is now costing me $100,000, simply because I cannot use the land for residential subdivision to its fullest potential. And I am only one of many so encumbered.

Their argument with me is that they did not know ten years ago that this would happen. Granted, but I would advise you, the people of Birken, to look ahead not only to your own future but the future of your children, as the deal you make now is made in perpetuity, and in perpetuity is a long time. So make sure you get compensation now, for in perpetuity.

The only privilege I now get from the 7 1/2 acres they so encumbered is that of paying the taxes on the land so that B.C. Hydro can transport power over it in perpetuity. This privilege I can do without. I would suggest that you use your coal oil lamps a little longer. They may not be as bright but your dignity will be brighter if you fight off this coercive, threatening method of providing yourself with power.

What little rights you have are yours now. Use them, and use them to the utmost, as these people are not at all backward in telling you later that you have no rights whatsoever. You may believe, as I do, that right is right. They believe that might is right.

I would suggest that you all band together, get a good lawyer, and regardless of your political tendencies, get one that does not sleep in the present political bed.

Wishing you better luck than I had.
Larry Laramée.

If you think the world owes you a living, hustle out and collect it.

Site preparation for Centennial project

The museum - tourist booth, the Squamish centennial project should be a reality early next year if plans now underway get into operation in the next week or two.

Monies for the local portion of the project have been provided by the Chamber of Commerce and some donations, with the drive underway to pay back the Chamber for the monies advanced.

The building, modified from the original plan of a tourist booth A frame with museum in a rectangular building alongside, will now be an A frame.

When monies are available the addition will be built.

The new plan will include both museum and tourist booth as the latter takes up only a small portion of the building.

Of pre-cut construction, it will be placed on a cement pad at the site across from the forestry station. Adequate parking will be provided and the building will be sited to provide for future expansion.

Cost of the new structure should not run to more than $7500 and may be considerably less if donations of time and material are available.

B. B. Greenlee of Britannia has already stated the cement for the slab will be available when work is ready to start.

A beginning on the site preparation was slated for the immediate future so the ground would be ready when the material arrives. Beaver Lumber, who manufacture the pre-cut building, said delivery could be expected this week.

Some alterations have been made to the interior with walls removed, a stairway re-positioned and provision made for two washrooms instead of a bathroom.

With good weather and plenty of help the building could be ready early in the new year.

Teachers retain volleyball cup

By Lesley Chapman

Since last spring the teachers have been the holders of the school Challenge Cup and the senior boys volleyball team decided that it was time the cup changed hands.

The unfortunate thing for the students is that the teachers are still in possession of the cup after three close games played on Thursday. The scores were 5-12 for the students, 15-9 for the staff and 15-10 again for the staff.

Members of the staff who played were W. W. Baldry, P. A. Vogt, K. J. Goodall, G. R. Lewis, R. C. Martin, A. E. Bird and R. A. Frogge.

L. Downing, B. Niermeyer, R. Otto, H. Williams, M. Horyza, R. Johnson, J. Dirks, P. Mulhern and H. Burns were the challengers on the student team.

Also on Thursday Hansworth teams came up from Vancouver to play our junior and senior girls volleyball teams.

The seniors lost to Hansworth three games to one. In the first game Hansworth won 15-13. The second game was Howe Sound's victory 15-11 and the last two were won by Hansworth 15-9 and 15-4.

The junior teams played the full five games but, Squamish lost the last one so that Hansworth won three games to two. Squamish juniors lost the odd numbered games and won the even with scores of 10-15 for Hansworth, 15-5 for us, 15-5 for Hansworth, 15-11 in our favor and finally 15-0 for the visiting team.

After the games the teams were served soup, sandwiches, cookie and juice in the school cafeteria.

The teachers have visited Woodfibre and Britannia on Wednesday and Thursday of last week for the purpose of giving out report cards. On Friday afternoon we only had half a day of school so that the parents of Squamish students could come and pick up report cards.

This arrangement gives parents a chance to talk to the subject teachers they wish, the counsellors, faculty advisors, and the principal or vice-principal. The only nice part of it from the students' outlook is that we get a holiday.

HOWE SOUNDINGS

There are some squirrely goings-on in Garibaldi Highlands and you could also say it's strictly for the birds.

One youngster's proud possession is a "Squirrel House" which his father made and this has been installed on a tree by their house.

He promptly placed "For Rent" signs on the building, but so far, although there are squirrels in the neighborhood, the blue jays seem to be more interested in making it their home.

A month or two ago he was given an attractive ceramic squirrel which could be hung on the tree and this he did.

The real squirrel was quite fascinated and interested. He slowly crept down the tree coming closer and closer, but the other squirrel made no move. Finally he came close enough to touch noses and the delighted youngster exclaimed "They're kissing each other."

The squirrel was quite happy with the imposter (Incidentally the real one just loves peanut butter and sits up and eats it just like the picture of the animal in the Squirrel Brand ads) but the blue jays aren't very happy about the whole deal.

Usually if they are around they tease the squirrel and while he doesn't mind one or two he really heads for shelter when more of them appear. The birds saw the ceramic one, flew at it and finally ganged up on it, dive bombing and trying to chase it away.

They couldn't seem to understand why it didn't leave and I'm sure those are some real frustrated birds.

Loved the comment made by a local paper girl when she heard there might be a strike at Pacific Press and there would be no papers to deliver. "Just as Christmas is coming 'Shucks!' she exclaimed, 'just as Christmas is coming. They're sure not thinking of us!'"

Snow has fallen on the mountains around Squamish bringing a foretaste of winter but they tell me at Alta Lake that they have already had several inches of snow in October but it has gone away and they are enjoying the beautiful fall weather. Of course the skiers are happy to see the snow at the higher levels and each weekend sees a real influx of the snow enthusiasts.

But I'm afraid I like to see the snow on the hills but couldn't care less if it came down here. Everyone who wants it can just climb up there to revel in it.

The look on the faces of the children who pass the Times office and see the beautiful candy house made by Mrs. C. Alta of the Howe Sound Beauty Nook to be the draw prize at the annual Doll Bazaar has to be seen to be believed. Makes one feel like rushing out and making a candy house for one's own children or grandchildren.

Some lucky youngster is going to be the proud possessor of this next week when the ladies hold their doll bazaar on Wednesday, Nov. 29. Tickets are available in a number of places in town.

Loved the comment at the council meeting last week when arguments re television and the lack of television in the Brackendale area were being bandied about and Ernie Rose of Channel 8 said "FOC — BBG Dot" and made it sound like the four letter words the youngsters aren't supposed to read about.

The only thing that worries me is who is going to pay the janitors and cleaning men to scrub the same words or some like them off the walls of the washrooms and other places where they have been scribbled by the same youngsters who aren't supposed to be exposed to them.

I don't think any of us really like these short four letter words but I'm darn sure every kid who didn't know where they were in the story "Defender of the Faith" could find them now!

Incidentally how many of you noticed the item in one of the columns in a city paper where an effort was made to write an article without using four letter words and how difficult that was.

Quite an exercise.

Down in the alley

Evelyn Carson and Donald Hales were the high bowlers in the Bantam League on Saturday November 18. Evelyn scored the girls' high single of 180 and the high double of 311. Donald made the boys' high single of 227 and the high double of 344.

The lucky winners of the hamburger donated by Thea were Evelyn Carson and Brad McCormick.

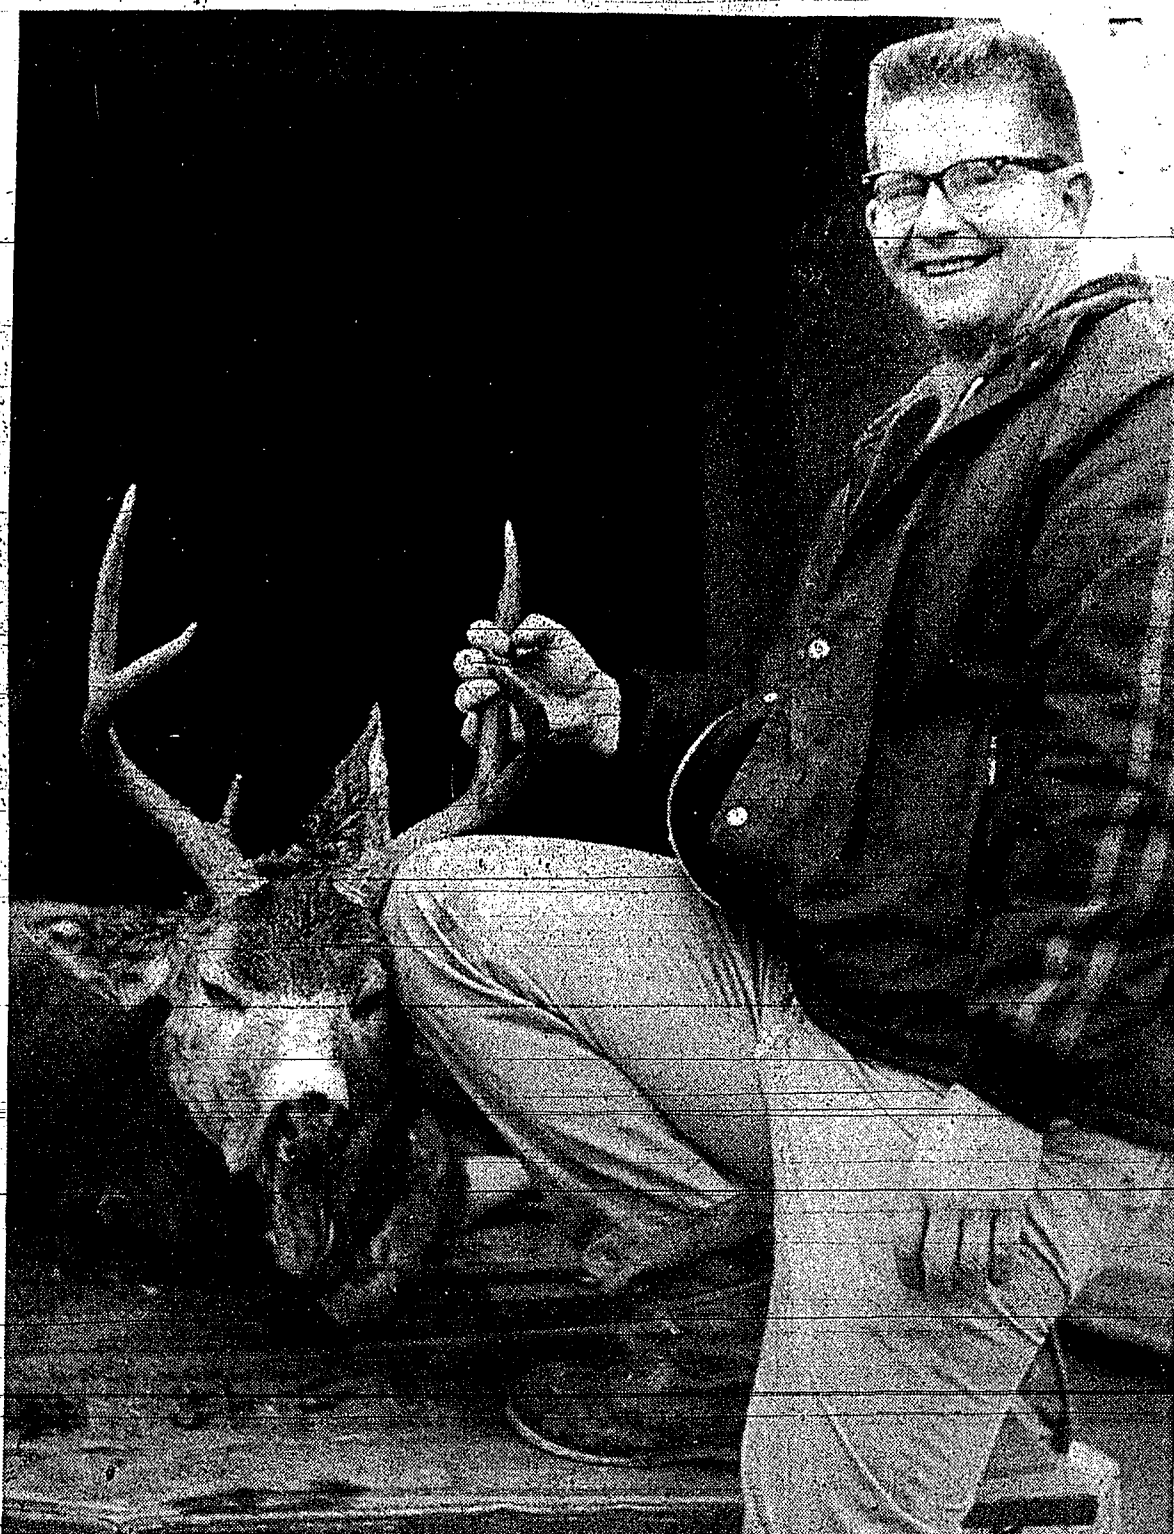

In the Junior League on the same day Roxanne Smith scored both the girls' high single of 205 and high triple of 470. The boys' high single 178 was scored by Scott Cleaver and the high triple 477 by Jay Clarke.

Menendez again heads Whistler Chamber of Com.

Frank Menendez was re-elected president of the Whistler Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting in the Cheakamus Inn on November 24.

Alan White was re-appointed secretary with Harvey McDairmid as vice-president. Directors of the group are G. Boser, R. Ferris, R. Gallagher, D. Gow, A. Greenwood, N. Patterson, G. Watson, F. Wilhelmsen, W. Zebrowski, J. Bright and G. Van Norman.

Magistrate W. J. Elliott of Squamish administered the oath of office to the president. MLA Allan Williams commented on a remark that the chamber was the smallest form of government by saying that "Here it is the only form of government."

"If you don't keep development under control," he said.

Many winners at Sportsman's dinner

Over thirty of the almost two hundred people who attended the second annual Rotary Sportsman's Dinner, were winners of the many prizes which were offered.

Guests enjoyed the witty remarks of Herb Capozzi as master of ceremonies and guest speakers Annis Stukis and Lew Matlin.

Featured films at the dinner were the Canadian Open Golf Tournament and the 1966 Indianapolis 500.

Prize winners were: binoculars, Brian Edwards of Pemberton; hunting jacket, Gill Bishop; radio, Fred Carrott; shot gun, Peter Anderson; suit, Harry Lassman; razor, Chester Thornton of Vancouver; knife, Jack Shaw; gas gun, Bob McCormick; rod and reel, R. Small, North Vancouver; binoculars, Dave Hinds; defrost gun, W. Clausen; bar sets, Harold Halvorson; and Dave Brock; tankards, R. Olsen, Bill Manson, Lloyd Atchison, Bruce Carson, Pres Thompson and Herb Capozzi. Golf carts went to Owen Carney, E. K. of North Vancouver and D. Hollingsworth while Norm Halvorson, Ed Vivier, W. R. Rosser, C. Bellis, R. McKilligan, Mickey Slemko, Bob Brock, George Forsyth and Cy Keyes of West Vancouver all received golf balls.

"Whistler could be destroyed as so many places have been."

He also suggested the chamber get in touch with the new department of Travel and Industry and see if help could be obtained from this quarter.

The tourist committee, headed by Gunther Boser, was to prepare a report on suggestions for summer tourist promotion to present at the next meeting early in January.

W. J. Elliott told the Chamber Squamish was building a tourist booth-museum as a centennial project and suggested they might like to help in this project, and would certainly be able to use it when it was built.

In the report on last year's tourist promotion Boser mentioned the booth at Squamish had been manned on weekends with representatives from Whistler and this had been valuable.

Menendez and White have been invited to the tourism conference at UBC this week.

Other reports said the prospect of amunicipality for the area is still remote. A closer look will have to be taken to determine the requirements. The incorporated area should be in the vicinity of the lift and committee chairman Gary Watson said the cost of the study is being financed by these firms.

The study is being continued on a limited basis.

The report on mosquito control was given and G. Van Norman suggested plans were too costly. He had figures on costs for any who might be interested.

GODA representatives had been active in the lower mainland promoting the idea of Whistler for the 1976 Olympics and would be continuing their efforts.

In his report, president F. Menendez said a number of projects had been started but some had not seemed to progress. He was disappointed at the poor attendance at the Whistler Ball and suggested another year this be 'sold' better.

Chamber goes ahead on centennial project

The Squamish Centennial Project, a combined museum-tourist booth to be placed opposite the forestry building on the highway leading to Squamish is off and running as a result of last week's Chamber of Commerce meeting.

Sparked by the enthusiasm of the committee and heartily endorsed by W. J. Elliott, the chamber voted unanimously to borrow the sum of twenty five hundred dollars, which with sums in hand would be enough to pay for the community's share of the building, and get started.

The amount needed is approximately $7,600 not the $14,500 originally discussed and the community share should amount to about $3500.

The chamber decided to ask every service organization in town to send two representatives to a meeting and decide what they could do to support the project. Members were also to be asked to speak to the various groups in the community in support of the idea.

"We've got to guarantee this money and then get the group together," W. J. Elliott said.

B. B. Greenlee moved that the chamber underwrite the building of the tourist booth and C. Bellis said we should ask the people to get out and support this.

B. B. Greenlee, D. Hinds and R. Ross agreed to continue as the committee on the project.

"The Centennial Committee wants us to provide the leadership and brawn for the fund-raising committee," Ralph Ross said. He stated the project has been reduced but would be easier to bring to completion with the support of the community.

The monies were deposited in a building account the following day along with a donation already received from a logging firm.

At the close of the meeting, contributions from individuals swelled the fund by one hundred dollars and Dave Hinds reported a number of people pledged to give even more. As soon as possible work will begin on the tourist booth-museum complex and it should be ready early in the new year unless some unexpected difficulties occur.

Skating club meets in W. Van

The Howe Sound Skating Club with members from the three Howe Sound Districts of Squamish, Britannia and Woodfibre, meets at the West Vancouver Skating rink every Sunday afternoon from 4:30 to 6:15 p.m. The men play hockey on part of the rink while the others skate. The club is planned for family skating but anyone wishing to join is welcome to do so.

The club is hoping to obtain the services of a figure skater who will be able to teach the younger members of the group. If you are interested in the club call either Mrs. C. Arnet at Squamish, 892-5091; Mrs. D. Wood at Woodfibre, 897-5302; Mrs. W. Braiden, Britannia Beach, 896-2459 or Mrs. Whitfield in North Vancouver, 988-3095.

MERCHANTS LOSE TO NEW WESTMINSTER

In 5th Division soccer in Squamish last Sunday the Merchants lost to New Westminster, top team in the league, by a score of 2-1.

Squamish scored the first goal, with Ron Kuhn making the play in the first half and the local team was ahead 1-0 at half time.

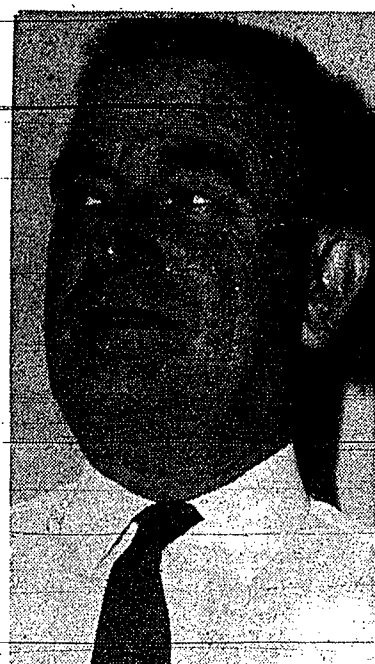

It was a great disappointment when New Westminster went ahead in the second half to take the game.

donated by Rayonier to Mrs. O. Runzer for her husband. Other winners were Charlie Bellis, Bill Francis and Eric Strom.

Rotarians and Lions win weekend games

Rotarians and Lions both won their weekend games in the 7B and 5th Division Soccer. Rotarians downed L & K 3 to 1 at Norgate Park and Lions defeated the West Van Eagles 3 to 1.

It was the first defeat for the league leading L & K team and puts the Rotarians in first place in their division, one point ahead of L & K.

The local team also scored the first and only goals against the team with the three racked up in Saturday's game.

In the first half L & K went ahead with one goal but Squamish tied it up and then went ahead in the second.

Goals were scored by Brian Heron, Terry Cyr and Peter Hickli.

Paul Christensen said Squamish dominated the game but had a tough time in the first half.

In the 5th Division game the Squamish Lions with Gary Hastings' two goals in the first half went ahead 2-0.

The Eagles scored on a long shot in the second, right over Dave Simpson's head into goal.

Jimmie Schutz then scored the third goal to put Squamish ahead.

The boys played a good game, outplaying the visitors to gain the victory.

This week Rotarians meet the Capilano Thunderbirds at Squamish at 11:00 a.m. while the Lions play against Burdette's in North Vancouver.

No exemption for institute

Council last week turned down a request from the Brackendale Farmers' Institute for tax exemption on the ruling in the municipal act which says the building must be used exclusively for agricultural or horticultural purposes.

The reeve said they were sympathetic but the regulations forbid such action.

The question of exemptions for Rod and Gun, Golf Club and Curling Club were cited but these are all recreational uses of land and are on property which is park land.

He suggested there would be no taxation if the area was turned over to the municipality, but could still be used by the Institute. It could also be protected by rulings which would not permit sale of land or property but would keep it for the original uses for which it was intended.

Mrs. J. Makowichuk, president of the Brackendale Farmer's Institute, said the question would have to be taken up at a meeting and would probably take a long time to decide as such action could only be taken at an annual meeting.

Okays plan for trailer court

Council last week heard recommendations that J. Souster be permitted to expand his trailer court near the Mamquam bridge.

Souster had stated he would bring it up to specifications if he was allowed to expand.

Councillors M. A. Carrico said his committee had investigated the proposal and said the owner would comply with trailer court specifications.

His only request was that he be given a year to get the roads paved.

Carrico and Barr recommended this be approved in principle so work could commence.

Woodfibre wanderings

Deepest sympathy is felt by all residents of Woodfibre on the death of Bev Van Den Maagdenberg in her 28th year. She is survived by her husband, Cees, two sons, Cees and Stephen and an infant daughter Jeannie at Woodfibre. Also her parents and family.

New look at IGA interior

Gordon Poole and Carl Vetter of the IGA supervisory staff in Vancouver were in Squamish early last week installing new shelving and rearranging the grocery shelves. The new arrangement was done in order to facilitate shopping for the customers. Staff members assisted the two out of town men in the work.

School District No. 48 (Howe Sound) School Loan By-Law Referendum No. 8

Question to be submitted to the owner-electors of School District No. 48 (Howe Sound)

"Are you in favour of the Board of School Trustees of School District No. 48 (Howe Sound) borrowing money without further assent of the owner-electors, at any time or from time to time, within (3) years from December 31, 1967, by the issue and sale of debentures bearing interest at a rate or rates per annum as may be specified by the British Columbia School Districts Capital Financing Authority at the time of the borrowing and payable over a period or periods not exceeding twenty years from the date or respective dates thereof, in such principal amounts as the Board may from time to time deem necessary to raise net sums not exceeding in the aggregate, One Million, Seven Hundred Nineteen Thousand, Eight Hundred Fifty Dollars ($1,719,950.00) after payment of discount, commission, brokerage, exchange, and other expenses with respect to such issue or sale, for acquiring and developing school sites and purchasing, constructing, furnishing, and equipping buildings for school purposes or use in connection therewith and other capital expenditures for school purposes?"

The following in brief and general terms sets out substantially the proposed projects and the amount allocated for each, the amount specified as being within Provincial standards and eligible for Provincial grants, and the amount specified as being above Provincial standards and therefore not eligible for Provincial grants and for which the School District pays the full cost:—

Church services at Britannia

The next two week's services at the Britannia Beach Community Church will be "Preparation for the season of the Birth of Christ." On the 3rd of December the theme will be "Hope". The Childrens Choir will be in attendance. On the 10th, the theme will be "Joy", and on the 17th of December, the Sunday before Christmas, there will be a family service in which the children will take an active part.

A cordial invitation is extended to all denominations of the Protestant faith to come and join in the fellowship of the Community Church service each Sunday morning at 11:00 a.m.

A reminder, that Reverend Michael Boulger is in the church study from 8:30 to 12:00 a.m. every Saturday and will be happy to help and talk with anyone who feels the need of spiritual guidance.

Eleven caught in radar check

The first police radar check of the winter caught eleven motorists on Saturday.

The check was held in the Brackendale area on Saturday morning and Sgt. V. D. R. Wilson said eleven motorists were charged and a number were given warnings.

Shortness of staff and holidays had caused this check to be dropped for a while but it will probably be continued during the next few months now that the detachment strength is back to normal.

Speed limits in the district are 35 miles per hour unless otherwise posted.

RCMP officials suggest motorists should be careful to observe these limits as the patrols will be checking again throughout the winter.

Guides plan Xmas sale

A "fly up" was held Nov. 7, when Kathy Greenlee, Valerie Shavelle, Vickie Andrzejuk and Sonia Van den Hoek flew to Guides and Susan Heinke and Deborah Holowachuk walked up.

District Commissioner Mrs. Brander attended as well as the Brownie mothers and leaders.

The guides are planning a sale of Christmas tree and home decorations about the middle of December. Date to be announced.

The mothers group, with the help of the Brownie pack, will hold a bake sale and tea in conjunction with the sale.

All donations to the bake sale will be greatly appreciated. Contact Mrs. Greenlee, Mrs. Adams or Mrs. Fogarty.

If anyone has a guide or Brownie uniform for sale, please contact Mrs. Greenlee or Mrs. Wallemborn.

Students to receive awards

Awards day will be held on Nov. 29, at 2:30 p.m. in the Britannia Beach school Gym.

The child who has ranked first in each grade will receive a book, those who have ranked second and third will receive a certificate. Also, the child who has been the most co-operative but has not achieved academic grades will receive a book.

Since it would be very difficult to judge a child's academic work in kindergarten, there will be a book given to the most co-operative student. Members of the P.T.A. executive will assist in the presentation of the awards. Parents are welcome.

A Remembrance day Service was held at the school Nov. 10. The choir sang several hymns. William Whiteside, Gordon McDonald, Deborah Niermeyer and Lu Ann Lovlin from Division 1 each read a composition on the meaning of Remembrance Day.

Rev. M. Boulder of Britannia Beach gave an excellent address on the uselessness and tragedy of war. His talk was presented in such a way that even the kindergarten could understand.

On Halloween night the grade six and seven, Division 1 children collected $40 for U.N.I.C.E.F.

Journalist visits Pemberton

Pemberton — Paul St. Pierre, noted author and newspaper journalist spent the long weekend of Nov. 1, as a guest in the valley, Saturday Mr. St. Pierre was the guest of the Legion Branch No. 20 at their days' ceremonies.

He met and chatted with a good number of valley residents. Also part of his trip was a hunting expedition in which he bagged what he had hoped for, a mountain goat.

On Monday evening Mr. St. Pierre spoke to a crowd in the Legion on journalism, and his T.V. series, which is being shown as film shows here each week at the Legion Hall. The movie shown was his "The Education of Phillistine", dealing with the education of a young girl in the Cariboo.

Tuesday Mr. St. Pierre visited both Pemberton Secondary and Signal Hill Schools, where the students question him on different aspects of writing.

Auxiliary Bazaar postponed

Due to the shutdown from Nov. 10 to 20, the Ladies Auxiliary Branch 181 has cancelled the bazaar slated for Nov. 15.

At the regular meeting on Oct. 30, the guest speaker was Mrs. D. Wells president of the Provincial Command. The business of the meeting was mainly nomination of officers for 1968 and also a reading of the new bylaws, revised by the committee chairman Mrs. Stephens, and Mrs. Huether and Mrs. Lloyd.

An error was made in the write-up of the Joint Remembrance Day ceremony at Squamish regarding the Ladies Auxiliary Br. 81. The president of the association is Mrs. G. Sharp not Mrs. W. Carrigan.

Lady curlers win at Alberni

The Howe Sound Curling Club entered a rink at the Port Alberni Bonspiel on November 17-18 and 19th and placed third in the "D" event.

Travelling to Port Alberni for the event were Susie Currie, skip; Marilyn Brock, second; Sheila Newson, third and Mary Messenger lead.

Mrs. Brock said they were pleased to meet Mrs. A. Gross at the island city. She was also there for the bonspiel.

Rapid progress of firehall

PEMBERTON — Roofing of the Pemberton firehall has been completed and work is proceeding rapidly on the remainder of the building.

Financing of the project was undertaken by the Pemberton Lions with the help and support of Pemberton and Mt. Currie residents. Cost has been estimated at $6,000.

Of concrete block construction, the building is 30 by 50 feet with two truck bays. It will house the present equipment, a pumper, truck and rescue wagon.

Furnace rooms, wash rooms and firemen's rooms are also included in the building.

A second story, being built by the Village of Pemberton will house the municipal office and a rental office. Outside covered stairs reach this frame second story.

Bingos, Christmas tree cutting, cash donations and donations of equipment and time have been some of the ways in which the Lions have financed the project.

The "Buy a Brick" campaign has also been one of the methods used to raise funds for the campaign and this has been very successful.

R. Priest, speaking for the Lions, said by paying a dollar to "buy a brick", the donor's name is inscribed on one of the concrete blocks in the firehall.

One of the donors will be selected to spend a weekend at Doug Dodd's Sunshine Lodge at D'Arcy.

Priest said only the wholehearted support of the Lions projects by the people of Pemberton and Mount Currie has made the firehall possible.

The first wagon road through the Alps was begun in 1338 and led through the Septimer pass.

Guides plan Xmas sale

A "fly up" was held Nov. 7, when Kathy Greenlee, Valerie Spaveia, Vickie Andrezuk and Sonia Van den Hosk flew to Guides and Susan Heinke and Deborah Holowachuk walked up.

District Commissioner Mrs. Brander attended as well as the Brownie mothers and leaders.

The guides are planning a sale of Christmas tree and home decorations about the middle of December. Date to be announced.

The mothers group, with the help of the Brownie pack, will hold a bake sale and tea in conjunction with the sale.

All donations to the bake sale will be greatly appreciated. Contact Mrs. Greenlee, Mrs. Adams or Mrs. Fogarty.

If anyone has a guide or Brownie uniform for sale, please contact Mrs. Greenlee or Mrs. Wallemborn.

Rapid progress of firehall

PEMBERTON — Roofing of the Pemberton firehall has been completed and work is proceeding rapidly on the remainder of the building.

Financing of the project was undertaken by the Pemberton Lions with the help and support of Pemberton and Mt. Currie residents. Cost has been estimated at $6,000.

Of concrete-block construction, the building is 30 by 50 feet with two truck bays. It will house the present equipment, a pumper truck and rescue wagon.

Furnace rooms, wash rooms and firemen's rooms are also included in the building.

A second story, being built by the Village of Pemberton will house the municipal office and a rental office. Outside covered stairs reach this frame second story.

Bingos, Christmas tree cutting, cash donations and donations of equipment and time have been some of the ways in which the Lions have financed the project.

The "Buy a Brick" campaign has also been one of the methods used to raise funds for the campaign and this has been very successful.

R. Rieist, speaking for the Lions, said by paying a dollar to "buy a brick", the donor's name is inscribed on one of the concrete blocks in the firehall.

One of the donors will be selected to spend a weekend at Doug Dodd's Sunshine Lodge at D'Arcy.

Pfister said only the wholehearted support of the Lions projects by the people of Pemberton and Mount Currie has made the firehall possible.

The first wagon road through the Alps was begun in 1338 and led through the Septimer pass.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, The Squamish Times,

In a recent issue of your paper it quoted the lament of one of the Candidates for Council of this District. He states that this is the first occasion in which Candidates have been called upon to say their piece before election. He is wrong again. I have been to such meetings before. In the Star Theatre. That coupled with such statements as 'qualifying a Cat Skinner as a qualified engineer does not add up to intelligence but rather like a blathering politician, whose only hope is to get elected for some particular purpose of his own; or is it some particular part of the Municipality?

I am referring to Candidate C. Bellis (or is it Bellows?) I think he knows all about love-ins.

A question came to me the other day by a voter as to whether a voter could vote for only one or two or did they have to fill the slate. To help those who don't know I repeat that you may vote for only one, or two or all of them and always use the pencil provided you in the booth, and never make anything but a cross on your Ballot. During my fourteen years on the Council I always sat in at the count of ballots and there was always one ballot marked with a tick and of course the voter as consistently lost his vote; such ballots marked otherwise than by the prescribed regulations are considered marked ballots and therefore unlawful.

There has been much parroting by the candidates of what they would do if elected, but none of them had any constructive remedy for overcoming the trouble.
The closing of four stores is a natural consequence of the situation having over-reached itself and showed up after the boom, the tourist situation is a natural one; it's heard every where and if anything could be done to improve it it's something the Chamber of Commerce should get more interested in.

The Federal Government offered to spend millions on Garibaldi Park but the Provincial government said hands off.

Editor, The Squamish Times,

As for new industry it's good to remember that both the sawmill and the chemical plant have been established since we have had a council established. Considering the rapid growth of things that have taken place in this valley during the past ten years, and all the attending problems that go with such rapid growth, I think the past councils have done very well, especially the present one. Stan Clarke

Editor, The Squamish Times,

I usually am the quiet kind and read the papers very thoroughly so I would be well informed. An editorial statement in your Nov. 22, 1967 issue, "recalling hearing one councillor refer to the stipend as a princely sum of .17 cents an hour when he measured his hours of work against the amount paid" got me very puzzled.

Out came a pencil and paper and here are the figures I arrived at: The stipend is $700.00 a year and the princely sum of .17 cents an hour means he put in 4117.65 hours; yes, four thousand one hundred seven hundred six-fifty hours. That sure is a lot of time in one year. Lets break the figures down some more. If he worked 8 hours a day at it; it would mean 514.7 days. That's a lot of days in a year. At a five day week it would be 102.94 weeks; in a year.

Maybe I should go to night school so I too can learn this new method of arithmetic. Are figures such as above the cause of the financial situation in the municipality which I cannot decode? Does this particular councillor expect the electorate to abide with these unrealistic figures? Is it possible to spread 52 weeks of taxation into 102.94 weeks?

On second thought perhaps the School Board better add another student to their enrollment figures as I would like to be able to keep up with the rest.
John Makowichuk

Editor, The Squamish Times,

It was very interesting to listen to the various speakers at the all-candidate, and stewardship meeting held at the Parish Hall Nov. 30.

The question period was energetic at times and kept the candidates on their toes.

There was one aspect I thought unethical and that was the indulgence in name-calling by one of the speakers. It only lowers a person's stature and brings out his weaknesses.

We look forward to a lively, clean election, whether municipal or otherwise.
W. Yourk

Editor, The Squamish Times,

As a taxpayer I should like to express my thanks and appreciation to the retiring councillors Norm Barr and Mel Carroco.

They have put in many hours and given much of their time which could have been spent on other interests in tasks which sometimes seemed to have been thankless.

These two men served on council because of their deep interest in the community. I should like to thank them.
May Harris

Pemberton interest in valley wedding

Jeanette Edna Leach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Leach of Pemberton, and Murray McDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. James McDonald of Aldergrove exchanged vows on the evening of Friday, November 10.

St. Matthews Anglican Church in Abbotsford was decorated with baskets of bronze and white chrysanthemums for the occasion. Rev. Callum officiated.

The bride wore a white satin A-line gown and train and carried a bouquet of white carnations and Talisman roses. Her shoulder length veil was set in a band of white roses and she wore a drop pearl necklace, the gift of the groom.

The maid of honor, Miss Clare Campbell of Victoria, wore a full length blue nylon gown and carried bronze and yellow chrysanthemums.

Mr. James Watson of Aldergrove was the best man and ushers were Stuart McDonald, brother of the groom, and Wayne Smith.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Mt. Lehman Hall, Aldergrove with Mr. Roy Konipha as toastmaster.

Leaving for their honeymoon trip to Williams Lake the bride wore a sunlit pumpkin suit dress with black accessories. Accenting this was a white carnation corsage.

The young couple will be making their home in Aldergrove.

Aunt of the groom Mrs. Elspeth Murphy gave a bridal shower for the bride on Thursday evening November 9.

Out of town guests to the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. John Leach, parents of the bride, Pemberton; Mrs. Lydia Leach of White Rock, grandmother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. John Leach of Cloverdale, brother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. R. Hislop of Ponderosa Lodge; Mr. and Mrs. J. Neilson, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. G. Bradley, uncle of the bride from Aldergrove; Mr. Trevor young of Vancouver and Miss Bonnie Ford, Britannia Beach.
