HIGHWAY OPEN ON WEDNESDAYS

Wednesday will be the only day the Squamish-Britannia highway will be open with closures in effect on the four other working days next week.

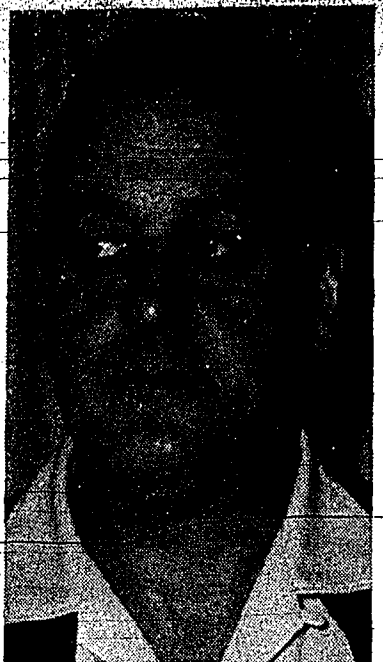

Hours of closure are from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. A meeting between the executive of the Chamber and Commerce and representatives of the highway department will be sought to find out if four day closures are necessary in view of the limited amount of work which appears to be under way.

Four more enter race for council

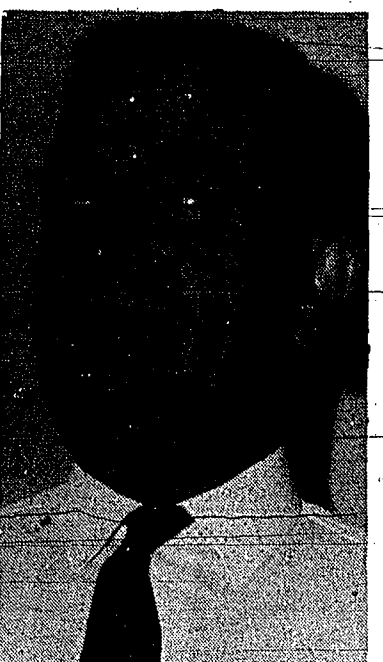

Four more candidates have announced their intention to run for office in next month's municipal elections.

I. L. BOSCAROL
... candidate for 2-year
term on council.

CHARLIE BELLIS
... candidate for 2-year
term on council.

FRED BENNETT
... candidate for 2-year
term on council

MRS. MAE HARRIS
candidate for 2-year
term on council

Running for re-election is I. L. Boscarol, seeking his third term on council. Newcomers standing for election are C. Bellis, F. Bennett and Mrs. B. (Mae) Harris.

The third incumbent, N. R. Barr, stated last week he would not be a candidate in December as the pressure of his business will be taking him away from Squamish for a greater portion of the next two years. "The past two years have just begun my education as a councillor," Barr said in an interview, "I had hoped to be able to serve for another two years but just won't be able to do this. However, at a later date I should like to try for council again."

Boscarol said he had decided to be a candidate again but had no special platform. "There are a number of things which have been started since I've been in office," he said, "and I'd like to have a hand in finishing them."

Bellis, making his first bid for council, has been a resident in the VLA subdivision for the past three years. An employee at Woodfibre, he is president of the Squamish and District Ratepayers' Association. He was also active in the veteran's subdivision group and is a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

Fred Bennett, local Standard Oil agent, is a past president of the Chamber of Commerce and co-chairman of its Public Utilities Committee. He is also a member of the Squamish Rotary Club and was active in the junior football organization for five years. Married, with two sons, he has been a resident of the valley for the past nine years.

He was also the first president of the Chamber of Commerce at Lasqueti Island which was formed with the sole purpose of getting a ferry. "We were successful," he said. "I have no special platform," Bennett said, "but I feel there should be a business man on council to speak for his problems. I'm not interested in any special project or aspect of municipal affairs but would like to work for the benefit of the community."

Mrs. Mae Harris, also making her first bid for council, has lived in Squamish, in the VLA subdivision for five years. Previously she lived in Woodfibre for one year. She is married with two children.

An active member of the Recreation Commission, Mrs. Harris is chairman of the recreation committee and a member of the executive committee of the organization. Recreation director Wayne Smith has referred to her as his "right-hand man."

She recently attended the Banff Conference on Recreation, which included national parks and recreation personnel from the Pacific Northwest and gained a great deal of information on administration from this meeting.

Mrs. Harris has been active on the summer recreation program for children and the Saturday morning programs in addition to setting up the recreation program for Woodfibre since it has been included in the district.

"I have no special interest," Mrs. Harris said, "but naturally am interested in recreation as well as the community at large."

Sawdust sale in new Year will cut flyash problem

WAITING their turn to talk to the teachers on report card afternoon are L. to R. Mrs. L. Laramie, Mrs. A. Bodie, Mrs. A. Twiss and Mrs. W. Krzanowski.

Negotiations near completion

By ROSE TATLOW

Negotiations are under way with a major forest company for the purchase of 30,000 units of sawdust per year will considerably alleviate the sawdust and flyash problem. Empire Lumber Division mill manager Eugene Rolston announced last week his company should complete the negotiations within the next three weeks.

Upon successful completion of the negotiations the company will install a third conveyor line in order to convey the sawdust to barges which will transport it from Squamish.

Woodfibre engineers are now working on blue prints of the project which is expected to cost more than $100,000.

Installation of the new conveyor line and related equipment will get under way following the letting of the construction contract. Bids for the construction of the above project are expected to be called shortly.

SHIP NEXT SPRING

Regular shipments of the sawdust under the new contract will begin early next spring, and by the first week of May at the latest Mr. Rolston said.

Earlier this year the company installed conveyors to take hog fuel to waiting barges and sawdust to the burner. This installation cost well over one hundred thousand dollars. Empire Lumber, which has been seeking an answer to the smoke and flyash problem for some time, says the new sale will not solve the entire problem but will go a long way towards removing some of the material which has been burned.

Woodfibre, which takes some of the hog fuel, has been shut down several times and this causes the material to build up and necessitates burning it. During the summer the company trucked a great deal of it away and piled it on the grounds but Mr. Rolston said this was an unsatisfactory method as it was a fire hazard and really didn't solve anything.

Council had originally given the company until March of 1968 to do away with the burner but this was advanced to spring of 1969 providing there were four smoke free months from May to August.

At the time of the meeting in August when the company sought the extension, it was stated Woodfibre took 18,000 units; the company was negotiating for sales of 2,000 units per month but there was no market for the remaining 40,000 units. However, with the possible sale being higher, less than 35,000 units would remain to be sold. This is less than half of the 80,000 estimated units produced annually.

It is hoped that a market can be found for the remainder of the hog fuel and sawdust early next year.

Mine workers contribute $900 toward flood fund

By OLIVE BAXTER

Some 232 employees of Anacoda Mines at Britannia have contributed to a fund to help fellow workers whose homes and belongings were ruined in a flash flood last Oct. 31.

Contributing a total of $922.95, the mining company matched the amount to swell the fund to $1,845.70.

Residents are still cleaning up after the near tragedy, which caused heavy damage following a night of heavy rains when Mineral Creek broke loose above the sawmill and cut a new channel down the hillside.

No one was injured in the flooding.

Contributions to a fund followed the establishment of a workers committee and the company offered to accept payroll deductions and match the amounts donated by employees.

The flooding creek cut the road to Mount Sheer, the road to the upper parking lot at 4100 timber yard, cut the road to the mine dry and then, taking two paths, dumped hundreds of tons of mud and rock on the lower end of the beach copper plant and caused extensive damage to houses, 120 and 121 and the contents of these houses.

Continuing down on to the Beach flats, mud and debris were widespread. Apartment house 177 had over three feet of water and nearly a foot of mud deposited in the basement.

House No. 121 occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Brazeau and family, was directly in the path of the mud, rocks and water but before the time the flood waters were diverted, two to four feet of debris had been deposited into every room of the house.

Fortunately, with the help of friends and neighbors, it was possible to save some of the furniture and personal effects. The Brazeau's lost most of their clothing. Contributions of clothing have been made by local residents. The Brazeau family has been staying with the Hollowachuk's since the disaster.

It was miraculous that house No. 120, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. U. Buthege and family, did not receive the same fate. Although the mud and water came up to some of the windows, the glass did not break and only a small amount of muddy water seeped into the house.

However, the basement of the house, in which was stored winter clothing, other personal effects and a valuable miniature railway layout, was completely flooded, with serious damage done to the contents.

Plaza apartment building No. 177 occupied by Mr. E. Packard, Mrs. Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. M. Rak and Mr. and Mrs. M. Radakovich and family, received extensive mud and water damage to furniture, washing machines and other effects in the basement.

Although water and mud covered most of the Beach Townsite on the south side of Britannia Creek and the industrial area, little damage was done to any other dwellings, however the area was left with up to six inches of mud and slime.

Considering the volume of debris and water it is amazing that damage was no greater and that no person was injured.

A workers committee has been set up to collect contributions to assist fellow workers who suffered financially.

The Company has agreed to accept payroll deductions from employees who wished to help by this means and they will contribute an amount equal to that donated by its employees.

Response to this fund was tremendous, 232 individuals subscribed a total of $922.95, which, with the Company contributions brought the total amount of the fund to $1,845.70.

Stewardship and All-Candidate meeting

A stewardship and all-candidate meeting will be held in the Parish Hall on Thursday November 30, sponsored by the Squamish and Howe Sound District Chamber of Commerce. The reeve and councillors will be asked to give a brief report on the activities of council during the past year with each councillor reporting on the committee he heads and in addition the school board will give a brief report on their activities and outline the referendum.

The candidates for council and school board will each be given time to present their platform and there will be a question period.

F. W. Allott has been appointed to chair the all candidate meeting.

School use approved

Use of three of the district schools for polling booths in the December 9 municipal and school board elections was approved at last week's school board meeting.

THE COUNTRY PHILOSOPHER

By A. B. C.

Hello everyone, hope all is well with you all. This week I shall just rattle on about this and that - mostly that!

Well Christmas is just around the corner folks, so its high time we all started getting our shopping done, especially any gifts that have to be mailed out. Get them wrapped and properly addressed - ready for mailing at the proper time.

Make sure you have sufficient postage on each parcel and that they are addressed clearly. After all the post office staff are not mind readers, nor are they hired to re-wrap parcels. So let's all surprise our post office staff here and ourselves this Christmas by doing this right.

If anyone knows the answer to this question I would sure like to hear it. If a child, playing on that engine in the park, falls off and gets injured just who is responsible?

I think this is a heck of a good question since one child last week was hanging from it. Another one fell off and went crying and limping across the park. Just wonder what it will be next.

Sure a lot of cars and trucks running around at night with just one headlight... Is there a shortage of seal beams or something! How about fixin' them up eh? After all that vehicle doesn't look any better than you would with just one eye.

This is a good time for all of us to clean up all that garbage and junk we have lying around in our yards. It really makes your place look crappy now and come spring it will look even uglier. Soon we will have snow covering it up making it a menace for children playing in the snow.

Hear thru the shelves that there is going to be some sort of a Centennial ball this New Year's here.

And girls you don't have to send to Mexico for a costume original. I think you would have fun doing it and a home-made costume to me has sure got these fancy rental ones beat all to heck.

Oh don't worry girls, I won't mention any names but just couldn't disappoint you by not putting it in my column. Yes, you were correct, anything you say may show up in this column. Only wish I could print all I hear - but it would sure sell a lot of papers.

Those maple leaves are sure a heck of a nuisance aren't they Frankie?????

This little guy here isn't little anymore, nor did he ever fall off any engine in any park but he did fall in the river one time and nearly drowned. Think he was trying to catch a fish without a line or else play "God" by walking on the water!

Vol. 11, No. 47 SQUAMISH, B.C. — WEDNESDAY, NOV. 22, 1967

The submerged four-fifths

Experts say that only a small portion of an iceberg appears above the surface of the water but that more than four-fifths of its mass is concealed below.

This analogy is applicable to meetings, both of council and school board in this district where the regular monthly or bi-weekly meeting is merely the top fifth, or the window dressing.

Much of the work of both council and school board is done in numerous committee meetings and other special ones which are often called several times a week.

In addition there are numerous activities and inspections which must be carried out as well as problems which must be investigated. All of these are time consuming, an in many cases, frustrating.

Councillors often spend their own money, or that of their company, on municipal business and never collect for it. But even more important is the amount of time which their civic duties take up.

In some cases a company can afford to permit the employee to take time for civic or school board activities, but in other cases it can be a difficult task to obtain the necessary time to devote to this purpose. Indeed, some incumbents have found it takes a great deal of time and effort which could have been put in their business activities.

Councillors and the reeve do receive a stipend, not a magnificent amount, but remuneration for their task. However we recall hearing one councillor refer to it as the princely sum of seventeen cents an hour when he measured his hours of work against the amount paid.

No one would enter public life for the monies involved. It just isn't worth it. But no one who does enter it from an honest desire to serve the people in his community should be expected to take the carping and complaints and then be chastised for not turning out at all meetings.

Meetings, like sessions of parliament, are often just the window dressing. The hardest work is often done in the field, on the work which is being done, and at the numerous committee meetings which take place each week.

It's the submerged four-fifths of the work which really takes the time.

Let's go underground

When the sun shines and the skies are clear Squamish is a magnificent place in which to live. The scene along the main street with Garibaldi dominating the northern skyline is one which cannot easily be equalled.

Or couldn't be if the annoying maze of wires crossing and recrossing the street in every direction did not build up such an obstacle that it is almost impossible to see clearly through them.

Wiring in Squamish should be underground in order to make the most of the magnificent scenery which surrounds it. A start was made last year when some of the wires from the sub-station on Pemberton Road were placed underground, at least as far as the corner of Cleveland and Pemberton.

It appears to be working there; the wires are not in danger of falling down, they are protected from the elements and they have been removed from some of the poles.

Couldn't this be done in the remainder of the downtown area and then gradually extended to the outlying areas? Perhaps it is costly initially, but after a period of time burying the wires should pay off.

We'd like to see Squamish live up to its surroundings by going underground, at least with the wiring.

Doublethink the I.Q....

Vancouver newspapers have carried a news item of a visiting savant of considerable note who believes that the use of I.Q. tests is antiquated and of little purpose. This is an interesting observation which brings further conjecture.

Youngsters who started kindergarten this year, and who manage to complete all their grades without flunking, will graduate from four years of college in 1984 — if the "doublethink" so vividly presaged by George Orwell — doesn't catch up with them first.

Smoking shocker

Six years ago, the Lions Gate Times carried a strong editorial flatly condemning the existence of "The Smoke Hole" close by the West Vancouver Senior High School on Mathers Avenue. We took a forthright, no-holds-barred stand and pointed out that the blame for permitting children to smoke during the school day while under supervision in this hide-away lay directly on the shoulders of the school's administration.

There was a great hue and cry from the students, naturally, but a lot of encouragement from parents and members of the faculty. Sane judgment prevailed, fortunately, and a new set of rules were set up and enforced to prevent any further smoking on or near school property.

Since then more and more evidence is being published supporting the basic stand which this newspaper had taken that smoking is a hazard to health and should be discouraged among our young Canadians.

A new report on smoking recently issued by the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare is a shocker. It summarizes 2,000 research studies published since 1964, when it was found cigarette smoking to be "a hazard of sufficient importance to warrant appropriate remedial action."

The report makes clear there is no argument any more about whether cigarette smoking causes disease and death. Scientific investigation focuses merely on the rates and means by which these consequences occur.

A government and public that took the new report seriously would treat tobacco no more kindly than heroin.

But ciggies provide billions of dollars in income to citizens and in revenue to government, and all of us look on smoking as a matter of private choice. So there has been no wide-spread or effective attack on the problem.

There are, nonetheless, a few peripheral steps which can be taken to remove the curse from the general inertia without in a choice. Both the Federal and Provincial governments could, for instance, conduct some educational campaigns on smoking dangers and work on development of a "less hazardous" cigarette.

It is surprising, also, to read great efforts by delegates to the teacher-federation and to the school board trustee conventions for the improvement of working conditions, and power control but nothing on what we consider one of the most important matters, the students' health. Not once have we heard of greater education on the dangers of smoking.

"Put away your camera Ethel... it's not a sasquatch coming up the garden path, it's your son."

Straws in the wind

'Canada and the United States ... face unhibited inflation'

By Mary MacDonald

Over the last month a growing apprehension of worse things to come has shaken the confidence of the investing public. Faith in the ability of the U.S. and Canada governments to solve their problems is at a low ebb.

Both nations face uninhibited inflation, even with the possibility of our announced Canadian tax increase being put into force. In this connection, it might be of interest for a moment to translate that vague word "inflation" into terms of grim reality and the weekly grocery bill.

Arthur M. Ross, who is Commissioner of the U.S. Bureau of Labour Statistics, has just pointed out that the end effects of the "gentle" increase in inflation we have been experiencing can in the end, spell financial terror. He points out that last year, the U.S. had a price increase of 2.75 per cent. In 1968, it will be about 3.3 per cent. Trifling, isn't it!

But project that increase into the future, and you have a different story. Taking today's dollar as worth 100 cents, then if this rate is not cut down, in five years that dollar will be 85 cents, in ten years 72.3 cents, and 15 years from now 61.4 cents.

World money managers are worried because they see no end to this outflow of dollars and decrease in the dollar's real value. And when you consider that a good portion of the world's governments hold assets not in gold, but in U.S. dollars, the ramifications are alarming. Financiers expect some remedial action in the form of higher taxes and similar devices both fiscal and monetary next year, but it being an election year, such measures will have a rough time in Congress.

Certainly they will have a rougher time there, I hope, than when Mr. Sharp presents his Canadian equivalent, which appears likely to be an increase in personal income taxes. Yet at his mention of that probability last week, we Canadians witnessed as appalling a spectacle of bad government as our nation has ever seen. For the opposition leaders and rank-and-file rose as a body to protest this single gesture towards halting inflation. Oh yes, we must have Medicare, we must have gigantic new harbours, we must have giant unemployment diversion schemes, we must have every form of unbridled vote-buying under the sun. But pay for these grandiose vote-getters? Never, never, never! Even the hippies, mixed up with pot and LSD, have more honesty.

But there is reality. There is fact. There is our destiny. This is what we have to grapple with in our investment policy.

In the last month, the stock markets of the U.S. declines 10 per cent, and in Canada, some of our "blue chips" are now selling at prices that we have not seen since the 1950's.

Bell Telephone for one has earnings of almost $3.00 as against $2.00 then and pays (with rights every few years) over 7 per cent.

You and I and all the investing public hate this uncertainty and fear this is gradually making cowards of us all — citizens of one of the world's wealthiest nations, endowed with both actual and potential wealth the whole world envies. And there is the reason that strong as well as weak stocks can go lower than any fundamental analysis will justify. In the market today, there is no lack of good situations selling at abnormally low multiples of price to earnings, and whose supply and demand outlook has never been better. Yet among these, we must find those companies which have long term plans to combat the profits squeeze, and which, through diversification, are double-ensuring their shareholders' dollars.

Now, with practically all my accounts holding up to 25 per cent in ready cash (Canada Savings Bonds yielding 5 1/4 per cent) I feel that clients can sit back and pick and choose almost at leisure, particularly during periods of market instability. Such cash has come mostly from the sale of weak stocks which I believe will become weaker through both economic circumstances and management frailties during the next year or two.

One stock which I have been buying consistently during the last year, and am still buying, is B.C. Sugar, which, because of aggressive, long-sighted and fair management, I consider to be a "comer".

Interprovincial Pipeline, whose earnings have been very steady over the years, may soon be allowed to sell oil to Chicago. The warrants, which allow you to buy the stock at $17.00 until 1976, are my favourites.

In the U.S., United States Steel, Burroughs, Occidental Petroleum and Zapata Off-Shore Co. will all have increased earnings and can be bought on market dips.

Remember, there are millions of dollars each month which must be invested by funds and institutions and above are a few stocks which will come out of computers as "buys".

Letters to the Editor

Editor, The Squamish Times,
I have been asked a number of questions and these are my answers.

QUESTION: Why are you running for council?

ANSWER: I am running for council because I believe I can give taxpayers some of the experience I have had in business. These days in order to stay in business you almost have to be a magician. Financing is a most important factor, also giving your best possible service. Even if you are a financial wizard and do not give proper service one cannot stay in business.

This same experience can be adapted to the service as a councillor. A councillor cannot afford to make mistakes either. It is even more important to a councillor to make the right decisions because he is responsible for the taxpayer's money and he must weigh all the facts he has at his disposal before he can come to a decision.

He must always try to find cheaper and more economical ways especially when it involves large capital spending.

QUESTION: What is your impression of the job present council has done?

ANSWER: As far as finances are concerned I would say very poorly. They have made too many mistakes financing municipal projects. Too much money has been wasted.

The waterworks debt as it stands now is close to half a million dollars and a lot of people still have not a sufficient supply of water. All we have now is nothing more than a make-shift system. Yet each one of us is paying a high water rate.

This is just one example but there are many more cases where money has been purely wasted and the taxpayers are suffering for it. Certainly this is a young municipality and there were many problems and a great many changes had to be made and some mistakes are always made. Nobody is perfect but this council makes too many mistakes.

There are several areas which could be improved upon such as deep sea port development, industrial development, tourist attraction and many more.

This is a young municipality and has a lot of growing up to do yet. Appointment of a water-board is also something which is badly needed and I could go on and on.

QUESTION: What do you think of the future of Squamish and what could be done to aid progress?

ANSWER: I think Squamish has a tremendous future. I believe in Squamish and its future. That was the prime reason for me to run as candidate for council. I think one should not run for a seat on council just to kick some incumbent out of office but one should be running because he believes that he can and will do a better job.

The future of Squamish lies ahead of us and it has a tremendous future. We have a deepsea port which could be developed easily. This, of course should be done by the federal or provincial government. With this could come a tremendous upsurge of industrial development.

We also have the railway and when the road to Britannia Beach has been completed, also a good road which will bring us closer to Vancouver. With industrial development comes commercial development and residential expansion.

I think much more has to be done for tourist attraction. There are endless varieties of things to be done to help build a future for Squamish.

I was attracted to Squamish as a tourist and I am sure many more people will be attracted to Squamish who pass through. Proper development of our facilities will determine the future of Squamish. A lot of hard work lies ahead of us and as a councillor I would be willing to do anything (within reason) for the future of Squamish.

Dear Rose,

Congratulations on your latest success as editor of the Squamish Times. I see from the newspapers that you were honored at the final banquet of the B.C. Weekly Newspapers Association at the Hotel Vancouver.

No doubt you have received many plaudits from other quarters. However I would like you to know that I also think that you have been doing a marvellous job, not only as an editor, but also in writing articles on various subjects of genuine concern to the people in the Squamish area.

OTTAWA DIARY

by JACK DAVIS, MP
Coast - Capilano

The separatists in Quebec have been taking quite a licking recently. Rene Levesque, Premier Jean Lesage's former Minister of Resources was badly beaten when he tried to push a separatism resolution through the recent convention of the Liberal Party in Quebec City. And now the CBC has come up with some statistics of its own. Only 7 per cent of all the French-speaking Canadians in "la belle province" would vote for separatism if they had a choice in a vote today.

Not that the debate over the future of Quebec is over by any means. Far from it. There are still those who talk about "two nations", "two cultures" and "two founding peoples". Essentially they want to divide Canada in half — or at least into two classes of people — English-speaking Canadians and French-speaking Canadians.

One of these is a former Rhodes scholar. He is Paul Gerin Lajoie, former Minister of Education and Youth in the Lesage Government in Quebec. Recently, Mr. Lajoie prepared a "working paper" on the kind of "particular status" that he thought Quebec should enjoy in Canada.

Fortunately Mr. Lajoie's working paper was shelved by the provincial wing of the Quebec Liberal Party. I say "fortunately" because it demands every power for Quebec which, to use Mr. Lajoie's words, "are necessary for the development of a people's collective personality."

To speak of a large number of people having a "collective personality" in my view is statism. Certainly it is to confuse statism with nationhood. Not only does it raise the issues of language and culture; but also education and the arts; and communications in the sense of movies, radio and television and the latter — the communications field is federal under our Canadian constitution.

Mr. Lajoie, in developing this "collective personality" for Quebec would have that province do even more; much more. Quebec as a state would take over the vocational training, and the finding of jobs for adults; overall budget policy, trade policy and transportation, i.e. Air Canada and the CNR in Quebec.

Nor does Mr. Lajoie stop there. He says that his list of additional powers for Quebec "is a list which is neither complete nor final" and, on top of all this, Mr. Lajoie would have the rest of us pay for much of Quebec's expanded program of self-determination.

Where does Mr. Lajoie think all this money is going to come from. Listen to this. "The state of Quebec could not exercise this body of powers without a considerable increase in its financial resources." He then goes on to suggest that this considerable increase be paid for by the rest of us by a rearrangement in the Income Tax Act and outgo of the money handled by Canada as a nation.

Obviously he would have Ottawa tax the "have" provinces, like Ontario and B.C., even harder in order that he and others like him will be able to give "greater expression" to the "collective personality" of the French speaking Canadians in Quebec.

The facts now are that Quebec gets more out of the Federal Treasury than it puts into it. It pays in 25 cents on the dollar and gets 35 cents out again. Mr. Gerin Lajoie wants an even better deal with no strings attached. He wants something which is financially impossible. He wants the taxpayer in Canada's English-speaking provinces to finance a new state based essentially on racism in Quebec. No sensible Canadian — certainly no Liberal-minded Canadian — inside or outside Quebec, is going to buy this proposition from Mr. Gerin Lajoie or anyone else.

Television likely for Brackendale by spring

Residents of Brackendale will probably be able to receive television again by early spring if plans discussed last week can be carried out.

Ernie Rose of Channel 8 told council his company would be prepared to immediately start engineering for a satellite to bring television to the presently blind areas of the valley if council would take some steps to assist.

A long term lease on property in Garibaldi Highlands was one requirement and fencing to protect the pole and installation was another.

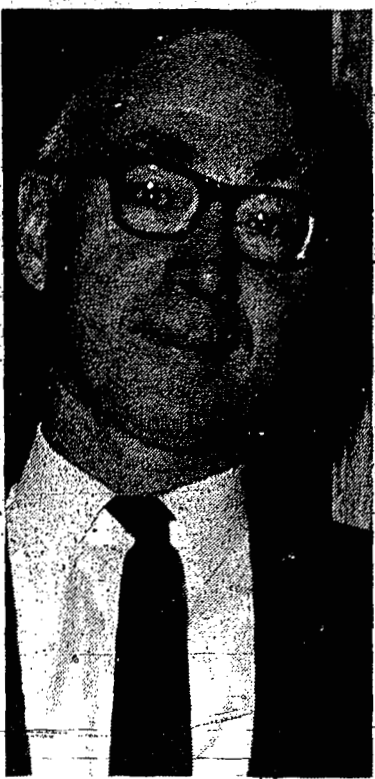

Rose also suggested people in Brackendale who had not already contributed to the former television society, would be asked to contribute towards construction of this installation as his company simply didn't have the money to proceed with the work.

Earlier a packed council chambers heard R. Jessup of the CBC say his corporation also unable, at this time, to provide monies for further installations in this area.

The reeve said the problem was simple. "People who used to get channels 6 and 12 now get nothing while those who used to get three channels now get five."

Jessup said no application had been made for engineering to bring reception to the home not getting it because there were not enough people. "The largest number of people must be served," he said. "Lower Squamish and Woodfibre are getting it and anything north of that is a bonus."

He also said the newly installed second power line in Brackendale could be instrumental in knocking out Channel 12. "We're not too interested in technicalities," the reeve said. "When we were told Channel 2 was coming in that's what we expected. Now we don't get anything. All we want is some television reception in an area which used to have it before your two channels came in."

REG JESSUP
... outlined CBC policy

L. L. Ingraham of Reliance Distributors, the cable system, said he would agree the new power line was causing some of the trouble but that something wrong with Channel 8 was also interfering with 12.

The reeve asked if there was any way in which Channels 8 and 2 could get together to rectify the condition which prevented Brackendale residents from getting television.

Ernie Rose said Channel 6 signals were erratic and inconsistent and the installation was a headache. After his firm bought out Chek-TV they kept it in operation, crippled as it was.

He sympathized with members of the Television Society who had paid out a considerable sum of money but said his firm bought the liabilities and while they had received token funds they had paid out three times as much.

The installation was removed when it was discovered guy wires holding up the pole had been cut and a pile of stumps placed around the base ready to be set afire.

"If the property can be established on an absolutely free lease we will put in a satellite if the community will commit itself to assist us financially in the project. If you fellows will come half way we'll come the other half," he said.

The reeve said council had no municipal funds for such a purpose but could provide the ground and fence it. "Then get the CBC to help you. They have public monies."

Rose concluded by saying "You'll have to protect the installation. We can't sit there with a shotgun to keep people from chopping down our pole or guy wires, or burning it. We're not a philanthropic outfit nor are we subsidized." He added that the group in Brackendale who had not already contributed could be expected to assist in the project by contributing some funds for this purpose.

A statement that only 40 or 50 homes were without television reception drew a remark from Mrs. J. Makowichuk that a survey had shown almost three hundred without it while P. McCawley and he had obtained eighty names to a petition which he circulated in a portion of the district.

GARIBALDI Olympic Development Association members John Fraser and David Ricardo met with council last week to outline GODA's plans to bid for the 1976 Winter Olympics and later discussed the proposal with Chamber of Commerce member B. H. Brown.

Goda Olympic bid gets council nod

Council would like to see the 1976 Winter Olympics come to Whistler and last week told representatives of the Garibaldi Olympic Development Association they would support GODA's bid by advising the provincial government of their support.

Council went further and said when the time came they would be happy to appoint a councillor to serve on the executive along with a representative from the local Chamber of Commerce.

The resolution followed an appeal by John Fraser and David Ricardo of GODA who said they were preparing a brief outlining why they felt the 1976 Olympics should come to Whistler.

"We have been rejected twice in favor of Banff," Fraser said "and you realize we must be able to assure the Canadian Olympic Association that we have the support of the province, Vancouver, and the area close to the site."

"For the 1976 Olympics," he continued, "we will have to have our presentation in early in 1968 if we wish to receive the Canadian bid."

He said if the association received help from the province a sum would be available for preparing the brief to get the Canadian bid.

The winter Olympics would be a tremendous asset for this area and just having it advertised as a possible Olympic site would be invaluable he said. He added that when the previous requests were made there was no great development in the area but this was now changed with a road, some accommodation and a lift on the site.

He added that Whistler had proved it was a great ski mountain.

"There will be thousands of people coming here if Garibaldi and Whistler gets the nod," he said. "And I am sure that Squamish will benefit from this. It would be a marvellous asset if this area could host the winter Olympics."

Reeve P. J. Brennan suggested if this did occur, it would be a marvellous thing if Squamish could have the ice arena for the skating events.

Fraser said this would have to be decided by others but he could see a possibility of having the practice skating rinks here.

Need sign for hospital

The sign designating the hospital should be reinstated A. B. Mackenzie told the Chamber of Commerce last week. He said it was impossible to tell where the hospital was if one was a stranger to the community.

Lack of adequate lighting at the access road to the hospital, moved from the former location where the street light had been installed, was deplored. It was suggested a light be placed at the new intersection which is almost impossible to find on a dark night.

Bellis outlines vigorous program

I'm running for municipal council because my technical, administrative and community-work experience will help me carry out an effective job as a councillor.

But more importantly, I'm running because the present council has been unable to cope with the problems facing this municipality.

Municipal funds have been inefficiently spent with no consideration to long-range programs.

In fact, this municipality has no long-range development plan.

Council must search out important problems and examine them with the electorate.

Together, we must determine priorities.

Then programs should be implemented which will achieve solutions with a view to the future.

It is because council has not implemented common-sense programs that taxes are being spent with a poor return to the home owner.

When industry looks an area over, it considers possible sites, cost of land, transportation routes, available housing and many other factors.

ENCOURAGE INDUSTRY

Considering how little new industry has come to Squamish it seems obvious we are weak in certain of these areas.

Another important factor is the attitude of council towards new industry.

For many industries, an adequate water supply is necessary.

Since water is in short supply here several months of the year any new industry which uses a lot of water would run the risk of antagonizing residents by using water needed by the home owner.

If I'm elected to council, it's unlikely I'd be able to spark a boom overnight.

But, I would insist on discussing municipal problems with residents here and I'd approach development with an informed view to the future.

WILL TAKE LEAD

Council has consistently refused to take a lead in key areas—such as tourism.

Here is an industry that can provide an important source of revenue to the municipality and businessmen here. The capital expenditures involved are minimal.

Operating and maintenance costs are low. But it does take imagination and leadership.

Because of Garibaldi Park and the rapidly developing skiing facilities, tourism as an industry here won't be seasonal.

NEED FOR WATER BOARD

When council can't handle the work load itself, it should turn to the many resource people there are in this municipality.

For example, there should be a water board.

Residents, informed on this problem, could offer constructive solutions and often save the costs of hiring professionals.

This municipality faces problems which are growing, not declining.

If they are not confronted properly, development will be sporadic and one result will be higher taxes yet.

I doubt that many taxpayers wish to continue bailing the council out of its jams.

I don't. But Squamish could and should be one of the finest areas anywhere in which to live and raise a family.

Window display for Young Canada Book Week

By FRED CLARKE

As November 15 to 22nd was designated as Young Canada Book Week the Squamish Public Library drew attention to this event by a display of new books for young people in the window of the Squamish Times.

Young readers are reminded that a large shipment of books for them is now on hand and the books will be placed upon the shelves gradually thus avoiding a "feast or famine" situation. And more books have been ordered for young and old.

How would one of the following titles appeal to you?

LOST MINE OF BELLA COOLA by Mary Whiteley a former teacher at Pemberton. This is the story of Barbara Loren who came to the Bella Coola area from Toronto. As she stepped off the steamer Camosun she realized that she was in a completely new world. However it did not take her long to become interested in the salmon cannery, clam-digging and, of course, the story of the lost mine.

ESCAPE FROM GRAND PRE by Frances Thompson is a tale of the Acadian Expulsion. Andre Melanson had been left with an Indian tribe when others of his family were forced to leave Acadia. He dreamt of one day returning to his old home and Grand Pre; how he accomplished his heart's desire is the theme of the story.

THE LUCK OF THE LA VERENDRYES by Lyn Harrington. The story of Pierre La Verendrye and his four sons who set out to find the Northwest Passage and, instead, discovered the Rocky Mountains. They were the first white men to marvel at the Dakota Badlands, to tread the high plains of Wyoming and to claim for France all the territory west of the Mississippi.

STORIES OF FAMOUS SHIPS by Frank Knight contains twenty-five stories of ships which have become famous in the stories of the sea. Included are stories about the Mayflower, the tragic Marie Celeste, the notorious Adventure Galley of Captain Kidd, the long Serpent of Olaf the Viking and many more.

THE LITTLEST ANGEL by Charles Tazewell. This is a brand new issue (our old one simply wore out) of the delightful story of the awkward, smudged little angel who did not feel at all at home in heaven. One of the loveliest of the modern Christmas tales.

These are a few of the interesting books available. If you see some in the Times window which interest you ask for them at the Library.

Richard Crowston scholarship fund

The Future Citizens Club has announced that monies donated in memory of the late Richard Crowston who lost his life in a drowning accident earlier this year, would go towards a scholarship fund and some pieces of equipment for the Rainbow School.

Close to two hundred dollars was given to Mrs. J. M. Crowston in memory of her son and she requested the Future Citizens Club to find a way in which this could be spent.

Dave Kuhn, president of the group, said after a number of meetings they wished to give two pieces of much needed equipment to the Rainbow School. The balance was to be used to form the basis of a scholarship fund which they would set up.

Kuhn said twenty five percent of the profits of their activities would go to this fund and they wished the Education Committee of the School Board to administer the fund.

They felt the scholarship should be given to the teenager who did the most for the youth in Squamish and could be used for any type of further education.

Richard, who was an active member of the Future Citizens Club, was one of the founders of the group.

The decision to allocate the monies was made at a meeting of members of the Future Citizens Club, the Recreation Commission, Reeve P. J. Brennan and Mrs. J. M. Crowston on Nov. 9. The reeve said Richard had put a great deal of effort, along with a number of other teenagers, into developing social activities for the young people.

He also said the club had come a long way since early meetings held trying to get the town and the schools to accept what they were trying to do. He congratulated them on their fine efforts made on behalf of the teenagers today. "The town and council are behind you in the efforts you are making on behalf of the young people," he said. "The liberal policy of the town and the school board toward use of facilities for teenagers is mainly due to the push which the club gave to this problem."

Mrs. Crowston said she appreciated the thought put into trying to determine the best way in which the money could be spent. She felt it was important the town realize what the club had done. A discussion on events and projects which the Future Citizens Club would like to further followed. The reeve said he would be glad to give his support and help to what they were doing.

Police Court

The following cases appeared before Magistrate C. I. Walker in police court recently.

On November 7, James L. Wilson pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while his licence was under suspension. The defendant assured the court that after his suspension period elapsed he had made application for the return of his licence but had not yet received it. Wilson was fined $75.

Charles H. Sherer pleaded guilty to driving without due care and attention arising from an accident on Highway 99. He was fined $35.

Raymond L. Poutlin, aged 20, was fined $25 on a charge of being a minor in licensed premises.

Ralph Nywening of Abbotsford was convicted of the offence of driving without due care and attention and received a $25 fine.

On Nov. 14, Michael T. Tyner pleaded guilty to a charge of backing when unsafe to do so and was fined $15. This charge arose when Tyner struck a parked vehicle while backing up prior to proceeding on Second Ave. opposite the municipal hall.

MR. AND MRS. D. PARFITT. (Photo by D'Arcy)

City wedding for Christine Brown

At a double ring ceremony at St. Helen's Anglican Church, Vancouver on the afternoon of November 4, Christine Evelyn Brown exchanged vows with David Brent Parfitt.

Rev. Cannon J. W. Robinson officiated at the ceremony in the church, which was decorated with autumn shades of gold, yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Brown, Squamish and the groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. D. Parfitt, Victoria.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street length charming off white wool dress and matching coat ensemble. Her French veil was held in place by matching flowers. She carried white roses and pink carnations. A three strand pearl necklace given by her grandfather some years ago was her sole piece of jewelry.

Miss Linda Brown, the bride's sister, as bridesmaid wore a street length blue crepe long sleeved dress with a headpiece of matching flowers and veil. She carried pink carnations.

Mr. Ron Parfitt was best man and the usher was the bride's brother Mr. Michael Brown.

Mr. R. Bishop proposed the toast to the bride during the reception at the Attilic Inn after the ceremony.

The wedding cake was cut with the same knife used by the bride's mother and grandmother as well as any bride in the family.

Out of town guests for the occasion were friends and relatives from Victoria, Port Alberni, Vancouver and Squamish.

Mr. and Mrs. Parfitt will reside in Vancouver on their return from their honeymoon trip to Seattle.

My favorite recipe

Curried chicken a different dish

"My family is essentially a meat and potatoes one," Mrs. B. H. Hartnell said, "but they have some favorite dishes apart from that and this curried chicken is one of them."

With four boys ranging in age from four to ten, she finds it takes a hearty dish to satisfy their appetites and the recipes for chicken and pizza given below provide plenty of food for hungry soccer players and junior athletes.

"They can easily be stretched," she said. "Particularly the curried chicken. If you are serving a large number, just use two chickens. It's not too hard to double the recipes."

She says she rarely uses a recipe except as a guide but tastes the dish and adds spices or condiments to improve the flavor.

"The boys are always hungry," she said, "and Cal, Brett, Vance and Monty are looking in the frig for something to eat half an hour after they have left the supper table. If I want to keep anything for a special occasion I have to hide it or there's nothing left."

"I've always liked to cook," she added, "but sometimes I wish I didn't have the boys underfoot. Four of them around makes it difficult."

The curried chicken makes a meal in itself and would only need a salad to accompany it. A light dessert, or the pineapple squares would make a suitable finish to the meal.

The pizzas are easy to make and a favorite with the boys.

CURRIED CHICKEN WITH RICE

1 boiling chicken cut in pieces
1 tsp. salt
5 cups water
Simmer till chicken starts to get tender then add four medium carrots sliced, 2 medium onions cut not too finely and 2 cups chopped celery.

Cook with chicken till tender. Take out chicken and keep warm. Strain the juice from the vegetables and keep them aside. Make up a medium white sauce (double the recipe) and instead of adding additional liquid use the broth from the chicken as well as three tps. of medium curried powder.

Cook over low heat till thickened then add the cooked vegetables. Cook up about 2 cups of raw rice in a large platter, place chicken on top and pour over the curried sauce. This is very colorful and tastes good as well.

The pizza recipe makes two large twelve inch pizzas and these are a family favorite too.

PIZZA

1 cup warm water
1 pkg. yeast
1 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
2 tbsps. salad oil
2 cups sifted flour
add 1 cup additional flour when kneading.

Sprinkle yeast into warm water, stir till dissolved. Stir in 1 tsp. sugar, 1 tsp. salt and 2 tbsps. salad oil. Add 2 cups flour, beat till smooth then gradually add the other cup of flour. Knead till smooth and elastic. Grease bowl, and let stand in a warm place about 30 mins. When risen take and cut in half. Roll one half with palm of hand on the 12 inch pan until you reach the edge. Make edges a bit thicker.

TOPPING (for each pizza)

1 can of tomato paste. Put on pizza then sprinkle with 1 tsp. oregano, 1 cup grated medium cheese, 1/4 lb. salami cut in rounds thinly, 1/4 cup finely cut green pepper. Lastly add 1/2 pkg. mozzarella cheese cut in strips and placed criss-cross over pizza. Bake for 20 minutes in a 450 oven. Cut and eat while hot.

These pineapple squares make a tasty bar and are slightly different. The recipe also makes a large amount and will serve a family.

PINEAPPLE SQUARES

4 cups flour
1/4 tsp. salt
1 cup sugar
1 cup shortening
2 eggs
1 cup sour cream
2 tps. soda

FILLING

1 cup sugar
1/4 cup cornstarch
1 cup chopped nuts
1/4 cup sifted icing sugar
30 oz. tin pineapple (crushed)

1 egg
1 tps. cold water
Blend shortening and sugar, add eggs and sour cream to which soda has been added. Add flour, salt and chill. Blend cornstarch, sugar and part of pineapple juice to make a paste. Add balance of juice and cook till clear. Add pineapple, chill.

Roll out 3/4 of the pastry and line pan. Place cooled filling on it, roll balance of pastry, cut in strips and criss cross over top. Brush with egg beaten with water. Sprinkle with chopped nuts. Bake in 350 oven for 30 minutes. Sprinkle with icing sugar.

MONTY and Vance Harnell love to help mother when she bakes a cake and here they are licking the beaters after she had mixed up her special chocolate cake recipe.

ASK EVA

This column, which will be conducted by Eva Robertson, a person well-versed in problems which may confront you in your daily round, is designed for those who would like to ask her advice.

Dear Reader:

At times communicating with others is often the most difficult thing one can attempt. No matter how we wish to contact another human being, it is impossible. This problem is universal.

When spoken words fail, the written word helps. Writing grievances on paper and then destroying them is a great way of getting them off your chest. But what if you need uncritical advice or a sympathetic ear.

You'd be surprised how many there are in this world. Your family doctor and your clergyman are two of the best. A close friend is invaluable.

If you want an interesting and neutral opinion, write to me in care of this paper. All letters will be kept in strictest confidence. If anyone wishes a personal reply, enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope with your letter. Fictitious names are acceptable unless a personal reply is needed.

Casey children christened here

The two children of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Casey were christened during the second service on Sunday morning, at the Squamish United Church, November 12, with Rev. E. A. Houldridge officiating in the absence of Rev. H. Wingfield.

David Mervin was the names bestowed upon the two-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Casey while their nine-month old daughter received the names Kristen Lyn. Mr. and Mrs. Z. Zacharias were sponsors for David and Mr. and Mrs. W. Green were chosen to be little Kristen's godparents.

For the occasion David wore a blue and white quilted family christening robe which has been used by the families of his mother, maternal grandmother and great grandmother for one hundred and fifty years. Not to be outshone by her brother Kristen's robe has been used by the same families for almost ninety years.

Following the baptismal ceremony a family luncheon was held at the home of the children's maternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Walter Regier. In addition to the godparents the guests included the paternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. E. Casey and the children's maternal great uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Jack Arnett of Vancouver.

Andrea Hollingworth christened

During the 11:00 a.m. service on Sunday, November 12, at the Squamish United Church, the two-month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Hollingworth received the names Andrea Kim. In the absence of Rev. Harold Wingfield, Rev. E. A. Houldridge of Vancouver officiated at the christening ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Huffman were chosen as little Andrea's godparents.

Following the church service a family luncheon was held at the home of the infant's parents. Present were the baby's maternal grandmother and aunt Mrs. A. Schenk and Miss Gloria Schenk of Vancouver, her paternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. P. Hollingworth of Burnaby, and her paternal great-grandparents Mr. and Mrs. N. Vernon, also of Burnaby. Other guests included the godparents and Mrs. Margaret Gibson and her son Allan.

Future citizens want 'Youth Day'

The Future Citizens Club would like to take over the duties of running the community for a day sometime in early spring and last week received council's blessing on their project.

President Dave Kuhn with former vice-president Myrna Dawson and secretary Linda Robinson, visited council last Tuesday to see if it would agree to letting them serve as council for a day and learn the meaning and problems of operating a district.

"If you agree with this idea it could be extended to other areas," he said. He mentioned various businesses and said the young people could take part in a number of ways and learn how business and industry operate.

The idea was sparked by a similar incident in North Vancouver where students took over and even went so far as to send a pupil to Ottawa to act as MP for a day.

Council felt this would be a worthwhile project and told the young people it would support the project.

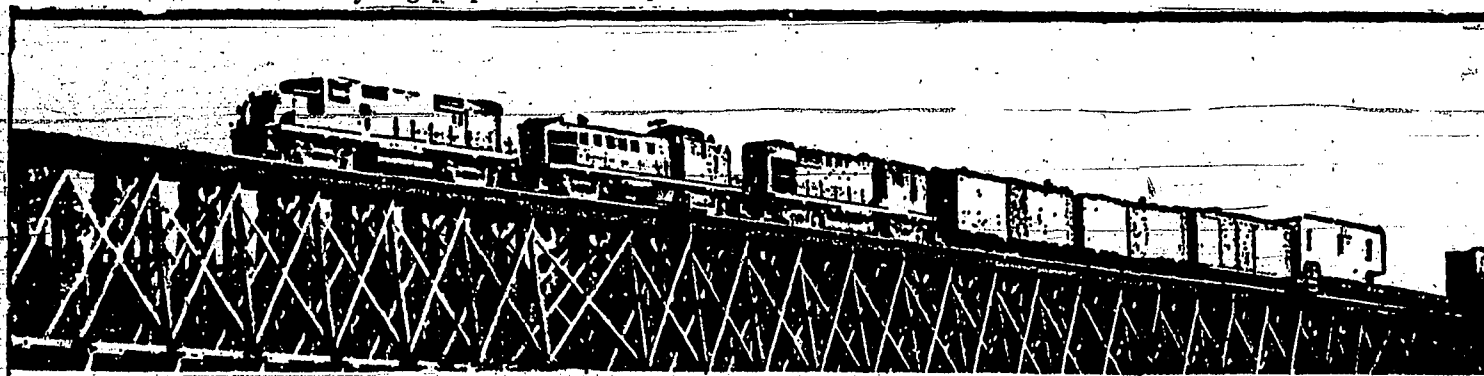

All members of the St. John Ambulance Brigade are volunteers. In Canada, the Brigade is made up of more than 11,000 men, women, and teenage cadets.

Rotary plans trip to Reno

The Squamish Rotary Club is planning to sponsor a bus trip to Reno, Nevada in late January.

Keen interest has been shown in the trip but there will be a number of seats available for others who would like to take advantage of the opportunity to visit a sunnier clime for a week in winter.

Tickets can be obtained from Fred Bennett who will be pleased to give anyone further information on the prospective trip.

LIFELINE TO NEW FRONTIERS!

Half a billion dollars. That's how much money is being invested in new industries along the Pacific Great Eastern Railway's line to north-central B.C. Half a billion dollars' worth of investment - and that's just the beginning. The P.G.E. is the artery which carries in the materials and equipment necessary to establish and maintain the new industries; as well as bring out their production for the markets of the world. It is a modern railway, equipped with microwave communications and up-to-date rolling stock, but it is still a pioneer railway too, for the P.G.E. plays an important role in opening new frontiers. The freight service of the P.G.E. is vital to the new industries of the Northern Interior. A few short years ago, there was a wilderness of forest and muskox where thriving communities stand today. The P.G.E. is the line that keeps the North alive... and growing.

District teachers get six percent wage boost

Teachers in the Howe Sound School District No. 48 will be receiving a six percent wage increase as the result of successfully concluded salary negotiations, it was announced last week.

Cost to the district is six percent of payroll costs and if the provincial government's teachers' salary grant schedule is not revised upward next year the cost to the taxpayers will be increased slightly under one mill.

The Board and teachers of Howe Sound School District No. 48 agreed on the salary agreement for 1968 and the final negotiations were carried on in the presence of conciliator Lt. Col. J. N. Burnett and were concluded twenty minutes before the arbitration deadline at midnight on Nov. 14.

The salary scale for 1968 with 1967 figures in brackets is as follows:

EB Minimum 4850 (4550) to maximum 7370 (6935)
EA Minimum 5400 (5050) to maximum 8300 (7850)
PC Minimum 5900 (5550) to maximum 9150 (8650)
PE Minimum 6200 (5850) to maximum 9500 (9000)

PB Minimum 6700 (6250) to maximum 10,650 (10,000)
PA Minimum 7300 (6650) to maximum 11,500 (10,800)
PA Masters 7550 (6850) to maximum 11,950 (11,100)

Six meetings were held since October 2nd and negotiating for the school board were T. J. MacDonald, chairman of the Board's committee and F. J. Mulhern and H. H. Bailey.

E. A. Nicholson, chairman of the Teacher's Committee, was assisted by J. Sudernmar and G. Lewis.

There were virtually no other changes in the agreement.

Applications for cultural grants close November 30

Allocation of initial grants from the B.C. Government's new $5 million Centennial Cultural Fund is expected before the end of the year.

Hon. W. H. Murray, MLA for Prince Rupert and speaker of the House who is chairman of the Centennial Cultural Fund Advisory Committee which administers the fund, said applications for grants are being received up to the end of November and that the committee expects that first grants for 1967 will be dispensed by the end of December.

Legislation setting up the Fund was passed at the last session of the Provincial Legislature. Under its terms approximately $270,000 is being set aside for annual disbursement of $200,000 per annum.

Murray said that organizations wishing to apply for grants should write to the Centennial Cultural Advisory Committee, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C.

He pointed out that the B.C. government has in the past made annual grants to major cultural organizations in the Province and that under the new fund, organizations which have special and outstanding projects designed to further B.C.'s cultural status will not only continue to receive financial support but may be eligible for additional assistance.

The fund committee is placing particular emphasis on the stimulation of native Indian art and culture.

Local community arts councils, where properly constituted, are eligible for annual grants from the funds, and Murray said that such councils are envisioned for each region or municipality of the Province to work closely with local governments and to act as a liaison with the fund committee.

The committee also expects to finance scholarships through appropriate organizations in the Province.

Murray said that because of the size of the fund it would not be possible to give grants for capital projects.

"It is our intention," he said, "to ensure that proper and appropriate benefits go to all areas of British Columbia."

Murray explained that the annual disbursements of approximately $270,000 represents the interest generated by the $5 million fund. He said that no charges are being made against the fund for either administrative costs or travelling expenses of the committee members.

"We believe that all revenues by way of interest should be spent directly for the purpose set out in the Act itself," he added.

Fund committee members, in addition to Murray, are deputy provincial secretary L. J. Wallace, deputy chairman and coordinator; Dr. G. N. Perry, deputy minister of education; Hon. I. P. Dawson, MLA for McKenzie; Hon. P. J. Jordan, MLA for North Okanagan; and Hon. Grace McCarthy, MLA for Vancouver-Little Mountain.

Trailer court extension

Councillors N. R. Barr, M. A. Carrio and G. F. Mitchell have been instructed to meet with J. Souster of Souster Trailer Court to discuss the extension of his present operation.

Souster, in a letter to council, asked for permission to extend the court as he had purchased additional property and said he would bring the extension into conformity with the trailer court bylaw.

Council felt this could be ambiguous and asked the committee to make sure the improvements covered the entire trailer court and not just the extension.

New Brownies enrolled

On the afternoon of Wednesday, November 8, three new Brownies were enrolled in the Pemberton organization.

The youngsters who were enrolled under Brown Owl Mrs. Beth Pipe were, Suzanne Sampaio, Wenda Colp and Carol Gilmore.

Following the enrollment the group joined in games and a community sing-song.

Additional features of this annual event will be the dolls and doll clothes as well as other accessories, a fish pond for the children and the draw for the candy house.

City wedding of interest here

Mums and carnations in autumn shades were the setting in the Lynn Valley United Church in North Vancouver on November 4, at 7:30 p.m. when Ruby Ann McCarty and Frank Bruce Whitfield took their marriage vows.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Vera Grey of Vancouver and the late Mr. William McCarty of Edmonton wore a beautiful gown fashioned in imported French chintilly lace. The gown was cage style with satin bow giving an empire effect. The high scalloped neckline matched the scalloped brief sleeves. It had an exquisite flowing train of silk illusion with satin binding and lace appliques. The bouffant silk illusion veil was held in place by a satin bow. She carried a crescent bouquet of golden garnet roses, stephanotis and ivy.

The groom, is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Whitfield.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Sherry Horth and bridesmaids were Judy McIntyre, Fran Whitfield, Marlene Meissner and Sharon Thibodeau. All were attired in autumn gold organza over taffeta, scooped neckline with heavy lace bodice, cap sleeves, softly draped back and wore matching bows in their hair.

The brides youngest sisters Brenda and Viola Grey were flower girls. Their full length dresses were in burnt orange sheer nylon over taffeta. Mums and daisies.

All attendants carried colonial bouquets of bronze daisy mums and tangerine carnations. The bride was given in marriage by Mr. Robert Grey. The best man was Wynni Whitfield, brother of the groom and the ushers were Al Horth, Don Whitfield, Ken Whitfield and Howard Turner.

The officiating minister was Rev. N. Dermott McInnes. The organist was Mrs. J. Campbell. Beverley Moyles sang "The Wedding Prayer".

The reception was held at the Avalon Motor Hotel for the 100 guests. Mr. Norman Sorhus toasted the bride.

The bride's mother wore a three piece mink suit with navy accessories and corsage of escort roses.

The groom's mother wore a pale green walking suit and green and white accessories. Her corsage was swingtime roses.

For the couple's honeymoon trip to Banff and Edmonton the bride wore a rust wool suit, brown and coloured picture hat, brown accessories and corsage of zorrina roses. They will reside in West Vancouver.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Blumhagen of Forestburg, Alta., Miss S. Thibodeau of Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. E. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. E. Gordon and Mr. and Mrs. A. Horth of Squamish, H. Turner and L. Wickstrom of Woodville and Mr. and Mrs. S. Kowalik of Duncan.

Flowers for the bride and attendants were a gift from Mrs. E. McBride of Thessalon, Ontario and flowers at the church were arranged by Mrs. M. Johnson of North Vancouver.

Rotarians still tops
but Lions lose again

Squamish Rotarians in the 7B Division soccer, downed North Vancouver Lions on Saturday 1-0 to retain their winning streak. To date they have won all but one game and that was a tie.

Curtis Llewellyn scored the sole goal of the game. Next Saturday the Rotarians play undefeated L. & K. Lumber in North Vancouver and this should be a hard fought game.

West Vancouver Spurways defeated Squamish Lions in the 5A Division by a score of 4-2 with David Lasser and Murray Stetch scoring the goals for Squamish.

On Sunday afternoon the Fiji Club defeated the Squamish team by a score of 5-1 with Ian Taylor scoring the goal for Squamish.

In the Pee-wee Division of the Howe Sound Soccer League the Mamquam Celtics finally caught up to the Mamquam Rangers with two wins over the weekend.

In the first game they shut out Mount Currie with the first goal scored by outside left Paul Goodgrove. The second goal was scored by centre half Michael Sweeney to make a final score of 2-0.

In the second game Michael Sweeney got another goal and left half Chris Bell also scored against Pemberton, when they shut out the visitors 4-0.

The other two goals were scored by outside right Ross Boyd who has come on really strong to help the Celtics gain first place.

Lex Tetachuk has been playing a solid season for the Celtics in the right half position. In other games on the weekend in the Pee-wee Division Mamquam Rangers defeated Pemberton 2-0, Stawamus defeated Brackendale by a score of 2-0 and Mount Currie downed the Mamquam Rangers 2-1.

In the Junior Division Mamquam and Pemberton played to a scoreless tie, Mamquam shut out Mount Currie 1-0, Pemberton defeated Brackendale 2-1, Woodfibre shut out Stawamus 2-0 and Squamish defeated Britannia 3-1.

In the sole game in the senior division Squamish defeated Woodfibre 2-1.

No NHA monies for unsewered lots here

No monies will be available prior to 1961, council was told last week.

Mr. Charney of Central Mortgage and Housing told the reeve there would be no deviation from this regulation. He suggested federal aid be sought for sewers and added this could amount to two thirds of the cost.

Reeve P. J. Brennan said it was fine to say monies were available but this community was prepared to implement sewers in the lower area of the district but Victoria, which has now instituted an anti-pollution act, refuses to let the district issue debentures for this purpose.

Charney said if people settle in a place with septic tanks tanks they will not want sewers later.

The reeve challenged this remark, saying downtown Squamish is on septic tanks, but people desperately wanted to go on sewers.

The difficulty of obtaining NHA monies for building except in prescribed subdivisions where the initial cost is too high had prompted council to ask representatives of CMHC to come to Squamish to discuss the matter.

I appeared there would be no easing of regulations, and in fact, conditions might become even more difficult with the new provincial pollution regulations.

Police building still on shelf

Council last week heard a report from Reeve P. J. Brennan that there was at this time, no possibility of obtaining permission to float a bond issue to build the police building.

The people approved the referendum authorizing the borrowing of $130,000 to build new quarters for the police this spring but Victoria refused to authorize the sale of bonds for this purpose.

The reeve said he had talked to the deputy minister of Municipal Affairs and this was still the department's stand but it was suggested the monies be borrowed from the bank.

He felt this would not be wise, if it could be done, as the bank is already financing the Brackendale water system, whose bond issue was turned down by provincial authorities when they failed to approve it, and the present weir construction.

Councillor Carrio suggested the bank be approached to see if they would consider lending more money for such a project.

Want site for trailer court

A Vancouver firm, Board Investments Ltd., applied to council for approval to place a modern, attractively designed mobile home park on the north shore of the Mamquam River.

The area, presently zoned for this use, contains approximately 22 acres and would make an attractive park for such use.

Previous application had been made by P. N. Goode but at that time council discovered the Highways Department refused to release the land.

Council recommended the committee of N. R. Barr, M. A. Carrio and G. F. Mitchell look into the proposal and see if the land is available.

Reeve Brennan said council favors such a development but if the land does become available, he felt the original proponent of the plan, Mr. Goode, should have the first opportunity to develop the area.

Council decided to once again ask the Highways Department if they would approve such a program.

Gun Club plans
annual dance

Pemberton — Friday evening December 8, has been chosen as the date for the Pemberton Rod and Gun Club's annual banquet and dance. The committee members arranging this social evening are B. Gilmore, D. Deering and B. Ross.

The event will open with a cocktail hour at 7:00 p.m., followed by a wild game banquet at 8:00 p.m. Following the banquet, later in the evening is a dance with an out-of-town orchestra playing.

The evening affair to be held in the Pemberton Community Hall is open to the public. Guest speakers at the banquet will be J. L. Grundle, editor of the Western Fish and Game magazine and Lee Straight, Vancouver Sun Payer Fishing and Hunting Editor. Tickets for the affair can be purchased from any Pemberton Rod and Gun Club member.

Clear ski slopes
near Squamish

Plans are underway to clear the slope around Base Camp on the mountain above Squamish for a day ski area, especially for young people.

George Forsythe said the move is sparked by the increase in fees at Whistler which is making it too expensive for many of the young people.

Two sides could be cleared at Base Camp and fallers have already been lined up to do the work. In addition, he said a group of the older boys will also be helping on the project.

"If the stumps can be taken down before the snow starts and an area cleared," Forsythe said, "the youngsters from Squamish, Britannia, and Woodfibre as well as the members of the High School Ski Club could use the slopes this winter."

The next problem will be transportation," he said, "but we'll worry about that when the slopes are cleared."

Forsythe added that Ottar Brandvold of Diamond Head Chalet, had offered his assistance and said there is a possibility a small portable tow could be placed there later in the winter.

An added attraction would be the coffee shop at Base Camp which could be opened for the benefit of the young people if the project went ahead.

"Even without the tow," the kids could get in quite a bit of skiing," Forsythe said, "and there would be no charge until a tow was installed."

He added that all offers of assistance from young people or parents would be most welcome.

QUESTION: ARE ALL CLASSES IN THE DISTRICT LESS THAN 40 AND, IF SO, HAS THIS AFFECTED THE NEED FOR MORE CLASSROOMS?

ANSWER: The School Board has adopted a policy of staffing the elementary schools so that, where practical, there are not more than 30 pupils in a primary classroom and not more than 35 pupils in an intermediate classroom. This compares with the overall Provincial policy of not more than 36 students a room (both primary and intermediate). The Board adopted this policy in December, 1966, after a great deal of thought and discussion, in the belief that it is in the educational interests of the students not to have more than these numbers in the classes. There are instances where proposed additions to schools could be reduced in size if a policy of 40 to a classroom was followed, but the Board feels that this would be poor economy as it would adversely affect the educational opportunity of the children.

QUESTION: IN COMPARING SCHOOL TAXES PAID OVER THE YEARS, WHY DOES THE SCHOOL BOARD SHOW THE NET TAX AFTER THE DEDUCTION OF THE HOME OWNER GRANT?

ANSWER: The tax notices state "Provincial Home Owner Grant (applicable first to local school taxes and then to other levies)". It is clearly the intent of the Provincial Government that the home owner grant is to relieve the home owner firstly of increasing school costs, and then other taxes if there is sufficient grant.

QUESTION: ARE THE STANDARDS OF OUR SCHOOLS OF TO-DAY, WITH ALL THEIR ELABORATE BUILDINGS AND EQUIPMENT ANY BETTER THEN THEY WERE 40 YEARS AGO?

ANSWER: (Mrs. Marchant felt that it would be advisable to ask an educator to supply an answer to this question).

The word "standard" implies comparison, and comparison without contrast would tell only half the story. So, let us compare and contrast the schools of to-day, and their products, with those of forty years ago.

Anyone who would even suggest that physical plants have not improved during the past half century is so far out of touch that any attempt to refute his arguments would be a waste of time. So too with equipment. Youngsters now use and accept tools and equipment that were not even invented forty years ago! How about staff? The number of degree teachers in our schools has doubled even in the last ten years. Not much argument there. But, what about the product? Are the high school graduates of today better or worse than their parents were. The fact that sixty percent of our children complete high school should be evidence enough when compared to the five percent of forty years ago. But perhaps our concern should be with quality not quantity.

Four decades ago, five percent of those entering the elementary school finished high school. These were the cream of the crop. They were the source for the learned professions and went on to become doctors, lawyers, professors, teachers, etc. That same five percent graduate from our schools today, but they have been joined by another fifty-five per cent of somewhat lesser calibre, but nevertheless having greater adaptability than their forebears. Simply because they have remained in school longer, they have become better equipped to deal effectively with the world in which they live.

Their world demands people with diverse skills and wide knowledge. Forty years ago, schools were totally concerned with preparation for the University. Today, our schools are expected to produce young people who can adapt themselves readily to an ever more technologically oriented society. The success of our efforts is discernable to anyone who wishes to see: The sum total of man's knowledge has doubled since 1945; the products of our schools are responsible for that.

QUESTION: THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL IS UNABLE TO PROCEED WITH CAPITAL PROJECTS BECAUSE THEY CANNOT ALN THE B.C. SCHOOL DISTRICTS CAPITAL FINANCING AUTHORITY TO SELL THEIR BONDS AT A REASONABLE RATE. HOW THEN CAN THE SCHOOL BOARD EXPECT TO SELL THEIRS?

ANSWER: The B.C. School Districts Capital Financing Authority sells school debentures for all school districts in B.C. A sale of 30 to 40 million dollars is usually arranged two or three times a year. The funds are then apportioned to the school districts requiring them. By selling the debentures in large sums the Financing Authority is able to obtain a more reasonable interest rate (5% to 6% per cent).

River control file could dyke rivers

"Pretty soon we'll be able to take the river control file and dyke the Squamish River with them," Reeve P. J. Brennan told council last week as the latest letters and reports were read to council.

The reeve, in letters to both Ottawa and Victoria, said the river had risen twelve feet last month during one rainy spell but fortunately the rain stopped in time to prevent damage.

He said the district was faced with a serious erosion problem along the Squamish and Mamquam Rivers and suggested there be immediate implementation of river control.

The Squamish River banks should also be ripped with rock fill from the B.C. Hydro power line on Judd Road to below the Paradise Valley Horse Ranch to prevent further high water damage.

He said rock which could be installed this winter while equipment is idle and readily available, could be used as the base for any future river control program.

Maps showing the area involved were sent to both Jack Davis and the Hon. Ray Williston, along with the letters.

The provincial Minister of Lands and Forests in his letter of reply said a proposal had been made to Ottawa but there were no monies available for river control at this time.

New films at library

Twenty-five new films are now available at the Squamish Public Library. The titles cover a wide variety of topics and should prove interesting to film patrons.

The following titles are a sampling:
ALEXANDER MACKENZIE, Lord of the North - Today the Mackenzie River is the willing, workhorse for supplying the North. This film shows the drama of its exploration by the daring Scot after whom it was named.

THE ROMANCE OF TRANSPORTATION IN CANADA

This light-hearted look at the development of road, rail and river travel from the first fur trader to the flying saucerman. This cartoon film has been applauded at home and abroad.
CORRELIEU is the name Ozias Legue gave to his home in St. Hilaire in Quebec. From this home he set out on his commissions; his "decorations" for churches throughout the province. But always he came back and there painted with fine detail, the people and objects of his daily life. These paintings have the perfection of miniatures. In this film is shown the range of his art and his home surroundings.

THE CHARTER is a comprehensive and up-to-date review of the world peace organization as outlined in its basic written authority: the United Nations Charter. The document's history is illustrated in world events and the peace structure it represents is shown diagrammatically.

LACROSSE shows what is needed to play the game. Since it is well to begin young, most of the teams shown are made up of youngsters like Billy Wilson whose progress as a player, is shown in this film. The pace is fast, the skill quickly acquired, and there is no doubt of the satisfaction this game gives to both players and fans.

Come down and have a look at all the others if you are a film buff. There is certain to be something to your taste.

Lecture on visual perception

Pemberton — On Thursday evening Nov. 9, at Signal Hill School, an interesting lecture was given to the teachers by Delta Primary Consultant Miss R. Seim and Howe Sound Primary Consultant Mrs. H. Fairbanks. The talk on "visual perception in teaching" was of special interest to Kindergarten, Primary and Special class teachers.

It was found in the study that physical development in youngsters followed by the nervous system development leads to the development of the brain.

Therefore if a child does not have an opportunity to develop physically along a normal pattern, this will interfere with his learning at a higher level. It was pointed out that the years between the ages of three and a half to seven and a half sees the child's greatest visual perception growth.

As an example if a child is denied the opportunity to creep and crawl about, his nervous system that uses this left and right motion, will not develop as fully as possible, thus it is shown the nervous system and as consequence, mental growth.

It has been found in this study that about 80 per cent of reading problems in the primary grades have been traced to visual perception problems. The teachers present found the lecture most interesting and a question and answer period followed the talk with the two visiting Consultants offering helpful advice on this most challenging profession of educating the young.

Couple to live in North Burnaby

Bouquets of autumn flowers decorated St. Helen's Roman Catholic Church, North Burnaby, on Saturday morning, November 4, for the wedding of Sarah Lorraine Leo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Leo of Mt. Currie and John Anthony Hill son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hill of West Vancouver. Rev. Father McAvoy officiated.

The bride's gown of white lace over satin had a full length bouffant skirt sewn with tiny seed pearls, wrist length sleeves and a high neckline. A crown of seed pearls held her floor length veil and she carried a bouquet of red and white roses.

Maid of honor Miss Rhonda Leo, a sister of the bride, wore a long blue nylon sheath gown with an overskirt of blue lace. A tiny blue veil attached to a seed pearl headress accented her gown. Mona Leo, flower girl and six year old sister of the bride wore a blue velvet dress, matching veil, attached to a pearl comb. Both girls carried sprays of blue chrysanthemums.

Mr. Larry Whitby of Vancouver was the best man and Mr. Roger Leo of Mt. Currie and Mr. W. McQuide of Vancouver ushered the guests.

A reception was later held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Gilbert of Vancouver. Rev. Father W. Scott, O.M.I., of Mt. Currie gave the toast to the bride.

As the newlyweds left for their honeymoon through the western states and back to Vancouver via South Eastern B.C., Kootenays and Okanagan Valley the bride wore a gold crepe sheath under brocade duster ensemble and a pink carnation corsage with tiny red rosebuds. On the return from their honeymoon the newlywed couple will reside in South Burnaby.

Out of town guests included the bride's family Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Leo, Roger, Rhonda and Mona of Mount Currie, Mr. and Mrs. G. Williams, Mt. Currie, Mr. D. Ryan Ottawa, Ontario and Mr. and Mrs. C. Bingham of White Rock.

Montgomery new head of Weldwood of Canada

E. ROGER MONTGOMERY, new president of Weldwood of Canada, who will succeed John Bene, taking over his new position on February 1st of next year.

E. Roger Montgomery, executive vice-president of Weldwood of Canada Limited, has been elected to succeed John Bene as president on February 1, it was announced recently.

Mr. Bene, at the request of the Canadian Government, has been granted a maximum two-year leave of absence to serve as special adviser to the director general, external aid office, in Ottawa.

Mr. Bene continues as a director of Weldwood and upon completion of his governmental duties will return as chairman of the board, according to Gene C. Brewer, chairman of Weldwood of Canada and president of U.S. Plywood-Champion Papers Inc., the parent company.

Mr. Bene has been a leading figure in the Canadian forest products industry for three decades. He built the Pacific Veneer plant in New Westminster in 1938. He resigned as its managing director in 1944 to construct Western Plywood's first plant in Vancouver. In 1951, at Quesnel, B.C., he founded the first plant in North America to convert small-diameter logs into plywood.

When Western Plywood was acquired by U.S. Plywood in 1961, Mr. Bene merged its operations with those of two eastern-based U.S.P. subsidiaries.

He became president of Weldwood of Canada Limited when it was formed in 1964 to consolidate the operations of the multi-million dollar manufacturing and distributing complex under a single name. The same year, Weldwood stock was offered to the Canadian public.

Mr. Montgomery joined U.S. Plywood in 1949 as West Coast internal auditor. He was named a comptroller of the Mutual operations in Eureka, Calif., in 1951, West Coast comptroller in 1952 and assistant manager in Seattle of the Washington Division in 1955.

He was promoted to comptroller of the company in New York in 1961 and appointed West Coast financial officer in 1963. In 1965, he was put in charge of operations for West Coast manufacturing at Eugene, Ore., and elected a vice president of the company in June, 1966.

A 1941 graduate of the University of Kansas, Mr. Montgomery is a certified public accountant. During World War Two, he served as a captain in the army.

SOME OF the staff and the school children of the newly established Winneba Preparatory School scan through copies of the 300 books presented to the school by the Squamish Lions Club. Gordon Lloyd, who presented the books on behalf of the club is seen with Mrs. Taylor, one of the teachers at the school. Examining other copies are Mrs. Fisher, second from right, the headmistress and Mrs. Neal another teacher.

Loggers ask for five year contracts

Large logging companies should sign five year contracts with small contractors rather than the usual one year contract, members of the Pacific Logging Congress at Seattle were told early this month.

George Percy of Percy Logging Company Ltd., Vancouver said "Some companies are still reluctant to sign a contract beyond one year; even for an operator who may be providing one million annual volume of services for which he may have capital risk upward of $500,000."

A hundred years ago, a Prisoner in a Turkish fortress in the Holy Land announced a new Revelation of God. His name was Bahá'u'lláh. His "Letters to the Kings" are, without doubt, the most remarkable documents in religious history. Several million people have now responded to His call.

Local clergy of all faiths have just received an offer of Bahá'u'lláh's Message. We urge you to investigate it either through your clergy, man or by writing: BAHA'IS of West Vancouver P.O. Box 113

"There it is!" was the jubilant cry. And there's a lady who will have to explain to her husband that she wasn't crazy when she bought a bird cage. She has no desire to own a bird; however, she intends to use it as a container for trailing plants. What next?

At the close of the sale all the leftover goods were packed in boxes to be taken to the Welfare Industries in Vancouver where all usable goods will be passed on to those in need.

Donors to the Rummage Sales may rest assured that nothing is wasted; most goods are purchased by local bargain hunters while the rest are used in Vancouver.

Squamish Lions send books to Ghana

The Squamish Lions Club recently sent books to Ghana and these were most welcome. The following clipping and picture along with a letter from the chairman of the board of Trustees of the Winneba Preparatory School mentions their delight at receiving the books.

The school is a non-profit making international institution being financed by interested citizens at Winneba, Ghana to provide preparatory education and serve as a demonstration school for the three local training colleges.

Gordon F. Lloyd, a brother of W. A. Lloyd of Squamish, is head of the English department at the school. President, Squamish Lion's Club, Dear Mr. President, On behalf of the teachers, students and Board of Trustees of the Winneba Preparatory School, I would like to thank you most sincerely for the books which you have sent to our school. I cannot express how useful the books will be to our school and to the children who attend the school. We are most grateful for this gesture of international good will. The school has now been in operation for one week; and I might add that in spite of the shortage of equipment, it has been a successful week. The Colleges have already contacted us to use the school for demonstration purposes and we look forward to a successful first year of operation. In closing, let me again express our sincere thanks to you for your help and support. I have enclosed two copies of a picture showing Mr. Lloyd presenting the books to the teachers and some of the students of the school.

E. Acquah —Harrison Chairman Board of Trustees Winneba Preparatory School.

There'll always be rummage!

This is the general feeling of the ladies of the Alpha Unit of the UCWO who held their fall Rummage Sale in the United Church Hall on October 21. They cannot help but marvel at where it all comes from and how much there is —and how many people come in search of bargains.

The most persistent shoppers were two little girls who are all set to enjoy a game of "dressing up". They bought a hat, came back for a very special dress, returned for a pair of shoes and finally, as goods were being packed away, asked for a certain green dress. Suspecting that it was in a certain box, the smaller girl climbed the table as one of the ladies carefully raised the goods and

By DOUG BOYD

The regular meeting of the Squamish Kinsmen Club was held Tuesday, November 14, at 7:30 p.m.

Guest speaker for the evening was Ray Bryant, Chairman of the Squamish Recreation Commission. Mr. Bryant, a former Kinsmen from Ontario, gave the Squamish Club an outline of the Commission's activities in the area, and offered a few suggestions as to how the Kinsmen could help increase the recreational facilities for Squamish.

The Fall Zone Meeting of Lower Mainland Kinsmen was held November 12 at the Airport Inn, Richmond B.C. The guest speaker for the Zone meeting was Dr. Pat McGeer, head of the Kinsmen Laboratory of Neurological Research, University of British Columbia.

The next meeting of the Squamish Kinsmen will be held at 7:30 p.m., Monday November 27, at the Squamish Hotel Banquet room. Each member is urged to bring a guest, as there will be a film and guest speaker to help explain to the guests just what Kinsmen Clubs are all about. All young men 21 years of age and over are invited to attend this meeting.

Britannia Fire Brigade adopts destitute child

The Britannia Beach Volunteer Fire Brigade applied for the adoption of a child under the Foster Parents Plan and recently received the following letter.

Dear Friend:

It is with deep gratitude that we welcome you as a foster parent. We are certain that you will derive a great deal of happiness from extending the hand of love and friendship to a destitute child overseas.

Your payment of $192 has been received. After December the 31st you will be sent a receipt showing all your payments to PLAN for the year. We know that you are eager to "meet" your Foster Child by mail but we must ask you to be patient. Often there are unavoidable delays overseas and the processing does take time.

Information on how to write your child etc., will be sent to you with a photograph and case history. Your payment will not be used for your child's support until you have received the case history and photograph in the packet containing all necessary information.

If you have any questions about PLAN's program and how it works, please write and we'll be glad to answer you.

Again, many thanks for your generosity, and be assured that as soon as possible the information about your Foster Child will be sent to you.

Sincerely,
Gloria C. Matthews, Executive Director.

Bouquets to you fellows. We hope you have a very merry Christmas.

Woodfibre goes to night school

A few of the local residents are taking advantage of some of the night school classes in Squamish. Ron Bernier and David Monk are going to English Grade XII on Wednesday. Dave is also taking Math XII. Mr. Bachelor was taking a course in carpentry but this has been cancelled as there were not enough students.

Four ladies are trying out their talents at the Painting for Pleasure class under Sheila Gibbons. These ladies are Mrs. V. Chadwick, Mrs. Mary Lynch, Mrs. Edna Smith and Mrs. Frankie Wickstrom. Anyone else wishing to try this course is welcome to come as the expenses are shared by all and so makes the course very inexpensive.

Twelve people have enrolled for the car driving lessons which started on Sunday, Nov. 5, at Woodfibre Elementary School. Pat McCawley of Squamish is the instructor.

Five people from Squamish and the Howe Sound School District will be attending the management techniques conference at UBC later this month.

This conference is open to trustees, principals, and other board personnel.

W. W. Baldry, principal of Howe Sound Secondary School and G. W. Hayes, principal of Pemberton Secondary School will attend for the full week from Nov. 24, to Nov. 29.

D. H. Campbell, district superintendent of schools will take in the Nov. 24 and 25 sessions while trustee T. J. MacDonald and secretary-treasurer F. D. Ross will attend the Nov. 27 to 29 sessions.

Mr. Sid Lloyd, who worked at Woodfibre and retired some years ago, will be residing with his son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Lloyd.

A belated baby shower was held at the home of Mrs. E. Stewart for Mrs. R. Kites and her baby on Nov. 2nd. A small group of her bowling team and friends attended the shower.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Flemming are taking a trip to their daughter's homes at Merritt during the shutdown. They will visit Mr. and Mrs. R. Harris (Linda) and Mr. and Mrs. R. Auclair (Brenda). The trip is really a hunting trip for Cliff with visiting on the way, as they are going on to Black Pool, B.C., north of Kamloops where Mrs. Flemming will visit her sister and family Mr. and Mrs. J. Stewart. The men hope to bring home some game.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig Lea recently were at Port Alberni for the funeral of Mrs. Lea's brother-in-law. Mrs. Joe Buss (Arlene Lea) has undergone a kidney operation and is recovering rapidly. Her young son, Craig, has been staying with Mrs. R. Bernier.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bewley had weekend visitors from Powell River, Mr. and Mrs. G. Lunney, on Oct. 30.

The Halloween dance, held on Oct. 27, was enjoyed by a crowd of 125. There were five lucky winners for prizes for the best dressed man and woman, most comical man and woman and the most original. The teen town dance the following evening was a huge success and the orchestra for both evenings was Evan Kemp's.

Beach PTA sees travel films

Members and guests of the Britannia Beach W.A. November meeting were delighted with the films and running commentary given by Mrs. E. Fullerton of their recent trip through Ireland.

Starting out from Belfast they took a twelve day tour through the towns, cities and country hamlets enjoying the sights of that so beautiful little country.

They also visited the peat fields from which much of the Irish fuel is manufactured and toured some of the large castles of which many are being taken over by wealthy Americans.

Another interesting part of their trip was a visit to a small copper mine. Mrs. Fullerton was particularly impressed with the absolute cleanliness of the towns they passed through and the scenic views they had captured on films along with the historical points of interest were very beautiful. Mrs. Fullerton has a very engaging and enthusiastic speaking voice which took her audience right along on the trip with them and a very enjoyable evening was spent by all.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Bus and taxi to share building

Travellers in the Squamish area will be pleased to find the Squamish Coach Lines and Squamish Taxi Company sharing the same building on Cleveland Ave.

This will prove a boon to people who come into town and require local transportation, especially with the cold, wet winter months coming on. The taxi company is moving into the portion of the building formerly occupied by the Howe Sound Beauty Nook which has moved into the corner shop at the Chieftain Hotel while the Coach Lines will be moving from their present offices at the rear of the bowling alley.

The change will place both businesses on the main street and the large parking lot adjacent to the building will be used by the busses.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. MacKenzie and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hendrickson left last Friday for a holiday in Hawaii.

Ike Patterson, who is working for a radio station at Port Alberni, was recently home for a weekend and would be interested in hearing from anyone who would care to write to him.

It was nice to see lights shining from the three houses across the road where three of my neighbours had moved from.

Mr. and Mrs. Butler are residing in the house formerly owned by Mr. A. Stark.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Husted are moving into the Brownlee house and Mr. and Mrs. Buthe who had the misfortune to have the house they were living in at the Beach ruined by mud during the excessive rain storm have moved into the house just vacated by Mrs. Roy Clark and her family.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to take this opportunity of thanking the management and the many employees of the PGE Railway for their kind wishes for a long and happy retirement, also for the beautiful engraved wallet and enclosed cash donation, on my retirement on Nov. 2nd, 1967 after 44 years of service with maintenance-of-way.
