DONATES MOTOR FOR FIRE TRUCK

Mamquam fire hall recently reported their fire truck required work done to the pump and some costly repairs and overhaul to the motor.

Harnor Logging Co. discovered a similar motor in a vehicle at their Furry Creek operations and this has been donated to the fire department. It was in good condition when last used by the previous owners of the Furry Creek operation.

Aldermen Bennett and Bellis were instructed to go see about getting the motor and pump repaired, or if the latter is not feasible, getting a new pump.

Alderman Bennett and Bellis were instructed to go ahead with the project and make the truck operable as soon as possible.

Dyking program now underway

The dyking program on the Squamish River started this week with the work being done by local contractors under the supervision of the district with engineering services supplied by the provincial government.

Two areas will be dealt with at this time. One is from the former Meehan property south of the Paradise Valley Horse Ranch to the south end of Cottonwood Drive; the other is near the PGE railway shops where some 2000 feet of river bank will be dyked.

Rock for the project will come from the pit on the Mamquam near the rifle range for the lower dyke and from the rocky bluffs at the back of the Mackenzie Ranch for the upper portion of the program.

Off highway trucks which can carry larger loads than average trucks will be used to carry the rock fill. Actual rip-rapping may not begin for some time as a road has to be opened up to one rock pit and the rock must be drilled and blasted ready to build the dykes.

Mayor P. J. Brennan said the preliminary work would be in location and preparation of the sites for the dyking program.

A precedent for this form of dyking was set last winter when the Mamquam River threatened the golf course and houses in the shops area. At that time the municipality undertook to supervise the work and costs amounted to much less than they would have been under conventional methods of doing the dyking.

At that time far more work was done for the sums allotted than had been anticipated. The mayor pointed out that this was because equipment could be used which was idle during the winter when other construction was at a minimum.

The ideal time for river control and dyking work is during the winter when snow and cold weather makes local streams much lower than usual.

CHRISTMAS STORE HOURS

Local merchants will be open three evenings during the week immediately preceding Christmas.

Store hours will be till 9 p.m. on Dec. 9 and 20 and also on Dec. 23 but stores will close at 6 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 21 and Christmas Eve, Dec. 24.

Stores will be closed on Christmas Day and Boxing Day and also on the day after New Year (unofficially known as Wrestling Day).

Store hours were determined at a meeting of the retail merchants in the Chieftain Hotel last week.

Interior interests propose deep sea terminal for Squamish

By Rose Tatlow
Canadian and Japanese interests announced last week that feasibility studies for a deep sea terminal at Squamish to handle products from the interior are being made.

Details of the plan were unveiled at a dinner meeting in Squamish with municipal officials and interested businessmen. Win Stothert, president of Stothert Engineering, which is making the study, was the principal speaker.

Finlay Forest Industries, who propose to build the terminal, is composed of two Japanese partners and Cattermole Timber Ltd. The B.C. company, which owns 50 percent of the joint venture, has timber harvesting rights in the Rocky Mountain Trench while the Japanese firms are Sumitomo Forestry Co., the oldest timber industry in Japan, and Jujo Paper Mfg. Co. Ltd., which is now the largest pulp and paper company in Japan.

First phase of the terminal would see construction of one ship berth and creation of part of the land fill at the mouth of the Squamish River. 150 acres of PGE foreshore property would be utilized for the project. A shipping channel 2150 feet long must be dredged to a depth of forty feet. This will involve the removal of 1.8 million yards of gravel.

Precedents have been established whereby the federal government pays 50 per cent of the cost of approach channel dredging but there is no obligation for this to be done. However the company has made application to the federal authorities for this dredging.

Dyking must also be done to prevent excessive silting after the channel has been dredged. A request has been submitted to the provincial government asking that this be done before the spring of 1970.

Dredging would develop a 50-60 acre site and the plan is to provide two main berths with the work being done in two stages. The first would be 600 feet long by 60 feet wide and would be a lumber assembly area with an adjacent covered warehouse for pulp storage. The second stage would see the channel extended 700-800 feet for a lumber assembly area the same size as the first stage.

The terminal would be available to other shippers who might wish to use it and studies are being made to see what other products could use the docks.

Length of the shipping channel has been determined by soil consultants who claim it must be far enough inland from 900 feet deep How Sound to prevent the docks from slipping off the silt shelf which lies at the mouth of the river.

If the company proceeds with the development, dredging should start early in the year and the first phase of the terminal should be in operation by the end of 1970.

Finlay Forest Industries is building a sawmill and pulp plant, estimated at $25 million, at Mackenzie, one hundred miles north of Prince George on the shores of the reservoir behind the Peace River dam.

The sawmill, which will start production in the middle of next month, will initially produce 70 million feet of lumber per year and this will be doubled by 1973. The pulp mill is scheduled for completion in 1970 and will ship 112,000 tons of pulp per year.

Stothert said if dyking is done as planned and shown in the reports already prepared, a large area east and north of the proposed docks could be reclaimed for industrial use.

Tremendous co-operation had been received from both FMC Chemicals, just east of the proposed terminal site, and the PGE Railway.

Marchant, Llewellyn for School Board

Aldermen A. W. Hendrickson and Dr. L. C. Kindree were returned to a further two year term on council in last Saturday's election. Also elected for a two year term was Sam Bonde, who made his first bid for public office.

Mayor P. J. Brennan was returned for a two year term by acclamation.

Mrs. C. Marchant was re-elected to the school board closely followed by Don Llewellyn, making his first bid for public office.

Standing of the candidates was as follows: A. W. Hendrickson 436; Dr. L. C. Kindree, 420; Sam Bonde, 279; Mae Harris, 230; Alice Makowichuk, 191; Tony Walters, 147 and Denis McDougall, 60.

For school board the vote was Margaret Marchant, 457; Don Llewellyn, 429 and C. I. Walker, 291.

A total of 620 ballots were cast in the election. This is just over one third of the 1800 eligible to vote in the election.

Poor weather, with snow and heavy rain can be credited with the poor turnout. Hendrickson and Kindree led in every poll except Brackendale where Alice Makowichuk was out in front, and in Woodfibre where Mae Harris placed in the first three.

Veteran alderman A. W. Hendrickson and Dr. L. C. Kindree have always led the polls in any election they have ever entered with Hendrickson once polling the highest percentage of votes of any candidate in British Columbia.

The race for a seat as director of the Regional District in the Pemberton area was handily won by T. B. M. Fougberg, who was also re-elected as school trustee by acclamation last month.

Fougberg had 41 votes, followed by H. Ayers and John Ronayne with 26 each with J. W. Moore polling 12 votes.

Results of the seat on the Regional District for the Lillooet area were not final with the poll from Pavillion not having reported. Pawloski was leading with 28 votes to Basky's 17.

The results by polls are as follows:

Five retire at Britannia Beach

5 Anaconda employees will be guests of honor at a party given for them on the 21st of December in the upper club room. Two of them Mr. Crema and Mr. Pistona are already retired and the other three Tom Reyburn, Ken Fristoe and Jack Moore, will retire at the end of the year.

Mr. Angelo Crema first started at Britannia on January 5, 1925. He left in May, 1932 and returned in July 1933 and stayed on until the shut down in 58 put him out of a job so he found employment at the Squamish Hotel. He returned to Britannia in 1965. Ill health forced this retirement in May of this year.

Mr. Silvio Pistona first hired on at Britannia Mining and Smelting on September 24, 1935. He left in May 1944 came back for 3 months in 1947 then came back in August 1949 and worked till ill health forced him to retire in October 1967.

Mr. Tom Reyburn came to Britannia in 1918 left in 1919 then returned in 1922 working for a year at the Britannia store then transferred back into the assay office to his old position as assayers assistant. Three years later he was promoted to chief assayer, the position he has held ever since. Tom will retire at the end of the year.

Mr. Ken Fristoe joined Anaconda in 1945 as a travelling auditor and has been with the Company ever since with the exception of a year 1946-1947 when he was with one of the Kaiser Enterprises.

Mr. Jack Moore has been with Anaconda since 1964. He has been in mining for all of his working life starting out as a mucker and working all the way to mine manager. Mr. Moore was very active with Britannia's Centennial project. He was Centennial Committee Chairman.

Th very best wishes of the community go with them for health and happiness in their retirement.

LATEST METHOD of snow removal demonstrated by Alistair Mackenzie last week when he busily cleaned off the sidewalk in front of the Times office on Thursday morning.

Slightly cooler in November

Weather in November was slightly cooler but not quiet as wet as the average for the month. A high of 57 degrees and a low of 27 were recorded while 11.47 inches of rain fell during the month.

Average temperatures are high 58 and low 31 while the average rainfall for November as recorded during the past ten years is 12.63 inches.

Total rainfall to date is 88.64 inches, almost as much as the total for the full twelve months of last year when 89 inches fell.

December started off wet and sleety with a small amount of wet snow falling on Monday followed by a torrential down-pour which registered two and one half inches on December 3.

By Wednesday temperatures had dropped and the weather was clear and cold with a north wind blowing.

SQUAMISH, B.C. — WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1968

A start on river control

For more than five years this community has been asking for river control and this week the provincial government program to curtail the erosion caused by the Squamish River began.

The entire program for dyking the river from the mouth of the Cheakamus to the sea and to dyke portions of the Mamquam River, has been estimated to cost one million dollars. Approximately one fifth of that sum will be spent on work in the vicinity of the Paradise Valley Horse Ranch and the PGE shops. In addition a further amount of dyking may be done when proposed plans for a deep sea terminal are finalized.

Contractors in the community are being asked to supply the equipment and local people are being asked to apply for positions which must be filled in order to do the work. It will last for three months and bring a much needed winter project to the district.

The municipality is to be complimented on being asked to supervise the work under the direction of provincial government engineers. Their excellent record last winter when a portion of the Mamquam River was dyked, caused the Water Resources Branch to ask them to oversee the work.

A major start on river protection will be welcomed. If the government can be persuaded to repeat this action for the next few years, the entire Squamish-Mamquam flood area may be adequately dyked before too long.

An additional benefit from the dyking program would be the reclamation of additional lands which could be used for industrial sites. With proper protection, industry could be encouraged to come to Squamish. It's the first big step.

Laws can be changed

A number of people have written, phoned or come into the office to comment on the picture on the front page of a recent issue of the Times showing deer killed by a party of hunters who went to Vancouver Island.

The main complaint concerned the number of animals killed, with people saying this was unnecessary and no one required this much meat. It was called slaughter, or worse.

However the hunters were quite within their rights. The law does permit hunters to kill three deer apiece, with some restrictions on the sex of animals taken. Whether they are all killed at once or during the season, which lasts for several months, is immaterial.

We believe three animals are too many but until the laws are changed there is no use complaining or violently disapproving of the news picture. It is news!

But, if people feel strongly enough to complain to the Department of Recreation, to write to the minister stating they do not consider this in the best interests of conservation, then something may be done about it.

Laws can be changed. But they will only be changed when the people are concerned enough or annoyed enough to insist that something be done, and done immediately.

Already conservationists are concerned about the scarcity of some animals, saying that some species are in danger of extinction. This could happen, possibly not with deer, but certainly with sheep or with mountain goats, whose herds in this area have been decimated in recent years.

But if you consider seventeen deer killed by six men on a hunting trip, a needless slaughter, take the necessary action. Write to the minister and maybe the law will be changed. It's worth a try.

Then perhaps you could say the newspaper performed a public service in bringing it to your attention so the law, if it is a poor one, could be changed.

Strengthening family life

The family as an institution in the service of both individual and society is currently facing many grave challenges. If it is to meet these challenges, it must have intelligent, vigorous, consistent support on the part of those who recognize the dangers.

Like the human spirit itself, the family has an enduring quality and a capacity for resilience.

Nevertheless, certain developments in the lower mainland (in particular, West Vancouver and the North Shore), tend toward dangerous disintegration of family life and lead to abnormal strains and stresses. So great is the problem of families breaking up that society is forced to establish special institutions such as Brennan Lake school and to a lesser degree the Youth Resources Centres. These are a help but so much for the cure. How about getting at the cause.

The church, long a staunch defender of family life and values can do much to help and we would like to see an inter-religious commission whose goal is to strengthen family life.

As with most things, it is much easier to assess the problem than it is to propose practical solutions. But individual families can do far more than they have to invigorate home life — to overcome inertia, indifference and a lack of imagination.

For instance, parents who are sharing and confiding, who provide care and affection, security and trust, interest and attention and who are able to adjust to changing times while retaining essential values, should weather the storms that beat against the modern, North Shore home.

But an increasing number of children in West Vancouver and Capilano Highlands, according to social service records, come from homes where the family is in a state of virtual collapse.

It is especially important that the entire North Shore communities develop programs to effectively strengthen their homes. Nothing less than the future progress of mankind depends upon our finding ways to foster a rich and satisfying family life.

A Westmount Western

The sharp bark of a gun in the dark of the night. A smashed windshield. Glass blasted into the front and back seats of the car.

Riots in the ghettos? No, indeed.

Someone with a gun in the Westmount district of West Vancouver waiting for a car to come up 31st Street approaching Thompson Crescent.

Thinking and responsible parents have been shocked at accidents in Westmount. There could have been another one at 6:30 p.m. a week ago Thursday. We ask the parents in Westmount area: Just where was your son at that time?

Police say they confiscated a BB gun in the area on that night. But this blast was not made by a BB gun. And the police further admit that it was the fourth such incident in recent weeks.

The police are not always successful solving the dangerous problem as the culprits are hard to find in the dark and behind the protective skirts of permissive parents.

The Times solicits the assistance of all parents in the Westmount area to check their youngsters for firearms before someone is seriously hurt or killed and criminal charges laid.

SNOW TRANSFORMED the old channel behind the high school into a winter wonderland last week.

HOWE SOUNDINGS

Didn't it rain last week! From the way it was coming down when I went to Vancouver on Tuesday morning I was wondering if there was going to be any road left at all! Water was pouring down every rock face, the creeks were all full, Shannon Falls was leaping far into the air as it foamed down the mountain and it's a good thing they put the Stoney Creek bridge in or it would have been out again.

But water was running everywhere and the houses at Britannia near the north end of town were surrounded by run-off water.

Then it cleared up Tuesday evening and the mountains were beautiful. At midnight they were etched against the sky, their white crests glittering in the moonlight. Makes it worth while to live in Squamish when we get a night like that!

The first snow fell the preceding weekend but it was wet and sloppy and didn't last long. However for a short period the trees were edged in white lace as the snow lay on the branches.

Some youngsters were most disappointed though when they tried to go sleigh riding on Sunday only to discover their father couldn't take them high enough up the mountain to really have fun. All they did was get soaking wet.

Snow is for children! We adults just don't seem to like it that much. I know as I get older I find I like the snow less and less. On the ground at sea level that is.

It looks beautiful on top of the mountain. But I prefer to have it stay there so all the people who want to play around in it can go up there where it stays nice and crisp and white.

Down here it just gets wet and sloppy, it has to be shoveled, it makes it difficult to drive and I hate having to put boots on every time I step out the door. So I guess I am just getting older.

Its almost time to put up the office Christmas tree again. There's something about a tree that appeals to even the most sophisticated. And the children love them! The colors, the reds, blues, greens and silvers are so brilliant and the fragrance of the evergreens seems to fill the whole building.

I don't think I shall ever grow too old to enjoy a Christmas tree. Or the lights. By the way, doesn't the main street look lovely with lights in front of many of the stores, the lighted trees on top of the roof in the Mackenzie Plaza and all the other decorations as well as the houses which are getting ready for the holiday season.

The little birds are coming around for their winter handouts and soon the bird feeders will have to be kept full for them. Crumbs, seeds and suet seem to be their main favorites and I can remember one year my small grandson and I melted suet and filled it with seeds. We then put it in little paper cups till it set (with a loop of string set in the fat) and after it had hardened put it on the branches of a small evergreen in the yard.

You should have seen the birds! They loved it. Not only did they sit on the branches eating the suet and seeds but they kept up a constant twittering as they did so. He spent hours watching them.

I can also remember, and my husband will bear me out on this story, making hot cakes that turned out to be so tough you could hang them on the clothesline with clothes pins for the birds. Only the bluejays were hardy enough to get those. You can guess who makes the hot cakes in our family.

Did you hear about the little boy who had his heart set on a 'Ride - A - Roo' for Christmas and was most perturbed when the snow started to fall recently? He asked his dad if he would be sure to clean off the driveway just as soon as possible cause it had to be clear so he could ride his toy when he got it.

And just imagine how frantic his parents are trying to get him a summer toy when they're just not available. Between their parents, other relatives and friends I think every toy shop in Vancouver as well as North and West Vancouver were canvassed to see if someone had one left over from the summer trade. But it looks like he'll just have to wait until next summer. But we hope he has a merry Christmas anyway with lots of other toys and goodies.

THE COUNTRY PHILOSOPHER

By A. B. C.

Do hope you are all getting into the Christmas spirit folks! Like spendin' all your money and hoping that what you buy the recipient will like. Must say the stores here have lovely displays of gifts for Christmas and I think at reasonable prices.

So please do your shopping in your own hometown and get your parcels and cards into the mail. Make sure they are all addressed clearly with the right addresses and watch that postage as the postal rates on cards has changed.

I hear that the wrestling matches at the school were pretty good and very well attended. This is good. Perhaps they will have wrestling here more often now. I'm sure that all who attended really enjoyed it.

Mean't to thank the fellow that ran into the pole here a few Saturdays ago. It was nice of you to wait until the movie ended before you hit it. Yeah, "The End" just came on the screen and "The End" it was, off went the TV lights and all. Hope the fella's okay. Seems they always put these poles in the wrong place, eh, fella?

Congratulations to Mrs. Plunkett on winning the Hospital Auxiliary's Christmas cake draw! And let me tell you it's real delicious cake. I know!

By the way Joe (I'm blamin' you) you'd better watch what you print — in my last week's column it looks as if I'm saying that Pat, our mayor, is a rat! You've got "so glad to hear that Pat, etc. . . !!!!!!!"

And by the way Howe Sounder, in regard to a picture of our Joe, just send him to a Sportsman's Dinner and he'll never know if it was him or not!!!!

Folks, please don't forget to get your Christmas tree from the Boy Scouts. It's much easier, cheaper, and at the same time you are making a donation to a worthwhile group, the Boy Scouts.

My, it's just about time to start wondering who is going to have the New Year's Baby. How many I wonder are holding back?

Now let's get the names down for last week's picture, or should I say, of many weeks ago! I admit it is an old picture and was kinda thinkin' perhaps Joe was going to wait that long to put it in the paper!

Third row, L. to R.: David Morrison, Mike Cooper, Barry Hunt, Brian Buckley, James Eadie and the last fella, just can't remember his name; believe in some way he was related to the Judd family. Any one know?

Birthday greetings go out this trip to Brenda Richardson, Wayne Drenka, Jeannie Kartwiski, Yvonne Kartwiski, Tom Kartwiski (boy what a lot of birthdays in one month for this family, eh?) John and Jeff Drenka, that's the Johnny Drenka's twins, and Dennis McKin-tuck.

Wedding anniversary greetings go out to Mr. and Mrs. John Wutzke, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bopp and Mr. and Mrs. Turbay.

Boy the kids are sure enjoying this snowfall but I don't think the adults are. Sure lots of people getting stuck and sliding around on the roads. Must say the crews were right there out plowing early and getting the roads cleared. I'd say

Paul ST. PIERRE, MP Coast - Chilcotin

OTTAWA — Our guest columnist this week is Hon. Jean Chretien, Minister of Indian Affairs and Northern Development. He is the youngest member of the federal cabinet, a lawyer from Shawinigan, Quebec.

He married his childhood sweetheart in 1957. She worked while he went to university. Thereafter they had children and in 1963, he came to Ottawa as an MP. I have never asked him why. Probably he had some reason.

Since January, 1968, he has been in the cabinet and since last autumn's reshuffle, he has been Minister for the Indians, of which he isn't one, and of the northern territories, 40 percent of the area of Canada — a land in which he has never dwelt.

(These remarks are intended to be neither laudatory nor critical. They are observations. The Indians, Yukoners, the Eskimos, the Conservatives, the Liberals and the voters of Saint-Maurice riding will all have their turn at criticism.)

He is a slim young man with a harried, anxious face. In the House of Commons he answers almost all questions in French, having been almost without any English until he came to Ottawa. However in public meetings when asked questions in English, he answers them very bluntly, with a minimum of equivocation and with practically no retreat to flowery euphemisms.

At an early meeting of the Parliamentary Standing Committee of Indian Affairs and Northern Development, Mr. Chretien spoke for 55 minutes of his plans and his department's present philosophy.

The excerpts in this column represent no more than about four of those 55 minutes, so they are, perhaps, unfairly lifted out of context. Being mere snippets of speech, they will also appear abrupt and disconnected. However, these are measured words, and worth study.

THE MINISTER SAYS: "The Indian and Eskimo people have their own objectives and goals, it is not the responsibility of the Government to define them. The Departmental role is to establish its own policies so that Indian and Eskimo individuals can determine and reach their own goals within the framework of Canadian society."

"It is the objective of the Government that Indian and Eskimo people shall be able to choose their goals for themselves and have the capability, training and the clear right to set about achieving them. There should be no social barriers preventing our Native people from pursuing their aims within our society and they must be given the opportunity to draw upon the resources of society to provide them with the necessary training and other assistance to bring those goals within their own reach."

"They must have the same degree of self-governing local institutions as other Canadians. They must have access to the same institutions and programs of government as other Canadians. They must have the opportunities to achieve for themselves their own aspirations."

"It is my intention to press the provincial governments to recognize the claims of the Indian people, as citizens of Canada to the same services and treatment as all other Canadians receive. I hope that further agreements can be made to provide services to Indians from the same agencies as other Canadians turn to in times of stress. I intend to take every opportunity to press this point."

"The Education program is progressing on the basis of making integrated schooling available with the consent of parents wherever possible. This policy has justified itself in the better academic record of students. They have suffered less from age-grade retardation. Eighty five per cent of those students who first entered school in 1945 were age-grade retarded by 1951, when they should have been entering Grade V. Only 13 per cent of those who entered in 1960 were so affected by 1966. This turn around is not the final answer of course. The rate is still too high and there must be further efforts made to accommodate the children within the system and to ease the adjustments."

"There is still a serious problem in the High School years and we continue to work to diminish the waste of High School drop-outs."

"In a way, this is a measure of progress; where once we were concerned that too few entered High School, we are now concerned that too few finish."

"Northern Canada must be developed to the greatest extent which is economically feasible and the degree of development must be enhanced by appropriate government action to make possible developments which, unaided, might lie fallow far too long. Development must take into account the needs of the people of the North — both Native and other — and it must be in the best interests of both Northern Canada and the nation."

"Northern developments must provide jobs for Northerners and it must enhance the country as a whole. It must keep pace with what can be done with the latest technology and it must seek new technologies to speed up that pace."

"It is not necessary for Indian people to give up their Indian identity in order to establish themselves with an acceptable standard of living. They may have to adapt some of their values and ideas to accommodate the society in which they earn their daily bread, but that society may have to change some of its ideas too. Each must yield something if the two societies are to fit together in harmony and ease."

"Chief Dan George of the Burrard Indians has said that when the Indians of the West Coast wanted to make a dugout canoe, they hollowed out a long straight cedar log and then sought another piece of cedar appropriately shaped to provide a prow for their vessel. They brought the two pieces of wood together and rubbed them, one against the other until they had a perfect, watertight fit. That is how it must be with two cultures, says Chief George, they must rub against one another, neither giving any more than the other until they achieve a perfect fit."

there are not many people who don't know them. Let me tell you though, it's a pretty darned old picture. The man is now retired. Know who Lou? Bye now, see you next trip if I don't get snowed in!

Elementary teachers attend conventionette

Elementary teachers in the Howe Sound-School District and a number of secondary school teachers attended the annual conventionette in the high school on November 30th, and heard Jack Wainwright from the Department of Education and B.C. T.F. Science revision Program and Mrs. Roberta Hay speak on science and math in the elementary grades.

Wainwright outlined some of the science programs available for use in the elementary schools where teaching begins in the very first grades. Mrs. Hay, in the afternoon session, outlined some of the methods she uses in teaching math to the primary grades.

Wainwright said the science program should be starting in January but Squamish, which is one of the districts piloting this project in the elementary field, already has eleven of them.

"They really make more work for the teacher," he said. "Teachers must gather the materials, give them to the pupils, start them on the project and then watch them and evaluate their progress."

He suggested that some equipment could be circulated among schools in the district using a system similar to the library. This would use a central resource centre where all teachers wishing to use the materials could apply for them. District superintendent D. H. Campbell said something of this sort is being planned.

At present there are eleven units in the district starting with "Growing Seeds" and "Hot and Cold" for the beginners proceeding to "Living Things", "Magnets", "Adaptations", "Earth, Sun and Seasons", "Mystery Powders", "Atmosphere and Weather", "Mealworms" and "How I Began" and ending with "Astronomy" for the senior class.

M. A. Carrico, Brian Edwards of Pemberton and Trevor Harris of Stawamus asked to organize the program for science in the elementary grades.

During the morning Wainwright set the teachers to testing four powders, part of the "Mystery Powders" program for Grade 4 and when it was completed he summed up the results.

Following luncheon Mrs. Hay, co-author of the book "Number Patterns" and a former elementary supervisor who has returned to teaching, outlined some of the methods she uses in teaching math to Grade One.

"Children today are different from those who used to come to school," she said. "Noise and activity do not affect them. Indeed they work better in an active atmosphere."

From the very first day of school children use graphs; to show how many girls and boys in the class; how many have pets; how many have brothers or sisters, and in many other ways. Soon they learn the difference between more and less and symbols to designate them.

She also used sorting as a means of teaching. Sorting blocks or shapes by color, by various shapes, by whether they roll or not and in many other ways.

Measurements of length are always interesting and she said children found this very exciting especially when they discovered two wrist measures made one neck measure and two neck measures made one waist measure. "Try it sometime and see," she said.

Many other devices such as number cards, were also recommended. Teachers and others hearing Mrs. Hay were convinced children today learned much different kind of math than children ten or fifteen years ago.

PGE carloadings up in November

PGE carloadings in November, this year, were more than 20 per cent ahead of the same month last year. Totals were 8,023 and 6,630 respectively.

Total for the first 11 months, at 85,075, moved carloadings to the highest level in any one year since the Railway's inception in 1912. Carloadings for the first 11 months last year totalled 78,093 and for the full year, 83,764.

Showing large increases in November, compared with November last year, were shipments of lumber, wood chips, wood pulp and export wheat.

Kindergarten meeting

Mrs. Hilda Fairbanks, elementary supervisor for Howe Sound-School District, was the guest speaker at the Brackendale kindergarten meeting this fall.

She described how the home influences the child; from the day it is born until it starts to school, and later.

By the time a child is four years old he has learned half of what he will learn during his lifetime and an additional 30 percent is learned by the time he is 8 years of age. This means that by the time the child has completed his third or fourth year in school he knows 80 percent of what he will eventually learn.

This makes the kindergarten and elementary years even more important when it is realized how they can affect a child's entire life.

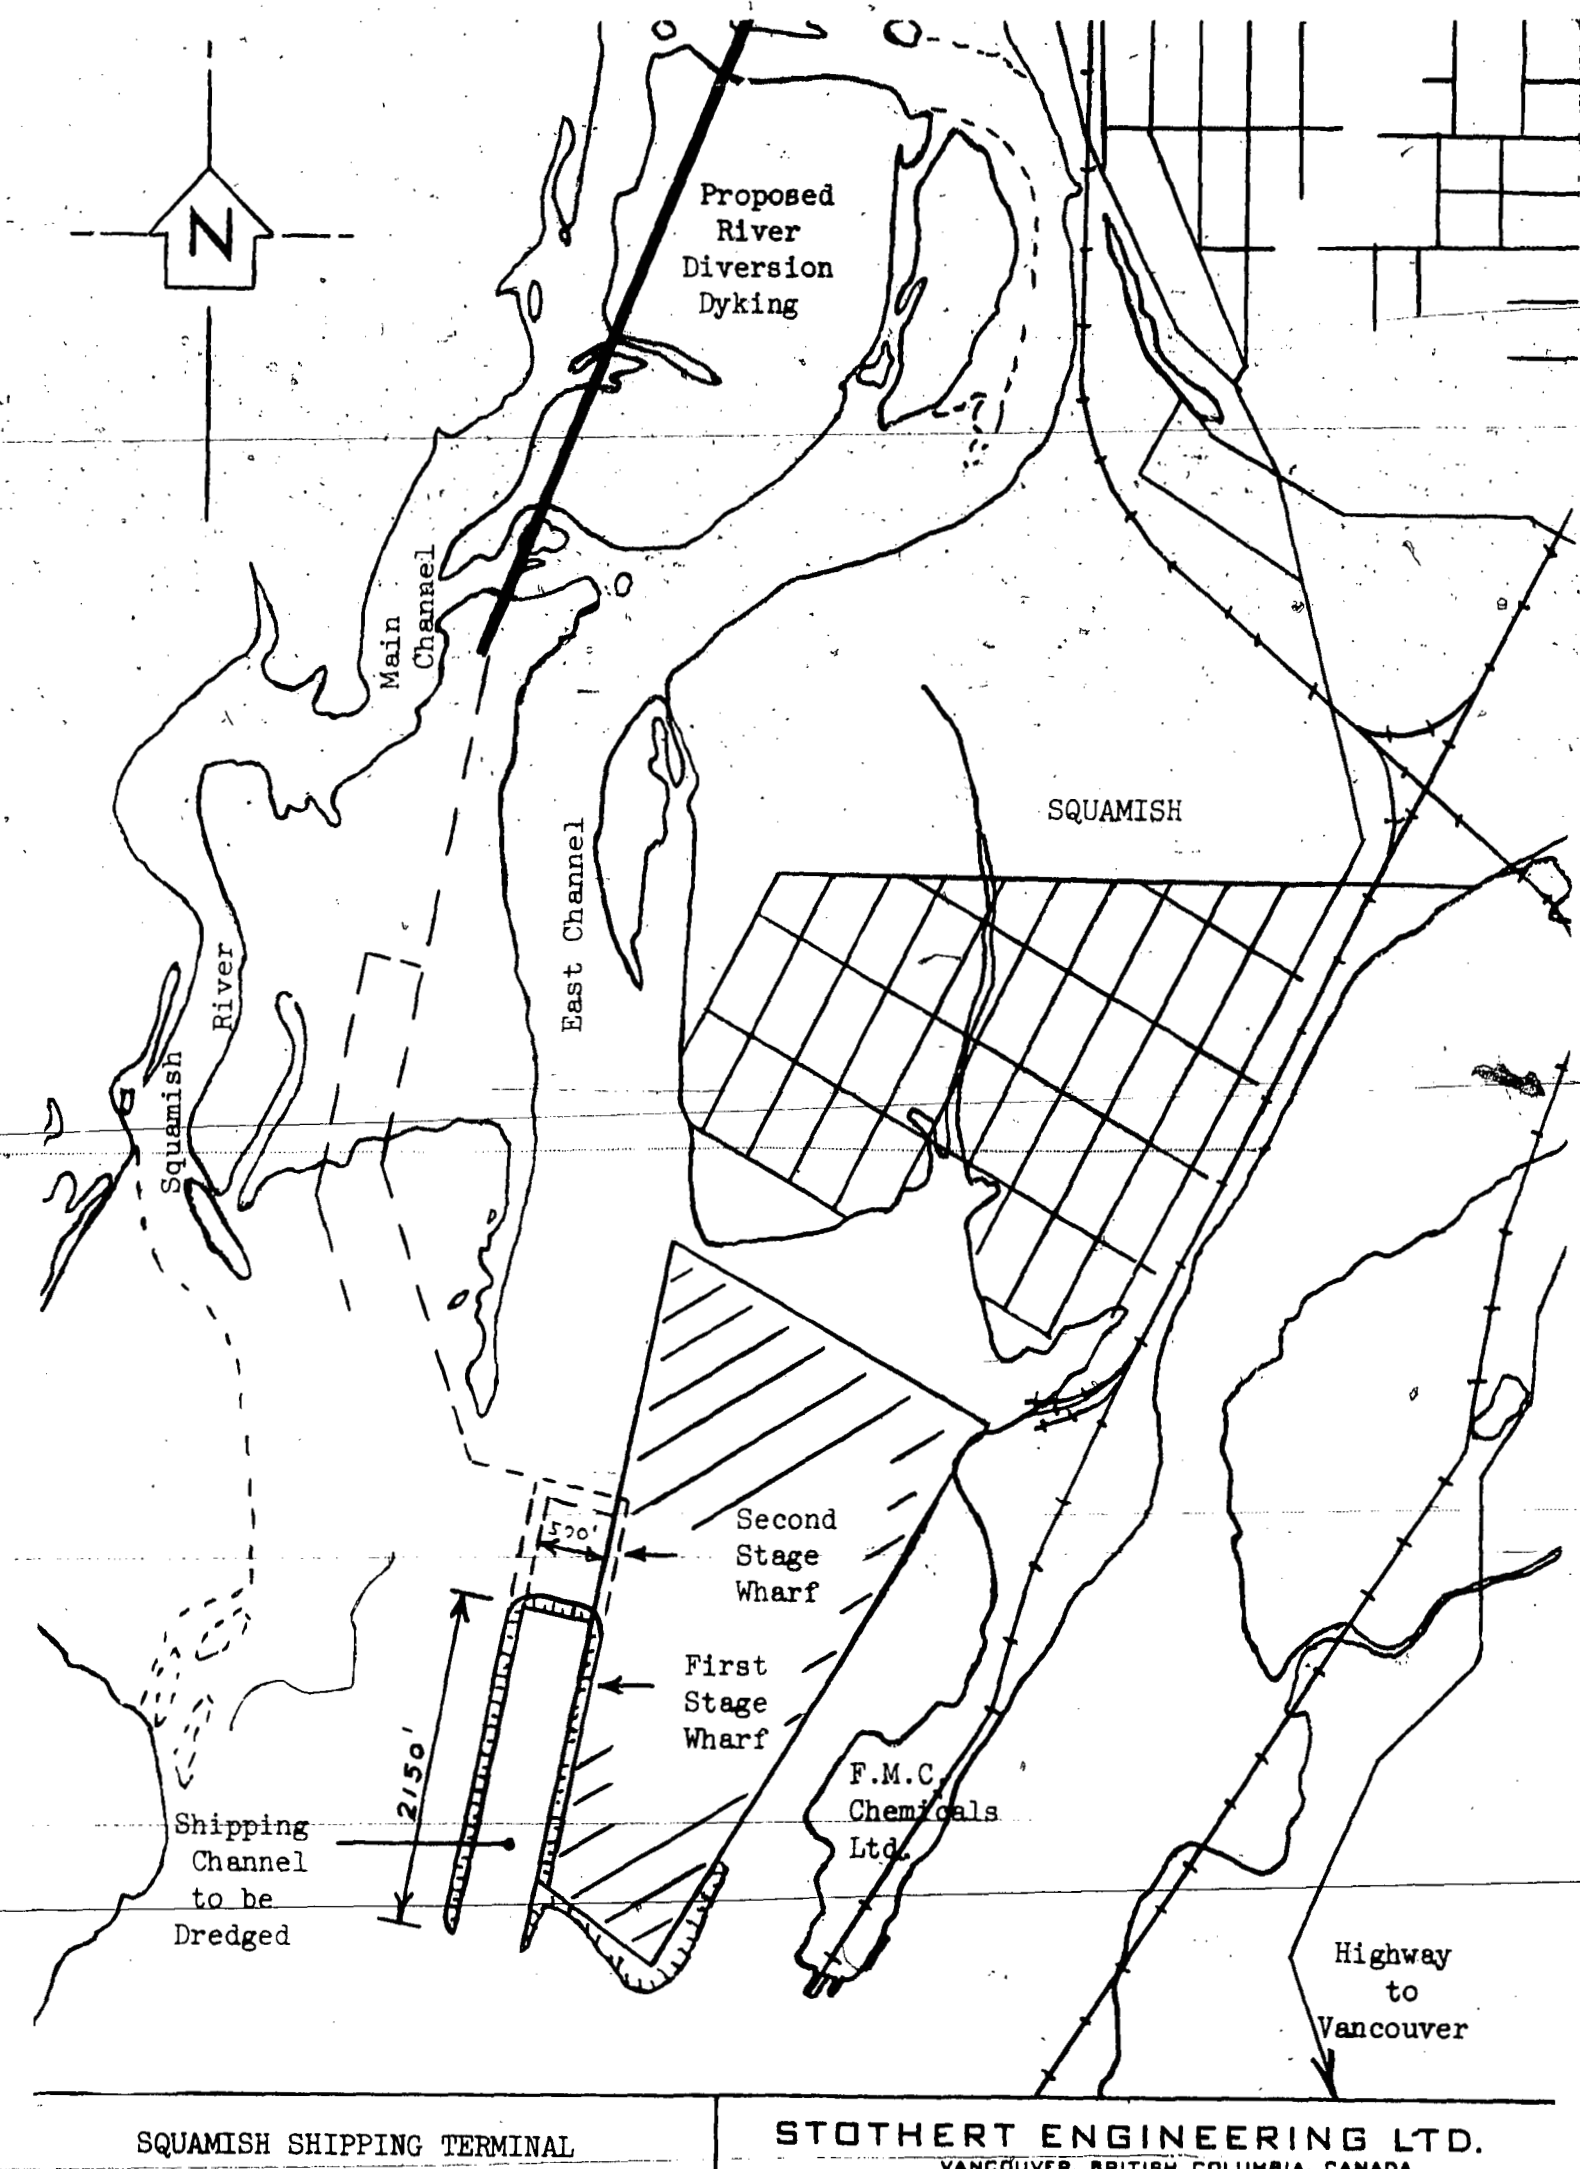

After Mrs. Fairbanks finished speaking, kindergarten teacher Mrs. H. McCulloch explained the purpose of kindergarten; to prepare a child for the more formal studies which will follow and to try and correct weaknesses before they hinder the student.

This would include social, physical and intellectual training and she explained how she worked with the children. While refreshments were served parents had an opportunity to watch the children work and see the equipment they use.

Message of Appreciation . . .

I want to take this opportunity of thanking all those who voted for me in the recent municipal elections.

Squamish terminal

Forest Co. Ltd., said relations with B.C. and Japan are growing closer and closer and three years ago when Cattermole Timber received the harvesting licence they began the study of the project. The report is expected in about two months and he hoped it would result in a fair deal between the two countries.

Elmer Rutley of the PGE lands department said the PGE are the people with the railway and the land which will be used. The railway company has entered into interim agreements with the companies represented and when the proposal comes to a head early next year, will take steps to bring it to a successful completion.

MLA Allan Williams said the terminal is a logical result of the government interest in expansion of the northern part of the province. He added that he had already been in touch with federal MP Paul St. Pierre, who is taking steps to see that the federal precedent will be carried out here as well.

"There are vast sums for port development in other areas," he said, "so they should support private developers who are willing to do the same."

Mayor P. J. Brennan drew a laugh when he said "if the government will drive the piling, we have enough harbour correspondence to supply the fill!"

Head table guests included Win Stothert of Stother Engineering Ltd., Jun Sato, Jujo Paper Mfg. Co. Ltd., Tokyo, Bob Cattermole of Cattermole Timber Ltd., Mayor P. J. Brennan, Yoshio Hayashi of Sumitomo Forestry, Japan, Elmer Rutley from the PGE lands department and MLA Allan Williams.

Invited to attend the dinner in the Legion Hall at Squamish were council members, members of the Industrial Development Commission, the Advisory Planning Commission, candidates for office and interested businessmen in the community.

Harbour first planned over fifty years ago

One of the first proposals for a harbor at Squamish was contained in a plan presented to the provincial government in 1919, almost fifty years ago.

At that time it was proposed the town be incorporated and a letter signed by A. McEvoy and now in the possession of G.S. Clarke stated "When the PGE is completed to Prince George (expected in 1921) that city will be considerably closer to Squamish than Prince Rupert."

He stated that Squamish would then immediately take its place as the salt water port for the interior of British Columbia and of northern Alberta and Saskatchewan, it does not leave too much time to put the place in shape.

Since that time Squamish has often been advocated as a deep sea port with the Chamber of Commerce attempting to interest the federal government in building grain elevators here and shipping Peace River grain through the port.

Some ten years ago a lumber assembly wharf was proposed but this was cancelled when the PGE built the southern extension. The most recent proposals came from P. N. Goode who recently outlined a plan for an assembly wharf to load the new super carriers which are being used to haul lumber and lumber products.

Interesting talk planned

Rev. Don Osborne will be speaking at the Squamish Pentecostal Assembly on Wednesday, Dec. 11; Friday, Dec. 13 and Sunday, Dec. 15. The subject of his talk will be L.S.D. versus Christ.

The talks are aimed at parents and teen agers and Rev. Osborne has worked with delinquent youth and with converted drug addicts in New York, Vancouver, Los Angeles and England.

Rev. Markham feels adults and young people alike will find the talks most interesting. Talks are at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday and Friday and at 11:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. on Sunday.

The shipping terminal proposed by Finlay Forest Products may be the port envisaged by those early planners some fifty years ago.

My sincere thanks to all who placed their confidence in me at the polls, Dec. 7th.
It will be my great responsibility in the next two years to uphold that confidence and prove your vote was not wasted.

Sincerely,
SAM BONDE.

CARD OF THANKS . . .

I would like to thank all those who re-elected me for another two years as their school trustee. I shall continue to work for the education of the students in this district to the best of my ability.

MARGARET MARCHANT.

I would like to thank all those who voted for me in last Saturday's election.
I hope that, during my term as school trustee, I shall prove myself worthy of the confidence which you have placed in me.

DON LLEWELLYN.

CHECK THESE TIME SAVING TELEPHONE TIPS

and make your Christmas happier

There is great joy in exchanging Christmas Greetings by telephone. So much so, in fact, that thousands and thousands of Canadians do so each year. As a result, telephone facilities become crowded with traffic and you may encounter delays in completing your calls, especially on Christmas Day.

You can avoid these delays. Just follow the telephone tips below:

FIRST Make a list now of those persons in distant places to whom you plan to place Christmas greetings calls this year. Jot down the area code and telephone number for each one. You can get these — without charge — through your operator, or by following instructions in your telephone directory for reaching out-of-province information directly.

Do this now so you won't have to fight heavy holiday traffic just to get your numbers. By being prepared, you'll save time with your Christmas calls, whether you dial them directly or assist the operator by giving her the number you want to reach.

SECOND Don't wait until Christmas Day itself, when circuits across Canada will be overloaded, to place all your calls. Spread them over the holiday season. Your family and friends will enjoy your calls just as much, and you'll be more certain of getting through without delay.

REMEMBER Low night rates apply after 6 p.m. daily and all day Sunday on telephone calls to anywhere in North America.

PREPARE YOUR CHRISTMAS PHONE LIST NOW. SPREAD YOUR CALLS.
And have a Happy Christmas.

New philosophy in secondary education

PART VI MATH
By Rose Tatlow

Two aspects of school mathematics are important in equipping students so they can cope with conditions we cannot foresee today, mathematics department head D. N. John at Howe Sound Secondary School said in his report on the changing philosophy in his subject.

"Man's knowledge is increasing so fast that it is expected to double in each six year period. Changes are so rapid it is difficult to predict an individual's needs ten or twenty years from now," he said.

"To cope with this, courses now contain a quantity of material concerning the structure of a mathematical system. We are now talking about defined terms, undefined ones and axioms which were once accepted without need of proving them," he continued. "If a student understands the structure of a mathematical system he should be able to apply this knowledge if the need arises."

Important attributes for any student going on to higher schooling are self-reliance and self-motivation. This can be developed by causing the student to meet situations in which he must make decisions about his own actions. This can be done, with guidance from the teacher, in pace of working, quantity of work done, help needed and other matters. He stressed that teachers must be resource people and leaders and students should learn to work by themselves.

"Two factors have created the interest in new mathematics," he said. "One is that technology and mathematics have been sparked by the space race; the other is the culmination of efforts of mathematicians and teachers to get newer ideas introduced."

New concepts in mathematics were introduced in the elementary and Grade 8 program some six years ago and students to

Stamps for cancer fund

The ordinary stamps on cancelled letters may not seem very important but they could bring about a breakthrough in the search for a cancer cure.

During 1967 the Grand Chapter of British Columbia, Order of the Eastern Star, raised $2,008.76 for cancer research through the collection by the various chapters of cancelled stamps. The local chapter is responsible for a portion of this sum and the Stamp Convenor, Mrs. D. D. Morrison, wishes to thank all those who helped with the local contribution. In addition to the ladies of the Squamish Chapter, many other people and some organizations such as the Girl Guides collect the cancelled stamps to help find a cure for this dread disease.

With so many Christmas cards going through the mail, this is a perfect time to gather stamps. When cut away from the envelope a border of one eighth of an inch should be left around the stamp.

Mrs. Morrison would be delighted to accept any contributions of stamps or to give further information on their collection.

day have all been taking these revised forms.

A special vocational math course for grades 8 to 10 pupils, is designed for students who have difficulty with ordinary school courses. Students and a team of teachers work together with the pupils receiving a great deal of individual attention. The students are encouraged to go ahead at their own pace, closely watched by a group of teachers who are aware of their problems.

Vocational students take courses which place a great deal of emphasis on computation, accuracy, and the solution of problems likely to be met in practice by vocational students.

Academic courses place more emphasis on the structure of mathematics.

Other fields of study are algebra, geometry, logarithms, trigonometry and matrices. Grade 12 studies include an introduction to the calculus.

He emphasized that courses are laid down in detail by the government but there is room for adjustment at the local level.

A number of methods of teaching are used. Students are encouraged to set their own pace, they may set their own homework, each one adjusting this to his own needs. However they must complete at least the core material of the course. Once this is done they can go as far beyond as they wish, investigating other aspects of the subject.

"We try to supply any extra studies which the student may desire," Mr. John said, "as long as we are sure he can cope with them. We encourage the students who work faster to dig deeper or work on other material of interest and value."

Students work in a number of ways. There are conventional lectures, small groups and individual attention is given to those who require it. "The teaching depends on the levels of the students and the difficulty of the work," he added. "The best ones require little lecturing."

Mr. John is in favor of flat topped tables which can be pushed together so students may have informal discussions. "When I hear them arguing across the table," he said, "I know they are interested."

Students in Grade 12 who have shown ability in mathematics are permitted, under suitable circumstances, to act as tutors in junior classes.

A close check is kept on work in the junior high school and as students mature they are encouraged to check their own work and seek help of their own accord.

Tests are held regularly, but these are not used primarily to award grades. Rather they are of value as they tell the students how much they have learned about the subject. They are then able to judge the quality and quantity of the work which they have done.

"These decisions by the students—how much homework to do, how to assess what they know as a result of tests, will be invaluable to them when they enter university," Mr. John said.

He stressed that the basic method of teaching is available and is used constantly. The teacher explains and discusses, while the pupils listen and ask.

"Modern teaching aids are used whenever possible. These include a film loop and cassettes with tape recorders. A film loop is really not suitable for mathematics but the tape recorders and cassettes would be useful as the teacher could record information which the student could use to refresh himself if he was having difficulty with some portion of the subject."

"I am impressed with the academic freedom in planning courses in B.C. as compared to Alberta," Mr. John said. "This, combined with the recommendations in Grade 11, give a teacher some form of pride. He can feel he is permitted to plan the studies for his students and also to judge whether the student is able to go on to advanced work."

He emphasized that the mathematics department is modern in its outlook and receptive to new ideas. It is not content with the existing arrangements and looks forward to the opportunity to improve its services.

DEREK JOHN, Department Head in Mathematics at Howe Sound Secondary School.

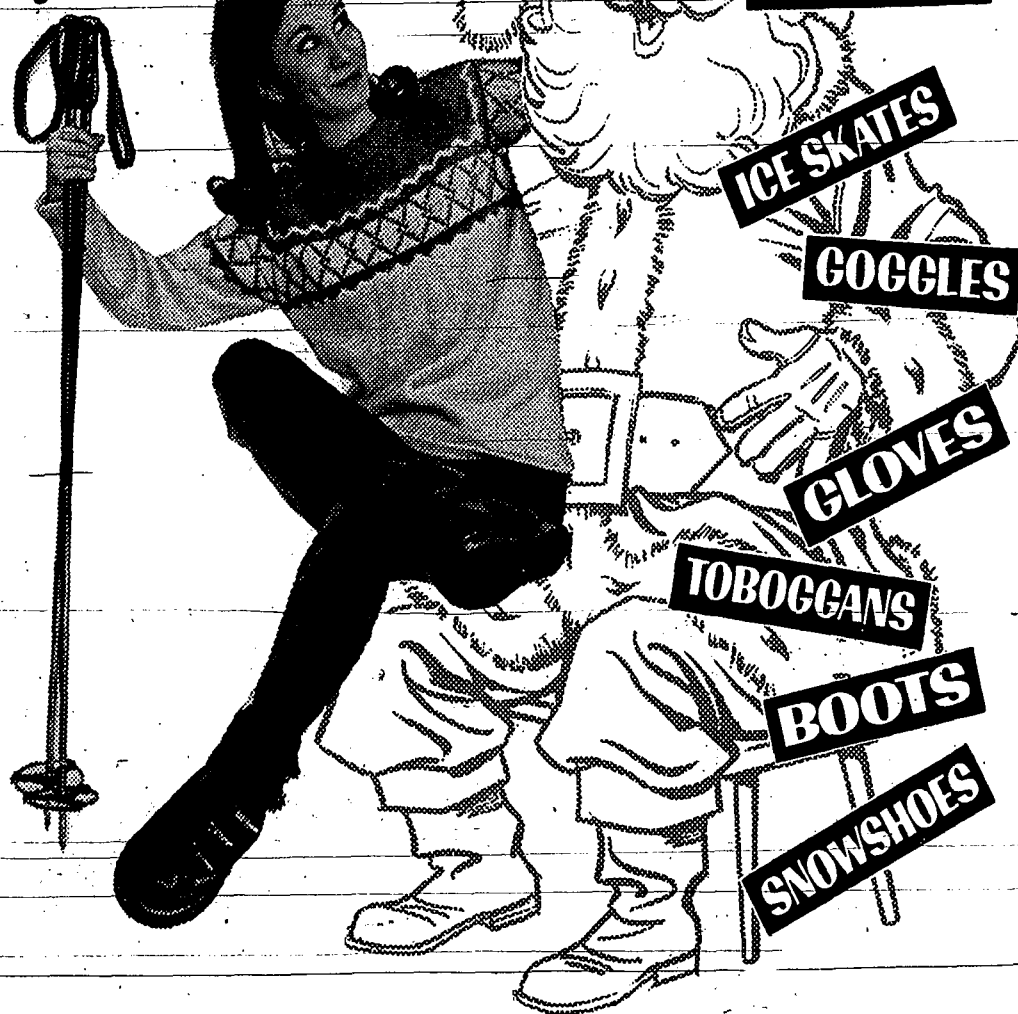

PLAYMATES FETE LISA WOOLLEY

Miss Lisa Woolley who is moving to Prince George with her parents was the guest of honor at a going-away party held at the home of Miss Christine Iverson on Tuesday, November 26th.

The young ladies enjoyed an evening of games followed by a repast of cake and chocolate milk. Lisa was presented with a large fluffy dog named Spoofy as a remembrance from her playmates.

Those wishing Lisa farewell and happy days in her new home were Judy Drenka, Trissie Dunn, Gina Thompson, Debbie McBride, and Kristina Sippola in addition to the young hostess.

Watch that holiday Christmas tree

That beautiful Christmas tree holding the centre of the stage at your home could easily become a menace if a few precautions are not carefully observed.

The brilliant wrappings could also be a menace but if a few simple rules are followed you should be able to enjoy the holiday without any fear that fire may turn it into a tragedy instead of a pleasant time.

The Joint Fire Prevention Publicity Committee of Canada makes the following suggestions to everyone at this holiday season:

— Your evergreen Christmas tree and its decorations are potential fire hazards. They head the list of a sensible family's preparations for a happy holiday.

— Your tree should be fresh. A dry tree readily sheds its needles. Keep your tree outdoors until you are ready to decorate. Indoors, keep the tree standing in water, after cutting off at least an inch from the butt. Replenish the water daily.

— Your electric lighting strings should be checked for frayed cords or short circuits. Buy only CSA approved sets. Use non-flammable decorations. Disconnect the lights when leaving home or going to bed. Candles, of course, constitute added hazards.

— Keep matches out of the reach of little hands.

— Clear wrappings away from the base of the tree as soon as the gifts are opened.

— Set the tree away from the fireplace. Do not block access to exits.

— Have plenty of large ash trays for the guests who smoke.

— Never leave small children alone or unattended in the home.

— Cookstove fires from oils or grease are an emergency. Smother the flames... a rug... baking soda... never water. If this doesn't do the job, get everybody out and call the Fire Department.

Soccer referees to go to school

A school of instruction for juvenile soccer referees will be held on Thursday evenings on January 9, 16, 23 and 30 between 7:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. in the Maple Leaf room of the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 118, 123 West 15th St., North Vancouver. Dan Kulai will be the instructor.

Since the continuation of juvenile soccer on the North Shore and in this area depends on an adequate supply of referees, as many people as possible are urged to take this training, including adults and boys currently playing in 3rd, 2nd and 1st Division. Those wishing to take the course are asked to contact Paul Christensen, F. D. Ross or Roy Penrose.

Brackendale Xmas program

Schools are planning to hold Christmas programs this year with Brackendale making the announcement that their program will take place on Wednesday, November 18.

Time of the program, which will be held in the evening, will be announced later.

Christmas holidays start on Friday, December 20 and the students do go back to school till January 6.

PEMBERTON UCW ELECTS OFFICERS

Mrs. F. Collister was elected president of the Pemberton UCW at the annual meeting at the home of Mrs. Cliff Ronayne on December 2.

It was a second term for Mrs. Collister and re-elected again were Mrs. L. Pickell, secretary; and vice-president Mrs. R. R. Mercer. Mrs. W. Oberson is treasurer for the third successive year.

Seventeen members, including three new ones were present and enjoyed the evening.

Two new films at library

For two months only the National Film Board has sent the local Film Library two exceptional films which should be of interest to film borrowers.

The first entitled "The Things I Cannot Change" is an actuality report about a low income family and two unfortunate weeks in the lives of its members. During this time the unemployed father is trying to find work; a tenth child is born; and the father is involved in a street fight and difficulties with the police. The purpose of the film is to create concern as to why conditions such as these exist and what might be done to remove the causes.

The second film "Indian Memento" depicts a thought-provoking visit to the Indian Pavilion at Expo, with an attractive young hostess as the guide. There are views of Indians at home, one being of the girl who appears later guiding visitors through the Pavilion. The view of Indian ways is enlightening but there is a feeling that lingers from even their proudest displays, that what the Indian has lost was more valuable than what he may have gained.

These two films are available only until January 31, so make your reservations now.

Legion Auxiliary elects officers

The Squamish Branch, Royal Canadian Legion Ladies Auxiliary, held the election at a Pot Luck Supper on Tuesday, December 3 with thirty members present. Christmas presents were exchanged.

Mrs. J. Lehman was re-elected president with Mrs. R. Watson as vice-president, and Mrs. M. A. Carrico, school vice-president.

Mrs. Bert Goss was elected standard bearer, Mrs. J. Highland as secretary and Mrs. B. Biglow, treasurer.

Members of the executive are Mrs. J. McNeill, Mrs. B. Acorn, Mrs. H. Hurford, Mrs. J. Shaw and Mrs. G. Doucet. Mrs. O. E. Reeve, as immediate past president, is also a member of the executive.

Steering committee for senior citizens project

Representatives of a number of local associations met in the Chieftain Hotel on Nov. 28, to discuss the possibilities and the need for some form of housing for senior citizens.

A steering committee was formed to look into a number of questions and to prepare the way for the project if it is decided to proceed with the proposal.

Volunteering to act on the committee were D. Boyd, W. J. Elliott, H. Hurren, R. Kuhn, C. C. Marchant, K. Ramus, A. Reynolds, Mrs. W. Ridgley and Rev. H. M. Wingfield. Alderman A. W. Hendrickson said there would also be a representative from council.

The committee was instructed to contact other organizations in the community and ask that representation be made at the next meeting to be held in the Legion Hall on Dec. 12 at 7:30 p.m.

C. C. Marchant of the Squamish Lions Club, who called the meeting, said the project had been discussed several years ago but dropped when it was felt there was no need for housing for senior citizens.

However in the past year or two opinion seemed to be changing and the club felt the community might be ready for such a project. However it was felt to be too much for just one group so the meeting of representatives from all local groups was called and MLA Allan Williams was invited to attend to speak on some of the steps which would have to be taken before such a plan could be put into effect.

Williams said he didn't think it was necessary to tell anyone of the advantages to be obtained from such a project. The mechanism is there, he said, all you have to do is qualify.

"Problems arise when older people live with younger ones," he said, "and often the elderly feel they are unwanted."

"The need for some form of senior citizens' house was recognized some time ago and a number of groups including churches, Lions and Kiwanis, have all become involved. Recently community service groups and churches have been banding together to assess the need, provide for it and make it work."

He said there was a need for single units as well as double ones; cited the possibilities of communal eating facilities and some form of medical or nursing care.

Funds are available from both the provincial and the federal government with the community having to raise ten percent. The provincial government provides 30 per cent and the federal government the remainder. Some of the regulations are: incorporate a non-profit society and register it; choose a site, and this must be close to the community; hire an architect, conduct a fund raising campaign and build your project.

The society must be a continuing one and it will see that proper supervision is maintained at all times. One stipulation is there must be no discrimination in race or creed. Occupants also must have fixed incomes of no more than $150 per month. Williams suggested the site selected should be one which can be expanded as the need arises. In many areas the municipality donates the land and if this is given to the society it can be assessed at the present rate and be part of the ten percent to be raised at the local level.

C. C. Marchant suggested a part of the municipality's 52 acres near the centre of town would be suitable.

Alderman A. W. Hendrickson said council had once given approval in principle to the project and he was sure this would again be forthcoming. He added that if a portion of the 52 acres might be suitable perhaps something could be done but this would be up to council. Marchant said he felt there was a great need for this type of housing and if a start was made right now the building should be ready within two years.

Attending the meeting were R. S. Kuhn, C. C. Marchant, E. A. Nicholson, K. Ramus and S. Rizun, Lions Club; Mr. Collins, W. St. Laurent and Mrs. W. Ridgley, Senior Citizens; A. Reynolds, Rotary; D. Boyd, Kinsmen; H. Hurren, Squamish Legion; A. W. Hendrickson, District of Squamish; Father G. Dunlop, St. Joseph's Church; Rev. R. Kelway, Baptist Church; Rev. H. M. Wingfield, Mrs. G. S. Clarke and Mrs. M. Stack, Squamish United Church; R. Armstrong, St. John's Church; W. J. Elliott and MLA Allan Williams.

Mrs. J. Peterson heads auxiliary

Mrs. J. Peterson was elected president of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch No. 181 at Woodfibre at the annual elections on Monday, Nov. 25.

Mrs. R. Huether is vice-president, Mrs. W. Wickstrom, second vice-president, Mrs. B. Lloyd, secretary and Mrs. K. Moyes, treasurer. Mrs. G. Sharp was elected sgt.-at-arms.

Committee chairmen are: Ways and Means, Mrs. L. Embree; Sick and Welfare, Mrs. B. Yonin and Social, Mrs. D. Stephens.

Mrs. C. Teichman, the outgoing president, wished the new slate of officers well in their endeavors.

The Ladies Auxiliary will be holding a Christmas Bake Sale in the library on Dec. 5 and will also be having a turkey draw and doll raffle in the next few weeks.

Winners at the recent bridge night were Mrs. Evelyn Ramsay followed by John Chadwick with Mrs. W. Wickstrom in third place.

Allan Barr good samaritan

The weekly award for being a Good Samaritan must surely go to Allan Barr, the young son of Norman and Doreen Barr.

When the snow began to fall last Wednesday evening Allan was so excited he could hardly sleep. He kept putting his hand out of the window to make certain that it was still snowing; sleep was the farthest thing from his mind.

About three a.m. his mother thought she heard a door close and got up to investigate. It was Allan, home again after getting dressed, going outside to clean off the steps of the Barr home and then going over to Mrs. Morrison's to sweep off her steps.

Just how many of us have got out of bed at three a.m. to do a good deed?

Sam Bonde tops senior citizens' bowling

At the Senior Citizens' Bowling session last week Sam Bonde led the group with a high two game total of 397, followed by Hank Wulf with 374 and Jean Ridgley with 351. The top three in the singles were Jean Ridgley with 229, then Hank Wulf with 208 and Sam Bonde with 199.

The Woodcutters had a team total of 1172. Bumblebees next with 1160 and the Fireflies third with 992.

Other good scores belonged to Mrs. Ellen Goss with a high single of 169 and a high two of 274; to Bob Bruce with a high two of 323 and Ellen Binning with a high two of 267.

Scotiabank card

Bank introduces "Instant Money"

The Scotiabank Cheque Guarantee Card, a foolproof identification document, with a color photograph of the holder and a guarantee from the bank that cheques issued under it are as good as cash, has come to Squamish.

The card holder can write a cheque anywhere for anything and for any sum up to one hundred dollars, and as long as the person to whom the cheque is written confirms that the face, name and signature match the ones on the card, the Bank of Nova Scotia guarantees to honor the cheque. If the sum is larger than one hundred dollars, more cheques may be used, to make up the sum but no single one can be more than one hundred dollars.

Why is this different to most credit card plans? Scotiabank manager Gene Klymchuk explained that it does not require the enrolment of merchants in a plan, the use of imprinting machines or the payment of a percentage of the transaction to the bank. It can be used anytime anywhere, just like cash.

The person writing the cheque pays only the standard service charge for personal current account or bank cheques. The customer receives a monthly statement along with the month's cancelled cheques. There is a small charge of two dollars for the card itself, to cover the cost of photography and production.

Although not considered a "credit card" Mr. Klymchuk explained the amount of credit can be arranged when the card is issued, with the maximum credit set at one thousand dollars.

If it should be overdrawn, the customer pays only one percent per month interest on the amount of the credit used. The card is available upon application to anyone whom the bank considers to be responsible for the potential liability created by possession of the card.

One of the main features of the card is the full-color portrait of the card holder taken in the bank branch. The card cannot be altered as it is sealed in plastic and the minute this is peeled off the card becomes blank.

The name, number, signature and full color portrait of the holder are on the single sheet of film imbedded in plastic. It can only be used by the holder, who can be identified by picture as well as signature, so is of no use to anyone if the card should be lost or stolen.

It is safer than cheques because the picture as well as the signature is needed for identification. He explained there are five rules on the back of the card which must be followed when it is used. The cheque must not exceed one hundred dollars; it must be printed with the customer and branch names appearing on the card and it must be signed in the presence of the party to whom it is payable by the customer whose photograph and signature appear on the card.

The payee writes on the back of the cheque the identification number on the card and the cheque must be issued before the expiry date on the card and must be deposited promptly by the payee.

The camera to take the picture and forms for the cards are available at the local branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia and Mr. Klymchuk is sure many customers will take advantage of this service which provides money when you may need it without having trouble with identification.

MRS. JEAN EVANS explains how simple it is to have your picture taken for a Scotiabank Cheque Guarantee Card while Mrs. Hilda Larcombe poses for her at the local branch of the bank.

Badges for Junior Wardens

Junior Forest Wardens who passed their tests received their bronze badges from local Forest Ranger M. N. "Tag" Neighbor, at a brief ceremony in the Parish Hall last Wednesday evening.

After the presentation he gave them a brief talk on forestry and conservation. Leader Bill McArthur said this badge means they are now actually Junior Forest Wardens and is one of the most important ones they will earn. The group has been working together since early in September.

A trip to Evans Lake was planned for Saturday and the boys will visit the camp which they hope to attend next summer.

Dave Watt at A & H Meats

Dave Watt, who came to Squamish five years ago to work in the butcher shop at Mackenzie's Dept. Store, has joined John Archer and John Hill at A & H Meats, commencing Monday, Dec. 9.

Watt, who was born in Scotland and has been in the meat business since he left school at 14, came to Canada six years ago. He worked for a time in Vancouver where he learned Canadian meat cutting methods before coming to Squamish.

A local resident and retiring president of the local Canadian Legion Branch, Watt lives on Vancouver St. with his wife, Peggy, and daughters, Jane and Christine.

Snow halts local logging operations

The first heavy snowfall of the year which dumped up to a foot of snow on the Squamish area, temporarily halted logging operations in the district.

Bob Quinn of Weldwood's Empire Logging division, said they closed for the remainder of the week but would be looking at the situation again on Monday to see if they would re-open.

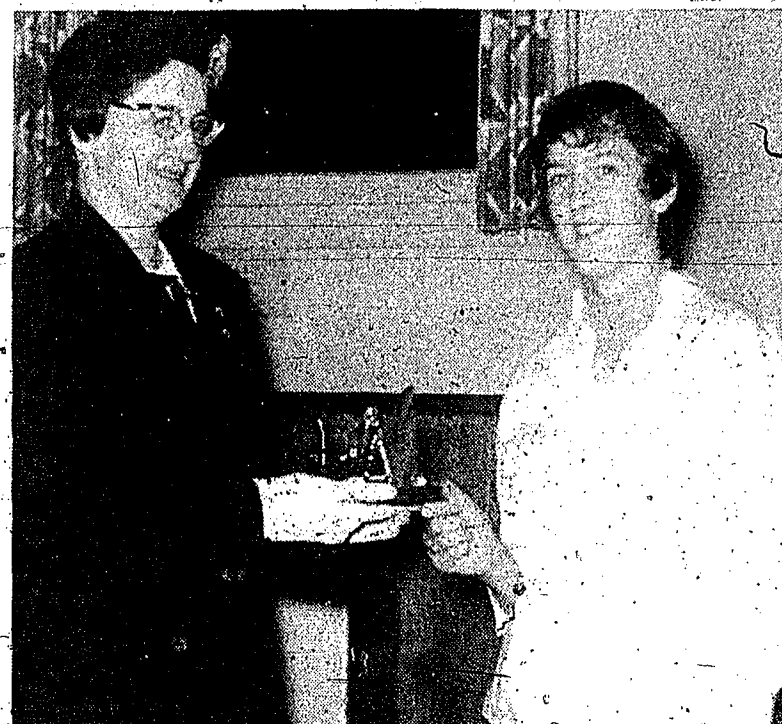

Only three inches of snow fell in the back end of the Tree Farm and warm weather could cause it to disappear sufficiently to permit them to open up again.

MacMillan Bloedel's Squamish division was closed on Thursday but plowing was being done and they hoped to open up again on Friday.

Meanwhile most of the other operations were closed for the winter. CRB, which had closed on Nov. 22, will not reopen till spring when they will be working both at Squamish and at Pemberton.

Snow did not prevent any of the school children from attending school as all busses made their trips without any trouble.

The Red Cross is people like you helping people like you.

CONTRACT LET FOR PGE EXTENSION

Peter Kiewit & Sons of Canada Ltd. have been awarded the contract for the first 73 miles of the PGE's extension towards Fort Nelson.

Twelve companies submitted bids of which Peter Kiewit's of $2,240,550 was the lowest.

The contract, which calls for the clearing, grubbing, grading and fencing, covers the first 73 miles of the proposed 250 mile link between Fort St. John and Fort Nelson.

Initial work will begin immediately.

The back of the card tells how the guarantee works.

The Bank of Nova Scotia introduces the Cheque Guarantee Card. What's it good for?

Paying by cheque, your own personal cheque, even in places where you're a complete stranger. Cashing cheques without question, delay or embarrassment.

What's so different about this card?

1. It carries your photograph. In living colour. This is proof positive that you are who you say you are. 2. It is proof positive that The Bank of Nova Scotia guarantees payment of your cheques. Anytime. Anywhere.

It's the photograph that does it. Your Scotiabank Cheque Guarantee Card introduces you with instant face-to-face identification. So there's absolutely no risk to the person who's accepting your cheque.

Another advantage. If you should happen to write a cheque for more than you have in your account, there's an automatic line of credit built right in.

What does the card cost you?

Two dollars. And that's it. There's no cost at all to the person who's accepting your cheque.

Come into The Bank of Nova Scotia. We'll photograph you with our special colour camera.

When you get your Cheque Guarantee Card, carry it at all times. Present it whenever you write a cheque. In a store. In a restaurant. Anywhere.

No delay, no embarrassment, no questions asked.

College principal Alfred Glenesk

Transfer assured college students

Students at Capilano College have been advised that graduates who successfully complete their academic program will be accepted by universities in B.C. College Principal Alf Glenesk, in answer to recent reports which led parents and students to question their status, said "there is no question of their acceptance if they meet academic standards."

(Reluctance of Simon Fraser University to accept students from some colleges and out-of-town universities is one of the main causes of recent trouble at that institution.)

Glenesk said the College received letters from the three major universities last fall assuring transferability to students who meet academic standards of the university.

The UBC statement from the registrar said:

"A student who chooses courses at the College that are appropriate to his academic objective at university and who obtains adequate standing in them will be accepted for further studies at the university under the same conditions that apply to a student who has taken all his post-secondary studies at the university."

Glenesk said the academic board, a body set up by the government to act as liaison on academic affairs between colleges and universities and between universities as well, will meet Dec. 18 to further discuss the subject.

"We have negotiated every academic course with the major universities," said Glenesk, "we have recruited the majority of our staff from these universities and they have pledged co-operation in every way."

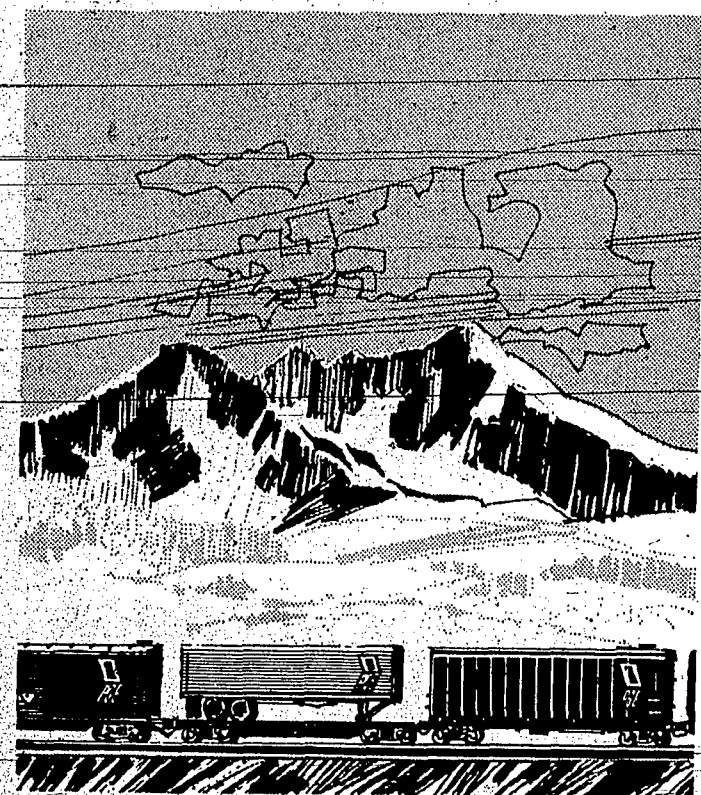

DAN SEYMOUR NEW MANAGER AT INN

Dan H. Seymour, a former Squamish resident and brother of M. V. Seymour and J. Seymour, has been appointed manager of Delta Hotel's Airport Inn.

Mr. Seymour, who is 30 years of age, was born in Squamish and took his elementary schooling here before his family moved to Vancouver.

He has, over the past few years, held executive positions in many of Delta's B.C. Hotels. Most recently he was the company's director of purchasing.

Glenesk gives report on Capilano College

Alfred Glenesk, principal of Capilano College, was the guest speaker at the annual dinner which followed the teachers' convention on Saturday, Nov. 30.

He said transferability is one of the burning questions today and parents could be assured their young people can transfer to the universities from the college if they wish to. There will be no problems on that score.

"There is little to be concerned about with the young people who have come through your educational system," he said.

He predicted great things in the future for the college field saying he had just come from a conference with principals from other five community colleges.

The 750 students at Capilano College are offered our programs; the academic, technical programs with industrial specialties; business and secretarial training and accounting and an art program consisting of a series of short workshop programs or seminars.

A group of boys are also going to B.C.I.T. and others will be spending their first year at Capilano College followed by one at B.C.I.T.

The college would also offer an adult or continuing education program which would be conducive to an enriched later life. "We have every reason to hope a community service program could reach right into your area," he added.

"One of the most exciting areas in education today" he said, "is the general education program for those who wish to enrich their cultural knowledge."

At present there is a full time faculty of five people with sixty members of the faculty or part time teaching. He hoped the full time faculty would increase next year. A library of 2000 books is available to the students and this will shortly be expanded to 10,000 by spring when books now on order will have arrived. Although classes are only from 4:00 p.m. to 10:30 p.m., the library is open to students during the day.

Some of the advantages of a community college are the flexibility of financing with costs much lower than universities. There is also an excellent counselling service. Students have a heavy program but from all reports he said they were working hard.

He stressed that the college would do whatever possible to place the students where they belonged. With full transferability to B.C.I.T. and the opportunities in vocational schools something could be found for everyone whether academically or otherwise inclined. A total of 54 different courses are available.

He said students coming to Capilano College would find a challenge and meet it! Earlier in the evening D.

Dosen, president of the Howe Sound Teachers Association thanked the board for the dinner and A. Hoogenboom, chairman of the Howe Sound School Employees Association gave a brief speech.

T. J. MacDonald acted as master of ceremonies and T. B. M. Fougberg, chairman of the school board, introduced the trustees present and the ladies who had assisted in the elementary swimming program last summer.

Volleyball teams bust at Backendale

Backendale girls and boys volleyball teams have been busy during the month of November with the Backendale girls losing to Squamish 15-12 in back to defeat Squamish 15-4 in the second one.

On Nov. 21 they defeated Stawamus in two games by scores of 15-2 and 15-4. Wins were also scored against Pemberton and Woodfibre but the Backendale girls were defeated by Mamquam.

Pemberton came to Backendale to play against the boys and the home team defeated the visitors 15-8 and 15-11. On Nov. 21 the boys defeated Stawamus 15-5 in the first game and 16-14 in the second one.

On Nov. 26 Backendale again won both games, this time against Woodfibre. Scores were 15-8 and 15-3.

Games were also played against Squamish, whom they defeated and, Mamquam who scored a victory over the Backendale teams.

LETTERS

Editor, Squamish Times,

All my life I was interested in public affairs, seldom missed public meetings and I always found the Rate Payers one of the best organizations. We always had our reeve and some town councillors attend our meetings and both groups worked in harmony.

In Squamish things are quite different. The only time candidates will listen to Rate Payers (people) is during an election and even then they decline to answer pertinent questions simply because they pick a chairman to suit their purpose. I would say a pretty well oiled clique!

People have all the right in the world to know where their tax money goes, also why some ridiculous bylaws are passed. There is a strong minority group against people placing trailers on their property. The only ones to complain would naturally be well off.

It is a sad state of affairs when a minority group like this has the power to run our affairs and not let us know what is going on. This is the type of rule the Latin Americans suffer from. It is a shame that we must follow their example.

S. P. Deduluke, Brackendale.

Editor, Squamish Times,

Do it now! why wait for Spring, a familiar slogan and well used by the Provincial Government to get work done in the fall and winter. Why not apply this slogan to our Squamish River bank protection. Why not apply at least 1/4 of 1 percent of that huge money surplus our government boasts so much about. They claim that this surplus money can be used in times of a recession, but we may not be in a recession, but we are sure in a situation where by we could be all flooded out and everyone lose everything.

Do it now! while labor is plentiful, and the Federal Government has discontinued its winter works program, costs are lower, than it will be in the future to do the same job, and the whole District of Squamish can feel assured that every time we have heavy rain storms the confidence that nothing disastrous will happen.

Do it now, why wait for Spring, or any other time! Victor Johnson, Squamish.

Grey Cup draw prizes leave town

Prizes in the Grey Cup draw, sponsored by the local Howe Sound Association for Retarded Children, all went to people who do not live in Squamish. Britannia Beach and Woodfibre residents received two prizes.

The winning ticket in the first quarter was held by A. Knudson of Britannia Beach who received $25, and a similar prize went to Sharron Edwards of Woodfibre for the third quarter prize. The ticket for the second quarter was not sold, one of the very few which still remained when ticket sales were completed.

Norm Stirling of Chetwynd won one hundred dollars for the final score and an equal amount went to Ken Mayo, Jr., of North Vancouver for the hidden tie draw.

The local Association for Retarded Children wishes to thank all those who participated in the draw.

To all to whom these presents shall come —

Greeting, Dan Campbell Minister of Municipal Affairs.

(WHEREAS by section 766
(1) of the "Municipal Act" it is provided, inter alia, that in addition to the functions conferred by that Act, a regional district has such functions as are provided by Letters Patent or supplementary Letters Patent, and for this purpose the Lieutenant - Governor in Council may, on the recommendation of the Minister, provide in the Letters Patent or supplementary Letters Patent such further objects, powers, obligations, duties, limitations, and conditions in respect to any or all functions requested pursuant to this section:

AND WHEREAS the Regional Board of the Squamish - Lillooet Regional District has requested that certain further functions be granted the regional district:

NOW KNOW YE THAT by these presents We do order and proclaim that on, from, and after the date hereof the following be added to the objects, powers, obligations, duties, limitations, and conditions of the Squamish - Lillooet Regional District:—

Division IV. — Regional and Community Planning

1. All member municipalities participate and share in the cost of the regional district pursuant to this Division.
2. It is a function of the regional district to undertake regional and community planning and for that purpose the provisions of sections 795 to 798C, inclusive, of the "Municipal Act" apply.
3. The annual cost attributable to this function shall be apportioned among the member municipalities on the basis of assessment as fixed for school purposes in the current year, excluding property that is taxable for school purposes only by special Act, in the electoral areas and for general municipal purposes in the municipalities.

4. No debt other than temporary current borrowing shall be incurred by the regional district for the purposes of this function.

5. Until the annual budget for the year 1969 is adopted, the sums of money which may be borrowed to meet the current lawful expenditures of the regional district for the purposes of this function shall be as determined by the Inspector of Municipalities.

DIVISION V. —

Building Regulations

1. The provisions of section
798D of the "Municipal Act" apply to the regional district.

2. No debt other than temporary current borrowing shall be incurred by the regional district for the purposes of this function.

3. Until the annual budget for the year 1969 is adopted, the sums of money which may be borrowed to meet the current lawful expenditures of the regional district for the purposes
of this function shall be as determined by the Inspector of Municipalities.

In testimony whereof, We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent and the Great Seal of Our said Province to be hereunto affixed.
WITNESS, Colonel the Hon-

A day in the life of Karen Halvorson

(The following story appears in the autumn issue of "Your Health" and deals with the work being done by Karen Halvorson, the daughter of Mrs. Martin Halvorson.)

"Please tell your Mummy the health nurse is here."

The youngster who opened the door, scampered off to find her Mummy, and then to return to pick-up the details of the visit. This was only one of dozens of TB follow-up home calls made each week around B.C. by public health nurses.

The nurse in particular was Karen Halvorson, 25, working from the Peace River Health Unit at Dawson Creek, on holiday relief to the Fort St. John office for the summer months.

"You came at the wrong time," said the friendly Indian lady, who added, "I have a cold and so have we all." Miss Halvorson smiled: "I came just to check up on you. Please show me how many pills you are doing well. Be sure to continue to take them, so you will stay well," were her parting remarks.

Fifteen pills a day, three of INH and 12 of PAS, was the order for this TB patient, who is one of hundreds around B.C. treated at home on TB wonder drugs.

Next stop was to see a lad, age 12, on whom she had previously called. No doubt he was off to the rodeo, much a part of Peace River life in the early fall, or to the travelling circus in town. He was not there again; the nurse left the message that she would be back to make certain he was continuing his prophylactic drugs to keep him free from infection. He faces heart surgery to live a normal life but in the meantime he is on drugs to fight off TB to which he had been exposed.

"Here is an appointment card for your next chest X-ray," Miss Halvorson told another former TB patient and mother of five, who had serious surgery when she was fifteen. "What about Operation Doorstep?" the mother said, "why can't I go there now when it is in Fort St. John."

"Operation Doorstep takes small x-ray plates and because of your past history, TB control wants you to continue with regular large X-rays," Miss Halvorson added as she handed over the appointment card.

In line with considering the family a unit on each home call, Miss Halvorson told about the measles vaccine available through the health unit for $3.25 a child and reminded her to make an appointment. Vaccine is strongly advised because of complications which follow measles, including respiratory problems.

In this north country of wide skies and oil rigs, often referred to as new totems, there are not always road signs to follow. The public health nurse must obey directions outlined by the previous nurse on the case, such as turn right or left at the transfer company, follow the road to the end about two miles, and there you will find a green and white house.

Another call was to a warm-hearted little Indian woman with seven sons all at home, and one daughter, who were awaiting her visit.

The mother had been X-rayed when her last son was born. It was found that she had active TB. Following six months at Willow Chest Centre, two years on drug therapy, and constant check-ups, she was now feeling better than she had for years, and said she was taking good care of herself which included an afternoon rest each day.

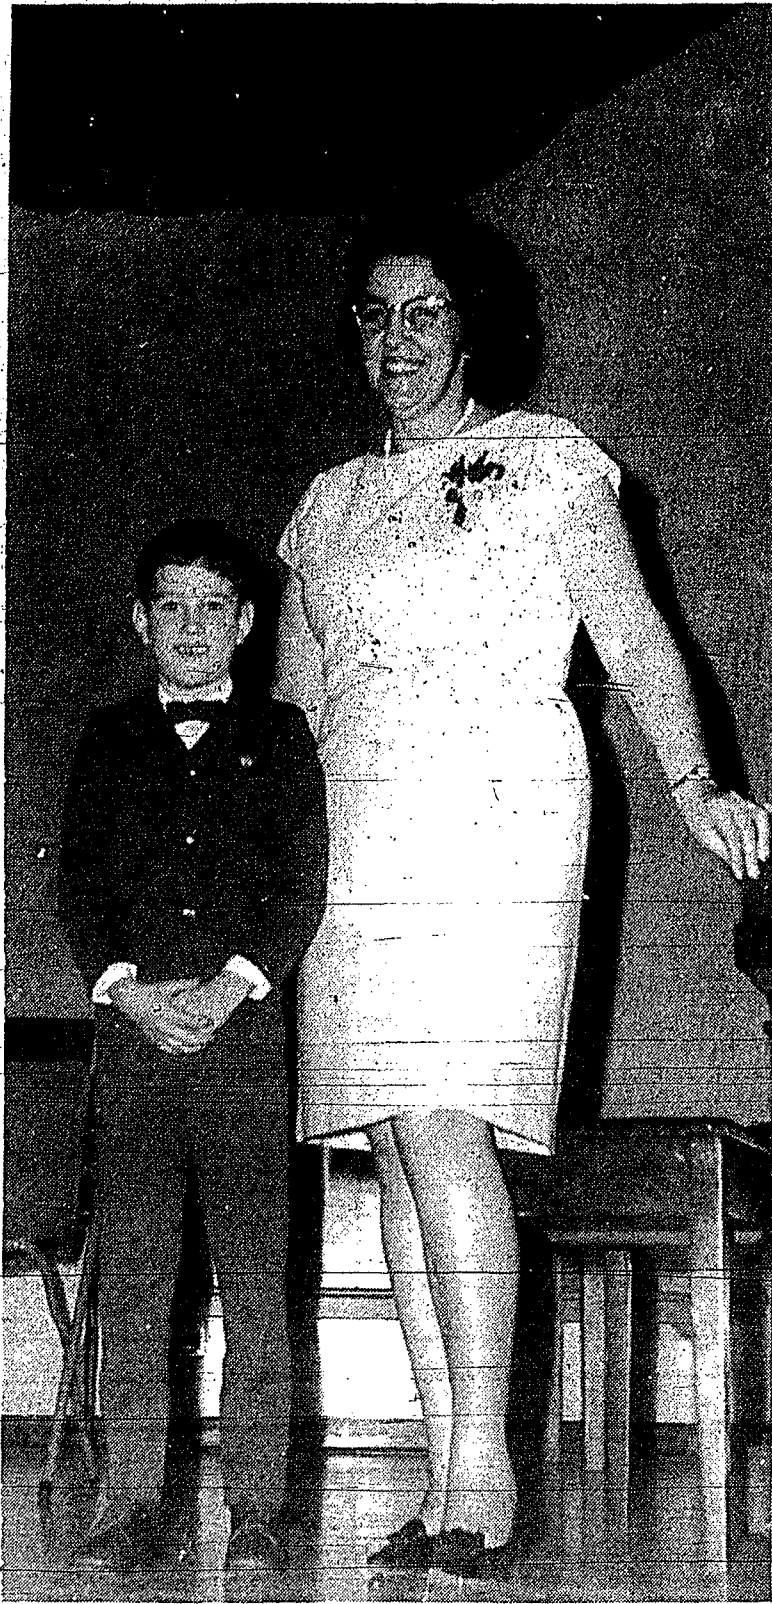

Four of the young boys bared their left arms for the health nurse to administer the tuberculin skin tests to make certain their BCG vaccine which protects them against TB was still at work. Mother's TB was arrested before other members of the family developed the disease but they are all being carefully watched.

There was much bravado from the older boys as they tried to set a good example for the quick needle prick before younger brothers.

"See you in two days," Miss Halvorson reminded them as that was when she would return to read skin tests.

Respiratory disease accounted for 23 deaths in the area served by the Peace River Health Unit last year on a percentage of 13.2, the third highest cause of death next to heart and accidental death. There were 109 cases of tuberculosis listed in the Peace River Health Unit's annual report records at the end of 1967.

The role played by the public health nurse is another weapon in the fight against Canada's worst germ-spread disease.

DAVID STEWART, one of the young performers at the recital last week with his teacher, Mrs. H. Gebhart.

Piano students give recital

Twenty nine piano students, pupils of Mrs. H. Gebhart, gave a piano recital in the Mamquam Elementary School on Thursday evening, December 5.

Parents and friends of the pupils, who range from beginners to Grade 5, attended the recital. Each student performed individually except for Michelle and Suzanne Rudy, who played a duet.

After the recital the students presented Mrs. Gebhart with a beautiful yellow chrysanthemum plant and a cash gift to enable her to phone her son, Larry, who is with the RCAF in Germany.

Taking part in the recital were Valerie Armstrong, Susan Atchison, Allan and John Barr, Debbie Carroll, Maria Dickie, Brenda Hinds, Paul and Diane Kindree, Judy and Sharon Kyle, Patti and Robert McAllister, Norman McCulloch, Jane Ann

Manson, Cathy O'Rourke, Joy Rogers, Isabelle Rimmer, Carol Ann Robinson, Renee Rudan, Michelle and Suzanne Rudy, Shane Shemko, Barbara and David Stewart, Lex Tetachuk, Sean and Shelley Tinney and Laine Trudeau.

Fallers not working yet

The dispute between the fallers and Weldwood of Canada's Empire Logging division has still not been resolved but negotiations are still going on.

With the wage dispute between the company and the men still unsettled the fallers have not returned to the job.

The walkout occurred last month after an employee was suspended.

TAYLORS AWAY ON EUROPEAN TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. E. Taylor (Bob) of Pemberton, motored to Collingwood, Ontario, leaving their car there and travelling to Montreal where they boarded the "Empress of England" on November 22 for a three months holiday in England.

They will also spend a few weeks in Spain. Word has been received of their arrival in England on Nov. 29. They will return to Pemberton early in the spring and although Mr. Taylor plans to semi-retire, he will still operate his real estate business.

Bridal shower for Linda Moretti

Miss Linda Moretti, whose marriage to Trevor Harris takes place in South Hill Baptist Church in Vancouver on Saturday, December 21, was the guest of honor at a surprise bridal shower at the home of Mrs. R. O. Andersen on Friday, November 29.

The guests enjoyed a pleasant evening of chatter before Mrs. A. Angell presented the bride elect with her gifts.

Invited to attend were Mrs. A. Angell, Miss Black, Mrs.

M. A. Carrico, Mrs. R. Carroll, Mrs. D. Dawe, Mrs. D. Friesen, Mrs. J. Harley, Mrs. Hetherington, Mrs. G. Ingenhust, Mrs. M. Karwitski, Mrs. E. L. Kristianson, Mrs. Larcombe, Mrs. R. McKilligan, Mrs. C. C. Matchant, Mrs. B. Mortenson, Mrs. T. Vandelaar and Mrs. M. Van Der Ree.

Invited to come but unable to attend were Mrs. R. Horne, Mrs. E. Klymchuk and Mrs. G. Thompson.

Stork shower for Mrs. J. Vroom

The home of Mrs. W. Sweeney was the scene of a Baby Shower for Mrs. John Vroom on Tuesday, November 26.

Games and charades kept everyone busy during a social hour.

The guest of honor was presented with a gift of money with which to purchase a crib.

Guests present were Mrs. H. Golden, J. Graykin, B. Mortenson, K. Misiurka, A. Sewell, L. Flaman, D. Flaman, R. Poirier, J. O'Neill, M. Vroom, B. Robinson, C. Johannes, J. Simpson, W. Clausen, R. Mulhern, P. Ellis and R. Newell.

Refreshments were served by co-hostesses Mrs. W. Sweeney, and Mrs. P. Goodgrove.

Christmas at the Parish Hall

Monday, December 23, 7:30 p.m. in the Parish Hall. It is a busy time, friends to entertain and to visit, last minute shopping for gifts, decorations, food and liquid refreshments.

Have you forgotten anything or anyone? Stop. Think. How did all this originate and why? Could you spare an hour, bring the family and join a group of children also trying to remember and understand.

No admission charge but any donations will be given to the St. John's "Esther" Fund. Coffee and freshie will be served after the play.

Showers for Lynne Biglow

Fellow staff members at the Bank of Nova Scotia held a miscellaneous shower for Lynne Biglow whose marriage took place last Saturday, at the home of Mrs. R. Rosser on Wednesday, Nov. 27.

After an enjoyable evening of games the bride elect was presented with a number of gifts. Her sister, Lori, gave them to her and Mrs. M. Polowich made the charming hat from the bows which are a feature of all bridal showers.

Refreshments, prepared and brought by the staff, were served.

Guests included the bride elect, her sister, Lori, her mother Mrs. B. Biglow and aunt Mrs. K. Donald and Mrs. A. Greffard, Mrs. M. Polowich, Mrs. Jean Evans, Mrs. J. Larcombe, Mrs. C. Mawer, Mrs. D. Busch and Miss Elaine Cameron. Mrs. M. Donald and Mrs. R. Donald were unable to attend but they sent gifts.

A previous shower was held for Miss Biglow on November 6th, when Mrs. Ken Donald acting hostess. Also in attendance were Mrs. B. Biglow, Miss Biglow's mother, and Mrs. M. Donald, her grandmother.

The many lovely gifts were presented to Miss Biglow in a wishing well.

Mrs. J. Babuin, Mrs. H. Messenger, Mrs. G. Doucet, Mrs. B. Harris, Mrs. E. Quinn, Mrs. J. McNeill and Mrs. B. Hunt were present to wish the bride-to-be well.

A number of guests were unable to attend but sent gifts to show Miss Biglow their wish for her good luck in the future.

These included Mrs. J. Dar, Mrs. D. Kosterow, Mrs. J. Eaglesham, Mrs. F. Humphrey, Mrs. B. Blake, Miss Lori Ann Biglow, Miss Andrea Pratt and Miss Cathy Francis.

Lorne Chisholm, Ann Anderson top PGE bowlers

Lorne Chisholm with a high three of 678 and Ann Anderson with a high three of 597 were the leaders in the PGE Bowling for the week of November 19. The men's high single was scored by Frank McAbee with 272 while Thelma Whitfield achieved the ladies' high with 226.

Herb Daniels is holding on to the men's high average with 185 and Mary Smith with 181 has the ladies' high.

The team with the high three total was St. Joe's with 2843 and the same team had the high single total of 1052.

The leading team is still the Chumps with 11 points.

MARABOU dyed to match, trims this soft blue dress suitable for any event during the holiday season.

Feathers 'in' for holiday season

Feathers, fur and marabou are the popular trims for festive wear this year and the charming blue gown modelled by Min Dyke in the accompanying picture shows the influence of this trim.

Of soft blue lined crepe, with a scooped back, the dress features marabou in an apron effect, draped from the lowest point of the back around the front of the dress and meeting in a point at the back.

The dress is one of the new soft pastels, the popular colors for winter. It will dress up any festive occasion and would be available for a house party, cocktail party, or a formal affair.

Made by Irving Nadler, one of the top names in Canadian styles, this is just one of many attractive top fashion styles produced by this manufacturer.

For the holiday season ahead you can't go wrong with an Irving Nadler, a pastel or marabou trim and this charming dress has them all!

Judo class demonstration

The first of several evenings which will be used to determine the grades which the junior members of the Judo Club have earned, was held in the high school gymnasium on Thursday evening of last week.

The young people showed their parents how much progress they had made in the past few months. They also demonstrated the work they did during a normal class period, and at the end of the evening the boys gave a small exhibition of the various throws in which they excel.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Instructor Dave Milligan said a number of these evenings will be held and the combined results will determine which grade belt, black, brown or yellow, each boy will have earned.

Editor, Squamish Times,

"On behalf of the parents of the boys who played in the Gordon Strutridge Football League this year, I would like to thank the following people——Bob Brock, Doug Harley who coached the Chiefs.

—Gary Woods, Danny Woods who coached the Titans.

—Mike Buchanan, Spenny Hinde, Len Marchant and Tom Shields who coached the Cardinals.

—Merv Foote who was general manager.

—And also the ladies who made the coffee for our home games. We are all very proud of the boys on all three teams and congratulations to the Chiefs and Cardinals who brought two winning cups back to Squamish."

PGE bowling results

Ann Anderson and Don Pers are the top bowlers in the PGE League during the first week in December with Mrs. Anderson taking the ladies high single and high three with 246 and 561.

Don Pers took the high three with 645 and was three points behind Archie McNeil with 256 to place second in the high single. McNeil's score of 259 was high single while Joe Kostuk placed second for the high triple with 642.

Doreen Fraser was second for the high triple and high single in the women's section with scores of 526 and 205 while Ann Anderson also had the high average of 183.

Herb Daniels had the high average for the men with 186.

Chumps are leading the league with 17 points with the Chieftains just behind with 14 points.

Food for the spirit

By Pauline Wulff
Ephesians 6:1-4 Children obey your parents in the Lord; for this is right. Honour thy father and thy mother; which is the first commandment with promise; That if we well with thee, and that thou mayest live long on the earth.

And, ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath, but bring them up in the nurture and admonitions of the Lord. Colossians 3:20-21 Children obey your parents in all things; for this is well pleasing unto the Lord. Fathers, provoke not your children to be angry, lest they be discouraged.

Proverbs 22:6 Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it.

Once again scripture very adequately expresses the responsibility God places on us who are parents to train our children in respect and obedience and if we fail we are held responsible.

MRS. ROBERTA HAY, primary teacher and math specialist, discussing some of the materials she uses in teaching math to her Grade One pupils with Mrs. Hilda Fairbanks, elementary supervisor for Howe Sound School District.

Social Notes

Mrs. J. Reid has returned from a two month holiday in Ontario where she revisited places in which she had lived many years ago.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Bockman on the birth of a son; Anthony Charles Richard, weighing 9 pounds 1½ ounces, in Squamish General Hospital on Wednesday November 27.

Minister will attend opening

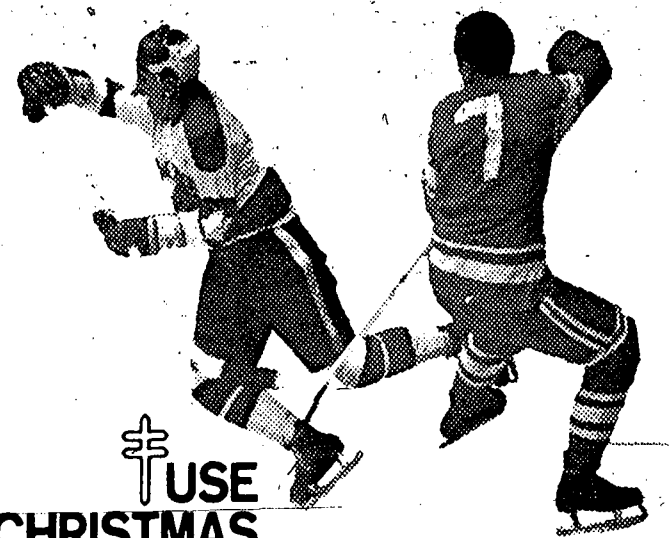

Hon. Arthur Laing, Minister of Public Works, says he'd be delighted to attend the opening of Rudy Johnson's do-it-yourself bridge across the Fraser River.

The question was raised in the House of Commons Tuesday by Paul St. Pierre, Member for Coast Chilcotin in a tongue-in-cheek question which noted that the minister would find "interesting" a project which had been undertaken with no money from any level of government being involved.

In a television interview outside the House, Mr. Laing congratulated the Williams Lake Bridge builders on their ingenuity and initiative.

HOWE SOUND HIGHLIGHTS

By Charlotte Sherriff

Due to the fact that the past week at Howe Sound High only consisted of four days, not much went on.

On Wednesday, the Service Council held a cupcake sale. As always, the cupcakes disappeared in a few minutes, and the proceeds went towards the Sun's Cup of Milk fund. The schools will add to the Cup of Milk fund on Friday 15, when the Fine Arts will sponsor a Slave Day.

On Slave Day all of the boys will be able to purchase tickets, twenty-five cents each, which will enable them to go out into the halls and pick out some misfortunate girl to be his slave for the day. However, if the girl doesn't want to be a slave she goes and buys a ticket for thirty cents, thus buying back her freedom, that is until another boy picks her out of the halls. Slave Day will start at home-room period in the morning and last right through to the end of the afternoon session.

Any slave who cannot buy her freedom must carry her master's books, clean out his locker, and do all sorts of menial tasks. She will be allowed to leave class five minutes before the end and she will be allowed to be five minutes late for her classes. As I see it, next Friday 13th ought to prove very interesting.

The basketball teams are going to make another stab at getting to Pemberton, this time by train as the bus is not able to make the last stretch after Whistler.

On Thursday afternoon, Mr. Baldry shortened all the periods so that he could hold a student body assembly. The principal, Mr. Baldry, Roy Clarke, president of the Student's Council, Audrey Hutchinson, vice-president, Pat Mulhern, Athletic President, Judi York, Fine Arts, and Carolyn Schutz, Service Council, addressed the student body. I believe their main topic was what each of the councils have done so far in the year.

Ann Anderson tops league

Ann Anderson with a high single of 302, high triple of 674 and high average of 183 is the top bowler in the PGE league during the week of Nov. 26.

Leading the men with the high average and high single was Herb Daniels with an average of 185 and a single of 239.

Don Pers held the high triple for the men with a total of 604 points.

St. Joes took both the team high three with 2842 and the team high single with 1052. The Chumps are leading the league with a total of 14 points.

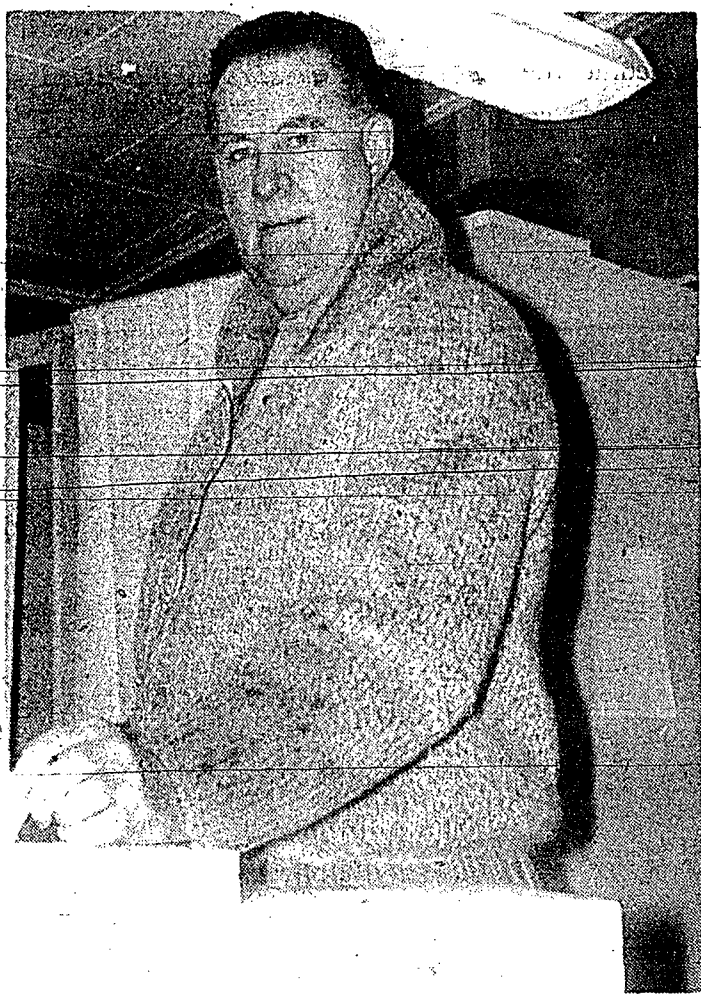

BALL PLAYERS RECEIVE AWARDS

Recently the Ladies Auxiliary to the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch No. 181, awarded two trophies to members of the Woodfibre girls' softball team.

Mrs. C. Teichman, president, made the presentation of the "Most Valuable Player Award" to Judy Fleming.

The "Most Improved Player Award" went to Gail Gifford, who was unable to attend the presentation.

Each of the girls on the team was presented with a "Softball Pin" by the Howe Sound Girls Softball League.

The soccer scene

International soccer may come to Squamish

Squamish is about to take part in an international soccer competition for the first time.

In March of each year the British Columbia Juvenile Soccer Association arranges for a series of games between Washington and British Columbia teams. As Squamish has two teams entered in juvenile competition the Kinsmen and the Rotarians definite plans are being made to enter these teams in the series. Plans are also being made to enter two other all star teams of eight year olds and nine year olds.

The series consists of one game played in Canada and one in the United States. The U.S. teams will pay here one weekend and be billeted with their Squamish opponents. The following weekend the Squamish boys will travel to the home town of the U.S. team, possibly Seattle, for the return match. While there the Squamish boys will be billeted with their U.S. opponents.

It is expected there will be 350 teams from each country participating, approximately 10,500 players.

While the exchange series so far has been limited to Washington and British Columbia teams, the Oregon and California Juvenile Associations seem to be interested and may be included another year.

Howe Sound Soccer Commissioner Paul Christensen has been working toward joining in this exchange for some years, and is very pleased to have a good representation from this area.

Farewell for Mrs. Trace

Eighteen ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. Alice Graney of the evening of Thursday November 28, for a farewell party for Mrs. Dorothy Trace, who is moving with her husband Earle and daughter Brenda to Brackendale.

Games were played during the evening and Mrs. Boulger and Brenda Trace assisted the hostess when refreshments were served.

As a parting gift Mrs. Graney presented Mrs. Trace with a lovely bedroom alarm clock from all her friends and neighbors as a memento of her years at Britannia.

Brackendale scholars

Ten scholars made the first top students list at Brackendale Elementary School with four listed as scholars and six others receiving honorable mention.

Listed as scholars are Kathy Brennan, Carla Ostergard, Sigrid Schimich and Stanley Woods.

Honorable mention went to Tim Ardiel, Dale Arnet, Jim Chow, Barry Holstine, Benerley Mansell and Lois Williams.

Pemberton News

Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCulloch and their new daughter Danni Lynn are living at Mount Currie.

A hearty welcome to Mrs. N. Colin and family who have just moved to Pemberton to join her husband, Neil, who has been working here for some time.

Sorry to hear that Mrs. P. McCulloch had an accident in the store. She was taken to Squamish Hospital by her daughter Barbara and her friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Gus Zurcher left for Switzerland by plane on December 8. He will attend a family reunion and help his mother celebrate her birthday during his visit.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. George Scobie of Pemberton on the birth of a son, Shyne, weighing 7 pounds, 14 ounces, at Squamish General Hospital on November 27.

Council presents car club with lease terms

The Magnum Car Club, who wish to take over the former highways department building on Second Ave., last week were presented with an agreement which must be signed before they may occupy the building.

Council has obtained a lease on the property and will in turn lease it to the club if the terms are met.

The lease calls for the club to pay the annual rental rate and fee charged to council by the highways department; to be responsible for the maintenance and insurance on the building, to pay water and light bills, to keep the site clean and to, be have in a manner satisfactory to council.

Wayne Boomer, president of the Magnum Car Club, said, he would present the terms of the agreement to the club at its next meeting, and if approved, would sign the agreement and bring it, along with the fire and liability policies to council, which would then sign it as well.

Mayor P. J. Brennan asked the club members to be sure to keep any stripped down cars either inside the building or behind it, as he did not wish to hear any complaints from neighboring property owners regarding cars left outside in a demolished condition for long periods of time.

The members assured him this would be done and that the greatest care would be taken to ensure it did not become a nuisance.

Atlantic fish sold as halibut

Some British Columbia housewives are probably buying a "bland and flat-tasting" Atlantic groundfish, or flounder, when they think they are getting the true halibut which is known for its good quality and flavor.

That observation is made by R. G. McMynn, director of the Commercial Fisheries Branch of the Department of Recreation and Conservation, following the appearance in British Columbia supermarkets of the "so-called Greenland halibut."

"Efforts are now being made to protect the good name of the Pacific halibut in the market place," he said.

McMynn said that some supermarkets were advertising Greenland halibut and that the product was identified in some stores as halibut only.

He recalled a statement last June by Recreation and Conservation Minister Ken Kiernan, that "the sale of flounder under this label, in my opinion, is deceitful and is unfair to the consumers of this country."

McMynn said that the fish called Greenland halibut is a flat fish, as is the Pacific halibut, "but there the similarity ends."

The eastern product was selling for less than the Pacific halibut, he said, "but there is no question that the Pacific fish has a taste and texture and quality that the Atlantic fish lacks."

He said the British Columbia halibut fishery amounted to about $10,000,000 annually, second only to salmon.

McMynn said he was pleased to learn that the eastern product would not be marketed as Greenland halibut following recent agreements between federal government officials, producers, and distributors, but he was still alarmed that it was appearing on supermarket shelves in British Columbia as Greenland halibut.

The federal department of forestry has begun a five year study at the 18,000 acre Mission municipal tree farm on the ecological affects of forest fires on timberland. Forty controlled burns are planned over 10-acre blocks of land.

Who are SECONDS?
The answer is almost too terrifying for words. From the bold, bizarre bestseller, the story of a man who buys for himself a totally new life. A man who lives the age-old dream — If only I could live my life all over again.

Woodfibre Wanderings

A Baby Shower was held Tuesday, November 26, in honor of Mrs. Millie Thomas and infant son, Murray. A group of fifteen ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. Fryer. They enjoyed games and refreshments served by the hostesses Mrs. Fryer, Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Hunter. The traditional "cup and saucer" custom brought from Mrs. Fryer's home in New Brunswick was won by Mrs. Thomas. This is always won by the person holding a marked napkin.

Mrs. Fryer also held an Amway party on Nov. 28, which a few people attended. Any products needed can be obtained by phoning Mrs. Fryer.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. David Biddlecombe on the birth of a daughter on Nov. 25 in Vancouver General Hospital. She weighed 8 lbs. 9 ozs. and will be named Judy Noelle Lynn.

The Annual Turkey Whist Drive was held in the Community Hall on Tuesday, December 3. The winners were as follows:—

66 in '69?

Happy Birthday!

Now you may qualify for your retirement pension under the Canada Pension Plan.

If you are now 66 . . . if you've been contributing to the Canada Pension Plan . . . and if you've retired from regular employment, contact your Canada Pension Plan Office now. If you will become 66 in 1969, get in touch with your Canada Pension Plan Office three months before your birthday. The people there will help you fill out the application form that starts your pension cheques coming. They'll explain how your pension is worked out . . . and when you become eligible. You'll get all the answers to questions about your retirement pension. Payment is not automatic. You must apply to receive your pension benefits. Application should be made in the Canada Pension Plan Office serving your community.

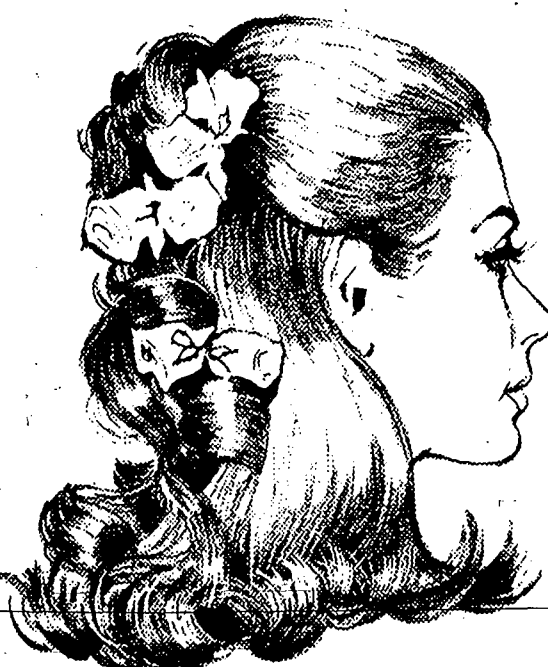

NOTE: If you are age 70 or over and have contributed to the Canada Pension Plan, you don't have to retire to qualify for benefits.
