Abstract

Usualy people onily hear about when, plowed a driveway full just after you they goof or do something they wish they hadn't Only too often all they hear are the bad things they do. But we re going to fool one group of public servants (or is that the right phrase?), Anyway, we want to publicly thank the municipal work crews, the men they hired and the highways department crews who worked during the cold weather and and streets open. and streets open, to walk until they managed to get to the road in his district, i but with the snow and the large area they had to cover, w think they did a marvellous job. to the work crews and their supervisors as well as all the others who maintained their services during the cold and snow other communities when it snows we'r proud of Squamish!

They should be fined

During the height of last week's snow- We'd like to see a checkup starting storm police in North Vancouver were heared on the streets without snow tires r chains.
This was an excellent idea. Too often, snow conditions, motorists who do exercise caution and use snow tires and chains are forced off the road or involved in accidents through the actions of these irresponsible drivers.
enough to make it mandatory for often enough to make it mandatory for every motorist to have his vehicle properly eduibped for snow conditions or else re= main at home. There's no excuse for inolving others in an accident or costly tow charges because of his carelessness. In Squamish we have noticed skiers heading for Whistler without snow tires se the high ocal drivers hesitated to first weekend in December when the Scout Christmas tree cutting bee was called off because the roads were hazard. ous. Yet city drivers were trying to get 0 Whistler without winterized vehicles. the cars off the road others stdeways n the rod and extremely hazardous no the rad a the time motorists who had heeded precautions were endangered y those who had not,
