TOTAL 120 111

Less than ten percent of the voters turned out to the poll.

Offers to sublet tourist booth

Bob Jones has offered to sublet the tourist booth from the Chamber of Commerce, see it is manned throughout most of the year, and to operate it as a tourist booth with a selection of souvenirs. He also plans to put tables on the grassed area, to add colorful umbrellas and serve tea.

He pointed out it would not be a "hamburger joint" but a quiet place where visitors could stop for a few minutes and rest while gathering information. The chamber felt that as the booth is the property of the municipality and is operated by the Chamber, the municipality should first be consulted to see if this use would be suitable.

It was also pointed out that this would be operated at no cost to the chamber whereas the present method, with the tourist booth open for only a few months of the year, is a drain on the chamber's finances.

Further consideration would be given to the proposal when the council's views had been obtained.

Mrs. J. Laventure best in contest

By G. FORREST JOHNSTON
Mrs. Jean Laventure was judged best speaker at the final session of the annual public speaking course sponsored by the Squamish Adult Education Organization. The course had been conducted by Reverend Harold Wingfield throughout the fall and winter and had been attended by seven students, all ladies, who gave their contest speeches before their husbands and three judges at a supper in the Chieftain Hotel. Mrs. Laventure's subject was the plight of the Metis in Saskatchewan amongst whom she had once worked as a teacher.

Honorable mention went to Mrs. Shirley Mannix and Mrs. Dorothy Galley whose topics were, respectively, "Time", and "The Fish that Got Away." Chairman of the judging panel, Ralph Ross, commented on the closeness of the contest and the wide variety of interests shown in the speeches.

Subjects in addition to those mentioned, included the proposed Olympic Highway in which Mrs. Rose Tatlow set forth a thoroughly organized and thoroughly convincing argument for the construction of a through highway along the Capilano watershed; the advantages of middle age extolled enthusiastically if a bit incongruously by Mrs. Myrtle Lovlin; the "Crusoe of Lonesome Lake" in which Mrs. Peggy Matthews gave some personal reminiscences of the naturalist made famous in a book by Leland Stowe; and an appeal for more careful driving on the Vancouver - Whistler highway, made especially effective by accident statistics quoted by Mrs. Pearl Hankey, the final speaker.

Mr. Wingfield pointed out that several of the speakers had joined the class only in January rather than at its beginning in September and were therefore speaking at somewhat of a disadvantage. Some doubt as to the extent of the disadvantage was cast by the announcement by Mr. Ross that a bonus mark had been given to the late starters and by the fact that the prize winner and both honorable mentions were members of the "late" category.

Ken Tomlinson and Forrest Johnston completed the judging panel.

A SURE SIGN OF SPRING are the lambs at the Harold Bailey home on Wilson Crescent. This year he was delighted with two sets of twins and a single, the best he has ever had. Mr. Bailey was also delighted when a beautiful pink rhododendron, which he had raised from seed and which took twelve years to bloom, did so this year. It's full of blossoms now, a lovely sight.

PGE sets operating records as steel pushed northward

New milestones in operating achievements were established by the Pacific Great Eastern Railway in 1969.

In releasing the annual report, J. S. Broadbent, vice-president and general manager, said that a steadily rising volume of traffic throughout the year resulted in record carloadings, tonnage hauled, revenues, and net profit.

Gross revenues, which have increased more than twofold in the past ten years, totalled $30,470,005, up from $27,817,183 in 1968. After provision for interest and depreciation, net profit for 1969 was $764,131 compared with $669,949 in the previous year.

The Honourable W. A. C. Bennett, the railway's president, said that the PGE achieved the new operating records "while expanding its role as a major instrument of provincial development through the largest program of railroad construction in North America."

He said he was certain that the rate of progress recorded by the company in the sixties will be surpassed in the decade which lies ahead.

Led by substantial gains in shipments of grain, wood pulp, wood chips, pulpwood and logs, carloadings totalled 98,477, up from 91,838 in 1968.

Keeping pace with the PGE's over-all growth was total tonnage hauled which moved from 4,130,534 tons in 1968 to 4,583,954 in 1969.

Capital expenditures in 1969 totalled $27,832,811 including $11,827,498 for work on the Fort Nelson and Takla Extensions; $7,001,929 for the rail relay program, tie renewal and ballast program, and yard tracks and sidings; $3,597,980 for new locomotives and freight cars; and $5,405,404 for other miscellaneous projects including bridge replacement, the new car shop at Squamish, and equipment and machinery.

Mr. Broadbent, in his report, noted that business and industrial activity, reflected in new plant construction along the route of the PGE, continued at a high level throughout the year.

Work proceeded on two new extensions to the railway, the 78-mile Takla Lake extension continuing northwest from Fort St. James, and the 250-mile link from Fort St. John to Fort Nelson, and initial surveys were made for a 340-mile extension from Takla Lake to Dease Lake.

The company completed a 143-mile rail relay program of which 110 miles involved the replacing of 39-foot sections of rail with welded track in 78-foot lengths.

To handle its increasing volume of business, the company acquired four new 3,000 h.p. locomotives which are operating in freight service between North Vancouver and Williams Lake.

At the year-end, the locomotive and freight car fleets numbered 61 diesels and 2,375 freight cars.

Looking ahead, Mr. Broadbent saw another strong operating performance by the railway in 1970 with much of the momentum to be supplied by industry which has reported ambitious spending plans for new plant construction.

Calculations indicate, he said, that for the first time in the PGE's history, carloadings for the year will surpass the 100,000 mark.

Commenting on the projected extension to Dease Lake, he said that "by providing rail access to the vast resources of the area it will result in the development of the unsettled northwestern quarter of the province."

Mr. Broadbent concluded: "As we prepare to enter a new decade which, for the PGE, will be an age of northern development, I can report with confidence that management is alert to the challenges and views the future with optimism."

Sub-committees to speed up business

Meetings of the Squamish-Lillooet Regional District have become very long due to the number of controversial subjects coming up for discussion. Director Gatzka made the suggestion that sub-committees be formed to deal with matters pertaining to the geographical area before the regular meeting.

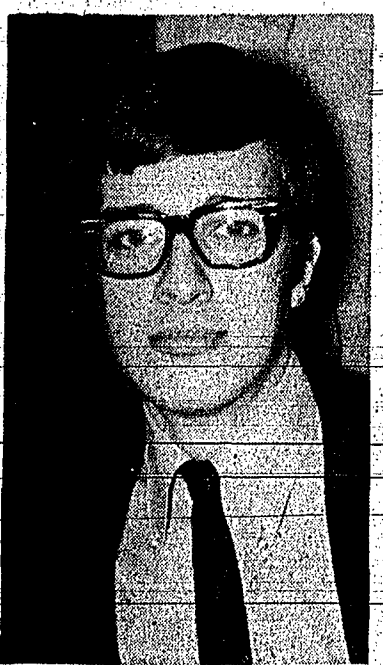

It was proposed by him that the members in the southern portion of the district, Directors Anderson, Kindree, Cherry, Fougberg and Gow meet prior to the regular session and then bring their recommendations to the meeting.

Chargex plan explained at busy Chamber meeting

Local merchants endorse plan

Members of the Chamber of Commerce heard Hugh Atkinson, B.C. representative for the Royal Bank for Chargex, speak to the members on the new plan.

Mr. Atkinson told the merchants who make up a large portion of the Chamber, that the new plan would be beneficial to them, in that it would cut down their accounts receivable, make it easier for them to collect their money and reduce costs of bookkeeping and time as well as interest rates.

He said the plan had been worked on for some time before it was instituted in B.C. It was only felt to be feasible if several banks were involved. Chargex started in Toronto in 1968 and was expanded to several eastern cities, then coming to Vancouver and Victoria in Oct. of last year.

There are 4,000 outlets in Vancouver, Victoria and Squamish and these include stores, restaurants, airlines, hotels, cars sales outlets and many other businesses. Over 400,000 cards have been issued in B.C.

INTERCHANGEABLE
An advantage of the scheme is that it is interchangeable with the Bank of America card in the States as well as cards in Europe and Japan. There are 28 million card holders in the United States alone, where there are 600,000 outlets which honor them.

He pointed out that the Bank of America in the U.S. doubled the number of card holders since the plan was inaugurated and said merchants would find that Chargex would increase their business.

One advantage is that it does not cost you a cent to get a Chargex card. If you pay your bill within 25 days there is no interest charge. After that time the interest charge is 1½ per cent per month on any balance up to $500 and 1 per cent on any amount over $500.

He mentioned some of the benefits to the merchants; free advertising, use of promotional material and the cost to the merchant is only six per cent. If there is more volume the cost will be less.

NO CREDIT LOSSES

Merchants can also receive immediate payment by taking the Chargex slips to the bank. Therefore there are no credit losses to the merchant and it is the bank's responsibility to collect the money.

He pointed out that when a customer secures a cash advance with his Chargex card the interest begins from the time the cash is advanced.

Before the plan was instituted in B.C. a survey was held and there was found to be a demand for it. He added that it is specially appreciated by women who like the ease in making a purchase using the card.

The Chargex system will be expanding into the interior and northern Vancouver Island in the near future.

Following the talk on Chargex several merchants pointed out that no local merchant will raise his prices because of Chargex. They said it cost them money to borrow to cover outstanding accounts and this would more than compensate for the cost of the Chargex service.

Award presented

Al Niven received the Whistler Chamber of Commerce Bob Walker Trophy for the "Citizen of the Year" at the February meeting of the Whistler Mountain District Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Niven had been very active in the community but his greatest achievement had been the establishment of the Volunteer Fire Department which had been very active since it was inaugurated last summer.

Bob Walker, last year's Good Citizen, for whom the trophy was named, made the presentation.

1971 Centennial executive named

Mrs. J. Makowichuk was appointed by the Squamish and Howe Sound District Chamber of Commerce as the chairman of the 1971 Centennial Committee.

Also named to the committee were Gary Jacobs, Barney Greenlee and Al Eedy.

Mrs. Makowichuk will obtain the remaining six members of her committee from members of the various service clubs who will be asked to recommend people to this committee.

Golf Club seeking new members

The Squamish Valley Golf and Country Club, which will be playing on the full eighteen holes in July, is seeking about 300 new members.

These shares at $350 each would payoff the debt which the club is now carrying. The club executive points out that Squamish has one of the finest courses in the lower mainland and when the full course is playable it will be the equal of any in the lower mainland, even those costing much more.

Yet memberships are startlingly low for such a facility. They urge every member to recommend buying a share to their friends and to encourage people from the lower mainland or from North and West Vancouver to buy a membership and come to Squamish to play golf. It is only an hour from the city!

Paint up and cleanup at the clubhouse is underway and hopes are high that another building can be obtained.

The greens committee, under the chairmanship of Bill Galley, is busy improving the first nine, having a fence built, planting trees, improving the parking, and equipment storage and keeping the course in first rate condition. He has an able crew of assistants.

Rakers and pickers are needed to work on the second nine where rocks will have to be removed before the scheduled opening date of July 1.

Auxiliary shopping spree

The time for the shopping spree will be at 12:30 noon on Wednesday April 22, instead of 5:30 p.m. April 18, as previously reported.

St. John's-Ravenscourt School, one of the oldest in Canada is looking for former pupils, to help celebrate its one hundred and fiftieth anniversary.

The school's history dates back to 1820 when Rev. John West built the first log house on the bank of the Red River to educate abandoned or orphaned Indian boys. Three years later it became a boarding school and was integrated. In 1950, St. John's was joined by the Ravenscourt Independent school, which had been founded by Norman Young in 1929.

The present Alumni of St. John's and Ravenscourt are many and scattered across Canada and the U.S.A. Numbers have achieved eminence, and have come from such far away places as Singapore, Brunei, Mexico, Biafra and Iran.

The Alumni is looking for their oldest member or members. Perhaps it is you for whom they are looking or you may be able to help contact him.

Soccer teams visit Bellevue

The Canadian and American soccer teams split the victories in the return match at Bellevue on March 15.

Squamish Klismen defeated the Lake Hill Panthers by a score of 4-3; South Squamish Peewees downed the Lake Hill Saints 5-0 and the Mamquam Peewees shut out the Fighting Irish, scoring 2-0.

American teams who defeated their opponents were the Lake

Hill Rangers who downed the Rotarians 7-1; the Lake Hill Jets who defeated the Lions 2-0 and the Lake Hill Bollermakers who defeated the North Squamish team by a score of 8-0.

The teams played the return match two weeks after the visit of the American teams on March 1.

The local boys were billeted with their host teams and many parents accompanied the boys on their trip to the States. Everyone was most appreciative of the kindness and hospitality of their hosts and the soccer weekends have certainly helped cement Canadian-American friendship.

Club holds work bee

The Squamish Valley Rod and Gun Club held a work bee on the club grounds at the Mamquam River on Sunday, March 8.

Despite the poor turnout a great deal was accomplished.

Mamquam Spring-O-Rama drew many visitors

The Mamquam Elementary School's Spring-O-Rama, held on March 19, was a great success and raised over $600 for the school's athletic and other activities.

School principal M. A. Carrico said he was delighted and astonished at the success of the event in which all the children and teachers participated.

Many and varied were the attractions. There was a concert in the kindergarten room, along with a boutique which sold ceramics, and tie dyed materials; there was an interesting and popular cake walk.

Concessions and booths were set up in the gymnasium where everything from food to plants were on display and for sale. Of course the fish pond was a popular attraction and all the little children, as well as the bigger ones, patronized it.

In Mrs. Bell's room, the children presented a program which they wrote, drew and filmed and then narrated. It was a tremendous project for the youngsters and one which was very well attended.

But the Shortbranch Saloon, a replica of a western bar, must have been the piece de resistance. The attractive bickined "nude" above the bar; the puppet show; the band who played so melliflously on their pop bottles! I'm sure it wasn't tea, and it couldn't have been spirits but if it was a soft drink it was too pale for cola!

There was a packed house for each performance. People streamed through the building and teachers and pupils must have been amazed and delighted at the turnout.

Mr. Carrico said unfortunately a few parents didn't see their children because there were so many people present but this was their first effort and they were overwhelmed by the numbers who attended.

Brackendale Brownies entertain parents

The Brackendale Brownie Pack under the leadership of Brown Owl Mrs. T. Aldridge, and her assistants Mrs. W. Cates and Mrs. G. Farquharson, entertained their parents at a special Parent's Night in the Brackendale Elementary School on Tuesday, March 17.

The program consisted of a number of plays, skits and other presentations with Nicola Candy as master of ceremonies. This was followed by a pow-wow on stage where the girls formed a horseshoe and sang songs.

The entertainment opened with a play called "Bogarts and Brownies" in which all the new Brownies took part. Then "I Can't Pay the Rent" in three parts was enacted by Laura Benthams.

This was followed by "Tit for Tat," "The Echo" with Yvonne Vroom, Leslie Aldridge and Susan Brennan and a tableau called "The Family Tree." A skit "It's a Gift" ended the program.

After the pow-wow Brown Owl Aldridge presented Trudy These with the award she had won from District for her poster and the winners of the Pack's cookie poster competition also received their prizes. Winners were Trudy These, Heidi Heidenreich and Carol Lloyd.

Brown Owl Aldridge thanked all the parents who attended the evening and said she was delighted with the response to their first parent's night, attended by more than sixty people.

Tables had been set up containing examples of the work done by the girls as well as the work they had done for their badges. Cookie week posters were also on display.

The Squamish adult drug education committee

WHAT IT IS

At the close of 1969, there was a well attended public meeting held in the Royal Canadian Legion Hall, called by a group of citizens, who were concerned by the spread of illegal drug usage in this community.

Arising from this meeting, a group of people who call themselves the Squamish Adult Drug Education Committee, have met several times to consider what could be done with this problem, which certainly is not going to dry up and blow away. It was decided to try, through all possible and available means, to spread as much information about drugs and the drug problem, throughout this community, so that people, young, old, not so old, single, young marrieds, parents or whatever, could become as informed as possible.

This is no small task, because there is such a volume of information, misinformation, myths and half truths from all kinds of sources, such as Narcotics Foundations, Bar Associations, law enforcement agencies, the United Nations Health Organizations, and the twilight world of those who advocate the use of certain substances, which they claim are the panacea to alleviate the stresses and strains of our western civilization.

Notwithstanding this rather bewildering array of material, the committee wishes to make one or two facts quite clear from the outset. One is that we oppose the abusive and illegal use of drugs, period. It goes without saying, that we are also against the abusive use of alcohol, high powered cars, or anything else which is anti-social in its effect on the public at large.

It also goes without saying, that we are most certainly not against teen-agers, old age pensioners, people over thirty, or any other age group. In fact, like most ordinary folk, we are for people, period.

During the coming weeks, we hope through the medium of the local press, to publish factual articles dealing with the various aspects of the drug program. We hope to deal with the legal, sociological, physical, medical and statistical facts that we have gathered.

It is also hoped that service clubs and other groups will invite us to provide them with speakers or panels, to discuss these matters.

We would particularly welcome invitations from people who would like us to discuss the subject with them, and friends and neighbours, right in their own homes.

A phone call to any of the committee will be sufficient to arrange any of these things.

We will, in all probability, being human and fallible, make mistakes.

Already we have had criticism of statements made in a film shown at a recent public meeting. Well, please don't shoot the pianist, he's doing his best.

Annual Congregational meeting at Britannia

A delicious pot luck supper preceded the Britannia Beach Community Church annual general meeting on Thursday, Mar. 5th, at 6 p.m. with around 50 adults and children enjoying the many delectable dishes set out on the tables. A short intermission followed the supper, allowing parents with young children

visit city

A very pleasant afternoon was spent at the West Vancouver Bowling Alley by members of the Senior Citizens group of Squamish when they accepted the invitation of the West Vancouver group to a friendly competition of bowling Friday, March 13th.

The Britannia team 'Weiners' with Flo and Red Verdesio, Walt Freeman and Olive Baxter along with Rene Bishop of Squamish were high scorers of the Squamish group and were only 17 points behind the winning West Vancouver team.

Delicious refreshments were served by the West Vancouver group during the half time coffee break. A very good time was had by all.

a chance to take them home before the meeting got underway. Rev. Boulger opened the meeting with a prayer and the minutes of the previous meeting were read by secretary, Mrs. A. McNair.

A letter of thanks was extended to the girls of the young people's group who washed all the dishes from the supper. A film entitled 'A Day of Experience', was shown at the close of the business. Showing the different receptions received by four student ministers in their areas of ministry. Coffee and cake were enjoyed at the close of the evening.

be a student minister instead of a working minister. A vote of thanks was tendered to Mrs. Astrid Karwinski and Mrs. Edith DeKroon who are organizers for the services.

Two more members were elected to the Church Board. It was decided to invite a member of the young peoples group to the board and Gordon MacDonald was nominated and elected. Ron Evans was also nominated and elected to bring the board to a full slate.

Job's daughters to attend meet

Grand Guardian Council of the International Order of Job's Daughters (IOJD) will hold their Grand Sessions April 2, 3, and 4 in the Garden Auditorium of the Pacific National Exhibition. Mrs. Robert Blackmore of Burnaby, Grand Guardian, and Mr. Graham Foster, Richmond, Grand Associate Guardian, will preside.

There will be a good representation of some 3,000 girls and their adult councillors belonging to the 55 Bethels in the province at the business sessions and social activities being planned.

Corriea Sullivan, Honored Queen of Bethel 45, Squamish, will attend the Saturday session. International Order of Job's Daughters is an organization for girls between the ages of 12 and 20 years having a Masonic relationship. The organization bases its teachings on the Book of Job in the Bible. Members are taught the highest ideals and principals of young womanhood, respect and thoughtfulness of others. They also receive leadership training.

Their main project is the Lymphoma Research Project of the British Columbia Cancer Institute, but each Bethel has its own local philanthropic project such as, assistance to the blind, retarded, disabled and elderly shut-ins. Some also adopt foreign children.

Mrs. Effie Caldwell, Past Grand Guardian of B.C., started the Lymphoma Research Project in 1952. In 18 years Bethels have raised and donated $58,000 towards the project. Many pieces of equipment have been bought and assistance given to doctors furthering their studies in the research for the cure of cancer.

Money is raised by each Bethel in numerous ways including bazaars, rummage sales, selling candy and peanuts.

Asks for street light

The Chamber of Commerce last week decided to ask council if a street light could be placed at the spot where the road to the schools leaves the access road just north of Squamish.

This area is quite dark and it is difficult to see the turn off at night.

The chamber also decided to meet at the Chieftain Hotel in future and to ask the high school manual arts class if they could design and make a plaque to be placed in the hotel to signify the chamber meets there regularly.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank the Staff of Squamish General Hospital and a special thanks to Dr. L. C. Kinross for their kindness to my daughter and I while we were in hospital.

Mrs. Urban White.

A TENSE MOMENT in "Gaslight" shows Audrey Owen as Bella and Bob Owen as the inspector when they find the jewels which have been stolen.

Gaslight proved to be a thrilling production

By G. FORREST JOHNSTON

With its presentation of "Gaslight" at the high school last weekend, the Howe Sound Drama Club moved away from the security of slapstick in the "thriller" field, and with a degree of success that was thrilling, no matter how one interprets the word. The setting of the play was mid-Victorian, the plot predictable, and the dialogue almost perfectly clean.

But the actors, authentically costumed with emphasis on the symbolic, lived their parts with sincere conviction that ruled out any hint of conscious 'acting.' Director Lee Wagner kept everything moving at a suitably ominous pace; and in spite of the 'un-with-it' aspects of the play, the audience was caught up in the plot to the point, at times, of spontaneous participation.

The story of "Gaslight" centres around Bella, the innocent, frightened woman being deliberately driven insane by a husband who had already committed one murder during an attempted robbery. Audrey Owen's interpretation of the part was superb. She was consistently confused, nervous, indecisive, pathetic, and innocuous, but always managed to convey by subtle hints, a suggestion of the strength of character that made her final revenge both credible and terrifying.

Dick Wagner was equally effective as the scheming, husband, complete with twirled moustache and villain's cloak; and Bob Owen as the retired police inspector who saved the lady, found the jewels, and brought the criminal to justice, managed to do all these stock heroics without succumbing to any of the over-dramatizing which the part, and indeed the whole plot, invited.

Sue Penn in the purely utilitarian role of the housekeeper made up, with a commanding stage presence and natural acting ability, for what the writer had left out of the part; and Sue Carrs the red-headed, sinuously flirtatious maid, made one wish the mid-twentieth century playwrights had been less concerned with censorship.

Chris Baldry and Dale Shaw completed the cast most effectively in the non-speaking roles of London bobbies. Mrs. Wagner welded all this talent to the best advantage in a thoroughly unified production which was a triumph all around.

One could find points to niggle about. The set seemed to pause uncertainly between the realistic and the suggestive; Bella's tonal range was a bit limited; the police inspector's enunciation was often fuzzy; and the casualness of the villain was frequently so deliberate as to seem unnatural.

There were moments, too, when the skill of the actors was insufficient to cover the stilted dialogue to which the playwright resorted on occasion; some of the sub-climaxes may have been over-emphasized at the expense of the effectiveness of the final scene; and the lighting effects were adequate rather than eerie.

But a play is produced to be enjoyed, and its success must depend on the degree to which audience and actors share a mutual emotional experience. On that basis, this production of "Gaslight" could scarcely be faulted.

In regards to Ian Hamilton's letter to the editor in last week's Times, I thoroughly agree with you, Ham, and also Rev. Wingfield. Trailer courts are okay for transients but don't see why people, if they wish, can't buy a piece of land and put either a nice trailer or mobile home Birthday greetings go out to Mrs. Elizabeth Fuller, my aunt; Mr. Harry Brightbill, that's my pop; Jim Barnfield, Bret Hartnell, Laura Lassmann, Henry Bishop, Kelly Clausen, David McRae, and Mrs. Emma Cunningham, and she is my mother-in-law and gets the Times back in Red Deer, Alberta.

Well the picture this week is quite old but think most of you will recognize the people.

Think I'll sign off, believe it or not, at this moment I am speechless, boy that's one for the books.

The Country Philosopher

By A.B.C.

First off this week I just have to tell you about a conversation I overheard between two young gals, I'd say, they were about 13 years old. One gal was telling her friend, that her mother had smelled marijuana, so of course the friend asked, "what it smelt like!" The gal replied that her mother said it smelt like peat. The friend hesitated a moment and then replied, "Gee, I don't know how Pete smells but Joe, egad, he stinks!"

I nearly split at the seams, that's really a good one. Don't know just what transpires after that 'cause I just had to leave the scene!

Don't worry girls, I won't give out your names.

Many, many thanks to the I.G.A. for having TV Bingo back on again. I just hope I have a little luck this time. Bet you are playing Iris??

And don't forget our own local bingo games folks, Monday at the Catholic Church and this Thursday at the Elks. Also keep in mind the Giant Bingo on April 10 at the high school.

You know I think that the money pole in the Squamish beer parlor is a real good deal and a good idea. What you say Alex, if you started one now for the Squamish Junior Pipe Band. It would sure help them out a lot and I think it's a worthwhile cause.

I think that having a laundromat right down in Squamish would be a good idea. How handy it would be for people, you could put your wash in and go do your shopping or go for coffee. Sure hope it comes to pass okay.

Last week's picture was none other than Bob Ryan. And in the first suit he ever owned too. Guess you have had many suits since this was taken, eh Bob?

on same, I don't mean on the main street of Squamish, but out a ways. I am sure that there are some spots in Brackendale that would be quite suitable, for mobile homes and trailers.

As long as each is kept up to standards, I see no difference than from a house made of wood or brick. After all the trailer is the owner's home. I wouldn't mind a bit having a trailer or mobile home next door to me, as long as both it and the grounds are kept tidy. What is the diff??

There is a couple of gals around town with big swelled heads right now, yah! The Buchanan gals, Sylvia and Dot! Seems they gave Barry Naimark the run around at the beginning of the curling bonspiel last week, Barry, a champion, may have been surprised but not as much as those gals, before the nite was over they were flying high!!

Congratulations to all four on the Squamish team, good show!

Wedding anniversary greetings go out to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hurren and Mr. and Mrs. John Visona.

Must say that was quite the pamphlet the Squamish Valley Golf and Country Club put out. They have, as you probably noticed, an application form attached telling you to mail your cheque with same, but don't see anywhere on the pamphlet, just how much the cheque should be for. No prices given!!

Isn't it about time we had another wrestling nite in Squamish? Seems quite awhile since we have had one.

Guess next on the list is the old Easter Bunny bringing eggs to all the honeys! And also means a holiday for all the school kids. Do hope the weather is nice for you all, including me, I don't care too much for rain either, you know, and I am far from being a young'un.

Sure seems funny not getting a daily paper, but I have finally quit going out each morning looking for it. I don't think people really miss them so much, think, like lots of things, they were just another habit. But then, you know what the rabbit did!

Well the picture this week is quite old but think most of you will recognize the people.

Think I'll sign off, believe it or not, at this moment I am speechless, boy that's one for the books.

CROMAGLASS
SINGLE HOME AEROBIC SYSTEM

The Cromaglass System is a new concept in wastewater treatment. It traps and retains organic solids until almost completely oxidized... under conditions far beyond the capabilities of any obsolete system. It works in soil with poor absorption... reduces possibility of well contamination... satisfies most local sewage disposal regulations that prohibit other type systems.

The Cromaglass unit withstands outside pressures and corrosion, needs next to no maintenance and is low in cost!

Arts and Crafts Fair proves huge success

By ROSE TATLOW

The Arts and Crafts Fair, held in the Village Square last weekend, proved to be a great success.

Organized to show the work which had been done by the adult education classes in arts and crafts and the Indian art classes, it brought together a large quantity of work done by local artists and craftsmen.

Mrs. W. Gosling, who co-ordinated the adult education classes, said she was delighted with the amount of work which had come in and was equally delighted with its quality.

The fair was also designed to promote the work of those who would like to find a market for their creativity.

Everyone helped to get the fair organized with Angelo Vangelista and Tony Destradi helping to set up the counters and booths; materials provided by Garibaldi Building Supplies, and many of the exhibitors helping as well.

A highlight of the three day fair was the many demonstrations which took place. On Friday Nancy Martin demonstrated painting while Bill Williams and Doreen Baker showed how to make Indian carvings.

Josephine Williams and Mary Harry showed the intricacies of beadwork while Evelyn Smith demonstrated her resin craft. Margaret Malcolm gave an exhibition of eggshell mosaic work and Herdes Jensen and Beirgit Bruun showed the coil method of making pottery.

But it was the work which was on display which drew many admiring comments. Paintings, wall plaques, carvings, driftwood, papier mache work, silk screening, batik and tie-dyeing, acrylic work, seed pictures, tin can art, burlap flowers, pottery and Indian art; it was all there and all beautiful.

Among the exhibits which particularly appealed to me were the beautiful wall plaques of dried flowers and grasses on cork board made by Mrs. R. E. Street; a lovely driftwood lamp in the shape of a Viking ship, wood carvings by D. St. Claire, some wood carvings in the Scandinavian style, examples of tin can art, a beautiful blue rooster plaque, and smaller objects made by Mrs. Hutson and some decorated bottles displayed by Loren McKenna.

Two of Tillie Shemko's paintings caught my eye; one a flower study of magnolia blossoms, the other a sunlit forest in greens and greys lit by a shaft of golden light.

Another painting also appealed to me; a study in blues of two Eskimo boatmen on an Arctic sea, painted by Frances Carrat.

There were Indian carvings and examples of Kwakiutl art by John Willgress, some beautiful examples of pottery, some in the deep earthy colors and others in the brighter blues and oranges.

I was also interested in the burlap flowers displayed in a tall vase and the attractive Christmas wreaths made of cones and seeds.

There was something for everyone at the Arts and Crafts Fair and it was amazing to see just how much talent there is in the valley.

Now the next step would be to have a place where the articles could be sold, possibly on a consignment basis. Maybe we need a crafts shop to interest our summer and winter visitors.

CORPORAL DUFFIN of the local RCMP detachment welcomes one of the American soccer players, Richard Lincoln of Bellevue, Wash.

Soccer players meet Matt Dillon

The highlight of the soccer weekend at Bellevue for two young Canadian soccer players, was meeting television star

Matt Dillon at the hotel where they were staying.

David and Don Burns, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Burns of Brackendale were the lucky youngsters.

Mrs. Burns said they were in the hotel with Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Rustad when the television star came in. They recognized him, and summoning up her courage Mrs. Burns went over to speak to him.

When she asked if he would meet the boys he said he was pleased to do so and now David and Don have Jim Amess's autograph as a souvenir of their visit.

Mrs. Rustad says her pen was used to sign the autographs and she'll be sure to keep it!

According to legend, Eagle's Nest, Man. Post Office, established in 1876 was aptly named. Before it opened, mail was placed in a sack suspended from a tree which housed an eagle's nest. If the sack was in place, the mail courier paused to collect the mail, if not, he didn't stop.

For motorists

The new point system and what it means to you

Effective April 1 the new point system for driving offences will be instituted in B.C. Penalties of from two to 10 points are assigned to certain driving offences and these will be placed on the driver's record.

When a motorist has accumulated six points for driving offences a letter is mailed from the Superintendent of Motor Vehicles and while no action is taken the driver is warned that a further offence could lead to his licence suspension.

The new law eliminates tickets and fines for driving offences under the Motor Vehicle Act and institutes a system of Violation Reports. These reports, unless disputed, or if disputed but confirmed by a provincial court judge, will be filed with an individual's driving record at the Motor Vehicle Branch, and will provide the basis for more effective surveillance of offenders by traffic authorities.

When you are stopped for a traffic violation the police officer will complete and sign a Violation Report and a copy of this will be served to you in person or by mail. It specifies the alleged violation and tells where a notice of dispute may be delivered.

Unless you deliver a notice of dispute to the person named in the Violation Report within seven days and deposit the sum of ten dollars your report will be forwarded to the Supt. of Motor Vehicles. If there is no notice of dispute a copy of the Violation Report is filed with your driving record at the Motor Vehicle Branch.

YOU CAN PROTEST

If you dispute the action it is referred to a Judge. After a hearing, at which full opportunity to present evidence is allowed, the judge determines whether the offence has actually taken place.

If he determines it did not your $10 deposit is returned. If he is satisfied that the offence has occurred he will inform the superintendent of his decision. In no case shall the judge record a conviction or impose a penalty.

All violation reports become a permanent part of the individual's driving record unless they have been successfully disputed. For repeated violations the Superintendent of Motor Vehicles may take any of the following steps:

1. Issue a warning to the offender.

2. Call the offender for an interview, and when deemed necessary, require the offender to take a driver training course.

3. Suspend the offender's driver's licence outright. Before this step is taken, the offender is given the opportunity to show why this should not be done.

4. Require the offender to appear before a judge, who after reviewing his record, determines whether the offender's driver's licence should be suspended.

Offences covered by this new law are all driving offences under the Motor Vehicle Act involving public safety, such as speeding and careless driving. It does not apply to minor traffic offences such as over-parking, for which tickets will still be issued.

CAN BE DROPPED

If three points or less are present on an individual's driving record these are deleted at the end of one year. Point values for the Motor Vehicle Act of offences are removed after three years, but points for Criminal Code offences and for driving while under suspension remain for at least five years, and longer if a bad record persists.

There are a number of other reasons for suspension of a driver's licence. Suspension can be ordered by a judge if an individual appears charged with a driving offence and he feels it should be suspended or the driver be prohibited from operating a motor vehicle.

If as a result of a judgment against you, or an agreement with you, money is paid by the Traffic Victims Indemnity Fund to an applicant to satisfy a claim resulting from a motor accident. Failing a driving examination, or failing to appear for an examination, may result in licence suspension.

Please keep your driving record free of point penalties, and contribute to safety on the road, by exercising constant care behind the wheel. Remember safe driving is your responsibility too.

Learn and apply the principles of "Defensive Driving."
