Recreational area approved

Ald. A. W. Hendrickson's suggestion that the river bank on either side of the Mamquam River, east of the golf course and as far as the Mamquam Falls, be declared a recreational area, met with council's approval last week.

Hendrickson said it is an attractive area, popular with fishermen and hikers and really not suited to development. It would make an ideal recreational area and should be preserved for this purpose.

Mayor P. J. Brennan said the falls area lies outside the municipality but he was sure it could be obtained to add to the park and he would see the Minister of Lands and Forests about this.

Tree names for streets

Streets in the newly subdivided area in Valleycliffe will be given the names of trees, after council agreed to a request from the subdividers who wished to do this.

Street naming will be completed before the building begins and this will make finding the homes much easier than the former practice of putting in streets and then finding names which has occurred in other areas.

The developers say that trees of the variety mentioned in the name will be planted along each street to carry out the continuity.

Centennial report

The backstops have arrived and are being installed on the fields and grass is coming on well for this time of year. The parking lot is taking shape and the entrance to the site has been widened.

The committee has decided to build changerooms and will be asking for assistance for this project as they feel it would be incomplete without the changerooms. With the fantastic response for assistance for the fields the committee hopes this will continue for the change-room construction.

The Barkerville Show is tentatively scheduled to appear in January but there will be more details later. Commemorative centennial medallions are also being ordered which will retail at fifty cents and centennial lapel pins at twenty five cents each.

Thoughts are being given to the design for the entrance to the centennial field with the possibility of using totem poles as the native Indian heritage is so important in this area.

LISA ENFER as a ghost and Kelley Pederson as an angel came trick or treating last week.

OBVIOUSLY INTERESTED over the potential of the marshland north of the school as a wildlife refuge is Bob Harris, left of the Canadian Wildlife Association. With him is Bill Stockman who originally proposed the idea which is receiving good support.

Tempers boil over log sorting grounds issue

Mayor Brennan had to ask an alderman and a delegation of speakers to cease arguing about intentions when tempers rose as a result of the committee decision regarding the proposed log sorting area at the former B & M property.

The committee, consisting of Aldermen Boscarol, Burt, Hendrickson and Kindree had observed machines working at the site on the preceding Saturday and listened for noise from a number of areas, and came to the conclusion that the noise factor was not a problem.

However the committee recommended that a site should be found south of the railway bridge instead of at the camp site.

At this point N. R. Barr, one of the principals of CRB Logging, which is anxious to obtain the property for a sorting ground, said he felt it was unfair to ask them to bring in a load of logs and a machine to run the test if the noise factor had not been the important one.

"It was my understanding," he said, "that the noise factor was all that prevented us from obtaining municipal approval. I had no idea there were other considerations involved."

Alderman Boscarol retorted that he had always had misgivings and that he had never indicated his approval would depend on whether or not there was a noise factor.

Tempers and voices rose and the mayor had to order the men to be quiet and continue with the discussion.

Alderman Hendrickson, who is chairman of the committee, said it had been their understanding that there was another suitable site south of the highway bridge but since reaching the recommendation in the report, he had learned this was not the case.

Barr stressed the point there are no other lands available which can be used for that purpose. He said they had carefully checked all spots and some which would be suitable were far up the channel of the Squamish River and would require very costly dredging which would make them impractical to develop.

He also pointed out that until the PGE decided where the suitable areas for sorting and booming will be no permanent leases can be obtained on the Squamish River.

A decision to meet with PGE directors, including right-of-way and land agent Gordon Ritchie and Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston, was made and final decision regarding the property will be withheld until such a meeting is held.

Hendrickson said that, if after such a meeting, no alternative sites could be found, the decision would have to be reconsidered.

He admitted that no one would want the companies involved to face prohibitive costs in developing their log sorting ground.

NEW SITE FOR COUNCIL MEETINGS

During the next few months council will be meeting in the court room on the upper story of the Elliott Block. With the need for an office for the work being done on the river control project and the lack of sufficient space at the municipal hall, council felt it was cheaper to hold the meetings in the Elliott building than to rent office space for the river project.

Meetings will continue to be held on the second and fourth Tuesday of the month. The new arrangements will last for about four months, or the duration of the river control program.

$100,000 odor control system for FMC plant

Ralph Ross, resident manager for FMC Chemicals told council last week that his firm was spending $100,000 on an odor control system which should eliminate occurrences such as the one which took place on Oct. 22.

He said the odor was caused when compression was lost. It lasted for less than thirty seconds and was under control in three minutes.

"Everyone performed their function well," Ross said, "and the situation was well in hand."

In making the announcement concerning the installation of odor control machinery Ross said that he and J. Updyke had been discussing it and the decision was made to do so.

Engineers had designed it but the design had to be changed and he said this week they would start on a system which should go into effect at the first sign of escaping chlorine.

Ross said the cost of the installation, while high, was worth while as it would remove the possibility of the odor escaping and the fact his company was willing to make this expenditure at this time was indicative of the importance his company placed upon solving that problem.

"At present," he said, "our system is .99 percent perfect. Now we're going after that one percent."

Mr. Ross said they should be in good shape by the first of the year.

Mayor Brennan complimented Mr. Ross and his firm on the attention which had been paid to problems which had arisen and the immediate steps which had been taken to alleviate them.

Mr. Ross also introduced his production manager, Jack Selby who had been in the position since Aug. 14.

Story hour at library

On November 14th from 10 until 11 a.m. Mrs. J. Clerhuc will hold a Story Hour for children up to eight years of age.

The Library Board is very grateful to Mrs. Clerhuc for offering to work on this project.

Keep the date in mind, mothers, and send or bring the young ones to the Library on Saturday November 14th at 10 a.m.

Tests prove spray unsafe

By ROSE TATLOW

Scientific proof that a herbicide spray proposed for use in the municipality is lethal to fish was revealed in a report Mayor Pat Brennan presented to council last week.

The spray, tested by the B.C. Research Council, under the district's new spray permit bylaw proves that sprays are far too toxic for use in areas where there are many creeks, and rivers.

The tests were made after a Richmond firm, Molsberry Chemical Spray Co. applied for a permit to spray the PGE right-of-way with a chemical spray MCPA at a concentration of 10,000 parts per million.

When told the District of Squamish would require "toxicity tests" run on the chemical and this would cost $150 the company indicated they would not require a permit until the spring of 1971 and would wait till then.

Council felt the test should be made so late in September they decided to have tests on MCPA and 2-4-D carried out in order to have the information on hand. Samples of the two herbicides were obtained from the Molsberry Spray Company.

Tests made by the B.C. Research Council showed that, as low a strength as 570 parts per million would kill half the fish in the test tank in 96 hours.

The mayor noted that the strength proposed for spraying was almost 15 times as great and said:

"They'd kill every damn fish in every creek they went over and kill them twice over!"

The test report, signed by T. E. Howard, group leader, water quality division of applied biology and C. C. Walden, head of applied biology, also found that 2-4-D is toxic at 3,550 parts per million.

The mayor said it was not difficult to understand why reports of "fish kills" were recorded in various parts of the province when the railway company was considering using MCPA at 10,000 p.p.m. in this area. This concentration would be completely lethal to local fish, especially when the spraying was being done four feet off the ground.

"To my knowledge," he said, "this is the first time that sprayers of industrial chemicals have been challenged to show their product is toxic and I think the evidence we have already disclosed would indicate more thought should be given to the validity of using toxic industrial sprays."

"There's no way," he continued "that anyone will get a permit to spray these substances around in our municipality."

He was sure the municipal bylaw would stand although one passed by the regional district was repealed when advised to do so by the municipal affairs department.

At that time Dr. Gordon Shrum, B.C. Hydro chairman, referred to Squamish as the "backwash of North America."

"That was his big mistake," Brennan told council and the spectators at the meeting. "That is when I decided we'd better find out about how dangerous this stuff is."

Immediately after the municipal bylaw was passed, two officials from the Department of Agriculture visited Squamish. They appeared rather upset about the Industrial Spraying Bylaw and urged council to leave the problem to their department.

"Can you imagine what would have happened if we hadn't a bylaw," the mayor said. "The area would have been sprayed and it would have been good-bye fish!"

Advisory Planning Commission

The Advisory Planning Commission report dealing with recommendations regarding zoning in the area which council had asked them to examine, was presented and council planned to study these recommendations at leisure.

Commission members felt that as zoning questions were one of those they had been appointed to deal with, they would like to hear about all applications for rezoning which come before council. The chairman could decide if these applications merited a meeting.

The commission also felt it could contribute a great deal to the community and could be of assistance to council in a number of ways. Members felt they should be utilized as fully as possible.

An offer by the commission to do an environmental study for the municipality and to consider any questions on environment which might arise was welcomed with Mayor Brennan saying they would really be happy to have the commission take over the environmental study.

Interest shown in wildfowl preserve

Students from the high school and the local SPEC group may be given control of part of the planned wildfowl refuge in the municipal park area in Squamish.

A meeting has been arranged for Nov. 12 when the SPEC group, high school teachers and students, wildlife officer Bob Harris and the municipal engineer Doug Webber, will discuss ideas to create a wildfowl preserve on a swamp area near the school and in the 300 acre municipal park area.

Earlier in the meeting federal wildlife official Bob Harris gave his views on the possibility of turning the area into a preserve. Harris said the area has tremendous potential for wildfowl and would be an asset to the community.

"If ducks and geese live and breed here, they will return if they migrate," he said. "You start with the land, then build ponds or waterways and control the water."

Later they would go into other details such as planting, fencing, getting the stock and raising the birds. He pointed out a safe nesting area is a must but this should not be difficult to find.

Dr. L. C. Kindree asked if a waterfowl preserve in a park area would be compatible and Harris pointed out the success in Stanley Park where birds raise their young in the midst of a busy city.

The mayor said he was sure the school and the community could work together on the project and that an area could be set aside for the school.

The waterway behind the high school, which the students have

Fire department meets council

Fire Chief Dick Munro with his assistant chiefs, Terry Aldridge, Don Behner and Gordy Matheos, met with council last week to discuss certain portions of the fire committee's report.

The firemen asked for a new motor or a complete overhaul of the Mamquam fire truck, stating it was harming the men's morale to have an inferior truck or one that would not function properly.

Other requests were for an aluminum extension ladder to reach the top storey of apartment buildings; either a new siren or improving the present siren system, pocket pagers for hard to get firemen, and possibly the installation of red fire phones in each firehall.

The motor at Mamquam would be inspected when the company's representative visited Squamish last week and possibly it could be repaired or a new one obtained. Cost of pocket pagers was prohibitive and could not be authorized at this time. The extension ladder could be placed in next year's budget and so would cost of another siren.

Regarding the fluctuation of the siren's noise, a switch could be installed at very little cost which would cause a fluctuating signal which might wake more firemen. This was to be installed and it was hoped it would be more effective.

Discussion about the siren in the Garibaldi Estates area followed and the captain for that area felt the siren should be at the site originally selected and not where it is presently located.

He pointed out that most of the Garibaldi Estates firemen live in the Highlands area and do not hear the siren in its present location.

Brennan also complimented Bill Stockman who had first suggested the idea to him and who had interested Harris and the Canadian Wildlife Federation in the project.

Another False Creek

The suggestion that the rezoning of the Mamquam Blind Channel for log dump purposes should not be permitted is a valid one and the suggestion that it could become another False Creek while emotional is somewhat misleading.

Certainly there is no one who believes that the zoning at the entrance of town should be attractive and compatible to presenting a good appearance, more than we do, but it appears that the suggestion the area above the bridge not be zoned for this purpose while the area below it is, is ambivalent.

After all if the purpose is to remove log booming from the entrance to town let's not be ridiculous but ban it both above and below the highway bridge. Either one would be equally as unattractive if this is what the measure is designed to prevent.

And what happens to the small area between the two bridges which at present is used for log booming. Is it to be curtailed also? Another question rises and that is what will be done to ease the burden on those who have obtained foreshore rights to the waterway immediately below and above the highway bridge for the express purpose of log booming and log storage?

We sympathize with those who do not want to see the waterway choked with debris or unattractive, but living alongside it, we are inclined to believe there is more pollution from septic tanks which discharge their effluent into the channel.

If a suitable alternate area can be found we are sure the principals of the firms involved would be happy to obtain it. But we have been assured they have completely exhausted efforts to find another suitable one which would not cost an enormous sum to develop.

Alternate sites on the Squamish River would be costly to dredge and deepen, and the PGE Railway, which holds the property where one of the principals is located, will only offer a one year lease with a 30 day cancellation clause. This is hardly conducive to encouraging a business to putting in the changes and installations required. Particularly when they could be cancelled at any time.

But in all the discussion regarding the sorting and booming grounds it must be remembered that the economy of Squamish is based upon logging and areas must be set aside to accommodate the industry.

But let's not use a misleading and emotional analogy such as comparing the Mamquam Blind Channel to False Creek and making industry acceptable on one side of a line and not another when both are visible at the same time.

Condowhatsimums?

The growing popularity of condominiums as a form of community living has become well established at such ski areas as Whistler Mt. and new residential developments on the North Shore.

But now it is spreading to boating centres.

South of the border you can now rent — or own to rent to others when not using it yourself — a luxury catamaran called a "condomarinium".

It is a new concept in adventure and ocean vacationing derived from the land-based reality complexes.

Seaventures, a firm maintaining a managing rental yachts in the Bahamas, offers three molded fibre-glass models to families, individuals or business organizations. In a country where marinas abound, our Lower Mainland should be interested in this new concept of living.

It may be the start of a trend toward easier, safer, less-expensive boating for the North Shore vacationer who isn't necessarily a dedicated yachtsman.

A great Canadian

Canadian history is rich with examples of how one man or one woman was able to change the whole course of events, bettering human life, strengthening freedom, brightening hope. And men in every age have taken encouragement from the tale in Ecclesiastes of how one poor wise man, through his wisdom, delivered a little city when a great king came against it.

There are few greater powers in the growth of Canada than the cumulative effect of individual initiative rightly directed. Nor has there ever been a time in the history of Canada when such initiative, on a massive, nationwide scale, was more desperately needed.

There have been such great names as McDonald, Laurier, Banting, Riel, McKenzie-King, whose very influence were felt by every citizen from coast to coast. To this list of great men, leaders in their fields, we add the name of Jean Drapeau, mayor of Montreal.

More than any man in current history, this dynamic French Canadian typifies the true spirit of Canada — the nation of two prominent cultures — yet united and loyal to the fundamental belief that Canada is and will continue to be one of the great democracies of the world.

It was this little bi-linguist who sold Canada to the world for the incomparable Expo; it was this untiring French Canadian who won the summer Olympics over other competing cities around the world, it was this fearless, family man who led a resounding victory in the mayoralty race of Montreal.

Such individual effort has a breadth, a sweep, an inspiration which no organized governmental program can equal. Let this be a strong example for other men and women of Canada, for there must come the time when the average individual recognizes that he must actively participate in solving one or more of the problems which he sees around him.

This newspaper salutes and congratulates Mayor Jean Drapeau on his most recent success, and thanks him for his unselfish dedication to making Canada a better place in which to live.

Junior warbucks

A Victoria authority advises Canada that young people will be more thrifty if they save toward specific goals than just stuff dough into a piggy bank. She even goes so far as to suggest that parents provide matching funds for various purchases, to supplement allowances and income from odd jobs.

She is talking to the wrong people, in our opinion. It isn't the parents who have money any more, it's the kids. We have to borrow from them to pay the paper boy and rescue us at the corner ma-and-pa store.

Our youngsters are always poor-mouthing us but somehow they always have a couple of bucks for a pizza, ice cream sundae and a mound of french fries. They are not at a loss as to how to fill the gas tanks of their motor bikes or the family car.

They have money for everything from bubble gum to eye shadow, while older folks are searching through their work clothes in hopes of finding bus fare.

The young people have figured out how to save money. Maybe they should offer us matching funds.

MEMBERS OF THE SQUAMISH UNITED CHURCH

HOWE SOUNDINGS

For sheer funniness I haven't seen anything in a long time to beat the antics of the Lions TA team on the Sunday afternoon the girls played their first soccer game. The boys must have been small brothers and I just wonder how they had any energy left to play their game after the girls were finished.

They raced up and down the sidelines, shouting to the girls to "open up", "quit bunching up", "spread out", "keep your eye on the ball", and continually urged them to check closer and keep the other player off balance.

I laughed until I almost cried at their antics and I'm sure there were a number of girls who received detailed instructions on the finer points of the game when they got home that night.

And did you see the way Gordon Lovlin and Richard Eakins locked horns when they cracked together at the game? Both boys jumped for the ball and you could hear their heads crack together clean across the field. I'll bet they had a couple of real bumps and some sore spots for some time after.

It was a wonderful day, that last Sunday in October and a treat to see the grounds at the school so busy. There was a girl's soccer game, followed by the Lions game; the Chiefs were playing football in the oval inside the running track and the all purpose courts were getting a good workout.

Some of the men said they had been out on the golf course earlier in the day and it must have been beautiful there too.

There were some very slippery bridges on the highway last Monday morning. At one, near Sunset Beach, the West Vancouver police reported there had been five accidents before nine o'clock and the bridge was still icy. You would think the highways department would have been out with the sand trucks long before the situation got that bad.

I know it was still plenty slippery when I went down and there was no sign or anything to warn you to be careful. Maybe this bridge should be coated like the one just north of it which always was a bad spot. That one was a breeze despite the heavy frost.

The first fall of snow really adds to the appearance of the mountains doesn't it? While I wish it would have stayed away a little longer I must admit it does look beautiful up there.

But I'll bet the loggers who said the last fall dumped over a foot on their logging shows aren't very happy about it either. I'd like to see it disappear, nice and easy so it doesn't get a chance to create any high water or a flooding situation. If we can get past the end of October without one we should be home free as after that it usually snows in the mountains and this prohibits any high water.

But it is just thirty years since the big flood of 1940 when there was water in the valley up as far as the Brackendale Store. I sure hope it won't happen again.

Maybe the new dyking will prevent some of it but if the water rises as high as it did that year, possibly this wouldn't be enough for safety.

Halloween is fun, not just for the children but for many adults too and I certainly enjoyed being asked to judge at four costume parties last week.

Unfortunately three of them were on the same night but I managed, due to some split second timing... and a trusty car. Two Cub packs, one at Squamish and one at Mamquam and a Girl Guide group in Squamish, came up with some weird and wonderful costumes.

There were cats and witches, hobos, hockey players, ghosts, straw men, pirates and little old ladies, as well as many others. It was quite a problem deciding who should win the prizes.

Then on Wednesday the children at Sunday School dressed in Biblical costumes and each youngster had to answer questions regarding who they were. Some of the costumes were beautiful and even the teachers got in the act appearing as the Good Samaritan and the man he found along the road.

And now for the puns of the week. First a typical small boy

one. If buttercup is yellow, what color is a hiccup? "Purple!"

And marriage is marked with rings. There's an engagement ring, a wedding ring and sun-daring.

ECO NEWS

We in the high school are very fortunate in having a small marsh ecosystem just across the road from the science labs where students can investigate a natural science problem during regular class hours.

One of the students, Gilbert Rogers, is at present investigating the structure of this ecosystem. His main interest is to find out what plants and animals are in the water, and what they are using as a food supply. Gilbert reports:

PART I: Mamquam Blind Channel

Firstly I started to investigate the microscopic plants and animals found in the water as follows:

I made what is known as a hay infusion. The way in which this is done is very simple. I boiled a small amount of hay in regular tap water for about five minutes, then removed the hay and let the solution cool.

The waer left after the hay has been boiled provides an excellent supply of nutrients for the pondwater organisms. I then added a small amount of slough water from the Mamquam Blind Channel to the boiled solution.

The first few days I observed many decomposers, all of which were bacteria. The decomposers (bacteria) no doubt were feeding upon the organic material from the boiled hay. Next, some small one-celled animals known as Euglena were observed. I suspect these feed upon the bacteria because as the numbers of Euglena increased the number of bacteria decreased.

After a period of a few days I observed other one-celled animals. These were of a different type, and are known as Amoeba. As these are extremely slow moving animals, I am doubtful if they were feeding upon Euglena which are much faster moving, but I suspect these also feed upon the bacteria.

After a few days more one-celled animals were observed. These are more complicated organisms than either Euglena or Amoeba and are known as Paramecium. I suspect the Paramecium feed upon the Amoeba and Euglena. Mostly the latter though, because after the appearance of Paramecium the population of the slower moving Amoeba was virtually gone.

The appearance of the animals in the manner shown above demonstrates an important ecological concept known as succession. To date the succession I am experimenting with seems to have stopped at the appearance of Paramecium. In the future I hope to demonstrate a succession that will form a complete cycle, i.e. from producers, Part II will appear next week.

consumers, decomposers, producers etc. for an indefinite period of time.

Alderman Makowichuk reports

(Any views which may be expressed in this column are mine and are not necessarily the views of the Squamish Municipal Council as a whole or any individual alderman.)

Bylaw No. 340, a bylaw to amend the Business License Bylaw, received its first three readings at the council meeting on Oct. 27. The main amendments are resident pedlars or merchant's or manufacturer's agent will pay a bi-annual $10 licence ($20 a year) and non-resident pedlars and agents will pay the same as before. The $200 sum for bonding will be eliminated except in the case of transient operators.

The Canadian Legion were given permission to hold their parade and to sell poppies. Discussion was held regarding the operation of the garbage dump. The dump is open every weekend from 1-3 p.m. and a key can be obtained from the municipal office during the week if anyone needs it.

The River Control committee consisting of Mayor Brennan and Alderman Boscarol recommended the appointment of B. Manson as the works superintendent on the river control project. During the interval of the project the meeting room in the municipal office will be used by the river control committee for their office space and the council meetings will be held in the Elliott Building for a period of four months or so. The rent for the use of the Elliott Building for council meetings will be borne by river control.

B.C. Gospel Outreach were given permission to park a trailer in the vicinity of Xen Road for a period of one month only, providing there was no objection from the neighbors. This mobile home will be used for their gospel meetings only.

The committee composed of Aldermen Hendrickson, Kindree Burt and Boscarol who met to consider the noise factor with respect to the proposed log dump operations in the Mamquam Blind Channel area, proposed that a meeting should be arranged between Hon. Ray Williston, Minister of Lands, Forest and Water Resources and Mr. J. S. Broadbent, vice-president and general manager, PGE and the Council to establish PGE plans with regard to the dry land sort which is planned on the Squamish River delta. After a lengthy debate, it was decided to arrange the meeting as soon as possible as there was a time factor involved with the operators who wish to install the land log dump in the Mamquam Blind Channel area.

R. E. Ross of FMC Chemicals reported on the construction of a new system, which was very costly, to control and eliminate the escape of the fumes in the future.

Next council meeting at 8 p.m. on Nov. 10 in the Elliott building (where the court cases are held now.)

The Country Philosopher

By A.B.C.
I will start off this week, in a way, complaining. Guess that is not unusual, eh? That is one of my many faults, complaining. Anyhow, to get back to the complaint.

I cannot understand for the life of me, why there have been so many young children and teen-agers letting off firecrackers, some on the streets and highways and some at homes. I was under the understanding that firecrackers were banned in this area!

It must be very tough on parents who have children who just can't seem to figure out why they can't have fireworks when other kids do. In my opinion you older kids are not setting a very good example for the younger ones.

You know, it is illegal to have them here, and rightly so. This bylaw was passed for your protection.

As far as I know you cannot buy them in Squamish, so, if you buy them out of town, well light them off out of town!! Furthermore people do not appreciate you throwing them in their yards and on their cars. Go home and throw them in your own yard!!

You kids would have been better off to have given those fireworks to the Brackendale Fire Department and had them light them off legally on Halloween. By the time you folks read this the Brackendale Fire Dept will have had their fireworks display. Once again to all you firemen, thanks a million!!

Boy, wouldn't you climb a tree fast if you started dumpin' one of those cans and somethin' came alive in it, eh? Like a woman!! By the way, just so you don't get the wrong idea folks, the lady that fell in was cold sober!!

I hear by the telephone calls I get that it's high time. I started playin' bingo again. Hear that the jackpots are waiting for me. So, folks, all going well. I will see you Thursday at the Legion Bingo and Harvey, I'll bring a big purse with me!!

Wedding anniversary greetings go out to Mr. and Mrs. Terry Burt, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Chamberlain and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Parfitt.

I do wish more people would have been at last week's council meeting. It was not only entertaining, but very educational. I hope that the paper publishes Honorable Mayor Brennan's report on spraying. It's a damn good one.

Once you people read it you will think twice before using some of these so-called harmless sprays. Perhaps the article will be in at the same time as this column. If it is, I'd say, take a few minutes out and read it very carefully.

Nice to see an old classmate back in Squamish on a visit. I refer to Ruth Pepper, nee Morrison. And Ruth, for the eyes and ears of those folks back in Saskatchewan, we do have lovely "yellow" wild violets here!!

Tell your friends that they will behold them come spring here!! Sooner or later, Ruth, they will realize that B.C. has everything!!

Went, of course to the United Church rummage sale and like last year I had a ball. I, like many others, really enjoyed going through all that stuff. And we all got real good bargains. Ladies, when is the next one? Will sign off with this little item from a 1951-52 school annual.

Lundy is our hello gal, A guy named Pat is her best pal. ((Above now Mr. and Mrs. Pat Candy). Bye now.

Remembrance Day 1970

Twenty-five years is a long time, a quarter of a century, no less. That's how long ago it is since the end of World War II. For the under thirties, it is something which they have read about, heard about, seen films about.

For those in their forties, it is something that happened in their childhood or early teens. As it says on the Vancouver War Memorial in Victory Square, "Is this nothing to you?"

To a very young elementary school boy, David K., whose drawing is reproduced on this page, it means "crosses for soldiers the ones that were fighting for us they got dead the sun is shining on them". "They were fighting for us" so that we in Canada and elsewhere, may have the freedom that we take so much for granted, until they are suspended by majority consent, to combat those who would seek to overthrow the rule of a wand our democratic institutions.

These freedoms were suspended thirty years ago, for the same purpose. "They were fighting for us" in the hope that David K. and countless succeeding generations of Canadians should never have to fight again. And some, "they got dead".

And surely that is what Remembrance Day is all about, a day to remember that "the sun is shining on them", but that they don't feel it's kindly warmth.

For those who also served but returned, it is a day to remember our fallen comrades, and to re-dedicate ourselves to the causes for which they gave their lives. And also to ensure that there dependants, and those who returned no longer sound in body or mind, are cared for.

On Friday and Saturday next, poppies will be on sale in Squamish, to help provide funds for this purpose. Wear a poppy to show that you have not forgotten, wear a poppy to show that you too, remember.

Good attendance at night classes

Bob Ellison, Adult Education and Recreation director says the night classes at the high school are going well with up to two hundred people taking the courses on some evenings.

A few courses have had to be cancelled due to lack of students but in most cases they are well over the minimum required.

A new class, one which he has tentatively called an "adult drop-in program" has been planned at which various speakers will discuss topics of interest to people today. He is trying to find someone to run the course and arrange for the speakers.

Several new programs, which have not been previously tried here, are under discussion for the post-Christmas season and Ellison is hopeful that they may be inaugurated and will prove equally successful.

SPAWNING SALMON ATTRACT VISITORS

Glorious weather on the weekend and the picture of salmon spawning in the Mamquam River, carried by one of the city papers, attracted hundreds of cars and people to Squamish on the weekend.

There was a steady stream of traffic heading through the valley, either northward or to the banks of the rivers to watch the annual salmon migration.

Dozens of people lined the Mamquam bridge all afternoon, many others were down on the banks and cars were parked alongside the rivers as far as the forks of the Squamish and Elaho in the TFL.

In addition several buses on a mystery tour also visited Squamish and passengers enjoyed the bright sunshine to walk through town.

Expect dredging tenders to be called shortly

Mayor P. J. Brennan told council last week that work on the deep sea port at Squamish is definitely going ahead and that talks with PGE representatives had confirmed this.

"It is expected that tenders for dredging will be called within a week," he told council last week.

He said the site of the port development would be adjacent to the FMC plant, unless plans were changed, and not as close to the bank of the Squamish River as originally planned.

Earlier this year Catermole Timber Ltd. said it would be developing a dock at Squamish and that work would start immediately after the new year. Mayor Brennan said this would result in changes to the proposed river protection for this year. Instead of raising the dyke levels, the project will now be continued southward from where it ended this spring to cut off two channels which lead from the river eastward.

This new construction will have to be ripped up with rock so there will be considerable rock work this year as well as some raising and levelling.

However he said the sum of $200,000, allocated for this project, would not do both rock work and dyking and if dyking is planned there would have to be additional sums available for this purpose.

River protection plans had called for raising the dyke from the Mamquam River southward, and for some dyking and rip-rapping along the south bank of the Mamquam River.

Two lane traffic to Pemberton Rd.

Alderman A. W. Hendrickson suggested council should see about having the poles on the west side of Cleveland Ave. north of Pemberton Road removed so that two lane traffic could be continued to Pemberton Road.

At present the two lanes become one in the vicinity of the Little Chief Drive-In and this often creates a bottleneck, the alderman said.

Hendrickson said he was looking towards the day when there would be one way streets in Squamish and it would be necessary to have the additional lane for the free flow of traffic along Pemberton Road and the main arteries.

The district would have to have the poles moved but this would ensure there was sufficient road surface for the two lane traffic.

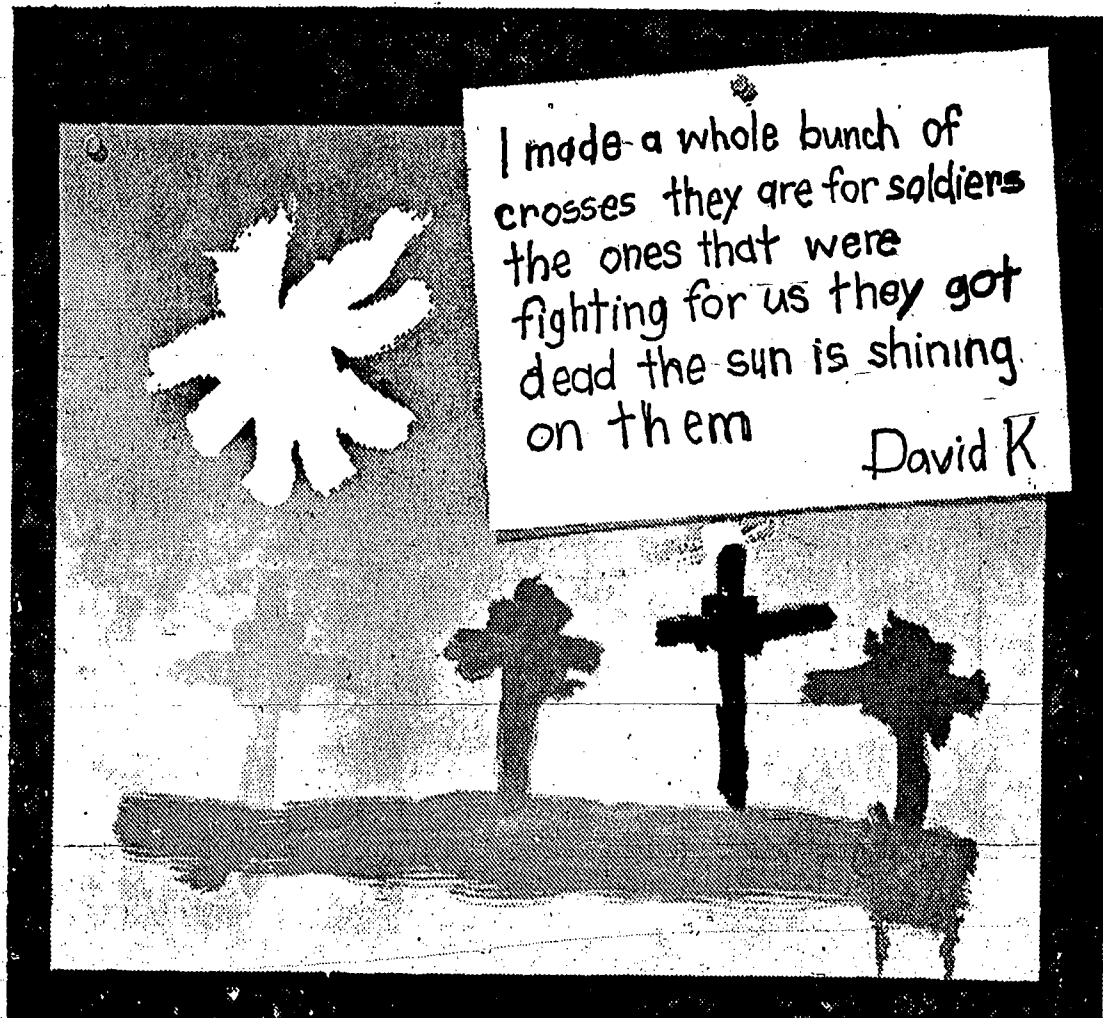

"They could do it now but

Mrs. Louise Anderson of Scholm Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star in Bellingham, was a welcome guest at a recent meeting of the Squamish Chapter. Mrs. Anderson is the daughter of the late Mrs. Florence Bowden of Woodfibre, a past Worthy Matron of Squamish Chapter.

The wedding to take place in February.

Engagement announced

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Garbers of Westbank, B.C. are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter Christa Ann to AB Robert Stuart Mitchell, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Mitchell of Squamish.

The wedding will take place in the Westbank United Church on November 28.

Parent-Teacher annual conference

Conference between teachers at the Howe Sound Secondary School and parents of the students was held at Britannia last night. The Woodfibre meeting is scheduled for tonight and Thursday and Friday afternoons have been set aside for the conferences at Squamish.

Though the hours at Squamish have been announced as 1-4:30, arrangements can be made for any parents unable to attend before 4:30 to meet the teachers later in the afternoon.

At the current conferences, marks to date are available for the parents, but the discussions will centre around attitudes, work habits and such other matters as bear so much influence on the student's success or failure in his years of training for the strict demands of the practical world outside the schools.

Written reports will be issued at Christmas, Easter, and at the year-end.

The conferences this week are only the preliminary to a further series of meetings spread throughout the year.

A meeting last week of the committee on community-school relations discussed the need for closer relationship between parents and the schools. It was felt that as a first step, specific efforts should be made towards explaining to parents what are considered new methods of approaching education.

Each of the department heads agreed to chair a public meeting where the work of his department will be explained and demonstrated insofar as possible. Though dates for the meetings are not yet decided, it is expected that they will be held at intervals of about one month.

The first meeting will be conducted by J. Gibson, vocational department head. Vocational courses are open to students and what post secondary education and opportunities are available to those who have taken these courses. The counsellors, D. Malcolm and Mrs. Gail Russell will assist at this meeting which is tentatively scheduled for early December.

The committee for community school relations was formed following a public gathering early in the school year when parents were asked to make suggestions for closer co-operation between the school and the rest of the community. One immediate result of the meeting was that enough people volunteered to assist in the school library that it is now possible to keep the library open from 7 to 10 each evening from Monday to Thursday.

THE PUMPKIN FAIRY Cheryl Elkins won first prize at the Girl Guide costume party with the black cat, Linda Tasker in second place while her mother, Guide lieutenant Mrs. Tasker as the witch received an honorable mention. In third place were the pair of ghosts, Donna Lemcke and Cheryl Turnquist with Teri Christie as the girl in the green hat fourth.

Dr. Lloyd Hines, District Governor for District 504, visited Squamish last week and spoke to the local Rotary Club.

Dr. Hines is from the Anchorage Club and governs a district of 54 clubs in Alaska, the Yukon Territory, British Columbia and the northwest corner of Washington.

He made an impressive speech to the local club which appears on another page, and was introduced by Ralph Ross, president of the Squamish Rotary Club.

Mr. Hines went to Alaska as an optometrist 33 years ago, went into real estate developing on the side, and retired from optometry several years ago, and is now the largest residential developer in the Anchorage area.

He has been prominent in civic service, as a member of the Chamber of Commerce, Boy Scout organization, Anchorage Symphony, Masonic Lodge and Shrine Club, senior warden of the Anglican Church and a charter member of Rotary, with 22 years in the club, a past president and now District Governor.

Dr. Hines said Rotary International was the first service club, born 65 years ago and with 700,000 members. There are 14,200 clubs around the world actively engaged in world fellowship and encouraging high ethical standards for its members.

Objectives of Rotary in every country are the same; the development of fellowship and an understanding among the business and professional men of the community, the promotion of community - betterment endeavors and of high standards in business and professional practices, and the advancement of international goodwill, understanding and peace.

Rotary Clubs everywhere have one ideal of service, which is thoughtfulness and helpfulness to others.

Mrs. Hines accompanied her husband on the visit to Squamish and last Thursday evening they were guests of honor at a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ross to which all Rotary Club members and their wives were invited.

A telegram of congratulations was received from Betty's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Williams of England, and a decorated cake topped with a silver ornament encircling a bride and groom was made for them by their daughter Pat.

An application for approval for a quarry on the west side of Howe Sound was granted at last week's council meeting along with approval to bring in a trailer to house a watchman at the site of the new medical clinic on Pemberton Road.

However council pointed out approval for the trailer for the watchman meant for the watchman only, not for men working on the building. It was only approved till March 31.

Considerable concern was expressed about the statement that the dump was not open to the public for a sufficient length of time. Council pointed out the dump was open between 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday and during the week the key can be obtained from the municipal office if anyone has any large items they wish to take to the dump.

Approval was also granted to D. Debeck for a water application on the creek which flows into Brohm Creek near the Garibaldi Glacier gondola base.

At the same time council instructed the clerk to have the works superintendent look at the uncovered ditch which comes through property on Skyline Drive owned by Dr. H. Redford. Dr. Redford complained about the ditch, saying it was a hazard to small children and also unsightly.

Approval was given for the closing of the main street during the Santa Claus parade planned for the week preceding Christmas. It was estimated this would be for only a short period while the parade came from the school to the downtown area.

Permission was also given to the B.C. Gospel Outreach group to bring in a mobile hall and place it on a lot on Axen Road for a month, providing there was no objection from the immediate neighbors.

A delegation from the group requested permission, stating they had been conducting services with children for the past two years and a number of parents had requested similar services for adults. This prompted the desire to bring in the fully self-contained mobile hall which would be used for adult services during that period.

Mamquam girls win two weekend games

Mamquam played two games on the weekend against Woodfibre on Oct. 31 and against Brackendale on Nov. 1. They won both games, the first by a score of 3-1 and the second was a shutout with Mamquam scoring one goal.

This was the second game played by the Mamquam girls and they came up with a good one. Cheryl Candy scored the first goal with Marianne Mortenson setting it up.

The Mamquam defense kept kicking the ball down at Woodfibre's end with beautiful play by Susan Acorn, Margit Lovlin and Shellie Birkland. Cindy Rourke made it 2-1 before half time.

In the second half Woodfibre was awarded a penalty but Mamquam goalie Laurel Lipsey stopped the shot. And right after that Woodfibre scored to make it 2-1.

Five minutes before the game was over Susan Acorn took a shot from her own 18 yard line and scored on it to make it 3-1.

That must have been the longest goal scored as it is quite a distance.

Sunday, Nov. 1

Mamquam came out for a rematch with Brackendale after they lost the preceding Sunday's game. It was played on a beautiful day and all the parents, from Mamquam and Brackendale and members of the men's soccer team were out to watch the game and prepared to enjoy it.

Mamquam defence Shellie Birkland made a nice pass to Rhonda Wittman who took the ball on her head and passed it to Cindy Rourke who pushed herself through the defence and scored.

This was a real team effort and the girls had to work together to win.

On Saturday Brackendale will travel to Woodfibre and Squamish will play at Mamquam while on Sunday Woodfibre will come to Brackendale at 2 p.m. for a game.

Squamish United defeats Germania

Squamish United overcame Germania 3-0 on Sunday, Nov. 1 in a hard fought contest. Germania manager Karl Geissler, desperately needing a win, was turned away by a young fast moving club which shows great potential for the rest of the season.

Some lineup revisions were made for this game in an effort to give better balance on offence and defence. This is the squad which bested Germania.

Goal, Reg Fogarty; fullbacks Imre Sorban and John Henderson; half backs John Carter, John Gilmour and John Nelson and forwards Les Downing, Rudy Venekamp, Norm Ross, Edward Hastings and Gus Zarand.

Reserves on hand for the game were Dorwin Hurst, Arnt Buan, Inniss Alexander, Roland Baumann and Hans Hickli. Eric Anderson was unable to leave Vancouver because of studies. Hadley Buffey rendered first aid service.

Germania opened the game with a fast moving attack and tested Reg Fogarty on numberous occasions in the first 20 minutes. At the 25 minute mark right half John Carter crossed the ball to Gus Zarand who headed home what proved to be the winning goal.

At 35 minutes left half John Nelson crossed a ball from the left side which Les Downing blasted in for goal number two. The score at half time, 2-0.

At the 65 minute mark Squamish was awarded an indirect kick from 20 yards. Les Downing hooked a curving ball into the Germania six yard line where Rudy Venekamp rose high into the air to head in the final goal.

... powerhouse on defence

Imre Sorban had an outstanding day in controlling the opposing left winger who formerly played in a first division club in Germany.

With a record of five wins and four losses Squamish now occupies fourth spot in the ten team 3rd Division of the Mainland Senior Soccer League. It appears likely that there will be another home game next Sunday at 2 p.m. against Vancouver Labatts.

North Shore soccer league

The Squamish Kinsmen shut-out North Vancouver Firefighters in their game last Saturday in Vancouver with Michael Sweeney scoring both goals.

In the second game of the day, played in Squamish the Rotarians defeated the Lynn Valley Vampires by a score of 1-0 with Jordan Riel scoring for Squamish.

Soccer exchange

Seven teams will be entered in the Squamish-Seattle soccer team exchange next spring when local teams will visit Seattle and play hosts to their American guests.

Boys in the age group from nine to 14 will be represented in the teams in the exchange group.

The visit to Seattle and the return visit will take place in late February and early March.

UNPILING from a mob scene after the Chief player was tackled by the visiting Eskimos at a recent Squamish game, players from both teams are getting up to take another crack at the ball.

Youth bowling

By PATRICIA REIMER

Results of the first quarter of the Youth Bowling League in Squamish shows the Dogwoods leading the Bantams with 19 points followed by the Cedars with 18. In the Junior division it is the Gogetters with 19 followed by the Cool Cats with 15.

Graham White led the boys in the high single in the Bantam division with 168 while Keith Downer had the high triple with 413. Terry McGregor was the top girl in the singles with 174 while Kim Norton led the high three scoring with 449.

In the Junior division it was Don Hales for the boys with a single of 253 and a triple of 585 while Terry Vass led the girls with a 237 single and 581 high three.

Gary Robson topped the boys in the Senior division with a 185 single and 517 triple while Lori Boscarol was the leading girl with 229 for the single and 617 for the triple.

Christensen, Pwani Johnson, Neil Roberts, David Haffey, Mauro Vescara, Greg Acorn, Larry Norstrom and Dale Rourke. Roberts and Pascuzzi scored for the Lions.

Chiefs lose crucial game to North Shore Vikings

By TONY HALTERS

In a battle for first place the Squamish Chiefs lost their game to the Vikings from the North Shore. The game was a seesaw battle during the first half with neither team moving the ball. It was strictly a defensive battle. The Chiefs moved the ball better in the first half than the Vikings and both teams gambled on a fourth down and lost the ball on downs.

The second half started much the same way and it was not until late in the third quarter that the Vikings finally scored.

Scout trees must be up to standard

The East Howe Sound Boy Scouts received municipal approval for the sale of Christmas trees this year and council decided, for one year only, to see applications for permits to sell by outsiders would be high enough to discourage them. However the mayor pointed out that the Scout trees would have to measure up to suitable standards and the trees should be carefully cut and culled before going on sale.

Howe Sound soccer league

In action in the Howe Sound Soccer League on the weekend the Mamquam Celtics shut out Squamish 2-0 in the Pee-wee section, while Stawamus defeated Britannia 2-1. In the Junior division Stawamus shut out Woodfibre 3-0 while Britannia defeated the Lions 1-0. Brackendale trounced the Mamquam team 7-0. Two games were played in the Senior division with Stawamus defeating Brackendale 2-1 and Mamquam scoring three goals to shut out Woodfibre.

In the past he pointed out that trees had not been as good as could be expected and people would not buy an inferior tree. "You must realize this is a business," he said, "and you have to produce."

G. F. Mitchell, chairman of the East Howe Sound District Council, told council N. Halvorson was in charge of this year's cutting program with the Venturers doing the actual cutting and the younger boys assisting in hauling them out and loading them.

He added that culling and carefully checking the trees should ensure there were no inferior ones this year.

Duplicate bridge

Results of the duplicate bridge game held on Oct. 26 showed Mrs. A. Carlson and Ross Chapman tied for first place in the North-South division with Mrs. J. Boothroyd and Mrs. M. G. Hurren. East-West winners were Mrs. M. Read and Dennis Debeck with Mrs. O. Nelson and Sam Bonde in second place.

In the fourth quarter the Chiefs lost their star quarterback Tim Cyr through a major injury. Tim had played an excellent game up to that point, both as offensive quarterback and defensive safety.

In the fourth quarter the Vikings got another two touchdowns and a convert and the final score was 20-0 for the Vikings. This means the Vikings wound up in first place with the Chiefs second, the Redskins third and probably the Stamps in the fourth and final playoff spot although that had not yet been decided.

On Sunday, Nov. 8, the Chiefs will play their semi-final game against the Redskins at Ambleside Park. If they win that game they will play against the winner of the other semi-final in the finals at Kinsmen Park.

Both the offence and the defence played a great game against a team which has had only one touchdown scored against them all season. Danny Sullivan, the Chiefs' head coach, talked to the team after their game and told them he was very proud of them. Danny is going on vacation and will miss the playoffs. He was sorry to be away but said he hoped when he came back the Chiefs would have the League cup in their possession.

Danny has been a real inspiration to the team and has done an excellent job this year as head coach of the Chiefs. Arthur Riel will fill in as coach for the remainder of the year.

So Chiefs, go, go, go and show your head coach that you can do it. It is hoped the parents of the players will come out and cheer their sons in the next games. The boys deserve the support.

Lions lose to Spuraways

Squamish Lions played the West Van Spuraways Saturday and lost the game by a score of 2-0. It was the same old game where they just couldn't score goals.

Squamish defense made the first mistake at the five minute mark when they let the Spuraways get a breakaway and they went in to score the first goal. But it wasn't a minute later when Squamish made the same mistake and West Vancouver scored the second goal. After that the Lions settled down to play good soccer. In the second half Squamish had most of the plays but couldn't find the net. The Spuraways played a good combination of plays from one side of the field to the other.

Squamish Lions will play against Burridd Wolves at the high school at 11 a.m. on Nov. 7 and on the 8th they will play against Capilano at Griffin Park at 2 p.m.

Bowlers honor W. St. Laurents

Following the Wednesday afternoon senior citizen's bowling league game on Oct. 21, the thirty-two members congregated in the Bola Room where long tables had been set up with refreshments for a surprise afternoon tea for two of their members who were celebrating their 62nd wedding anniversary that day, Bill and Blanche St. Laurent.

Guests at the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Ken Vass, proprietors of the lanes and Mrs. May Silva, hostess and counselor for the senior league whose gift to the happy pair was a beautifully decorated cake in the shape of two hearts and wine for the toast. The table was centred with red roses, carnations and chrysanthemums. Sam Bonde proposed the toast to the couple and in his remarks said that a person did unto others as he expected to be done by. People who could celebrate 62 years of marriage must be that kind of people and he hoped they would celebrate many more.

Mr. Vass also congratulated them and wished them many more years of happiness. Mrs. Silva presented them with a small gift and a card on behalf of the members of the league. Britannia members of the league at the tea were Mr. and Mrs. Red Verdesio, Mrs. K. Mikalla, Mrs. A. Knudsen and Mrs. F. Baxter.

MAMQUAM FIREMEN EQUIP HOCKEY TEAMS

Mamquam firemen have as their project the equipping and training of a group of floor hockey enthusiasts in the Mamquam area.

Tonight they will be presenting shirts to 48 members of the floor hockey teams who meet regularly to play under the supervision of some of the members of the fire department.

Sam Goss said the firemen were pleased with the assistance given by Merv Foote who had obtained the shirts for them at a low price.

The Mamquam firemen contribute monies earned from fires and from practices to this project which they sponsor.

Christmas Seals placed in mail

More than 2,000 homes in Squamish will be receiving their Christmas Seals this week.

This 67th annual campaign seeks $430 thousand to continue the fight against tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases.

In B.C. Christmas Seals help find tuberculosis through mobile X-ray surveys known as Operation Doorstep, and through a program of miniature chest X-rays established in health units.

They help with health centre construction, with research grants and health education programs and seek causes and cures for other respiratory diseases, such as chronic bronchitis, emphysema and asthma.

Christmas Seals this year represent The Three Wise Men, and are in the true colors of Christmas, red and green.

They will be accompanied by a contributor's card, being used in some B.C. areas this year for the first time. The card, carrying the name and address of the recipient, and space for placing the amount enclosed, assures the correct recording of the donation.

Mrs. Ernest A. Shaw, Box 765, is the Squamish Christmas Seal chairman. Members of the committee are: Mrs. J. Hughes, Mrs. L. Ingraham, Mrs. P. Tinney, Mrs. D. Barnfield, Mrs. A. Moon, Mrs. E. Stoltz, Mrs. R. Bryant, Mrs. H. E. Cullis, Mrs. A. Bird, Mrs. E. McCartney.

The campaign in Squamish is under the sponsorship of the Women's Auxiliary to Squamish General Hospital.

Have you your Christmas cards?

Through the mails, local residents have been receiving brightly coloured brochures describing Christmas Cards available through the Retarded Children's Associations. These brochures double as order forms, should the recipient wish to place an order.

Each year, young retarded students all across Canada are invited to enter designs in Christmas Card Contest. A winning design is selected from each province, and the top three or four designs are included in the 10 designs offered each year for sale.

Funds from the Card Campaign will help support research, teacher and instructor training programs and seminars developed on a provincial and national level.

Extra brochures can be obtained at Rainbow School, and cards (in packets of 10 assorted designs) will be available at the Squamish Times office.

Rummage sale best ever

The ladies of the Alpha Unit of the U.C.W. had their most successful Rummage Sale on Oct. 24. The amount of goods donated was larger than ever and the members wish to thank all those who contributed so generously.

As usual the ladies spent a busy day Friday sorting all the goods - and exclaiming over many items. There is always a certain amount of curiosity as to why a certain thing was discarded or where it came from.

Business was brisk on Saturday with the greatest amount of goods sold at any of the Rummage Sales to date. And then there was the chore of packing up he left over goods for the Salvation Army; as can readily be seen, nothing is wasted.

"Thank You" again to all those who cleaned house so thoroughly and send down the articles which they no longer needed.
