

Council should make decisions

Aldermen are elected to carry out the wishes of the people and the six aldermen serving the District of Squamish should realize this when they must make a decision such as the one they faced last week.

The question was whether to continue the case against B.C. Hydro and carry it to the B.C. Court of Appeals, or quit. There had been a clear indication of the wishes of the people when the list of over seven hundred names was secured earlier this year. This was obtained without circularizing the community, but just by having lists placed in a number of stores and places of business.

There is no doubt in our mind that the majority of people in Squamish wished to see the case carried as far as possible, even to the Supreme Court of Canada. Dr. Redford, in his appeal to council last week, asking them to continue to press the case, added that chances of winning there are far better than in B.C.

The legal firm was willing to carry on the case, to the point of doing so for a token fee of only five dollars. Yet council waffled, and in doing so could well have paved the way for the legal decision later in the week.

Now it would appear there is no point in continuing to contest the case against the power company.

The mayor was absent, and while we have sometimes felt he rules council, perhaps it is necessary. They seem to need someone to direct them! Certainly the sight of only one alderman, Terry Burt, with the courage and intestinal fortitude to simply say "GO" when asked whether the fight should be continued or not, was an appalling one.

The other four aldermen presented a sorry case of wondering whether it was wise to continue, with the two lady aldermen both saying it should be dropped and citing the cost of such an action as their reason.

Alderman Kindree was afraid of what it might cost if they lost the case, saying a five dollar fee was fine if they won but it could cost a considerable amount if they lost.

Alderman Bryant said he would be in favor of taking it to the B.C. Court of Appeal but wanted to talk to the lawyers first! This is nonsense! You hire a lawyer to appear for you, you don't tell him how to conduct the case any more than you would expect someone in a different business to tell you how to run yours. If he is willing to take it on for a picayune fee and feels he has a chance, he is the best judge of this, not a council!

Alderman Buchanan said she was in favor of repealing Section 53 of the Hydro Act but didn't think the district should pay for this. Someone is going to have to fight it to get it repealed. Should some other district?

And Alderman Makowichuk said she didn't think we should go ahead on our own but should get the opinion of the rest of the B.C. municipalities. My God, doesn't she realize that the people of Squamish elected her and the other five aldermen to make the decision, not the rest of the B.C. municipalities!

Alderman Boscaroli, in his position as acting mayor, didn't vote, but indicated he was in agreement with Alderman Burt in carrying on the battle against Hydro.

It's a sorry situation when a group of people, supposed to be making decisions for a community, are afraid to do so. Sure some things cost money, and some aren't going to be too popular with the powers that be, but there are times when a cause is so important that it demands that action be taken. And once that action is taken you don't stop in the middle of it. You continue till all means of action have been exhausted.

Only then do you admit defeat, and it is an honorable defeat. Lying down in the middle of the fight is the same as saying that you should never have started it in the first place. This is one fight which definitely should have been carried on until we had either won or proved in the highest courts in the land that in this province we are governed by men who have no respect for the wishes of the people they are supposed to serve.

The Squamish blockbuster fizzled like a damp firecracker!

Committee reports on condominiums

Alderman Burt reported on the special committee meeting which dealt with the application by Manzanita Developments to build condominiums on the former dairy property on Wilson Crescent.

The area is zoned correctly, the play area and yards are adequate and Burt said the committee could see no reason for not approving the application.

He said the sewer system they had proposed would be held in abeyance pending our sewer plans. He said the committee favored the development.

The matter was referred to the Advisory Planning Commission with council's approval.

Alderman Burt also reported on the Alpha Estates plan but said the old trailer court plan does not meet with the district's subdivision plans and the whole concept will have to be changed.

He said the developers would like to have the old plan approved with the changes drawn in but this would not be acceptable and the entire plan would have to be redrawn.

Council felt that another engineering study should be made, as the previous one was made under a completely different set of regulations.

Eleven graduates win scholarships

Presentations made at Evening Tea

By ROSE TATLOW

Eleven graduates of the Howe Sound Secondary School were presented with the scholarships they had won at a simple evening ceremony in the students lounge at the high school on Friday, Oct. 1.

Norma McLeod, was presented with the MacMillan Bloedel Scholarship awarded annually to the student with the highest marks in the graduating class. She had an average of 90.5. Pat Guilbride made the presentation on behalf of the firm.

Patti McAllister, with an average of 88.5 received the FMC Scholarship, presented by resident manager Ralph Ross and he said he was happy to do so because he had been impressed with Patti when she was chosen to go to Ottawa for the Rotary Club's adventure in citizenship earlier this year.

The Independent Squamish Loggers Association Scholarship was presented to Bruce MacDonald whose average was 85 percent with Dennis DeBeck making the presentation.

Geraldine Thom, whose average was 77 percent, was the recipient of the Howe Sound Teachers' Association Scholarship presented by Trevor Harris.

Three Weldwood of Canada Scholarships were presented by Empire Lumber manager Tom Reeves; one for an academic student and the other two for commercial students. Edwin Bryant was the recipient of the academic scholarship and his average was 78.5 while Gwen Reeve and Kathy Bodie each received the commercial scholarships.

The Squamish Lions Club Scholarship was presented by president T. F. Sawtell to Janet Clark whose average in her exams was 76.5 percent.

The first Mt. Garibaldi Lodge No. 127 Scholarship was presented to Reg Fogarty by W. J. Elliott. His average was 74 percent.

Doreen Albrecht was the recipient of the Beta Rho Chapter Beta Sigma Phi Scholarship and Mrs. C. Deminger made the presentation.

The joint B.P.O.E. and O.O.R.P. Scholarship was presented to Elizabeth Price by Mrs. B. McPhayden and E. Antosh.

Prior to the presentations principal R. Akune complimented industry for the number of scholarships which were awarded and he also commended the students who had earned them.

However he urged that they should not forget parents who should also be honored because of what they had done to make it possible for the students to earn the awards.

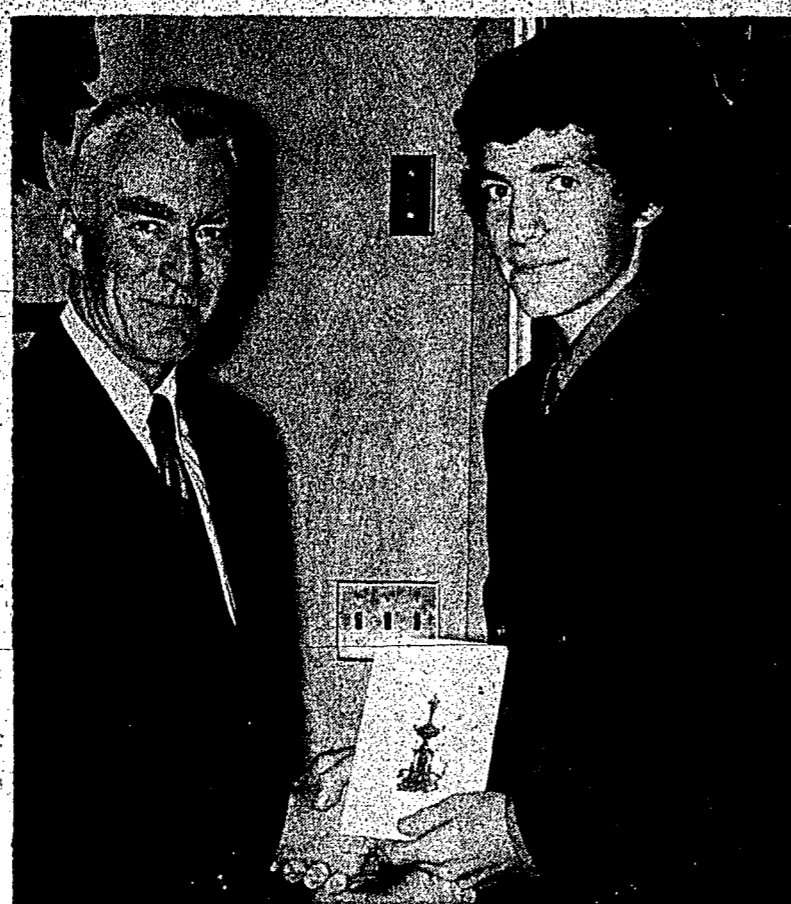

School trustee Mrs. C. C. Marchant offered the board's congratulations to the students and facetiously said the board took some of the credit for supplying them with the schools.

She said she was delighted to notice that the scholarship winners had all been leaders in the school functions and felt this leadership would serve them well in the years to come.

District Superintendent of schools Harry Cullis commended the pupils on their scholarship and urged them to study. He commented on the tremendous growth of knowledge in the past fifty years and told them to think and to face up to their problems.

He added that young people are thinking more than their parents did and he hopes this group will be the leaders of these thinkers.

Following the scholarship presentation a group of students served tea and refreshments to the graduates, parents and donors as well as the other invited guests.

EDWIN BRYANT, winner of Weldwood's academic scholarship, receiving it from Empire Lumber manager Tom Reeves.

NORMA McLEOD was presented with the MacMillan Bloedel scholarship by Pat Guilbride at the scholarship tea last week.

PATTI McALLISTER receiving the FMC scholarship from local manager Ralph Ross.

GERRY THOM received the Howe Sound Teachers Association scholarship from Trevor Harris at the graduation tea.

Harbor program still on schedule

Minister of Lands and Forests the Hon. Ray Williston told the Times last Friday that "we're moving and we're going to keep on going" on plans for the harbor development at Squamish.

He was speaking in answer to a statement made by federal Fisheries Minister Jack Davis in a speech in Edmonton that long awaited harbor developments at Squamish and Prince Rupert should be delayed until the full effects of these on deltas could be assessed.

Williston said he was not about to engage in a discussion with the federal fisheries people.

"Before we made definitive plans we contacted them twice," he said. "We've not done anything behind their backs and they have been fully aware of what our program has been."

"We have an installation in Squamish," he continued, "and unless we go ahead with the program it will be destroyed. We're not planning to restrict or constrict the river."

Williston added that "we have certain understandings and we're going ahead with them."

He also pointed out that the federal department was fully aware of the plans for Squamish which had certainly been no secret and there had been ample time in the past year or two to go into questions which they might have had about the program.

"We're on a program and we're going ahead," he said in conclusion.

Last Thursday federal Fisheries Minister Jack Davis said in Edmonton that industrial development threatens to annihilate virtually all of western Canada's most productive deltas. He said the Fraser, Skeena, Squamish and Mackenzie are all under the gun and blasted the proposal to dam the Fraser at Moran and the damage done to the Athabasca delta by the Peace River dam.

In speaking on the Squamish he said "The delta of the Squamish River... may become just another bulk-loading terminal for ships. I have seen plans prepared for the Pacific Great Eastern Railway which indicate that the present Squamish estuary, as we know it, will disappear."

"If it does, and nothing but hard top and turning basins take its place, then we can probably say goodbye to most, if not all, of the salmon which currently run up the Squamish River and its tributaries."

He said that similar development has been planned for Prince Rupert and this would pose the same threat to the Skeena River.

"We don't have many deltas and what deltas we have are all confined to Western Canada," Davis said. "Our biggest and our best are already threatened and, if things continue on at their present pace, they will have been annihilated before the year 2000."

He said they are a precious resource. "They literally hum with life. They are far more productive of living organisms than the open sea. They are far more productive than our prairie grasslands."

"They are far more productive even, than the black loams of the Ukraine and the corn fields of Ohio. They may be said to be the world's natural greenhouses."

Davis also said other countries are waking up to the delta destruction and that Canadians are among those who have been too narrow-minded as water managers.

Paul St. Pierre named parliamentary secretary

OTTAWA — Paul St. Pierre, MP, (Lib. Coast-Chilcotin) has been appointed Parliamentary Secretary to Mitchell Sharp, Deputy Prime Minister and Secretary of State for External Affairs.

St. Pierre is one of two Parliamentary Secretaries to the Foreign Affairs Ministry. The other is Dr. Gaston Isabelle, Member of Parliament for Hull.

International affairs occupied much of St. Pierre's attention during the 28th Parliament. As a private member, he was active in the promotion of Canada's Arctic Pollution Control Zone legislation, having first been sharply critical of the government for inaction in the field of protecting Canadian Arctic sovereignty.

He has been delegate and special rapporteur on Ocean Pollution to the Scientific and Technical Committee of NATO Parliamentary Assembly. The day before his appointment, he was successful in gaining the assembly's support for a resolution supporting a new Law of the Sea Conference.

Since being elected, he has served as vice chairman of the Standing Committee on Indian Affairs and Northern Development, and at various times as a member of the standing committees on Procedure and Organization, Justice, National Defence and External Affairs, Fisheries and Forestry and Finance. In 1970 he was chairman of the British Columbia Liberal Caucus and last June was elected secretary of the National Liberal Caucus. He gained a reputation for expressing strongly independent views, sometimes in opposition to his own party's.

St. Pierre, former newspaperman and author of numerous television plays and of three books, was elected in 1968 for the huge Coast-Chilcotin riding of B.C.

STUDENTS VISIT SKOOKUMCHUK

The B.C. Forest Service played a major role in a Forestry Outdoor Class when 18 students from Howe Sound Secondary were given a guided tour of the Skookumchuck region.

Assistant Forest Rangers Larry Eichuk and Al Simon drove them in the power wagons to points of interest. The English students of Mrs. Hansen are studying Man the Naturalist and Man in the Wilderness.

Accompanying the group was former teacher Mrs. T. B. M. Fougberg. The students spent the evening at the vacant Pemberton Meadows School where they talked with Mr. J. Ronayne and viewed slides of Mrs. Teresa Summerskill. Mrs. Summerskill recounted how her uncle used to take groups of youngsters into the hills around Pemberton and talk to them.

Spare those insulators

With the advent of the hunting season B.C. Hydro crews are again dreading the annual problems they face from broken insulators, caused when some trigger-happy hunter just has to blaze away at something and cannot find an animal to use for a target.

Hydro officials say most people don't realize the hardship and damage broken insulators can cause. When a whole community suddenly finds itself without light it is usually the elderly and the sick who suffer most. But it also affects everyone, from businessmen to residents.

Line crews often have difficulty locating the break and repairing the damage. In cold or stormy weather this can really be difficult and it is such an unnecessary occurrence.

Irresponsible hunters like those who shoot up insulators either for something to do or because they haven't been able to see any game and just can't think of going home without firing a few shots, are the bane of every real sportsman. But unfortunately their actions reflect on the great majority of sportsmen who are careful and considerate. Fish and game club members are urged to report any game law violations or property damage they notice.

Last hunting season a number of convictions were obtained as a result of public spirited sportsmen reporting cases of vandalism.

B.C. Hydro offers a standing reward of up to $250 for information leading to the identification and conviction of persons wilfully damaging insulators and powerlines.

So spare those insulators. It could be a costly shot.

Friendship has no barrier

A solemn and significant swing in the puissant pendulum of public opinion is cheerfully evident in international relations between the people of Japan and Canada. We do not refer to the governments per se, but rather the grass root population of both countries.

It is most significant to this point in the following letter from Kazushige Araki, Mayor of the City of Chiba, Japan written to Alderman Marc Howard, chairman, Civic Affairs Committee, North Vancouver City.

On behalf of our half million citizens, my wife, Mr. Yamamoto and myself I would like to express to you my warmest thanks for the many courtesies you extended to us during our visit to your city.

This trip was the first one for my wife and me to go abroad and it was very significant because we could visit your city formally on the occasion of your centennial.

While we stayed in your city we had many experiences and we could observe North Vancouver in many aspects and could meet many people with their warmest welcome. The most impressive point for us was your beautiful natural circumstances and your city planning conforming to the circumstances, parks with green woods, calm streets in good order. The decent and high thinking lives in such beautiful circumstances are beyond all praises.

Our visit to your city was only three days, but it will live in our memory as unforgettable North Vancouver all through my life.

I trust our visit to your city of this time will lead to closer relations between our two sister cities.

Our wonderful experiences in your city will be reported to the people of Chiba.

I hope you, the other members of your city council and many people of North Vancouver will visit our city and have the same experiences of mutual understanding as we had in your city. Again, I thank you for your hospitality.

With best wishes for our eternal friendship:

Sincerely yours,
Kazushige Araki,
MAYOR.

Going, going — all gone

There was a story forty or so years ago about the very rich west coast businessman who was confronted with overlapping federal, provincial and municipal income taxes.

He called the tax collectors to his office and said to them, "Gentlemen, there is my income in total for the last calendar year. I cannot pay you all in full from the income for that year, but I can invite you, and do invite you, to split this money among yourselves."

As a result of the situation, the tax collectors awoke to the fact that you cannot have so much overlapping of collections that the person taxed is without income.

The situation is about to be repeated. The federal taxes, the provincial taxes, deductions for unemployment insurance, contributions to old age pensions, etc., etc. and the municipal taxes are such that some workers and some receivers of income will soon have nothing left.

There are people who worry about the destruction of parliament. Possibly of greater importance would be the destruction of government.

Letters to the Editor

DEFENDS REGULATIONS

Editor, Squamish Times:
Ed. Note: The following letter was sent to Herbert T. Barnes of Toronto who wrote the Squamish-Lillooet Regional District protesting the regulations on building within the district.
Dear Mr. Barnes:

In reply to your letter of September 11th 1971 I must confess you left no lasting impression on me and your business card was undoubtedly filed accordingly.

It is obvious, from your letter, that I did not impress you any more favorably for you have our name and address incorrect even though it must be clearly indicated on whatever bylaw you perhaps have.

The object of this Regional District is to encourage sound development, and to consider the use of holding tanks without a method of acceptable disposal or reclamation is not considered good development. Such a proposal was submitted five years ago and is less desirable today than when presented.

The flag stop on the PGE Railway that you refer to is presently under consideration and is on the Agenda of our next meeting. The stop was discontinued because of the hazard to the public eg. obscure vision and steep grade.

Your last paragraph I agree with, and I would think that, knowing all the previous errors of other resort areas, we may even go one better by avoiding these errors in the Whistler Area.

Yours truly,
D. N. Gow,
Chairman.

PUT PEOPLE FIRST

Editor, Squamish Times:
An item in the Sept. 22 issue of your paper brings out very clearly the thinking today as regards people vs. property.

I refer to the complaint by Mr. M. Gottlieb that modular homes would lower property values, etc. I would suggest he give some serious thought to Dr. Kindree's remarks about changing concepts of housing.

If a man owns a piece of property, no matter where located, I maintain that he has the right to put a home on it regardless of size, shape, colour, or whatever. What the dickens does it matter whether it's modular, prefab, mobile home, or a railway caboose as long as it's pleasing in appearance and the grounds kept in neat condition?

For the life of me I can't see anyone objecting to a properly maintained home unless it's those who like to think they live on the right side of the tracks. It evidently has not occurred to the objectors that the average family simply cannot afford conventional housing any more because of "keeping property values up."

For this crime are they to be relegated to some area out of sight?

Property values, my foot! Let's put people first for a change!
N. C. Hilborn.

JANET CLARK, winner of the Squamish Lions Club scholarship and Lion president Tom Sawtell, who made the presentation.

KATHY BODIE who received one of Weldwood's commercial scholarships from Empire Lumber manager Tom Reeves.

HOWE SOUNDINGS

We decided a fall holiday with no one on the highways would be a good idea so off we headed for the Oregon coast and maybe to Salt Lake City the last full week in September. The weather was beautiful, bright and sunny but we just loved it. Freeways are the only way to go when you want to get somewhere in a hurry but once you're there the only roads to follow are the small side roads or the ones which have been bypassed when the freeways are built.

The Oregon coast is everything we were told it was! Lovely surf creaming on the beaches, miles of white silvery sand (my friend said it was much better than Hawaii!) and driftwood in every cove. But no sea shells! Guess you can't have everything.

We enjoyed the miles of beaches, the rocky headlands and the thunderous sound of the waves breaking on the sand. I know the first night on the beach we stayed in a motel right above the sand and I spent half the night looking out the window to watch the waves come in and the glitter of the surf as they broke and curled into foam along the sand.

Some of the names were intriguing. The Inn at Spanish Head, built into a cliff and ten stories high. The Over the Waves restaurant, and it almost was over the waves too. Of course there's Salsihan Lodge but I was disappointed to see it so far away from the sea. But they do have a beautiful golf course.

Walking along the firm sandy beaches was an experience. The wide expanse of sand, unmarked by footsteps, with only the hemstitching of bird's slender tracks to mar the expanse, piles of wind and sand cleaned driftwood and rocks, carved and eroded by the action of the wind and the waves.

Farther south the grassy headlands, looking like tawny lions at this time of year when the grasses are golden with the hues of fall, crouch above the creaming surf.

Our theory about having the road to ourselves must have been shared by half the people in the states south of us. Certainly by the end of September you don't expect to find the highways busy, motels filled before 5 p.m. and hardly a place to stay. But they were! In fact one night we were sure we were going to have to sleep in the car and I was wishing I'd had the seats pulledmanized!

But luck was on our side and we managed to find a place to sleep for the night. It was warm and dry and the fog outside just made it seem warmer and cosier. But we learned our lesson and stopped travelling earlier the next few days to make sure we had a place to stay!

Crater Lake is just about the most beautiful spot I've seen in a long time.

The lake is unbelievably blue and the circular rim with the highway winding along it is sensational. My friend didn't like it too much. Seems heights just didn't appeal to her. And on the north side of the crater there were miles of pumice flats where the volcanic debris had flowed down the sides of the peak and were hundreds of feet deep. The pumice plains were bare of trees and nothing grew there.

I was fascinated with the red earth of this part of Oregon, with the green trees which presented so marked a color change to the soil but farther east near Bend we were intrigued with a lava cone about five hundred feet above the surrounding plain. A road wound up the butte to a viewpoint on top and just to watch the cars going up or down was enough to make us cry quits. But I'll bet the view from the top was lovely!

We had a flat tire and were unbelievably lucky. Of all places to have it happen, it occurred right in front of a gas station! So we wheeled in and had it repaired. That's what I call perfect timing!

Loved the comment made by the garage owner at Burns when we asked him if we crossed any mountain ranges on our way to Ontario, Ore. He told us there were a couple of passes. "You cross Stinkin' Water and then Drinkin' Water," he said, "then you come to a river and a couple of valleys. It's pretty green."

I guess the look on our faces prompted him to explain that one ridge had some water which was unfit to drink and this the Indians had called Stinkin' Water while the water on the next ridge was good so it was Drinkin' Water. It made sense.

And we had to laugh at the sign in the cafe at Prospect where a notice said succinctly "No Shoes, No Shirt, No Service!" Just like that. But we noticed similar signs in a number of places and it sounds like one which could be copied here.

Incidentally this cafe was in an old building which had once been a hotel and the old saloon had been rebuilt. It was a fascinating place and we browsed through it. I'll bet it was a swinging joint on a Saturday night.

East of Bend we headed across country which must have been the northern extension of the great American desert. Nothing but sand, sagebrush and the odd pine or other tree for more than 130 miles. The road was straight as an arrow and when you got to the end of the straight stretch it curved a bit and there was another straight stretch. But the color was beautiful, purples and reds along with the grey of the sage.

Once in a while you'd see an abandoned house or a decaying cabin but apart from that it was just a desolate waste. We just couldn't understand why the side of the road was fenced. No one would want to get in or out of there. In fact no one would want to stop. All you would want to do was get out of there as fast as you could!

Point Ellice Bridge at Victoria collapsed on May 26, 1896 under the weight of a crowded street car, killing 55 persons.

PAUL
MP
Coast-Chilcotin

OTTAWA — Having been of some modest assistance in shaking cash loose from the government, I am delighted to report that one of Coast-Chilcotin's tiniest communities will formally open a unique Centennial Museum on October 2.

Anahim Lake has reconstructed a Kigli Hut, the distinctive dwelling of the early Indians of the area. The Cattlemen's Association, which occupies a function in Anahim Lake reserved for city councils in larger communities, has arranged a barbecue and dance and a report at hand indicates there will be liquor served.

The report is from Clark A. Davis, Western Canada Ethnologist of the National Museum of Canada. The report is comprehensive, but long. I shall reproduce here a few extracts:

The Anahim Lake Museum, in its modest beginnings, will consist of a reconstruction of a winter lodge of the style commonly in use on the plateau at approximately the turn of the 18th century. The museum is supported officially by the Anahim Lake Cattlemen's Association, the Community Development Association, and the Anahim Lake Chamber of Commerce. A sizeable grant was obtained from the B.C. Centennial 71 Committee to underwrite part of the costs involved. The townspeople obtained a Crown Grant of approximately twenty acres of excellent land to be used as a site for the museum, and for camping and picnicking facilities for summer visitors.

For a start, the lodge will simply stand by itself, with plexi-glass panels around the outside perimeter so that the visitor can view the interior. A sign outside will identify the building as a reconstruction, give some technical details, and identify the various groups involved, including the National Museum. The wording will be determined by the townspeople.

Further plans include an anthropological display within the lodge, possibly a life-size depiction of a typical scene from the period. It is believed that this will be a structure unique to Canada; to our knowledge there are no others like it in the country.

In addition, there will probably be a log building depicting the 'pioneer' period of Anahim Lake. Although Mackenzie (1793) was the first white visitor to the general area, and there was sporadic exploration and exploitation during the 19th century, it was only around the beginning of the 20th century that serious white settlement began in the west Chilcotin. Even today the area is sparsely populated (approximately 500 people within a radius of several hundred square miles), and much of the culture is still pioneer in style. The area has been extensively written about by such authors as Paul St. Pierre and Rich Hobson (not to mention the intrepid Wilmeth and Davis).

The building now under construction consists of a pit 13 feet in diameter and two feet deep, a long framework 24 feet in diameter and eight feet high covered with peeled jackpine poles, a layer of hay-grass, and finally a layer of earth. A polyvinyl acetate latex compound will bind the dirt covering and render it waterproof. A smoke-hole opening at the top served as the entrance, with a notched log ladder for descending into the interior; this will be preserved for authenticity, but visitors, of course, will not be allowed to use it.

Telephone conversations with Mr. Darcy Christensen of Anahim Lake established that the townspeople would indeed be interested, but financing was a problem. They had already applied for a B.C. Centennial 71 grant, but had been turned down. I then contacted Mr. Paul St. Pierre (MP, Coast-Chilcotin), who kindly advised on procedures for obtaining the grant, and it was arranged. I next contacted National Museum officials regarding support for the museum; they said that although the museum could not support the Anahim Museum officially or financially, Mr. Wilmeth and I could provide our services as consultants while here in Ottawa and in the field.

At the termination of Mr. Wilmeth's archaeological excavation for the season, a local crew was rounded up and the gathering of materials for the winter lodge began under Mr. Wilmeth's supervision. This in itself was quite a project, and required approximately two weeks for the two Indian people involved (Mr. Baptiste Elkins and Mr. Paddy Sulin) to gather the jackpine logs, haul them in with horses, and peel them. Mr. Lynn Altmier, a local rancher, dug the pit with his backhoe and Mr. Wilmeth finished the excavation by hand to preserve its authenticity. Photographs and written observations were carefully maintained throughout the period.

MERV FOOTE'S store was strictly for the birds last week when this small sparrow flew in and couldn't find his way out. Here he is perched high on the decorative trim above a rack of jackets.

Alderman Makowichuk reports

(Any views which may be expressed in this column are mine and are not necessarily the views of the Squamish Municipal Council as a whole or any individual alderman.)

A Stemberge appeared before council advising them that a number of persons purchased lots in D.L. 1305, formerly owned by Mr. G. Dent on the east side of the Loggers' Lane and Highway 99. As there is an existing legal access, the people who purchased the property wished to develop their own road and use gravel owned by the municipality near the Mamquam River pit. Permission was given to remove 1,000 yards from the municipal gravel pit for the development of this road.

First three readings were given to a Zoning Amendment Bylaw No. 367 to allow for a garage and car wash on the George Behrner property south of the Mamquam River by Souster's Trailer Court. This application had been approved by the Advisory Planning Commission.

The Sewer Committee was advised to start working on the problem of sewers in the area as there may be assistance from the provincial government in the form of a direct grant to bring the capital cost of the sewer to a level the populace can afford to pay. Plans to upgrade the Valleycliffe sewage treatment plant will be held in abeyance until a decision is made about the overall sewage plan by the Sewer Committee.

A letter was read to council from the Department of Transport listing the steps necessary for the municipality to take over the operation of the government boat harbour at Squamish. The clerk was instructed to do all things necessary to put the municipality in charge of the boat harbour and in receipt of the revenues, accruing from same.

A letter was read from the Squamish Senior Citizens' Home Society asking council to consider allowing them to use the north-east side of D.L. 4261 rather than the south side if the council's plans for the development of a commercial complex are to be cancelled. It was decided that the first eight acres, as shown on the subdivision plan, be put up for auction and that the clerk obtain an independent appraisal as to their worth so that the set price can be established.

Long distance rates between Britannia Beach, Woodfibre and Vancouver will remain the same as there was insufficient use of the telephones in those areas to warrant free dialing.

An application for consideration of the rezoning of Parcel H on the south side of Judd Road to permit the parcel to be developed same as small holdings was referred to the Advisory Planning Commission.

The council advised that the fire siren on top of the Garibaldi Highlands would have to be altered as it had been shown that the location of this siren on the water tank was unsuitable. The answer was to install a single phase siren on a pole previously used by Channel eight and to purchase an additional siren for the Estates area. The clerk was instructed to see that the fire siren is operable soon and to purchase an additional fire siren to supplement protection in that area.

Next council meetings on Oct. 11 at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Office.

Vox Pop...

The municipality has lost the first stages of the battle against Hydro. Do you think it should continue the battle against the utility company's spraying plans?

DANNY WOODS
Squamish

I think the district should continue. If Hydro keeps on spraying they'll probably kill everything. I think what they are doing is wrong and we should try to stop them.

LOREN MCKENNA
Squamish

I don't think they should be allowed to get away with it. It's our watershed they're spraying and we have to drink the water for a long period of time, not just a cocktail for a one-time shot. We should continue the case against them!

DAVE HARTMAN
Squamish

I don't feel I know enough about the scientific facts behind it or about the subject to comment on it at this time. But it shouldn't be left up to a lawyer to decide because I don't think that they are qualified to decide if it's harmful to the environment. I'd like to see a scientific analysis made to determine if it is harmful or not.

BOB ELLISON
Squamish

I think they should continue to pursue the case because I don't think Hydro is listening to the will of the people. I also oppose the Hydro attitude of ignoring the laws of the community. I think we should carry it as far as necessary even to the Supreme Court because I think it is that important.

Council Briefs

W. Dowd appeared before council last week to ask for permission to subdivide three lots on Judd Road, each of two acres or more to qualify as rural small holdings. The rest of the area will be developed as part of a ten year program.

Council appointed the Public Works Committee to look at the proposal.

A request to hold a draw was granted to the O.O.R.P. and council also approved the application to lease property now leased by Weldwood of Canada. This is just a continuation of the present permit to lease.

A request for a sidewalk on the east side of the highway from East Depot Road to the Braekendale School was discussed and it was felt this might not be a practical idea as the garage and its access and egress made it unsafe for the children. Acting mayor I. L. Boscarol said the ditch alongside the road made it almost impossible to find room for a sidewalk there.

A committee from council will look at the site and come in with a recommendation.

Dr. Hamish Redford was appointed to the Advisory Planning Commission and the clerk said other members of the commission had been circulated to see if they wished to remain with the group.

A number of suggestions regarding personnel on the commission were advanced but the clerk pointed out that as this was a group which acted with no remuneration and purely as a service to the community too many regulations could not be laid down.

A request from the volunteer fire department for a separate banquet was considered and council decided to allocate a sum for this purpose with the group to use it as they saw fit.

Last year the firemen, search and rescue group, volunteer police and ambulance drivers were all hosted at a combined banquet.

Businessmen told how to protect premises

Local merchants and other businessmen were given a number of pointers on how to protect their premises and to make them as safe as possible from break and entry experts.

Const. Fred Jowett spoke to the Chamber of Commerce meeting last week saying that the responsibility lies on three bodies: of people, the police, the merchants and the people living in the area.

The police will assist by inspecting any building for the business man, giving him suggestions on how to improve his security measures, the installation of locking devices and lighting which may deter a prospective entry.

The police make regular patrols and he said these are made either on foot or by car and they check business premises to see if doors have been left unlocked. He advised people to leave a light in their premises but to establish a pattern.

"Don't leave it on one night and leave it off the next night," he said, "or after several weeks of this on-off pattern we won't know whether they should be on or off." He pointed out that if the lights are left on they immediately look for some form of entry if the lights are off.

He also mentioned security for the merchants and their staff saying that one should not attempt to stop a robbery but to notice the appearance of the person, any distinguishing marks, his clothing, where he goes when he leaves the premises and the vehicle he is using, if any.

He pointed out that often these measures can make it easier for the police to identify the culprit. But he suggested notes be made on this as soon as possible after it occurs. Don't trust your memory.

Constable Jowett also spoke on shoplifting, saying the national average is that one person in eight is a shoplifter. In cases of juveniles the procedure is to either take them home to the parents and talk to both of them or to take the juvenile to the police station and have the parent come and pick him up.

The procedure is slightly different with adults. When a merchant apprehends one it is up to him what action he takes. Often if the property is returned the charges are not pressed. However he advised them to be sure the articles had been taken and removed from the building before making any charges or there could be a possibility of being charged with false arrest or defamation of character.

He also discussed the recent episode of short change artists, where specialists in confusing clerks come in and through a system of asking for change end up by confusing the clerks to the point where they manage to get away with ten dollars.

He said he would like to look into this further and perhaps find out more about the way such people operate. Possibly the Vancouver city police who deal with many cases of this kind would be helpful.

He suggested merchants tell the staff what to look out for, and this will help them to deal with the situation when it rises. He also felt regular monthly meetings between police and merchants to discuss problems would be helpful.

Constable Jowett said he would be happy to talk to any of the business people about further protection of their premises or any other matters which might be of concern.

THE MEN COOKED the food and then cleaned up afterwards at the annual Harvest Supper at the United Church last week. Here George Gilmour and his son Randy are busy drying dishes.

Burning at dump for rat control

Burning at the municipal garbage dump is used as a method of rat control, a delegation from SPEC was told at last week's council meeting.

Dr. Hamish Redford presented a brief from the Squamish branch of SPEC protesting the burning at the municipal dump, saying it was inconsistent for council to ask industry to clean up its smoke while it was producing smoke of its own from the municipal dump.

Frank Wilson said rats are a problem with garbage and burning it is one method of controlling the vermin. He pointed out that rats are a much greater problem in summer than in winter.

Dr. Redford introduced a report on recycling garbage but added that separation is expensive and perhaps not feasible for this area. However he suggested it be used for landfill, with a cat compacting the garbage and then covering it with soil or sawdust.

Dr. L. C. Kindree asked how much land we would be looking at if this plan was followed and Frank Wilson pointed out it would take a much larger area if garbage was not burned before being covered.

The Public Works Committee was instructed to take a look at the site and the problem to see if something could be done.

More scholarship pictures next week!

Committee to investigate

A request from John W. Fryer for permission to place a pottery studio at the rear of premises on Second Ave. which he plans to buy met with opposition from council.

The bylaw states that in a commercial zone the premises can be at the front with living quarters at the rear and they felt this should not be changed.

A committee was appointed to look into the matter.

OES tea and sale a great success

The ladies of the Squamish Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star held a successful autumn tea and sale last Saturday afternoon in St. John's Parish Hall.

Worthy Matron Mrs. Harold Wingfield opened the event with a few well-chosen words of welcome. Immediately after that the home baking table was besieged with buyers, each one in search of something unusual.

The novelty table offered a number of interesting sewing and handicraft items and the white elephant table lured the gamblers. Mrs. R. Lampert presided over a display of the cancer dressings which these ladies make.

A beautiful centerpiece of autumn crocus and heather drew attention to the tea table.

During the afternoon David Walden sang two songs, "I'll be Hanged if They'll Hang Me," and "The Ladies of the Harem," accompanying himself on the guitar.

Winner of the raffle was Mrs. Wayne-Drenka and Mrs. J. M. Hurren Sr. won the door prize.

COUNCIL SUPPORTS BAN ON MARIJUANA

Council last week went on record as supporting the City of New Westminster in its resolution against the legalization of marijuana.

The Royal City had circularized the other municipalities in B.C. asking that they support the resolution against the legalization of marijuana as requested by the young people's committee recently.

Council, which had earlier sent a resolution to Ottawa opposing any such step, re-affirmed the decision made at that time.

The original mineral find at Kimberley was made in 1892 on North Star Hill. Four years later the original Sullivan development began. During the South African War the town was named after the city in that country.

New immigration from Saskatchewan in 1912 swelled the size of the Doukhobor colony in the Kootenays to 5,000 members and the province welcomed them with open arms.

Cooks ahoy Turkeys, traditional thanksgiving fare

By DOROTHY KENNEDY

In less than a week it will be Thanksgiving day again. I wonder just how many of us realize just how lucky we are to be able to sit down to a full table and really give thanks that we have so much. Think about it, and this year do stop for a few minutes and give thanks for our plentiful lives.

If you're having turkey here's a roasting chart for you to go by. Maybe you will save this for Christmas too.

Ready to cook, weight in lbs., with approximate roasting time in hours.

- 8 to 10 - 3 to 3 1/2 hours
- 11 to 13 - 4 to 4 1/2 hours
- 14 to 16 - 4 1/2 to 5 1/2 hours
- 17 to 19 - 6 to 7 hours
- 20 to 24 - 7 1/2 to 8 1/2 hours

When It's Done:

1. A roast-meat thermometer inserted into the thigh muscle next to the body should read 190 degrees.
2. The drumstick can be moved up and down easily.
3. The meat feels very soft when the thickest part of the drumstick is pressed between the fingers protected with cloth or paper.

Do let your turkey sit about 20 minutes after removing from the oven. It seems to let the juices settle and makes carving much easier.

We always make pumpkin pie to go with our turkey dinner so I would like to share my favorite recipe with you.

PUMPKIN PIE

2 heaping cups canned pumpkin
4 cups milk (use whole milk)
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. nutmeg
4 eggs
1 tsp. ginger
1 tsp. cinnamon
2 tsp. sugar
2 tbsp. flour

Mix sugar, flour, salt and spices into pumpkin. Add beaten eggs, stir well. Add milk and beat the entire mixture with an egg beater until thoroughly mixed. Pour into unbaked pie shells and bake about 50-60 minutes at 350 deg. or until a silver knife inserted into pumpkin mixture comes out clean. If there is a coating on the knife it means the pie is not cooked so leave it awhile longer.

PASTRY

5 cups bread flour
1 lb. pastry lard
1 egg
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. vinegar

Mix flour, salt and lard as usual. Put egg and vinegar into a cup and fill with cold water to the one cup level. Beat well and add all at once to flour mixture. Stir with spoon until well mixed. Let sit in fridge for one hour before rolling for pie shells. This makes four large pies or about six smaller sized shells.

Special Hints:

Want to try the most wonderful way to make meringue for a custard pie? Use two egg whites, two-thirds cup of marshmallow creme (from a jar) and a dash of salt. Beat the egg whites and salt until they are stiff and then add the marshmallow creme, beating till it forms peaks. Spread it on the pie and bake at 350 deg. for 15 minutes. Really delicious.

Three men charged in attempted break-in

Three men were charged in police court last week with breaking and entry as a result of an attempt to rob the Royal Bank branch at Britannia Beach early on the morning of Tuesday, Sept. 28.

Rial Dubois, aged 22, was charged with breaking and entry and bail was set at $5,000. Alain LaForest, 21, and Robert Valliquette were charged with breaking and entry and robbery with violence and bail was set at $2,500 each.

The men were remanded in custody and are in Oakalla awaiting further trial.

Between 3 and 3:30 a.m. on the morning of Sept. 28, Larry Amey of Britannia saw a car with a Quebec licence plate in the parking lot at Britannia with a man sitting in it. He asked the man to move. Shortly after two other men came up behind Amey and started to tough him up.

During the fracas his two assailants were chased up the hill north of Britannia leading to Squamish and the third man came back. Amey asked a neighbor to notify the police and held the third man till the RCMP arrived.

Meanwhile the two men who had headed for Squamish on foot, overpowered a man in a camper, took his truck and headed south towards Vancouver. The police, who had arrived at Britannia, stopped the camper and arrested the men.

It was later discovered that there had been a break in at the branch of the Royal Bank in Britannia and the men were charged.

Big win for Chiefs

A tough game was fought against the Browns on Sunday afternoon in Squamish under extremely bad weather conditions with Squamish defeating the North Shore team 8-0.

The Chiefs handed the Browns their first defeat of the season which was protested by the Brown's coach due to a bench penalty. The protest was overruled by the league and the win remains a victory for the Chiefs.

It was a game with very little passing. One attempt by the Browns was knocked down by Gary Marchant and there were two attempts by the Chiefs which were also no good.

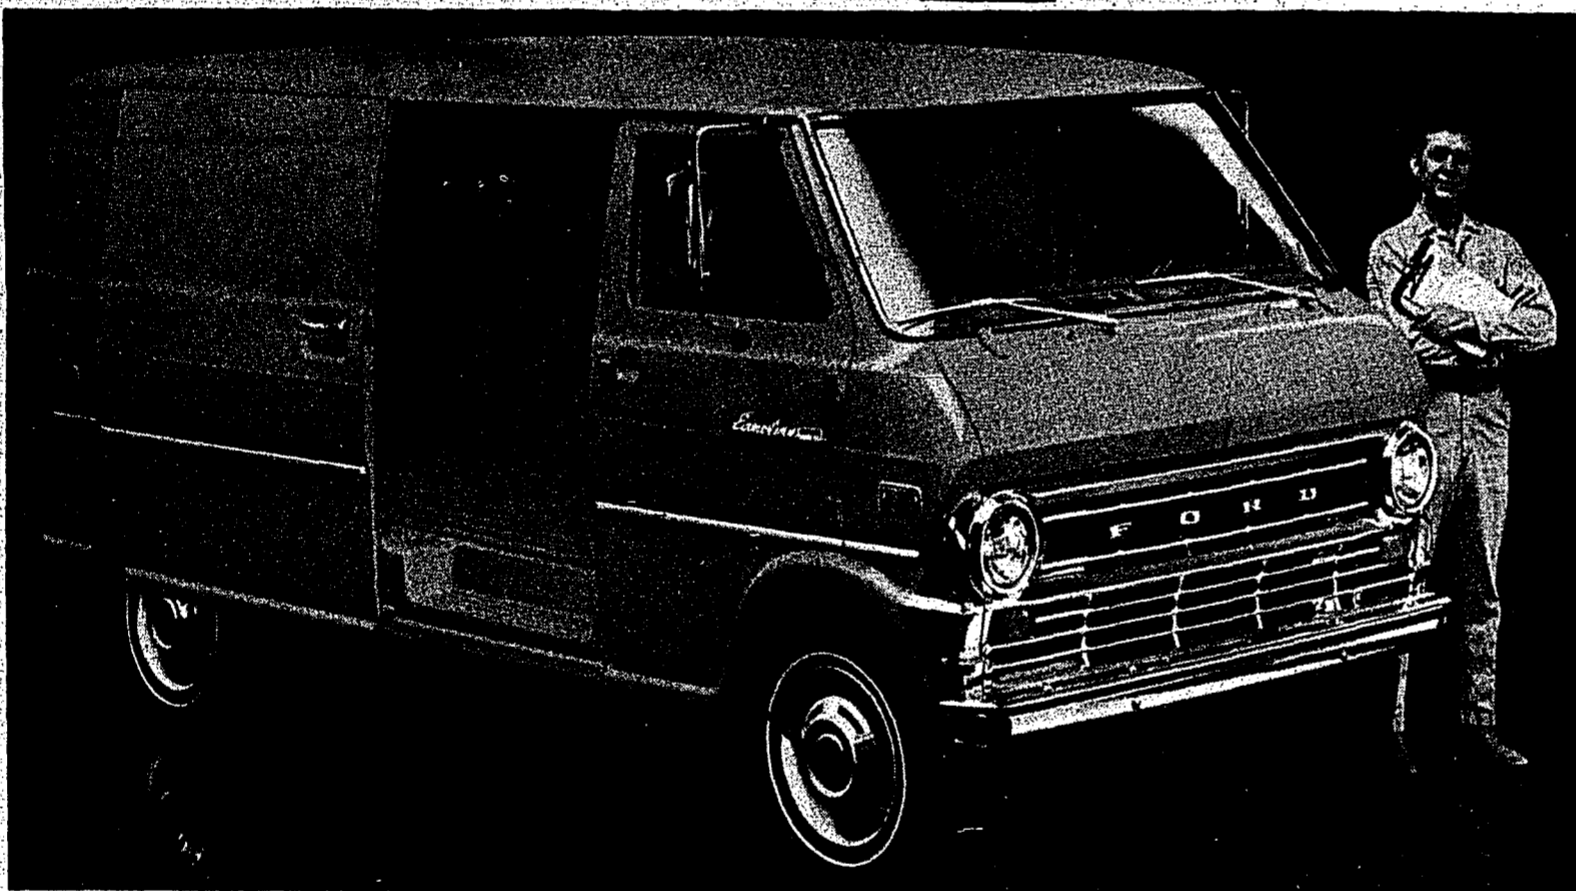

In the second quarter the Chiefs scored a touchdown by Larry Smith around the left side. The two points for the convert were also scored by Larry Smith when he ran it over the goal line.

The game was very tough defensively, played against a team much bigger than the Chiefs. It must have been Alpen-Glo's half time oranges which gave the Chiefs that extra little bit!

Division one students in grades six and seven are taking part in the walkathon which is being held to raise money for an educational trip some time next spring.

The Squamish detachment of the RCMP has been alerted to the occasion and will put a car on the road at that time if one is available.

Parents will be helping to manage the walkathon with cars stationed between Squamish and the Base Camp and will be prepared to pick up and bring back any students who may tire. There will be checkpoints along the route to record the distance.

Construction proceeding on Evans mill at Pemberton

By ROSE TATLOW
The forms are being made, cement is being poured, a log deck being prepared and the site preparation has almost been completed for the Evans Products Co. Ltd. stud mill at Pemberton.

The plant, which will employ 60 men on two shifts, is scheduled to be in operation by the beginning of June next year. It will cut 165,000 feet per shift and the stud mill will produce lumber in eight foot or shorter lengths. The plant will also have a planer and dry kilns.

Gordon Pinkney, who has come from 100 Mile to supervise the construction of the plant, also designed it and he will be running it when it commences operating. "That way I won't have anyone to blame if things don't work out properly," he said.

The plant, located on the former Bokstrom property, 84 acres near Mount Currie, will only utilize about eight acres for the mill. Other areas will be for log and lumber storage, water reservoir for the fire system, office buildings, a maintenance shop, truck scales, trailer loadings and fuel tanks. Pinkney said he anticipates snow removal will be a real problem if there is a severe winter.

Timber for the operation will be coming from the Yalakom P.S.Y.U. and the company has built a road into the Duffy Lake area from Lillooet Lake. He said this has been an expensive portion of the undertaking and considerably more road will have to be built.

Site preparation was started in late May and then stopped for a while this summer when a second look was taken at the timber supply. At this time the mill design was altered for a higher use and more economical project. He said the mill would work towards full utilization of the timber supply.

The logging will be done by contractors and he estimated 25 to 30 men will probably be employed by these contractors.

Industrial Mills have 32 men on the site working on the plant and the site preparation is almost completed. This has been done by Goss Contracting and Sam Goss of Squamish has a ten man crew on the job.

Pinkney said he hoped to have the buildings up by the time the snow comes so work can be done on the interior during the winter months. "We are pressed for time," he said, "this has been a difficult project right from the start."

Much of the site will be blacktopped with a total paved area to be 16,280 square yards, of which 3,000 yards will be paved this fall. This will be for the buildings.

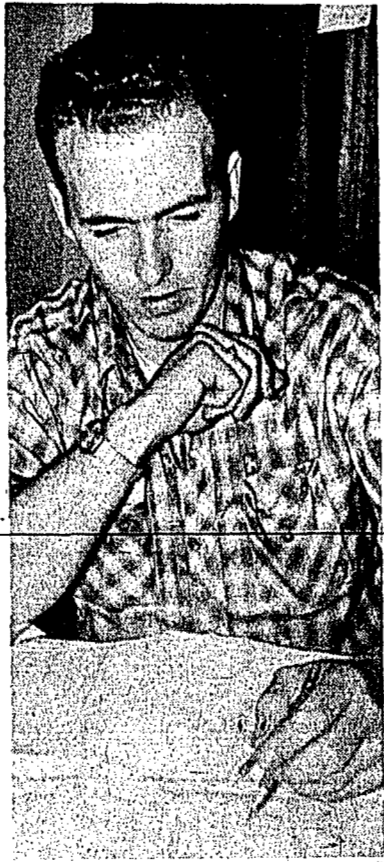

The mill will have a "smokeless" burner, similar to the one at the company's plant in Lillooet. Pinkney explained that Lillooet has the first one of this type and it is working well. He pointed out that chips will be produced and when these are made it leaves refuse which is hard to burn cleanly. A constant heat must be maintained in order to make a clean burn with very little smoke.

"If there are no chip cars," he said, "there would be 70 percent more material to be burnt. It will be a problem estimating the correct heat for the two different quantities."

He said chips would be produced for sale to pulp mills and the finished lumber will be shipped out via the PGE.

Pinkney added that he hoped to use as many local men in the operation of the plant as possible. He pointed out the advantages of year round work and said he preferred hiring local men as they made a much steadier work force.

Evans Products Co. Ltd., which is building the mill, also operates Commercial Lumber at Lillooet and has plants at Savona and Donald.

GORDON PINKNEY, who designed and is in charge of the building of the Evans Products Co. Ltd. plant at Pemberton. He will also be the mill manager.

PEMBERTON GETS FIRST TV PROGRAM

On September 22, 1971 from 5:30-7:15 p.m., Bill Taylor, Doug Newberry, Neil Fenton and Gus Halvorson watched a baseball game on T.V. They used a 10 inch portable channel 7 antenna powered with a gas generator.

They reported the picture and sound were very good and comparable with a city setup. The signal was located at approximately 2,500 feet on the old Cascade Logging slash north and east of Pemberton.

The signal is believed to come from channel 6, Victoria via Whistler Mountain.

Capacitor station near Pemberton

A series capacitor station is being built near Pemberton just north of the north end of Lillooet Lake on the Bridge River No. two line. This will be known as the Creekside Capacitor Station.

The first stage of the Creekside station will go into service in 1972. Preliminary construction work is being done now by Ridgeway-Pacific Construction Ltd.

They are doing clearing, grading, foundation work and fencing and other non-electrical construction associated with the series capacitor station. The site is immediately north of the Owl Creek bridge near the road to D'Arcy. This work should be completed by the latter part of November.

The series capacitor equipment for the Creekside station is expected to be delivered next March. Sometime after the first of the year Hydro will let a contract for the installation of this equipment at the site, which is scheduled to be done next spring.

The second stage of this station is expected to be in operation in 1974.

There will be an A.C.W. Tea and Bake Sale on Saturday October 9, in the Community Hall from 2-4 p.m.

TV crew in Pemberton

Pemberton was the centre of activity on Wednesday, September 28, when T.D.F. Productions of Toronto arrived with all their cameras, props, and even artificial snow.

It took the best part of the day to film a commercial for Imperial Oil at the Pemberton Esso Garage.

Fall Fair revival

Anyone interested in reviving the Pemberton Fall Fair should contact Mr. T. Fougberg.

There is an interested group now but more are needed if we're to get Pemberton's lost community spirit back.

Pemberton High school highlights

President of the Pemberton Secondary Student's Council this year is Ken Sangster. Vice-president is Glen Blaylock; social convener is Betty Cosulich; girls sports rep. is Debbie Phare; secretary is Nancy Harris; treasurer is Leslie Priest. Class reps and a boy's sports rep. are yet to be appointed.

In 1969 the school's spirit began to die from lack of interest. Last year, 1970, it completely died. Thursday Sept. 30, 1971, there was a funeral service held in the school gymnasium. All students were requested to wear black.

At noon hour, Rolf Staehli, the minister, gave a history of the spirit and the last words, the trumpeter, Glen Blaylock, played the Last Post and everyone mourned the dead spirit. The six pull bearers picked up the coffin and led the procession out the door.

More than half the students made up the procession as it headed downtown to the PGE station. There they laid the coffin on the station platform where it would be picked up by the Budd Friday, Oct. 1. The coffin and the last remains were sent to Lillooet Secondary School. May he rest in peace.

Friday was bright clothes day for the school. All the students were encouraged to wear bright clothes to help rejoice the birth of a new school spirit.

The following soccer games are scheduled for October. Howe Sound vs. Pemberton, in Squamish on Oct. 7, in Pemberton Oct. 14. A tournament will be held in Lillooet on Oct. 23.

Bridal shower for Laurel Ransom

Miss Laurel Ransom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ransom of Pemberton was guest of honour at a shower held on Wednesday Sept. 29, in the high school cafeteria. Hosting the event was Miss Penny Blanchet.

Laurel's marriage to Douglas Gilmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.

Gilmore of Pemberton, takes place on October 23.

A gay bonnet was fashioned by Miss Blanchet, while the bride elect's sister Lynn assisted in opening the gifts.

Mrs. H. Ayers decorated a cake which was enjoyed by all with other dainties.

DAVID BUSTARD WINS NRC GRANT

David Bustard, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Bustard, formerly of Pemberton has won a National Research Council grant. He will be studying the possible combination of the Studies of Forestry and Fisheries.

David is a 1966 graduate of Pemberton Secondary School. He received his Bachelor's Degree at UBC and then spent one year in Europe.

Sawdust and Shavings

Jean Laventure is still scratching her head about this one. The other morning she had a request for a pen, and as she always does, she tried it out before she sold it to make sure it was working properly. The gentleman politely told her "Don't bother, I'm not going to write with it anyway!"

And a big fat bouquet of orchids to Helmut Sherer, Squamish's own inimitable gagster, who wasn't pulling any gag when he sent council a cheque for $20 towards the cost of fighting the Hydro case! There's a man who puts his cash where his words are!

And I don't know where Alderman Makowichuk got the impression that everyone is laughing at Squamish. Certainly no one I've talked to seems to hold that opinion and folks I've talked to all seem to have the impression that the people in Squamish have a great deal of courage or just plain old-fashioned guts, to tackle Hydro.

In a trip to the Cariboo recently Freda Clarke said a number of people commented favorably on the action taken by our community and Bob Ellison, on a recent holiday said he ran into favorable comment at 100 Mile House. Certainly I know I found it, even in the United States where they must have only heard about it on the air because American newspapers don't carry Canadian news!

And if the comments came from the Union of B.C. Municipalities, well, look at who's calling who what!

Court of Appeal. His comment, "In one word, GO."

After all seven hundred people didn't sign a petition urging council to take action for nothing. And it's a cinch hundreds more would have signed it if they had been approached and asked to do so.

You should have seen the looks on council's face last week when Dr. H. Redford, talking on burning at the garbage dump, said he had a 90 page report on recycling garbage which he could read to them. Bet they thought it was going to be another of those legislation by exhaustion deals. You know, "the mind can only absorb what the seat can stand" with everyone getting rather numb after five hours of talk and delegations.

You really don't expect funnies at a Chamber of Commerce meeting but Constable Fred Jowett, talking to the members on action to take during a robbery, said no resistance should be offered, adding that you could get hurt and then capping his remarks with "Besides help is hard to get these days!"

And Bob McKilligan, also on the same subject said, "Our biggest worry is getting hit on the head. Our wives wouldn't report it till the next day!"

But Dave Stewart really brought down the house when his remarks on wages and girls got funnier and funnier and the more he tried to explain it the funnier it became.

If you thought Merv Foote was strictly for the birds you'd have been convinced of it last week if you had walked down the street just after lunch and seen Merv pursuing a poor frightened little sparrow with a butterfly net! Seriously though, the bird had entered the store and he was trying to get it out.

It's a cinch we thought winter was here when we all saw the powdering of snow on top of Garibaldi and on Brohm Ridge. To think we had been out hiking in the sun on those ridges less than two weeks before was enough to make a guy shiver and turn up the electric blanket.

And then to hear about snow in Edmonton and even on the Hope-Princeton at the end of September isn't very pleasant. Gad, we haven't even had Indian summer yet!

Wouldn't You Know It Department! The movie, filmed here earlier this year and starring Peter Lawford, Tony Francioso and Annjette Comer appeared on Channel 7 last Friday night. Of course that's one channel we can't get in Squamish so unless you were fortunate enough to be somewhere where you can get Channel 7, no one here saw it this time around.

Renamed "The Deadly Hunt" the film will probably be shown again on some other channel. Featured in it are scenes shot in the Tyrolean Inn and the forest fire scene was filmed in Valleycliffe.

And congratulations to Paul Morris, new manager of the ski department at Four Seasons Leisure World in Vancouver. Paul, who is a graduate of Howe Sound Secondary, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Morris and has been a skier for years. If you're in need of ski equipment or anything for your winter sports scene, drop in and see Paul. He'll be glad to help you!

Operation doorstep in town next week

Operation Doorstep, which is touring the secondary schools in Pemberton and Squamish this week will return next week to visit the Howe Sound centres next week.

Clinics will be held commencing on October 12 in Pemberton, Whistler, Mountain and at Britannia Beach.

Local ladies in the communities of Pemberton, Britannia Beach, Alta Lake and Squamish, are all working on the program and times for the clinics will be found in the advertisement in the paper this week and next week.

Members of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Royal Canadian Legion and members of the TB Christmas Seal Committee, sponsored in this area by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Squamish General Hospital, are working with the clinic and ladies will be calling at homes a few days in advance of the clinics.

The facilities of Dr. L. C. Kindree's medical clinic have been offered to Operation Doorstep during the week of October 12 to develop x-ray films, to examine the films and to clean and pack the syringes.

JUDGE RULES SPRAY BYLAW INVALID

Judge C. I. Walker ruled the Squamish spraying bylaw is invalid on Friday when he dismissed charges against a helicopter company accused of breaking the municipality's herbicide spraying bylaw.

Transwest Helicopters Ltd. had been charged along with B.C. Hydro and Dr. Gordon Shrum, Hydro's chairman, and the case had been held over until October 1.

The helicopter firm had been charged with failing to apply for a permit to spray before doing so.

The company's lawyers said the bylaw was vague and discriminatory.

THE REFEREE is just stopping the play in this pile up at last week's game between Howe Sound Secondary and St. Thomas More.

The Peace River was a route for some of British Columbia's earliest explorers — Alexander Mackenzie in 1792, James Finlay in 1797 and Simon Fraser in 1805.

In January 1862 the temperature fell to eight degrees below zero in the Alberni Valley and the canal was frozen 10 miles from its head.

Bligh Island in Nootka Sound was named after one of Captain Cook's captains, William Bligh who later won notoriety in the famous mutiny on the Bounty.

Soccer games despite rain

Despite the rain which started early on Saturday there were a number of soccer games played in Squamish on the weekend.

In Division Nine, for eight years and under, Mamquam Rangers downed Stawamus 2-0 and Mamquam Celtics defeated Squamish 1-0.

In Division Seven, in the only game played, Stawamus and Britannia battled to a 1-1 tie.

In Division Five, Britannia defeated Squamish 4-1 and Mamquam trounced Woodfibre 10-1.

In Division Three, both games had the same score with Stawamus defeating Brackendale 4-2 and Squamish defeating Mamquam 4-2.

BRIDGET SAYS

By BRIDGET BUCHANAN

The Interhouse Swim Meet, held last Friday, was a great success. School spirit supported this event with great enthusiasm. A change this year in the events offered more students a chance to participate.

Along with the regular events, novelty events were also held; for example an Inner Tube relay and Pyjama relay were two such events. The Cossacks took the overall meet, with the Saxons running a close second, Huns third and the Vikings fourth.

The same day a football game was held against St. Thomas More. This game was very exciting, with one touchdown scored from Howe Sound, and two from the opposition. This is the second year the football team has played together. The final score was 13-6. Mr. Bellamy, the head football coach is doing a great job.

The Squamish graduation tea, held October 1, was attended by scholarship winners, parents and sponsors. The economics class provided food and beverages, with other students serving. Mr. Akune, our new principal for Howe Sound Secondary, was the master of ceremonies. The entire gathering was enjoyed completely.

Bantam, junior and senior girls volleyball teams were visited by Windsor last Monday. The bantams won their games, the junior's lost two but won one, and the seniors were defeated three games to two. The next volleyball games are to be held on October 5, against Carson Graham.

The "X" block was filled by a "Corn In"! Besides corn, music was also provided. Attendance was excellent. The annual affair made $143 and was only expecting to make $100.

A forthcoming dance is to be held on October 15. And is looked forward to by all the students. Lorenzo Alverni, president of the Student Council, arranged this dance with help of other conscientious students. The executive members are: Joe Rhodes, president of athletics, Brenda Thom, vice-president, Doug Carroll, president of fine arts, Debbie Rizun, president of service, and Vicki Shutz, vice-president of the Student Council. The secretary is Sharon Grant and treasurer is Joan Clark.

In the very near future students from the high school will be knocking on your door in hope that you will buy a fifty cent chocolate bar from them, supporting the Student Council. This, they hope will help get them out of a debt close to $2,000, from last years council. Please support them and buy a chocolate bar.

Squamish Titans win the Mud Bowl

By CHARLES HARVEY

In a constant downpour on a muddy field, the Titans came up with their best, hardest-hitting game of the year, defeating the Colts 27-12.

After recovering the opening kick-off the Colts were pushed back inside their 25 and were forced to kick. Titans defence crushed their offensive line and blocked the kick.

Three plays later Doug Woods threw a swing pass to Terry James who scored on a 25 yard pass and run. Later in the first quarter the Colts quarterback, together with their flanker, combined for a 60 yard pass and run touchdown and caught our deep backs sleeping.

The ball changed hands several times as a result of fumbles. Neither team could capitalize till the Titans defence tackled the punter deep in their end zone for a two point safety.

Tim Cyr marched the team down to the three yard line but the half ended with our boys ahead 8-6.

In the second half the Colts tried to keep the ball away from Terry James. They succeeded but it proved to be a mistake as Tim Doherty received their kick-off and ran it back for an 85 yard touchdown behind excellent blocking. Tim Cyr converted and we led 15-6.

The Colts fought back, capitalizing on a fumble and penalties to score on a 10 yard touchdown pass. They were stopped and tried to run, for the convert and our lead was cut to 15-12.

Late in the fourth quarter with the Colts on the move, Terry James intercepted a pass and ran it back 40 yards to score. With less than three minutes left in the game, Tim Cyr marched the team 60 yards and scored on a quarterback sneak. That ended the scoring with the Titans winning 27-12.

Terry James, Tim Cyr, Alfie James and Tim Doherty all played their usually brilliant game. Although the score wasn't quite as impressive this weekend as last I feel that the Titans played twice the game.

Defensively Dickenson, Chisholm and Dawson played extremely well. The Titans defence is working like a unit and was outstanding holding the Colts to 12 points especially when we had over 130 yards in penalties against us.

Bob Singer and I feel we can't afford penalties if we are to upset the league leaders next Sunday. The Titans play Sunday at Squamish at 1:30 and on Monday at Ambleside at 1 p.m.

Bob and I would appreciate more fan support this coming weekend. We need it.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Stathers have returned from Gun Lake to spend the winter in Squamish.

Hospital L.A. plans busy year

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Squamish General Hospital is planning a busy year with the main object of their fund raising activities to be the purchase of a dry process developer for the hospital.

All monies raised from their future activities will go for this cause. The first event, the annual doll and tool box raffle will be held in December.

At the regular meeting of the auxiliary D.R. Parker, executive secretary of the TB Seal Committee, gave a very interesting talk on the work of the TB Society and showed a film entitled "Life and Breath."

The ladies of the auxiliary are presently compiling the lists for the mailing of the TB Christmas Seals.

The booth at the Fall Fair, an annual undertaking of the Auxiliary to the Hospital, netted the group a profit of $85 from the sale of home baking and novelties.

An evening of nonsense

"Let's Face It" billed as an evening of nonsense, was just that, a fun-filled evening of laughter with outrageous puns and some delightful miming by Richard Hopkinson and Mike Callaghan.

Doreen Ramus' talents as a comedienne were ably demonstrated and Patsy Hopkinson would make her mark anywhere as a "mean little kid." Some of the lyrics were delightful, and while the participants didn't claim to be singers, this just added to the fun.

There wasn't any message, there wasn't any drama, it was just an amusing laughter filled evening of entertainment which had an appreciative audience.

Until 1922, motorists in B.C. were required to drive on the left side of the road. B.C. was the last province to adopt the right side system.

Lynne Mahood wed Aug. 13

A wedding of interest to residents of Squamish took place in North Vancouver on Friday, August 13 at 7 p.m. when Lynne Winter Mahood, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mahood exchanged vows with R. Bruce Goldsworthy, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Goldsworthy also of North Vancouver. The ceremony took place in Lynn Valley United Church with Rev. D. McInnes officiating.

Led to the altar by her father, the bride wore a floor-length Juliet styled gown of white peau de chrome, with full sleeves gathered at the wrist by wide cuffs. Her full-length veil fell from a daisy-trimmed white pillbox. Her cascade bouquet was of white roses and blue starflowers.

Miss Patricia Mahood, sister of the bride was the maid of honor and Miss Lorraine Goldsworthy and Mrs. Les Jamieson, sisters of the groom, were respectively bridesmaid and bridesmatron. All wore blue peau de chrome gowns with white daisy trim and carried bouquets of white carnations and blue starflowers. The junior bridesmaid, Miss Shirley Mahood, the bride's younger sister, and the flower girl, Miss Brenda Methorst wore identical gowns of white peau de chrome with daisy trim and carried baskets of blue-tipped white baby mums.

The groom was supported by his brother Gordon Goldsworthy and ushers were Les Jamieson and the bride's brother Andy Mahood. The bride grew up in Squamish and received almost all of her schooling here; the groom is attending fourth year physical education at UBC.

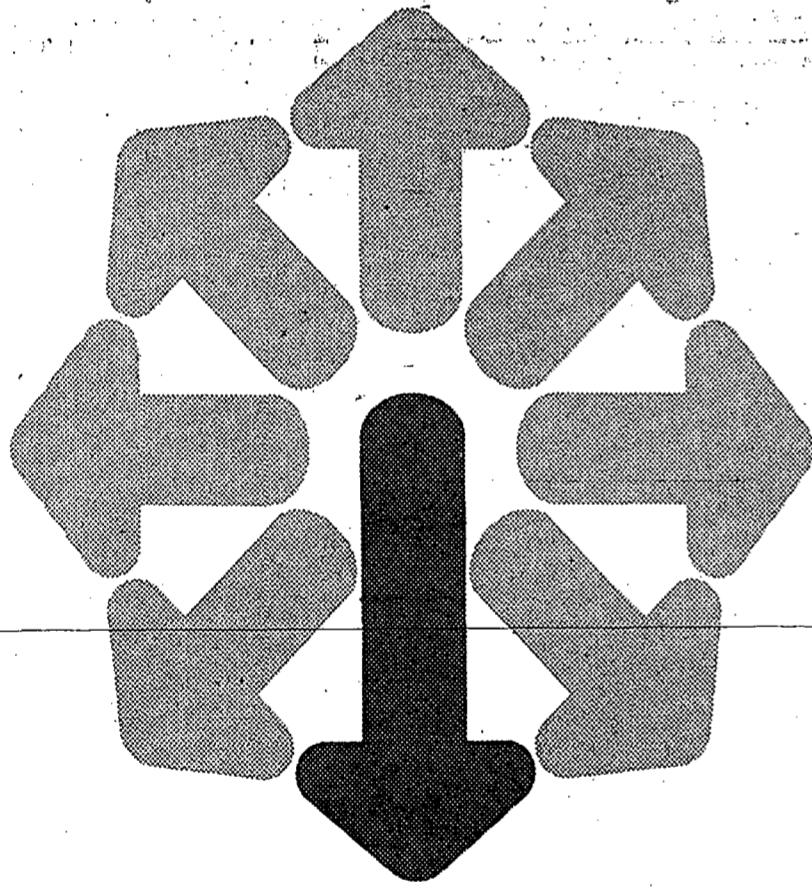

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the King Arthur Room at the Avalon Motor Hotel where Mr. W. H. Williams of Chetwynd proposed the toast to the bride. Mr. Tom Clarke of Squamish was master of ceremonies.

For her going away costume the bride chose a plum colored hot pant suit with cream accessories. Following a honeymoon flight to San Francisco and Los Angeles the newlyweds will make their home in Vancouver.

Golf Happenings

By DOROTHY KENNEDY

Twenty-six ladies had beautiful weather both weekends for the 36 hole-Fall Handicap Tournament. In the first flight (handicap of 35 and under), Phyllis Howse came first for the low gross. Phyllis won a lovely trophy and an umbrella. Congratulations from all of us Phyllis.

Runner-up low gross was Jill Olynk and she won a golf glove and three golf balls. Kay Dodd and Dorothy Kennedy tied for first place for low net and each of us won a lovely set of knitted club covers. Ev Macconnell won the good sport prize.

Helen Barringer won golf balls for having the best score on the two first holes on the back nine.

In the second flight, first low gross was won by Leona Ingram and she received an umbrella. Runner-up was Yvonne Bilodeau who won club covers. Ann Reynolds won a prize for having the best score on the first two holes on the front nine. Good sport prize was won by Faith Nelson. Door prizes were won by Dora

Rourke, Fran Hurren and Dot Dawson.

Tuesday September 28 at 6:30 p.m. in the Chieftain Hotel, 15 of the business ladies got together to honor their captain for the year, Dora Rourke. Dora really was surprised that her soccer meeting turned into a golfer's party.

Dora was presented with a golf glove in appreciation of all her hard work for us during the year. We had a lovely dinner and were then invited to the Phillips' home for the remainder of the evening. It was a lovely evening and thanks to everyone for turning out and special thanks to June Phillips for her hospitality.

On Saturday October 16 we are having the Windup Banquet for all the golfers. Cocktails 6:30 p.m. 7:30 p.m. Smorgasbord dinner commencing at 7:30 p.m. Dancing until 1 p.m. There is a limit of 100 tickets so if you want to go, get your tickets now. Tickets may be obtained from Gordon or Doris McKay at the Pro Shop, Jeff Phillips at Town and Country Shoes (there'll be a slight charge for free advertising Jeff), and members of the executive will also have some tickets for sale. On Monday Sept. 27 there sure were some wet people around. Did you ever get dried out Yvonne? Let's all hope we have some more nice weather to play our course.

BRIDAL SHOWER FOR JOAN HERRON

Joan Herron, whose marriage to Tom Shields took place last Saturday, was the guest of honor at a bridal shower at the home of Mrs. H. Butterworth on Monday evening of last week.

Co-hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. A. Sullivan and Mrs. W. Campbell. Blue and white was used as the theme for the decorations and Mrs. Sullivan made beautiful corsages for the head table guests.

After a few enjoyable games the gifts were presented to the bride-elect. Seated with her at the head table were her mother, Mrs. B. Herron, Mrs. R. A. Lindstrom and Carol Butterworth.
