Adult education classes begin next week

New Fields Store opens Thursday in Squamish

Fields Stores Ltd. opens the doors at 38123 Cleveland Avenue on Thursday morning with a bang-up Grand Opening Sale.

Fields was founded as a family clothing store in 1948 in Vancouver by Mr. Joseph Segal. He had one small store located at 7 West Hastings Street. From 1948 to 1968 Fields grew to a total of eight stores specializing in family clothing at popular low prices. During the years 1969 to 1972 the growth has been dramatic. Over forty stores are presently operating throughout British Columbia and range from clothing stores and junior department stores to full line department stores. By the end of this year it is projected that at least 55 Fields stores will be in operation.

Mr. Segal is also the president of Fields Stores Ltd. He is a native of Alberta and was born in Vegreville. He moved to Edmonton at a very early age where he received his schooling. In 1943 he joined the Army and was sent overseas. Following his discharge in 1948 he moved to Vancouver and opened his first Fields store operating with 2,500 square feet of selling space.

The new Fields store in Squamish features clothing for men, boys, ladies, girls, teens and children, as well as footwear and a selection of staples.

The original concept and principles of operation set out by the founder, Mr. Joseph Segal, have been maintained from 1948 to the present time... that is to provide selection and value with service, through volume buying and passing the savings on to the consumer. Fields stand behind their merchandise and guarantee full satisfaction on every purchase. Otherwise the goods will be exchanged if that is possible or the money will be refunded.

Fields control operating service and overhead costs and have the best qualified and most efficient employees. The firm operates on a cash and carry basis with no frills or hidden costs. The well trained staff is on hand to assist the purchaser on request, but customers are free to browse.

Fields Stores Ltd. is a public Canadian owned company listed on the Toronto and Vancouver Stock Exchanges.

The company opened its first store in Alberta in August, 1971. That was in Edmonton. This year Fields Stores are operating in Wetaskiwin, Red Deer, Lethbridge and Calgary. New stores open simultaneously with Squamish in Hope and Merritt in B.C. and Westlock, Alberta. A second store opens in Edmonton on October 12 and another in Calgary two weeks later.

Steinkopf new Fields manager

MANAGER OF the new Fields Store in Squamish is Daryl Steinkopf. He has been associated with Fields for over three years, starting in the shoe department, progressing to the position of assistant manager, then manager of Pants Plus on West Hastings Street. He was born in West Vancouver, and attended West Vancouver high school. Daryl is single and enjoys skiing, soccer and baseball. Before entering the retail field he spent some time "in the bush," logging.

No moose season in Pemberton area

Hunters are reminded that there is a closed season on moose hunting in the Pemberton area. This means both sides of the Lillooet River, the Pemberton side and the Bralorne side.

There have been reports of hunters disobeying the ruling and hunting moose by whatever means they see fit. A sign is posted at the intersection entering Pemberton which reads, "No Moose Season; You are now in GMA Z. Pheasant season closed."

There is a reward of $500 for information leading to the conviction of persons doing wanton damage to private property also. This sign is posted by the Pemberton Sportsmen Wildlife Association.

Eight men have been caught netting fish in Sampson Creek, which is not legal and a shame that some sportsmen take to this kind of sport.

More power in Pemberton

B.C. Hydro has substantially increased the capacity of the electrical distribution system serving the Pemberton area.

The system was changed over this month from 12,000 volts to 25,000 volts. A new substation, 12 times higher in capacity than the old, also was placed in service.

The improved system will assure ample power for continuing load growth in the area, and provide additional service security.

Part of the added load on the system comes from the new Evans Products mill at Mount Currie.

Community hall open again

The Pemberton Community Hall has been opened following repair work. Shows will be shown regularly each Thursday and Saturday evening at 8 p.m.

The Hall Committee plans further repairs to the ticket room and the change room, and perhaps washrooms.

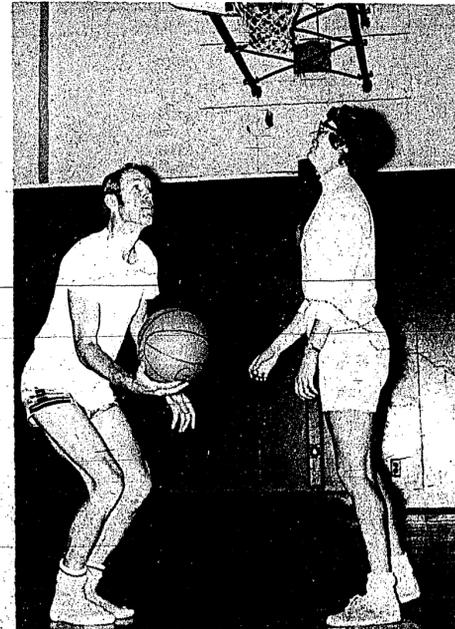

Set aside the second Wednesday in October and attend the monthly hall committee meeting if you can offer assistance in any way.

ARIE HOOGENBOOM who will teach the Art for Men class.

BASKETBALL BUFFS George and Wendy Prothero will take men's and women's basketball on Wednesday nights.

Building fund at $12,892.28

Municipal clerk Jim Craven reports that donations for the Senior Citizens Building Fund now total $12,892.28. Goal for the fund is $20,000.

Applications by senior citizens with the right qualifications have been accepted for 15 of the 22 suites.

There is a possibility of starting next year on a duplicate apartment block when the first one is filled.

1000 enrolments expected here

One thousand people are expected to enrol in the Howe Sound School District Adult Education classes which begin next week.

Adult Education and Recreation director, Bob Ellison, says there were more than 800 enrolments last year and with the response he's been getting over the last few weeks expects this year's figure to be well up on this.

There will be 29 classes in Squamish this term and 13 in Pemberton as well as three to five classes run by the Adult Education and Recreation Commission for the Department of Indian Affairs.

In Squamish 13 new classes have been added to many old favourites.

Conversational German and conversational Spanish are two new courses, both designed to help people speak a new language without having to worry too much about grammar.

The German class will be taught by Ulrika McCrum, recently arrived from Hemer, Germany. Ulrika qualified in Germany as an interpreter and taught English in an interpreters' school there.

Olga Nitche, who is from Mexico City is also an experienced teacher and will teach the Spanish course.

NEW CRAFT COURSES

There are several new craft courses.

Indian beadwork will be taught by Sadie Baker of the Stawamus Reserve.

Peter Legere will take a silk screen class and will cover the actual making of the screens, the use of various inks, lettering, layout and the different techniques used in screenprinting fabrics, paper and other materials.

Peter attended the Nova Scotia School of Art and worked as a silk screen printer in Halifax.

Art for men is just what it says and will be conducted by local painter Arie Hoogenboom.

A class in leatherwork (including tooling) will be taken by Jim Gunn and Olga Metzler will be teaching the class in creative sewing with knit fabrics.

Women's basketball, a new games activity this year, will be run by Wendy Prothero who last year taught the dry-ski classes. It will be on at the same time as the men's basketball so Wednesday night will be the night for basketball buffs.

MORSE CODE OFFERED

Morse code is one of the more unusual courses offered. Dorothy Buchanan is teaching the course which will assist young people, especially, in acquiring a ham radio licence.

Dorothy will teach international operating codes and procedures as well as international morse code to Department of Transport speed and to ham radio operator licence standards.

She says that in some towns there are ham radio clubs and some people build their own sets. There are cheap war surplus materials available but before going on the air operators have to learn the procedures and the morse code.

Dorothy spent five years in the W.A.A.F. as an operator and had four years experience with the Ministry of Civil Aviation as a Grade 1 radio operator.

A morse code key is included in the course fee so members of the class can take them home to practice.

Elaine Craig will be leading a study group entitled Mental Magic. This is a SOMM study group described by Elaine as a gathering of men and women who wish to make self-improvement an enjoyable adventure and to use the secrets of mental magic for enriching daily life in the home, at work, in social affairs and in every department of living.

Economics for average folks is a four week course conducted by Art Weeks. It will cover fundamental economic theory, money, labour and world trade and will be a non-academic discussion of economics designed for people with no economics background.

OLD FAVOURITES REPEATED

Old favourites which are being repeated this year include men's basketball, speed reading, stretch and sew (beginners), men's floor hockey, hunter training, bridge instruction, yoga (beginners and advanced), defensive driving, bookkeeping for small businesses, custom tailoring, typing, woodworking (full workshop facilities available), badminton, painting for pleasure, drop-in and St. John's first aid.

Alf Angell and John Willgress cover such subjects as wilderness survival techniques, animal tracking and bird identification as well as the basic hunting course.

Pemberton classes are badminton, women's keep fit, men's indoor soccer, conversational French, beginners' bridge, stretch and sew, basic sewing, home improvements, pottery, batik and tie-dyeing, communications and community video.

In addition to adult education classes in Squamish the Adult Education and Recreation Commission will be sponsoring choral and instrumental groups under the leadership of Richard Hopkinson.

ULRIKA McCRUM who will teach German conversation at an evening class.

Help needed on tree farm

Local scouts need more help from parents with work on their tree farm at Pemberton.

Much work is needed in thinning and pruning the trees which the scouts grow under a hydro right-of-way to sell at Christmas.

At the East Howe Sound District Council meeting held last week it was decided that each cub pack or troop should try to get more parent participation in scout and cub activities generally.

Local scouts are hoping to establish a campsite at Furry Creek. This would be a mountain area camp on Anaconda property.

A Scouter Conference is planned for October or November and will cover leadership training and discussion of scouting in the district. The public will be invited to go along and see what the district offers the boys.

Special programs in schools

The Howe Sound School Board reports that there are remedial teachers on a full or part time basis in all elementary schools except one room schools.

The aim of the remedial program is to keep the child in a normal classroom in a meaningful learning situation, removing him for special help as needed.

Referral is by the classroom teachers. Diagnostic tests, formally and/or informally, are given and remedial action then taken with the explicit aim of getting the child whenever possible back into the normal stream as quickly as possible.

The program also provides specialist help to the classroom teacher so that he can become proficient in developing meaningful learning situations for these students.

There is an opportunity class for students who find difficulty in progressing in a normal classroom situation, and a "New Canadian" class for those who cannot speak English.

Education act changes welcomed by board

School Trustee Mrs. Marchant comments on the effect the proposed changes in the "Public Schools Act" will have in this school district.

"The announcement last week by Mrs. Dailley, Minister of Education, that the school operating referendum would be a thing of the past is, I am sure, enthusiastically welcomed by trustees.

"During the past few years, the trustees have felt an ever tightening restriction on the spending which they could undertake without submitting a referendum to the voters.

"The operating referenda have been in effect for the past three years and during that time only approximately 10 percent have passed making school boards very reluctant to submit them.

During the last few years spending on education in B.C. has declined as a percentage of total government spending. The end effect has been a deterioration in the education of our young people and in the standard of maintenance of our schools.

"In this district through having the confidence of our municipal councils and ratepayers, we have found it unnecessary to hold an operating referendum. Consequently, although drastic reductions were made in our budget, classroom instruction has not been too seriously affected.

The main improvements we will be looking forward to making will be on the provision of teaching supplies, maintenance and lowering the pupil-teacher ratio in some instances.

The B.C. School Trustees Association has been on record for some time as being against the concept of the operating referendum. Their point has been that trustees are elected to do a job as they see fit and that if the electors are dissatisfied with what they are doing, then they can be replaced at the next election.

Open house at Fire Hall

National Fire Prevention Week will be recognized by the Pemberton Firefighters Association with an Open House to be held at the Fire Hall on Saturday, October 14 from 2 p.m. on.

The general public is urged to attend and view the new fire truck which will be on display. All members of the fire department will be in attendance to give residents a guided tour of firefighting facilities and the firehall.

Refreshments will be served. There will be an informal dance to taped music in the firehall in the evening.

Editor on holidays

Editor, Rose Tatlow is away on a trip south of the border. She is making a grand tour with Beth and John Hill visiting Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Arizona and Utah. Yellowstone Park, Denver, the Grand Canyon and Salt Lake City are on the itinerary.

ORANGES ARE GREAT at half time especially if you are seven or eight and playing your first soccer game of the season, maybe your first ever. Members of the Brackendale peewee team (above) played to a scoreless tie in a game with Squamish Division 9 team on Saturday.

The fast moving human being

The Times, your community newspaper, has consistently supported all practical steps toward reducing hijackings and ransom threats connected with aircraft.

We have, in our humble way, supported the international treaty that originated at the 1970 Hague Convention for the Suppression of Unlawful Seizure of Aircraft. We have approved the use of more sophisticated methods of screening out hijackers, weapons, or bombs, and we have insisted that every individual demand that he and his travelling companion be searched prior to flight time.

But the continuing bombplots and unique hijacking methods show how stubborn the hijacking and ransom problem is.

We of course approve of the technological progress which air travel represents. But it should also be clear that such advance does not itself out-distance the marauding impulse of men such as led to attacks on trading caravans and stagecoaches centuries ago.

Perhaps if society stressed the development of ethical, upright and fair-acting man, and not fast-moving and wealthy and materially powerful man, we would get at what lies beneath the hijacking-ransom phenomenon.

Canada hockey ppssh...

There are some things we have said editorially of which we are not altogether confident. But that we shall be better and braver and less helpless if we think we ought to face facts, then we should have been if we indulged in the idle fancy that there was no knowing and no use in seeking to know what we don't know.

That is the theme upon which we take issue with our peers in the media for the shocking behavior of Canadians during the four-game hockey tournament with Russia.

More in sympathetic pain than in self-righteous anger was our reaction from the disgusting spectator conduct at the fourth hockey joust with our guests, the Russian team. It was a combination of the realization that our all-stars were no longer the best plus the lack of sportsmanship and ability to take our lumps with a smile.

We can write that off as human nature. But what concerns us more is the build-up over the years of belief that Canada's national team of all-stars is virtually invincible.

Now we know where to place the blame. The press, the media or any other generic term for the newspapers, radio and television must bear full responsibility.

How did names like Hull, Orr, Mahavolich, Perreault, Mikita and so on become super stars? Not because they are the best, because they aren't, but because of the oversell by the Press. So great has been the God-like obeisance by the Media to these "Super Stars" that nearly every sport-minded mother and father and their kids unquestionably believe that our hockey omnipotence belonged to the National Hockey League.

But not now!

Canada is no longer the God-head of hockey and Canadian players are not necessarily the best in the world — individually or in a team.

This stark awakening should serve a lesson to both the bewildered public and the power Press. Both are dealing with the credibility gap; the reader begins to wonder if what he is fed by the Media is all that true and the Media must look to its responsible position and ensure that it does not violate the canard of good reporting. Factual and reliable journalism.

Back to school driving

With school starting again and children once again taking to the roads on their way to school motorists should take extra precautions to ensure there are no accidents involving children.

Always remember children do unpredictable things. They'll walk along a road, they'll dart out between parked cars, you name it, they'll do it. Drivers should pay particular attention to school zones and to obey all school zone speed signs (20 miles per hour). Police will be closely watching school zones for speed violators.

Motorists should also be on the lookout for increased bicycle traffic, especially in the early mornings and late afternoons.

Last year there were 43 pedestrians killed in traffic accidents and 19 of them were children 16 years of age or younger.

Watch for the red flashing lights on school buses. These indicate that students are either entering or leaving the bus. Vehicle drivers are required by law to stop when the lamps are flashing if they are approaching the signalling school bus from the front or the rear.

Drivers are also required to remain stopped until the lamps stop flashing.

There has never been a serious accident involving school children or students in the Squamish area. Let's not have one now.

Bitter companions still exist

Despite Canada's tremendous social and material progress we recognize that sickness, despair, and loneliness, those old and bitter companions still exist. Despite our advances there is plenty of evidence to show that the behaviour of society is not improving.

To the old question "who is my neighbour" many people still say "I don't know." And others say, "I don't care."

But provisions for our neighbour, and the less fortunate of our neighbours, must go on unceasingly; to the great discredit of all of us ours is still a world of need, of suffering and despair.

We must all look to the unending task of helping our fellow man, and we can do this best through our United Appeal. We can do what we can, in this community at least, to make life more tolerable for the handicapped and the troubled. Support your United Fund. Thanks to you it can work.

When disaster struck

Our hearts bleed for 100 Mile House families who suffered the sudden disaster which occurred in that district last Friday. But also we are proud of the courage by the people when the chips were down, for it shows what psychiatrists, sociologists and others have long maintained — that people in rural communities tend to be more stable and balanced than those living in the suburbs.

If the same situation had occurred on the North Shore, we may have seen extreme reaction, possibly even including panic or homicidal tendencies could have been experienced.

We are referring to the sudden catastrophe when, due to a freak hail storm at La La Hache, 100 Mile House's single TV channel went off the air during the Russia-Canada hockey game. Repairs were not completed till after the game was over.

According to the local newspaper, The Free Press, the local residents met the extreme provocation calmly and coolly and there was no need to call out the RCMP.

The Free Press continued: "One local man who had been watching the game said he simply carried on eating his dinner as if nothing had happened. He said after long years of watching Kamloops' TV had disciplined him sufficiently to prepare for such emergencies. A 100 Mile House minister said he and his wife easily maintained a thankful spirit when the hockey TV knocked out as they don't have TV and were listening to the game on the radio.

We must look to 100 Mile House people with inspiration and we can only say to those stout characters: take heart for the game wasn't worth the time spent.

STRAWS IN THE WIND

By MARY MacDONALD

Uncertainties due to the murders in Munich, coupled with the announcement of a Canadian federal election, have slowed down the market a bit, affording investors a brief time to pick up some bargains.

Irrespective of the outcome of either, a group of companies that will benefit greatly in the next few years from the incipient energy starvation on this continent will be those supply companies which service the oil and gas industries, in the north.

Wisener & Partners, a brokerage firm in Toronto who specialize in resource stocks have written an article in "Business Week" which you should know about. Their view, which I share, is an anticipation of brilliant stock market action among those companies in particular which are secondary suppliers in the construction of oil and gas lines, and who service the industry in exploration activity.

PIPE ORDERS COMING

Interprovincial Steel & Pipe Corp. will get their share of pipe orders, along with Steel of Canada and Dofasco.

A very well-managed company will coat the pipe, and insulate it — Shaw Pipe Industries.

Kaps Transport with river barges on the Mackenzie River, with trucks and even air services, has excellent prospects.

Finning Tractor, in every way one of the best companies in B.C., will service the heavy construction industry.

Atco Industries — one of my perennial favourites in the mobile home industry — stands ready to install whole villages complete with schools, churches and even libraries in the far north.

AN EVEN BETTER FUTURE

White Pass & Yukon Railway's rail, barge and truck lines have performed well in the past, and have an even better future.

Okanagan Helicopters will certainly get an increasing share of the increasing flow of goods and personnel being carried to isolated holdings.

Watch the market on all these closely, and tuck some shares in one or two under your mattress for at least double-money in the next few years.

Depending as always on your personal portfolio and personal obligations and financial position, which I would prefer to discuss in detail with you before any specific choice, I would make a blanket recommendation on the following — Buy on dips —

STOCK	PRICE (app.)
Interprovincial Steel & Pipe	$13%
Okanagan Helicopters	$11%
Finning Tractors	$26%
Kaps Transport	$10%
Shaw Pipe	$13%
White Pass & Yukon	$14.00

Ten Thousand Dollars in these stocks could, I feel sure, buy a summer home or a trip around the world in a few years.

The Quiet Corner

"Thou wilt show me the path of life; in thy presence is fulness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures forevermore." (Psalm 16:11)

God is personally concerned about each individual. He is concerned about you and me.

First of all he wants to save you from your sin. Each of us are sinners and need Jesus Christ to save us. When we accept Christ as our Saviour and Lord we know our sins are forgiven and we are on the road to heaven.

Secondly, God will direct our path in life. There are many times when we must make an important decision. This is where God will help those who seek him and his perfect advice. Pray to him and tell him you need his guidance. Read the Bible and you'll learn more about him, and will receive his help for your daily spiritual needs.

Thirdly, he gives us joy. God wants us to be joyful and happy in life. There are so many things to make us unhappy. Why not ask God to give you joy and peace in your heart?

Fourthly, with God there are everlasting pleasures. There are many things in the world which give temporary pleasures, but God gives never-ending pleasures.

All these things are available from God simply for the asking. As he gives them to you, thank and praise him. God rejoices to hear people praising him.

How long a time has it been since you talked to God? How long has it been since you thanked him? Begin thanking him now, because there is much more in store for each one of us as we commit our lives to God.

Industrial first aid attendants must be examined by the Workmen's Compensation Board before they are allowed to practice first aid in B.C. industry. Examinations for 4,421 attendants were conducted during 1971 and 3,397 certificates of competency issued, an increase of 10 per cent over the previous year.

GOING METRIC

In 1970 Jean-Luc Pepin, Minister of Industry, Trade and Commerce, announced that Canada would adopt the metric system of measurement. He didn't say when. The changeover will be very expensive. Not changing, however, is also expensive. Some people say that every year Canada delays in "going metric" we lose a hundred million dollars worth of exports.

Eighty percent of the world now uses the metric system. It was devised by French mathematicians in 1795 and is based on the primary meter — one one millionth part of the Earth's polar quadrant passing through Paris. As with many things French, it is perfectly logical. (The job was undertaken by Napoleon Bonaparte, "Emperor of the French Republic," which shows how illogical they can be.)

Canada's biggest trading partner, the United States, retains the inches and pounds system of measurement. This is a matter of consideration for us, for two-thirds of our overseas trade is done with the U.S. However we and the U.S. have been, for many years, a dwindling minority of the 130-odd nations of earth.

Britain, with whom the inches and pounds system originated, expects to have completed conversion to metric measurement by 1975. Japan is already metric. South Africa has converted. Australia and New Zealand are well advanced on the changeover.

The Canadian pharmaceutical industry changed to metric weights ten years ago. The electronic and photographic industries use metric measurements. Official government maps are issued on metric scale. Within a fairly short time we may expect weights to appear on grocery packages in both ounces and pounds and kilograms, that our daily temperature readings will be recorded in news broadcasts both in Fahrenheit and Celsius scales and that automobile dashboards will show double scales of both miles and kilometers. Remaking milk bottles from pints and quarts to litres may take longer but this, too, will come because the metric system, relying as it does upon decimal units rather than the old dozens system of King Henry II, makes for much easier calculation of value against price.

Costly and confusing it may be, more than if we had made the change a century or more ago together with other Western Hemisphere countries such as Mexico. But there is general agreement that further change merely increases the eventual cost.

For a starter, here is the metric conversion table. Most of us read it on the back of school textbooks, but we paid little attention. Now we'll have to.

METRIC MEASURE

1 gram — .035 ounce	1 kilometre — 5/8 mile
1 metre — 39.37 inches	1000 metres — 1 kilometre
1 kilogram — 2.2 pounds	100 cubic centimetres — 1 litre
1 litre — .88 quarts

P.S. It has been brought to my attention that some of you are receiving additional copies of the newsletter. If you are receiving more than one, please let me know and we will make the necessary changes. Also please let us know your correct mailing address. P. St. P.

Howe Soundings

Since we first came to Squamish five years ago we've heard about Lake Lovelywater but until last week had no idea that it is far more beautiful than even its name suggests.

It is hard to believe that just a few hours from Squamish there is an accessible mountain area so stark and for want of a better word so majestic.

A five hour struggle up the 4000 feet to the lake is rewarded with a view of steep mountain peaks, glaciers, rock cliffs and snow slopes reflected in the still clear water of Lake Lovelywater.

Snow caves are at the water's edge on one side and on the other there are good spots for the fishermen who last week caught three 12-14 inch rainbows.

The area is a perfect place for climbers and walkers alike. One trail leads to Lake Lambda an easy walk to a little tarn a few hundred feet above Lake Lovelywater. Here the mountain flowers were still blooming — among them columbine, daisies, Indian paintbrush, tiger lilies and tiny blue violets.

The trail carries on to the slopes of Mt. Alpha and there are plenty of more challenging climbs for the addicted.

Getting to the start of the Lovelywater trail can be difficult. The Squamish has to be crossed by boat near the cable car crossing and the road into the river from the Upper Squamish Road is bad — in wet weather anyway.

The climb up the trail itself beside the Lovelywater Creek with its falls and rushing water is hard on the legs but good for the head.

This was our first trip across the Squamish but it was enough to convince us that the Lovelywater area at least and the access to it should be considered for a provincial park.

Back at sea level. If you are going to forget the reminders and run out of gas on Highway 99 between Britannia and Horseshoe Bay then make sure you're with walking distance of either place when the final splutter splut occurs.

Numerous cars and trucks passed this reporter's raised thumb last Wednesday as she tried to make it from the stricken vehicle one and a half miles north of Horseshoe Bay.

Did she really look like a dangerous criminal? The paranoia set in anyway.

It wasn't such a bad walk though, even in the rain. Seldom do regular road users actually stop and look at the "beautiful scenery" we know is there. And it was quite interesting to see the work going on in the huge hole which is the mouth of the new BCR tunnel.

Being on the other end of the hitchhiker-car driver relationship really works up all the sympathy for the travelling kids standing in the rain.

But on the way home later I have to look them in the eye and remember that long ago I decided to pick up only girls or kids I know when I'm alone in the car on the highway.

It's hard to keep on driving in an empty car just the same and must be a heck of a lot harder for the cold, wet kids watching those empty cars roll by.

P.S. Rose is on holiday, so if these soundings haven't sounded as they ought sound, that's why!

School Board Briefs

The board has made Creekside School available to the Mount Currie Education Committee on the same basis as last year for use as a nursery school.

The board received a petition with signatures of parents of students from the secondary school asking for school bus service for the students in the Valleycliffe and North Ridge area.

The board advised that it was in sympathy with the problem of the parents but felt that it must operate within the regulations concerning conveyance of students.

The secretary-treasurer was asked to inform the Department of Transport for a circular to be issued to helicopter operators and to the RCMP to the effect that the board wishes to prohibit further use of the school ground for helicopters except in case of emergencies.

Mr. Spencer, Mrs. Koch and Mr. Larcombe have been appointed to senior assistant positions.

Mr. Gordon Greenwood and Mr. Carrico have been authorized to attend the principals' conference, October 18 through 21st in Vancouver.

The board is to purchase additional property at the Blackwater Creek School site for the sum of $500. This land is available because of new road construction.

The board is to proceed as soon as authority is granted by the Department of Education with the installation of a sewage treatment plant at the Pemberton Secondary School.

Mrs. Harris reported that there is a full enrollment at the Totem Hall Nursery School.

Arrangements will be made for the Playhouse Theatre to bring a production to the various schools in the district.

Total enrolment for the District on September 8 was 2,664. The board reports that in spite of the increase in population the school enrolment increase has levelled off due to a declining birthrate. Total enrolments for the last five years were: 1968, 2507; 1969, 2578; 1970, 2593; 1971, 2606.

Mr. Minchin noted that a new ski development at the Base Camp may be available for students this winter.

A strange story

Britannia residents Mr. and Mrs. D. Murdoch returned from visiting their friends Mr. and Mrs. Tom Alston in Edgewater, B.C., with a strange story to tell and a piece of a strange plant which they brought into the Times office last week.

The Alstons had planted a row of green peppers and a row of tomatoes side by side and somehow they got muddled up at pollination time.

There were no peppers on the pepper plants, no tomatoes on the tomato plants but one of the tomato plants was just loaded with green peppers.

Local gardening expert Peter Bukowsky said tomatoes and peppers were very distant relatives and that a cross between the two seeds would be very unusual.

Fatal road accident

This newspaper records the tragic death by accident on September 15 of two young Squamish residents, Graham Beattie, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Beattie of Squamish and Randall John Grieve whose family lives in Trail.

Piano lessons to start soon

Vancouver piano teacher, Anna Maria Reid, will be coming to Squamish to take piano lessons under the sponsorship of the Adult Education and Recreation Commission.

PIANO TEACHER ANNA MARIA REID

Mrs. Reid is an associate of the Royal Conservatory of Toronto and a member of the B.C. Registered Music Teachers' Association.

Before moving to Vancouver recently she taught piano in Williams Lake and was a member of the Cariboo Music and Drama Festival Association.

Mrs. Reid encourages her pupils to sit piano exams and is interested in continuing festival work as well.

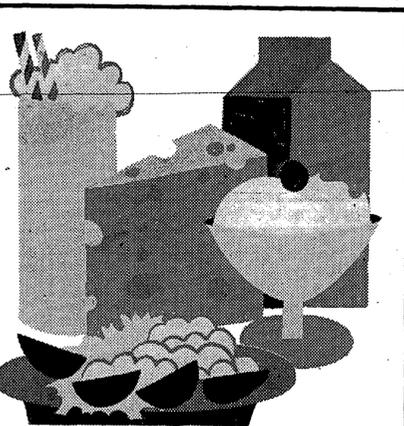

The ideal age for starting to learn to play the piano, Mrs. Reid finds, is six or seven but there is no age restriction for those wanting to take lessons.

She has taught pre-schoolers very successfully but this involves a lot from the mother's side as the mother would have to come to lessons and help the child practice.

Lessons will be held Saturdays in the music room at the high school. Registration is on October 7 between 10 a.m. and 12 noon and fee for ten weekly half hour lessons is $35.

Adult Education and Recreation Director, Bob Ellison said it may be possible to arrange for the use of a piano for practising when a pupil does not have one available.

What's so special about B.C. MILK?

The lush pasturelands of the Fraser Valley... the green rolling meadows of Vancouver Island, the Okanagan and other interior regions. Add the finest dairy herds to these rich grazing lands and you have the reason why every part of British Columbia enjoys a continuous supply of farm-fresh milk and other dairy products. In the warm weather months, we have a tendency to consume a wider variety of artificially flavored drinks... but there really isn't any substitute for the nourishing goodness of real fresh milk. Make sure you and your family enjoy a cold glassful next mealtime. Also enjoy the delightful flavor of B.C.-produced cottage cheese, yoghurt and ice cream. They come to you fresh from some of the finest dairy regions in North America.

Sawdust and Shavings

Had to laugh at one of the aldermen last week when she said that people complain about the smell of Woodfibre but then go to Harrison Hot Springs and spend a fortune to swim in the stuff!

And Spike Enemark told council apropos the coal port, that in Prince George they were so anxious to get industry they let three pulp mills come in and that was something.

"Coal doesn't smell," he said, "but it has problems too!"

There was really something to Alderman Ray Bryant's suggestion that Squamish have its own version of the Monte Carlo Grand Prix and run from Horseshoe Bay to Squamish.

"Bet some of those sports car drivers could do it in 18 minutes," he said.

Just wonder who would be around to pick up the pieces!

But seriously, there would be some merit to staging the race, closing the highway for the time it would take and letting them race flat out along the road from Horseshoe Bay to Squamish. They could open it for a while and then re-close it for the race back.

Maybe we should promote the idea. It's certainly a novel one!

Aviation enthusiasts will be happy to hear that blacktopping is expected to start this week. Crews have been busy working on the site, rocks have been blown and lots of work done in preparation for the grand P or Paving Day.

It was rather interesting to see that former MP Paul St. Pierre, who is running for re-election as a Liberal and Allan Williams, who was re-elected as a Liberal in this riding, were introduced by their political affiliations last week. But it was also interesting to note that Ron Huntington, who is running as a Conservative, against Jack Davis in West Vancouver, was not introduced by his political affiliations.

Why not? And it's also interesting to see that those who jumped on the Action Canada bandwagon are now following their former leader Paul Hellyer into the Conservative folds.

Doris Fossum reports that she recently saw some Canada geese in the water near Darrell Bay. She wants to know if that means an early fall and winter?

And how are we going to know what the weather will be like in the summers and winters now that we have lost Dominic Charlie, the Indian weather expert and famous dancer who was training the young people to follow him?

Dominic was a fountain of knowledge of the Indian ways and with his passing many people will feel that life is a little poorer. Listening to him talk was an experience and once heard was never forgotten.

With the departure of Ruth Gallagher and the children Julie and Brandy from Brandywine Falls, the place just won't see the same. Ray will follow them later but the family have moved to their new home on a farm just outside of Crofton, south of Nanaimo.

The Gallaghers have sold their Brandywine property to the provincial parks branch and hopefully it will soon be added to the parks in the area. There's certainly a great need for more camping and tourist accommodation and a scenic wonder like Brandywine should belong to the people.

Donations wanted for Halloween fireworks

The Pemberton Community Health Centre is again planning a Haunted House, with games, and perhaps a dance for the teen-agers on Halloween. A fireworks display is being planned again this year with the help of local cash donations.

Last year's display was enjoyed by all, despite the snow storm. Anyone wishing to send contributions is asked to contact Mrs. Gordon Sangster who is the convener for the Halloween project. The larger the total donations the better the fireworks display.

Women are reminded that the Health Auxiliary is looking for new members and are invited to attend the next meeting which will be held the second Wednesday of October in the Health Centre at 8 p.m.

SEWER FRONTAGE TAX

The sewerage frontage notices have just been mailed and we have found that many persons are confused by the format of the notice.

Perhaps this information will assist you.

Every parcel has been assessed at 80 taxable feet because the District Frontage Tax is the same regardless of the width.

The Notice is not a request for payment (that will come next year). This Notice is simply set to legally establish the base of billing.

The Council decided on a taxable figure which is the same in all cases for two main reasons:

1. Revenues grow as subdivisions occur.
2. The use of the sewer is not related to the width of a parcel and it seemed unfair to bill in this manner.

Comments from B.C. coal ports

"If Delta had a choice and could go back four years in time and could see we were getting nothing we wanted then we wouldn't be in favour of the Roberts-Bank coal port," Delta Mayor Dougald Morrison told the Times last week.

"There were 4,000 acres set aside for industrial development when the port went in but four years later there is not one industry and no indication of any industry coming," Morrison said.

He said the piles themselves were usually just two little mountains and that from three miles away they didn't look too bad although during the Japanese longshoremen's strike 950,000 tons of coal had been stockpiled.

"We thought we would be sitting on top of the world with lots of jobs, and thought we had the back broken for homeowners as far as taxes were concerned," he said. "But the industry, the containerized cargo and the 200 acres to be created for further port development have not materialized," he said.

He said dust was blowing for a while from the coal piles but they were impregnated with some substance and the community only gets some dust if there is a strong wind.

"We have a large and beautiful farming community with coal trains travelling right through the middle of it and would exchange the coal port as it is now for the nice quiet community we had before," he said.

North Vancouver City administrator Mr. E. Raymond said his council had a very strong pollution control bylaw which required Neptune Terminals to use very stringent control measures to stop the coal dust blowing over the municipality.

On the subject of the actual coal, Morrison said the piles were three miles off shore and that the main problems now were coal dust from trains.

He mentioned a sprinkler system in use for conveyors and said there had been no complaints lately about coal dust but complaints about noise from train movements at night had remained.

His council had put pressure on CPR and the DoT and the provincial government to get coal trains covered without success.

Speaking on the possibility of covered coal heaps he said they could lead to a dangerous situation because coal dust could ignite in a covered area.

He also said that his municipality had banned completely the loading of sulphur because of problems with it in the neighbouring North Vancouver District.

FALLING OFF A LOG . . . is "a cup of tea" if you are wearing a lifejacket, but it isn't always that way. Before 1957, five log boom workers drowned annually in B.C. In that year the Workmen's Compensation Board ruled that boom men must wear lifejackets. Since that time drownings of boom men have been drastically reduced. You don't really have to fall off a log to see that lifejackets are a good idea for anyone around water anytime.

Outdoors

By HANK

At last I have a report of a goat being brought in, someone is going to enjoy some very good roasts. Not only do you get much better meat by hunting early, you have a good climb high in the mountains where you find scenery that is hard to beat. Haven't heard of any deer being brought in yet, but with the early snow on the hills someone will stumble on to one.

I hope the snow will go off the hills before winter sets in because the deer will stay up high on the hill if not forced down by snow. If they are forced down too early in the season there will be too many killed, and with a bag limit of two bucks it would not be any help in improving the herds.

I have been asked the old question of what is the best rifle calibre to use on deer here on the coast. The .44-40 is my pick of the lot, I have shot deer with everything from a .22 to .30-06 and found that up to 100 yards the .44 not only kills quicker with a body shot, it doesn't ruin as much meat. For instance, I never had a deer go more than 40 yards when hit back of the shoulders with a .44 and I've seen them run 500 yards and more when hit in the same spot with a .30-06.

A doctor friend of mine claimed that the big .44 slug travelling slower delivered more shock to the animal than a smaller bullet going much faster and going through the thin sides of the animal would only deliver a small part of its energy. Of course if you hit most any animal in the shoulder with anything from the .25-35 up it will go down, but you have ruined a lot of meat.

Another question that has been asked is, what is the best all around calibre. It would be hard to find a cartridge that would suit the open game ranges in the northern part of the province compared to the brushy coast range. However any of the big .30 calibres with a one in twelve twist that would handle bullets from 110 to 220 grains and give a velocity of 2,000 to 3,000 feet a second would be as near as you could get to the all around gun.

You could use the heavy slower bullets for coast hunting and the fast bullets for the open country. A bullet travelling faster than 2,000 feet a second when it hits an animal is a meat spoiler unless the animal is hit in the head or neck.

Pemberton hosts zone meeting

The Ladies Auxiliary to Branch 201, Royal Canadian Legion in Pemberton, hosted the zone meeting which was held on Monday, September 11, in Pemberton at the Legion. Sixty-nine women were in attendance, the largest turnout to a zone meeting in Pemberton.

Chairing the meeting was zone chairman Mrs. Eve Hollingsworth, in the absence of Mrs. J. Hayward, president of the Pemberton Auxiliary. The ladies arrived in sunny Pemberton via bus and train and enjoyed a delicious hot luncheon of Salisbury steak.

Spotlight on TICS at dinner

The TICS of the Squamish United Church entertained the members of the congregation and their friends at a potluck supper on Sunday, September 17.

Those present were given ample time to partake of everyone's specialty. Then came a period of singing by the TICS and a brief devotional period capably carried out by Robyn McKenzie. Gail Halvorson, president of the TICS, then took over and paid tribute to all those who had helped to make the trip across Canada such a success. Assisted by Don Halvorson, gifts were presented to the Board of Trustees, Mrs. C. Tatlow, Ralph Ross and Ed Antosh. On behalf of the congregation Mr. Antosh thanked the young people for their service to the community as ambassadors of good will. Mr. Antosh also extended his appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Harry McCulloch who conceived and carried out the project, to Mr. and Mrs. Terry Aldridge for their assistance in planning and supervising and to bus driver Ed Kenny and his wife Alice who helped to make the trip enjoyable.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kenny were called forward by Gail and presented with a "Thank You" gift by Diane Lapointe. In return Mr. and Mrs. Kenny brought forth a box of articles left behind on the bus, even a job of mud lost from a shoe in Rosetown. By contrast Mr. and Mrs. Kenny presented Mr. and Mrs. McCulloch and Mr.

and Mrs. Aldridge with gifts to remind them of a happy journey.

It was the TICS turn next to thank their planners and mentors; Barbara Lloyd presented a gift to Mr. and Mrs. Aldridge and Gail Halvorson made presentations to Mr. and Mrs. McCulloch.

Harry McCulloch replied for the recipients by commenting on the fine spirit of co-operation which existed throughout the trip. He thanked the parents for their support, the young people for their efforts to make a dream a reality, the congregation for their encouragement and the community as a whole for their interest and help. And a special thanks to Rev. Harold Wingfield who had been a strong supporter of the venture from its beginning.

For Gail Halvorson it was a "Happy Birthday." In a few well-chosen words Rev. Wayne McKenzie expressed his delight at finding such dedicated leaders of youth among the congregation and extended to them a very sincere "Thank You" for their fine work.

Finally slides taken on the trip were shown by Carl Halvorson with Don Lloyd offering a delightfully witty commentary. From the gasps of the young people it was obvious that many of the pictures were indeed "candid" shots. For the audience it was an evening to remember for the TICS slides will help them to relive a wonderful experience.

MEMBERS OF the Lions Club and staff members at Mamquam School, Jim Dewar and Tom Sawtell, sell a bag of bulbs to Mamquam School librarian Kathy Ciechanowski. Lions had good response in their annual campaign. Proceeds will go to the Senior Citizens Building Fund.

FASHION CANADA '72 SELECTION sleek tailoring is his in this camel overcoat from Cambridge Clothes of Hamilton. The ensemble look is hers in the grey coat and dress from Clark-Davis, Toronto.

Canadian fashions shown in Vancouver

Clothes are the only sure way we can all, and do, express ourselves. The clothes we wear reflect our moods, our personal attitude towards life, our activities and interests.

Until quite recently, in the scheme of things, the clothes we wore were symbols of our status and the ritualistic garb of working life. It was a badge of respectability or a banner denoting our rebellion against it!

Then it was easy to label clothes as being appropriate for casual or formal wear, for the street or for the office. To distinguish between the ceremonial and the everyday. Not any more. We've come a long relaxing way from fashion taboos and limitations. Now we buy clothes we can wear all day, every day, for comfort and the enjoyment of our individual life style. Now we buy the clothes we like for the occasions we create!

To put together a pictorial record of Canadian ready-to-wear fashions chosen this year to carry the Fashion-Canada '72 gold and blue tag, symbol of merit in Canadian design and quality,

Fashion Canada decided to send its fashion photographer, a group of models and a fashion coordinator to photograph the clothes being enjoyed on "location Canada."

The crew went on wings and on wheels, by plane, bus, car and bike and brought back the great lifestyle '70's fashions which they featured in a fashion show in Vancouver, which kicked off a cross-Canada tour, where they will be shown in key cities across the country.

Among the clothes are trendy dolman-sleeved sweaters with new wide midriff, long sweater dresses, party-time shirtwaists, the cape shape, the coats, fur and otherwise; short jackets and longer ones, suits and weskits, shoes, clunky and not so clunky, and boots.

Lingerie and underpinnings. Tartans, plaids, checks; knits suedes and leathers. The whole fashion picture for fall and winter 1972.

Some of the styles shown in this Fashion Canada exhibit, held in Vancouver last week are found accompanying this article.

NICE 'N EASY are these outfits for town and country. On the left, a striped, ribbed sweater tops the brief flared skirt while on the right, wool makes the high-necked men's topper.

VELVET CREATES a covered evening look from one of Western Canada's top designers, Surrey Classics of Vancouver.

SLINKY SOPHISTICATION marks these jersey dresses by a Montreal designer. Jersey's brilliant colors and bold patterns are high on the fashion scene.

FASHION CANADA '72 SELECTION the living is easy in this pant 'n topper outfit of stretch denim from Textile Industries Ltd. of Guelph. Nearly 200 Canadian designed and manufactured fashion items have been selected for full, nation-wide promotion this year by Fashion-Canada. They have been photographed in a "life-style" manner and will be featured in the Fashion-Canada presentation, "It's A Great Life." Public performances of this show are scheduled for nine Canadian cities in the fall in co-operation with the local Hadassah-Wizo Organization of Canada.

Students travel back in time

Former Howe Sound Secondary student, Jeff Candy won a $100 prize from the Department of Travel Industry in Victoria for the essay which is reproduced here. Jeff who was a Grade 12 student last year plans to attend SFU.

Twenty of us retraced the footsteps of the early explorers, from Pemberton along Lillooet Lake towards Fort Douglas, on Harrison. We saw the same scenery and experienced the same conditions as the early explorers. Although the method of transportation was a little more modern, the thoughts and sounds were the same.

At 6:30 a.m. on Tuesday, September 28 the bus left the high school picking up students along the way. By seven o'clock after a little delay we were rambling on our way to Pemberton. All of us were anxious to reach our destination.

Upon pulling into Pemberton we unloaded our gear and stowed it in the elementary school. Then we transferred to two four-wheel drive pickups awaiting us, starting the long journey down the old B.C. Hydro road to Harrison Lake.

The students riding in the backs of the pickups were fascinated by the beautiful scenery while the others riding in the cab were intrigued by the commentary of Mrs. Fougberg, a resident of Pemberton who has an avid interest in the history of the surrounding area and has accumulated a vast knowledge of the explorers and early settlers of the district.

The snow line had come down considerably the night before, in places was only about 1500 feet above the road. The snowflakes were still clinging to the branches of the tall timber, the contrasting white and green was truly a magnificent sight to behold. The air was as clear and fresh as early morning summer dew on a high mountain top. As one looked across the lake you could see where the powerlines and logging companies had marred the grandeur of the virgin territories.

Alongside the road in places gravestones could be seen amongst the undergrowth. At one point the pickups stopped and we climbed out to look at an old Indian graveyard. Some of the gravestones dated back as far as 1806 and possibly some even farther back.

At last the vehicles reached one of the destinations, the Hot Springs. Everyone was amazed at how seemingly out of nowhere this small trickle of hot sulphur water comes from the bowels of the earth. It's hard to believe that one can boil an egg in this natural stream of hot water miles from the nearest hot water tank or stove.

An old shack had been constructed nearby. A trough made of an old split log hollowed out carried the hot water inside the hut into an old wooden tub. Similarly cold water came in from a nearby cold water spring. The temperature and the level of the water can be regulated by damming the troughs with a stone.

Several people bathed in the tub while others just soaked their feet at the source of the spring. One could imagine how the early explorers and Indians must have looked forward to lazing in the tub after a strenuous hike over the rough terrain. It's amazing just how relaxed one can get while spending only a few minutes in the tub. Legend has it that if you have rheumatism you can be cured by bathing at the springs and drinking some of the water.

Bathing at the hot springs is an event that everyone should experience at least once in a lifetime. It seems a shame that in a few years time the hot springs will probably be commercialized and the novelty of taking a hot bath in the middle of nowhere will be lost.

It was then decided maybe a trip to Skookumchuck would be worthwhile. This is an old abandoned Indian village. When we arrived we drove down the one street of the village. The town was almost deserted save a few dogs left behind to fend for themselves, and old weather-worn houses. Down the road a piece we met two old men who were netting their year's supply of coho. At the end of the road there was a relatively modern school that was being wasted. We were given permission by the two old men to see the church.

The church is a story on its own. It's unbelievable that such a monument of beauty can exist in such a rugged part of the wilderness. From the outside you could see three tall steeples, situated nearby on a hillside was a big white entrance to a cemetery.

We went into the church, on one side of us was a steep flight of stairs which we climbed. We followed the stairs to the bell tower and a balcony which overlooked the church. Inset in the wall was a magnificent stained glass window of brilliant red and purple. We were informed that it was carried in by men from Mission.

This church took 13 to 17 years to build, 75 years ago. Downstairs, at the front was a wall almost completely covered in white and gold carvings of Jesus Christ, the Virgin Mary, and one of the Disciples. Tall candlesticks were at their side. From the ceiling hung long brass lantern-like decorations.

After admiring the church we chatted with the two men, one of whom was an old chief of the village. He spoke of the families who used to live there but had moved to Mission; of how the helicopters sprayed the hillside with their poisons and killed all of the Indian's cherry trees.

We returned to Pemberton and were met by a school bus that transported us to Pemberton Meadows where we stayed the night at an old abandoned schoolhouse. In the morning after a hearty breakfast we struck for home. Everyone was glad to be getting back but in our hearts we would rather be back at Skookumchuck and the hot springs.

Pemberton Sec. happenings

By DEBBIE PHARE

If no-one disagrees too strongly, allow me to quote to all you 'weary souls' who are crumbling under the prospect of another whole year to go, an enlightening little excerpt from the graffiti board in Mr. Hayward's class. 'Today is the tomorrow that you worried about yesterday. If you can decipher the meaning, you will see clearly enough that every tomorrow is 'today,' and if you can live through today, why worry about tomorrow. That's what it means, doesn't it? ... well, doesn't it? ... ah, c'mon, say something!

Anyway, about today. Along the academic line: something has happened... the teachers are speechless!!... Just laryngitis, you say. OK, have it your way.

How about the not quite so academic! Miss Lewis had a vision last year, and this year 14 students are off to France for eight days, next Easter. Exile? No, for $370, it's a fun trip, crammed full of interesting sites, French experience and good food. This is all possible because of an organization called the 'Society for the study of the Heritage of Canada,' a non-profit co-operation that gives students across Canada a chance to travel in a group to another country. While over in France, the students will travel together in their familiar group, learn a lot, eat a lot, and 'behave.' Miss Lewis, at the head of all this excitement, will accompany the group, and hopefully rescue them in tight situations. She's done a great job already though, so I'm sure she can manage.

The political disease was finally controlled with the election of class reps. But while we're on the political subject and not too far away from Miss Lewis, let there be mention that she is the proud roommate of 'Sparky Lewis,' the fifth runner for vice-president. Entering the gym on election day in a truly diplomatic fashion, he headed straight for the females in a rather racy style, then after 'ruffing' up the male section of the bleachers, he took the stage. Never before has there been a more sincere howl for 'school spirit!'

The crowd went wild! After several pictures and a press restrained conference, he bounded off across the gym, 'Catch me if you can!' But dog-gone, he lost. Deprived of a position in the government, he dogs it around the field, and makes his living eating everyone's lunch.

'And now the first in sports,' Doris Zurcher reports that the house system is set up, and a concentrated talk in the staff-room produces six house representatives — Miss Philip and Mr. Chumley (House 1), Miss Lewis and Mr. McConville (House 2), and Mrs. Summerskill and Mr. Marshall (House 3). There need be nothing said about the house teams, because everyone knows House 3 is the best!

WORK IN PROGRESS on the Mamquam sewage treatment plant. Hook-ups will start soon after the plant goes into operation which is expected to be in mid-December.

A buck in the garden

Violet and Ted Casey, former Squamish residents now living on Salt Spring Island have a salt block, a water dish and an oat dish in their backyard for a very special purpose.

'Times' staffer, Dorothy Kennedy, tells us that Vi goes out on her porch in the morning and calls 'Here Buck, Here Buck' and with a rump-tum-tum out of the bush bounces a beautiful three point buck for his handouts.

He likes cookies, left-overs, potato peels and takes them right out of Vi's hand.

And one hot summer day Buck even curled up and went to sleep on Vi's front porch.

United wins third game

R. G. Palmer Grounds, containing one of the best soccer complexes in the Lower Mainland was the scene of the latest Squamish triumph.

Several of the seven pitches on the grounds were busy with juvenile games but the eyes of the Squamish supporters were all on the centre pitch where the top team in the Mainland Senior League's third division continued their unscored upon record.

Richmond captain and goalkeeper, Derek Gray heard the sickening swish of the ball in the nets behind him at the 35 minute mark.

Fullback Barry Galley carried the ball past the midfield mark and put striker Tony Lonergan into the clear. Lonergan's left footed drive gave Gray no chance.

At times the United side resembled Team Canada's desperate efforts to hold back the Russians in game five.

Rob Bonar, a goalkeeper who likely could compete in any league was superlative in the nets making it all look easy.

Some questionable calls by the referee seemed to unsettle the Squamish players as they adopted a defensive game in the later stages of the game.

Coach Hans Hickli like coach Harry Sinden has one of the most difficult jobs in the world. Any one of the players can say "to hell with it" at any time. Getting the full support and understanding of a group of adults competing for positions on a winning team requires a great deal of patience as well as an unquestioned knowledge of the game.

Hickli's 36 years in the game, some of them at the international level, together with his understanding manner fit him admirably for the job.

The only way that an adult amateur team such as Squamish United can continue to have a qualified coach is to give him unqualified cheerful support and encouragement in his decisions.

Perennial Squamish supporter Brian Baird was on hand to give a big yell for his Squamish Blues.

SQUAMISH COACH Dave Hinchcliff goes over the play at half time in Saturday's game between Brackendale and Squamish Division 9 teams.

Opening game in Div. 9 soccer

In a season opening game on Saturday, Brackendale Division 9 boys played to a scoreless tie with Squamish.

Playing in the colours gold and black which have been used by Brackendale teams for the past dozen years the 1972 edition showed that they will be able to uphold traditions of the past.

There were several good scoring chances on both sides. Goalkeeper Curtis Walters performed very well in saving some difficult shots by the Squamish side. Brackendale centre forward Don Schultzeiss gave everything he had and the game ended with Brackendale outside left Reg Dubeck blazing a dangerous shot across the Squamish goalmouth.

The Squamish team played well, especially considering that the boys had not played together before because of the bad weather during the previous week.

Playing for Brackendale were Curtis Walters, Keith Halvorson, Glen Antosh, Guy Hubbard, Mark Craven, Doug Ross, Trone Arnett, Lonnie Brock, Don Henderson, Danny De Cook, Brad Rustad, Don Schultzeiss, Gerald Schulte and Reg Dubeck, Reserves were Joe Antosh and Alex Ross.

Playing for Squamish were Joe Elliot, Jeffrey Elliot, Flavio Vergara, Fernando Vergara, Philip Boyd, Roger Quenel, Kelly le Beck, Kevin Herring, Terry Clark, Jimmie Boby, Mark McQuay, Johnny Simm, Tracey Clark.

Officiating was well handled by Dale Rourke.

AROUND PEMBERTON

A special summer guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. Ronayne of Pemberton, was Mrs. Margaret Furey of Vancouver, sister of Mr. Ronayne.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Proudlock, and son Patrick returned recently from a two week vacation in Concord, California, visiting Mr. Proudlock's brother and sister-in-law.

Mr. and Mrs. Proudlock are pleased to announce the engagement of their eldest son Peter, to Miss Debbie Ferguson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morey Ferguson, of Concord, California.

Mrs. C. Ronayne has just returned from a trip to England and with her has come her mother Mrs. S. Bennett, of Buckinghamshire, England. Mrs. Bennett, who is 87 years old, thoroughly enjoyed her first plane trip. She will be living with her daughter and son-in-law at Pemberton Meadows. Welcome Mrs. Bennett!

Welcome home to Eldon Talbot who has spent almost four months in the Lions Gate Hospital from injuries received in an accident.

Greetings go out to Pemberton residents in hospital, Mike Pagden, Bob Smith, Freda Hewlett, Mrs. J. Currie.

TIME IT RIGHT WITH A TIMES' CLASSIFIED

Boys' soccer starts

Boys' soccer games got under way last Saturday with four games played at the Centennial Field.

The more than three hundred boys involved in Squamish soccer play in 22 teams and compete for trophies in four divisions.

A fifth division of boys over 15 will be added if there is enough interest.

Volunteer coaches come out with the boys at least once a week for practice and for their weekend games.

Ten games will be played between now and Christmas and a further ten after February 1. This year for the first time boys from St. David's School will also be playing in the league.

Highlight of the first half of the season is the American exchange at the end of October when the American boys will come to Squamish. On November 4, Squamish teams will visit Seattle for the weekend. Next weekend there will be a full schedule of games.

Results of Saturday's games were:

Div 9: Brackendale 0 Squamish 0; Div 7: Stawamus 1 Mamquam 0; Div 5: Brackendale 2 Mamquam 0; Div 4: Mamquam 1 Stawamus 0.

FATAL ACCIDENTS while unloading logs have taken the lives of an average of four men a year over the past 20 years in B.C. Chief cause of these accidents, according to the Workmen's Compensation Board, is the failure to restrain logs before binders are released and stakes triggered. Al Carter, of Hatzic, whose life was not really endangered by that "falling" log (it was well secured), demonstrates how not to unload logs. WCB Accident Prevention Regulations emphasize that before binders are released, logs must be restrained by fork-lift truck, dump crotch lines, or other effective means.

Chiefs win 16-0

The Squamish Chiefs won their game against the Vancouver Eskimos 16-0 last Sunday with touchdowns from Mark Wilson and George Riel.

The team played a really good first half of football. In the second half the offensive line lost strength and the Vancouver team started to get through to the quarterbacks but time being on their side the Chiefs held out to win the game.

John Walker played a good defensive game getting in quite a few tackles and as usual the defence played well holding the Eskimos scoreless for the entire game.

The next game will be against the Roughies at Ambleside Park in West Vancouver. Coach Art Wittman asks parents to get down to the game and support the boys.

Those long-distance rate proposals

Here's what they mean to you:

The B.C. Telephone Company has proposed a new long-distance rate structure designed to encourage customers to dial their own long-distance calls within the company's operating territory.

The rate structure has been proposed in an application to the Canadian Transport Commission, which regulates the company.

Member companies of the Trans-Canada Telephone System plan to introduce a similar pricing formula for long-distance calls across Canada.

Within the B.C. Tel operating territory, the proposals would increase the cost of some long-distance calls and decrease the cost of others. It is expected that the increases would offset the decreases, so that no net increase in B.C. Tel's long-distance revenue would result.

Under the proposed rate structure, customers who dial their own calls would not pay a three-minute minimum charge. They would pay only for each minute they talked*

You would pay a lower rate if you dialed your own calls instead of placing calls through an operator.

This would mean, in most cases, that calls of two minutes or less in duration would cost less than they do under the existing rates. In some cases — particularly in the case of calls over short distances — a three-minute call at the proposed rates would cost more than the same call costs now.

The three-minute minimum charge would remain in effect on calls placed through an operator.

Another major difference in the proposed rates is that customers who dial their own long-distance calls would pay a lower rate than customers who place their calls through an operator.

Most calls placed through an operator would cost more than they do under the existing schedule. The new rate structure also proposes changes in the special rates that apply for night and Sunday calls.

By dialing their own calls between 6 p.m. and 11 p.m. weekdays, and between 8 a.m. and 11 p.m.

You would pay for customer dialed calls by the minute — no three-minute minimum charge.

on Sunday, customers would get a 25 per cent discount on the total cost of each call.

Customers who chose to dial their calls between 11 p.m. and 8 a.m. any day would get a discount of 50 per cent on each call. During those hours you could call anywhere in the province at a maximum cost of 23 cents a minute. And this discount period would apply for three hours more than the late-night rate under the existing schedule.

The new rates would not provide any discount on the first three minutes of night and Sunday calls placed through an operator. A 25 per cent discount would be applied to the cost of additional minutes only. The discount would be in effect from 6 p.m. to 8 a.m. weekdays and all day Sunday.

The following tables illustrate the effect on charges for typical long-distance calls if the proposals are approved by the Canadian Transport Commission:

NOTE: In exchanges where Direct Distance Dialing equipment is not now installed, calls that could otherwise be dialed direct would be handled by the operator at the customer-dialed rates.

*The three-minute charge, and the existing rates, would be retained for customer-dialed calls between the following communities:

Bowen Island — West Vancouver, Haney — Port Coquitlam, North Vancouver — Whalley, Port Coquitlam — Whalley, Agassiz — Chilliwack, Bowen Island — Deep Cove, Whalley — Whytecliff, Bowen Island — North Vancouver, Bowen Island — Vancouver, Christina Lake — Grand Forks, Grand Forks — Greenwood, Whalley — West Vancouver, Castlegar — Trail.

All operator-handled calls between these points, including person-to-person calls, would be charged for at the rates proposed under the new schedule.

MISCELLANEOUS

Under the existing rate schedule for long-distance calls within the operating territory of B.C. Tel, a surcharge of 25 cents is charged for collect calls, calls charged to a third number, and calls where the operator is asked to report back with time and charges. Under the new rate schedule there would be no additional charge for these services, because the new operator-handled rate would reflect the cost of the operator time involved.

Under the proposed schedule, calls made from hotel telephones, coin telephones, radio-telephones and toll stations, calls made to Zenith numbers and calls charged to credit card numbers would be rated as operator-handled calls.

CALLS OUTSIDE B.C.

The Canadian Transport Commission has also been asked to approve a new rate structure for calls between British Columbia and most other points in Canada.

The new rate system would be similar to that planned within B.C. Tel's operating territory. The only differences:

A 30 per cent discount would be applied to the total cost of customer-dialed calls placed between 6 p.m. and midnight, Monday through Saturday, and from 8 a.m. to midnight on Sunday. From midnight to 8 a.m. every day, a 50 per cent discount would be applied to the cost of such calls. A 30 per cent discount would be applied to the overtime portion only of operator-handled station-to-station calls placed from 6 p.m. to midnight, Monday through Saturday, and from 8 a.m. to midnight on Sunday. From midnight to 8 a.m. every day, a 50 per cent discount would be applied to the cost of overtime minutes. Regular day rates would apply at all times for the first three minutes of operator-handled station-to-station calls. No discount would be applicable at any time on person-to-person calls.

NO CHANGE IS PROPOSED AT THIS TIME IN RATES FOR CALLS TO POINTS OUTSIDE CANADA.

LINDA HINDS presenting the Squamish Rotary Club banner to the president of the Tacloban Rotary Club, Mr. C. Minguito, in the Philippines. Linda who is staying in Tacloban attended a Rotary luncheon to present the banner and tell Rotarians about herself and her country.

A letter from Linda in the Philippines

Fatima Village, Tacloban City, c-o Atty. Cuna, Philippines.

Dear Rotary Club:

Let me share some of my new learnt knowledge, findings, and experiences of the Philippines with you.

There are over 80 different languages or dialects, and English is understood and spoken; although only the educated peoples, businessmen and students speak it well. Factually it is known that the Philippines is the only Asian country to communicate in English, and teach it in the schools. There are 7,100 islands making up the Republic of the Philippines, which are divided into three sections. They are Luzon, Visayas and Mindanaw. I am situated in the Visayas. I have passed through Manila and have stayed in Cebu for two days. All the Rotary International exchange scholars were introduced to the Cebu Rotary Club before separating to their destined locations.

When I arrived in the Tacloban Airport, I was immediately greeted by the club members and their wives. They presented me with a gorgeously shelled necklace which made me feel very welcome. I was then brought to Atty Cuna's residence, my home at the present and was introduced to Atty. and Mrs. Cuna. Then proceeded to their city hall to be introduced to the mayor. It's what you might call a courtesy call.

Then there was what we call a marienda, and all the Rotary Club members and Rotary Anns were there to meet me and eat because that is a marienda — lots of food, sweets and beverages. They also presented me with a welcome cake which had my name and the word welcome written on it.

Well, do you know what I did... I cried! Anyway that sort of gives you a little knowledge of what kind of people Rotary keeps here.

A week later I attended their Rotary luncheon, gave a small speech on how happy I was to be here in the Philippines, and presented president Panogn Manquito with the Squamish Rotary banner.

I have also visited the Island of Samar, which is the sister island of Leyte, where I attended their Catbogan Fiesta and travelled far up into the mountains of Samar to a small town known as Wright. So, already in such a short period of time, I have seen much of the beautiful and significant scenery surrounding me here.

There are mountains dotted with many coconut trees. There are numerous banana trees, nipa and other such tropical vegetation. Many of the huts which shelter the poor are made from nipa and bamboo and they are everywhere. The beaches are clean and the ocean water is warm all year round.

The climate is very hot, and the typhoons for this season (as it is called the rainy season) have been very slight, almost hardly noticed. I have been told that during their summer months it is very much hotter than now, so it must be very hot!

There is plenty of fish, crab, squid, and so many others. We have rice at every meal, drink lots of water and juices but no milk. The fruits are really delicious. The food here is influenced by many other countries such as Spain, China, Japan; therefore there is much combination at every meal. We eat five times a day. They say every Rotax gains weight here. Well they surely do mean what they say, because in a two week duration, I have gained 10 pounds. It's almost hard to believe, because I have been constantly on the go! We use fork and table spoon, ride in jeepnies (old converted war jeeps painted and decorated up). There are driving rules but no one throughout the Philippines follows them, so the horn is used very often. It is a very different way of life and I am learning every day!

I am attending Divine Word University taking college subjects as well as fourth year high school subjects.

Wherever I go little children follow me, trying to touch my blonde hair and I receive many friendly stares because my appearance is different. Everyone has been very kind to me and it is a beautiful place.

Well, as I am running out of paper I must close and I hope you have gained a little from my letter. I really do miss Squamish and especially my family but I am truly gaining so much.

Yours sincerely,
Lynda Ann Hinds.

Alta Lake News

By JENNY BUSDON

With maybe the advent of winter fast approaching we can retrospect on a very busy summer season at Whistler. Everywhere one looks there is house construction and it has certainly created a great deal of employment. Interested to know an approximate figure of how many houses have been built, or in the process of being constructed, I called Keith Newton, our building inspector and his office informed me that 53 applications had been received for building permits since the beginning of the year.

Talking to Wally Clausen of Garibaldi Building Supplies last week he told me that previous years late September and October have been their busy months up here, but this year they have been constantly busy supplying lumber from very early on in the season. However, he is expecting a big boom as usual for the few months available to get a house erected before the snow arrives.

And looking at the new snow on the mountains, unfortunately that won't be too long away, six inches of new snow was reported at mid-station on Thursday, September 21, and a foot and a half of new snow on top of the red chair, and that is quite a fall for September. Those poor fellows working on the mountain to get the new lift from the valley floor all completed, looked pretty cold when they came down from the top this week.

And did you know that Bob and Eleanor Bishop have an addition to their family? ... It's the cutest little baby raccoon, which they figure is about three months old.

Coming home from a trip to Vancouver this week late in the day, they came across him in the middle of the road injured. Stopping, they got out and at the side of the road looking on helplessly was mother and three other babies, who disappeared into the bush as the Bishop's looked closer to see how badly the raccoon was injured.

It was questionable if there was any chance of survival, but good samaritans as they are brought the little one home and did as much as they could to make the animal comfortable over night. The next morning Kenny Bishop rushed it down to the vet in North Vancouver, and to their joy, after professional first aid, were told it would live and suggested they keep him for a number of days until it was fully recovered. The Bishop's would dearly like to get the baby back with its mother and three other brothers and are wondering if, by any stroke of luck anyone may know of this raccoon family. If so, I ask that you contact the Bishop's.

The exact vicinity where they found the animal was south of Brandywine Falls, between the lookout and the railway crossing. Meanwhile, Eleanor is being kept very busy feeding this cute little 'coon, softened cat food, eggs and milk!

Speaking of raccoons — they sure can be rascals. We were awoken last night to quite a racket on our balcony and rushing downstairs to see what the commotion was all about, there was our friendly raccoon cheekily pulling down the balcony steps our son's toy motorbike — which stands a good 12 inches high — an accomplishment indeed for such a small animal!

The Ski Boot Hotel was sold this week to a syndicate of ten people from Vancouver, but full details on this next week when the writer will have all information on the names of those in the syndicate, together with plans they have with regards to the hotel.

THE LOG CABIN on the Garibaldi Highlands-Edith Lake trail during the construction. Cabin which was built by local young people with an OFY grant is now almost completed. Simon Dawe stands in the doorway.

Medallion electric heat

If you have decided to install electric heating in your home, you're undoubtedly looking forward to enjoying the kind of comfort and dependability that comes with the most modern system available. The key factor, of course, is the installation. That's why we recommend that you ask your builder or heating contractor to install it to Medallion standards.

The electrical industry put years of experience and study into the development of the Medallion standards — proven installation practices which are your assurance of the quality and performance you are expecting, and paying for, when you install electric heating.

The Medallion standards mean that the system has been sized correctly to insure comfort in any weather normal to your area; that there is proper insulation to conserve heat and save money; that there are approved controls to maintain comfort and contribute to more efficient use of electricity.

Baseboard and floor drop-in units, cell-ing cable, wall units, forced warm air, hydronic — there's a wide choice of equipment to suit individual needs. Electric heating gives you the opportunity of having individual thermostats for room-by-room temperature control. It's clean, quiet and efficient — the most modern system available.

What about operating costs? B.C. Hydro will give you a written estimate of annual costs of heating with electricity and any other information you would like about electric heating. All for free. Call B.C. Hydro Customer Advisory Service. They'll give you a warm welcome.

There are still some blueberries around

It may not be the best season for blueberries and huckleberries this year but for the industrious picker there are still some to be had. We picked about a pound an hour up at the Base Camp last week and there may still be some at Whistler or along some of our logging roads.

Even a few berries seem to make the difference between ordinary and special pancakes or muffins. Add a cupful for every cup of pancake mix or a cupful to a muffin recipe. They make a nice change substituted for dates or raisins in bran and Rockhill muffins as well as in plain ones.

One of the most intriguing things about blueberry recipes must be their names — Blueberry Pan Dowdy, Cape Cod Blueberry Grunt, Blueberry Buckle, Blueberry Cobbler, Blueberry Roly Poly.

A real cold weather pudding, this Roly Poly is quite good with blackberries or almost any fruit or jam if you don't find any blueberries.

BLUEBERRY POLY POLY
 1 1/2 cups flour
 3 tbsp. butter
 2 tsp. baking powder
 1/2 tsp. salt
 1 tsp. sugar
 a little milk to mix (approx. 1/2 cup)

Blueberry Pan Dowdy is an easy recipe that takes a few minutes to mix up. The roly poly dough in the previous recipe can be substituted for the batter and it's still Pan Dowdy.

BLUEBERRY PAN DOWDY
 1 1/2 cups flour
 2 tsp. baking powder
 1/2 tsp. salt
 1/4 cup sugar
 1 egg, beaten
 1/2 cup milk
 1/2 cup melted butter or margarine

Mix liquid ingredients and stir into dry ingredients.
 Pour over 3-4 cups of berries and one-half to one cup of sugar in a buttered pie dish. Bake 20 to 25 minutes at 400 deg.

Lions fly to Williams Lake

The spirit of Lionism was flying high as four Pemberton Lions took to the air to give Lion Don Gill of Williams Lake, a charter member of the Pemberton Lions Club, their support as he attended his first Lions Club meeting in Williams Lake.

Flying with pilot Lion George Underhill in his Cessna 180 were Lions Bob Priest, John Cosulich and Al Staehli all of the Pemberton Lions Club. The group stayed over night in Williams Lake.

New experiment Friendship art

The Squamish Indian Band and the North Vancouver Community Arts Council have amalgamated efforts to produce a unique experiment in the arts.

Titled "Friendship Through Art" the venture will see Indian and non-Indian craftsmen join together in an exhibition of crafts.

Believed to be a national first the exhibition is slated for the 100-foot Longhouse on the Capilano Reserve Oct. 12-15. The reserve is located south of Marine off Capilano Road.

Twenty top Indian craftsmen will exhibit and demonstrate their craft together with 20 well-known non-Indian craftsmen from the North Shore.

There will be displays of Indian basketry, knitting weaving, beadwork, as well as wood, silver and argillite carving by leading native artists such as Bob Davidson, Amos Dawson, Eva Nahanee, Frieda and Mel Nahanee.

Other North Shore exhibitors include Fay Tevendale, Giselle Pauwe, Robin Hilliard, Kathleen Blohm, Judy Cranmer and Terry Ryals.

Original and authentic work will be for sale with each exhibit juried for prizes.

Members of the jury are Penny Gouldstone from UBC fine arts department; James Felter, curator and director of the SFU art gallery and Jim Ploegman of the Highline Community College art department, Washington.

First day opening is at 6 p.m. with hours Oct. 13 and 14, 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Oct. 15 from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Judging is at 4 p.m. Oct. 15.

MASTER CRAFTSMAN Walter Huber will be instructor for the woodworking class. Members of the class have the use of all shop facilities.

You'll be seeing it on signs, labels and cartons — and wherever it appears, you can be sure you're getting a genuine B.C. product. You'll also see the symbol in a province-wide advertising campaign for B.C.-grown products. Look for the new "home-grown" B.C. symbol and give your support to our agricultural industry.

JOHN WALKER in the big loader he was operating for the Squamish Flying Club last weekend. Club did final clean-up work on the runways before paving started this week.

Squamish Flying Club buys first plane

The Squamish Flying Club has purchased its first plane, a Piper J3C.

The plane which was bought from Airplane Supply Centre in Richmond is an ex-American government plane which was used by the Civil Aeronautics Patrol in Sao Paulo.

It has been refinished and checked by the American FAA and the DoT and will be brought up to Squamish when paving of the runway is finished.

The plane which is a two seater will be used mainly for lessons. The club is currently advertising for an instructor and expects to be employing one by November 1.

Rates for lessons are expected to be below what is being charged elsewhere because the plane is economical to run. (Current Vancouver fees are approximately $27 per hour with an instructor and $17 solo.)

The club would like people who are interested in taking lessons to make this known so arrangements can be made with the instructor.

Some club members have already been taking lessons at other airfields, among them club secretary, Verli Arnett, who says flying is really exciting and quite exhausting at times too.

"Every time I go up I think I've forgotten everything but it all comes back," she said.

Verli says it is just beautiful to fly in nice weather but has flown in rotten weather and found it beautiful then too.

Another recent convert to small plane flying is Judy Nagy who plans to take lessons soon.

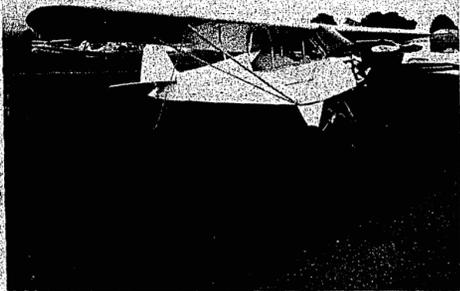

Judy took her first small plane trip down to Lions Gate Bridge from Squamish recently in Ed Stadel's plane and said she wasn't scared at all even when looping the loop.

According to Judy, flying's fabulous. She enjoyed the tremendous view from the blue yonder and says flying gives you a real feeling of freedom.

On the finance question Judy said a plane need be no more expensive than a big car if it's a second-hand one.

Last weekend the club was finishing work on the runways before the start of paving this week.

The club has 77 flying members and 16 associate members. New members are welcome and are reminded that membership fees will be raised from the present $50 on October 15.

SQUAMISH FLYING CLUB'S recently purchased Piper J3C.

Squamish Terminals

At present the company will be handling pulp with the shipments coming from Mackenzie but he said that they hoped to be handling pulp for other mills as well. He added that the company would be pleased to take care of any clean products but stressed the word clean.

"It's been just like a dream come true," Jerwa said as we walked over the site. "It's pretty wonderful to be able to translate your ideas into reality and that's what's been happening here!"

We climbed to the roof of the building and perhaps this is where the huge size becomes most apparent. It was a long way across and a long way down.

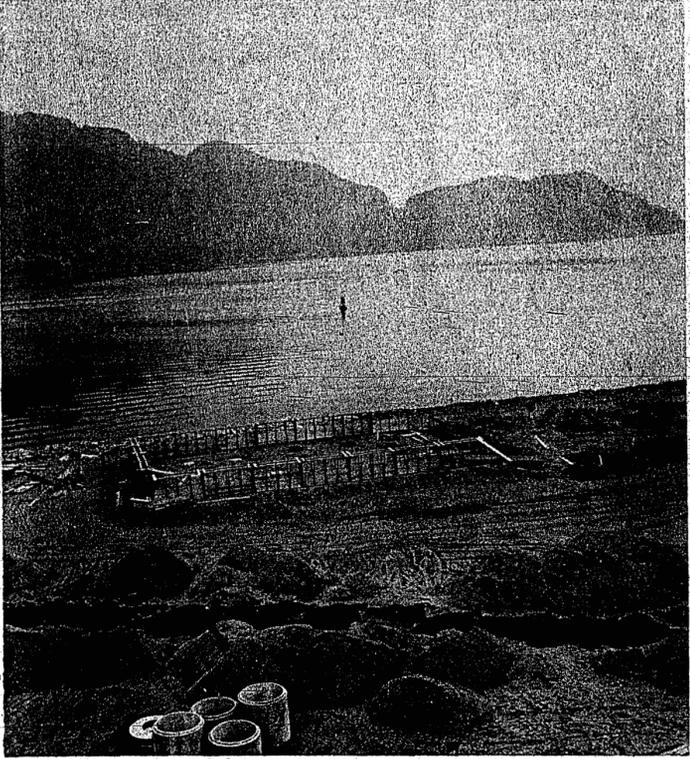

From the roof we could see the site of the office building, which will be built on the waterfront just south of the warehouse. He said it is designed so it can be moved to a permanent site when this is determined.

I facetiously suggested that a penthouse should have been built on top of the warehouse and he said the company had seriously considered placing the office on the roof. But problems concerned with access involving a stairway, which would become tiresome if one had to climb it dozens of times a day, and the costs of an elevator ruled out the idea. But it would have enabled the staff to keep an eye on the operations!

Jerwa said it was hoped the first ship would arrive early in November. The first ship will be arriving by the end of October and they hope to be in the building by the 15th of November at the very latest.

That will be just four and a half months since work started on the building on June 28.

That's pretty speedy for something which will have so many biggests!

THE FOOTINGS for the office of Squamish Terminals are being prepared just south of the warehouse. The company considered putting the office on the roof but problems involving access, prevented it. Can't you see a penthouse office on top of that building?

THAT'S A MIGHTY big roof! Would you believe four acres? That's what Jerry Jerwa says it is and all we can say is that Squamish Terminals could have a wonderful outdoor dance on that expanse of roof!

Local fire department hosts fire exercises

Squamish sent its fire department to Woodfibre on Sept. 20 to take part in an exercise in firefighting planned and arranged by the Fire Underwriters Investigation Bureau of Canada.

The program was set up by Dan Lemieux, chief investigator for Fire Underwriters Investigation Bureau of Canada, with the co-operation of Gordie Matheos, Squamish Fire Chief, and Ken Moyes, Fire Chief from Woodfibre, and the Fire Prevention Officers of B.C.

Matheos told the Times he was delighted to have been able to participate in this exercise which was the biggest ever held by the association.

"We were fortunate in having co-operation from Rayonier at Woodfibre, who made the buildings available for the demonstrations and practices; and from the District of Squamish which permitted us to take over a firefighting crew and a truck," he said.

Four houses, slated to be destroyed in the Woodfibre clearing program, were used for the controlled burning exercises.

"There were approximately 25 different types of fires combatted during the program," Matheos said, "and these included many common ones such as cigarette fires, electrical, oil and spontaneous combustion."

"In addition we set up a sodium chlorate fire," he said, "and Ken Moyes and I set up the demonstration on how to combat it."

Sodium chlorate is a chemical used in the pulp and paper industry.

Matheos told the Times he was sorry he could not arrange to have the press attend the practice but it was felt the lack of spectators would be a benefit to those working on the fire prevention as they would not have to worry about lay people being around or getting into danger.

Attending the demonstration were 14 fire departments from the Lower Mainland including Squamish, West Vancouver, and two from North Vancouver. Also present were WO Lindley from the CFB Chilliwack and representatives from six RCMP detachments including Squamish.

The program was hosted by the Squamish Fire Department and the District of Squamish assisted with the transportation expenses and sent over a fire truck and crew. The Rayonier company at Woodfibre provided the buildings for the demonstrations and also supplied the meals for the 76 people who took part in the exercises.

Matheos was loud in his praise of the district and company for their aid and co-operation.

Pictures were taken of the entire performance and Matheos said these will later be shown to members of the local fire department as part of its training program.

All-Indian operation

Timber project officially opened

An all Indian timber operation at Fish Lake in the Military Reserve area of the Chilcotin was officially opened Saturday by Paul St. Pierre, MP for Coast Chilcotin.

Noting that the baby is "already born and a healthy one" St. Pierre congratulated Anahim Chief Douglas Hance and the Chiefs of 14 other Reserves east and west of the Fraser who have formed Cariboo Indian Enterprises. Their operations began in August and are showing a profit reported Manager Hance.

St. Pierre noted that the development of the Indian Enterprises had encountered many difficulties in coming to fruition since the original Indian Affairs Economic Study had been made following the Fish Lake Forestry School closure. The timber grows on lands held by the Department of National Defence.

The MP also revealed that he wrote to Mrs. Eileen Dally, the new B.C. education minister to urge re-examination of earlier studies aimed at re-opening the million dollars worth of Fish Lake School buildings which were offered to the provincial authorities for a dollar a year lease. He has also urged Indian Affairs Minister Chretien to do nothing to dispose of the buildings in the meantime.

Chief Hance told the meeting and St. Pierre that while Indians in the area did not favor the Forestry School operation in its original form, they were strongly in favor of use of the centre as a vocational school, teaching a variety of trades to Indians of the interior region. It was noted by Chief Irving Harry and others at the meeting that the drop out rate is high among Indians from remote areas who are now sent to the major cities for vocational training. The Fish Lake Camp he said offered an ideal location for people to feel at home in the wilderness setting.

St. Pierre noting the "waste" of spending as much as $40,000 a year to keep the buildings standing idle, expressed the hope that plans of the last couple of years to have the centre operate as a branch of the Cariboo Regional College can now come to pass. He promised to continue working toward this objective.

MAN KILLED IN INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENT

Valentino Mucig, aged 32, of Squamish was killed in an accident on the road leading to Brohm Ridge on Thursday, Sept. 28, when the loader he was bringing down the road apparently rolled down a bank.

R.C.M.P. at Squamish said they were called out at 2.20 p.m. to investigate the accident.

They said it occurred near the halfway station on the way to Brohm Ridge and the 1964 Huff log loader he was operating apparently rolled down a bank killing him.

Mucig was dead when the police arrived at the scene. An autopsy has been ordered and further investigating is being done.

VILLAGE SQUARE — 892-5714

Work starts on hospital addition

Work started on the new addition to the Squamish General Hospital last Saturday with L&A Contracting starting the excavation for the foundation of the $126,000 addition to the present building.

Hospital administrator Clive Applin-Flouch said that the minister approved the addition to the hospital on Thursday, the contract was signed on Friday and work began the following day.

Edward Epp and Associates of Vancouver are the general contractors while Paul Smith and Associates are the architects.

The new addition, which was approved in a referendum last year, will add a three bed emergency unit and new operating room to the building. There will also be a number of other improvements and renovations made to the interior of the building.

Flouch said the next project will be obtaining the equipment for the new unit and this will be done as soon as possible so it will be ready for use when the addition is completed.

Completion date is expected to be Feb. 28 next year.

Keep off the holy grass

A recent item in an English newspaper deals with people wandering on the grass at Gloucester Cathedral.

Quote from the Dean of Gloucester Cathedral, who's calling a sharp halt to tourists' "walkway" which was to have wandered pleasantly through the cathedral gardens:

"We want people to come to the cathedral, but the gardens are our private property, and we want them to remain tranquil and beautiful."

"Oh, come, all ye faithful. But for God's sake, keep off the grass."

COUNCIL BRIEFS

Landmark asks for rezoning for apartment

Cheakamus Valley was also mentioned in a subdivision proposal by Tartan Realty which wished to subdivide its holdings into three 50 acre lots. The question of access roads was raised but council said they could see no objection to the subdivision as parcels are over 10 acres in size.

However the entire question of road access will again be looked into and the highways department will be asked to see about a proper road for the area. Council is waiting for a report from the engineer on a road for the area.

Council was concerned about the B.C. Hydro's apparent stalling tactics on underground wiring and suggested the matter of underground wiring for the downtown area should be further pursued.

Hydro, which is supposed to pay one third of the cost, along with the municipality and the province sharing the balance, apparently claims that several items are excluded and this would mean that the district might have to pay at least half or more of the cost.

Mayor Brennan said this was not the intent of the original proposal and wanted council to find out what the actual cost would be and to obtain these figures from the utility firm.

Council last week heard Landmark Projects Corp. Ltd. ask for rezoning for a 77 suite apartment planned for a pie shaped wedge of property consisting of 2.27 acres on Wilson Crescent.

Dawson Briscoe, president of the company, outlined his plans to council. These consist of a 77 suite apartment complex with parking for 1.25 cars per suite. Also included would be a play area for children comprising the area covered by approximately two city lots.

The site is bordered by the British Columbia Railway, which runs for 800 feet alongside one edge of the triangular shaped piece of property. Briscoe said that the average distance between the railway and the site is only 190 feet.

Council expressed concern about the project and decided to have it studied by a special committee which would view the site and study the plan before making a recommendation to council.

A report from the Advisory

Planning Commission was read outlining some of the commission's objections to the proposal.

These dealt with parking, access and play areas. The commission felt that with the growing incidence of two cars per family 1.25 parking spaces per apartment was unrealistic and suggested that parking should be 1.5 spaces per apartment up to 30 apartments and two parking spaces per apartment for larger ones.

The inadequacy of present road access to the Wilson Crescent apartment area was another point raised by the commission which said problems were encountered in winter with parking when lots were plugged with snow and residents parked along the road.

The commission also recommended that proper fencing be installed along the railway tracks to prevent any danger to children.

Briscoe said his company would provide adequate snow clearing machinery to keep the apartment site snow free during the winter and that large trees on the site would be retained to make it an attractive one.

He also said a six foot high earth berm would be placed on the side of the property near the railway line and this would be planted with evergreens to a 20 foot height. He pointed out this is a requirement of the CMHC.

Mayor Brennan expressed concern about the parking, saying it is a problem every winter and he is sure that any further building will only add to this.

He was also not too impressed with the idea of a berm and trees saying that you couldn't build anything kids wouldn't climb or wiggle through.

Alderman Burt suggested that perhaps consideration should be given to linking up a road between the apartment sites and Cleveland Ave, alongside the B.C. Railway tracks near Buckley's Crossing. This would provide an alternate route and relieve the congestion of traffic in the area.

A committee of Aldermen Bryant, Buchanan and Burt was instructed to look into the matter and bring a report to council.

FATAL ACCIDENT NEAR ALTA LAKE

Kenneth Valleau, an employee of Valleau Logging at Alta Lake, was killed in an accident on the weekend of Sept. 23, when his car, which apparently struck a horse on the highway, continued on into the bush where it was later found.

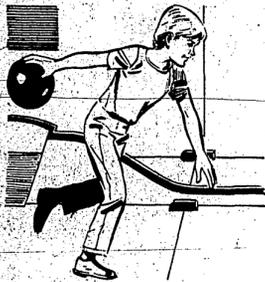

Valleau, who left Alta Lake and was supposed to be on his way to the Fraser Valley where his wife and family resided, was last seen on Saturday. His body was found on Monday when the pickup was discovered a short distance from the spot where a horse had been killed on the highway.

An autopsy has been ordered and further investigation is being made.

A warm front was expected to get the program into swing again. Since the half million tree fall planting program began on September 7 more than 200,000 trees have been planted and the crews hope to get as many as another 360,000 trees in before October 25.

Powder Mountain developments

By JOY DÄWE

Twenty mining claims staked in Powder Mountain Recreation Reserve along the road into Callaghan Lake on September 22 cannot be developed as a mine without an order-in-council (cabinet approval), director of lands, Redel said last week.

In 1968 when the area which has been described as potentially one of the best ski areas in North America was designated a recreational reserve it was also established as a mineral reserve allowing the staking of claims and exploratory drilling without any surface rights. No trees can be cut down or roads constructed in a mineral reserve.

The claims known as "Snow" Numbers 1-20 were staked by D. Vieweger who was unable to be contacted last week.

There are also other claims staked in or near the reserve for A. H. Manifold and there is presently an exploratory drilling operation in Timber Licence 8087 which is owned by Pacific Logging. The drilling is being done by Cameron-McCutcheon for Nortrain Mines.

Redel said the Department of Lands is looking at the status of the access road to the exploratory drilling site.

He also said that Nancy Greene Raine's plans for the ski development and subdivision in the south part of the Recreation Reserve around Brandywine Mountain and Metal Dome is under review.

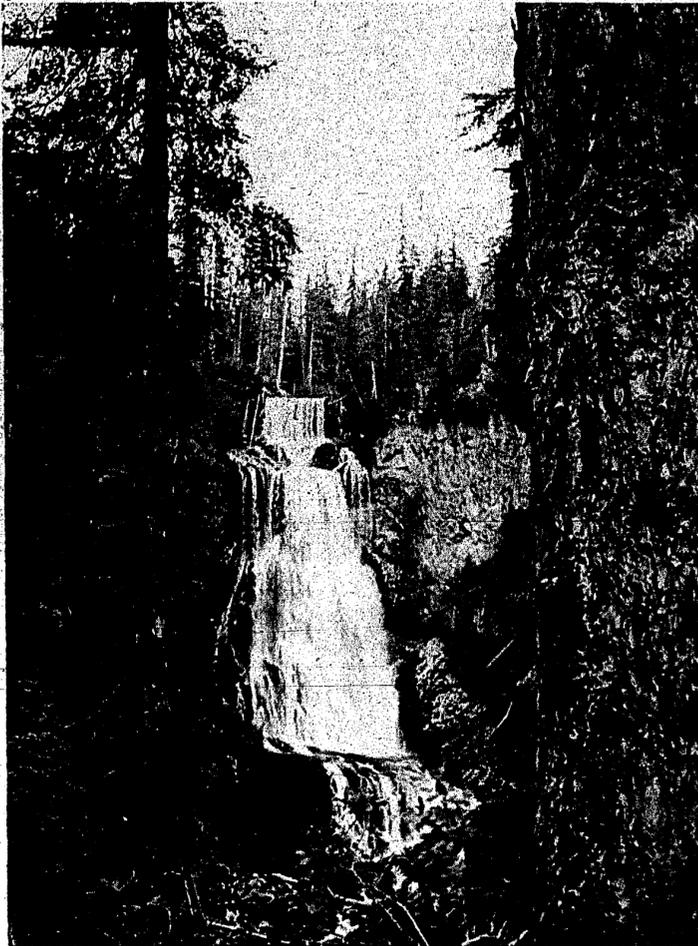

He said Powder Mountain Developments have lost all rights in the area and that Walter Storm, a logger who worked in the area after Powder Mountain Developments moved out has some rights.

Powder Mountain Developments removed 30 million board feet of timber from the area but the company failed to meet its commitment to have ski facilities operating by October 1971.

No bond had been required by the provincial government so there was no compensation for the removal of the timber and the lack of development of ski facilities.

The fact that no bond was posted also means that the government will have to remove several abandoned trailers and other buildings from the site of the logging camp which was to have been part of the ski village site near Alexander Falls.

Redel said it is now Department of Lands policy to ask for a bond from developers.

BEAUTIFUL ALEXANDER FALLS along the road to Callaghan Lake in the Powder Mountain area.

Five killed in highway accidents

Five people were killed in two fatal accidents over the past weekend.

Four people were killed in the first accident about 2:30 on Saturday afternoon when a pickup truck with a camper on it collided with a semi-trailer on Highway 99 some nine miles north of Squamish and two miles north of Alta Lake.

Killed in the accident were Joseph W. Hartle, aged 52, of Burnaby, owner of the camper-truck; Raymond Langelier, 29, of Delta; William John MacLennan, 18, and Daryl Dennis Prouse, 25, both of Maple Ridge.

RCMP at Squamish said all four men were riding in the cab of the camper which was demolished in the crash.

The camper went out of control on a left hand curve on the highway and slammed into the tractor trailer.

The men were heading for Pemberton on a hunting trip.

In the second accident, which occurred at 2:30 p.m. on Sunday afternoon, David Golden, aged 22, of Britannia Beach, riding a motorcycle and proceeding south on the highway near the airport, was in collision with a dump truck.

The motorcycle hit the truck which was making a left hand turn off the highway into the airport site.

Golden died shortly after arrival at Lions Gate Hospital.

Police praise dance committee

Sgt. M. Markell told council last week that he had the highest praise for the intelligence and coolness of the people who were managing the street dance on the evening preceding Squamish Day for the fact that there was no "doneybrook."

He said the potential was there and only the action of the group in control in closing the dance down early prevented what could have become a serious incident.

Markell said that he would not object to seeing future street dances of this type but felt they should be held in an area which would be more suited to a dance.

The double entry to the street dance, at both ends of the closed off street, made it almost impossible to police and he added that with more than one exit it was difficult to control the consumption of liquor at the dance.

He also said the problem was complicated by the presence of very young people at the dance. A cross-section of the community attending such an event poses many problems for the police officers.

In his regular monthly report for August the sergeant said there were 48 traffic charges in the municipal area with 95, almost double that amount, in the rural area.

Accidents involving injuries were four in the municipality and six in the rural area and there were no fatal accidents.

The total number of accidents in which impaired drivers were involved were seven in the municipal area and two in the rural area.

Airport paving

Airport paving was scheduled to start this week with Zacharias doing the work.

Council was told last week that the project will cost approximately the $30,000 which had been allocated for this purpose.

Work of preparing the ground for the paving has been completed.

Explains student enumeration procedure

Coast-Chilcotin returning officer, A. J. Pearsall has issued the following statement outlining enumeration procedures for students eligible to vote in the federal election on October 30.

There are four categories of students — the married student, the single student living "at home," the single student living "away from home" and the single student "on his own."

Married Students
Generally speaking, the ordinary residence of a married student is where he lives with his spouse. It does not matter whether both husband and wife are students, nor does it matter if they live in one room or in a student's residence, or at the home of the parents of either of them. Married students are enumerated where they are physically residing on the enumeration date since that is their place of ordinary residence. Married students' residences on the campus, will be visited by enumerators in the usual way.

Single Students Living "At Home"
Single students living "at home" will be enumerated where they are physically residing on the enumeration date.

Single Students Living "Away from Home"
Single students living "away from home" will be enumerated at the residence of their parents or guardian, and not where they are physically living on the enumeration date.

Single Students "On their Own"
Single students who are "on their own" and who no longer consider the parental home as theirs are deemed to have their place of ordinary residence where they are physically residing on the enumeration date and they are entitled to be enumerated at that place, if they are otherwise qualified as electors.

Parents are therefore reminded that if their sons or daughters are living away from home, they should contact their enumerator and arrange to have them placed on the voters list as of Oct. 11.

The enumerator can then contact the returning officer of the riding in regards to obtaining a form 47 — Appointment and Consent of a Proxy Voter (if necessary). The last day to receive requests for Proxy Certificates is Oct. 27.

Settlements are problems for insurance companies

Council said last week that settlement of claims regarding the damage done by Edco Construction Ltd., who were working on the B.C. Railway project to the harbor, were the responsibility of the insurance companies involved and had nothing to do with the district of Squamish.

"We asked the company not to use the nine inch drill in the rock they were blasting on the south bank of the Manguam River," Brennan told council, "and we told them about the problems we had experienced with other blasters. We also insisted that they take out insurance to cover any damage claims which might arise."

Brennan also accused the insurance company, which had suggested that council pay for half the claims for damages presented by people whose homes had been damaged by Edco's blasting, of being worse than the Mafia. "Even they don't do business in this manner," he claimed.

Brennan also said that insurance agents should be thrown out of the country for acting in this manner. "We insisted on insurance so that the company could settle the claims and we would not have to be involved in it."

Brennan also asked the clerk to check and see if the holdback, owing to Edco had been paid and Craven assured him that as far as he knew it had not been.

"They (Edco) have a problem to settle with some people," he said, "and they had better see their insurance company does it."

The mayor said that there had been problems before with blasting and all accounts had been paid. However he saw no reason why Squamish should become involved in this argument. A suggestion by the insurance company that the municipality check the claims brought the response that this was the duty of the insurance company and the contractors not the district.

Municipal clerk Jim Craven said some of the claims are comparatively small but some are quite large.

Council was also asked by the insurance company to secure releases for damage from the claimants before the payments were made and the answer was a vehement "no."

It was suggested that residents should get estimates of the damage and have contractors look at the extent of it.

Sewer line on highway

Council heard last week that problems concerning the location of the sewer trunk line on Government Road from Judd Road to Depot Road had been resolved.

There had been considerable concern about the difficulty of securing easements from residents along the east side of the highway who were reluctant to see their lawns and gardens torn up when the lines were installed.

They also insisted that the line could not be relocated once it had been installed even if there was a need for a larger main.

Municipal clerk J. R. Craven said approval had been obtained from the Department of Highways to use the road allowance for the installation of the sewer and while this would cost more money initially, it would not be necessary to obtain easements or to deal with half a dozen individuals.

The major mining operations in B.C. are 54 percent owned by Canadians and 58 percent controlled by Canadians.

The sewerage frontage notices have just been mailed and we have found that many persons are confused by the format of the notice.

Perhaps this information will assist you.

Every parcel has been assessed at 80 taxable feet because the District Frontage Tax is the same regardless of the width.

The Notice is not a request for payment (that will come next year). This Notice is simply set to legally establish the base of billing.

The Council decided on a taxable figure which is the same in all cases for two main reasons:

1. Revenues grow as subdivisions occur.
2. The use of the sewer is not related to the width of a parcel and it seemed unfair to bill in this manner.

MB sponsors musical comedy on October 9

With election fever rampant in Canada and the United States, MacMillan Bloedel, Canada's largest forest products company, has chosen this moment to sponsor the North American television premiere of a hilarious musical comedy, starring Carroll O'Connor (television's Archie Bunker), which pokes fun at some of the sacred cows of politics and plays musical chairs with the ballyhoo of a presidential campaign.

The show is a brilliant new production, made specially for television, of the Gershwin musical which was an outstanding success on Broadway.

To be shown on the CBC national network in colour on Monday, October 9 at 8:30 p.m. "Of Thee I Sing" is 90 minutes of non-stop music and entertainment which satirizes the political scene.

It has a magnificent Gershwin score, with a host of great melodies, and stars of the eminence of O'Connor and Cloris Leachman, who won an Oscar this year for her dramatic performance in "The Last Picture Show."

With great humour and pace it tells the story of Wintergreen (O'Connor) a brash, fast-talking presidential candidate from the sticks, who runs on the platform of "love," and backed by a motley crew of the most incredible political pirates, gallops straight into the White House.

The show won a Pulitzer Prize. It had the longest run on Broadway of any Gershwin musical and the critics raved.

It has wide appeal. For adults who remember "Of Thee I Sing" when it was breaking records on Broadway, and the melodies were on everyone's lips, it is rich in nostalgia.

A younger generation, which has grown up in a world of flower children and "love" buttons, will enjoy the political satire, the timeless score, and wonder at the foresight of a playwright who 40 years ago created a stage politician who campaigned on the ticket of love.

For those who just want 90 minutes of sheer escapism, it's a riot of colour, fun, and great music.

Carroll O'Connor is outstanding as Wintergreen. His is a highly polished performance in the grand tradition of musical comedy. His warmth, his fine comedic ability and a pleasant singing voice, raise him to new theatrical status.

There is one memorable scene in which a beauty contest is staged to pick "Miss White House," whose improbable prize is marriage to the presidential candidate, who is campaigning on the ticket of love. Michele Lee, a shapely and talented performer, who plays a Southern Belle, is outstanding in two uproarious musical numbers.

When "Of Thee I Sing" made history by becoming the first musical comedy to win a Pulitzer Prize for drama, the citation read — "This award may seem unusual, but the play is unusual."

Which may be the ultimate in understatement. The show is a unique combination of great music, riotous humour and fine talent.

THE FIRST SOD is being turned for the new addition to Squamish General Hospital and administrator Clive Applin-Floch is taking a good look at the work.

Quiet Corner

"Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." (Matthew 28:20)

Jesus promised to always be close to his people. By "His People," we mean those who have accepted him as their Saviour. If you haven't accepted Christ as your Saviour he can't be near you, because Satan is close to you. If we want Christ instead of Satan close to us we must ask Christ to forgive our sins and be with us.

Christ is near those who have accepted him so they have his help and advice at all times. We get into many situations in life when we need someone's help, advice or protection. When Christ is by your side you have all the help you need. You see, Christ knows everything. He is all-knowing. Therefore he can help us in all the situations relevant to us and to our times. Marriage problems? Go to Christ. Work problems? Go to Christ. Generation gap? Drugs? Sex? Family? Friends? Money? Health? Christ is the answer to all these and more.

Christ lived on earth for about 30 years. So he knows what our lives are all about and the problems we have. It may seem hard to believe that Christ can answer every need and problem. But I assure you, he can. He's the son of God. Who else can help us in all these areas? No one, no one but Christ. Accepting Christ doesn't mean life will be a bed of roses. But it will be the beginning of a much better and greater life than you've ever known before.

Quiet Corner

Having just completed a five day swing through the Coast Chilcotin riding John Pankratz, the Conservative candidate commented that the enthusiasm of the coastal towns for a Conservative government is very encouraging. He said in an interview "The enthusiasm stems not only from the rejection of Trudeauism but from a belief that Stanfield cares about the average citizen."

Pankratz concentrated on "mainstreaming" in Powell River and in a "meet the people" campaign. He asked shoppers about the issues as they saw them. "The most common sentiment," said Pankratz, "is that Trudeau has to go. High living costs and ever increasing taxes headed the list of complaints. Lax immigration procedures and poorly administered youth grants were also a great concern."

The arrival of Pankratz in Powell River sparked the formation of a Young Progressive Conservative Club. Lionel Devine, a young and highly respecting teacher volunteered to serve as advisor to the new club.

Meetings in Sechelt and Gibsons resulted in campaign committees being formed. "Some of the abortive youth grants on the Sunshine Coast were a major concern," commented Pankratz. "At Gibsons the existing federal old age pensioners program came in for a serious attack," Pankratz said. "I was happy to inform them of Stanfield's immediate $15 per month increase plus automatic yearly increases to match the increase in the cost of living."

At Squamish Pankratz felt that the local issues expressed throughout the five day swing were brought to a head. "The people in Coast-Chilcotin want an MP who will fight for them in Ottawa," said Pankratz. This means, he was told, that the member must be in constant communication with the riding and truly represent the people.

A subsequent visit to Anahim Lake reinforced the impression that Pankratz has been gathering throughout the campaign. "The people," he said, "Feel that Coast-Chilcotin has been seriously neglected by the Liberals in the past four years."

Fire department busy on practices

The Squamish Fire Department has been busy on practices according to reports made to the municipality by the fire chief Gordie Matheos.

Matheos said that the men have been testing hoses and painting fire trucks in the past few weeks. Fire halls No. 2 and No. 3 have been practicing together.

He reported there had been four fires in the past two months and said that a number of points have been under discussion. These will be the subject of a special committee meeting at which both the fire chief and the fire marshal will be present.

Council was concerned about the fact that fire fighters will not be allowed to ride on the back of any new fire trucks which will be purchased or on any others which are obtained.

There are no restrictions on riding on those which we already have, but in future, all new trucks must provide a "crew cab" for the firemen.

The new regulations come under the Workmen's Compensation Act.

THE PULITZER PRIZE WINNING SATIRE IN A HILARIOUS NEW TV VERSION

CBC TELEVISION

presented by MacMillan Bloedel

A VOTE for this man is a vote for love! On October 9 at 8:30 p.m. on the CBC national network, Carroll O'Connor stars in the North American television premiere of "Of Thee I Sing," a brilliant political satire set to music by George Gershwin. O'Connor plays John P. Wintergreen, a most unlikely presidential candidate, who sings and dances his way into the White House on the ticket of "love." Oscar winner Cloris Leachman provides the romantic interest.

Why should you have to sprint to get a hot shower?

An oil-fired heater can give you up to 30 gallons of hot shower water in 20 minutes.

It's morning shower time in some homes, this is what happens. Dad gets on his mark. Sets. And there he goes. If the family beats poor old Dad to the shower and uses up all the hot water, he may not get a hot shower at all. Not unless his house has an oil-fired water heater.

Oil can heat water 3 times as fast as gas; 6 times as fast as electricity. So it makes a lot of sense that an oil heater is going to give your family more hot water faster for hot showers, and washing soiled clothes. Not to mention the pile of breakfast dishes.

Oil really does heat faster. It's a fact we can prove. If you're not heating water with oil now, sprint to your phone and call us on our hot line.

Official opening for Fields

All roads led to the new Fields store on Thursday morning of last week when crowds of shoppers, all bent on getting some of those opening day bargains, converged on the building.

It was officially opened by Alderman Ray Bryant, who cut the ribbon, while manager Daryl Steinkopf and store supervisor Keith Setter looked on.

The staff had worked almost around the clock preparing for the opening, with goods still being placed on the shelves and racks late the evening before. The clerks said they had worked late the preceding evening and all day trucks were unloading more goods to stock the shelves.

One clerk, smiling despite the dark circles under her eyes, said she would be glad to get to bed on Wednesday night and didn't know how she was going to make it to the store in time on Thursday morning. She also pointed out that much of the stock which had been expected didn't arrive in time so there would be many more unexpected bargains for shoppers in the weeks to come.

The low counters, fresh paint and open appearance of the store add to the displays and Squamish shoppers were quick to take advantage of the opportunity to look at new displays of merchandise.

Most people understand the feeling of helping when trouble and sickness strike. And so they help in various ways, among them through our United Appeals. Show you understand and care by supporting the United Campaign in our community. Give to help the sick, the handicapped, the troubled, and give generously.

ALDERMAN RAY BRYANT cut the ribbon to officially open Fields' new store while manager Daryl Steinkopf and store supervisor Keith Setter looked on.

Much is written about the delinquent child, but little is said of the hundreds of United Way youth agencies in our country that prevent delinquency before it begins. Support this work for youth. Give, the United Way.

COUNCIL BRIEFS
Council decided last week that a relocation of the Standard Oil bulk plant on Third Ave. near the dyke would be suitable. The company has been looking for another location for some time and council has been anxious to have the bulk plants moved from the business and residential areas into the industrial ones.
The company said it has plans for enlarging and remodelling the present station when the changes take place.
Council last week decided to support the Squamish Arts Council in its request for assistance from the provincial government.
Alderman Terry Burt has resigned from the Regional District Board where he served as delegate from the district. Alderman Ray Bryant will be taking his place.
Meanwhile Alderman Makowichuk has been appointed as the alternate delegate to the regional district.

Council got into the retail business last week when a rifle, which had been seized by the RCMP and never claimed, was sold to the highest bidder with Archie Gilroy being the successful applicant. The district is $42.50 richer as a result.
An application by Rock Point Industries to fill an area comprising three quarters of an acre near Watts Point for storing gravel, was approved by council. The company has a licence to quarry rock at the site.
Sidewalk repairs are slated for the downtown area following a request from the 5 to 5 store for improvements to the low lying condition of the sidewalk in front of their premises.
Works superintendent Frank Wilson said this would mean the whole area would have to be replaced and council instructed him to look at the property and see what should be done.

An application by D. J. Payton to build a house in Cheakamus Valley where only one home per parcel of land is allowed, and to live in the existing small one while construction is underway was approved.
Payton said the small house would be destroyed after the new one is built and he was given a six month period for the building.
