Meeting discusses types of co-operative housing

Co-operative housing and what it means was the subject of discussion at an interesting meeting last week, held in the high school cafeteria, when members of the Squamish Co-operative Housing Association sponsored a discussion on housing co-operatives and what they are.

The meeting followed an afternoon session at the municipal hall when members of the industries in Squamish whose employees require housing, met with the representatives of the B.C. Housing Foundation and the Squamish group to discuss the program.

Mrs. Shirley Schmid, executive director of the United Housing Foundation told the group of about 50 people who attended that while the government is supporting the movement it is not government housing.

"Instead," she said, "it is people working together to produce by their own efforts what they cannot build on their own."

She pointed out that, by using this method, they can qualify for preferred interest rates of 8 percent, the $10,000 grant for the group to get organized plus a 10 percent capital grant. But it was still a matter of working together.

"Co-operative housing isn't just one form of housing like DeCosmos Village," she pointed out. "It can vary just as the different co-operative groups vary."

She had cited DeCosmos Village because it was one which had just been built in Victoria and the foundation members attending the meeting had brought some slides of the project to show one way in which co-operative housing could be developed.

She pointed out that the initial share purchase is $1,700 and that payments for everything except light and telephone amounts to $147 for a two bedroom unit; $159 for a three bedroom unit and $172 for a four bedroom unit.

In outlining the co-operative and how it works it was pointed out that a share purchase in a housing co-operative is not the home itself but in the entire development. The members collectively own the Co-op but individually lease their units from their co-operative. Only residents may be shareholders.

Change in referendum

A change will be made in the referendum for money for schools with the item for a school in Valleycliffe being amended to read a new elementary school in the Squamish area.

This could mean the school could be located anywhere in the district of Squamish, depending on where the need was greatest.

Co-operative home owners only have one vote no matter what the value of their shareholding. A two bedroom owner's vote is as good as the man who has a four-bedroom one.

The shareholders elect their own board of directors and the board assumed the responsibility of conducting the affairs of the co-operative under the direction of the membership.

You can sell your co-operative home at any time and the housing co-operative has the first option to buy your shares if it becomes necessary to sell but can sell to a prospective member, but only with the permission of the co-operative. However the price will be based on a cash return of your investment dollars plus any improvements you have made up to a limited amount set by the co-operative.

The advantages of co-operative housing were discussed, a number of questions were answered and prospective buyers were given leaflets and information on this type of housing.

Alf Wilkinson, chairman of the Squamish Co-Operative Housing Association chaired the meeting and with him were two other officers of the group, Ed Olander and Mike Knox. The visiting speakers were Shirley Schmid, executive director of the United Housing Foundation, David Weston, its director of education and Bill Wright, the foundation's legal counsel.

No sign of rail talks; forest layoffs climb

The B.C. Railway went into its second week of strike with no talks in sight. Shopcraft unions went off the job at 12:01 on Oct. 13 and the operations of the railway closed down.

Norm Farley, chairman of the negotiating committee for the shopcraft unions, said management has been given the terms, which the union membership wants and it has taken no action. It has refused to meet or talk to the union.

Farley said it appeared that management "hopes the government will legislate the men back to work and take the onus off management as it has in the past 20 years of railroad history in Canada."

Farley also stated that "wage rates in Newfoundland and eastern Canada are high compared to the other wages paid there but in B.C. they are well below the average."

Meanwhile as the strike continued layoffs in the forest industry along the line rose with more than 100 men laid off at sawmills in Taylor just south of Fort St. John while the Northwood Pulp mill in Prince George went on brownstock production because of a shortage of chemicals.

Another 53 men were laid off at Macmillan Contractor Ltd.'s sawmill and logging division at Lone Butte, 16 miles south of 100 Mile House, owing to the lack of railway cars to move the company's product.

North Central Plywood in Prince George closed down earlier last week throwing 240 men out of work.

Gordon Draeske, president of the Council of Forest Industries said last week that the majority of sawmills on the BCR are operating at 50 to 80 percent operating capacity and additional layoffs are inevitable.

The strike, which is now well into its second week is also hurting B.C. cattlemen with the B.C. Cattlemen's Association claiming 2,000 head of cattle are waiting in Williams Lake stockyards to be transported by rail to Ontario.

It is expected that by the end of this week, if the strike continues, the Williams Lake stockyards could be holding up to 3,500 additional head of stock.

In Vancouver the general manager of Vancouver Wharves said the situation could become critical at the North Vancouver bulkloading terminal if the strike continues this week.

All rail cargo unloaded at the terminal must travel over BCR tracks and no shipments have been received since the day before the strike.

JACK PEARSALL, Liberal candidate for Coast Chilcotin.

Pearsall named

Jack Pearsall of Powell River has been nominated Liberal candidate for Coast Chilcotin in the next federal election.

He was named October 6 by the Coast Chilcotin Liberal Association at Sechelt. Pearsall told delegates, that the next election would be decided in Powell River, the "back yard" of the N.D.P.

He stressed the need for a candidate who knew all of the riding and had contacts in the majority of polling areas.

There have been too many areas in this riding, ignored in the past and some have yet to meet their M.P.

Pearsall had a long record of service in the Liberal Party, before accepting the appointment of returning officer for the riding in 1966. A position he held through two elections until his resignation last November.

His knowledge of this riding and its peoples, was a key factor in his decision to let his name stand.

Petition circulated

If you care about keeping Diamond Head Chalet open, just as it was, then look for the petition which can be signed in several downtown locations.

The petition is addressed to the Minister of Recreation and Conservation, the Honorable Jack Radford, and asks for the chalet to be restored to its previous operation with improved facilities for day visitors. The petition refers to the historical value of the chalet and the need for access, transportation and shelter in such a popular recreational area.

It can be signed at Road Runner Sports, Valley Hardware, Stewart's Drugs, Stathers Building Supplies and The Times and Citizen offices.

Little interest in off-year election

MUNICIPAL HALL ADDITIONS PLANNED

Council last night discussed plans for the renovations of the municipal hall and accepted the committee's recommendation for the proposed changes.

The five-year plan would see the present facilities expanded to provide more room for the municipal offices, and another fire hall as well as a social room for the firemen, expand the library facilities, add a joint court room and municipal chambers with additional offices for the clerk of the court, a probation office, committee room and judge's chambers.

The building would be extended to the sidewalk and a lobby added with a court yard placed between the present hall and library.

Inside the municipal hall, there would be offices for the various inspectors as well as a lunchroom and other facilities.

Cost is estimated at $165,000, using $28.00 per sq. ft. as a base and after five years the building could be used for a library and fire hall.

During the five years preliminary could be done at a site for a future municipal complex.

Director of the Coast-Garibaldi Health Unit, Dr. Alistair Thores, indicated that his department would be interested in having offices in a future municipal complex and said they would be looking to expansion of their services to the community.

He said the government would bare a third of the cost and operation of the District's share could be offset by the cost of the land.

Discussion with Dr. Thores regarding septic tanks on the perimeter of the sewer area brought the response that it was very unlikely any downtown area would be approved for alternate systems and they would not be allowed if there was a sewer connection nearby.

However, this might be overruled if there was some distance between the sewer area and the property in question.

The B.C. Rail strike ended late Tuesday and the Railway was expected to be in operation late today.

HALLOWE'EN FIREWORKS IN BRACKENDALE

Once again the Brackendale firemen, from Hall No. 3 will be setting off fireworks for the young people and the young in heart at Brackendale on Halloween, Oct. 31, commencing at 8 p.m.

Everyone is invited to attend but people are asked to leave their cars down the road as there are problems parking around the school grounds.

Deputy Fire Chief Terry Aldridge also warns motorists to keep an eye out for youngsters who may still be trick or treating.

Land use hearing in Squamish

A public hearing into the ramifications of the Agricultural Land Reserve Plans was held in Squamish in the Elliott Building on Friday evening and a number of people turned out to question the designation of certain portions of property as agricultural land.

T.B.M. Fougberg, chairman of the Squamish-Lillooet Regional District, which heard the submissions and answered questions, said no one had ever made a living out of the land in the Upper Squamish and the Regional District suggested this be left out of the agricultural land reserves. However the maps were on the wall showing the green areas which were deemed suitable for this purpose.

It was explained that it was not just based on soil capability but on frost-free days, temperatures and other factors as well as the land itself.

Director Doug MacDonald said when the commission prepared the maps it did not look at the economic standpoint of the land today but on its capabilities for the future.

Jim McNeil interjected that no one had ever attempted to make a living from the land in the Upper Squamish so therefore no one knew whether it could be done or not.

Mr. Doward wanted to know if it would be economically feasible to dyke the Upper Squamish Valley land to protect it from flooding if it was developed as farm land but was told this was not considered, just the possible future need for this for agriculture purposes.

Dave Magee, who owns a sizeable piece of land in the upper valley, said it seemed very unfair to expect the owner to hold land for the future use of others.

The Regional District planner, Mr. Jowanda answered a query concerning agricultural land in the municipality of Squamish by saying no land had been so designated in the district.

The lands in question are those designated as 1, 2, 3 and 4 on the maps and parts of 5 and 6 which are deemed suitable for agricultural use.

Mr. Fougberg said the submissions which had been received would be studied when the group met on Monday and lands would be added or deleted from the maps as the group decided according to the submissions. However he pointed out that the department could overrule any decisions the regional district made.

Sitting on the panel and answering questions were Doug MacDonald director from Area E; Gordon Sangster, mayor of Pemberton, representing that village; T.B.M. Fougberg, director from Area C and chairman of the Regional District, Ralph Lovlin, alternate director, Area D, Mr. Jowanda, the planner from the Municipal Affairs Department and Gordon Smith, secretary-treasurer of the Regional District.

Candidates still uncommitted

Interest in this year's off year elections with no majority contest seems to be very low with no candidates committed to run for office.

In the aldermanic race with three two year terms coming up there are no declared candidates with Alderman I. L. Boscarol saying that he does not plan to run while Alderman Stewart and Makowichuk have not yet decided whether they will seek another term or not.

Alderman Boscarol has served on council for eight years while Alderman Makowichuk has completed her second term and Alderman Stewart has only been in office for one year.

Usually by this time there are a number of other candidates and with the nominations closing on Monday, Oct. 29 at noon there is little time to decide whether there will be a race or not.

In the school board there appears to be the same lack of interest. Trustee Alice Makowichuk, elected last year to serve the balance of the term left vacant when L. C. Minchin resigned, is still not decided on whether to run again and while there have been reports that there are possibly some other candidates for office no one has filed papers as yet.

This year the municipal elections will be held on November 17 and this should result in a better turnout as the weather should be better than it would be in December and it would not conflict with the pre-Christmas activities.

In Pemberton there appears to be the same difficulty in getting candidates to stand for office. Mayor Gordon Sangster said last week he did not intend to run again, adding that problems concerned with the village, which is being strangled by flood plain legislation and too small an area, made it almost impossible to function efficiently.

Apparently Alderman Bob Priest shares this opinion and there may be difficulty finding candidates for municipal office at Pemberton.

In Area E of the regional district there appears to be a possibility of an election but acting representative, Doug McDonald, who is filling out the term vacated by Director Johnston, said that he does not plan to run if others are interested in doing so.

In Area D, Britannia and the Upper Squamish, presently served by alternate Ralph Lovlin since Director Jack Anderson moved away, there do not appear to be any candidates for office. Jim McNeil, who ran against Anderson last year, says he does not plan to do so again.

Unless some candidates come forward in the next few days there is a possibility that there will be no election for any of the municipal or school trustee seats in Squamish and this would be unfortunate as it would show little interest in the elections, and perhaps in the municipal and school board business.

Chamber protests Diamond Head close

The Squamish Chamber of Commerce last week added its objections to the closure of Diamond Head Chalet for overnight use to those already voiced by the municipality, the regional district and the local ski and outdoor club.

The chamber, at an earlier meeting, had decided to write to the minister, the Hon. Jack Radford, protesting the action and saying that instead of being closed it should be improved and access should also be improved.

Ian McCartney said he had been appalled at statements that it was only a place for the wealthy as he had spent Christmas there with his wife and family last year and it cost less than $150 for the four of them for four days, food and accommodation as well as all the skiing they wanted.

Concern was expressed about the possible neglect of the access road if the chalet was not kept open and chamber members were also concerned about the fact there appeared to be no provision for transportation from base camp to the chalet.

The chamber also thanked Carlings for their support of the tourist program through supplying a tourist information centre at Shannon Falls and their generous donation to the chamber. The company will be contacted regarding proposals for further implementation of the tourist program next year and possibly other developments to supply a better flow of tourist information about this area.

Barney Bensch said he is still working on the attempt to secure FM radio for the Squamish area but he has been unable to do too much regarding this due to the pressure of business.

Ian McCartney, chairman of the Retail Merchants Committee, said he would call a meeting of the retail merchants

SQUAMISH, B.C. — WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1973

Trustees set the example

We can give nothing but encouragement and a sincere word of praise to the B.C. School Trustees Association for initiating their current promotional program promoting greater interest in school trustee activities in your community.

Putting it more directly, the association wants to know if you are qualified and would be prepared to stand for election to the local school board? Last year, more than 500 men and women served their communities as school trustees in this province.

But the regrettable fact is that most of them were elected by acclamation indicating the lack of interest in the manner in which our education system is handled or else placing more importance on other time-consuming activities. We know, however, there is potential material in our three municipalities — people who would make excellent trustees and the BCSTA is out to shake them into action.

Howe Sound parents don't realize just how fortunate they have been to have managed to attract the high calibre of people for trustees so far. The Howe Sound School District Board has had excellent representation which has been reflected in the high standard of education attained (albeit classes are too large). That quality of administration must be retained.

As you know, the municipal elections will be held on November 17 — one month earlier than before — and the deadline for filing nomination papers is Monday, October 29. So if you are interested in your child's education and you have the time and energy to spare, consider the challenge of running for trustee. Or you may know of a man or woman who is well-equipped to act as a good candidate for the post.

Whatever the case, you should give serious thought and discussion with the other adults in your community. Everyone cannot be a leader but leadership is developed through the consciousness of the majority.

Again, full marks to the trustee association for their forward step in activating the cause of education in our communities. People talk a lot about improving our school system; the association have the guts to do something about it. How about you?

Stand up and be counted

Where is the interest in the November 17 municipal elections? The trouble with us in the Squamish Valley is that we are suffering from an absolute plethora of comfort and the majority of us would prefer to go along with the crowd than show a little individualism.

There are doubtless many ways of maintaining the dignity of the individual in our country for we must admit that much of our thinking and feeling has now been delegated to others through the dominance of chain newspapers, electronic mass ownership, movie theatres and so on. It is alarming how many of us read the same comic strips, eat the same kinds of food, announce the same profound observations on important events.

Unconsciously, we have delegated our thinking, our feeling, much of our tasting and even the intonation of our trite comments to a few score of men and women who have gained access to our radio studios, our newspapers, and our advertising agencies.

All of this has gone so far that escape from uniformity seems impossible. Originality in thought and expression have been sold down the river for the joy of hearing a hot gag. We cannot retrace and start over, and most of us would not want to — we are mentally lazy and too willing to follow leaders.

We must oppose those tendencies that are working toward standardization and cultural homogeneity. In Squamish we must work actively against chain-thinking and chain acting. Let's all get out and be involved in local politics; get out to the public meetings, talk to others, read and listen to what makes our community function and try to make a better place in which to live.

What is pollution control?

After hearing some of the arguments used regarding pollution control permits or the failure to receive them, we wonder just what pollution control does mean. Is it a permit to pollute, or is it an effort to prevent pollution? There are many who doubt its efficacy.

We have seen pollution in many ways here in the Howe Sound area, from our own septic tank system which has now been replaced by a modern, highly efficient sewer system, to pollution from the industrial plants in the area.

But we can't understand the reasoning behind the concrete permits which has arisen up the road where Tamarisk Developments was given a pollution control permit without ensuring that adequate security in case of power failures has been provided. The statement that sewer systems and associated pumping stations is a separate matter and the permit does not refer to them is fallacious. Certainly they should be tied together in one package and the pollution control permit should contain clauses which would be relevant to a power failure which might result in the discharge of raw sewage into the Cheakamus River system.

There should be an emergency power supply and this should be a condition of granting the permit.

We are also concerned about the statement that proper septic tank effluent would not be acceptable in Millar Creek. Sounds lovely but what is going to be done if there is a power outage of several days duration, or if there is a failure of the power system which handles the sewage? We can be sure it will be dumped into the creek whether the permit allows it or not.

The guidelines indicate that standby power "should" be installed but does not make it mandatory nor does it state "should" is necessary but defines it as best practice. Furthermore there does not appear to be any teeth in the regulations.

Another cause for concern is that according to the pollution permit, sampling must be taken once a month, with four consecutive grab samples take at one hour intervals and mixed. This could mean that septic effluent could possibly be discharged for an entire month until the next sampling time when the discharge could be found septic.

Furthermore there is no definition of pollution control permit of what could or would happen if the effluent does not conform.

Perhaps these permits are really not pollution control but rather permits to pollute and we are sure that everyone living downstream from Miller Creek and who may use water from the Cheakamus River system is highly concerned about the possible effect of a failure to the system.

Merchants, take a bow

Merchants in the Squamish Valley should take a bow after reading the letter from Bernice Warren of Auburn, Wisconsin, printed in last week's paper.

Mrs. Warren said she had found the merchants were very friendly and the prices were the lowest they had found in Canada. She added they had travelled 2,600 miles throughout B.C., Alberta and Saskatchewan. That's a pretty nice thing to hear about one's community and everyone here should be proud of her comments and pleased to hear that someone thinks Squamish is a nice, friendly little town.

Take a bow, merchants. It isn't often someone says something that nice about you.

TORRENTIAL RAINS on Saturday brought Shannon Falls to its peak with water spilling over the rock in a huge cascade. Streams in the valley rose during the heavy rains.

HOWE SOUNDINGS

Each time one drives up Highway 99 towards Whistler and Pemberton there's something more to see. Astonishing how fast the changes take place! Last week wasn't any exception and despite the pouring rain the drive was beautiful with the fall colors blazing on every side.

North of Squamish it was mainly vine maples, more gold than red this year but still brilliant, while the scarlet and maroon shades were evident in the dogwoods and the western dogwood or osier bush. Other scarlet accents were added by the blueberries which turned a brilliant color when the frosts hit the woods.

Carrying the color flag in gold and yellow were the birches, blazing gold against the dark evergreens, the cottonwoods and the willows, while the Douglas maples changed their colors from yellow to a pinkish-rose. I think the broad leaved maples, also gold, which lose their colors sooner than any other trees, are the most beautiful this year that I have ever seen.

Even the humble thimbleberry carried the color symphony, glowing in yellow and soft magenta while hardhack and others were equally beautiful. Even the sombre greyness of a typical wet coastal day couldn't quench their vital colors. Certainly fall in B.C. does go out in a blaze of glory.

But that's only part of the changes and that's a seasonal one. It was pleasant to see the Lyall Creek bridge widened and rebuilt, the overpass at Mons in use and work being done on Miller Creek south of the M & M camp. Here the highways department has installed a temporary Bailey bridge while culverts are being placed in the creek which will them be filled and paved similar to the one at Brandywine. That will be a great improvement as that was always a miserable bridge with a real bump when you were travelling north.

Those are a few of the changes on the highway. Others include widening, improvements to the surface where some bad areas have been repaved and especially the widening along the edge of Brohm Lake.

The narrow bridge over the Cheekye River is a hazard but it might be a wise idea if the stop signs were further from the bridge so people could remember to slow down in time. The sharp corner at Brohm Lake is also a hazard. One comes off the paved wide highway to a slow to a 20 sign with a curve and the lake right in front of you. On a wet, dark night it could be dangerous if a driver, unfamiliar with the road, was travelling too fast when he hit the curve. Perhaps here again the warning signs could be further down the road.

But perhaps the biggest surprise when one travels north are the large number of new buildings under construction. There are cabins going up everywhere, some of them much larger than the word cabin would indicate. Some of them are larger than many homes, particularly those being built in Bob Bishop and Bernie Brown's Whistler Cay subdivision where the first golf course at Alta Lake is in the process of being built.

That's right, they've laid out a compact 9-hole golf course on a piece of flat land in the middle of their subdivision, which by the way is completely sold out, and it will be an asset for summer visitors. Incidentally they plan the first game for the holiday season this winter with garbage cans sunk in the snow for holes and tennis ball, colors red, instead of golf balls. That should be a gas!

Adventures West is adding to the resort complex, there's a new condominium type village going up near Christiana Inn, and there's cottages, ski cabins, and other buildings going up everywhere. The Ski Boot is also adding extra rooms.

Amazing to see all this development taking place in the fall when one would expect it to take place earlier in the year. But they tell me September to November is the time when most of the growth takes place.

Of course there was the million dollar expansion program at Garibaldi Lifts with improved and widened runs, new power lines, widening of installation of a second lift at the green chair, seeding of runs and improvements to the Roundhouse to make it possible to seat over a thousand skiers at once. Kitchen and serving facilities have also been upgraded to meet the increasing demand.

Now if the government would just give Nancy and Al Raine the go-ahead on their proposed Powder Mountain development, if something could be done to see that work already completed at Brohm Ridge could be added to so that could become a viable operation and Diamond Head was open for overnight use we would have a four way deal to attract skiers to this area.

This seems to be what skiers like, an area in which they can visit several mountains, ski them all and enjoy the varied types of terrain provided by the different areas.

School closures

The Howe Sound School Board approved a schedule of "days in session for teachers only" at the meeting held October 12 in Pemberton. Most schools will be closed two afternoons or one day during November for parent-teacher interviews after report cards have been issued.

Teachers will spend one or two days during the year at conventions and workshops and most schools will be closed for two days at the end of June for year end closing.

Parents will be notified a week in advance of the dates when the schools will be closed. The board also decided to write to the Department of Highways asking that signs be installed in the Pemberton area indicating traffic is to stop when red lights are flashing on a school bus.

FILE AND DON'T FORGET DEPT. Daylight Saving goes into effect April 29 and runs through until October 28, according to a provincial government cabinet order released recently.

What hospital do we want?

By ROSE TATLOW
What do we want for the Squamish General Hospital? It's a good question, one which must be answered, and answered soon.

Nothing stands still. If it doesn't go forward all it can do is regress, and that is what this hospital has been doing in the past few years. There was a time, before the road was through, when the hospital was a vital, living part of the community.

Since that time it has become less busy, patient days have decreased, patients have been going elsewhere and even the limited facilities of the hospital have not been utilized to the utmost.

Before long the people in Squamish are going to have to decide what they want. Is it a hospital which will be used as nothing more than a glorified "first aid" station, where only minor ailments and emergency action is taken; a maternity ward and not much else; or will it develop along the lines of a small modern hospital with up-to-date laboratory and surgical facilities which will permit a number of operations, some elective surgery and the necessary laboratory work to follow up this action?

This is the question which is facing the people of Squamish. It is their hospital and they should be giving the board and the medical staff the directives they require.

The care and treatment of the patients in the hospital is excellent. In no case have I ever heard anyone say that they have not been well treated, the food has not been excellent and the care has been better than anticipated.

Last week Dr. David Hardwick, speaking to the Beta Rho Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi on metabolic diseases, spoke on city hospitals and small community hospitals such as we have in Squamish.

He spoke in glowing terms of the smaller hospitals, saying the care and the treatment is much better in a hospital the size of the one in Squamish than in one of the larger more impersonal institutions.

But an excellent staff and good care, good food and pleasant surroundings are not enough. There must be a plant which is adequate to do more than just act as a holding station if the hospital is going to continue to attract and hold a good medical and nursing staff.

Perhaps the board has indicated the way it wants to go with the addition to the hospital, the improved area for surgery, the emergency area and the operating theatre. Now it can go one step further along this road and update the laboratory to the standards set, by the visiting team of doctors and purchase the surgical instruments which the doctors have requested.

But it needs the direction of the people of the community. They must indicate what they want and the direction can only come from the people.

The Squamish General Hospital is run by a hospital board, elected by the members of a hospital society and they should, in theory, follow the wishes of that society.

Does the society want to see elective surgery? Does the society want to see the laboratory facilities expanded so the medical staff can have the tests and necessary laboratory work done? Does the society want the doctors to expand the services which are being provided to the community?

Do the people, who are the society, want to see the hospital proceed to utilize the newly created operating areas; either with local surgeons or with the assistance of visiting specialists who have privileges in this hospital?

If the people of Squamish want this they are the only people who can obtain it. It's up to them to let the hospital board and the medical staff know what they want. After all it's their hospital and they should be the people who determine which policy it will follow!

Editor, Squamish Times:

I am very pleased to see that the B.C.R. Non-op workers have come out on strike and not be hamstrung and subservient to the national C.P. and C.N. conditions forcing them back to work for a paltry 34 cents per hour more when this has already been wiped out before the 1st of 1973.

The B.C.R. is a provincial railroad and therefore governed by a British Columbia railway labor code and it's long overdue that B.C.R. workers should have B.C. rates of wages because wages in general in all B.C. industries are higher and the cost of living consequently much higher in B.C. and in the west generally than back east.

The national railway workers should also have a higher rate of pay than in our eastern provinces.

Of course our "JUST SOCIETY" has to be subsidized by the railway workers and forced to go back to work by a government that caters to corporation welfare rip-off bums and not to the "essential" workers of this country.

How can a railway worker getting $3.54 per hour ever think of buying a house that the price starts at "only" $40,000 at 10%.

As Mr. Real Caouette leader of the federal Social Credit recently said in Vancouver the government of this country lends money to all other countries free of interest and our own tax financed welfare bum Central Mortgage and Finance Corporation lends money to the people of this country at no less than 10%. Some justice!

Too bad the railway workers don't keep the strike going the same length of time it takes to get a new contract and have the corporation welfare bums suffer a little too!

Finally if the railway workers had a better wage in the last 20 years they would today have a better pension at age 65 and the government would not have to hand supplements, thereby saving the taxpayers an awful lot of money!

Any one wishing to dispute this letter, please reply to the editor.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
Gordon Gibson, MLA for Lillooet, cut the ribbon which formally opened the new bridge on the Pemberton-Crekeside road near Pemberton.

A mercy flight from Bridge River to Vancouver ended in death for five persons.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
Construction of a modern 21-unit motel at the corner of Victoria and Third was begun.

A deep sea port development at Squamish with up to $15,000,000 for 10 berths to be built in progressive stages as required by industry would be considered by the federal government.

A petition was sent to Hon. P. A. Gagliardi, minister of highways, about the inconvenience of the ferry transportation between Woodfibre and Britannia Beach.

Announcement from Ottawa that the federal government is prepared to create a deep sea harbour at Squamish if industrial development warrants it.

TEN YEARS AGO
High winds and heavy rain combined with snow which fell on the mountains on Sunday, sent several rivers over their banks in the Squamish Valley, causing some damage.

Preliminary clearing and construction was started on the new $35,000 billiard hall built by Ken Vass, adjacent to the Alpine Lanes bowling alley.

UNICEF

Students from Stawamus Elementary School will be collecting for UNICEF on Halloween night instead of holding the usual visits to the homes with their "trick or treat" requests.

Residents in the Northridge and Southridge are asked to be on the lookout for these youngsters when they come around and to contribute to the cause of children in need throughout the world.

Meetings planned to discuss development alternatives

A series of four public meetings are planned to discuss the development alternatives facing the district of Squamish. Urban Programme Planners, has been chosen to prepare a plan for the valley and they are asking the people of the district to attend these meetings and give some direction to the plans they are drawing up.

They have prepared two conceptions and they deal with land use in a generalized way. These plans are open for discussion and these were held in the Brackendale Elementary School on Monday evening and at Squamish Elementary last night.

Two others, one in the Mamquam school on Monday, Oct. 29 and the other in the Stawamus school on Thursday, Nov. 1, will also be held.

At these meetings people are invited to comment on the proposals and to state their opinions of the way they expect Squamish to grow.

The programmes envisage a maximum population of 21,050 in 1986. Population has grown by 1,250 in the past two years and this could increase considerably next year when the new BCR carshop is in operation.

Population figures show a trend towards more population up the valley and this could result in a shift of the town core.

The two proposals outlined by Urban Programme Planners are for a town core to remain where it is today with smaller ones in the satellite areas where only local convenience stores would be allowed. New commercial developments would be closely tied to the existing shopping facilities by the use of pedestrian walkways and a public mall. Key shopping areas would be the present ones plus the district owned parcel of land. Access to the centre would have to be improved, possibly by building an overpass above the railway.

Improved parking and servicing facilities would be required to encourage commercial growth in the old town-site area. Community facilities would have to be located here and the new municipal complex, including the library, should be situated in or near the town centre.

Future industrial expansion in this area might be limited if the present downtown area is to continue as the town core. Some land should be set aside possibly east of the BCR railyards in Squamish and in the upper portion of the district near Cheekye.

Redevelopment of existing housing in the downtown and Wilson Crescent area would be necessary to keep the higher density residential developments close to the town core. Greenbelts of a block or more should be placed between the residential and industrial areas. Infilling of existing areas should take place and the area north of Valleycliffe could be included in low density expansion.

In the second proposal, development of a new town centre in the Gribaldi Highlands area, new commercial development would be encouraged to locate on this site, now used by the golf course. Gradually the existing centre would be replaced by this new one with the eventual result that the existing town and business centre would be replaced by industrial and service commercial areas.

The new municipal hall complex and other public buildings would be located in the new area and these could be planned before construction as the site is undeveloped.

Moving the town centre north of the Mamquam River would remain at the present townsite and after a time housing presen-ty there would be phased out. Additional industrial lands could be those east of the B.C.R. railyards.

Multiple housing would be developed close to the town centre. Commercial uses would not occupy all of the golf course leaving room for higher density housing. Residential back-up land for this town core would be north and east of Gribaldi Highlands as well as south of the Mamquam.

Be sure to attend one of the meetings and see what the people in your area think of the programmes and present your ideas to the planners.

The Harlem Clowns were scheduled to play at the high school last Saturday night but didn't, the reason being they were on a Mid East tour and unable to travel to Squamish in time.

They will be up on Nov. 17. Game time is 8 p.m. I hope this didn't inconvenience anyone too much.

The lottery ticket sales are going pretty good. Close to $300 has been raised. This is still quite a way from cost mind you. These tickets will be on sale till the middle of November. The prizes are: First prize, two tickets to the Grey Cup game, flight and accommodation; second prize, $150 and third prize $100.

There's a new vending machine in the cafeteria, a candy machine. There should be two more there pretty soon. This brings the total of the vending machines up to two.

This year there will be four report cards, one more than last year. The first report should be out in two weeks. These seem to be the thing right about now.

Last Thursday Squamish hosted three sets of volleyball games against Pemberton. Our senior girls, grade nine and bantams lost their games. It was quite nice to see the number of people out watching them play.

FAREWELL PARTY FOR THE LOHMEIERS

A surprise farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. G. Lohmeier was held at their home on Saturday, October 13. A crystal candy dish was presented to the Lohmeiers by Mrs. Lohmeier's fellow ball players. The Lohmeiers are moving to Kamloops.

Guests included: Mr. and Mrs. A. Quinn, Mr. and Mrs. D. Brenderland, Mr. and Mrs. T. Burke, Mr. and Mrs. DesJardines, Mr. and Mrs. D. Rourke, Mr. and Mrs. D. Reimer, Mr. and Mrs. F. Rivett, Mr. and Mrs. B. Saddler, Mr. and Mrs. D. Breckenridge, Miss L. Cloutier, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Hill.

Invited, but unable to attend were Miss B. Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. G. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. F. Leslie, Miss J. DesJardines, Mr. and Mrs. N. Flury, Mr. and Mrs. E. Robertson, Miss Lea and Terry Flury and Mr. and Mrs. M. Funk.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Quinn and Mrs. Brenderland.

Members of the Beta Rho Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi heard a very interesting talk on metabolic diseases by Dr. David Hardwick of UBC last week. Dr. Hardwick, who in addition to being a professor at the university, is a pathologist and works with the Children's Hospital, is a most entertaining speaker and the guests sat for more than two hours asking questions about the metabolic diseases which are so damaging to children and must be detected early in order to be treated. The talk tied in with the sorority's interest in these diseases as they are sponsoring the drive to purchase a nuclear counter for the Children's Hospital and to further this end have set up the Vicki Ann Jorgensen Memorial Fund.

A number of local groups are helping the fund and if you are interested in making a donation you may do so through the Royal Bank or the Bank of Nova Scotia who would be happy to accept your donations.

No wonder residents along Wilson Crescent and McNamee Place are concerned about parking and the use of their streets for the construction of the new apartments. Last week a gravel truck was stuck and for over four hours while it was being pulled out the residents were subjected to the noise and confusion which ensued.

When will they start using the road which was built at the north end of the property and take the traffic away from the crescent?

Birthday greetings go to Rose Lampert and her sister Violet Antosh who both celebrated their birthdays last week, and to John Fyles who celebrated his tenth birthday last week.

Alta Lake News

By JENNY BUSDON

At the last directors' meeting of the Chamber of Commerce there was some concern expressed on the recent press release by the Olympic Committee on having achieved the Canadian Olympic Association's endorsement for the 1980 Games. In this release it was stated that accommodation by normal growth at Whistler would be sufficient for the Olympics — which simply puts it into a nutshell that there is every possibility this area may not obtain a sewage system by staging the Olympics here. The Chamber originally gave support to the staging of the 1980 Olympics provided initial funding was given to begin a sewer system and therefore the feeling was that if the area will not receive any lasting benefit from the Games, the Chamber should withdraw its support.

In this regard a letter was drafted to Mayor Art Phillips of Vancouver and a motion was passed at the last general meeting of the Chamber held October 12th, to forward this to the Mayor, who heads the Olympic Committee. It may be of interest to readers to know the contents of this letter, and I set it out below:

"Congratulations on your success in achieving the Canadian Olympic Association endorsement for the 1980 Olympics. We are sure that with step one out of the way you must feel that the possibilities of the Olympics is now much closer.

We agree that the Olympics is much closer, and we are now more fearful and more apprehensive than in the past.

Land values are already out of proportion to the rest of the region and speculation is high. Building emphasis is on speedy construction rather than quality and rents are as high, or higher, than most monthly wages.

These trends are going to escalate as the Olympics get closer and is part of the price we are going to pay for the Olympics. We therefore must have positive assurance now that the Olympic's will leave a lasting legacy that will compensate. We urgently need a comprehensive development plan and creation of a unified sewage and water system, an off highway road pattern, underground wiring and pedestrian walkways along water.

It is the opinion of this Chamber that your statement "accommodation by normal growth will be sufficient for the Olympics" is indicative of Olympic funding not being available to achieve our community goals. Without positive assurance that the Olympics will achieve these goals we are prepared to withdraw our support, for we would be better off without an Olympic bid and regain normal growth."

A form letter from the Department of Municipal Affairs was received by the Chamber advising of the Local Initiatives Programme for 1973-74. It was felt we should take advantage of this and on behalf of the Chamber I have applied for a grant to create a walk trail along the River of Golden Dreams — so it is now just a matter of waiting to see if we can obtain the grant to do this. If we do, work would begin to clear a trail in December of this year, but due to our heavy snow conditions in the following months work would have to recommence in April, May and June of '74. If Manpower likes our project and allocates us the grant we are allowed to pay a maximum of $100 a week per man, so we would be looking for some reliable help. Ladies, be prepared. If you are handy with a pick and shovel we just may be looking for some women's lib power and strength to get this trail underway!!

The Regional District has submitted the attachment to Bylaw 20 with regard to the possible new parking bylaw to come into effect this winter if it is accepted, to the Municipal Affairs office in Victoria. To date nothing further has been heard by the Regional District. But the Department of Highways are so sure that it will be passed that they are going ahead with signs. A sign would be illuminated at the "Welcome to Whistler" sign near Malloch & Mosely camp and another would be erected north of the north entrance of Emerald Estates. Similar signs, but not illuminated, would be placed at the entrance of the various subdivisions.

For the first time since the Regional District came into being we just may have an election called to elect the man we wish to represent this area on the Squamish/Lillooet Regional District. I hear both Jack Bright and Don Gow have filed papers — and there is still time for others who may be interested in running for election. Closing date for papers to be filed is noon, Monday, October 29th at the Regional District office in Pemberton.

Also hear that Al and Nancy Raine have purchased District Lot 3077 — approximately 80 acres south east of Lost Lake on Blackcomb creek. Just wonder what they have up their sleeves!!

Heritage Village

The Squamish Arts Council invited members of the SCA to join them on a trip to Heritage Village in Burnaby on October 27th. Judging by the response at the Senior Citizens Meeting last Tuesday, there will be a full bus load.

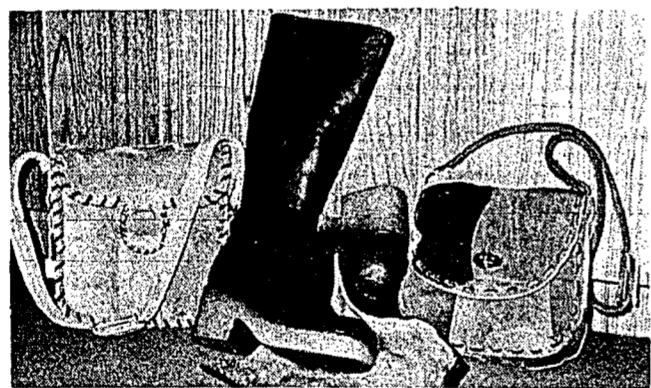

The bonds purchased earlier with the funds from the estate of the late Ed Brown have been re-invested at 8 1/2 per cent with the Bank of Montreal until such time as a suitable project has been agreed upon by the membership.

Sam Bonde, the chairman, reminded members that he had application forms for Old Age Security Courtesy Cards.

An additional $100 has been turned over to the Benevolent Fund.

With elections for the next year coming up soon a Nominating Committee was appointed, made up of Mrs. R. Bruce, Mrs. K. Hurren, Mrs. D. Barnfield and George Nesbit.

As attendance has been down at the last two meetings the Telephone Committee was urged to get busy and remind members of the next meeting on November 20th.

MR. AND MRS. STEVEN BILLY

Mary Natrall wed at St. Joseph's

Bouquets of chrysanthemums decorated St. Joseph's Catholic Church on Saturday, Oct. 20 for the 5:30 wedding of Mary Jane Natrall and Steven Michael Billy.

Rev. Father Campbell read the marriage service for the daughter of Mrs. Marjorie Natrall and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Billy, all of Squamish.

The bride chose a long flowered gown in shades of pink and mauve with a matching hat of coral pink and a white shawl and carried a nosegay bouquet in pink.

Her matron of honor, Mrs. Donna Gardner wore a long purple gown with white accent and carried a nosegay of purple flowers.

The four flower girls, Mavis and Shirley Lewis and Jennie and Patsy Wallave wore pantsuits in navy and pink and carried matching pink nosegays. Richard Billy was his brother's best man and ushers were Jerry and Les Downing.

At the reception in Totem Hall which followed the ceremony Richard Billy proposed the toast to the bride.

The young couple plan to live in Squamish. Out of town guests included the bride's brothers Frank Natrall, Harry Campbell, Robert Campbell, Harold

Squamish Decorators official opening

A new business has been formed in Squamish with Ross Gauthier as owner-manager of Squamish Decorators, which is holding its official opening in the former Paragon Cleaners building on Saturday, Oct. 27.

Gauthier, who has been in the floor covering and drapery business for 35 years and who has been working in Squamish for the past year and a half, has renovated the building and is installing a full line of floor coverings including carpets, tile, and linoleum as well as custom made draperies and bedspreads.

Other decorating supplies include shower curtains, bath accessories and imported wool rugs from Greece. In addition he will carry wall paper by Schumacher of New York and a line of swag and table lamps.

Ross Gauthier has worked on a number of large orders in Squamish in the time he has been here and is currently supplying a portion of the carpeting and doing all the floor installations at the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Carney and will be supplying carpets and draperies for the redecoration of the Credit Union building.

He is well acquainted with the needs and requirements of home builders, home owners and businesses and is ready to supply whatever they wish in the line of floor coverings and draperies.

In addition he will provide a decorating service where you may come in and consult him or his staff on your needs.

Don't forget to drop in and see the official opening of this newest decorating service for Squamish and to see what it has to offer.

Those Greek wool rugs are wonderful!

BLOCK BROS. REALTY LTD.

We've had a busy week — Statistics for October 15-22
SOLD $205,000 NEW LISTINGS $130,000

These are transactions done by Myrtle Lovlin and Bruce Copp in Squamish. Call us for RESULTS.

Open House — On Sat. 1-5, follow the arrows! Bring an offer on this spacious family home located on quiet street in Brackendale. Terrific value in this 3 bdrm., full basement home. Immediate possession.

Another 'unmobile' home in Brackendale Park! Three bdrm. model, large garage on fenced lot. B.C. second mortgages are now available on these homes.

Beautiful residential lot for the imaginative home builder. Seclusion and view on three-quarter acres.

Mobile Home — On a large quiet corner lot. In immaculate condition, may be purchased furnished or unfurnished. Has 1/2 rm. addition, plus covered, cemented carport.

Bracken Park — The nicest landscaped home in this exclusive park on its own 66x120 foot lot. This home is no longer mobile and rests on its own cement foundation. Many additions have been made and the price is very reasonable.

Whistler Mountain — Investor or ski bum? This 5 bedroom, 3 floor home is only 16 months old. Two sets of plumbing, large lot rented for 7 months during winter at $450.00 per month.

Thinking of selling? Give us a call we have buyers for acreage, houses and lots. Buying? We can assist with financing or with the sale of your present home by guaranteeing you a price for it. N.B. Our exclusives are in name only. If any salesman (lady) from any other firm wishes to sell their client some of our property we co-operate 100%.

Brand New — Garibaldi Highlands, 3 bedrooms, large basement. Big covered sundeck almost 1300 square feet. Double carport, bring offers. Open House — Saturday, 1-5, follow arrows.

Ayre Drive — Somebody (everybody) is missing a good buy on this property. Three bedrooms, one-half acre of private park, view of Squamish Valley. An excellent family home with real good value, owner-transferred and must sell.

Comings and Goings

Mr. and Mrs. L. Long were in Squamish on the weekend before leaving for a holiday in the Canary Islands.

Squamish welcomes Tom J.W. Stacey who is now working as the new bartender in the Chieftain Lounge. Tom came here from Vancouver a month ago and is now residing in Squamish.

Mrs. Mae Stack spent a few days with her daughter and son-in-law in Merritt.

A new broom may sweep clean but it takes the old one to know where the dust is.

Alan Newbert has come from Edmonton to work in Squamish. While here he is staying with his uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Clarke.

Mrs. Norman Halvorson and

Mrs. Thor Halvorson have returned from a week's holiday in Salt Lake City.

Friends and neighbors gathered to wish Mrs. Denise Redford every happiness in her new home in San Diego at a farewell party held for her last Wednesday by Mrs. Elizabeth Lange, Dr. and Mrs. Redford and family leave next week for California.

Sorry to hear that Martin Olsen, for many years a resident of the Squamish valley, passed away in Abbotsford on Oct. 18. Funeral services were held in Abbotsford on Monday, Oct. 22 at 1 p.m.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Pat Mulhern (Roberta Armstrong), on the birth of a daughter Rebecca Dawn, born in Lions Gate Hospital on Wednesday, Oct. 3 and weighing eight pounds, two ounces, a granddaughter for Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Armstrong of Prince George and Mr. and Mrs. J. Mulhern of Squamish.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Greg Enright on the birth of a son in Vancouver on Wednesday, Oct. 10.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Silverthorne recently spent an enjoyable holiday in Big Creek, Sask., where they attended the 60th wedding anniversary of his uncle and aunt.

Mrs. Irma Mitchell has returned from a nine day bus tour of San Francisco and Reno and found the weather and trip delightful.

Gordon Sellers and Harry McCulloch were in Banff last week attending a special meeting for United Church men. They were joined by Rev. H. M. Wingfield of Lake Cowichan who also attended the conference.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Billy have returned from a month's holiday in England where they visited her relatives.

Set Your Clocks

Oct. 28 at 2 a.m. it's time to fall back! But don't worry, we're just retreating to Pacific Standard Time from Daylight Saving. Just remember, if you go to bed, for instance, at 11 p.m. Oct. 27, set your clock back to 10.

Ball game cancelled

The basketball performance by the Harlem Clowns, scheduled for the high school gym last Saturday, has been cancelled due to difficulties in arrival of the plane which was bringing them from Hong Kong. They will be in Squamish on Nov. 17 instead and will put on their dazzling display of basketball fireworks for you on that date.

Blind people read too. Each month in the year 6,000 Canadians enjoy the recorded and Brailled books of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

SECOND SECTION — PAGE 9

MAYBE YOU THINK that wasn't a soggy field but just take a look at the water those players are plowing through at the Chiefs game against New Westminster.

(all football photos by Don Lloyd)

Chiefs defeat New Westminster

Even a torrential downpour which left the football field at the high school a quagmire didn't stop the Chiefs from defeating New Westminster by a score of 18-6 on Saturday afternoon.

Players should have been wearing wet suits instead of football garb but those couldn't have been any more slippery than the mud-spattered teams were at the conclusion of the game.

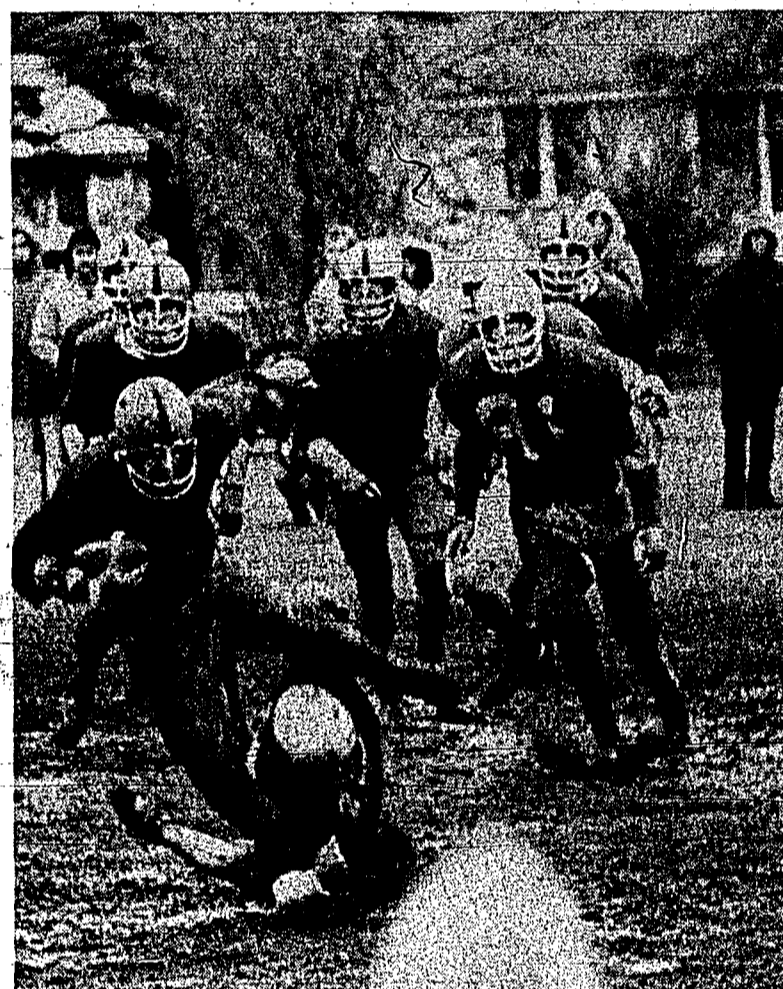

Touchdowns were scored by Robin Dickinson on an interception runback; by Terry James on a 30 yard pass from Brian Marchant and by Les Laventure on a 8 yard run pass.

This brings the Chiefs record to four wins to two losses. There were a lot of interceptions and a number of fumbles, due to the wet weather and the slippery ball but quarterback Brian Marchant completed seven out of ten passes for a total of 130 yards in the air.

Ground play was limited because of the sogginess of the field but totalled 60 yards on the ground.

Terry James was an outstanding player with five passes for a total of 70 yards.

The wet weather didn't stop the fans who turned out in boots, raincoats and umbrellas to watch the game.

Interested in learning Kung Fu?

Are you interested in learning Kung Fu? If you are the Squamish Recreation Commission will be offering Kung Fu classes in Squamish starting on the first of November.

Classes will be held in the Stawamus Elementary School gym on Monday and Thursday between 7 and 9 p.m. and fees for the course are $20 with a registration fee of $3.00.

The teacher will be Sifu Raymond Leung, the only English speaking Kung Fu Master on the west coast. He is currently running classes at UBC, the Grandview Community Centre, Pemberton and in his own academy in Vancouver.

Born in China only 26 years ago Sifu Leung runs a kwoon (kung fu school) in Vancouver as well as being chief instructor of the UBC and SFU kung fu clubs. He is also the founder and director of the Vancouver Kung Fu Association and the Chinese Martial Association of Canada.

The origins of kung fu are unknown but historians believe it began in the Sil Lim (Shaolin) Temple around the year 525 A.D.

The self defense movements of the Sil Lin Temple resemble those of various animals who inspired the martial arts techniques; the powerful strike of the leopard's paw, the darting thrust of the snake's fangs, the thrashing motion of the dragon's tail and the raking stroke of the tiger's claws.

Kung Fu is an art of six harmonies; the inner three harmonies of ching (strength) chi (inner energy) and shen (spirit) and the outer three harmonies of arms, legs and hands.

The foundation of kung fu is in the legs which provide a firm, yet free base from which to execute the various techniques. Initial detection of an attack depends on the ability of the eyes to distinguish the movements of an opponent. Upon attack the head determines the strength of the opponent's attack or defence.

Ching is displayed in any technique that requires force to meet force, such as in the breaking of a brick; whereas chi is employed to exert force in unison with oncoming force this upsetting the balance of an opponent. Chi is much superior to ching. Shen the ultimate kung fu, enables one simply to evade the force of an oncoming attack.

If you are interested in this "art" of self defense be sure to turn out for the classes which will be starting at the beginning of November.

SECOND PLACE FOR BOB OSTERGARD

Bob Ostergard of Squamish, who has been racing for the past three years placed second in the Canadian championships in the Formula V class in Edmonton last week.

The races were held in the prairie city on the 13th and 14th of October.

Ostergard first started actual racing in 1971 when he competed in the races at Westwood and placed fifth in the Canadian championships.

SPORTS

Dorothy Dawson has been elected president of the Squamish Valley Golf and Country Club Ladies Division at the annual meeting in the club house on Tuesday evening Oct. 16.

Mrs. W. Galley is vice-president, Mrs. A. Hendrickson secretary, Mrs. J. Brock treasurer with Mrs. Jim Hurren as ladies day captain and Mrs. R. Chapman as ladies day vice-captain.

Reports on the activities of the club during the past year were given at the annual meeting with Captain Faith Nelson reporting there had been good attendance on all ladies' days and a good turnout for the tournaments.

The Business Girls' captain, Lundy Candy said they had a good turnout of business girls for their Tuesday evening games during the season and that their fall handicap was a great success with 20 of the 25 players who received invitations to attend taking part in the event. Following the close of the business meeting the ladies enjoyed delicious refreshments served by the social committee.

At the Tuesday, Oct. 16 competitions Zelma Lamb took the all over competition with a low gross 97.

Faith Nelson was the winner of the competition on the first nine holes.

Wrestling on Friday

Wrestling fans will be pleased to hear that the Squamish Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion is again sponsoring a wrestling season with the first matches taking place in the gym at the high school on Friday, commencing at 8 p.m.

The main bout will be between The Brute and Sean Reagan but there will be a number of other matches.

These will include a four man tag team of Sika Anoi and Sfa Anoi versus Buck Ramstad and Frenchy Martin; Ivan Zarnoff versus Pat O'Brien and Ray Glenn vs. Eric Froelich. Tickets are as usual $2.50 for those under 12 years of age. Only $2.50 tickets will go on pre-sale. Tickets are available at Merv Foot's, the Legion, Mackenzies and the Highland Grocery.

Wrestling fans will be pleased to see the return of their popular sport event and the high school gymnasium will be a popular place on Friday evening when they gather to watch the exciting antics of the grunt and groan squad.

First for new Squamish ski tow

Squamish ski-tow manufacturer, Hans Schaefer, scored a first for North America this summer when he installed a portable T-bar tow on the glacier bowl at Whistler.

The 1,400 foot lift, providing a vertical drop of 650 feet, has a permanent top and bottom station set into the rock and floating foundations for the towers which stand on the ice.

Along with cable tows also built by Schaefer the T-bar was used by about 500 young skiers attending the Toni Sailer summer ski camp.

The longer run provided by the T-bar has made Whistler into North America's number one summer ski camp according to one of the camp's directors, Alan White.

The camp had more applications than it could handle this year and will probably be expanding next year. Plans include an adult camp with skiing training programs, evening entertainment and possibly helicopter skiing.

This year the 500 young people had an average age of 13 with the youngest being nine. As well as skiing the participants enjoyed a wide range of recreational activities including sailing, swimming, tennis, horseback-riding, volleyball and canoeing.

Nancy Greene Raine and Toni Sailer directed the skiing sections of the camp while the recreational section was directed by Wayne Booth and freestyle skiing by Wayne Wong.

Eleven finish in car club rally on weekend

Eleven cars finished out of the 14 which entered the Datsun Car Club of B.C.'s Bosch-Gemini Rally held on roads in the Squamish area on the weekend of Oct. 20-21.

The rally, which covered a total of 250 miles, mostly MacMillan Bloedel and Malloch and Moseley logging roads, started in Park Royal in West Vancouver at 9 p.m. and the first car completed the run at the Chieftain Hotel in Squamish at 6:30 a.m. on Sunday.

Three Datsuns ended in the top three places with the team of Gordon Lansdell and Tom Burgess of North Vancouver in first place with 253 points. In second place was the More-Fairhall team with 551 points, followed by the Stashyn-Moffat team with 600.

Gordon Lansdell said this gave them the first overall award, the first in the equipped class and the first Datsun, as well as the team win as the top three cars planned to start as a team. He added that it sewed up the regional championship for the year as they have won the past four rallies in a row.

Lansdell has been driving in rallies for the past 12 years while Burgess has been in the sport for 14 and Burgess said this rally was particularly difficult from a navigator's point of view. When asked what a navigator's duties were he said, "I keep him on the route and on time. We don't see the route in advance and have to follow the instructions we are given."

"Penalty points are assessed if you are too early or too late at a check-point," he said, "and last night it wasn't too early, but too late due to the road conditions." There were 27 check points on the 250 mile route and these were manned by people with clocks. "They are the real heroes of a rally," Lansdell said, "and last night in the rain and cold they were really great."

Lansdell said the rally was a lot of fun, and a real challenge with lots of mud and mud holes.

"It was fairly tough," he said, "but fast, largely because of the back roads where speed limits, unless posted are 50 miles per hour. We are supposed to keep at 40 miles per hour on other roads unless posted otherwise."

He said a rally is held despite weather conditions and as long as one car can go through it is considered to be a contest.

"We're like the Royal Mail," he said, "we must go through!" Toivo Heintonen who drove a Fiat 124 coupe in the rally said he was fairly new to the sport and found the road rough but the event was a good experience. He couldn't speak too highly of the hospitality of the people in the area, in Squamish and at Whistler.

The participants ate at Rudy's Steak House at Whistler and gathered for breakfast at the Chieftain Hotel where the rally ended.

Laurie Painvarinta, another driver, said he found the conditions pretty grim with streams flowing over road and having to be crossed; some back roads washed out quite badly and mud conditions with leaves on top of the mud making conditions very greasy.

Painvarinta, who drove a Renault in the rally, said this slowed some of the drivers quite a bit.

They were unanimous in saying that it had been a good rally, they would like to come back again and they couldn't speak too highly about the hospitality of the people in the area.

Golden Age bowlers

The Hopeful Mac's, with 13 points, are the leading team in the Golden Age Bowling League, followed by the Swingers with 11 points and the Cut-ups right behind with 10.

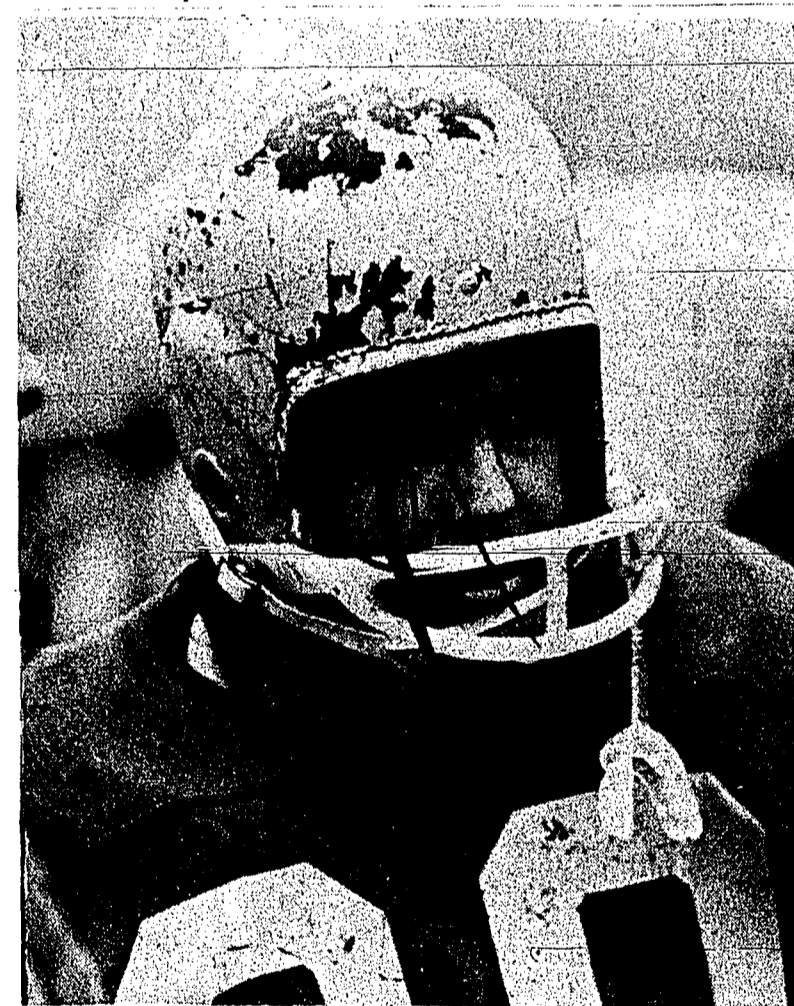

Same Bonde has the highest average among the men with 209 but Scott MacDonald is right behind with 202 and Ed Chadwick third with 181.

Among the ladies Alice Bonde has the highest average with 188, Eileen Johnston is next with 179 and Bess Maveety is third with 169.

Scott MacDonald's high three total of 739 tops the men, Sam Bonde is next with 729 and Ed Chadwick third with 647. Eileen Johnston leads the ladies with 615, Alice Bonde is second with 591 and Freda Clarke third with 503.

Scott MacDonald also leads in the high single with 279; with Ed Chadwick second with 273 and Elex Johnston third with 213. Agnes MacDonald has the ladies high with 245, followed by Eileen Johnston with 240 and Esie Marsh third with 229.

JIM GUNN making a spectacular tackle on the muddy field last Saturday.

ROBIN DICKINSON was plastered with mud at last Saturday's football game.

Youth Bowling

The Youth Bowling Club is off and running for another season with the registration higher than ever before. There are 75 members in the group with 35 in the Jets and the remainder in the Bantams.

The youngsters are doing very well with Shyenne Odenbach having the high game of 240 in the Bantams, aged 9 to 15. Terry McGregor and Heather Lewis are running close seconds while Randy Cochran and Barry Fryer are almost tied in the 190's.

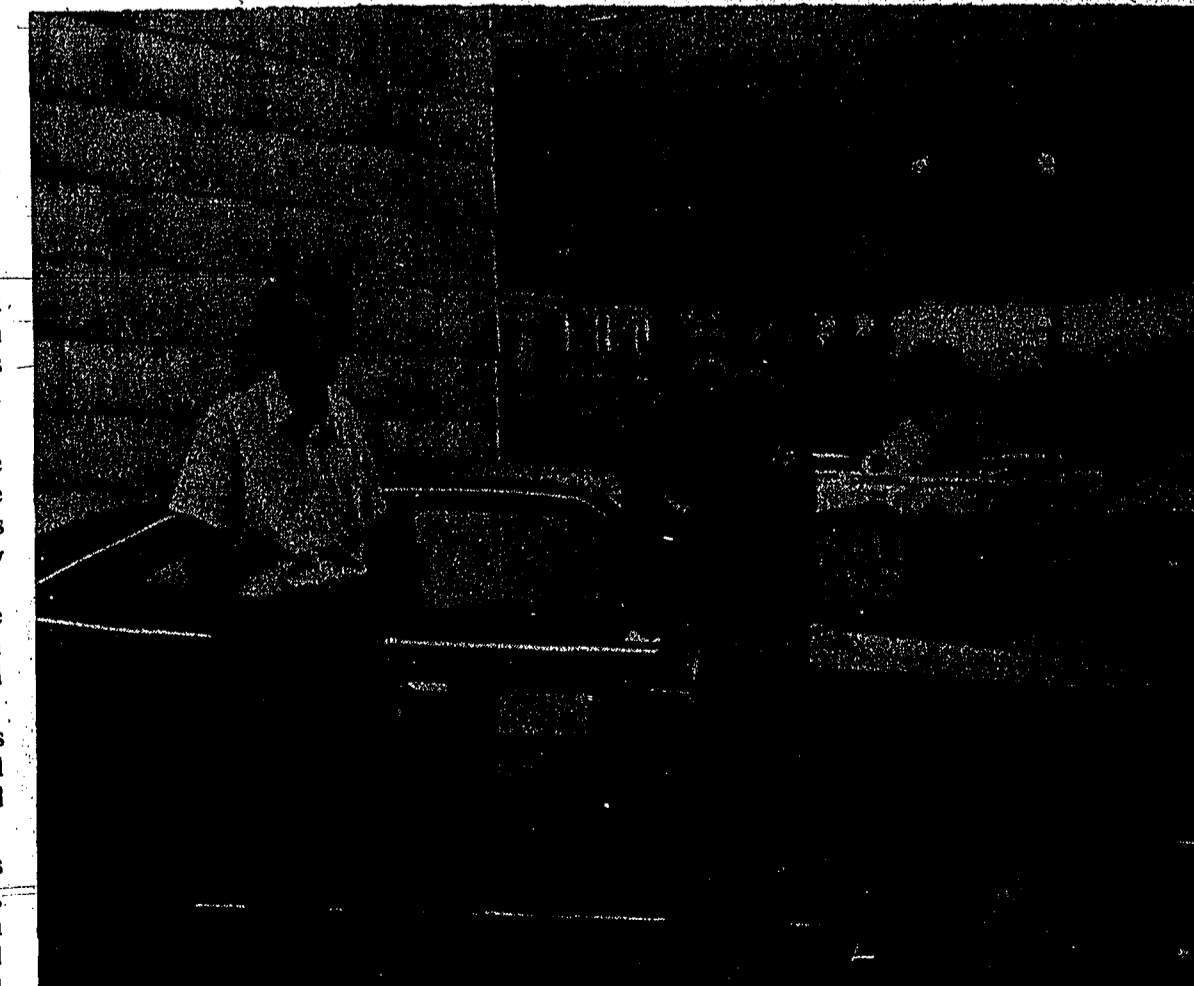

Donny Hurry has the high game of 127 in the Jets, aged 5 to 8, with Denise Stewart, 11 and Denise Fairhurst with 112.

The top boys are Ricky Hurrle with 119, Paul Paddison, 115 and Mike Marlow, 100.

Several tournaments are coming up for the young bowlers and they should find them both interesting and challenging.

Merit badges will be handed out every few weeks for the young bowlers who have earned them and they will be mementos of their play in the Youth Bowling Club.

The youngsters are always pleased to have the parents turn out to watch their game and they would specially welcome them as there is always a shortage of score keepers, especially for the older children.

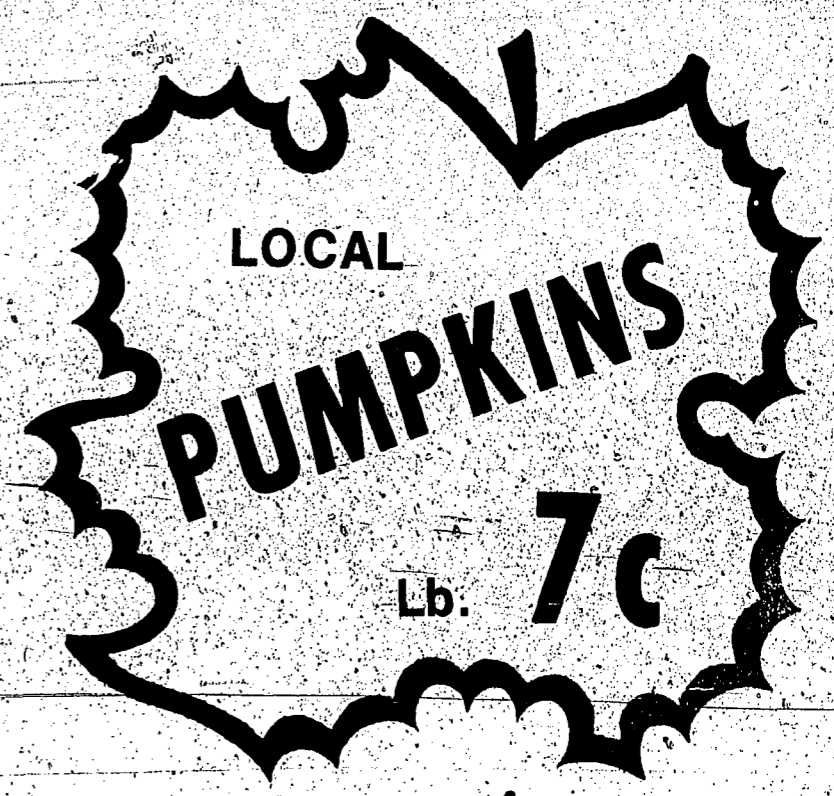

NAVIGATOR TOM BURGESS, left, and driver Gordon Lansdell, winners of the Datsun Car Club of B.C.'s Bosch-Gemini Rally held in Squamish on the weekend. That's a Datsun 1200 he drove to victory.

Financing for Business

On Thursday, October 25, one of our representatives will be at the Chieftain Hotel, Squamish.
Telephone: 892-5222

Thousands of enterprises in Canada have obtained loans from IDB to acquire land, buildings, or machinery, to supplement working capital, to start a new business, or for other sound business purposes.

If you need financing for a business proposal and are unable to obtain it elsewhere on reasonable terms and conditions, perhaps IDB can help you.

North Vancouver, B.C.

Tel: 980-6571

2500 people, from ten outdoor and hiking or skiing clubs, have asked the Hon. Jack Radford, Minister of Recreation and Conservation to reopen the lodge at Diamond Head as before and to provide a few services which were formerly available.

These include overnight accommodation, prepared meals for overnight guests and day visitors, transportation to and from the lodge to base camp both winter and summer and the road to base camp to be kept open and in good condition both in winter and summer from the highway to base camp.

The group feels very strongly that the lodge should be preserved as a land mark and hoped the government would look favorably on their request.

Ski and outdoor clubs represented in the Vancouver section of the Alpine Club of Canada, Cross Country Touring Club, North Shore Hikers Club, Outsetters Club, Odin Lodge of the Sons of Norway, Squamish Ski and Outdoor Club, Inside Edge Ski Club, Simon Fraser Outdoor Club, Grouse Mountain Tyee Ski Club and the Tyrol Ski Club.

Meanwhile the department is keeping the small cabin at the lodge open for hikers and those planning to stay overnight and there is a two man crew working on the buildings.

Jim Delikatney, park supervisor, says the chalet will be open on a day basis with the small cabin available for overnight visitors. He also said he did not know if there would be transportation to and from base camp this winter or not.

Soccer exchange set for weekend

The Kirkland-Squamish soccer exchange will take place this weekend with Kirkland coming to Squamish on Oct. 27, and they will be met at the Squamish Elementary School at 2 p.m. for the exchange of billets for all except those teams which will be staying at Britannia Beach.

These will be met at Britannia Beach and the teams will be billeted there are the Finn Hill Rams, Finn Hill Flyers and Finn Hill Cowboys.

Squamish will be going to Kirkland on Saturday, Nov. 3 and the teams will leave Squamish from the elementary school at 9 a.m. and will arrive in Kirkland by 2 p.m. Exchange for all teams will take place at the Juanita Elementary School.

All games between the two will be played at Centennial Field except for the Britannia teams, whose games will be played at Britannia Beach.

Schedules for the games are as follows with a coaches game planned for the beginning of the soccer exchange. This should be interesting with the local coaches pitted against the visitors especially when there are four lady coaches with the teams coming from Kirkland. This is scheduled for 11 a.m.

SEAN REAGAN, featured in main bout on Friday's wrestling card.

One of my grandsons phoned me last night to tell me that he had got his first moose, and it gave me more of a lift than any of the animals I ever bagged myself. His dad bought him a 308 Savage rifle with a four power Bushnell scopechief with post. He brought it down last summer and we took it up the valley and lined it up. He shot very well with it so I was sure that if he got a fair chance he would get his moose. I bought each of my grandsons a 22 rifle when they were quite young and it has really paid off.

I can hear some people saying that a boy should not be encouraged to hunt. There is nothing wrong with starting a boy to hunt quite young as long as he is taught to be a good sportsman and not allowed to take advantage of game such as potshooting game from a car or from a road or boat. Twenty years ago it did not matter how a man got his game as there were very few hunters in the woods. Now the hunters are so thick on weekends that it's a lot safer to stay home.

Several people have asked me why I haven't bagged a deer for several years and I told them all that, I would have felt guilty if I did, and when the herds build up I would take one if I needed it. Then they came up with much used remark that if I saw a buck and didn't shoot it someone else would. This is wrong. If you let a buck go he has better than a fifty fifty chance of living through the overlong hunting season.

I have seen six deer this fall. One yearling doe feeding along the road by Dave Magee's fence. I have seen two willow grouse on the road this fall. Some people either can't read or don't care, I saw two fellows with guns get out of a car thirty feet from a no hunting sign Dave, has along the road, they were going to hunt but I called them back and pointed out the sign, also another sign a legal distance up the road. I told them that if they drove up past the tree farm gate they could hunt. However they turned around and headed down the road.

Richard Correa of the Hundred Mile Free Press who is their inquiring reporter interviewed some people on the question of hunting, below is a fair cross section of the results.

Bob Windsor, Vancouver
Game is getting scarcer and scarcer and the government knows it but they're not doing anything about it because of the revenue they get on hunting licences and tags. It's big money. They're going to get everything they can out of it.

Jack Moseley, 70 Mile House
It's a heck of a good idea. It gives you something to do recreation wise and it's especially good if you need meat. But game is getting pretty scarce. There should be a ban on everything for a couple of years.

Damon Morris, Bradley Creek
There isn't any game left, all I've heard is one shot all season. You hardly see any game along the road anymore. They should shut off antlerless seasons and in time the situation would take care of itself.

Barry Vilac, Lac La Hache
They should shut hunting down completely. There isn't enough game left. I've been out a couple times this year but I saw more hunters than game. They should just let the Indians on the reserves hunt. No one from out of the country should be allowed to come up here and hunt. Nobody's getting much game anyway. It would give the game a chance. I think it would take about five years before there is enough game again.

Emmett Caraker, South Africa
I've been fishing and hunting all my life in Europe, Africa, South America, North America and the Orient. The outdoors is the greatest thing man could be interested in outside of his family. I only take the amount of game I know I will eat and enjoy. I've no objections to hunting at all if it is controlled and done right. Most of the problems in hunting are caused by inexperienced novices who have had no training and don't know how to hunt or where to hunt. A real sportsman isn't going to do any harm.

Leonore Ogden, Lac La Hache
As long as a person needs the meat he should be able to go out and get it. But people should watch what they are shooting at before they shoot. And there's a lot of drinking that goes along with hunting. That I don't agree with.

Here we have six different views on the question. It makes one wonder where Bob Windsor has been that he hasn't noticed the improvement in game regulations in the last year and that there is a lot more improvements coming for next year. I agree with Leonore Ogden's view provided there is enough game to hunt. If I had to pick a winner of these six people on their views it would be tough to decide between Emmett Caraker and Barry Vilac. They both have good points but I think Mr. Caraker would win the nod.

Bingo bowling

Bingo bowling is a great success in Squamish.

Friday evening saw the first Bingo Bowl and everyone had a great time. If you think you get lots of head pins and splits in league play then you should try bingo and see how hard they are to get when you need them.

Bingo winners last Friday were Margo Malcolm, Barbara Downer, George Binning and Norm Saugstad.

Bingo bowling takes place on Fridays at 7 p.m.

Council to study Dropout reasons

The School Community Council will study the reason for the number of dropouts in the Howe Sound Secondary School last year where 60 students left the school. She will be contacting these former students left the school. Mrs. Heidenreich will be contacting these former students by telephone or by mail to determine their reasons for leaving, their future plans, whether or not the school prepared them for life and she will be asking whether there is anything which could be done to better prepare these former students for life.

She will also contact a number of outside people to see what research has been done on the question of high school dropouts.

The book "Now and Then" was discussed and Mr. Greenwood said this book, compiled by the counselling staff last year, will be republished and redistributed again this year.

Career day is planned for Grade 12 students in December and there will be another one early in the spring.

Duties of the Indian home-school co-ordinator were discussed and the concept of a home-school co-ordinator for all students was considered. The amount of time allotted for parent-teacher interviews also came up for discussion and Mr. Hughes said more time would be available this year.

Jane Anne Manson suggested that the services of a home-school co-ordinator might be useful to the students and a committee was set up to investigate the matter further, including a meeting with Mr. Lewis and to bring the report back to the next meeting.

From the Pemberton Valley

By Shirley Henry

The U.C.W. would like to extend a sincere thank you to all those who supported their Harvest Luncheon on Wednesday, October 17.

As usual the ladies served a delicious meal of turkey with all the trimmings and homemade pumpkin pie.

Next project of the U.C.W. is their annual Bazaar to be held on November 23 at 7 p.m. in the Community Hall.

Featured will be sewing, knitting, craft items, candles, fish pond, white elephant sale, and of course a bake sale and tea. Make sure to mark this date on your calendar now.

Condolences go out to Mrs. Adolph Leo and family of Mt. Currie, on the sudden death of Adolf Leo.

A speedy recovery to Robin Menzel who was seriously injured in a recent logging accident.

Zone chairman Don Morley of North Vancouver with three other North Van Lions, visited the Pemberton Lions Club on Wed., Oct. 17. Attending from the Squamish Lions Club was Lion Peter Gordon.

Lion Bob Priest was given a standing ovation from the club in recognition of his "Bowl of Hygiene" award.

A work bee is to be held on Sunday, October 21 to complete the shaking of the old school house.

Some discussion was held regarding the future of the ski hill. The club would like to turn over the operation to another group but would still like to remain affiliated.

A ladies night is planned for Nov. 7 at the Birkenhead lodge.

An apology to Fireman Doug Newberry for omitting his name in a recent write-up. Glad you enjoyed that second filey Doug!

Many comments are being heard lately regarding all the litter around the village lately. Please, use the litter barrels made available.

Pemberton residents should be watching for a new revised bus schedule which is planned to come in effect before Christmas. Plans call for return daily service to and from Vancouver, seven days a week. This should make all the housewives happy!

Don't forget the movie at the Community Hall this week — it's Walt Disney's "Boatniks" with Phil Silvers. Show time is 8 p.m. Thursday, October 25, and Saturday, October 27.

Don't forget your donations for the Halloween festivities!

Get well wishes to Ed Giguere who is in hospital with a broken elbow, and to all other Pemberton residents who may be in hospital, a speedy recovery to all.

AUDREY ECCLES and Lynne Renville chatting at the get-together for teachers and their wives or husbands at Pemberton last week.

MRS. S. ILLES and Mrs. Diane Eby chatting at the get-together for teachers at Pemberton last week.

Pemberton hosts Institute meeting

Members of the North Fraser District Board of the women's institute met in Pemberton on Wednesday, October 3, at the home of district vice-president, Mrs. Freida Mitchell.

Among those attending were Mrs. Olive Leaf, president from Whymock; Mrs. Leona Krefing, secretary-treasurer of Hane; directors — Mrs. Annie Barnes, Nicomen Island; Mrs. Edith Chambers — Port Coquitlam; and from the Pemberton W.I. — Mrs. F. E. Decker, Mrs. Sally Cherry, Mrs. Maud Ronayne, Mrs. Molly Ronayne and Mrs. Freida Mitchell.

The W.I. places emphasis on overseas work, assisting in the north country, and of course their work with the children's hospitals and solariums. Each year a competition is held with projects made donated to the children's hospitals, i.e., toys, clothing, etc.

Following their meeting, a lovely luncheon was prepared and served by the Pemberton W.I. women.

GUIDE LEADER WANTED FOR PEMBERTON

A guide leader is needed immediately if there is to be a Girl Guide and Brownie program in Pemberton. Assistance will be given a leader in helping her get organized.

Anyone who is willing to take on the guide leadership is asked to contact either Mrs. Dawn Ross, 894-6531 or Mrs. Beth Pipe, 894-6673.

Don't disappoint your young daughter. This is the last chance to restore the Guide and Brownie program in Pemberton!

Power Interruption - Pemberton Sunday, October 28th

To make electric system improvements, it will be necessary to interrupt service as follows:

1. From 08:30 to 12:00. Area affected is all of Pemberton east of the B.C. Hydro substation including Mt. Currie.
2. From 13:00 to 14:30. Area affected is all of Pemberton west of the substation including Pemberton Meadows.

To minimize inconvenience to our customers, every effort will be made to restore service promptly.

Many attend land reserve meeting

A good turnout of interested Pemberton citizens attended the public hearing regarding the Agricultural Land Reserve plans.

Mr. T.B.M. Fougberg, chairman of the Squamish Lillooet Regional District, chaired the meeting. Other members of the Regional District board who were present are: Mr. G. Smith, sec.-treasurer; Mr. Lovlin-Area B; Ald. McCartney-Squamish; Mr. McDonald-Area E; T.B.M. Fougberg-Area C; Mayor Sangster-Pemberton;

Mr. Gatzka-Area A; Mr. Hunter-Lillooet; Mr. Jawanda-municipal affairs.

Slides were shown explaining the farm land categories from 1 to 7. It was explained that it has nothing to do with economics of present, but that the purpose of the bill is to preserve land which could be developed as farm land in the future.

A few appeal forms were submitted which will be reviewed by the Regional District before being sent to Victoria. A question period followed the slide showing.

Pemberton High School News

By DEBBIE McEWAN

Next weekend, on October 27, the Harlem Comedy Kings will be playing against Pemberton in the High School gym at 8 p.m. Admission is: $1.50 for adults, and $1.25 for students. Advance tickets will be available to High School students at a reduced cost of $1.25 for adults and $1.00 for students.

The girls volleyball teams visited Howe Sound on Oct. 13, to participate in a tournament. Senior girls lost to Port Moody, and Yorkhouse and Beat Howe Sound. Junior girls won their games against Howe Sound and Port Moody but lost to Hillside by 2 points. The girls also visited Howe Sound again Thursday afternoon, and came home full victors. Unfortunately the soccer team wasn't as victorious, losing to Howe Sound Thursday 6-0.

House standing to date are House I - 17, House II - 10, and House III - 17.

The Students Council met Thursday noon, and among other things, decided to change the date of the Fun Fair to Nov. 8th, because other dates posted were too close to Halloween.

Friday noon the Council sponsored a successful hotdog sale.

Tuesday, the "Debating Club" met, Thursday the "Science and Puzzle Club" met, and Friday the "Annual Club" met.

The Grad: 10 and 11 English classes visited the Queen Elizabeth Theatre, Wednesday, and saw the play "Julius Caesar."

WCB reports on time loss

The Workmen's Compensation Board announced recently that there were 376 time-loss claims handled in the Squamish-Lillooet region last year including two claims involving fatalities.

Time-loss cases are those in which an injured worker is disabled for work beyond the day of injury.

Compensation for the Squamish-Lillooet region amounted to $388,917.

For the whole of B.C. there were 40,881 claims. Total costs for compensation benefits to all injured workers and dependents of fatally injured workmen reached a record high of $47,121,472 during 1972. Of this amount $20.6 million was paid in time-loss compensation and $9.5 million in medical aid. Reserves for pensions amounted to $16.9 million.
