Youngsters star in annual Amateur Hour

Council briefs

Council has asked B.C. Hydro for a 40-foot dedicated on the east side of the Hydro right-of-way to provide access to the new Legion building on Mamquam Road.

It was felt that a north-south connection between Garibaldi Way and Mamquam Road was desirable and that a hook at the north end of Diamond Road was no an acceptable traffic solution.

Council also recommended that the Legion be required to pay for an eight inch sewer main and that any extra cost for sizing be shared by the developers.

It was decided that a 20-foot reserve on the west side of the Legion property become a term of a Land use Contract for the development of that property.

Council approved the engineer's plans for the water line to serve the Dunhill Development in Brackendale. This will be a 12-inch ductile iron pressure line. It was stated that if any benefit was to be available to Mr. W. Dowad, the cost sharing should be between Dunhill Development Corp. Ltd. and Dowad Investment Corp. Ltd.

Council approved plans for the storm sewers on Axen Road and Depot Road which would be paid for in full by Dunhill Development Corp. Ltd.

Council reviewed a letter from R. H. Bockman who lives at the corner of Birken Road and Parkwood Place. It was recommended that a request to purchase a piece of property presently under lease should not be approved. Bockman was given permission to install a fence around the property but to make sure there was access at all times to a water line for maintenance.

Urban Program Planners is to be consulted regarding the aesthetics and density for the areas north, west and south of the proposed new road in Northridge.

Council reviewed a drawing of a dog pound supplied by Dr. Hoff of the Marine Drive Veterinary Clinic. The council is to meet with R. J. Ploch to discuss a proposal that a contract be entered into to provide a building to operate a dog pound and for a person to act as a dog-catcher for a minimum annual fee over a five- or ten-year period.

Council is to discuss the terms of the land contract with the Department of Lands before it goes into any expenditures for planning or servicing the light industrial park.

MARGARET HINDS, winner of the Harmony Trophy and the $25 cheque from the Squamish Arts Council.

GLEN ANDERSON, winner of the Leeworthy Trophy for the outstanding musician in the Amateur Hour.

PROUD FATHER Wendell Teel congratulates daughter Bonnie and Pat Wiebe after they won the Kiwanis prize of $50 for the outstanding performance at the Amateur Hour.

Four win top trophies, prizes

By ROSE TATLOW

It was a wonderful evening for the youngsters who took part in the 18th annual Amateur Hour, sponsored by the Harmony Unit of the United Church Women which saw them take the top awards in a varied program.

Margaret Hinds, who presented a ballet solo to "Annie's Song" received the coveted Harmony Trophy from Rev. Wayne MacKenzie, and a cheque for $25 from Arie Hoogenboom of the Squamish Arts Council.

Glenn Anderson received the Leeworthy Trophy as the most outstanding instrumentalist for his piano solo and Wendell Teel had the privilege of presenting the Kiwanis cheque for $50 to his daughter Bonnie and Pat Wiebe whose vocal and instrumental selections were judged to be the outstanding performance of the evening.

Judges for the competition were Jane Walker, Fred Leeworthy and Norman Saugstad and they had a difficult job selecting the winners from the excellent performances presented.

Other prize winners were Jackie Everett whose Highland dance the "Scottish Lilt" took first place in the child's single; Gordon Morrison who placed second with his trumpet solo "Claire de Lune" and Suzanne Edwards who placed third with her piano solo "Pineapple Rag." First place in the child's group went to Tracey Rempel and Debbie Sadler with a clarinet duo "Space Age Shuffle" and "Blowing Bubbles," and Tim Lowinger and Cheryl Robinson with a clarinet duet "Moon River."

First place in the team section went to Susan Gatzke for her solo dance "A Tribute to J.L. McKenzie" while in second place in the singles ten division was Theresa Birss who sang "Daisy Day."

The group teen awards went to the Stawamus School Band and the combined bands of both the Stawamus School and the high school.

There were 23 items on the program and they presented a varied fare with dance routines, musical selections and songs. It was a well rounded program with the only lack being in the adult field which was not represented.

The school bands performed in three numbers including "Samba Sauce" with the Stawamus School Band, "Blue Rock" by the high school band and "California Dreaming" played by the combined bands.

Instrumental selections also included an accordion solo by Carmen Pasuzzi entitled "One Two Three Four," a piano solo by Caterina Milia titled "Nocturne," "Whispering Hope" a trumpet solo by Scott Dawson, a clarinet solo "Tiny Bubbles" by Edward Morrison and Susa Papp's piano solo "Another sonnet by M. Clemente."

A novel performance and one which the young people in the audience loved was Donna Lapointe's impersonation of a little girl with her doll.

Five young ladies, Donna Eckersley, Patricia Martin, Fred Campbell, Tracey Downing and Tiffany Haigh presented some musical selections, while Sherry Gerrard and Suzanne Edwards appeared in a duet "Delta Dawn."

The beginner Highlanders presented a dance routine to the music of "Raindrops Keep Falling on my Head" and a saxophone trio of Sharon Fisher, Doug Elliott and Susan McMilligan presented "Amazing Grace."

Al McIntosh acted as master of ceremonies for the evening and during the time the judges made their decision the Half and Half musical group entertained the crowd with their musical selections.

A popular feature of the evening was the sale of fudge and popcorn at the beginning of the program and at half time.

Film showing introduces local emergency program

Films on possible disasters and how to react to them were shown to a special group of local people at the municipal hall on Thursday, April 17. A. E. Bird, local P.E.P. co-ordinator, presented the showing as part of his program to prepare for possible action in case of a disaster in the community.

Bird, who outlined the chain of action in case of an emergency, said police would head it with the fire marshal and the Squamish Emergency Program co-ordinator and his assistant working with them.

He stressed that time and thought would have to be spent on outlining a program of preparation in case of an emergency, utilizing all the community organizations in the area. The B.C. Forest Service and Parks Department would be needed in cases involving searches and lost people, highway personnel would be needed in some emergencies, Human Resources people for supplying food and other needs in case of fire or flood; the Rebel Radio Club for communications, women's organizations for aid in serving food and looking after the homeless and the rescuers, as well as other groups.

He outlined plans for the use of station wagons as emergency vehicles in case of a major disaster such as a bus crash where more than the local ambulances would be needed; the use of first aid crews from industry to act as assistants to the emergency ambulances, a register of trained nurses in the area who are not working but who would be available for an emergency and the possibility of having an emergency medical team from Vancouver available if necessary.

Some of the necessities were transportation to move patients to hospitals; to evacuate patients from hospitals to other medical units, if necessary and to relocate people for immediate evacuation if necessary.

Other requisites would be feeding of patients and staff, communications between ambulance and hospital, between hospital and disaster site and between hospitals; public health preparations and co-ordination of hospital plans.

Bird also issued a list of possible disasters which could hit the community and asked those present to rate the list in order of the possibility of having them occur in Squamish.

One film shown dealt with the way in which a group of hospitals formed plans to act in an emergency and how these plans worked when a disaster occurred.

The second film showed how a community reacted when a crowded school bus left the road and dozens of students were hurt. It later proved to be an exercise but showed how a community prepared to handle a disaster could do so.

IMPROVEMENTS TO TESTING PROGRAM

Mr. Vosper, the senior driver examiner for the Motor Vehicles Branch, appeared before council last week and said that starting May 1 the appointment system for exams would be instituted.

He said that within a year he hoped that the service could be increased by coming up every week instead of every two weeks. He also said they were now located in the Elliott building.

He also said that special arrangements could be made for groups of high school students so they could do the testing at school which would cause a minimum delay, but he asked for a week's notice for group appointments of this nature.

Car burns in truck-car crash

Michael Siemans of Burnaby was hospitalized with second degree burns over ten percent of his body following a spectacular car-truck collision on Highway 99 one mile south of Garibaldi at 5:25 p.m. on Friday, April 18.

Siemans was in a Rover proceeding northward on Highway 99 and a Kenworth truck belonging to Valteau Logging Ltd., driven by Graham MacMillan, was proceeding south. The truck was making a curve on the highway when the car came around the corner out of control, hit the truck and immediately burst into flames. The truck suffered damage amounting to $3,000 and the car was completely gutted by fire. Siemans, who was thrown clear, was taken to the local hospital and then transferred to Royal Columbian Hospital in New Westminster.

The case is still under investigation.

On the same day there was a single car accident on Highway 99 about three quarters of a mile south of Britannia Beach when Robert Redford of Squamish, proceeding northwards at about 4:30 a.m., went into a ditch. The driver apparently went to sleep at the wheel. He may be facing a charge of driving without due care and attention.

DAYLIGHT SAVING STARTS SUNDAY

Daylight saving goes into effect this Sunday with the time change occurring early in the morning. Don't forget to set your clocks ahead one hour and while you will miss an hour's sleep you'll get it back in October when the time changes back.

The time change will permit people to utilize the extra hour of daylight in the evenings and while it is upsetting to farmers and some other businesses it does provide additional outdoor recreation time for the working community.

Remember the formula... spring ahead and fall back... and set your clocks ahead one hour on Saturday night.

SUSAN GATZKE, winner of the teen single class for her dancing.

55 YEARS continuous membership in the Royal Canadian Legion are held by "Wally" Bennett, who was brought from his residence in the George Derby Home for the presentation of his pin, and a silver tankard from the Branch. Since the Legion is celebrating its 50th anniversary in 1976, this seems to be an impossibility — but Mr. Bennett joined the Great War Veterans' Association Branch No. 1 in Calgary in 1920 — which was later, in 1936, changed to the Royal Canadian Legion. Mr. Bennett was a sergeant in the 1st Great War, serving in the 10th Battalion, 2nd Brigade, 1st Canadian Contingent — from 1914 to 1918. Mr. G. Goodall, president of Diamond Head Branch 277, made the presentation at the dinner meeting on Monday, April 14.

New manager

Doug Cooper has come from Tofino to be the new manager of Weldwood's Empire Logging Division, replacing Lyall Long who has gone into business for himself as an independent logging contractor on British Columbia's west coast.

Cooper, who joined Weldwood after five years with MacMillan Bloedel as an engineer-supervisor, arrived in Squamish April 7 to take over his new position.

He will be working out of Weldwood's office on Cleveland Ave. and supervising all the woods operations of the company in this area.

He is married and plans to make his home here with his wife Cheryl.

Lack of communication

Isn't it marvellous in this age of communication, how fast a message can get from one country to another? Just imagine, you can fly from London, England to Toronto in a little over two hours by the new Concord jet!

In fact you can beat the sun by several hours, and you could have a letter in Toronto today that was sent from London tomorrow, if the mail strike wasn't in effect. That's communication! Meanwhile satellites are flashing picture messages around the world in seconds; computers are spewing a volume of informative messages that boggle the mind and sometimes the computer.

Do you have any idea of how many telegraph wires and cables are sending messages at this very moment. Of how many telephones are ringing right now with important messages? How many telex systems are flashing information around the world?

Yet with all this communication the irony is that there is an increasing evidence of more lack of communication ... between husbands and wives, parents and children, minority groups and the establishment, management and labour and between nations, individuals, groups and nations reach out for the help of marriage counsellors, psychiatrists, group therapists, strike mediators, special ambassadors, and truce teams; all in an effort to communicate. Words pile on words to create a monument to our tragic inability to communicate with each other in a significant way.

Maybe some of the emphasis on instant communication with everywhere else should be transferred to sitting down and learning more about ourselves, quietly and with a desire for understanding. Too often we are in too much of a hurry to think about the other person, to try to see his point of view and dismiss his ideas as irrelevant.

Maybe this age of instant communication is one which should be slowed down to one of more serious attempts at communication on a local level; that the understanding between individuals is basically more important than communication on a wider level.

Perhaps we are really saying that what is needed is more understanding at the ordinary level, that if people can talk to and understand each other, then it will be easier for nations to do so.

But in this age of instant communication there just aren't enough people getting the message.

FROM THE VIEWPOINT at Windy Point on a clear day you can see the Black Tusk and Garibaldi far to the north.

USING A TELEPHOTO lens the Black Tusk can be brought so close you seem to be just below it. This was taken from Windy Point on a clear sunny day. That is the highway north of Britannia Beach slanting across the hills in the centre of the picture.

Open letter to high school drop-outs

Dear Kid:

Today you came in for a job. From the look of your shoulders as you walked out, I suspect you've been turned down before and maybe you believe by now that students out of high school can't find work.

But I hired a teen-ager today. You saw him. He was the one with polished shoes and a necktie. What was so special about him? Not experience, neither of you had any. It was his attitude that put him on the payroll instead of you.

Attitude, my friend, A-T-T-I-T-U-D-E. He wanted a job badly enough to shuck the leather, get a haircut and did his best to impress me. That's where he edged you out.

You see, Kid, many of the people who hire other people aren't "with it" in a lot of things. We know more about ballroom dancing than about discotheques and we have some stone-age ideas about who owes whom a living. Maybe that makes us prehistoric, but there is nothing wrong with the cheques, we sign.

Ever hear of "empathy"? It's the trick of seeing the other side of things.

I couldn't have cared less that you needed "bread for your pad." How you pay your rent is your problem and your landlord's. What I needed was someone who would go out into the plant, keep his eyes open and work for me like he would work for himself. If you have even the vaguest idea of what I'm trying to say, let it show the next time you ask for a job. You will be head and shoulders over the rest.

Look Man: The only time jobs grew on trees was while most of our country's manpower was in uniform fighting a war. Maybe jobs aren't as plentiful right now, but a lot of us can remember when master craftsmen walked the streets in the great Depression of the 30's. By comparison, you don't know the meaning of "scarce" and "want."

You may not believe it, but all around you employers are looking for young men and women, smart enough to go after a job in the old-fashioned way. When they find a person like that they can't wait to put him to meaningful employment.

For both our sakes, smarten up, will you!

Canada must look south

Trade to the south must be developed if Canada is going to open new markets. In recent months the federal trade minister has been visiting a number of South American countries with emphasis on Brazil. Mexico is also receiving consideration from the federal trade department.

Recently Vancouver was the scene of a major conference on trade opportunities with South America with the four western provinces acting as sponsors. The full co-operation of the federal government trade services was used and it brought in senior officials from Ottawa and also senior Canadian trade representatives from Peru, Colombia, Brazil, Mexico, Argentina, Chile, Venezuela, Cuba, Puerto Rico and Guatemala.

This month the Vancouver Board of Trade is taking a trade and goodwill mission south to Mexico, Peru, Brazil and Colombia. It will follow up an earlier visit by the federal trade minister and the program is designed to foster increased trade between B.C. and the countries to be visited.

The mission should explore the possibilities of two-way investment; to develop an appreciation of the resources of those countries, to determine areas in which Canada may be of aid in developing newer industries and to establish personal relationships between Vancouver firms and their counterparts abroad.

World interdependence is growing. Canada and British Columbia can prosper by achieving good relations with these countries which are developing economic strength.

Closer economic liaison between Canada and the countries of Central and South America can only lead to a better understanding of our southern neighbors and a better economic climate for the countries in the Americas.

Another holiday?

Parliament's approval of a private member's bill to throw in another long holiday weekend certainly was not one of its wiser acts.

A long weekend in February? What are we going to do? The weather is sure to be lousy — sleet, rain or snow — and where can one find sunshine in three days? The football season will be over so goodness only knows what fathers will do with their time unless their wives remind them of neglected chores to such an extent that everyone will have a miserable weekend. The kids will raise mayhem, pestering everyone for something to do. Mothers will still have to cook, wipe noses and clean up the mess. This is a holiday?

Of course it will occasionally fall on one of the big American holidays. There we will be celebrating Canadian Heritage Day on George Washington's Birthday!

Now an extra day in June might have made some sense.

Howe Soundings

The nicest part about going away is "coming home again!" That's what I said. It's odd but when you leave for a holiday you just can't seem to get away fast enough but even two weeks away is enough to make you long to come home again.

My daughter didn't agree but Terry and I were happy to see the green, green hills of home as we flew back to Vancouver after two weeks in sunny Mexico. Sure the weather was lovely, it was warm and sunny, the beaches were beautiful and the flowers and gardens magnificent. I enjoyed it all but there is something about the cool sea breezes in good old British Columbia that just can't be equalled anywhere else.

Maybe she's right, maybe I am web-footed, but B.C.'s rocky coast and island studded gulf looked beautiful after flying back over the bare hills of Mexico and the sandy wastes of southern California.

What is Mexico like? It's warm sandy beaches, surf pounding along miles of coastline, bright sunshine, brilliant flowers cascading over brick walls, dazzling white buildings, old churches facing the village square in the heart of town; the brilliant blue haze of jacarandas which will always make me think of Guadalajara; pigs rooting along side the road in a small village and the hens busy scrabbling in the dust; cactus fences around small garden plots.

The haunting magic of the ruins of Teotihuacan where the frescoes painted so many years ago by the pre-Columbian artists who decorated the shell palace and the palace of the jaguars are still bright; the magnificent temples to the Sun and the Moon, which they climbed while I waited below and took telephoto pictures of them on top; the same ruins at night when modern voices intoned the story of the "City of the Gods" while colored lights wove the fantasy from which legends are born.

Crowded markets with the wares of an artistic race spread before you; jewelry in silver and gold, exquisite and commonplace, gem stones (did you know Mexico had dozens of different gems? I didn't till I visited there), opals, amethyst, peridot, moonstones, aquamarine, turquoise, jade; you name it they have it. Delicate abalone shell inlaid in jewelry and silver plates; malachite plaques, onyx in carvings, chess sets in bowls, almost translucent it is cut so thinly.

Weaving from brilliant serapes to shawls, to skirts and ponchos, embroidery delicate and fine or bold in peasant patterns with brilliant flowers; cottons finely tucked and embroidered; shirts, jackets and hats in soft, supple leather. Handbags, wallets, and even saddles, all gorgeously decorated.

The sound of a rooster crowing long before dawn in the heart of Puerto Vallarta a bus ride for one peso from the outskirts of town through the centre and out into the country and then back again; riding a dugout canoe from the beach to the boat for a cruise down the coast; roses planted under the power lines in Guadalajara (an idea which would be lovely if it was copied here) listening to a guide, a pure Mayan, talk about his country and its future, attempting to exchange conversation with the Mexican people in halting Spanish (ours) halting English (theirs) and lots of smiles and shrugs.

Discovering that Mexican food isn't always hot but that hot sauces are served with it and you can use it or not as you wish; the delights of tacos, of enchiladas filled with chicken and served in a cheese sauce with a lime and lemon flavor; using limes with everything from fruit to tea. You haven't tasted fresh coconut till you've had it with a dash of lime juice; fresh fruit plates for breakfast with pineapple, melons, cantaloupe, papaya, mango and bananas; bread that is bread not fluff and the best prime rib I ever tasted in a French restaurant in Guadalajara.

It's flowers and trees, from roses and cannas, calla lilies and orchids; from bougainvillea in flaming purples, reds, pinks, orange and yellow; trumpet vines climbing in orange masses over a white brick wall; plumbago vines with pale blue masses of blossoms, oleanders in pink, white and crimson; hibiscus in shades of pink and red over the rarer yellow. The exquisite lavender blue of the jacarandas, the scarlet blaze of the flame of the forest or the royal pinciana, the crimson tulip trees, the pure white magnolias, the yellow clusters of the ampolas, the pale lavender of the orchid tree and the odd pink fluffs on the shaving brush tree. The pale pink beauty of the prima verdes along the coast south of Puerto Vallarta and everywhere, everywhere, palm trees rustling in the wind.

In Mazatlan, we would lie awake listening to the palms rustling and it almost sounded like rain. Coupled with the beat of the surf you could almost imagine you were listening to a storm sweeping in over Long Beach.

Nights with stars so brilliant you felt you could touch them, the sound of strolling mariachis in their colorful costumes, the strumming of guitars; the happy waiters at the Shrimp Bucket; soft Mexican voices contrasted to the harsher North American or Canadian ones, and the laughter of children.

Bananas growing on trees, with the oddly colored flowers and stalks pointing up, not down as we see them here; papayas and mangoes, coconuts in clusters on the trees, oranges and lemons, much sweeter than those we buy which are picked green. Every small plot of land has its fruit trees but then as one guide said "All you do is put a stick in the ground, water it and you've got a tree!"

Mexico is a land of contrasts, of wealth and poverty; of beauty and squalor, but you can find this in any North American city; there are clear skies and there is smog in Mexico City as thick as Los Angeles, but there are barren wind swept beaches where the sky is blue and sea is creaming at your feet.

It's a lovely land ... and a harsh one but one that I want to go back and see again, and maybe again and again. But before I go again I'm going to take some Spanish lessons!

Sawdust

Imagine sitting on a small boat at Yelapa Beach, 20 miles south of Puerto Vallarta, waiting for the dugout canoes to unload the passengers and seeing Chris Hether climb into the boat! That's right, here I thought we were miles away from anyone we knew and there was practically a next door neighbor. Don't know which of us was the more surprised.

And did you hear about the French railway engineer who was also an art fan who was asked what was the cause of the accident which piled up his train in the south of France?

His answer was "Toulouse-Lautrec!"

OK, go ahead and gag, but I thought it was funny.

Notice the attractive posters in the window of the Times? They are the prize winning ones in the Conquer Cancer poster campaign and the work of the talented local youngsters who entered.

If you are a smoker, please take a look at them; maybe it will help you to decide to kick the habit and make someone happy!

Incidentally, did you know that the number of seats assigned to non-smokers in planes is now more than those for the smokers? It's a fact. So maybe more and more of the public is switching and smoking is not as popular as it used to be.

Have you noticed the beautiful daffodils at the new Surfside Station? They really make a welcome addition to the entrance of town. Now if a few more business premises would add flowers or shrubs.....

Congratulations to Hilda Rizun, who has just been appointed to the Capilano College council. She should find it interesting and challenging.

A number of old timers turned out to the open house at the B.C. Museum of Mining at Britannia Beach on Sunday and enjoyed looking at the exhibits, a trip through the tunnel and the refreshments provided.

Incidentally Betty McNair says they will be celebrating their 50th Copper Queen crowning this year even if the mine is closed down. Laurie Green has been chosen for the honor.

And Jim Broham says the mining museum people got an excellent hearing when they recently visited Victoria.

The official opening of the museum is scheduled for May but more on that later.

Attention Peter McKay!!!!

Bob Smith of IGA brought in the following story with the notation that every car dealer should be told about the farmer, who bought a new car after spending a lot of time pricing them.

By coincidence a few days later the dealer who sold him the car appeared at the farm and said that he'd like to buy a cow for his small country place.

LETTERS

Editor, The Times:

This is my third letter on the topic "Peace and Freedom." The first letter on November 10, 1971, was on the topic of the "Disease Called Amchitka Fear" and it is more valid today than it was in 1971. My second letter, last week, was on "quo vadis — union members, and leaders of Canada's destiny."

This letter, I hope the last one, is an addition to and a resume of the two previous letters.

A few years ago, there were world wide mass demonstrations, especially in Canada and the United States, to get the Americans out of the Vietnam war. Suddenly, this has turned, as an act of hysteria, into the adoption of a few thousand innocent child-victims of the Vietnam tragedy. Even the President of the United States carried one of these children off the plane in his arms. At the same time, human slaughter of massive proportions is under way in Cambodia and Vietnam.

I just wonder — where are those demonstrators today? Where are those draft-dodgers and deserters from Vietnam? What is their point of view concerning those young victims? Do they not today feel guilty about their wrong and cowardly judgments? All those who demonstrated in the past few years should be heading today towards Moscow and Hanoi with their placards trying to object today's atrocities in Vietnam!

The Americans could easily have won a war years ago, and established peace by force with a strong beach-head for years to come, if they had listened to the military's recommendations. However, politicians, demonstrators, draft-dodgers, deserters, even children went into action and here we are today. The U.S. has lost its will and desire to stand up for freedom despite the fact that in Paris in 1973, they put their signature on the pact to protect Vietnam. The evacuation of orphans of some of the Vietnamese people is not the answer.

There is great irony in the unloading from planes in Saigon today of a few guns. This should have occurred two years ago and in much greater numbers! Today, instead of guns, they should be unloading white flags for surrender to stop the killings; or, if they do mean business with integrity, they should land a large army for the North from Saigon and chase the North Vietnamese army back to the border specified by the 1973 Paris agreement.

I am not a "war monger," I am a human being who loves freedom and peace more than any one else, which is why I am here today. I paid dearly for my freedom, and I don't mean monetarily. I fought very hard for it. Long after the ceasefire had been established in my old country, I was still fighting. I managed to escape from a German prison camp across the border into a part of my old country occupied by the Russians, where again I had to escape from another prison camp. I joined the Polish army in France in 1940, and after France's capitulation, I escaped from two more German prison camps. Travelling through Spain, Portugal, and then Gibraltar, I managed to get to Britain where I joined the Polish army under British command and in 1941, went with a military mission to Russia to take part in organizing a Polish army there. We could not agree with the Russian authorities, but with Britain's aid, we successfully evacuated a large number of Poles to M.E. Here, under the 8th British Army Command, we formed the Second Polish Corps, which took part in the Italian invasion, and after the bloody battle at Monte Cassino we and the Canadian corp side by side chased the Germans along the Adriatic coast as far as the River Po.

After the war, I came here, on my own, to enjoy my freedom to live and speak. I am not trying to write nonsense in my letters as many of you probably think. I would just like to open your minds, using my individual point of view, based on my age and experience. I know that I see many things in a different light from many of you. I see dangerous years ahead of us; I see clearly that the balance of power of this world is rapidly shifting into the wrong hands; but I feel that there is still time left to prevent an outcome such as in Cambodia and Vietnam.

The people on this continent must be prepared for the worst. We must be strong and united. There is no place, to which we can evacuate the children from this continent.

TEACHERS from the primary grades (up to Grade 3), kindergarten, special classes and Rainbow School met at the Mamquam School last week for a workshop in reading skills conducted by Maureen Cassia and Jill Brown.

MAUREEN CASSIA and Jill Brown working with two of the children at the workshop in reading and learning skills held at the Mamquam School last week.

Speech and learning workshop at Mamquam

Two speech therapists from Laurel House in Vancouver, Maureen Cassia and Jill Brown, conducted a special workshop on speech and learning at the Mamquam Elementary School at 2:15 p.m. on Thursday, April 17.

Attending the workshop were teachers from the kindergarten, remedial, opportunity and New Canadian classes and Grades 1 to 3 in the elementary schools in the Howe Sound School District.

The workshop was originally planned just for the teachers of the kindergarten, special education, new Canadian and possibly grade one as both the methods and materials are designed for young children with learning disabilities and low academic potential. It was also designed for children who are disadvantaged in verbal language or language concepts.

Basically it is designed for slower children than we usually have in this school district but elementary supervisor Mrs. Hilda Fairbanks said the number of these children is increasing.

A few of the teachers who watched Maureen Cassia in a short impromptu demonstration with children from the Rainbow School and the Opportunity Class before Easter felt that it was well worthwhile and that all primary teachers should have the opportunity of attending a workshop.

Several local children were brought in for the demonstrations and they appeared to be delighted to work with the two therapists and show what they had learned.

A number of Grade One pupils from the regular classes were used to help demonstrate group language work.

It was interesting to hear the therapists work with the children, to note that they used rhythmic means of getting phrases or sentences across to the students. This appealed to them as all youngsters have a sense of rhythm and love to do exercises or lessons which use rhythm.

The two therapists outlined some of the programs they use and explained that at Laurel House they work with the children in class, at meal times and during the day. They said they become attached to the students and it was easy to see that the youngsters from Rainbow School who took part in the workshop had enjoyed being with Miss Cassia when she visited their school earlier this year.

Following the showing of a film on the classes at Laurel House, there was a question period followed by supper and further questions.

Five days of events planned

The annual Squamish Days holiday at the beginning of August will be expanded to a five-day event with the fun beginning with the crowning of the Timber Queen on Thursday evening, July 31.

That will mark the beginning of the holiday weekend with harness racing slated for Friday evening at Smokey Downs track in Brackendale. At the same time the colorful and exciting pajama shopping, a feature of the holiday weekend, will be observated by local downtown stores.

This is a must for residents and visitors alike who enjoy watching their friends and acquaintances visiting the stores in their weird and wonderful costumes in search of special bargains.

Saturday will be the big day featuring the loggers sports, in the afternoon while in the morning there will be the loggers breakfast, the parade and the sports for children fills the gap between the parade and the opening of the loggers sports.

Dances in the evening round out an exciting fun-filled day. On the Sunday, tentative plans are being made for either a baseball tournament or a soccer game, or maybe both, but in any event the fun will continue into Monday, the official August holiday which will again feature a program of harness racing at Smokey Downs.

Special events during the celebrations will be the return visit of Rudy Bauer, the flying logger, who will perform at half time; the Canadian power, saw falling and underhand chop championships, the sale of buttons to mark the event and to give you entry to the Timber Queen events, as well as the famous Rotary barbecue and the Lions beer garden.

For the two harness racing days, times of parade to the post will be at 6 p.m. on Friday evening and at 1:30 p.m. on Monday afternoon. Permission has been obtained from the provincial government to hold the racing days.

The junior track meet, between the parade and the sports, will be sponsored by the Squamish Kiwanis Club. Plans underway for the event indicate that it will be the biggest and best Squamish Days celebration to date.

All proceeds from the day will go towards the ice-arena sports centre proposed for the Squamish Valley.

AL MCINTOSH, new chairman of the Squamish Loggers Sports Committee.

Juvenile Act outlined

At the recent public meeting sponsored by the Justice Development Commission, probation officer W. S. Street outlined the terms of reference of the Juvenile Act.

He said a juvenile was under 17 and would receive a maximum penalty under the Act of $25. Under normal procedures the probation officer meets with the juvenile, the parents and the victim for private conferences. The probation officer then makes a recommendation to the prosecutor who has the following three choices:

- That the juvenile should appear in court;
- That counselling from the probation officer will be sufficient to keep the juvenile out of trouble;
- That it is a minor offence with the child not realizing he has done something illegal and no further action should be taken.

probation officer is a Letter of Arrangement which is a legal document signed by the parents, the juvenile and the probation officer in which the juvenile agrees to come to the probation officer for counselling and can also be referred to Porteau Camp, usually from Friday evening to a Sunday afternoon for outward bound training for nine weekends. Street said this was a really tough course. It is available only for boys.

Regarding compensation to the victim, Street said many juveniles in the community at this time were working for the victim of an offence. He said there were problems in getting involved with the unions in having people working.

Street said only five per cent of juveniles commit a second crime and that the probation service tries not to put a juvenile before the juvenile court if possible.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

Council has established a policy that paving on private driveways from the property line to the road should be asphalt only and that any replacing of concrete should be discontinued.

Regarding patching of private driveways the works superintendent is to look into the feasibility of providing a clearing house for requests for driveway patching to provide reasonable costs for residents.

Council recommended that the district provide services on an easement to be obtained from the Department of Highways to supply service to a lot owned by Owen Carney south of Souster's Trailer Court on Government Road.

Council reviewed a letter dated April 3 from Pacific Logging in which the company proposed to widen the existing shoulder of the paved road to facilitate logging truck traffic and relocate the foot path for school pedestrian traffic and provide anti-dust treatment for gravel portions of the road they would be using.

Council is concerned about the places where the logging road easement crosses the Valleycliffe road and the top of Clarke Drive.

The safety of school children was the prime consideration as well as noise in the hospital area.

Council decided that any logging traffic should use Highway 99 and avoid use of municipal roads. It was decided that oversized logging trucks should not be permitted to use the road accesses which would expose any school pedestrian traffic to danger.

Strike 'n' Snares

by Bill McAdam

On Sunday, April 6, Squamish Lanes was invaded by out of town bowlers, coaches and parents. They came by bus and carloads. With our own boys and girls and families, they made the Pepsi Cola Zone Roll-off a huge success.

The singles trophies were won by Sherry Bryan of Burnaby 313, and Doug Dye of Richmond 291. Four game block Cathy Morgan of Richmond 1017, and Don Town of Burnaby 1029.

The teams going to Kelowna April 26 for the Western Canada Games are Richmond girls, Burnaby boys, and Richmond mixed.

Congratulations to the 60 boys and girls. The games were well played. Special thanks to Don Hobbs — judge of play, Gary Lapoint — coach, and the scorekeepers — Mrs. Koch, Mrs. Rennan, Mrs. Babuin, Mrs. Sle, Mrs. Hobbs, Mrs. Weiss, Mrs. Bain, Karon Stinson and Mrs. May Doucet who kept the kettle singing. We need you, you were there and that's togetherness in Y.B.C.

To Laura Eckersley, I apologize for you not being able to participate. Unknown to me, until time to bowl, the Rules had been changed. For a mixed team it is now two girls and three boys. Thank you Laura for being a good loser. That's what "Sportsman" and Y.B.C. is all about. And to Marty Deno who took over when needed, thank you.

Results from April 5 and 6 in regular Y.B.C. bowling are as follows:

Jets — Kim Calkins 192S, 307D, Lynn Hunger 178S, 281D, Donna Hurry 143S, 262D, Mark Denton 170S, 281D, Peter Babuin 144S, 270D, Andrew Stee 247D.

Physical fitness course

Capilano College is offering a summer term course to help students understand what physical fitness is and how it can be achieved and maintained.

Some of the topics to be discussed will include: the physiological determinants of physical fitness, weight control, physiological changes resulting from exercise and training, tests for physical fitness, designing fitness programs to meet personal health and fitness needs.

The course will be of interest to anyone who is concerned about personal health and physical fitness.

Classes will begin May 12 and run through June 23 on Monday evenings from 7:30 through 10:30 p.m. at the Lynn Valley Ecology Centre in North Vancouver.

Soccer playoffs start this week

Soccer playoffs will start on Saturday, April 26, with all the teams involved. Soccer Day is set for May 11 on Mothers' Day, starting at 10 a.m. and lasting till 1 p.m.

The Stawamus 10th Division team has come on really strong since the second half started up and is going to be a tough team to beat out in the playoffs.

In Division 8 the Mamquam Rangers are on top of the league but is getting tough competition from Squamish which tied their 0-0 last time out.

Stawamus won the last four games and is coming on really strong and will be really tough to beat in the playoffs.

In Division 4, halfway through the season Stawamus and the Eagles were tied for first place but last Saturday they fought it out between themselves and the Eagles came out on top shutting out Stawamus by a 2-0 score. However, Stawamus had four open chances to score but beat themselves so that should also provide a good playoff battle.

In the section for junior girls under 10 the Stawamus girls have beaten Mamquam in the last ten games but on April 10 the two teams came out really strong and battled it out to a 0-0 tie.

On April 19 coach Paul Christensen tried to see if he could get the first win by moving one of the good fullbacks up to the forward line to give it more scoring power but it backfired in the first five minutes when they scored. After that he moved the girls back and they held Stawamus for no more goals in the game.

Results of the games played April 19 are as follows:

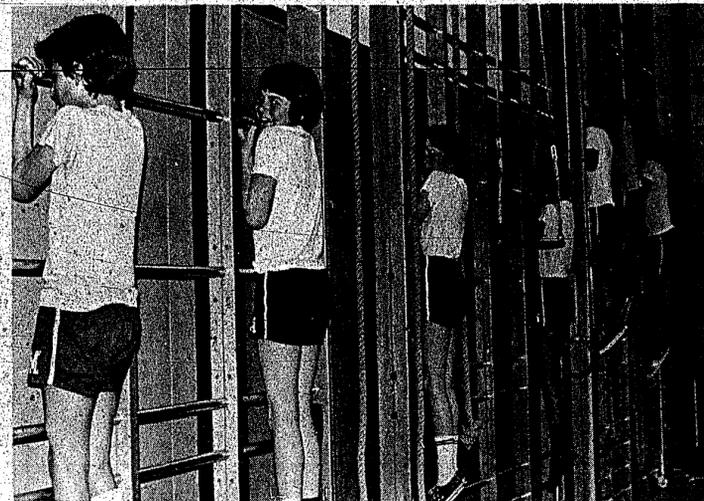

Division 10 — Mamquam 1 Brackendale 1.

Division 8 — Mamquam Rangers 4 Brackendale 0; Stawamus 4 Mamquam Celtics 0; Mamquam Rangers 1 Mamquam Celtics 0; Stawamus 3 Brackendale 1.

Division 4 — Eagles 5 Fliers 0; Stawamus 3 Brackendale 2.

Girls under 10 — Stawamus 1 Mamquam 0.

Girls over 10 — Stawamus 0 Brackendale 2.

SUSPENDING YOURSELF by your arms for 60 seconds isn't as easy as it looks but these Mamquam school youngsters are doing it as part of their fitness program.

At Mamquam School

Students working on fitness awards

By ROSE TATLOW

Students at the Mamquam Elementary School under the leadership of physical education instructor Nelson Winterburn are having a ball working on the Canada Fitness Awards and trying to achieve their goal in the 50 Kilometer Club.

Last Friday I visited the school and watched Mr. Winterburn put them through their paces for the fitness awards and run one kilometer to be added to those they have already completed.

The track in the school yard is laid out for the kilometer and five laps around it or ten single sprints equals the kilometer. There were about 25 students making the kilometer run and doing their 300-yard runs for the fitness tests on Friday morning. Later they went into the gym to do their flexed arm hang and this was quite a feat.

The students supported their weight on their arms and with the bar they were holding just below eye level, had to cling to it for 65 seconds to pass the test. Some of them dropped out but most of them managed the 65 seconds while the record was 85 seconds. Wonder how many adults could do as well?

Earlier in the morning another of the classes were taking their fitness award tests under Mr. Winterburn. It was chilly on the field but the youngsters took part in the shuttle relay, and the 50 yard run.

In the first they started from a lying down position, ran to a line where two batons were placed; picked one, took it back to the point of origin and then returned for the other. They were fast too, it only took between eight and 11 seconds.

In the other 50 yard run they cover the course as fast as possible and the aim is to do it as quickly as possible. Winterburn says there are times for each age group and if the students qualify they will receive awards.

Other tests which they must perform include speed situps and a standing long jump. They are all times and have to pass the requirements for their age group.

Winterburn says he is very pleased with the progress of the group and delighted in the number of students who are taking part in the fitness programs.

At the end of the course they will be qualifying for the awards by issued by the Canada Fitness Council. These are awarded on the basis of the level of achievement obtained, with four awards possible. They are bronze, silver, gold or award of excellence.

It will be interesting to see how many of them qualify for the awards.

CHRIS TINNEY looks as if he's ready to take off but really he's just taking part in the fitness tests at the Mamquam Elementary school.

Hunting fatalities drop

There was only one hunting fatality in British Columbia last year, according to Dr. J. Hatter, director of the Fish and Wildlife Branch, Department of Recreation and Conservation.

"We would like to think that our conservation and outdoor recreation education program (C.O.R.E.) has made a significant contribution to hunter safety in the past two years," Dr. Hatter said recently.

There were only two fatalities in 1973 — the first year of the C.O.R.E. program — as opposed to an average of eight a year for the three years preceding the inception of the safety program.

Completion of the C.O.R.E. program is mandatory for first-time applicants for hunting licences who are residents of B.C. and are 14 years of age or older. Persons found guilty of infractions against the Wildlife and Firearms Acts may also be required to complete the course.

At Base Camp Saturday, April 19, the weather was fine. Sunny and cloudy with winds. A little bit of everything. Snow is down to two feet now but holding and with cool weekends the skiing is good. Visitors were from Vancouver, including Mrs. Behue, who often hikes to the red heather meadows and has spent many happy weekends with the Brandvolts at the Diamond Head Chalet. Road is good and dry. A little rough in some places and needs grading work continued on second little house.

Sunday, April 20, snowing all day very lightly, cool and ideal for skiing. A few teenage skiers on the tow having a ball. Doing 180° turns on the face slope and hot dogging on the back trail. Visitors were from Squamish and Vancouver asking many questions about the chalet and the lakes and the country beyond. Most of them wished there was a better road. And don't we all. The signs point to some action this year. More work on the second little house but not complete. Shut down tow and closed up at 5 p.m.

SQUAMISH UNITED ENTERS DIVISION 3

As a result of their endeavors over the past eight months, the United team has gained promotion to Division 3 along with Richmond Labatts. Since both teams were tied with 30 points from 20 games after regular season play, a playoff game was played Sunday, April 20 at False Creek Park in Vancouver. The United team gave of its best but on the day it wasn't enough. Richmond won the match 2-0 and along with it the Division 4 championship.

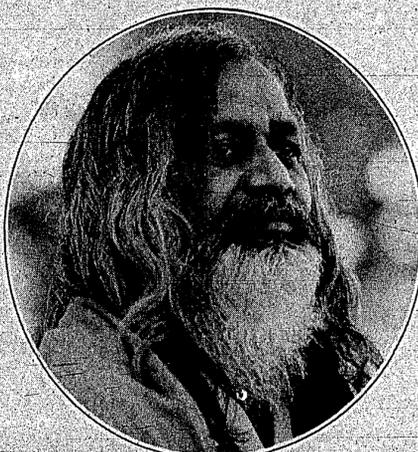

The team would like to thank their loyal supporters for their devotion and enthusiasm and look forward to better things in Division 3 next year.

Responsibility for education

A working partnership between various levels of government school teachers, parents and students is a fundamental principle of the British Columbia public school system, Education Minister Eileen Daily recently told the annual meeting of the B.C. Teachers Federation.

She said that while no major educational decisions should be made without the participation of those directly affected, the final responsibility for any new directions must rest with elected officials accountable to the public — with the minister at the provincial level and with school trustees at the local level. "If the school system went in any other direction we would not have a system responsive to the needs of the individual and the community but an elitist system, accountable only to itself," Daily told the teachers.

She said that in cases where teachers had been able to sit in on school district budget reviews — a policy which she encourages — many of the myths about the Department of Education's finance policy, and many of the erroneous statements which have been printed in the public press and other publications, have been dispelled.

Daily said the immediate problem areas she sees in education, are functional literacy, which the assessment of language arts programs is designed to help; classroom management, and the problems of children with learning difficulties. She challenged the teachers to take advantage of the opportunities the Department of Education will make available for in-service training for teachers in that field.

The education minister announced the first phase of an assessment program, to take place next month, to evaluate language arts programs in the public schools.

She told the conference that the study of skill development in reading and writing will help those responsible make the best decisions on new curriculum and new policies in language arts if they prove necessary.

The assessment program is designed to give a broad program evaluation rather than a diagnostic study of individual students. In its first phase teachers will be questioned about existing curriculum material and methods. In the second phase in the fall a series of tests will be administered to sample groups of students at two or three grade levels.

There are a few things you should know about the rent increase limit.

THE RULES:

- Effective January 1, 1975, residential rent increases are limited to 10.6% of the rent presently being charged. This rule applies to any dwelling containing two or more rented units, and will be administered by the Rent Review Commission. The rule also applies to single family dwellings.
- Tenants can legally refuse to pay any rent increase over the 10.6% limit, subject to the exceptions specified in the legislation. Tenants cannot be evicted for non payment of illegal rent increases.
- There must be at least a twelve month interval between one rent increase and the next, and tenants must be given at least three months' notice of any rent increase.
- Notice of Rent Increase forms, supplied to landlords by the Rent Review Commission, must be used. These are the only valid forms for notice of any residential rent increase.

SOME EXCEPTIONS:

- Half a duplex, when the owner lives in the other half (or basement suite, when the owner lives in the remainder of the house) is exempt from the 10.6% limit.
- Certain major renovations may entitle an owner to increase rents over the 10.6% limit. These improvements must have been started since May 3, 1974, and do not include normal maintenance and repairs. Landlords may consult the Rent Review Commission for details, particularly if planning renovations which might justify rent increases.
- Residential premises, except mobile home pads, being rented for the first time on or after January 1, 1974, are exempt from the 10.6% rent increase limit for a period of five years.
- Premises renting for more than $500 per month are exempt from the 10.6% increase limit.
- Mobile home pad rent increases may exceed 10.6%, but only if prior approval is received from the Rent Review Commission.

Questions relating to landlord-tenant matters other than rent increases should be directed to the Office of the Rentalsman, 525 Seymour Street, Vancouver, B.C. V6B 3H7. Telephone: 689-0811. Out of town, call collect.

A brochure titled The Rent Increase Limit and Its Exceptions is available upon request, from the Rent Review Commission office, or from your nearest Government Agent office.

If you have questions about residential rent increases, contact the Rent Review Commission P.O. Box 9600, Vancouver, B.C. V6B 4G4 Telephone: 689-9361 Out of town, call collect.

Ready or not, Daylight Saving Time goes into effect this weekend. When retiring, either Saturday night or early Sunday morning, remember to put your clocks and watches AHEAD one hour. Daylight saving will remain until the last weekend in October when that hour lost can be regained.

Bella Coola was home to Mr. and Mrs. Norman Saugstad for about 37 years and earlier this month they went back for a three-week visit to their daughter and son and families and it was a good time to catch up on all the news while chatting with ex-neighbours and friends. They also stayed in Kamloops for three days while Norman and Bruce Burritt attended the Independent Truck Loggers Convention.

A nice ending to their vacation came when the Saugstads arrived in Cawston on April 12 to meet with other members of the Country Cuzzin square dance club. They along with guest caller Alex McBride enjoyed an evening of dancing with the Similkameen Twirlers.

The Legion ladies invite one and all to attend the "Fun Fest" this Saturday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Legion Hall. Featured will be homebaking, a fish pond, grab bags, rummage sale (with lots of bargains), refreshments and other activities.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Patullo travelled to San Francisco last week. For Gary it was a business trip but for Heather it was a chance to shop and sightsee in the famous "Golden Gate" city. During their absence, Heather's mother, Mrs. A. McCallum of Victoria, looked after the children.

The Prairie Bible Institute Brass Band will perform in the Stawamus school gym at 7:45 p.m. on Monday, April 28 as guests of the Squamish Baptist Church and the community is cordially invited to attend.

Guide and Brownie Cookie week starts tomorrow, April 25 for one week. The girls in uniform will be visiting all households in the district, offering delicious cookies for just 75 cents a box. This is the only community fund raising of the year and naturally, your support is appreciated by these young ladies and their leaders.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Robson last week were Mr. and Mrs. Noel Oudot from Davidson, Sask. They were pleased to see their cousin, Ian Allwood who lives with his daughter and family, the Robsons. Mr. Oudot is a builder in Saskatchewan and was particularly interested in the wide range of house styles in this area. A visit to Gibsons was taken, one day and Bob made sure everyone had their pictures taken in front of "Molly's Reach" of the Beachcomber TV show fame. Another visitor at the Robson home earlier in the month was Orville Milligan from Quesnel.

The Golden Agers bowling league is having a wind-up banquet and presentation night on Saturday, May 3 in the Elks Hall. Everyone is welcome and tickets are available for $3.25. Contact Mrs. May Silva if you are interested as they would like to see a good crowd out for the evening's fun. The social hour starts at 6 p.m. with the buffet supper at 7 p.m.

Ralph Lovlin, a former resident, was in Squamish last week on business. He said he, Myrtle and family are really enjoying life in their new home near Salt Lake City, Utah.

The annual Auction Sale sponsored by the United Church is coming up soon. May 10 is the date and if you have anything you wish to donate please call 898-3158 or 898-3094 for pick-up service.

The amateur hour on Friday night was a crowd pleaser from start to finish. The Howe Sound Secondary School band and the Stawamus Elementary School band added a certain feeling as the boys and girls displayed their talents. All contestants did well and I'm sure the judges were not to be envied.

Congrats to Glen Anderson, winner of the Leeworthy Trophy and taking home the Harmony Trophy and the special $25 prize from the Squamish Arts Council was ballet dancer Margaret Hinds. The big $50 prize winners did an excellent job and they were Bonnie Teel and Pat Wiebe.

Stork Stories .... Our town has four new residents and they arrived at various times last week.

SMITH — Mr. and Mrs. Alan Smith welcomed the arrival of their daughter Shannon Christine, born in the Squamish General Hospital on April 15, weighing 7 pounds 5 1/2 ounces. Brother Simon was pleased to welcome little Shannon home. Proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Murray in Sydney, Australia.

GLOVER — A daughter, Christiana Edith, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Glover on April 15. She weighed 7 pounds 8 3/4 ounces on her arrival at Squamish General Hospital. Zachary is happy to have his sister home. Congratulations to grandparents Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson in Rexdale, Ont., and Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Glover in Victoria.

Imagine the youngsters' joy when, while waiting for their plane at the airport, they encountered "Festus" (Ken Curtis); each receiving an handshake and a real honest-to-goodness autograph. Thanks Festus!

TRACY REMPEL and Debbie Sadler who placed first in the child's group event.

MEMBERS of the high school band who joined with the Mamquam Elementary School band to take second place in the teens single event.

COOKIE WEEK, APRIL 25-MAY 3

Girl Guide Cookie Week is fast approaching. Cookies have been ordered for this special yearly event. This is the only annual effort made by Guides and Brownies throughout B.C. to help support the national and provincial headquarters.

Each box of delicious cookies will be 75 cents this year. Due to labor and ingredient costs rising, a slight increase was unavoidable. Please have your money ready when the girls call at hour house.

Artex display at Legion Hall

A display of work done by Artex enthusiasts was held in the Royal Canadian Legion Hall on Saturday afternoon with items by both the junior and advanced students on display. Instructors Georgina Pinchbeck and Bev Howard were on hand along with other representatives of the company to show the work and to explain how it was done while some of the enthusiasts were working on pieces which were being embroidered using the Artex paints.

In the children's display there were some excellent paintings, some on black velvet, as well as a number of other articles including some shirts for the Rebel Radio Club enthusiasts.

Among the instructors' displays were some beautiful scenes painted with Artex paints, a lovely Japanese panel on an orange background and several floral pictures and panels. Another interesting and novel display was the dress featuring Artex embroidery.

There were a number of door prizes during the afternoon with draws on the hour. Door prize winners were Debbie Robson, Dale Gruber, Rose Tatlow, Mrs. A. Harrison and Ethel Robson.

Survey made on recreation

Council has asked the recreation director, Bob Ellison to prepare a subjective survey of recreational needs in Squamish. It was realized that this would be a preliminary report which would outline a consensus of opinion from existing recreation groups and there would probably be no facts and figures.

Ellison said such a survey should be the first stage of a commitment which should be followed through if any indication was confirmed in the survey. Only major facility developments would be surveyed in the report.

In other recommendations, it was decided that Dan Moon would look into the establishment of sailing instruction with the Recreation Commission and Yacht Club working together to establish a sailing instruction program.

Two nets are to be purchased for the Garibaldi Highlands tennis courts at an approximate cost of $250 and lighting is to be installed at the lacrosse box.

Ellison is to discuss the establishment of parks and recreational facilities in the Dunhill Development 400-acre subdivision in Brackendale with members of the housing co-op.

Comings and goings

Mr. and Mrs. Craig Lea have left Squamish and are making their home in Richmond.

Correction: in the news item on the Girl Guide Outing to Camp Olave it should have read

Squamish Earful in hospital

The Squamish Earful is in hospital and during the next week or ten days anyone having news which they would like to be put in the column is asked to call the Times and give the information to Brenda Bird.

The staff will attempt to keep Maureen Gilmour's chatty column active while she is confined to hospital with a deteriorating disc.

"50th year of guiding" instead of 15th.

Mrs. Margaret McCaughey has come from Alberta for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. David Smith. Mrs. McCaughey's home is near Red Deer.

Young people sow oats and old people grow sage.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Barr and their three sons have returned from a wonderful three-week holiday in Hawaii.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Scott MacDonald over the weekend was her brother Robert Schoonover of Miocene.

Sorry to hear that one of our girls Maureen Gilmour is in hospital. Get well soon.

TM talk at high school Monday

In 1958, Maharishi Mahesh Yogi launched a world-wide movement to increase happiness in the world. He aimed to integrate the ancient knowledge of India with the technology of the West and by now he has trained about 8,000 teachers of Transcendental Meditation in the world.

Today, his movement is gaining ground in all fields of human activity: medical, business, management, education, sports, entertainment, social rehabilitation, and even in different offices of government. Maharishi recently appeared in a 90-minute television special with Merv Griffin. Other guests such as a senator from California, actress Ellen Corby, otherwise known as Grandma Walton, and Dr. Harold Bloomfield, a physician, psychiatrist, and author, were there to show the involvement of people from different walks of life, in Transcendental Meditation.

The success of the movement is based on the fact that T.M. is not a religion, philosophy or way of life — rather it is a simple, natural, innocent mental technique which is both easy to learn and enjoyable to practice. Hundreds of scientific studies done by reputable universities and institutions around the globe have shown the practical benefits of T.M. to be three-fold:

- Firstly, there is an unfolding of mental potential as evidenced by studies in I.Q. and learning ability.

- Secondly, there is an improvement in health as shown by research indicating improved resistance to disease, normalization of blood pressure, relief from insomnia and normalization of weight. Since the rest and relaxation gained by the body during Transcendental Meditation is deeper than that of deep sleep and the system can, during the rest, neutralize deep-rooted stresses, more and more doctors are prescribing Transcendental Meditation for their patients as an antidote to stress.

- Thirdly, there is a beneficial effect on social behavior and personality traits as indicated by several psychological tests.

One of the most fascinating findings to date is that even if only one per cent of the population of a city is practising Transcendental Meditation, then the quality of life in that city as a whole seems to improve. A study of 12 U.S. cities with more than one per cent of their population meditating revealed a 16 per cent difference in the trend of crime rate between those cities and 12 control cities that had not yet reached that one in one-hundred level of meditators.

Currently, sociological research involving a great number of variables is being done on the well over 300 cities around the world which have reached that 'one in one-hundred' level, and if the preliminary findings are borne out, the implications could well turn out to be the most significant of our times.

With all these well verified practical benefits resulting from T.M. it is little wonder that even politicians are casting an eye in the direction of Transcendental Meditation. Our own Prime Minister Trudeau recently met with Maharishi Mahesh Yogi for about an hour.

Today, one finds people of all ages, from all walks of life who are practicing this technique, because it has been shown to be an extremely beneficial addition to the daily schedule of everyone. There are approximately 100,000 practitioners in Canada. Victoria has the highest percentage of meditators by over three per cent.

Franz Harpain, a teacher of Transcendental Meditation and instructor of mathematics at Vancouver City College, will be giving a free public lecture on Transcendental Meditation on Monday, April 28, at 8 p.m. at the Howe Sound Secondary School.

Police news

On April 10 there was a report of wilful damage to a truck windshield by an airgun. RCMP said parents should be aware that it is against the law for anyone to shoot within the municipality and that if children are seen with rifles, these will be seized and destroyed.

Under the Firearms Act anyone under the age of 18 with a rifle is required to be accompanied by a person 20 years of age or older and the owner of the gun must also hold a permit. There has been a report of gas thefts in Birken Road and a report from the Starlite Theatre of a person having a wallet containing $80 stolen. A juvenile was apprehended and the matter has gone to the probation officer.

Ski boots have been reported stolen at Alta Lake and a Britannia Beach resident reports the theft of a double spool gurdies. In the Upper Squamish two tool boxes and tools worth an estimated $700 have been stolen.

School Board briefs

A school board meeting is to be held on April 30 at 7:30 p.m. at Howe Sound Secondary School. Topics to be discussed will include the possibility of having separate junior and senior secondary schools when the Brackendale high school is built. An outline will be given of course content at the high school and there will be a question period.

Mrs. Hilda Rizun has been appointed by the Minister of Education to sit on the Capilano College Council.

The annual indemnity for school board members is to be raised to $2,000 per year.

Young people in the Squamish Indian Band have been awarded an O.F.Y. grant of $22,000 to employ 20 students for construction at the day camp at Evans Lake and for painting homes with the band supplying the paint.

Members are concerned that the west side of the highway near the Brackendale school had not had the work done on it that was requested some months ago. There has been a hold-up from the Department of Highways.

Members are also concerned about the north crossing at Mamquam school as they feel this is dangerous and the situation should be looked at again.

The Squamish Indian Band has arranged a system of responsibility for children crossing Highway 99 to go to Stawamus school with older students taking responsibility for the younger ones before and after school.

A number of members are to go to Victoria to discuss capital expenses proposals.

Enrolments have been surveyed and a number of schools have been found to be at or near capacity. The Brackendale secondary school and the Alta Lake school are scheduled to be built this year. The Garibaldi Highlands school and the Valleycliffe school are to be included in the 1976 program.

It was suggested that another elementary school should not be built in Brackendale until two more rooms are added to the present school so that it will warrant a full-size library and activity room. This would be the maximum size of the school.

Additions for the Pemberton secondary school are new offices and medical room and paper and gym storerooms.

The organizer of the World Cup Race at Whistler thanked Pemberton students for their assistance.

The candy machine in the cafeteria at Howe Sound secondary school has been broken into. It was pointed out that the machine is taking in $1,000 per month.

The board discussed sprinkler systems and how these affected ICBC insurance.

The board is to have a dinner meeting with Mr. Bouman, personnel manager of the Surrey School Board, to discuss personnel tests for prospective employees.

Members expressed concern about flooding damage and vandalism at the ecological sanctuary.

Dr. David McKinley is to test the sight and hearing of all kindergarten children.

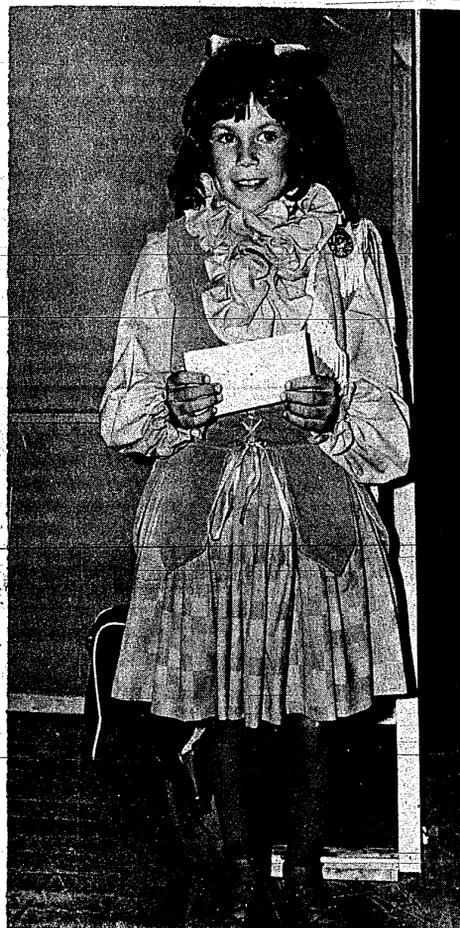

Approximately 15 students at Mamquam school are taking Royal Conservatory Music Examinations in May. At Stawamus school, students are learning guitar, violin, recorder and piano.

Children in Mrs. Smith's class at Mamquam are collecting stamps for cancer research.

Mamquam and Stawamus students held a chess tournament in March.

SHARON FISCHER accepting the prize for the Stawamus Elementary School band winners of the teen group section.

JACQUELINE EVERETT, whose solo won her first place in the child single class.

Court cases now are being set for dates in July. Staff-Sergeant Bloxham said he expects a decision to be made soon by the provincial authorities as to the granting of a second court date for this area. Break and enter offences were down last month with three to businesses, four to residences and one to another building.

Council briefs

Mrs. T. Simms advised council that she had corresponded with the B.C. Energy Commission and would be making a submission to them regarding the high price of propane.

Roy Mahalik, operator of the sewer treatment plant, has been given permission to attend a water and waste school at UBC May 12 to 16.

Council has also granted permission to Ron Cassell, building inspector, to attend the annual conference of the Building Inspectors' Association of B.C. in Richmond May 7-9.

A request from Denis McDougall for permission to clear, fill and use an access road from the Loggers Lane to Block B of Plan 15390 was referred to the Planning and Design Committee.

Alderman Makowichuk asked for confirmation of a date for the Senior Citizens Banquet and it was suggested that this be held at the beginning of June.

Mrs. G. Stilwell appeared before council to ask if something could be done about dog control. She stated there had been a problem in their neighborhood with dogs running in packs and she was afraid to let her children play outside.

Mayor Stewart said that council was looking into the question of a dog pound and there had been some answers to the advertisement for dog catcher so the situation should be alleviated before too long.

Mrs. W. Gosling asked council if there would be any funds available to operate an information centre. She said that the Capilano College office located on the main street was serving as a clearing house for information on the area but additional help would be needed for the summer months.

She said the centre was open on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays but she would like to have it open at least on the days when the Royal Hudson would be coming to Squamish. Council asked her to prepare a budget stating the amount of money which would be required.

In announcing the appointment of the new administrator for the District of Squamish, Mayor D. D. Stewart announced that Geoff Pearce would continue as the municipal clerk.

Council is to continue negotiations with B.C. Hydro regarding an exchange of electrical services to the chlorinator-fluoridation hydro line for cost of servicing three phase electrical supply to the pump station at the forestry building.

An alternative for traffic separation at the intersection of Highlands Way South and Mamquam Road is to be discussed.

Council is to make a decision regarding zoning for duplexes in Garibaldi Highlands until further information is available regarding meetings held in 1974 to clarify the planning and proposed zoning in the Highlands.

Sunset Investments Ltd. has asked for rezoning of Lots 231, 232, 233, 234, 235 and 243 of Block 4 Lots 35 and 49 of Block P, part of Lot 9 D.L. 512, Plan 15403. This would be adjacent to the proposed fourplex garden homes zoning on Perth Drive.

Members of the advisory planning commission recommended that the present zoning of Residential I remain. They said they were concerned about the increase in traffic and the increase in the number of children in the area. They were also concerned that the area had originally been established as a single family area and thought that higher zoning should be made in blocks rather than spread out as this development appeared to be.

Council was pleased to hear that it appeared there would be no difficulty in obtaining the use of the old RCMP building for municipal purposes.

Board of Variance makes recommendations

The board of variance approved reduction in minimum area requirements for two residential lots subject to the detached garage building being either removed or relocated to conform to the set-back-by-law.

The board recommended that one extra unit on Michael Moore's property would be to the detriment of adjacent property owners and residents and recommended that this not be allowed.

More information was requested concerning a house built by Bruce Essex at 41832 Faith Road.

Decisions made

Council has decided that no parking authority should be set up at the present time. Two-hour parking will remain with 15-minute parking outside the Post Office.

All streets will be treated equally so that "No Parking" signs can be consistently applied.

There will be no parking meters, but downtown streets will be marked with parking spaces according to the by-law.

The Brightbill property is to remain on a 30-day lease so that it is available for future parking requirements.

When Second Avenue is completed, angle parking will be on the west side of the street and parallel parking on the east side from Pemberton Street to Main Street.

The municipal parking lot at Lotus Gardens Cafe will be available for two-hour limited parking, the parking limit to be enforced.

Parking on Winnipeg Street between Second Avenue and Third Avenue is to be angle parking and the costs of culverts are to be confirmed. There will be no parking restrictions on the parking between Second and Third avenues.

$684,400 for cancer research

More than $684,400 will be spent in British Columbia this year on cancer research.

The grants and awards to support cancer research projects were announced by the National Cancer Institute of Canada of Toronto. Most of the funds will come from the Conquer Cancer Campaign held during the month of April, the annual campaign of the Canadian Cancer Society. The society is affiliated with the institute.

Of the total, the TRIUMF project at U.B.C. which is exploring a promising new type of radiation — negative pi-mesons — for cancer treatment will receive $240,440. The team of scientists on this project is led by Dr. L. D. Skarsgard of the B.C. Cancer Institute.

Grants also have been made to research scientists at U.B.C. and at the Cancer Research Centre at U.B.C.

A record total of $7,531,359 — an increase of 24 per cent over last year — of grants and awards has been made across Canada for cancer research by the NCI.

Board meeting to answer questions

The Board of School Trustees for the Howe Sound School District No. 48 will be holding a public meeting on Wednesday, April 30 at 7:30 p.m. in the Howe Sound Secondary School.

The board will welcome participation from parents, students and staff. There are many questions on which they would like opinions and input from members of the public.

Some of the topics the board would particularly like to see discussed are:

Junior secondary school senior secondary school. Should the board be moving to plan separate entities? How do you envision the new Brackendale secondary school? Semester system; pros and cons.

Time tabling. Some concern has been voiced about changes in senior secondary time tabling for next year. After explanation by staff members perhaps you will have questions you would like to have answered.

Late bus. Are you aware of how it was used? Do you wish it continued?

Courses offered. Perhaps you would care to comment on these.

The board hopes that there will be a good turnout of interested parents and that those who attend will feel free to ask these and other questions. Time: April 30 at 7:30 p.m. in Howe Sound Secondary School.

United Church men take over kitchen

As part of the 50th anniversary celebrations of the United Church of Canada, the men of the local church put on a dinner last Sunday evening which was well-cooked, tasty, efficiently served and very well attended, with almost 200 sitting down to the meal. As diners passed the serving tables the apron-clad men piled the plates high with turkey, mashed potatoes, peas, mashed turnips, cole slaw, pickles, rolls and cranberry sauce. Later, ice cream was followed by a piece of the very special anniversary cake in the form of a 50, put together and decorated by Dr. Lorne Kavic of Vancouver who is a frequent visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Olander.

Making the cherry pound cakes taught the men a number of things; the cherries should be cut in half, they should be floured to prevent sinking to the bottom of the pan, and the oven must not catch fire. Chosen to make the first cut was Mrs. K. Morrison, the senior church member present.

Staff Sergeant Bill Bloxham made an excellent MC whose revelations regarding the cooking of the dinner were surprising and amusing. One of the cooks will be forever famous for his lumpy gravy, such is fame! Gordie Sellers and Harry McCulloch put on an amusing skit. Harry now knows the difference between a bagdania and a banana, and if anyone sees a strange tow just call Harry, it might be his.

Rev. Wayne MacKenzie added to the enjoyment by singing a song accompanying himself on the guitar and later relating the ballad of "Packy the Rat" which few will ever forget.

Favorite hymns made for a good community singsong in which young and old alike joined, under the leadership of Alex McBride.

Credit for the successful event must go to Norman Halvorson and his large group of willing helpers.

As for the wives? For them it was a night away from the kitchen and a chance to see their husbands wearing an apron.

RECEIVING PINS for continuous membership in the Royal Canadian Legion were: 25 years continuous — Sid Bishop of North Vancouver, Alec Poole and Harold Davis of Squamish. Thirty years of continuous membership were held by Ernie Lipsey, Bill Mitchell, J. Cote, Owen Reeve, all of Squamish. The pins were presented at the dinner meeting of Diamond Head Branch 277, by President G. Goodall.

Ham adds to spring meals

Ham is traditional for Easter and many people probably think of ham as the whole or half, glazed and baked and served as a special treat for the spring holiday. But ham can be cooked in many other ways as well and ham slices are a delicious way to serve this popular meat.

Try cooking your ham in cider, or maple sauce. Or for ham slices how about a cranberry topped ham steak, ham slices with cornbread stuffing or maybe fruit ham roll-ups. They add a pleasant change to spring meals.

MAPLE SAUCED CANNED HAM
1 canned ham (3 pounds)
1/2 cup maple flavored syrup
1/4 cup prepared mustard
watercress or parsley sprigs

Have your butcher slice the ham very thinly then assemble it in its original shape and tie together with string. Place ham in small roasting pan and blend syrup and mustard and pour it over the ham.

Bake in a 325 oven for 1 1/2 hours or till heated through, basting with pan juices occasionally. Place on platter, snip string and separate slices slightly. Garnish with watercress. Serves 12. Good for a buffet.

HAM IN CIDER
1/2 fully cooked ham, about 6 pounds
6 peppercorns
1 quart apple cider
1 broken bay leaf
12 small onions
3 large sweet potatoes, peeled and quartered.
Prepared mustard

Put ham, cider, bayleaf and peppercorns in large kettle, bring to a boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer one hour and 15 minutes. Add potatoes and onions and simmer 20 to 30 minutes longer or until vegetables are tender.

Cut ham in thin slices and serve hot with mustard. Cool any leftover ham in cider, remove and chill. Makes 6 servings with leftovers.

CRANBERRY-TOPPED HAM STEAK
One centre slice fully cooked ham 1 3/4 inches thick (2 1/2-3 pounds)

1 can (16 ounces) whole cranberry sauce
1/2 cup dark seedless raisins
1/4 cup packed brown sugar
1/4 tsp nutmeg

Place ham in baking dish. Combine remaining ingredients and spread over ham. Bake in 350 oven 45 to 50 minutes or until heated through. Makes 10 servings.

HAM SLICES WITH CORNBREAD STUFFING
2 centre cut slices fully cooked ham, 1/2" to 3/4" thick
1 1/2 cups corn bread crumbs
1 can (8 oz) crushed pineapple
1/2 cup chopped celery
2 - 3 tpsps brown sugar

Place one ham slice in baking pan. Mix cornbread crumbs, pineapple and celery and spread over ham slice. Top with remaining ham slice. Sprinkle with brown sugar and bake in 325 oven 1 hour or until lightly browned. Makes 5 servings.

FRUIT-HAM ROLL-UPS
1 can (8 oz) crushed pineapple well drained
1 red skinned apple finely chopped
1/4 cup chopped walnuts
1/3 cup mayonnaise

1 tsp lemon juice or to taste
Salt and pepper to taste
8 thin sliced boiled ham
Shredded lettuce

Mix pineapple, apple, walnuts, mayonnaise and lemon juice and season with salt and pepper. Spoon evenly on ham slices, roll up to form cone. Arrange on bed of lettuce and chill. Makes four servings.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

Beam and core tests are to be required before any roadwork by developers is accepted by the district. Council was discussing Guilford Drive. It was decided that the developers should pay for these tests.

The advisory planning commission is to meet every two weeks to review the Mann Report and make recommendations to council.

The clerk advised that Lots 1 and 5 of Plan 4760 were available for sale under the present Industrial II zoning. The price being asked appeared to be prohibitive in terms of providing alternative land available for parking in the downtown area.

$20,000 was allocated for the completion of the Judd Slough control structures. The expenditure came from general funds.

Council confirmed that the present zoning of the R. S. Lalli property was Residential I. The present use of the property was a non-conforming use.

Following review of the reports of the building inspector, the fire chief and the by-law enforcement officer council recommended that at the present time strata conversion not be allowed to Southpark Apartments and that the owner be advised to upgrade the buildings to proper standard.

Council is to look into planting a screen of trees from the Mamquam Blind Channel bridge to the entrance to town to improve the appearance of the area.

The planning and design committee made some amendments to the proposed by-law concerning medical health aspects in the keeping of chickens and rabbits.

A letter from the Department of Highways asked that certain engineering be carried out to ensure the sidewalk beside Highway 99 in Brackendale would be at least 12 feet from the existing blacktop and that there should be a six-foot wide shoulder. Installation of culverts under existing driveways would be required. Council recommended that the sidewalk only go to the southern edge of the school property and that further estimates be obtained so that construction of the sidewalk would commence at the earliest possible time.

The clerk advised that he had contacted the manager of Marbar Holdings and asked that the company clean up the properties around houses under construction.

Alta Lake News

By JENNY BUSDON

The controversial highway parking problem was discussed at length at the last combined directors/general meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last week. President Pat Carleton opened the subject with his personal thoughts on the problem.

It is evident, he said, that in the spring ski season and with the lack of policing in the area, the chamber's original thoughts on banning parking on the highway shoulders is not feasible. It is possible, but not feasible if you cannot get police enforcement.

Continuing, he said that when one looks back to the signs posted at the lift company ticket office that warned skiers that their cars would be ticketed if left on the highway, there was no problem, but then after apparent influential representation to the RCMP in Squamish these signs were removed and once again the highway was lined with cars.

"The theory that one law covers everyone, therefore, is a farce," he added. "It would appear that the No Parking signs will only be at the intersections, fire hydrants and the blind spots. Shoulder parking will again be allowed for the spring and summer season but this will in no way change the winter snow removal law which will be back in force come winter — at least the signs will be there, whether or not the RCMP will bother to enforce it something else again," he said.

Carleton added that he felt it was a shame this situation had to happen when we were pushing for Highway 99 to go through to the north and through the Whistler area the highway would be lined with cars. He felt that Whistler would become known as an unpolicable area and would open the door for all kinds of problems, mostly undesirable. "If the RCMP cannot enforce the parking regulations, what hope have we for other laws," he questioned.

He suggested to the members that if the chamber backed the new regulations he felt we should insist that this law be enforced and that the lift company, realizing they have inadequate parking, cooperate and see that this law is stringently enforced. For those members that may be contemplating support for shoulder parking, he suggested they be prepared for the first skier's death on their shoulders — "because mark my words this is going to happen," he stressed.

"Easter Sunday was a prime example — cars on both sides of the highway, doors open on the highway side with drivers putting on ski boots and skiers with skis on their shoulders wandering in and around these open doors made travelling past them almost impossible and indeed very dangerous," Carleton said, closing his remarks.

Jack Bright answered the president's remarks by saying he agreed the parking problem was of considerable concern. "However, we live in a recreational area, be it beach area in the city, tennis area in the suburbs, each and every one of them has their parking problem. Right now, the existing parking laws presently enforced are ridiculous," he added.

Bright pointed out that at weekends when all cabins are occupied, and the mountain catering to thousands of skiers, and people travelling to the area just to get out of the city the only place to park was the lift company due to no parking in the subdivisions from 9 a.m. til 4 p.m. "It is a farce that when all these people have gone home one can park anywhere. In any other major ski area there is alternate side parking and the snow plough can clear at all times — we just don't have co-operation from the Department of Highways and they just have to get into gear and realize they are catering to a tourist recreational area. If alternate side parking was allowed and there are four cars per house at weekends, two cars could be taken to the lift base and the balance left in the subdivision," he concluded.

Some members felt that if all the owners or renters of the cottages in the subdivisions would provide some parking by ploughing out their driveways, like so many do and with satisfactory results, then two cars would be taken to the lifts and two cars would remain off the road in the driveway area and there would be no danger of creating havoc in a subdivision in case of an emergency vehicle trying to battle through parked cars.

Lengthy discussion continued on this subject with many points pro and contra to this controversial parking problem. A motion, unanimous in acceptance, concluded the debate, worded that a committee be formed to study the parking problem on the highway and in the subdivisions and that the chamber write the RCMP, Department of Highways and the Regional District and inform them that in view of the problems, a committee has been formed and that the chamber will get together with the Department of Highways and the RCMP to come up with a suitable solution and watch with interest the new enforcements and that the chamber will be hopeful these new rules will be enforced to the letter.

Jack Bright, Cliff Jennings and John Howells were the members elected to form this committee.

Other matters discussed included the letter received from Municipal Affairs Minister James Lorimer read out to the members in reply to the chamber's lengthy letter requesting when we are to know what the government plans to do for our area, among many other questions. Lorimer's letter curtly and shortly replied that we should be able to get these answers from the Squamish-Lillooet Regional District who were kept fully informed of all matters. It was moved a letter be written to the Regional District requesting answers to the many question marks on progress of the area and enclosing a copy of the letter received from Lorimer.

It was also moved and carried that with the announcement from the government of the extended land freeze to continue until June 30 and with our many other unresolved problems, that a committee of Franz Wilhelmson, Al Raine and Pat Carleton be formed to approach our local MLA for this area and express our concern and fully brief him on these problems we are presently faced with.

The president gave thanks to all those who had participated in making the Easter Parade a success. To Nello Busdon, John Howells, Helmut Salmhoffer and Bob Bishop for constructing the chamber float and Donna Carson in volunteering to do the sign work on the float and doing such a terrific job. Special thanks was extended to Ron Johnston who did the majority of the organizing and parade marshal Rich Naylor. Carleton said letters of thanks would be sent to Brenda Hinds (Miss PNE and Miss Squamish) and to the three judges, John Reynolds, Paul Burrows and Gerda Ples, and to Harold Cullin for the loan of his truck.

The Pemberton Valley Snowmobile Club held their season's year-end party at Uncle Tom's Cabaret on Saturday, April 19 with approximately 80 in attendance.

The club would like to extend a special thank-you to the Pemberton Hotel for the use of the cabaret for regular meetings and the party, to Warren's for the donation of a door prize which was won by Doug Kernaghan; and to Hustin's Sales and Service for a door prize that was won by Bob Thompson.

Guests enjoyed an evening of dancing to taped music and live entertainment provided by Jim Watson, Pat Muldoon and Eleanor Ross on guitars, who were assisted by Jim Hustins.

Also a thank-you to Tom Carney for the delicious buffet he prepared and served.

Mrs. Doreen Sherlaw of Squamish presented Kerry Meyers, Grade 5 student at Signal Hill elementary school, with a cheque for $5 for his anti-smoking poster. Students entered posters in the Cancer Institute's anti-smoking poster contest.

Other winners of a ticket to the Mini Theatre in Mt. Currie, which were all donated by J. P. Jones, are as follows: Carol Peters, Suzette Thorburn, Andrea Ross, Yina Van de Ree, Ellen Mah, Skye Housemann, Jack Meen, Aleta Ross, David Gilmore, David Gibbs, Brooke Calder, Garth Phare, Michael Henry, Danny Bain, David Hagen, Bernadine James, Lincoln Ferguson, Lori McNaught, Jerome Dan, and David Wong.

Pemberton High School news

By RUTH STAHLI

As part of the job experience program, a number of Mrs. Mackie's commercial students worked as office assistants in various businesses and offices in Squamish for a period of two weeks. The three Commercial 12 students were Carol Stark who worked at FMC Chemicals, Barbara Guthrie at the school board office, and Debbie Tourand at the municipal hall.

One other Grade 12, an academic student, was Sandra Rivett who worked at the B.C. Railway. Tannis Lowenberg was unable to go because of her broken leg. The other two students involved were Commercial 11 students Janine Oberson and Susan Sankey, both of whom worked in B.C. Railway offices.

These girls did various jobs, learning what an actual office job entails. This program was solely for experience's sake and the students will not be marked on it. Most of them considered it a very enriching experience and, as Mrs. Mackie said, there was no other way the school could give them a more meaningful exposure to office work.

Mrs. Mackie and the girls appreciate the employers having co-operated with the program and would like to extend their thanks to them and to the interested citizens of Squamish who gave the girls homes to stay in. A special thanks to the school board members who helped to locate the homes.

Some of the members of the Lions Club went into to watch the work and were so impressed that they brought it up at their next meeting and voted that they give $1,000 towards the project if the students needed it. Congratulations on your good work fellas!

Bob Fortune's Inside Forecast

On Saving Energy With Insulation

Bob Fortune, British Columbia's well known TV weatherman.

Insulation: a wise investment in future savings.

Installing proper insulation in your home is one of the very best ways to cut heat losses, reduce heating costs and conserve energy. What's more, when you consider rising fuel costs, an investment in insulation today can be returned many times over in years to come. There's no question, if your house is not insulated, you're paying far too much for heating—simply because much of the heat is being wasted. Or, if you have some insulation, but not the optimum amount, adding more insulation can still make a big difference to your heating costs—and to the amount of energy your heating system uses.

"R" Values: the best way to measure insulation.

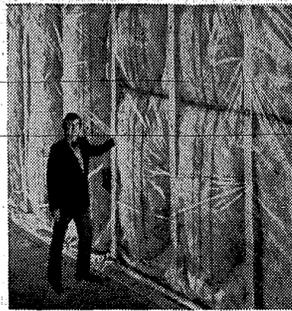

At one time, the amount of insulation was usually expressed in inches of thickness. But as new insulation materials were developed, "R" (resistance) values were adopted as the standard measurement of a material's resistance to the passage of heat, applicable to all types of insulation, regardless of form, shape or content. The higher the "R" value, the less heat will escape through the material. To achieve an insulation resistance of R-20, for example, requires either 6 inches of glass wool batts or 9 1/2 inches of glass blowing wool or 3 1/2 inches of urethane foam. There are many different kinds of insulating material available: cellulose fibres, polystyrene and urethane (rigid or foam), and of course, glass wool in batts, rolls and loose fill. Keep in mind, one material may have a higher "R" value per inch of thickness than another, and one form of a material may have a different "R" value than another form of the same material.

Attic insulation: for best results, start at the top.

Since heat rises, the attic is naturally the greatest single area of heat loss in your house and should be given top priority when installing insulation. For this area, B.C. Hydro recommends enough insulation to achieve a value of at least R-20, either as loose insulation poured by hand or mechanically blown into place, or as batts placed between the ceiling joists.

Walls and floors: important parts of the insulation system.

B.C. Hydro recommends an insulation rating of at least R-12 for walls and for floors above unheated areas. In most cases, a proper level of insulation for floors can be achieved with little difficulty—glass wool batts in the ceiling of an unheated basement are installed fairly easily. Concrete basement walls can be readily insulated before finishing with rigid insulation or glass wool batts as interior insulation, or with rigid insulation outside the walls. To properly insulate basement walls, however, the interior or exterior insulation must reach from the top of the wall down to at least 24 inches below ground level. For older houses with uninsulated exterior walls, there are now effective methods of blowing certain kinds of insulation into the walls from the outside through small holes drilled into the cavities between the studs.

No matter where you wish to install insulation in your house, it's always a good idea to talk to a qualified insulation expert first. Proper installation is essential and involves data relating to vapour barriers, ventilation and many other factors. Further information can be obtained from your local contractor or through the Customer Advisory Service of B.C. Hydro. Because insulation reduces heat losses, it's an excellent method of conserving energy in the home. When you look around, you'll find that energy conservation doesn't take much effort, but it can mean more than you think—to your budget, to your environment, to your future.

That's what's such a shame about wasting energy: you're wasting much more than just your money.

When you use energy wisely, you save a lot more than you think.

Valleycliffe . . . a housing success story

THIS WAS what Valleycliffe looked like four years ago. Note the changes and the many new homes since that time.

Guilford aids housing program

By ROSE TATLOW

On February 5th of this year Guilford Industries Ltd. officially celebrated the beginning of its sixth year of operations in the District of Squamish and the development of the Valleycliffe Park subdivision.

In those years there have been some high spots and some low ones in the course of developing the subdivision to its present status. The six-year development program has resulted in about $8 million worth of construction in the Valleycliffe area.

Among the highlights of that program has been the registration of 352 full serviced residential building sites with up to the present time the company having built or having caused to be built 252 single family homes on these lots.

A feature of the Guilford program has been the construction of 22 attractive townhouses which have been developed to add to the rental units available in the community.

In addition to the work which has been done in preparing the above lots for building, pre-servicing and engineering has also been completed for an additional 40 lots parallel to Guilford Drive and Westway Avenue.

In the past five years the company has built wide streets, avenues and crescents in the subdivision and provided a school site with an adjoining park site for the residents in the subdivision. In addition a green belt along the Stawamus River will add additional park facilities to the community.

The future growth of the area has not been overlooked and plans are underway for the commercial development of an area in the subdivision. Already there is a small corner grocery operation there but the commercial plans for the subdivision should be ready for council to look at soon.

It is hoped that construction tenders can be called during the early part of May with the projected cost of the commercial development estimated at $200,000 for the first phase of the development.

In the past year the company began engineering, surveying, clearing and pre-servicing for the final phase of the Valleycliffe development to be known as Upper Valleycliffe. This will cover the northwestern portion of the flat; and the bench lands on the western side of the valley.

These will be developed with possibly a connector road to the Northridge area and the final stages are expected to be completed by 1978.

In addition there are plans for apartments on the west side of Westway Avenue, with condominiums and townhouses proposed for the upper western end of Westway. There is also provision being made for a church for the area.

Ten years ago, the Valleycliffe development was just getting underway with a number of homes on Westway Avenue and the apartment blocks, all in the original plans prepared by Dan McNaughton.

Following the death of McNaughton, the present company took over the property and the attractive new subdivision with its modern homes, gardens, lawns and newer areas is fast taking on the look of a beautiful residential subdivision.

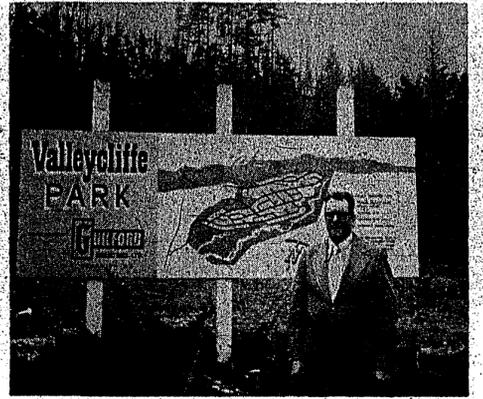

Guilford Industries Ltd. has aided the growth and development of the Squamish Valley by providing attractive homes in a secluded setting for the people living here.

Riverside park area

A feature of the Valleycliffe subdivision being developed by Guilford Industries will be the riverside park adjoining the Stawamus River on the east side of the development.

Homes along most of Guilford Drive, the most easterly road in most of the subdivision, will back on the river and this will be cleared as a park with the new road to the extreme southeast of the property also having homes backing on the river.

At the northeast corner of the property adjacent to the school site there is a large area set aside for a park.

CLIFF KILBREATH—standing beside the attractive sign leading to the Valleycliffe subdivision.

Guilford built new access road

In the past five years, since Guilford Industries took over the Valleycliffe subdivision there have been many changes but perhaps the most important one was the construction of the new access road to the property some three years ago.

Prior to that access was only by the former road which was at the foot of the hill south of the former forestry building, across from the road leading to the Stawamus Reserve.

The new road improved the access to the development and made it much more attractive. From the top of the new road a magnificent view of the subdivision, dominated by the Mamquam Glacier, can be obtained. There is also a view of Garibaldi and the sheer wall of the Chief rises to the east.

The new road, which cost over $15,000, was built by the developers and later blacktopped.

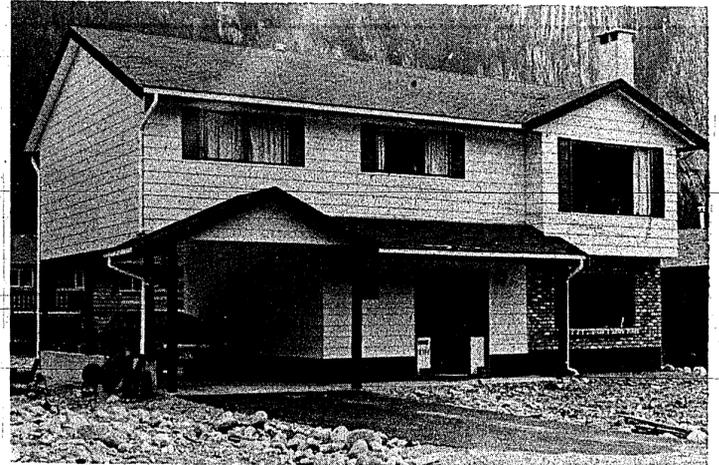

In addition to the new access road the company last fall opened the perimeter road, Guilford Drive, which will be the main access road to the upper portions of the subdivision. It runs along the eastern edge of the subdivision to the north end of the property where a park and school site are located.

Future roads in the area will be developed in the next few years with a small road at the southeast end of the property slated for development later this year.

The extreme north end of the upper road on the hill above the valley will be built this year with later portions scheduled for 1976 and 1977 while the new housing area on the flat at the north end of the property is not scheduled for development till 1978.

Other proposed development in the area but not dependent on roads as it will be east of the northern portion of Westway Avenues will be the proposed townhouse condominium complex, the church, commercial area and apartments scheduled for the subdivision.

Tree names featured

Tree names are featured in the streets and crescents in the Valleycliffe housing subdivision with Guilford Industries Ltd. using the names of trees in the new areas to delineate the roads, streets and crescents.

The only exception is Guilford Way, the main road into the new area. In the early stages of the subdivision tree names were also used to differentiate the different styles of housing but this no longer applies.

Some of the names used in the subdivision are Cedar, Hemlock, Chestnut, Maple, Spruce, Birch, Pine, Fir, Arbutus, Lombardy, and Alder.

Names in the areas to be opened in 1975, 1976 and later, will follow the present nomenclature.

A TELEPHOTO LENS brings the settlement at Valleycliffe closer to the viewer. This picture taken from the access road leading to the subdivision is a marked change to the one taken four years ago.
