Bird gives SEP annual report

Programme, headed by coordinator Al Bird, has just released its annual report concerning the nature and number of operations, donations, and equipment required.

During the year October 1974 to October 1975, a total of 18 rescues and searches were carried out. The seven rescues for missing persons; three underwater victim recoveries; one air crash victim recovery on a mountain; and one assistance to the RCMP with equipment and

A total of 1,317 miles was travelled involving 115 people with a total of 530 man hours.

One course was given to ground search teams with the aid of maps and compasses and two lectures were featured, to skiing and hiking clubs in Vancouver, on the topic of survival.

During the first part of the year, eight teams of individuals were formed. These teams encompassed every facet of rescue and search: ground search (40 members); skiing (ten members); snowmobile (10 members); river rescue (six members); marine rescue (20 members); under

Improve old police building

Council last week discussed the needed improvements to the former police building which it has obtained from the government for a rental of one dollar

Estimated costs of improvement ranged upward of $2,000 with the main items plumbing, some windows and furnace repairs.

Alderman Jerwa suggested that, if the students can use it in the evening when it is not needed as an activity centre for the handicapped, perhaps they could assist with some of the improvements.

It was also suggested that after the district makes the improvements the users will be assessed a fee to cover light, heat and general upkeep.

Earthquake felt in Squamish

An earthquake with atremors which lasted, according to various reports, from several seconds up to 30 seconds; was felt in the Squamish area at about 2:30 a.m. on Sunday, Dec.

George Furniss said he noticed the tremor, which seemed to last for about ten4 seconds, and the entire house shook. Residents in other areas of the community said articles fell off shelves and their homes shook enough to waken them from a sound sleep.

The epicentre of the 'quake was believed to have been in the Sechelt peninsula and reports said the 'quake was 4.5 on the require more vehicles than most would require a number of 4, Friday, Dec. 5, and Saturday, snowy. Richter scale.

Regional District aid sought for incinirator

Discussions have already been held with the regional district concerning the construction of an incenerator to serve the area from Squamish to Pemberton and south to Britannia.

It was suggested the municipality could build it and charge the district for using it or the district could build it and the municipality manage it. The question of waste negotiate with the other areas in the lower portion of the regional district to see if they are interested in being part of the project. The resort municipality of Whistler, electoral areas in the southern portion of the regional district and even Pemberton could be asked if they will participate in a joint program to obtain an incinerator for the area. In preparation for such a meeting council has decided to ask Doug Webber of WEB Associates to prepare some facts and figures on the costs of such a project.

Local mail delivery at east two years away

two years away Mayor D. D. Stewart told council last week when he reported on talks with post office officials. He said that unless something happened to speed up the process it would take at least that long for the necessary steps to inaugurate such a service to be taken.

Stewart said there are enough mail drops in the area. One problem is the lack of sufficient house numbers but this could be solved in the time span needed. There may also be a question of lack of sidewalks in some areas. The next step will be to plan the "walks", the routes which the postmen use to deliver the mail. This is an in-depth study and the actual walk will have to be plotted for the deliveries.

It was pointed out that due to the widespread nature of the district the mail service will

Local mail delivery is at least be one mail delivery per day, probably in the morning and this would be a five day a week service with no mail on Satur-

> Another problem, and this is a political one, is that for the purpose of mail delivery there will be only one post office, the main one, and the others will be sub post offices, Squamish No. 1 would be the main post office and sub post offices would likely operate the same as they do in Vancouver, selling money orders, stamps, etc. The mayor indicated there would still be sub post offices in Garibaldi Highlands and Brackendale.

Another requirement before any mail delivery could be started would be a new post office building with property large enough for a vehicle compound as well. The new postal service areas. Stewart said there would vehicles and these would have Dec. 6.from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m.

to be kept in an area adjacent to the building.

Aldermen Bryant and Jerwa suggested the new post office might be located in the proposed new industrial area but Mayor Stewart said the location should be in the downtown business area.

However, there are many problems which must be solved before local house to house delivery of mail becomes a reality and it will probably take two years to achieve it,

ADVANCE POLL

Advance polls will be held for three afternoons in the United Church Hall on Fourth Street.

They will be Thursday, Dec.

Voters hear the candidates' views

There was a lively, concerned audience at the allcandidates meeting held in the Royal Canadian Legion on Monday, Dec. 1 and the room was almost filled to capacity to hear the representatives of the four leading parties contesting the West Vancouver-Howe Sound seat in the upcoming election Dec. 11 present their views.

It was in some ways a partisan audience, with pockets of the faithful for several parties, but most people were there to listen and to hear what the candidates had to say and their answers to the questions put before them.

The candidates, Frank Jameson for the Conservatives; Kitty Maracle, Liberal; Murray Miller, NDP; and Allan Williams, Social Credit, chose numbers to decide in what order they would appear and Mrs. Maracle led off the debate in which each candidate was allowed seven minutes to talk, there was a question period and then each candidate was allowed a five-minute rebuttal period.

Maracle said we shouldn't be listening to people in Victoria tell us what is best — we should be telling them what we want, and see that it is done, "I've learned to represent people, to listen to them, and to communicate ideas to governments and bureaucracies.

"Our society has become so complex one would have to work full time to be an MLA. I make two promises, I would be prepared to communicate and I would open up an all-time office in the riding."

Frank Jameson said you really know it's election time on the Upper Levels are finished. Conservative policies are health care in the intermediate field; the present government brought in 1,500 extended care beds but there are no intermediate facilities; and moderate mining royalties. There were none in the Bennett days, now there are royalties. and super-royalties and no mining. We're proposing a moderate royalty.'

On education, he said the smaller classes cost far more than the government had realized they would but he said he did not fault them for what they tried to do:

Allan Williams hammered on the theme that government does' nothing on its own, it only does what it does with monies provided by the taxpayers. He pointed out the mining industry was the reason for the BCR's northward extension but with the turndown and loss of forest revenues railway is running at a $30 million loss. B.C. Hydro, the ferry system and ICBC, all of the Crown corporations, are being run at a loss; and they all. take money from the services which should be provided.

"Education taxes have risen, they have not been taken off property and municipal tax rates have all been affected. Provincial taxes have doubled but aid to municipalities is up only 12 percent.'

Williams asked, "Are you getting fair value for your tax dollar? In education, in hospital services?"

Murray Miller, speaking for the NDP, outlined the government's record and said he was asking for support on that record. He cited Mincome, Pharmacare, the farm lands, minimum wages, adult care services, homemaker services, and meals on wheels. Rent controls, to prevent outlandish profits to landlords when housing becomes scarce.

"We've instituted a full Hansard, a human rights code, community resource boards, the right to inspect your own credit records. "Unemployment is in the news today but right now the markets are down because of the international situation."

Miller_cited the large numbers of jobs saved or created by the government; 2.700 at CanCel, 450 at Panco, 260 at Plateau Mills, 130 in the Prin cess Marguerite and the many jobs created by the government.

In the lively question and answer period which followed the when you see all the overpasses candidates statements. Williams answered most of the queries saying the Socreds would continue price controls to determine how best they could be phased out following federal legislation; he didn't believe in cutting BCR employee salaries but also didn't believe the premier deserved $54,000 per year and that the ministers of the Crown and the MLAs should be prepared to take a cut to show they were really concerned about the economy.

> On a question regarding ICBC losses. Miller said these would be $36 million; there are problems in setting up a program and costs of repairing cars has increased. Williams forecast losses of up to $100 million and said people do not know what insurance is costing because it comes from hidden taxes, some from people who do not have cars. Maracle would, put it back in private hands and bring back an assigned risk pool and Jameson said it would be kept only where necessary. It was supposed to save millions; let's not hide costs in other

Pat Brennan asked whether the Socreds planned to enlarge TFL's for the large corporations and Williams said no, they are looking forward to the results of the Pearse inquiry and would take another look at tenures. Perhaps it is time for a change.

Len Gorsuch asked Williams how he could be sure he would not cross the floor again and was told, "I listened to Dave Barrett when he said trust me but I found he was not to be trusted, he was taking too muchpower into the hands of the. cabinet. Editor, The Times;

As an active participant in the democratic process in the election of government at all levels, and I freely admit, a convinced partisan of one political persuasion, I. have watched the events during the current provincial election with great

Earlier this year I observed the defection to the Socreds of three Liberal MLAs, one of whom had been the provincial leader of the Liberal Party. They were followed more recently by a Liberal ex-federal cabinet minister, who was defeated in the last federal elec-

The quartet are all university graduates, two of them holding the degree of Ph.D.

I recall many past utterances from this trio, both on the public platform, and in the forum of the provincial and federal parliaments. These left no doubt as to their abhorrence of Socred policies, and of the intellect of that movement's elected members. Why, one of them even wrote a book "Politics in Paradise" which heaped scorn on their loathsome antics.

In spite of all this, in spite of what appears to be their intellectual ability and personal sophistication, they have now joined their former bete-noir. They all claim, however, that they are still Liberals at heart, so one must assume that they are intellectual coverts to the party and policies which they so vehemently scorned over so many past years:

Many things have occurred since the opening of the campaign, which might just have given them the odd twinge of doubt as to the wisdom of this near miraculous conversion. I refer to the many statements which their new leader has made, which he has later had to retract or amend, saying, I really didn't mean it that way.

For instance, he said that Mr. Barrett called the election because he had had a sneak preview of the report on the redistribution of constituency boundaries, which would have been disastrous for Mr. Barrett's election chances, had they been used. This was categorically denied by the commission chairman, Justice Norris, a man respected for his impeccable integrity and honour.

Consider Mr. Bennett's frail

nouncement that the chairman of the Workers' Compensation Board was going to resign because he was fed up with political interference, which was followed immediately by a flat denial from the incumbent.

Then there is the situation in the two-member riding of Vancouver Centre, where Herb Capozzi and a Mr. Lau are the Socred candidates. The latter, who has a degree reported to have been bought and paid for "mill", obtained his nomination in very dubious circumstances. Mr. Capozzi later said that he plus it shows a profit on cars was not going to repudiate Mr. Lau, but that he was going to

This could be equated to a receiver of stolen goods making a profit from them, and then castigating the police for letting them be stolen in the first place, and crying "Stop Thief." The plot thickens, however. It now appears that someone phoned the head of the originating federal department in Ottawa, in order to confirm the authenticity of the stolen Telex. This turns out to be one A. Many in this community will remember Mr. Weekes who at one time owned and published a weekly (or perhaps weakly would be better) newspaper. No doubt they, like myself, will have made their own assessment of his ability and acumen, Really, these four renegade Liberals must be wondering just what they have got into. There is a succinct answer, but unfortunately, unprintable.

I predict that like all opportunists and turncoats (I recall they were called Quislings in the last war) that they are on a Gadarine slope; a slope on which they will descend to political oblivion.

Editor, The Times: Many people tell me that

Ocean Falls is a 'sweetheart' of a place to live. I would suggest that some of our people who have seen this government corporation as a viable operation while in competition with free enterprise industries like Rayonier (Woodfibre) whose employees walk the streets of Squamish all summer with no employment, that they should reconsider the value of having taxpayer operated government facilities in preference to plants operated under the free enterprise system for the good of all the people. Certainly with 110,000 unemployed in the Province, this is not the government of all the people.

I certainly understand that any government corporation can operate at a profit if it is totally subsidized by the taxpayers irregardless of what the common market is. It distresses me to go to my door and find milk cartons with Ontario and Quebec manufacturing marks on them, when we in B.C. have one of the top world producing pulp excuses to avoid appearing on and paper industries and still the great TV debate between all have to import products from ment cannot even fill our local market let alone make way for exports to bolster our economy.

Let us consider B.C. Rail at the present time. It is indicated that the new rail plant will pay for its tooling and reconstruction within two years. Who is your customer that is going to give you your profit line in the purchase of your product? Is it the C.N.R. who recently placed a car order with National Steel Car in Hamilton? The Hamilton from a Californian degree operation, as you probably know, pays taxes and services in the community of Hamilton, built and provides a Christmas Party for the employees at the And then of course, we have those profits. Is your rail plant building cars for sixteen or twenty-four thousand and who is subsidizing between the sizteen and twentyfour thousand costs? Is it the only customer you have, B.C. Rail, a corporate crown company who has cost the taxpayers over 125 million dollars over the last two years in order to keep it from becoming bankrupt and isn't this providing the employees with welfare subsidy to pay cheques instead of pay cheques from profit of the

You talk about CanCel (or Cancer as it could be well called), as being in direct competition with other employable factories and at the expense of their shut down, you are making CanCel look good although nobody has ever been able to The world market has nothing to do with these problems in B.C. As a province that has many natural resources as we have here, it would seem that we would be the last people affected by a recession or a depression; instead we are the first. And who is the person who suffers the most, but the worker. He is the first man in the firing line when the economy starts to

How can a government which is having trouble paying its bills through I.C.B.C. guarantee that the salary of the working man will be carried on in the future? I have not heard any guarantees up to this date. The B.C. Rail plant needs the supporting industries in the province to make Editor, The Times; the competitive price here agreeable with that of the rest of our country.

There is a steel mill that must be built to provide raw products for this plant and even though we have to work in these days within the environment, it would be better to have a little bit of smoke in the eyes and money in the pocket; than tears in the eyes and the pocket empty. This plant could be placed under the most modern methods and can provide an industry that would give a market to our local province and export a product that would make us strong. Let me give you an example: If you were to purchase an automobile and it was under finance and you didn't pay for it, the car would be seized and taken away from you. Here in the province of B.C., we are playing with a lot bigger government has put us in which cannot be paid off during our generation and indeed for possibly another generation. This is the financial mess that this province is in at the moment. There are cars being produced in this province by Hawker-Sidley of Trenton, N.S., by Sorel Industries in Longeuil. Quebec, and National Steel Car at Hamilton, Ontario, as the principal manufacturers of rail equipment. It has been experienced that it will take at least five years, for the people in the country purchasing cars to what they want due to the in-

have confidence in a new manufacturing situation and I do not see it as being fair that we should sell cars that have to be subsidized by the taxpayer in order to give them a competitive price in eastern Canada. Without back up industries, which will expand in the province and expand the province up to a point og necoming a self-supplier of its needs, we cannot expect to be able to manufacture cars here and not sell them at the market for less than it cost us to manufacture them. The import of all these goods necessary for the components of cars in the B.C. Rail plant, must be brought in from outside and the charge and costs are tremendous when shipping alone is added to the raw product. Also any profit line between the manufacturer of the product and the sale of the product is not realized by Rail-West. It is for these reasons, I presume that our sales people in Rail-West were not able to secure a contract for the recent order placed on National Steel Car by the C.N.R. I also believe that there are sufficient well knowledgable_railroaders in the province to maintain the B.C. Railway within the province, to let it grow and be a strong representation of our province rather than having to seal off spur lines or joining lines in order to get money because our coffers are empty.

In conclusion, as I have expressed my views in this paper, I have signed my own name to them. These are my own personal views as expressed to the people of B.C. and to the workers of the town of Squamish. I have signed my own name and I would not use any pseudonym.

always brings out the people with no snow tires; those who aren't prepared for winter and then the tire shops are inundated with demands from people who want snow tires right now. Several, years ago we suggested that after the beginning of November, when wecould expect snow at any time, people venturing on the Squamish highway at Horseshoe Bay without snow tires should be charged. They should also be turned back. They are not only a danger to themselves but a menace to everyone else on the highway.

One local resident, on her way home early on Sunday morning, said that in the space of a few miles north of Horseshoe Bay they saw three vehicles in precarious positions. One was almost over the bank; in fact she insisted a touch of the hand would have put it over and about a hundred feet down the hillside; a short distance along the road another truck had spuncompletely around and rolled. landing on the roof and a short distance further up the highwaya small sports car was straddling the cement abutment along the

"Believe me, after that we crawled the rest of the way to Squamish at about 20 miles an hour," she said.

That was with just a light skiff

I know I was up at Whistler for the official opening of "City Hail" by the Hon. Robert Williams, minister of lands, forests and water resources, and I didn't even stay for the coffee afterwards. You could see the grey clouds creeping down the mountain and I don't relish the road at the best of winter times and felt it was no place to be on a snowy weekend so I turned around and scooted for home as soon as the ceremonies were

Traffic was heavy, there were skiers returning to the city and skiers coming to Whistler and several times I chickened out, road and let the other motorists

The new land office and liquor store, two trailers, attractively camouflaged, do not look like trailers and do manage to look as if they belong to the setting. Incidentally Williams said that the liquor store did over $5,000 worth of business in the first week it was open.

Later that evening it started to snow and the white stuff, soft and fine as sifted sugar, slowly drifted from the sky. By morning there was only a light skiff of snow but my poor pussy cat didn't like it one bit.

You would see him daintily lift his foot, shake it, look at the paw and then lift the other as much as to say "What's that?"

However, he decided that snow just wasn't for him and preferred to spend most of the day curled up on the bed in the house, only peeking out the door long enough to take a look at the outside world and venture back into the house again.

Plainly he's not a snow-cat! Incidentally if the snow lasts, and by the way it's raining outside right now I don't see how it can, be sure to feed the birds. They could use bread crumbs or seeds. In fact you can buy a special wild bird seed (we used to buy it by the 50-pound bags because we went through so much of it) and they need the extra food when the weather is

They also love suet and while one school on bird feeding says not to give them peanut butter we've always found that they just love it. Particularly the kind with the crunchy bits of peanuts in it. In fact if you have any squirrels around they'll find the peanut butter and the birds won't get a chance to eat it.

Noticed that the granchildren feed the birds at Prince George and they always have some big woodpeckers coming to the feeder.

There's a coon on the riverbank that Dad has been feeding all fall. In fact he also fed him during the rest of the year and I guess he'll be coming along for his regular handouts now that food may be a little harder to get. Coon like dry bread and fruit; they love apples. So you see it is quite a winter chore to keep all the wild things fed and to make sure that they manage to survive to delight us with their songs and their sightings in

On a question concerning the amounts being spent on campaigns in this riding, Williams said he had a budget of $18,000; Maracle wasn't sure but thought it would amount to $4,000; Jameson said he doubted if it

Brennan asked their opinions, agree but did so on a grain port in Squamish, coal port in Britannia and wanted to know what they would do to keep this community running: Williams said major bulk loading facilities would destroy the estuary, he understood considerable deep sea facilities could be developed at Britannia without harming Howe Sound and with the possibility of interties with major lines commerce could be brought down the line and it would be illogical to take it to Vancouver. Maracle felt coal should go to Prince Rupert if it comes from the north. "I don't know what kind of industry you want here but you should decide that and I'll listen to you."

Jameson said the Squamish area needs sufficient diversity so employment is steady, too many industries are cyclical. New industries of a sustained nature are the kind needed.

Miller said studies have been made and proposals should be made of the kind of industry desired; which would not destroy the estuary. He said there was no policy of establishing a new industry in Squamish. Coal, sulphur and wheat would all bring problems. When all studies are completed some industry will be found for Squamish.

On a question of the third crossing of Burrard Inlet, Williams said the GVRD has prepared a liveable regional plan and there will be a need for a third crossing. "I will support it as part of the Squamish-Lillooet Regional concept."

Jameson advocated rapid transit, as did Maracle who said another was needed. Miller said. another crossing would cause

Williams said there should be a complete review of all exemptions and all land should be assessed. Crown corporations should pay real property taxes expecially Railwest as it is seeking business from other railways and should be treated like any other commercial enterprise. It also brings additional costs to the municipality. Maracle and Jameson both categorically agreed and Miller. said he was not too pleased to

Miller really blew a question on housing when asked why more houses were being built here when so many are vacant and said that people would be leaving Britannia to come to Squamish and the houses would be needed.

In the rebuttal period, Miller advocated more control of resources by the community, intermediate hospital care, removal of school taxes from property and claimed that all hospitals have overruns at this time of year and that if competition is allowed in the insurance business it will cream the industry.

Williams said a Socred government would not letprivate insurance cream the industry, they were promised a bill of rights but never saw it, welfare costs have risen from $160 million to three and a half times that amount. "We're opposed to the abuse of welfare," he added, "and want electoral boundary revisions.'

Jameson pointed out that Miller defended losing money every time it was mentioned. "Will he continue to defend every loss in future?"

He mentioned the difference in basic philosophy of the two middle parties the individuality of the Conservatives with Liberals expecting government

At one point during the meeting, chairman Doug Fenton, who did an extremely's capable job in controlling what could have been a tough situation, gavelled L. C. Minchin down and told him to "sit down and shut up" when he persisted in trying to make what more problems and rapid transit. Fenton called a 'political' said. "It has brought the people speech. "Whistler will continue as a municipality but it must be under the direction of local people, not provincial government bureaucrats."

Bennett said he had a platform and it's not just promises to get elected. It represents a commitment to a set of priorities based on principles of justice and equal opportunities and need.

With his platform he stressed again that the top priority for any party and any government is to improve the climate for industry; create jobs and thus bring in the revenues necessary for social betterment.

There was a recent meeting of the Parks and Recreation Commission in Squamish. The meeting was called in order to meet the representatives of the various sports organizations making use of the Centennial Field and other district recreational facilities.

Attending the meeting were: Alderman A. G. Cunningham, chairman; Ald. D. W. MacLennan; Mrs. Gwen Rimmer, John Wilgress; Dan Moon, recreation supervisor; K. E. Beliveau, administrator; Rudy Venekamp, Squamish United Soccer Association; Chuck Elliott, baseball association; Ron Barr. softball association; Dan Wall, softball association; and Walter Sweeney, football association and soccer commission.

Venekamp indicated that the soccer association was very happy with the facilities provided for their use. Their only request was to have the district move the bleachers presently in the area between the soccer fields as they were proving to be a hazard to the Elliott presented a written proposal outlining the requirements of the Howe Sound Baseball Association. He indicated there was a real need. He was advised that this was for a new field for Little League baseball and ball fields in the four major areas; Squamish. Garibaldi Highlands,

Valleycliffe and Brackendale; with the Highlands and Valleycliffe having top priority; that the fields should not have grass infields, which was one of the major complaints of the present set-up in the Centennial Fields area; and the Pat Goode Park is suitable for Little

League baseball, but is not suitable for Babe Ruth and Pony League players.

Sweeney made a presentation on behalf of the junior soccer players. He indicated that they would like to see some effort made to have the present backstops at the Centennial. Field moved so that the infield for the ball diamonds would not be located on the soccer field.

presently being contemplated. Sweeney also indicated that there is a real need for coaching and refereeing clinics in this area and he would welcome any assistance the Parks and Recreation Commission might give him in setting up such a programme.

Ron Barr made a presentation on behalf of the Senior Fastball Association. He' reviewed the progress of the present new fastball diamond and was hopeful that the diamond would be useable in the spring of 1976 and that the district would be in a position to give financial assistance towards the remainder of the work.

John Wilgress spoke on behalf of the local lacrosse programme and stated that members of the lacrosse association were very happy with their facilities and. indicated that their priority would be for suitable lighting for the lacrosse box. Wilgressalso mentioned the need for proper coaching and refereeing clinics.

The matter of selling advertising on the interior fence panels was discussed and the Senior Fastball Association requested the municipality's approval of this practice.

The report based on the meeting was accepted by the commission.

Council studies ditch proposals

Council will take another look at the proposal to solve the problem of the ditch on Grant Road.

Arjean Holdings had indicated it would be prepared to pay an amount equal to the cost of the concrete pipe required to run a storm sewer from the corner of Rod Road to Judd Road.

In exchange the municipality would be expected to complete the shoulder surfacing of this subdivision which would enable the municipality to eliminate the present ditch along Grant Road.

However Alderman Makowichuk insisted that the drainage should go through the back of the northern piece of property to Horse Creek. Ald. Bryant said that you couldn't dig ditches through someone's property but council will takeanother look at the situation.

SOCIAL CREDIT LEADER Bill Bennett and candidate for money," Williams said. West Vancouver Howe Sound Allan Williams at the "I'd like to announce the exluncheon for Bennett held in the Chieftain Hotel last week.

Allan Williams told a crowd of well over 150 in the Mira Hotel last week that his party is dedicated to freedom of the individual, the benefits of individual initiative and the rights of the individual.

He told the intent crowd that members of the cabinet have no business holding offices in Crown corporations such as B.C. Rail.

The railway should be run by railroaders, hydro by the producers of gas and energy and . ICBC by those who know how to run insurance companies.

"I don't care what party they belong to," he said, "if they are good railroaders, they will be left to run the railway. We would do nothing to increase the inefficieny of Crown colporations by political interference."

Hitting at the promises to build a poultry processing plant in the Kootenays, Williams said that the legislature never voted money for a two million dollar plant in the interior, but it has been announced. "He's got to go to the legislature for the

penditure of two million dollars in Squamish," he added. "To Williams said we must beginbuild a bridge across the to build in B.C., not for today Mamquam, I'd like to announce but for tomorrow, for the youth that we'd finish the dyke. But I will tell you one thing. As a representative of this area since ters of a billion dollars on 1966 any money spent in education in B.C.," he said, Squamish has been well spent. The provincial government has always got full value for its good development, employs a lot of people who live here and enjoy a lot of things the municipality and the people of Squamish provide, "But I can't understand why Railwest doesn't pay property taxes to the municipality or why B.C. Speaking on education.

Williams said that in an extensive survey done in September and October the two issues most important in most people's minds were the economy and education.

"Parents, teachers and students criticize educational opportunities in B.C. today. Teachers are uncertain of their role, parents doubt if children learn what needs to be learned and students begin to wonder what it does for them.

"We will be guided by three words," he said, "discipline, challenge and excellence; words which have been sadly lacking in education in B.C. Discipline - students have to contribute in a meaningful way; teachers have to control to produce a quality product. Challenge - to direct their endeavours to be meaningful to them and good for the province. Excellence for too long we have been concerned about assuring that somehow they emerge at the other end with a diploma. Excellence will make us succeed. It encourages others to succeed.'

Williams said we are a rich province; rich in forest resources we have been rich in minerals, but the richest resources are our children. We can export the ideas they produce and win greater rewards than from extraction of natural resources. "We've already seen the mining industry destroyed by the incautious actions of government in a year and a half; the forest industry is in trouble and if our number one industry goes what do we have left?"

"We're spending three quar-"and do you really think that we are getting our money's worth?" Other key points in his talk were that the greatest cause of Williams said Railwest is a inflation in Canada is government itself; he approved aid to

They are told they will lose Pharmacare rights. Every political party in 1972 campaigned for Pharmacare and it will be continued. "It is rumored rents will go up by 28 percent if Socreds are elected. Controls will remain until supply of housing is sufficient to provide adequate housing for all the people who want, it. A system of effective rent review will ensure there is an equity of rent control."

In the question period which followed, Williams answered questions on mining and several other fields. He said if elected the Socreds would repeal Bill 31, the Mineral Land Tax Act, and the minister's discretionary powers.

He also said that he felt the logger was entitled to earn as much as the person who works in a service industry; in a supermarket or the girl who cuts pies on the B.C. ferries. Primary and resource producers are the people who are producing the wealth of the country.

Snowy, Icy roads accident

Snow and icy roads on Saturday, Nov. 29 resulted in two accidents with Donald Wilkinson of West Vancouver suffering facial injuries when his vehicle, travelling south on Highway 99, left the highway immediately south of the Mamquam Blind Channel bridge, headed down the bank and into the blind channel at 8:15 p.m. Charges are being contemplated.

On the same evening at 9 p.m. in the Cheakamus Canyon, Chris Shelton of Vancouver lost control of his vehicle in the snow. and plunged 50 feet down the bank. Shelton walked back up.

Raymond Thiebault of Alta Lake was travelling north of Highway 99 when he lost control of his vehicle on a left curve about 11/2 miles south of the Gulf Oil station at Whistler and rolled the vehicle. Both Thiebault and a passenger suffered injuries.

Motorists returning home from Vancouver on Saturday night or early Sunday morning reported that the snow caught many motorists by surprise and there were a number of incidents involving cars off the road or in difficulty along the highway north of Horseshoe Bay.

Snow conditions on Sunday made driving difficult and motorists were advised that unless it was necessary to travel it would be wiser to stay home.

The monthly police report for the month of October has been released indicating that there was a slight decrease in the amount of crime in the Squamish area.

Complaints received and dealt with numbered 372. Fires attended, one; liquor cases, two; drugs, one; articles stolen, six (articles found, five); bicycles stolen, nine (four recovered); assaults, five; frauds, one; disturbing the peace, three; break and entries, eight; wilful damage to public and private property, nine; thefts, 28; and dog complaints, nine. "October generally has continued to show a small decrease over the past several months in the amount of crime," stated Staff Sgt. Bill Bloxham. "However, while encouraging, is not sufficient time-wise to enable any positive conclusions to be drawn, it is hoped that this

"From the 25 road crashes this month, only one person was injured, and seven people charged with drinking driving offences, and 78 offences dealt with under the Provincial Statutes for driving offences."

The report further goes on to say, "Your attention is respectfully drawn to the dog situation. We have assisted Mr. Biggen-Pound, municipal by-law inspector, in an attempt to prevent serious injury which might result with packs of dogs. A large number have been destroyed this month. The situation is aggravated by females in heat being allowed to run free, which of course creates a dog pack of males who present a problem to pedestrians, homeowners, and apartment residents who find it difficult to cope with the aggressiveness shown by these dogs; as well as minor damage being done to

"We have had numerous calls' dealing with dogs, most of which have been referred directly to the municipal hall without being acted on at this point. One area of concern in which a resident was housing 14 or so dogs has been rectified. We kept one female in heat in our department garage for several days in an attempt to temporarily alleviate the situation, however, this is not practical.

"While I realize the building and staffing of a dog pound is costly, it is a service which would benefit the residents of Squamish, if property contracted and policed.

"Hallowe'en 1975 did not present any problems. I would suggest that the contributing factors to this would possibly be more restraint being shown by would-be troublemakers, efforts by Squamish Volunteer Fire Department, assistance given to our department by the Rebel Radio Club, conservation officers, Fisheries Branch members, and auxiliary constables to our department, along with the Squamish seasonal rain."

The committee also recommended that the summary of its comments with regard to the Mann Report be recommended to council.

-u'A proposal by John Jenkins for a 29 unit motel and a commercial building, both on the property he owns on Second Ave. and Pemberton Road was not approved unless he revised them to comply with the three storey height limitation and expands the parking space size to nine and one-half feel by 20

Mr. Jenkins plans for the buildings to have floor spaces of 13,500 square feet and 4,300 square feet. He told council he planned the fourth storey as a penthouse for his own use, with a sloping roof and only the roof would be over the 35 foot height limitation.

However council was adamant that it must be reduced to three stories and an overall height of no more than 35 feet. * * * *

Council recommended that BCR be asked to dedicate an additional 24 feet along their east property line so the roadway in the vicinity of the lot near the waterfront to be leased by Langis Transport Ltd., may be moved.

This followed a recommendation of the works and services committee which noted that there would be a problem for heavy equipment making the turn west at the intersection at the southeast corner of the Municipal engineer Doug Webber and works superintendent Frank Wilson were asked to bring in a report on the costing for one, two or all three blocks of the work needed for Second St., and also a figure for what amount of money could be saved if the drainage is not done.

Mayor Stewart said he felt it was imperative that this work should be done if possible, and as much of it as possible.

The only tender for the garbage removal contract was approved at the same rate as last year, $21 per unit per year. The sole tender was received from Owen G. Carney Limited.

Council approved a request from the Squamish Elks Lodge to hold a nut drive on December 8 and 9.

W. F. DeCook and F. J. Murray, residents on Carmel Road in Brackendale, in a letter to council regarding the recent flooding in their area, pointed out the need for pumping facilities and the necessity to have pumps available on short notice. The works and services committee has been asked to draw up a contingency plan in the event of flooding and to consider the building levels for any new residential developments in the flood plain.

"Each riding is entitled to have one and there is no excuse that one hasn't been opened before now," she said.

"There is a lot of work to be done to make people here feel a part of the legislative process and it will take a full-time MLA to do that job," she added. a

Maracle returned recently from a three-day tour of the northern part of the riding, including stops at Alta Lake, Pemberton, Mount Currie and Squamish, where an all candidates meeting was held on Monday, Dec. 1.

She said she had "long known" but was "struck anew" by the "feeling of neglect" expressed by people in that part of the riding.

"They feel that they simply did not count," she said.

Maracle said her campaign has now "caught fire." The candidate said that many long-time Liberal supporters were upset by early lack of visibility "but they were smiling now that the signs were up and the literature printed and circulated.

"Frankly, like practically everyone else we were caught off guard when the election was; called," she said.

Always mention ... The Times when making a purchase from a Times advertiser. He is interested in knowing about your response.

Maracle said her reaction to the timing of the election is "unprintable.

"We had initially planned September nominating meeting but delayed it because of the promised redistribution. I guess we were naive. The short campaign makes it impossible to do what I like doing most; meeting people.

"It's impossible to meet every boter before the election and that really annoys, me. But I am going to see people wherever I can and I really hope that people will get out to the all candidates meetings," she said.

Absentee Election

If you are away from home but still in British Columbia on Election Day, there is a way to vote.

Absentee voting means that if you are absent from your own electoral district or polling division on Election Day, but still in British Columbia, you can vote. In certain greater Vancouver and greater Victoria electoral districts voters may not cast absentee ballots within their own electoral district. On Election Day, go to the nearest polling station and request a special Absentee Ballot. Remember, you must be on the Provincial voters list for your electoral district to be eligible to vote. You vote for the candidate* of your choice in your electoral district.

To assist the local election officials, give them the name of the electoral district where you are registered, or ask for assistance to locate the name. The election officials will have a list of candidates for all electoral districts. Polling stations will be open throughout the province on Election Day, December 11, between 8:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m., Pacific Standard Time. In areas on Mountain Standard Time, polling stations will be open 9:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. As an absentee voter you can vote anywhere in British Columbia. *In the Victoria electoral districts and the Vancouver electoral districts, two members are elected. Voters registered in these districts may vote for two candidates and will be advised at the poll.

Saving on utility bills

Council is introducing a new plan next year which will permit people to save five percent on their utility bills if these are paid before March 31 of each

Water, sewage and garbage bills will be payable at the same time the taxes are due, in July, without penalty.

However, if the total amount billed is paid before March 31 of each year there will be a five percent discount.

This is to encourage people to pay their utility bills at a time when council could utilize the cash inflow to cut down on its borrowing.

the memories.

Remember those stirring promises that heralded the coming of The Insurance Corporation of British Columbia? The promise that the "profits" made by ICBC would remain in the province? The boast that ICBC would be self-supporting? That subsidies would never be required?

That was before Autoplan actually got into operation ... and in less than two years these promises have dissolved into pipedreams.

Remember the $36 million deficit?

"This plan will stand as a beacon to the sound business management of the NDP." So said the Hon. Robert Strachan, the Minister responsible for ICBC, when he introduced Autoplan. The beacon has since faded fast. In its first year of operation, ICBC reported a deficit of $36 million. But remember that $36 million deficit figure. All the forecasts are that it will look good compared with what ICBC will drop in its second year.

And all the high hopes that Autoplan would never be subsidized? Just another pipedream. In June the government proposed that a subsidy of up to 10 cents a gallon on the gasoline tax could be used to support auto insurance. One way or the other, the taxpayer has to pay.

Remember the ICBC strike?

In May 1,800 employees of The Insurance Corporation of British Columbia went on strike. This strike lasted 15 weeks. There were an estimated 100,000 claims still awaiting settlement when the strike began. Another 100,000 new damage claims occurred during the strike itself. About 350,000 driver certificate renewals had to be ignored. The monopoly was immobilized for more than 100 days. If you were in an accident and wanted action - tough.

Remember the fun of dealing with a government bureaucracy?

The Insurance Corporation of B.C. spent $32 million on capital expenditures and another $19 million on start-up costs. Just to create another government bureaucracy.

And has it been fun dealing with yet another government monopoly? The feeling that vou had to take or leave whatever was offered? The frustration that came with the realization that you had been robbed of the ultimate defence of . consumers everywhere — the right to take your business elsewhere.

All the opposition parties in this election recognize that the public good will not be served if ICBC remains a monopoly. They all say Autoplan should have to compete with the private insurance companies. After all, if the private companies are inefficient or cannot match the service or rate offered by ICBC, they'll be the losers - not the

Must admit that controversial buildings at Whistler look much nicer than one would have Staggering losses are piling up at ICBC. Yet you were assured by the Barrett government that first-year losses would not exceed $18.5 million. Who is paying for these losses?

The Barrett government said that money would never be taken from tax revenues to subsidize ICBC or support low premiums. It has now legislated the right to divert 10 cents from the price of every gallon of gas you buy. In effect, you are subsidizing your own premium - with dollars that could be going to new schools, hospitals, safer roads.

The issue is not low-cost auto insurance. The issue is the Barrett government's inability to manage its affairs, whether it is running a company, a welfare program or an education system.

"Importance of Being Earnest" at the Art Gallery

By JANE MOLOUGHNEY

"The Importance of Being Earnest" recently had a fivenight stint at the Brackendale Art Gallery. The play, which was put on by the Howe Sound Dramatics club, attracted full house crowds and was a great source of entertainment for all.

The play was based on the original classic, written by Oscar Wilde, and was produced and directed by Forrest Johnston. The cast for the play was tenatively chosen last July but rehearsing did not begin until-September. The play is a roman, tic comedy full of humorous lines, ridiculous situations, and subtle references to human frailties and idiosyncrasies.

two young couples, Jack (otherwise known as Ernest) and Gwendolyn, Algernon and Cecily, who plan to get married. However, it is not an easy thing to do in this play as there are a number of complications, not least of which is Gwendolen's aunt, Lady Bracknell, a very opinionated and overbearing individual. But not to be thwarted by this woman nor by the fact both Gwendolen and Cecily preferred to marry men with the first name of Ernest, the two persistent "Romeos" guide the action toward their ultimate goal of marriage.

In addition to the main characters, there is a handful of supportive players to help perpetuate the comic theme. Lane and Merriman are the two quiet and unobtrusive butlers, providing quite a contrast to the flighty and whimsical Algernon. Miss Prism, a direct descendent of the Victorian age, is an effective middle age matron longing for companionship but frustrated by her Victorian inhibitions. Dr. Chasuble is the lucky appointee supposed to perform both the christening and marriage ceremonies. indicative of that time.

BY JENNY BUSDON .

During the first part of November a questionnaire from the Lands Branch was distributed to all households in the Whistler Valley, in order for each and everyone of us interested in the development of this area to have a part in future planning. The initial findings of the survey found that 54% of the responses put the grocery store as their first priority for local commercial facilities, 9% listed a drugstore, while 7% put the bank at the top of their list. A liquor store and laundromat were the first choice of 4.5% of the residents who responded, 27% of the residents placed the ice skating rink as their first recreational priority, while 25% put skiing facilities as their first choice. Swimming pool and cross-country trails were the next choices.

The following are some comments taken from the Whistler questionnaire. You can see others on the wall behind the mayor's desk at city hall and everyone is welcome to go and personally look. 'Hope that local people will be given an opportunity to share in the development rather than a major developer who comes in for a quick buck.'

"For stability purposes facilities etc. must be geared to yearround attraction and use."

"Develop the town centre as a people place and discourage the automobile. Develop points of interest and make it easier for people to communicate and not to litter."

"Would like to see dog control."

"Whatever benefits we put forward for us humans, remember the land, the trees, water and wildlife come first, its all we have left.'

In the council's latest newsletter they advise that on Nov. 21 council made plans to take charge of the programming of the community facilities that are presently under construction by School District 48. Their first move was to form a committee of four aldermen with an equal number from the Whistler community.

The committee's first job will be to see the tennis court area flooded to provide public skating over the Christmas and New Year weekends. Watch for scheduling of this.

Council is concerned about the lack of opportunity for participation that exists for the public when they attend regular council meetings, and wish to impress that although they cannot have participation in debates of council that they would be happy to listen to opinions from anyone wanting to come before council as a delegation at a later meeting. Phone calls to aldermen or written submissions to council will be gratefully received and advise that they will always be considered seriously.

Mount Whistler Lodge is now the place where council will be holding their regular meetings and NOT Highland Lodge where they have been held in the past. The last meeting apparently proved to be quite cold and council sat huddled around the fire clad in gloves and heavy coats — so be prepared to wear your long-johns!

On Dec. 5 the regular meeting has been cancelled due to most residents attending the very popular annual dinner-dance meeting of the Chamber of Commerce (P.S. a sellout!) and therefore the next regular meeting will be held a week later, Dec. 12, at Whistler Lodge.

On the question of the desperately needed banking facilities here, a number of different chartered banks have indicated their interest in establishing service at Whistler and negotiations are now underway. It looks hopeful that some form of banking will be offered soon. Ironically, the only stumbling block could be council's desire to camouflage the banks temporary quarters, until its permanent move to the town centre.

Other firms interested in obtaining space in the new town core include a theatre, hotel, restaurant, grocery and ski shop, and of course, the planned municipal hall and fire hall.

Some regulating by-laws have been delayed. But it looks as though council will not be ready with a final draft of zoning subdivision and community plan by-laws until sometime late in December. Consequently, public hearings are tentatively scheduled for late December with adoption of the by-laws scheduled for January

Work is now proceeding on budgets for 1976 with council trying to gain as much for the Whistler community as possible without raising the mill rate to the extent that it upsets the financial balance in the community. First drafts of these budgets should be approved by early January.

Council advise that their new telephone has just been hooked up in the temporary municipal office at Whistler City and from here on in the building inspector and municipal office can be reached by phoning 932-5015.

Maybe readers would be interested that Hon. Bob Williams mentioned at the opening ceremonies of Whistler City that revenue in the amount of $3,000 had been taken in at the liquor store in the past five days!

Penguin was originally applied to the now extinct great auk of the North Atlantic because of it's gwyn (white) pen (head) in the Gallic speech of the people in the area. Modern penguins resemble auks, but their heads are black.

SAFE DRIVING WEEK

Safe driving can reduce fatalities

"Drive like you'd like everyone else to drive." This is the message the Canada Safety Council would like to get across to the more than ten million drivers during Safe Driving Week, December 1st to 7th. This particular week has the highest accident rate of any week in the year as drivers do not prepare themselves or their automobile for the hazardous conditions of winter driving until sometimes it is too late.

A joint community program sponsored by the Kiwanis Service Club, the Squamish Times and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police detachment in conjunction with the National Safety Week is sponsoring the local campaign.

President of the Kiwanis Club Knud Moller said booths would be set up in the IGA supermarket manned by members of the RCMP and Kiwanis members. They will distribute pamphlets and driver hand books to alert citizens of Safe Driving Week and to impress upon them to drive in a safe manner not only next week but for 365 days of the year. Photographs of fatal crash scenes will be displayed in a prominent place to remind drivers what can happen!

During Safe Driving Week a specially prepared sheet with valuable information will be distributed at local gas stations and in-some stores. Check your defenses and join the fight against highway CRASHES! This Safety Week is not aimed at any one type of driver but drivers in general. On the back of this sheet, an anacrostic has conducting traffic checks on been made of the words SAFE DRIVING WEEK. An example, *E-Exercise care when passing, *D-Drive defensively, *I-Impaired driving claims many lives, *W-Watch for the other guy and *E-Excessive speed is a major cause of highway crashes.

Staff Sergeant Bloxham said traffic fatalities were definitely up over last year's statistics. The rise in accidents is partly due to the increase in population but they are still rising at an alarming rate. Constables Brian Douglas and Jack Riddell from the Highway Patrol are 'coordinating the week along with other members of the detachment and the Kiwanis.

They plan to set up Roadblocks in Squamish, Alta Lake and Lions Bay. They will be the leading causes of traffic accidents. Statistics show that impaired driving plays a great part in the number of accidents on highways. Most people like to entertain and be entertained. Sometimes we stop for a drink on the way from work or we go to a friend's house to watch a hockey game on television and have a few drinks.

Occasionally we have friends in for an evening or have a group of folks from the office over for a drink or two. Or we may have a party for the bridge club or a family gathering.

The first good move is to put your car in the hands of a competent mechanic for a complete check-up. Have a motor check and tune-up along with a thorough inspection of your car's safety equipment. The check-up should include the fuel and electrical systems, timing, battery and plugs. A check of your safety equipment should
