SQUAMISH, B.C.—THURSDAY, AUGUST 5, 1976

Let's celebrate, Squamish!

Saturday is Squamish Day but it's only part of the four day festival starting tonight with the Timber Queen pageant and ending on Sunday with the demolition derby and the big lottery draw. It's an all-Squamish affair with many groups and organizations taking part to promote one big festival.

But the loggers aren't forgotten. The industry which forms the backbone of the community and which provides most of the jobs, will be the centre of attraction on Saturday afternoon when the loggers compete for the top money in prizes and for the many trophies offered by the business people in the community.

It's more than just a festival. It's a combination of a number of factors which have tended to make Squamish one of the most do-it-yourself communities in British Columbia. It's a combination of enthusiasm and determination to work to obtain what is wanted.

From the day when the Timber Queen pageant is held to the pajama shopping and bed race on Friday, the decorations put up by the merchants who stage window displays, to the day itself when the Elks serve the loggers' breakfast; local people mastermind the parade and the sports committee organizes the competitions and the Kiwanis handles the kids sports; it's a triumph of co-operation.

And the sports themselves. Groups like Rotary with the barbecue, the Lions with their concession; the people who handle the gates, the timers, those who handle the entries and the contestants and everyone who keeps the show going, are all members of the community; many of them not connected with the logging industry or with the woods, but all with the determination to make the day a success and see the visitors go home happy.

Yes, it's a community effort; and one we can all be proud of. But this year there is even more participation by the people who live here and it's just one more example of how the ordinary people in the community can make it more vibrant and exciting.

This year with the demolition derby added to the program, with the merchants co-operating with the Friday night bed race, it will be an even more interesting weekend.

We like Squamish Days! We enjoyed it when it was called Loggers Sports Day! And we're sure we'll continue to like it no matter what they call it or what they do to change it so long as it's still the biggest and the best and the most exciting time of the year.

And as long as people are willing to get together and work for the community (the proceeds always go to a worthwhile cause) we're sure they'll make it even bigger and better.

So, let's celebrate Squamish. Let's all join in to make this the biggest and best Squamish Day celebration we've ever had!

We can do it ourselves!

We don't understand why an American had to be hired to be MacMillan Bloedel Ltd.'s new president and chief executive officer. Why not a Canadian? We can't believe there are no Canadians qualified for the job.

It's not that we're against hiring Americans; we feel that's fine if they are legal residents in Canada and have decided to stay here and become Canadians.

But that's not the same as Canada's biggest forest products company choosing a new president from a U.S. company. Surely there are scores of Canadian lumber industry executives qualified and willing to be president of MacMillan Bloedel; if there aren't, we're in trouble.

The company said that one of the reasons it hired C. Calvert Knudsen is for his experience in the intricacies of international operations and marketing, and his familiarity with the U.S. market where MB sells the bulk of its products and has substantial manufacturing operations.

Surely there are Canadians with this knowledge; we've been selling Canadian lumber products in the United States probably since the first tree was cut down in Canada.

We fear that the hiring of a U.S. executive to head Canada's largest forest products company is another example of the Canadian inferiority complex, disguised with the "hire the best expert available" excuse. Canada will never grow up until we learn to depend on our own people.

Permanent home needed

The Olympic Games are all over now, but not for those in Quebec who must pay for the buildings for the next 20 years or so. We're glad they weren't held in B.C., or we'd be paying!

We think the Olympic ideal is great — competing on the sports field instead of the battlefield — but the cost each four years is going out of control.

If the Olympics can survive politics, and we hope it does, the next step is to find a permanent home so new sports facilities don't have to be built every four years.

The theory that Olympic installations pay for themselves has been proven false over and over again; the host country always ends up paying a huge bill for an event designed for the whole world. It's true, that the host country gets to keep the permanent sports facilities, but are such grand facilities located in one city in the country really all that valuable to the whole country?

We suggest that a permanent Olympic facility be built in Greece, home of the original Games. Cost of a permanent facility could be shared by all nations of the world — and it wouldn't have to be rebuilt every four years. The facilities could be used for other world sports competitions and training during the Olympic "off season".

The idea of having the Olympics in the various participating countries, a different one every four years, is nice — but it's just plain getting too expensive.

Traveller's secret weapon

Should moral considerations enter into a traveller's plans to visit a foreign country?

Such an idea may seem strange to Canadians who think of travel only in terms of pleasure. Carefree, we go to any land that appeals to our desire for new adventures or a return to familiar scenes. If we're rewarded with interesting sights, beautiful views, picturesque people and masterpieces of art or architecture, that's about all we ask.

All of which seems perfectly innocent and "broadening." Yet behind the scenes in many countries are countless cases of human repression, exploitation, jailing and execution without trial, cruelty and torture. Such incidents are reported almost daily in news media. And our reaction is: "Thank God I don't live in that country!"

Then, conveniently forgetting all we've heard, we pack our bags and fly to some of the countries where these shocking conditions exist. Of course when we arrive, the authorities screen us from all signs of injustice and inhumane treatment of their citizens. We tourists mustn't be upset. We bring money desperately needed by economically shaky nations.

By by-passing such oppressive countries in our travels, we can cast a vote for human decency. Our absence may go unnoticed. But we can live a little better with ourselves. And we can tell travel agents why some countries are on our blacklist.

If enough Canadians act on such convictions, some tourist-hungry governments may get the message — where it hurts!

THE GARDEN at the Gordon Weberg home looked like a scene from Japan at the barbecue last Monday evening when Lions Club members donned the kimonos which the three Japanese girls had brought with them as gifts for their hosts. In a special cloth printed with the Lions Club crest and fans in

Side roads are always interesting roads

By FRED CLARKE

When travelling the usual pattern is to take a straight line from A to R or whatever. However, just a short distance off the main road it is possible to find much of interest.

On a recent trip to the interior we drove through the Fraser Valley via the North Shore. After a brief visit in Mission we proceeded, determined to find St. Mary's Church on what remains of the Scowiltz Indian Reservation.

This is the church which Ron Woodall painted for a series of old buildings. Before the CNR provided ready access to Vancouver along the south shore, residents came across to Harrison Mills via sternwheeler to collect goods shipped by CPR. With the need for the sternwheeler gone the little community of Harrison Mills became almost non-existent. The original Acton Kilby Store and the church are among the few remains.

It was old Mr. Kilby himself who pointed out the locale of St. Mary's Church; "See that tall poplar? It's right behind there. Keep going to the underpass on the CPR; go through, but watch for the mud, and you can't miss it."

He was right; there it was behind the dyke on the Harrison River; a tall grey weatherbeaten structure, its windows broken, the yard a tangle of blackberry bushes, and its faded exterior betraying no sign of a coat of paint applied in 1935. Gone are the days when traffic went up the Harrison to Lillooet and with it the congregations which once filled the church.

Ron Woodall placed the building on a rise of ground; in fact it rests in a low spot formed by the dyke and the road approaching the river. How long before winter snows or an accidental fire destroys the building? With its destruction another fragment of British Columbia history will disappear.

For once it was cool at Spence's Bridge and we elected to spend the night there. The motel proprietor suggested that we have dinner across the road at Rudolph's Bavarian Restaurant. Such a name is not one which is expected in Spence's Bridge.

However, we went over and were most delightfully surprised! Beautifully furnished inside with arched recesses on one wall displaying pictures of travel on the Rhine and Mad Ludwig's fantastic castle of Neuschwanstein. Only dinner is served and the menu is truly Bavarian; while the Boss stuck to steak I chose the Roulad of Beef from a list which included Weiner Schnitzel, Raum Schnitzel and Bratwurst.

With the slices of beef stuffed with sauerkraut I enjoyed red cabbage and rosti, topped off by apple strudel which truly sch-mekt. One cannot help feeling that this establishment is too good for Spence's Bridge. If you are stopping after 5 p.m., try it!

A right turn at Ashcroft Manor took us to the crowded town of Ashcroft, crowded because a rodeo was taking place. We did not linger but took the long winding uphill road which eventually led us to Logan Lake. Along the way we were delighted to see a deer and her fawn. She quickly scrambled up the bank but her offspring found the climb he chose a bit difficult; once we had passed he went back to the route his mother had picked and soon rejoined her.

It's a long lonely drive where you can drive slowly and admire the distant view; this is high plateau country where you can almost "see forever".

A restful three days at Lac La Hache where filled with surprises. When the dining room window faces over the lake there is a strong temptation to linger over coffee and watch the action. A condominium for swallows hangs in one of the trees and the young were taking flying lessons, some were hesitant and needed encouragement, others took off with a "watch me" attitude.

Out on the lake a loon with his peculiar white necklace amazed us by the length of time he stayed underwater. Just when we had decided that something must have happened to him, he surfaced to reassure us. But the prize winning attraction was the mother duck and her scurrying brood. They moved around her so quickly that we never did find out how many ducklings she had in tow.

One day mother decided to dive under the float and come up on the other side. The consternation among her brood was a sight to behold! Definitely they were not yet ready for anything so venturesome or had mother simply deserted them? Was she trying to teach them something new or was she enjoying a brief respite from her maternal duties?

Of course there were also fisherfolk, swimmers and water-skiers; the action continued throughout the day and on into the evening until the lonely cry of the loon announced the end of the day's activities.

Homeward bound we again took the ride down to Hell's Gate and wondered at the change; last fall the river was low and ladders were exposed; this time only part of one was visible and the river was 193 feet deep. Logs kept being caught in the back eddy only to make another attempt to go downstream.

At the end of the hour we spent there the two same logs were still trying. If logs can't find their way downstream is it any wonder that salmon have trouble swimming upstream?

At Spuzzum I took the old road and walked down to the bridge which served the traffic prior to the magnificent new one. The bridge is in excellent condition but approaches are blocked off. To think that the narrow road leading up the the present highway once carried all the Trans-Canada traffic and not so long ago at that! It boggles the mind.

Next time you are travelling a straight highway from Here to There give yourself a break and turn off to explore an interesting building or place. It's well worthwhile.

A new one way street, to loop around the business area and increase business on Second Avenue, was planned. And even though Second Avenue merchants claimed to be starving more time to "study the proposal," they said.

Meanwhile work had started on the St. David's School for boys; and Valleycliffe was about to be gassed via 35,000 feet of yellow pipe, which was then decorating the side of the road.

"Many emotions" marked the end of the "company town", as the residents of Woodfibre began to leave.

Tenders had been called to see who could blacktop Alice Lake Road at the lowest cost.

10 Years Ago

The board of trustees for the Squamish General Hospital discussed plans for a nurses' residence.

The minister of mines and technical surveys visited Squamish to look at the areas that might be affected by a proposed plan for the control of the Squamish and Mamquam rivers, and a "clean mill is a safe one" said Eugene Rolston of Weldwood.

The Squamish times won the Canadian annual Weekly Newspaper Award for the third year running.

A correct sentence contains only one thought.

15 Years Ago

The board of trustees for the Squamish General Hospital discussed plans for a nurses' residence. (It's still not there.)

People of fifteen years ago were very concerned about public health. A determined group of citizens stole into nearby store in Squamish and Britannia one night, and conscientiously removed about $1,000 worth of cigarettes.

However, there was an ambitious gathering of children not satisfied with such thin smoke. They started a little fire at the foot of Depot Road which rose up to blacken 2,000 forest acres and cost $2,000 a day to fight.

25 Years Ago

A new addition to this well read column is a look back 25 years, into a paper called the Squamish Advance which was about one twenty-eighth the size the Squamish paper is today. (Incidentally, 20 years ago there was a bit of trouble and no paper was printed.)

25 years ago the Stawamus River bridge collapsed when a tractor drove over it. The fall was 15 feet but nobody was on the vehicle at the time.

The Squamish school planned to start up an annual.

Britannia Beach held a talent show which was broadcast over CKWX.

There were three classified ads in the Advance: one selling a rocking chair; one wanting a girl with quick accurate fingers for posting; and one selling the new three way shave for 25 cents.

Shirts, pants, and dresses sold at around $1.60. Bacon sold at 29 cents a pound, round steak roast was 79 cents a pound, all at Mackenzies Department Store. Phone: 11.

Letter

Editor, The Times;

I have recently made the "Royal Hudson" trip and must say I thoroughly enjoyed every minute of it with one exception — the bathrooms are a disgrace and I question if they have been cleaned this year. For this there is no excuse, as there is an adequate layover. Some of the promotion money for this trip could well have been diverted to a good cleanup crew.

I have searched for a hint as to the minister I might send a copy of this to as I believe the department of tourism or whatever should be made aware of it.

I will also send a copy to the BCR but fear this may get lost in a "so what" basket.

I thoroughly enjoyed every word of your excellent special edition — only wish I had had time to read it before the trip. Congratulations to you. We enjoyed the hospitality of Squamish.

Could you please forward a copy to the minister concerned. Your concerned British Columbian, Katherine B. Moore

BELIEVE IT OR NOT just after this picture was taken the old master Pat Brennan managed to cup that ball.

Sails small boat from Olympia to Squamish

By KATHY BRENNAN
Compared to a summer of record breaking at Montreal, out in the West Coast new feats of skill may not be as spectacular but are as every bit courageous.

The first person ever to sail a 14-foot boat from Olympia, Washington to Squamish is Karl Cole, 21, of Olympia, arriving Wednesday, July 28.

Travelling for three days, Cole spent 18.6 hours sailing at an average speed of 15-20 knots.

"It was one heck of an experience," said Cole. "I went because people said it couldn't be done. Some people gave me a 50-50 chance. Others gave me no chance at all."

Cole was just north of Everett when he first ran into trouble. Off Camano Island a 35 mph wind blew and four foot waves swelled.

"Then the gas line broke. The boat only has five inches of free board above water. And in four foot waves.... But the engine was fixable so I proceeded to La Conner." Cole continued: "There I came very close to hitting a couple of reefs which didn't appear on the charts."

They only go to the San Juans." After staying at Deer Harbour, Cole resumed sailing Tuesday afternoon. He got off course heading for Pender Island, mistaking it with Morebury Island.

Forty-five minutes, with the aid of instructions from a Canadian sailboat, Cole reached Pender Island and cleared customs.

"It took me five hours to reach Nanaimo; bucking wind and tide with approximately four foot swells the whole way," he said.

Arriving in Nanaimo at 7 p.m., Cole decided to cross the Gulf of Georgia Wednesday morning.

"Nobody crossed that morning except for me. The big boats at Nanaimo would not chance it. I took in almost about 10-15 gallons of water."

Cole sailed into Squamish by 11 a.m. Upon entry, the shifting mechanism broke on the motor.

The total cost of the trip was $34. This included food, gas and moorage. While in Squamish, he visited grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Bill Vass. Karl Cole has been around boats and only recently bought the boat in which he sailed to Squamish. He works at Zittle's Marina in Olympia.

World Champions to Perform Here

Two world champions will be performing at the annual Loggers Sports Day in Squamish on Saturday. Phil Scott, world champion log birlar, fresh from the competitions at Hayward, Wisconsin, will be in Squamish for the event.

Also competing will be Marvin Trudeau of Squamish, who set a world record in the climb two years ago and one which is expected to hold for a long time.

Observers say it was almost a free fall descent but well within the rules. They do not expect to see it beaten in the near future.

Poisoning sends 28 to hospital

Twenty-eight persons were rushed to Squamish General Hospital after an accidental case of rat poisoning at Potlatch Summer Camp. No names have been released.

All were treated immediately and are safe, according to Al Bird, civil defence leader. The student counsellors were preparing their lunches and made sandwiches using contaminated peanut butter which had been set out for the rats. On reaching the hospital, students were treated for the worst, in case of any reaction. (It takes one and a half pounds to kill a person.) They spent the night at the Easter Seal Camp and were re-checked by doctors in the morning. After the examination, the students returned to Potlatch. The situation will be under investigation by health authorities.

Angus Murray, recently elected to serve as the director for Area 'B', was sworn in at the July meeting of the Squamish-Lillooet Regional District.
John Cosulich, president of Birkenhead Lake Estates Ltd., appeared before the meeting to present an application for a Land Use Contract which would allow a 100 lot co-operative development on Birkenhead Lake.
The application was accepted and forwarded to the board's solicitor for action.
The board was told that the B.C. Telephone Co. had attempted to provide telephone service to the Upper Squamish area but was unable to receive approval to cross an Indian reservation.
The Village of Pemberton suggested that a federal prison could be established in the vicinity of the old garbage dump below Mosquito Lake. This was considered and the board decided to send a letter to the solicitor-general supporting the village's proposal.
The board discussed a letter from A. H. Dixon, district forester, regarding the salvaging of merchantable timber that is severely infested by the spruce budworm. The area is on Mission Mountain and under a recreational reserve initiated by the SLRD.
The board stated that it had no objection to the project provided that a snow fence is installed to protect the road.
It was pointed out that poor logging practices in the past had created hazardous road conditions and that further logging without restrictions would make the matter worse.

Perfect golf day greets

FORMER WEST VANCOUVER MAYOR Art Langley presents the men's low gross prize to Ernst Bauer who shot a net 65 in the Times Open.

A perfect day for golf greeted players in the first annual North Shore Times and Squamish Times Open Golf Tournament on Sunday.

Just under 100 golfers turned out for the tournament that was played over the tough Squamish Golf and Country Club course at Squamish. The first group teed off at about noon and the last group got to the scoring table at about 7:30.

Art Langley, former mayor of West Vancouver, was a participant in the tournament and made the prize presentations in the Squamish clubhouse after the tournament.

Best golfer of the day was Ron Patterson who fired a fine five over 77 to take the men's low gross prize. G. T. Monahan, who played in the first group, was the leader in the clubhouse for most of the day with a 78. Patterson was in the second to last group.

Two women golfers from Fraserview, Caroline Brett and Dorothy Leighton, each fired 81. Brett was presented with low gross after a back-nine tie-breaker.

Ernst Bauer won the men's registered handicap flight low net with a net-65, while Grant Oram took the Calloway flight low net.

Lindsey Allen of Fraserview won the women's low net prize. She was closely followed by Hedi Eppelle of Squamish who took women's second low net. No women played under the Calloway handicapping system.

Men's second low net went to Don Tiegen, while Rick West took the men's third low net prize.

Billie Langley, Art's wife, took women's third low net. Dorothy Leighton managed women's fourth low net as well as women's closest to the flag and longest drive. Her drive was about 210 yards and she dropped her first shot about 16 feet from the flag on the 130 yard par-three sixteenth.

WATER SAFETY

The Amazing Misadventures of Oscar McFoisy
by Doug Adolph

The following is one of a series of articles designed to inform the recreational public of some of the rules and regulations under which we must act, and some of the sometimes unknown risks taken by those who may not be familiar with or concerned with the law, as explained by Doug Adolph, a Conservation Officer with the B.C. Fish and Wildlife Branch.

THE STATUTE
Section 4 (1) (e) of the All Terrain Vehicles Act states that: "No person shall operate an all-terrain vehicle in such a manner as to drive, harass, chase, run-over, injure or kill any wildlife, or domestic animal."

THE INCIDENT
It wasn't by coincidence that

Game Warden Lawson happened to be flying over Ranch Fence Lake, the day that the smoke and steam could be seen rising from an up-ended snowmobile.

That particular area was well known as an animal crossing area, especially, migrating caribou heading for their traditional wintering grounds. G.W. had heard reports that some snowmobilers were beginning to filter into that area.

Lawson asked the pilot to land as close as possible to the person staggering around the machine, without actually landing on the man that looked suspiciously like his old friend Oscar McFoisy.

Sure enough, there was Oscar with a painful look on his face that suggested that he would have felt less embarrassed if he had been caught robbing a church. Upon questioning, the gruesome facts were revealed. Oscar had spotted a lone caribou crossing the lake. As he raced towards the animal at speeds just approaching the speed of sound, the caribou in its graceful attempt to escape was able to clear a snow covered log fence seconds before McFoisy even saw the obstacle. It was said that when Oscar left the seat of his snowmobile he reached an altitude of approximately 35 feet before coming to rest on his collarbone.

THE ADJUDICATION
Shortly after the natural process of healing set in, poor Oscar painfully listened as the judge relieved him of $400 for harassing animals with an All Terrain Vehicle.

The judge patiently pointed out that in winter all animals are especially susceptible to injury, miscarriage and generally poor health as a result of heavy snows, the unavailability of food, tremendous heat losses, predation and stress. Most animals are unable sometimes to cope with one or several of those determining factors. There was no question in the minds of any of those present in the court room that harassment by people was not a positive wildlife protection objective!

So don't be an Oscar McFoisy, it's just not worth it!

Weekend dance and games planned

The ladies are at it again — There will be a ladies softball invitational tournament, featuring a total of 12 teams, on the weekend of Aug. 14 and 15. Unlike the last ladies tournament in July, which was a league tournament, this one hosts ten teams from areas outside Squamish. As a result, there will be lots of new faces and plenty of live action by the different players.

The tournament takes place at Centennial Field on Saturday and Sunday with a food stand and refreshment wagon in operation for the benefit of all.

One of the highlights of the weekend will be a dance at the Chieftain Hotel on the Saturday night starting at 9 p.m. A Vancouver group, The 4th Estate, will be entertaining.

The two local ladies teams putting on the tournament, Chappies and Britannia, encourage everyone to come out for some post-Olympic sport and fun!

Summer finally came in July

The long awaited summer weather finally arrived in July with the highest temperature of the month, 28 degrees Celsius, recorded on the 16th. Oddly enough the lowest temperature of the month, 5 degrees C, was recorded on the following day, July 17.

There was a lot of sunshine and while there were many cloudy days the temperatures were still high, with daytime temperatures ranging in the 20s and even the nighttime temperatures rarely dropping below 10.

There was two inches of rain recorded during the month, bringing the total this year to 30.5 inches. This is not as low as last year but well below average for the first seven months of the year.

Man killed in highway accident

One man was killed and several people were taken to hospital as a result of a number of accidents which occurred during the past week.

On Monday, Aug. 2, William A. Sigmund, 28, of Delta was killed when the car in which he was riding attempted to pass another on the Furry Creek hill, hit the opposite shoulder and went out of control plunging 150 feet down the bank. Sigmund was pronounced dead on arrival at hospital.

Injured in the same accident were the driver, Richard Timothy Sigmund, 20, of Surrey, who received bruises and passenger Larry Morier of Sandspit who suffered minor injuries. Both men were taken to Squamish General Hospital.

In another accident on the same day, one mile south of Deeks Creek at 7 p.m. Dave Scanlon of Squamish and a passenger, Mark Joseph Frappier of Ladysmith, were involved in an accident when the motorcycle on which they were riding went around a curve and hit the shoulder. Frappier is in Lions Gate Hospital with severe head injuries but is in satisfactory condition. Scanlon suffered minor injuries.

On July 31 on Highway 99 half a mile south of Deeks Creek, three vehicles were involved in an accident when John Rowland Carriere of Vancouver, southbound on the highway, went out of control and sideswiped two vehicles proceeding northward.

The first car he hit was driven by Peter Errington of Squamish and he was followed by a vehicle driven by Phyllis Carter of Squamish. Injured in the accident were Elizabeth Errington, who suffered cuts and bruises, and her infant son Peter Errington Jr. who received head cuts.

On July 28 a vehicle driven by Major Singh Kaila of Burnaby, which had stopped to make a left turn at the Weldwood road leading to Highway 99 just south of Squamish, was rear-ended by one driven by April Louise Smith of Squamish. Singh suffered bruises and neck injuries while Janice MacKenzie, a passenger in the Smith vehicle, suffered minor injuries.

Damage amounted to $10,000 in the accident involving a tractor trailer unit on Highway 99 on July 28 when the vehicle, loaded with empty beer bottles, rolled as the load shifted when the truck went around a curve. The driver, Murray Peters of Vancouver, suffered a fractured skull in the accident.

On July 27 a vehicle driven by James Herbert Terent of North Delta suffered $3,000 damage when it was involved in an accident at the south end of the Cheakamus Canyon. Terent said he believed the accident was caused by a blowout.

On July 26 a cyclist, seven-year-old Batti Kuliunder Singh, was taken to hospital with bruises after he was involved in a collision with a car driven by Wendy Durka of Squamish.

August is the time to really enjoy your garden

August is the time when most gardeners can sit back a bit and look at the results of their labours. They can see the blooms they nurtured to full beauty, the plump well fed fruit on the tomato plants and the cabbages heading out. All things, be they flowers or vegetables, are looking beautiful.

Cutting, conditioning and care are the three "C's" of the summer garden and they will help your summer flowers last longer. Cut the flowers in the morning or evening so they will be as fresh as possible and always use a sharp knife when cutting stems. It's a good idea to carry a pail of water with you so you can plunge the cut stems directly into the water as soon as they are cut.

It's best to make a slanting cut at the time you're in the garden or right after you get indoors. Remove excess foliage that will not be needed in your arrangement. This will reduce water loss and prevent decay problems. Condition the flowers by putting the stems in warm water (about 32 to 38 degrees C) and setting the container in a cool dark room for several hours.

After conditioning arrange the flowers in fresh water and add one of the commercial flower preservatives to reduce bacterial action and prevent flowers fading. Use it instead of pennies or aspirin.

A good point to remember is to keep flowers away from excess heat such as the top of the TV set and direct sunlight. Placing them in a cool room at night will add extra life to flower arrangements. Grow them and enjoy them but share them too.

Raspberry harvesting and care. The raspberry canes which produced berries will die now and should be cut right down to ground level. Cut them down right after they have finished producing. This way you benefit your plant by ridding it of canes that will carry insects and diseases. Spray the plants with a fungicide or a pesticide.

Raspberries should be picked in the cool of the morning and kept in a cool place until used. The patch should be picked every other day during production time and remember, don't pick them when the fruit is wet.

Lawn planning. This is the time to think about planning for your next year's lawn. Not only planning, but preparing as well. The best time to re-seed a lawn is early September but before you seed it there are a number of things which should be done. It's wise to prepare a good bed. If your present lawn is only a temporary one or is full of weeds and you want to replace it this is what to do.

Get rid of all the broad leaved weeds to give the new grass a good start. Cool nights and more rain during September will aid in growing the lawn and in keeping the newly seeded area moist.

Guides at Sylvan Lake camp

Nancy Dheilly was one of the four British Columbia Girl Guides who enjoyed a Girl Guide sports camp at Sylvan Lake recently. Others were Maureen Lewall of North Vancouver, Janet Jackson of Nanaimo and Tracey Chernoff of Burnaby.

Guiding has always meant woodsmoke and glowing embers with the harmony of youthful voices raised in song and this was the atmosphere created at the camp which was a new concept in Guide camping. It was a Sports Special Interest Camp with a good sportsmanship as the main interest. There was a wide variety of sports offered, including archery, volleyball, badminton, rollerskating, baseball, swimming, canoeing and golf, so that the girls could learn the basics of many new sports as well as trying their skills at a number of different ones.

It was Girl Guide camping with a difference. The girls who applied for the camp had already mastered the basic skills of firelighting, patrol cooking and pitching tents and the main emphasis was on recreational activities.

With training for recreation becoming a necessity as more people are more conscious of the need for planned recreational activities to bring our standards of physical fitness up to par and to make good use of leisure time, Sylvan Lake Guide Camp offered training at a traditional Guide camp setting which gives the girls companionship and memories to cherish.

Highlights of the camp program included a Tuesday visit from the Lacombe Girl Guides from Camp Meridian on Gull Lake with participation in a mini-olympics and evening campfire activities. Other events during the week were a water regatta, and a bus trip to the archaeological excavations at Rocky Mountain House and the Crystal Falls on the David Thompson Highway 120 miles west of Red Deer.

The girls thoroughly enjoyed the trip and found the camp an interesting and rewarding event.

Squamish Earful

by Maureen Gilmour

There's been a lot of coming and going in the past week with people taking advantage of the nicer weather to go on holidays or to visit the valley. Of course there will be an influx of visitors for the annual Squamish Days celebrations this weekend and many people are having guests who will be enjoying the loggers sports.

Prominent among those looking forward to the big day are the three Japanese exchange students who are visiting Squamish. Masako Miamisakamoto, Yasuko Asumi and Akiyo Sagawa have been very busy girls since they arrived two weeks ago and are enjoying themselves very much what with water skiing at Birkenhead Lake, enjoying a get together with teenagers at the Forrest Johnston home last Saturday night, visiting Victoria and being guests of honour at the Weberg's barbecue on B.C. Day.

They will have some grand memories to take back with them when they return to Japan.

Meanwhile, Paige Bloxham writes home that she is finding it interesting in Japan with one family she is visiting having three boys and another a girl her age as well as some boys. Paige and Christine Iverson are the two Squamish students who went to Japan on the Lions exchange program.

Lynn Stathers is busy gathering material to take with her when she leaves later this month as an exchange student on the Rotary program. She's heading for Australia.

Also in Australia is Sharon Kindree who is touring the southern continent with a teachers' group. She visited former Rotary exchange student Rosemary Lennon last week and will be spending a few more days with her after visiting Alice Springs and several other areas in Australia and prior to returning home.

Visiting the Norman Barrs last week were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lynch of Maui in Hawaii and later they also had Rosemary Eaton, who lived here for two years in 1968 and 69 when she worked at the swimming pool and who is now living in Toronto. Rosemary enjoyed meeting a number of people she had known during her stay in Squamish.

Looking tanned and rested after a holiday at their cabin on Canim Lake are Merv and Lorraine Foote. Lorraine says it's a real Spartan type holiday drawing water from the lake, etc., but she seems to have been thriving on it.

Congratulations to Owen Carney and Marv Trudeau for their good showings at the World Champion Loggers Meet in Hayward, Wisconsin. Owen placed third in the log rolling and Marv won the climbing event.

Al and Sharon Burroughs, who have been in Iran for the past eight months, have returned to Squamish.

Mr. and Mrs. Tag Neighbor,

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Reeves and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hurren are back after a week's holiday in Reno.

Good luck to Bill and Avril Gosling and their family. They have left Squamish to live in Lund where Bill will be teaching.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Bensch and children Delores and Jeffrey were in California for a holiday.

Back from the British Isles are Morris and Mabel Scott. They were touring over there for about a month. The Scotts spent ten days in Northern Ireland and "It was a bit of a nightmare," said Mr. Scott. They also stayed in Edinburgh, Southampton and London where it was 104 degrees.

Jackie and Derek Wilson have returned from a trip to Alberta and Saskatchewan. They were visiting relatives for a month.

Out visiting Ed and Pauline Theriault is Ed's sister Jeanne Carmel, husband Claude and son Philip from Montreal. They also spent time with Ted and Vicki Theriault during their month's vacation.

Bob Grant and his family were in California and Nevada for a holiday.

Marianne Mortensen is back from the Olympics where she worked as a minor official in the fencing event. Keeping score and time didn't stop her from staying out until 4 o'clock in the morning. But what really stuck in her mind was seeing Princess Anne ride in the cross-country.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dent and family were in Penticon visiting his mother, Mrs. Violet Bent.

And also visiting relatives was Eric Latter who went to Vancouver Island for three days.

Twenty-seven North Shore Times carriers rode up on the Royal Hudson last week. They really enjoyed the train ride.

Special prizes offered

This year the Howe Sound Fall Fair has a very interesting prize added to the baking and preserve section.

Canada Safeway is offering a special prize for "delicious and nutritious". The prize will be given to the outstanding entry in Section 'F' Home Baking and also in Section 'E' Preserves. The younger set is not left out as there is the same special prize in Section 'K' economic aged 13-18.

The fair committee would like to remind all exhibitors planning to enter the preserve section to please use the jar sizes called for in the book. Have wax removed from jams and jellies and remove all screw tops on jars of preserves. These are not necessary and save the judges considerable time.

Comings and goings

Mrs. Ida Slack of Vancouver was a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Les Moule last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Knight and son Aaron of Logan Lake spent a recent weekend with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Macconnell.

On a hill in Kamloops above Danny Seymour's home there are two streets with interesting names. Wouldn't YOU enjoy living at the corner of Clearview Drive and Coolridge Crescent?

Following her trip to Courtenay Mrs. Mollie Evans enjoyed the company of her sister Eileen Bell of Vancouver and cousin Bob Cartier of Chicago.

There are so many good Joes around, such as the teenager who changed a tire, the senior who provided transportation when the tire gave out and Mr. Fikit who repaired the lawnmower. Thank you!

Donation to tournament

In the list of donors for the Squamish Ladies Golf Tournament, two names were left off the list and the committee would like to acknowledge their help.

Thanks are extended to Linda Patrick of Vanda-Beauty Counsellor for her donation and to Len Price for his cash donation to the tournament.

THE TEA CEREMONY is a solemn ritual and Akiyo Sagawa has been studying it for four years and will study it for another six or seven before she will have perfected it. Here she is preparing for it, assisted by Yasuko Asumi with Walter Huber, Tess Brennan, Anne Rattray and Lions Club president Al Muir in the background. (They had to take off their shoes for the ceremony.)

Hospital briefs

During the July 29 meeting of the Hospital Board it became apparent the hospital staff was correct in predictions, 23 newborn babies were delivered during the month of June, a record for 1976; the trend seems to be continuing for July.

The average occupancy rate was up even higher than the previous month; for June it was 62.6%, for the same period last year it was only 48%, a slight increase in the average length of stay at 4.8 days compared to last year's figure of 4.1.

Some interesting things have been happening at the hospital during the spring and early summer; Miss Davis, director of nursing, has been escorting groups of children from kindergartens around the hospital. The children visited the laboratory where the technician showed and explained how he tested blood samples, etc., x-ray procedures were explained and the children were given discarded x-rays to examine. They also saw the kitchen, watched the laundry machines at work and took great interest in the newborn babies in the nursery. They also visited with some of the patients in the wards which the patients must have enjoyed as much if not more than the children.

I can't help feeling that this venture will prove to be useful to parents and hospital staff as well as the children. So often children associate hospitals with death. Whether a child is suffering from sickness, a broken limb or a wound, very often their first experience with a hospital is a psychic trauma for them.

Judging from some of the drawings Miss Davis has received from members of the Stawamus kindergarten the children were obviously impressed and certainly showed an understanding of what they had seen.

Part of the pre-natal program run by the Coast Garibaldi Health Unit also includes a visit to the hospital for mothers-to-be.

Lions barbecue honors visiting Japanese guests

B.C. Day was the time chosen by past president Gordon Weberg of the Squamish Lions Club to entertain the three charming young Japanese exchange students who are visiting Squamish for three weeks, and also to honour the girls who are taking part in tonight's Timber Queen Pageant.

Gaily coloured lanterns and torches were used to decorate the garden at the rear of the Weberg home for the barbecue dinner and the guests did justice to the barbecued beef, salads and other delicacies among

Two fires on weekend

There were two fires last week, neither of which was extensive.

On Saturday, July 31, firemen extinguished a small bush fire in the bird sanctuary next to the wooden drawbridge. Fire Chief Doug Orser says that there was no appreciable damage.

Firemen were called out again at 10:55 a.m. Tuesday, Aug. 3 to put out a building fire at 38174 Guildford Drive. According to the fire chief a can of paraffin sealing wax ignited while on the burner causing approximately $500 damage to the stove and as a result of the smoke. There were no injuries.

them some delicious thin bread baked by Gordon's mother who was over from Victoria for a visit. A fresh fruit tray which looked almost too good to eat was the attractive dessert and the guests, well fed and content, were prepared for the entertainment which followed.

After the visiting Japanese girls were introduced, Mrs. Norman Barr, who is managing the Timber Queen Pageant, introduced her girls. A number of special guests were also invited and the hosts, along with the host families and other Lions, carried out the Japanese theme of the evening by wearing the attractive kimonos which the girls had brought over from Japan as gifts to the Squamish club members.

The ritual of the tea ceremony, a stylized ceremony which has been handed down for generations, was performed with Akiyo Sagawa, who has been studying this for four years, preparing the tea for four of the guests, Walter Huber, one of the host fathers; Mrs. Pat Brennan, Timber Queen candidate Anne Rattray and Lions Club president Al Muir.

A blanket was spread on the grass to represent the traditional Japanese tatami mat and the four guests took off their shoes and knelt on the edge of the mat. Then she carefully went through a ritual of warming the pottery bowls with hot water (but she used the modern electric kettle for the water) before adding the tea and stirring it with a bamboo whisk to cool it. The guests then drank the tea after first taking a lump of sugar. Following the tea ceremony the girls entertained the group with several Japanese songs, their delicate voices sounding very sweet on the cool night air.

At the close of the formal portion of the ceremony the girls presented Lion president Al Muir with a Lions vest with the personal crest of Akiyo's grandfather on it as well as a happi coat with the Lions Youth Exchange symbols on it.

In its turn the club presented the girls with a number of gifts which included plates with Canadian scenes on them, towels with the flowers of all the provinces, a logging truck charm and playing cards with scenes of B.C. on them as well as Royal Hudson t-shirts.

The girls took the gaily coloured wrapping paper and proceeded to show the other guests how to make cranes, the birds which are the Japanese good luck symbol, out of the paper. It looked so easy the way they did it but it is really a complicated folding procedure.

The girls are staying in Squamish until Sunday and will be attending many of the Squamish Days functions during their visit.

"YOU LOOP THE SASH THIS WAY" Akiyo Sagawa says as she tied the obi at the back of the kimono worn by Hilda Rizun at the barbecue on Monday night. Note the specially imprinted fabric with the Lions crest and the fans.

Sawdust and Shavings

As the office wag said when I almost fell flat on my face last week: "Better luck next fall!"

And his close follower added: "Have a nice trip!"

By this time our three Japanese visitors, Masako Misamisakamoto, Yasuko Asumi and Akiyo Sagawa, will be beginning to feel like Canadians. They've had a full program but they don't seem to mind and it could be their hosts are finding the active and energetic young ladies quite hard to keep up to.

They did look as pretty as butterflies in their kimonos at the barbecue hosted by Gordon and Mary Weberg on B.C. Day and it was so nice to see them decked in their finery in the garden setting.

Helping publisher Cloudesley Hoodspith present prizes at the North Shore-Squamish Times Open on Sunday was former mayor Art Langley of West Vancouver, who with Mrs. Langley competed in the tournament. Incidentally she won one of the prizes too!

It was a pleasure to see Fran Herren's delight when she was announced as the winner of the hidden score (ladies) and the prizes were all wrapped in newspaper, the bright idea of North Shore Times sports editor Roy Wood and wife Claudia.

If you ever get the idea that nobody loves you all you have to do is go away from home for a few days and when you come back even if your husband isn't pleased to see you, your pets will be. After a weekend on the island I returned home to find Socks just so excited to see me that he kept climbing on my lap and rubbing his head against me, purring away like a steam engine in the process.

You'd think I'd been away for a month! And it's not that Dad doesn't feed him or look after him. I swear he's better than I am.

Send medi-cheer to Bruce Husted, recovering from surgery in Lions Gate Hospital.

If anyone has any doubts about the need for campsites and wayside picnic spots they should have driven the road to Whistler on the weekend. Every spot where a car could pull off the road, every place where there was a camping spot and every place where a tent could be pitched was in use.

You simply wouldn't believe the numbers of people who had taken to the woods, the streams and the highways in their desire to get away from the city. Perhaps most of them were from that closely packed area, Vancouver's West End, supposed to be the most densely populated area in North America.

Two fires in district

The Squamish Firehall had to deal with two small incidents last Thursday, July 29. The first was a boat fire in the small boat harbour; and the second was a fire in one of the garbage bins by the secondary school.

An electrical short possibly caused the fire on the Weldwood boom boat, Sea Beaver. The driver had used up both the on board extinguishers before he dove into the water. Then a beachcomber picked the boat, and the fire department was called.

The firemen cooled it down with a fog stream and filled it with a foam which expands and extinguishes all the internal flame. Fire Chief Doug Orser estimated that $2,000 damage could have been done to the boat.

The second fire, in the garbage bins by the school, was probably caused by children throwing lit matches or cigarettes in, Orser said. There was no damage to speak of.

North America's first public blood pressure screening and compliance study started in May in Powell River. After eleven days 2,000 people were screened, reports your B.C. Heart Foundation.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL McCAMMON

Lynda Hinds wed at St. Joseph's

St. Joseph's Parish Church in Squamish was the scene of a lovely wedding on Saturday, July 24 at 4 p.m. when Lynda Ann Hinds, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Hinds of Squamish became the bride of Michael James McCammon, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom McCammon of Burnaby.

Father Griffin, O.M.I. heard the young couple exchange their vows and Mrs. Betty Gebhard played the wedding music on the organ.

For her wedding, the bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a long white A-line polyester satin gown with lace trim, the bodice featuring long fitted sleeves and a V-neck. She chose a floor length veil of Chantilly lace and her only jewelry was a pair of pearl stud earrings, a gift from the groom. Her bouquet was a cascade of white glomellia-glads and white stephanotis.

Emily Miller of Vancouver as maid of honor and the bride's sisters, Karen and Margaret as bridesmaids, were gowned alike in coral polyester crepe with ecru lace trim at the neck, sleeves and ties and lace elbow length capes. They carried bouquets of coral glomellia-glads with ribbons of ivy.

Brian Cameron of Richmond, supported the groom and ushers were Brian Parks and John McCammon of Burnaby.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Hinds chose a floor length gown in champagne boucle with copper corsage and Mrs. McCammon wore a white and green brocade floor length gown with yellow corsage.

Val Ulmer of Mt. Lehman, a long time friend of the bride, sang a solo during the signing of the register.

A reception at the Mira Hotel followed the ceremony with Bob McMynn, a long time friend of the groom as toastmaster. At the reception Leonie Plunkett caught the bride's bouquet and Marvin Wilkinson caught the bride's garter.

Before leaving for their honeymoon in Long Beach, California the bride donned a two piece blue and white cotton suit with white accessories and pink rose corsage.

The young couple will make their home in Vancouver.

Out of town guests included the bride's great grandmother Mrs. M. Vandette of Toronto; her grandparents Mrs. M. Hinds, Willowdale, Ont., and Mr. and Mrs. W. Perry of Toronto, Ont.

Other guests were Cst. and Mrs. B. Bloxham of Cranbrook; Mr. and Mrs. W. Wilkinson and family, Revelstoke; Mr. and Mrs. H. Williston, and family, Terrace; Mr. and Mrs. J. McCammon, Mr. and Mrs. W. Campbell and family, all of Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. G. Morrissey, New Westminster; Mr. and Mrs. B. Cameron, J. Ralph, B. Fleming, and Mr. and Mrs. G. Wilson and family, all of Richmond; Cst. and Mrs. M. Golab, Surrey; Dr. and Mrs. A. Birk and family, Delta; W. Fleming, Nanaimo; and Mr. and Mrs. J. Hampson, White Rock, as well as many other guests from Vancouver and Burnaby.

GOLDEN AGERS TICKETS TO PNE AVAILABLE

Arrangements have been made for the local Golden Agers to attend the Pacific National Exhibition on Aug. 25. The bus will leave the Cedars at 9 a.m. arriving at the PNE grounds approximately 10:30 a.m. and leaving again at 5 p.m. for Squamish. Golden Age ribbons will be presented as travellers board the bus; these ribbons ensure free entry to the grounds.

The cost per person for the bus trip is $4 return and tickets may be obtained at Stewart's Drugs. As there is usually quite a demand for these tickets be sure to get yours early.

Rotary honors queen contestants

Nine of the ten girls who are competing for Timber Queen were guests of the Squamish Rotary Club at a luncheon in the Chieftain Hotel on Thursday, July 29 along with Timber Queen chairman Doreen Barr and official chaperone Aleeta Armstrong.

The girls were each introduced by a Rotarian and gave a brief talk on herself and her plans. In an introductory statement Mrs. Barr said the pageant was more than just a competition for the Timber Queen crown; it was an opportunity for the girls to gain a better insight into themselves, to develop their personalities and to learn about their attributes.

She also said she hoped it would make them better citizens and give them an idea about the work done by service clubs and other groups which are doing so much for the community.

Miss Kinsman, Laine Trudeau, was introduced by Dr. L. Plunkett and spoke briefly on her background. She was followed by Toni Mitchell, Miss Chamber of Commerce, introduced by Doug Rudy; Cheryl Bird, Miss Independent Loggers, introduced by Peter McKay; and Helen Burns, Miss Royal Canadian Legion, introduced by Ross Gauthier; Erica Cumming, Miss B.J.'s Fashions, was introduced by Jim Harley; Anne Rattray, Miss Spencer Realty, by Doug Selby; Kathy Staats, Miss Dairy Queen, by Don Patrick; Janet Husted, Miss Ryan's Cycle Centre, by Bill Gosling; and Karen Hinds, Miss Rotary, and Maurice Scott. Missing was Kim Norton, Miss Firefighters.

Several of the girls unconsciously gave their employers a "plug" and as the employers were Rotarians, the innocent advertising resulted in the member being fined by the sergeant-at-arms.

At the close of the presentations, Karen Hinds thanked the club for giving the girls the luncheon and the opportunity to be present.

At the close of the meeting Al McIntosh, chairman of the Squamish Day Committee, spoke briefly on the program for the holiday celebrations and pushed the sale of the Squamish Day buttons.

Pavlick new co-ordinator

Beverly Pavlick is the new Capilano College co-ordinator for the Squamish district, replacing Avril Gosling, who moved to Lund.

Pavlick has lived in Squamish for the past six years, teaching elementary school. She also managed the Garibaldi Garden Court for three years.

She spent the last two years as a student at Capilano College, attending evening classes at the Squamish centre.

Pavlick felt confident she could handle the job but it will take her quite a while to catch up where Avril Gosling left off.

Pavlick was raised in the Okanagan and got her teaching degree at UBC.

Community Service Corner

Squamish Detachment, RCMP

Rain is always a major threat to drivers, although many do not realize it.

During the first 30 to 45 minutes of rain, driving conditions are most dangerous. The rain raises a soapy-slick film of oil and grease drippings and the road is slippery. The best defence is the obvious one: slow down and be extra careful.

See those wet leaves? They could kill you. They are very slippery during and after a rain and can easily cause a skid, loss of control and an accident.

Here is something else many motorists often are curious about. You are speeding over wet pavement and have poor or bald tires and lose brake control and steering. The combination of speed, wetness and bald tires spells hydroplaning. The tires ride on a film of water — and you're in trouble!

Always adjust your speed to the weather. There is a little clock in your head that tells you what is a safe speed under difficult conditions. Obey it.

Remember, those posted speed limits are for ideal conditions. Slow down on wet surfaces, rain and in patchy fog. If the fog is too bad, pull well off the road. That is where you will be safest.

BRIDAL SHOWER FOR JANICE DRENKA

A lovely bridal shower was given at the home of Mrs. Nancy Hutchinson in honour of Janice Drenka Sunday afternoon.

Acting as hostess was Audrey Hutchinson, who will also be a bridesmaid at the wedding.

Thirty women attended. After the opening of gifts, refreshments were served.

The wedding will take place September 4.

No forest fires this year

Local Forest Ranger M. N. "Tag" Neighbor says this has been a record year with no forest fires reported as of July 29.

Neighbor, who said that every day after July 1 was a special bonus, said he could not remember a year in which there had been such a low incidence of forest fires.

He said that each day without a fire is setting a new record and he hopes it lasts for the remainder of the summer.

Specialty shop opens

Squamish's new delicatessen and tea room, the Specialty Shop, located next to Stedmans, had a successful grand opening last Friday, July 30.

More people than expected came to look at the selections of imported cheeses, European style meats, and in general, the hundreds of specialties one cannot purchase anywhere else.

There is onion soup from France, vermicelli from Holland, licorice from Finland, syrup drinks from Canada, just everything besides the meats and cheeses from all around the world.

"We try to have food from all the different countries," said Jerry Klomp, the owner; "escargots, smoked frog legs, you name it."

The tea room adds a touch of class to the shop. It's neat and comfortable. You can order sandwiches composed of the various types of meats and cheeses sold out front; and of course, tea and coffee and other drinks.

Klomp says that he and his wife Ria have tried to create "the old country type atmosphere" in the tea room. And they have. It's quiet and personal — certainly a change over the assembly line hamburgers and chips of quick order places.

Klomp has been in the food business since he was 15 and is a baker by trade. In the future he plans to make Black Forest and Bon Ton type cakes here so Squamish residents will no longer have to go to Vancouver for them.

The brass dishware and pewter, which can be bought there, adds to the decor. In all, a specialty shop such as Klomp's proves conclusively that Squamish is growing.

PLANTS and a relaxed atmosphere add to the tearoom at the Squamish Specialty Store, the new delicatessen and tearoom on Cleveland Avenue.

Holiday weekend recipe for barbecuers

By ROSE TATLOW

With holiday weekend coming up many people will be entertaining friends during the Squamish Days celebrations and new recipes for outdoor entertaining are always popular. Use your barbecue for meats and vegetables and you can even use it to make desserts.

Add a tossed green salad, some crisp garlic bread toasted to perfection in foil and you'll have a meal your friends will long remember.

 - 1/2 tsp. pepper
 - 1 1/2 lbs. beef sirloin steak cut into 1 1/2" cubes
 - 1/2 lb. mushroom caps
 - 1 large green pepper cut in 1" pieces
 - 1 pint cherry tomatoes
 - 1/2 pineapple cut into 1 inch pieces
- Mix tomato juice, vinegar and seasonings. Place meat in a shallow glass dish; pour tomato juice mixture over meat. Cover, refrigerate 2 hours. Remove mixture from marinade; reserve marinade.

On 6 skewers alternate meat, vegetables and pineapple. Place on grill 4 inches from hot coals. Cook 12 to 15 minutes turning and basting frequently with marinade.
