WILLIAMS ANNOUNCES

New Mamquam bridge by end of '77

By ROSE TATLOW
Labour Minister Allan Williams, in a joint statement with Highways and Public Works Minister Alex V. Fraser, announced at Whistler Monday evening at a zone meeting of the Chambers of Commerce that plans will proceed as quickly as possible for the construction of a new steel and concrete bridge over the Mamquam River, about four miles north of Squamish on Highway 99.

Williams said that the project is expected to be completed by the end of 1977.

At the same meeting he announced the $1,450,000 contract for the paving of 18.18 miles of the Garibaldi Highway 99 in the Whistler Mountain area has been let to Midvalley Construction Ltd. of Kelowna.

Williams said the new bridge across the Mamquam River will be slightly downstream from the present bridge, which will continue to be used until the new one is completed.

Tenders for the steelwork on the new bridge will be called for before the end of this year, with tenders for the substructure called early in 1977. The site will not be available until the work is permitted to go ahead by the fisheries authorities as the Mamquam River is a salmon spawning stream.

The fisheries people do not permit work in rivers until fish spawning and other related factors are no longer affected.

Following erection of the steel, a contract for the decking will be awarded so the project can be completed by the fall of 1977.

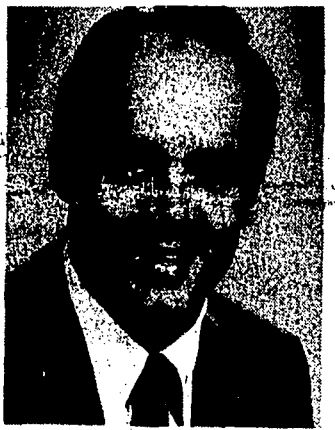

On the highway contract which covers the portion of Highway 99 from the highways and public works salt shed to the Alpine Meadows road, the successful bidder was one of four which competed for the job which will provide work for up to 35 workers for two months.

Crushing of the aggregate gravel will begin in the spring and paving will begin as soon as winter road restrictions are removed and the weather becomes suitable.

KICKING OFF the Secondary School's drive to raise money for the Red Cross is Mayor Dave Stewart. Holding the flag are Marvin Fulmek and Bob Mennger, and assembled behind them is part of the 50-member Community Recreation Class who have organized the drive and will participate in it.

Exciting election race forseen at Whistler

GARRY WATSON, seeking re-election as alderman at Whistler.

FRANS CARPAY, seeking a two year term as alderman at Whistler.

By JENNY BUSDON
Seven names have been offered in the aldermanic race for the available three seats on council in the upcoming municipal elections at Whistler on Saturday, Nov. 20.

Two names have been offered for candidates for mayor, and the upcoming elections should be both interesting and exciting.

Mayor Pat Carleton is seeking re-election and local businessman Syd Young has also become a candidate for Whistler's top job.

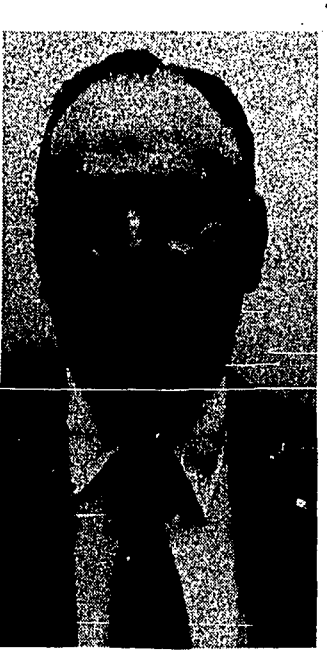

In the aldermanic race those contesting are two incumbents, Garry Watson and John Hetherington, together with Fred Barter, a businessman from Vancouver; Frans Carpay, contractor residing at Whistler; Al Eaton, a businessman from Vancouver; John Hidi, building inspector for the Squamish-Lillooet Regional District; and Arthur Randall Symons, also from Vancouver.

On the school trustee scene, Paul Burrows who has been representing Whistler since Chuck Peacock's resignation, has been appointed by acclamation since no other names were offered for this position.

With property owners from Vancouver being allowed to vote at this election (at the last election in 1975 this was not the case) the forthcoming weeks will be full of activity with busy days ahead of campaigning for those seeking election.

The Whistler Chamber of Commerce plans to hold an all-candidate meeting shortly, with the time, date and place to be announced as soon as possible.

Twelve candidates for aldermen

By ROSE TATLOW
In a surprise about face on Monday morning, former mayor Pat Brennan filed for the mayoralty race, deciding to run against incumbent Dave Stewart in the upcoming elections on Nov. 20. On Oct. 13, Brennan had told the Times he had opted out of the mayoralty race.

Brennan declined to make any statement to the press following the filing of papers on Monday but his decision will undoubtedly spark a keener interest in the election because a mayoralty contest always makes for a more exciting election.

"I welcome the challenge," Mayor Dave Stewart said, when told of the race for the mayor's position, "because it's always much better to have an election than to win by acclamation."

Stewart added that he was pleased to see the number of people offering to run for office and that "Squamish is much more fortunate than most areas where they have problems finding people to take an interest in municipal affairs."

"I feel that this shows there are many people interested in the development of our community, in the way it operates, and in taking a hand in shaping the policies which control it. The candidates should be commended for their public spiritedness."

There are twelve candidates for aldermen, seven for the two year term and five for the one year term. Seeking re-election for a two year term are aldermen Ray Bryant, Jerry Jerwa and Dr. L.C. Kindree. Also seeking a two year term are Robert Samuel Thomas Smith, Alma Gene Cunningham, Heribert Wilhelm Walter and Norman Ross Barr.

Seeking one year terms are Keith Clifford Koch, Dr. Bruno Francesco Marini, John Chovanec, Peter Vicars Gordon and Nicholas Frederick Michael Candy.

Re-elected by acclamation to serve a two year term as school trustees were Margaret I. Marchant and Robert Bruce McCormick.

Bruno Marini is making his third try for the position of alderman, having been defeated by a narrow margin in the past two years; Alma Cunningham

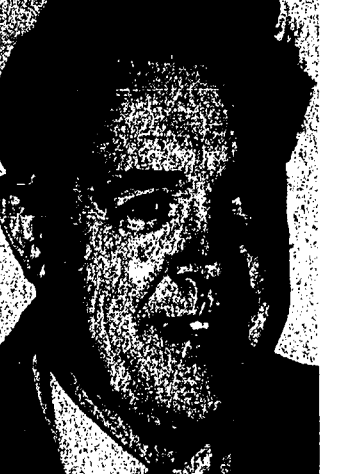

DAVE STEWART, seeking re-election as mayor of the District of Squamish.

PAT BRENNAN, seeking election for a two year term as mayor of Squamish.

DR. L. C. KINDREE, seeking re-election as alderman.

RAY BRYANT, seeking re-election as alderman.

JERRY JERWA, seeking re-election as alderman.

Students support Red Cross drive

When members of the secondary school's community recreation class call at Squamish home Monday and Tuesday nights, they will not be demanding the "trick or treat" which is customary for this season. Instead they will be asking public support for the Canadian Red Cross Society which is holding its drive for funds.

The 50-member class under the direction of Mrs. S. DeCook, Mr. P. Hoiston and Mr. D. Sheffield, has undertaken to organize the drive locally as part of its training in service to the community. Under the chairmanship of Marvin Fulmek and Candace Metzler, the students have been divided into canvassing teams, and it is hoped that each house in the community will be visited during the two-day campaign.

MARGARET MARCHANT, re-elected as school trustee.

As a preliminary to the actual drive for donations, the students have planned a parade for tomorrow evening when the public will be made aware, in some measure, of the work which the Red Cross does and of the society's needs for funds. The parade will start at 6 o'clock at the August Jack Motel, will follow Cleveland Avenue to Pemberton then by way of Second Avenue to the parking lot at Cleveland and Winnipeg. There the students will have set up a booth where they will answer questions about the Red Cross and its activities.

One bit of significant information was given here by Mike Powley, acting assistant commissioner, when he addressed the students last week. He pointed out that the society spends a great deal more money in Squamish than it usually raises here.

Actual figures for 1975 show that, during that year, the amount of money spent by the Red Cross for blood transfusion service in Squamish was $3,020. Expenditure in the water safety program was $368, making a total of $3,388. The last fund raising campaign in Squamish was held in 1973 when a total of $846 was raised.

The community recreation students have considerable confidence that their efforts this year will result in contributions more closely approximating the amount of money spent.

BOB McCORMICK, re-elected as school trustee.

DR. BRUNO MARINI, seeking a one year term as alderman.

SQUAMISH, B.C.—THURSDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1976

Reaching the unreached

Sunday, October 31 is Hallowe'en and the United Nations Children's Fund is asking us to call attention to the most needy children in the world, those living in poor rural areas and urban slums, deprived of the basic services that all children need and deserve.

Children in the developing countries and their families constitute two-thirds of the world's population, but far too many of them are without the essentials with which to build decent and productive lives. They lack basic health care, safe water, adequate nutrition, educational and welfare services.

New methods of reaching deprived children must be found if their young lives are not to be wasted. Already new approaches have proved successful in several developing countries. The international community is currently assisting vigorous efforts by many governments to deliver basic services to needy communities, but a deeper commitment is needed so that these efforts can be extended.

There is now even greater urgency about this problem because of recent cutbacks in many countries in social welfare expenditures, brought on by the current economic crisis. Other priorities can perhaps wait — children cannot. With children the critical stages of growth and development come only once.

Clearly if we are to help young people to have a decent start in life the time is now.

Remember, UNICEF can still do so much for destitute children with so little. Your nickles and dimes can purchase penicillin to cure infections or buy a rake so a child can learn to grow vegetables in a school garden. Sunday night when the witches and goblins call "Shellout for UNICEF", be generous!

Use knowledgeable people

The school district is showing the way in the practical use of people with special skills or special knowledge by asking them to come into the schools and tell the young people about their field or about their experiences.

It serves a double purpose; it makes the adult feel his or her knowledge or ability is of some special interest to others (and we all like to feel that people are interested in us) and it gives the younger generation some idea of the skills and expertise of the older members of the community.

There are many other ways in which the people in Squamish who have special skills could be utilized. We could ask them to sit on boards; to help supervise projects, to advise on specific courses of action or just to serve in a consultant capacity.

There must be many people in the area who have a special talent or skill; who could help in a park or library board, advise the district on a road-building project or some form of public works (look at all our local loggers who have built roads and bridges in the woods) or who could help in many other ways.

In Squamish the minute a person leaves council or school board he seems to be forgotten. The skills he has developed during his terms in office are no longer of any use and the community is the poorer.

Perhaps there could be some way these skills and knowledge could be utilized for the benefit of the community and the people who live here.

Children understand naturally

In 1950, a small Sunday school class in the United States decided that instead of asking for candy at Halloween they would collect coins for needy children. They raised the grand total of $17 and sent it to the United Nations Children's Fund. Other groups began to follow their example and after 26 years, the program in the United States has grown to include more than three and a half million children.

In Canada, commencing in 1952, several groups had been sending their Halloween collections to the United States Committee for UNICEF. In 1955, Adelaide Sinclair, at that time Canadian Representative on the UNICEF Executive Board, asked Jean Arnold Tory if she would organize a committee for UNICEF in Canada. Tory called together, in Toronto, representatives from all women's organizations which had been associated with UNICEF, including Home and School Associations and in October of that year $15,000 was collected.

The Halloween for UNICEF Campaign has grown incredibly to the stage that for the year ending March 1976, a total of $1,050,000 was collected by Canadian children for their less fortunate friends in underdeveloped countries around the world. In 20 years the UNICEF Children's program has collected the astounding total of $10,142,844!

In Southeast Asia alone, 100,000 children go blind each year as a result of lack of vitamin A. Only 4 cents provides three high-dose vitamin A capsules, enough to protect one toddler against nutritionally-caused blindness for one year. One dollar can deliver enough high-protein food to feed three starving children for one month.

Whatever you give, even if it seems only a little, can mean the difference between a child's hope and a child's despair, blindness or sight, life or death. It is a gesture of love and concern for others that can lead to goodwill and peace in the world, hope and friendship in the years ahead. UNICEF counts more than ever this year on increased support and understanding from adults; the children seem to understand just naturally.

Happy or just lazy?

There are two ways of looking at the reelection of a mayor by acclamation; either he's doing such a good job that nobody feels it could be done any better, or residents are so apathetic they couldn't care less who is mayor.

We hope the former is the case in West Vancouver, where Mayor Peter Jones has been re-elected to a second two-year term. We fear the latter may be true, however, judging by the fact that if there had been one less candidate for alderman and one less candidate for school board, all the candidates would have been elected by acclamation!

We feel Mayor Peter Jones has been doing a good job, but don't know if residents think so or not. The best time to find out, under normal circumstances, is during an election. Most West Vancouver residents must be happy with how their municipality is being run or they don't think they can do anything about anything anyway or, maybe a little of both. We wish we knew.

Even though the mayor has been re-elected by acclamation, we hope residents will turn out to at least one all-candidates meeting to hear the other candidates. Unfortunately, voter turnout at the polls is usually lower when there is no contest for mayor, which affects the election of the aldermen and school trustees.

All North Shore residents should keep in mind that local, elected representatives can have much more of a direct effect on our daily lives than our provincial and federal representatives. We should never take local government for granted.

The Amazing Misadventures of Oscar McFoisy

by Doug Adolph

GAME WARDEN ALWAYS GETS HIS MAN

Game Warden Lawson battles his arch-enemy Oscar McFoisy in this series of articles explaining regulations affecting B.C. outdoorsmen. Prince George Conservation Officer Doug Adolph, of the Fish and Wildlife Branch, sheds a humorous light on the sometimes unknown risks taken by those not familiar with the law.

The Statute

False Information: Section 45 of the Wildlife Act states that: "A person who makes, in any application for a licence, permit, in any book, record, certificate, report, or return made, kept, or furnished by him under this act, any false statement or entry or who wilfully furnishes false information to a conservation officer or a constable while in the discharge of his duties under this act is guilty of an offence."

The Incident

It seemed that nothing could spoil such a beautiful afternoon the day that Game Warden Lawson happened to appear on the bank of Cold Water Creek.

Nothing that is, except the presence of his old friend Oscar McFoisy.

If ever in the history of the branch there was a day that not one single violation occurred, then that would be the day that Oscar stayed home. It's not that McFoisy was a bad person, it's just that some people thought he had a few shovels short of a full load, and heaven only knew what Oscar was up to today. It's been said that the first sign of suspicion arose when Oscar got so nervous upon seeing Lawson that he tripped over the log he was fishing from and wound up under six feet of trout stream.

After the formalities of exchanging friendly greetings and regaining consciousness, Lawson requested a peek at Oscar's angler's licence.

Counselor to visit college

A counsellor from Capilano College will be in Squamish on November the 8th from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Anyone wishing to talk to him about course planning or aptitude testing is invited to call the College office at 892-5322 between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. daily to make an appointment.

L.I.P. grant approved

Council has received approval for an L.I.P. grant for the sum of $35,700.

The project will employ seven people and work will begin on Nov. 8. It will involve parks and recreational projects.

"I must have lost it when I feel in the blankety blank stream," replied Oscar, as he salvaged a soggy bologna sandwich from his back pocket. "Well, did you buy one this year?" asked Lawson as he reached for a ball point pen. "Got one at Hazel's a while ago. I get one every year," he smiled. "Besides, what are you bothering me for? Haven't you reached your quota today for pinches?"

Oscar though he felt an old stomach ulcer erupt when it was respectfully explained to him that the quota was lifted and that Lawson could write as many tickets as he wanted to.

"Sure enough after a check at Hazel's it was discovered that Oscar had not purchased a licence for the current year. In fact it's been suggested by some that McFoisy wouldn't know what licences look like and hasn't for 30 years.

McFoisy left the court $200 lighter ($25 for angling without a licence, and $175 for furnishing false information to a conservation officer).

Oscar had done it again!

The above should illustrate the importance of reading and understanding the rules and regulations which all hunters, anglers and other recreationists must follow. The angling offence is one of a very minor nature and usually carries penalties of $25 and up.

What Oscar may or may not have known, is the serious position he places himself in when he gives false information to a peace officer when wildlife offences have been committed.

The judge explained that he took a dim view of those who compounded the already difficult responsibilities of a conservation officer, by supplying incorrect and misleading statements.

This offence is punishable upon conviction by a fine not exceeding $500 or to a term of imprisonment not exceeding three months, or both, so please don't be an Oscar McFoisy, it's just not worth it.

Let's see what kind of trouble Oscar will stumble into next week...

Howe Soundings

Everyone has been so enthralled with the beautiful weather southern B.C. has been enjoying during the past few weeks (really ever since the kids went back to school in September) and it has been unbelievable. But last week I was lucky enough to make a trip to Diamond Head to see the new shelter which has been built by the Parks and Recreation Branch and it was a trip of which dreams are made.

This has always been one of my favorite spots and anyone who has never made the journey in from Base Camp over Red Heather Ridge, past the high point to the Elfin Lakes and the chalet, has never seen what must be one of the loveliest parts of British Columbia if not the world.

People who have travelled all over the world say that the view is one which cannot be rivalled anywhere — except perhaps in Switzerland. It was at its best on that beautiful day in mid-October, long after the time when the snows can be expected to start or the fall rains come.

Colors were at their best but not the brilliance they were one fall when I went up with Ottar and shot two rolls of film on the way in obtaining some of the finest fall color shots I've ever obtained, but brilliant nonetheless. Jim Delikatney, Garibaldi Park supervisor took me along on a routine trip to inspect the new shelter hut before the crew left for the winter and we speculated on the reasons why so much of the blueberry foliage had turned a drab brown instead of the brilliant reds it was under the trees or at the bases of the evergreens.

Maybe it was because under the trees or at the base the snow left earlier and the bushes had more time to mature before the frosts hit them. It was eerie to see arnica and purple asters still blooming so late in the season and even the odd bit of white or red heather in places where the snow had not been too long gone.

In the basin, just before the high point, there was still snow along the road. This was unusual and more like August than October when all the snow has usually left the slopes below the chalet. But even alongside the road dipping down to Elfin Lakes traces of snow could still be seen.

I can remember Millie sending the Brandvolds, or any other people around the place out to those spots to fetch snow for her to cool the fruit drinks and she was always sorry when about the end of August the last vestiges of it disappeared and she had to keep them in the cool cupboards outside in an endeavor to keep them chilled.

There's a timelessness about the high mountains, a sense of never-changing and even the man-made scars of roads and trails are soon filled in by rapid growth of some of the mountain plants, particularly the partridge foot, a low-growing member of the saxifrage family which quickly covers slopes and banks. Jim explained that often the heather doesn't come back but the grasses and the partridge foot fill in these areas. In Black Tusk where crews have been working repairing the scars made many years ago he was delighted with the way the Mimulus Creek and Parnassus Creek campgrounds were coming back.

In some ways the trip to Diamond Head last week was a memorable one for me. It was 25 years since I had first visited the area. In those days one hiked in, along the old trail from Base Camp, and I remember Ottar telling us it was six miles. I did quite a bit of hiking and berry picking in those days and was in good condition but I still swore those must have been Norwegian miles as they simply didn't bear any resemblance to Canadian ones, they were much too long.

We climbed to the Saddle, travelled to the Opal Cone, and on one memorable day went over to the ice-field to the base of Mount Garibaldi. It was magnificent and I became a mountain addict.

Since then I have visited the area practically every year until the chalet was closed two years ago, sometimes making the trip several times in summer and winter.

Driving along the ridge is to realize you are in the heart of the mountains. They lie on every side. The Squamish Valley lies below, beyond it the Tantalus Range, the long sweep of Brohm Ridge backed by the snowfields surrounding Mt. Cayley and Mt. Fee, then the massive reddish peak of Atwell or Diamond Head with Lava and Columar Mountains in the foreground; to the right the Opal Cone, the crater of an extinct volcano, green clad and beautiful, centring the massive Garibaldi Neve, a permanent field of snow which never melts. Further around the circle are the Mamquam peaks and then to the south the Sky Pilot group, its sharp peaks etched against the brilliant blue sky.

When first we visited Diamond Head Canadians were in the minority; most of the guests, or even those who hiked in were European, but today with the ever increasing popularity of hiking and the numbers of people taking to the woods and the mountains on weekends or other days, it's a different story.

We can remember being the only hikers or one of a very small group but last week they told us that on Oct. 17 there were more than one hundred hikers who came in as far as the chalet and many others who had only come part way along the trail.

How nice to see that others are now enjoying the mountains as much as we did when first we saw them, and that Diamond Head, while no longer available for people like me who can't make the seven mile hike any more, is still becoming a mecca for more and more people who are discovering the beauties of the mountains, its meadows and its flowers.

There are over 3,800 people in British Columbia who are blind and use a white cane. Motorists should observe great caution when at intersections; when about to make a turn, when in a parking lot; during the night or day.

The white cane is used so that people can see it and use precautions, so please be on the lookout for the people with the cane.

Williams outlines labour problems, attempts to solve them

In a speech which dealt with the labour problems which have beset the government and the steps which have been taken to alleviate some of them, Labour Minister Allan Williams told the zone meeting of the Chambers of Commerce at Whistler on Monday night that on Wednesday the labour unions and management of B.C. Rail would be meeting for the first time.

"By depoliticizing the management of B.C. Rail we have made this possible," he told the group. "It is the intention of the department of labour with the full support of the government to convene meetings to look solidly and squarely at problems which affect this province.

"We want labour to understand management, management to understand labour, and both to understand the government. There has never been an opportunity before for these three groups to sit down and talk together."

Williams said that the labour relations on the BCR had been dismal, chaotic but dismal. Morale was low. It was easy for men to be dissatisfied in an atmosphere like this. "But," he said, "I have seen an atmosphere of confidence built between me and the labour unions, management and government.

"An attitude of mutual respect can be built in this province," Williams said. "The word from both management and labour is that 'there's got to be a better way'. The government wants to make this happen. We're going to make it work."

"Other ways have been suggested. We've had glowing reports of the German system and the Austrian system but these were built where there were no trade unions or management associations. They could design their own system for their own use. The Japanese also have a system which works, but would it work for us?"

Williams said that some techniques are excellent. In Germany the workers have some say in how their industry is run. In B.C. in the Crown corporation of Kootenay Forest Products this has been tried and it is a success.

The minister said he would like to see members of unions as directors in Crown corporations. They will be on the board which will operate the B.C. ferries and he would like to see that a director of B.C. Rail would be from labour.

Williams pointed out that one of the areas which is hurting B.C. today is the cost of B.C. products but recent talks with the Japanese had indicated that while price is important, nothing is more important than quality and continuity of supply. And he felt the latter was the most important.

He asked why unions go on strike, and said that the government was going to take steps to see that strike votes are secret and are supervised by someone appointed by the minister of labour.

"If other steps are needed," Williams said, "they will be taken by this government!"

Earlier, Williams touched on some of the questions raised by the first speakers, members of the five different chambers which comprise the zone, Pemberton, Whistler, Squamish, North and West Vancouver. He stated he was pleased to see that some of the matters are being dealt with.

"I can't promise a road from Anderson Lake to Seton or to Lillooet, but can promise that an effort is being made to promote winter tourism. The minister of recreation, the Hon. Grace McCarthy, is actively working on this and I recently met with a Japanese delegation trying to sell the recreational potential of B.C.

"The Pemberton chamber is concerned with the widening of Highway 99, it must realize that the work done on Suicide Hill came about by the action taken by local people at Whistler and Pemberton.

"Regarding the agricultural lands and the flood plain legislation, this is being revised and will come up in the spring session. Some fine tuning must be done as some areas should never have been put in the agricultural lands. But we are going to keep on preserving agricultural land."

Williams announced that the new Mamquam bridge would be completed by the fall of 1977 and that paving of an 18 mile stretch of Highway 99 would be done next spring.

"I am looking forward to seeing a highway constructed safely and pushed through to Lillooet and Williams Lake. It will be suitable for heavy traffic," he said.

Williams complimented North Vancouver chamber on the think tanks on a very important subject, labour and management. "When I became minister of labour," he said, "we were beset by problems created by Bill 146. After the 104 days were over not one of the industries plagued by labour difficulties had solved their problems. We tackled them. The food industry ones were solved. The pulp and paper industry ran into AIB problems but these were resolved. One by one we solved them."

"During this period I recognized basic problems in labour disputes in B.C. and realized we must have a new approach, with labour management and government acted in union."

"In an expanding economy it is easy for labour to make demands and for industry to give in. The two groups have no relationship except during times of negotiations. That was when we decided to resolve some of these problems."

Williams said the current atmosphere in B.C. is the result of this direct approach.

Williams answered a number of questions from the floor. An employee of the lift company wanted to know what the effect of unionization on an area which had never had a union was and he couldn't answer. However, he did say that the fears of unions are groundless if union members take an interest in their union and do not let the organizers take over control.

Doug MacDonald asked about the Barrier and the status of lands at Garibaldi and all the minister could tell him was that the government official responsible for the action is no longer there. In answer to a question on local people working on a project, he said the government wanted as many local people as possible to be employed.

In this respect he said the government is well aware there are people in Squamish who could do some of the work in Squamish such as building dykes or roads well below costs and the minister of highways has assured that if the District of Squamish can do this he will let the road be done in a similar manner.

In response to a question by Simon Baker he said that he planned to start discussions with Indian people on land claims early in January and he hoped for a general land claims settlement.

Jack Bright told the minister that he felt he spoke for most of the people in the area when he thanked him for the work done on the highway and the progress on both it and the sewer.

Christmas mailing deadlines

Greeting cards for distant Canadian points and the United States should be mailed no later than December 11 and parcels before December 3 if they are to reach their destination for Christmas. The deadline for local delivery is Dec. 17.

In making the announcement Postmaster-General Jean-Jacques Blais urged Canadians to mail their cards and parcels abroad no later than the specified deadline, and, if possible, to get them in the mail earlier. Greeting cards may not contain more than five words of written message to qualify for the lower third class rate of eight cents if they are to be mailed to destinations in Canada or the United States. Cards to these points must be sealed.

CAMP SQUAMISH AIDS CRIPPLED CHILDREN

The Lions Easter Seal Camp, Camp Squamish, which opened its doors on June 18, has played host to 328 physically or mentally disabled youngsters during the summer months.

Because of Camp Squamish and its facilities they were able to enjoy a camping holiday. In the first week of September, 14 physically handicapped adults stayed and played at Camp Squamish.

Since that time 225 non-crippled school children from Port Coquitlam have studied outdoor education at Camp Squamish.

In the coming months there are seven conventions totalling 370 men and women who will come to Camp Squamish to take advantage of all that the centre offers. This will ease the burden of maintaining Camp Squamish as an Easter Seal Camp for crippled children.

Fire Lines

by
Squamish Fire Department

This bi-weekly feature is intended to inform the residents of the District of Squamish about the operation and functions of the Squamish Fire Department, and most important to offer information regarding the practice of good fire-life safety in industry, business, commerce, and in the home.

The fire department is a very important community resource. Its purpose, of course, is to provide adequate fire defences within the area it was created to serve. It must also protect the community by enforcing fire prevention and life safety regulations in order to reduce the incidence of fires and loss of life caused by fire.

One of the areas that can increase our effectiveness as a department is public awareness and public education; both of which we hope will be increased by means of this feature.

Your questions regarding the operation of the fire department and/or fire prevention and life safety matters are welcomed.

Please write us at the following address:

Fire Lines,
c/o Squamish Fire Department,
Post Office Box 310,
Squamish, B.C. V0N 3G0.

We will endeavor to print your questions with our answers in this feature, or mail a direct response. All questions should be signed and bear a return address.

Radio equipment for ambulance

Bob Blomster of the Squamish Ambulance told the Squamish Lions Club last week that the new radio equipment, purchased by the Lions Club and installed in the ambulance with the base set at the hospital, has been even better than they had hoped.

Blomster said the spread of the equipment is so great that it can cover the entire area, something which cannot be done by conventional sets or by those using B.C. Telephone channels.

The ambulance has been assigned its own frequency or can go to B.C. Tel channels if necessary. The new set gives coverage from Pemberton to Abbotsford.

The Lions Club has purchased the equipment which has been installed in the hospital and the ambulance with the drivers having their own units. These have been or can be given to a maximum of four people and they can all be alerted at once if necessary.

Blomster told the Lions Club that he just couldn't believe in the performance of the service. He added that it had exceeded all expectations.

"The system is working much better than we expected," he told the club members, and invited them to look at the ambulance and the installation which was parked just outside the hotel.

Peter Gordon, one of the ambulance drivers, said that the new system was very valuable, in helping out the patients... and the families of the drivers involved. It also offered more mobility than the drivers used to have.

"Speaking for the men," Gordon said, "I would like to thank Bob Blomster, who has tackled problems with communications and with people and solved them."

Following the official presentation of the unit to the ambulance George Gibbs of the CNIB spoke briefly to the club on the CNIB campaign being held in Squamish and the services offered to the blind.

He also pointed out a number of ways in which you can help a blind person: by never leaving a door half open, either close it or leave it wide open; by telling him when you are coming to a curb or a corner, well in advance; by directing him to a chair, putting his hand on the back and he will manage to get into it and by mentioning any obstacles in his path such as furniture.

He also showed a film on how to treat a blind person and mentioned the ways in which the society is working in the schools, with films on eye safety, talks and pamphlets on eye care and other material.

FROM THE DOOR of the chalet you can still see the view of Lava Mountain, the Saddle and the peak of Garibaldi which has made this part of Garibaldi Park famous.

Myrtle Philip School officially opened at Whistler Tuesday

By ROSE TATLOW

In a moving ceremony, which brought unashamed tears to the eyes of most of the people who watched, the newest school in the district, the Myrtle Philip Elementary School at Whistler, was officially opened in the presence of the great lady for whom it was named.

At the close of the address by Joe Phillipson, associate deputy minister of education, the plaque seen in the hallway of every school with the name of the trustees, the builders, etc., was unveiled, but also unveiled was a special plaque honoring Mrs. Philip, a pioneer settler of the area who came there in 1914 to build the resort later known as Rainbow Lodge.

Phillipson said he particularly liked the words at the bottom of the official plaque: "A community school built in co-operation with the Squamish-Lillooet Regional District."

He also complimented the students, saying that he had particularly enjoyed their school song which ended with the lines "This school belongs to you and me" because this was just what it did. It belonged to the community and was dedicated to the use of the community.

"A new school opening is symbolic of the growth of a community," he said. "This is a community school and the addition of $300,000 provided for a larger gymnasium and common facilities to be used by the community as a whole."

He mentioned that for 31 years Mrs. Philip had been a trustee, serving the area long and faithfully.

She spoke briefly telling the pupils she hoped they would always be proud of their new school and "do the best you can. God bless you all!" she said.

Following the dedication, Mayor Pat Carleton made Mrs. Philip the first freeman of the Resort Municipality of Whistler, presenting her with a beautiful scroll in honour of the occasion.

"It is not often," he said, "that a new municipality can honour a pioneer; a woman who was a committee of one to bring education to Alta Lake."

In the invocation, given by Gary McLeod of Whistler, he mentioned the pioneer spirit of the lady after whom the school was named.

T. B. M. Fougberg, chairman of the board of school trustees, Howe Sound School District No. 48, said that in 1932 Myrtle Philip decided the community needed a school. She was the instigator and continued to be the driving force behind the school until the area came into the school district in 1946. She served as a school trustee until two years ago when she retired.

Fougberg complimented adult education director Roberta Carson on her success with adult education programs, saying there were more people taking courses in Whistler than any place in B.C. Out of a population of 528 people 260 were taking courses.

Mayor Carleton offered a few words of welcome and introduced Labour Minister Allan Williams, MLA for West Vancouver-Howe Sound, who had been visiting the area and attended the zone Chamber of Commerce dinner the preceding evening.

Williams, who said he was happy to be a friend of Myrtle's, was pleased to see the school dedicated in her name.

"She has been a person who is interested in people and I hope her example will be an inspiration to all the students who may go to school here."

Roger Griffin, principal of the Myrtle Philip School, introduced the pupils and some excellent entertainment which they had prepared which included a song and recitation by the kindergarten and Grade One pupils, under Miss Burrows; a poem and a play about the enchanted pumpkin by Mrs. Dunbar's class and a recitation and a play by Mr. Griffin's class.

The whole school concluded by singing the school song "This school belong to you and me" to the tune of "This Land is Yours and Mine."

Prior to the dedication and official opening the school district entertained at a luncheon in honour of the visiting guests which included board members, Mrs. Philip, former trustee Bill Manson, regional district director Dan Cumming and Mrs. Cumming, Mayor and Mrs. Pat Carleton, Ald. and Mrs. Bob Bishop, Ald. John Hetherington, and Labour Minister Allan Williams.

TRUSTEES RE-ELECTED BY ACCLAMATION

The four school trustees seeking re-election in this school district were all returned by acclamation following the closing of the nominations on Monday.

In Squamish veteran trustee Margaret Marchant and Bob McCormick, who had completed his first term as a school trustee, were both returned.

In Alta Lake, Paul Burrows, who had taken over the balance of the term vacated by the departure of Chuck Peacock, was also re-elected to serve for another two years and in Pemberton T. B. M. Fougberg, chairman of the board, was also returned.

Sawdust and Shavings

Have you ever wanted to help the poorer children in the world? If so, you will have a chance to do so twice in the next week. On Halloween night, when the goblins will be out, there will be children in the community with UNICEF boxes and people are asked to contribute to these for the children in other countries who don't have the opportunities to enjoy the same "tricks or treats" that our children do.

Then on Nov. 4, at the home of Mrs. Laura Sullivan, former resident Eleanor Bishop, now living at Alta Lake, is holding a special Save the Children Fund sale with all proceeds going to the Save the Children Fund.

Mrs. Bishop said that several years ago they "adopted" one of these children and when she realized how little money is needed to help them this was one of the suggestions she was given of a method to further aid these children.

So, if you are interested in helping the children who need help, and also in picking up a novelty or two for someone's Christmas stocking or some extra little gift, drop in at Mrs. Sullivan's between 10 a.m. and 12 noon; 1 - 5 p.m. or 7 - 10 p.m. and do your bit. They will appreciate your help.

Must be the week for the Bishops to be in the news because Bob Bishop is hard at work organizing a Rotary Club for the Whistler area.

Just another addition to the "let's not keep knocking young people" campaign. Last week I attended a young people's meeting and I was most impressed at the way in which the chairman handled the meeting. Reports were presented, work was done and committee programs outlined in a manner which would have done credit to an adult group. In fact I've seen lots of adult groups which don't do half as good a job!

I'd like to see those young people in another ten years. Perhaps the groups they belong to then will be the ones which will be taking an active part in the development of our community.

Loved this comment from Wasserman's column. According to the Schools Act, insane persons are disqualified from being elected to school boards in B.C. No such problems exist for insane persons who are elected to municipal councils.

Congratulations to Milton Shantz of Pemberton who recently celebrated his 90th birthday and was honored with a birthday cake to mark the occasion at the celebration being held in Pemberton last Saturday in honor of Bob and Mary Taylor's 50th wedding anniversary.

Among former Pemberton residents at the golden wedding anniversary were Ben and Sally Cherry of White Rock, Mrs. Bert Perkins and Mrs. Ada Graham.

Accident on Highway 99

In a single car accident on Oct. 19, damage amounting to approximately $1,500 occurred to a vehicle driven by Kenneth David Wright.

The accident occurred about a mile north of Berube's on Highway 99. According to Wright he swerved to miss an oncoming logging truck, lost control and went into the ditch.

This year marks the 31st anniversary of Canada Savings Bonds — C.S.B. campaigns having commenced in 1946.

It was a "remember when" session for Roy Crowston and Ernie Chambers when they met at the home of Chambers' daughter, Rosemary Barr, in Valleycliffe last week to reminisce about old times on the prairie 42 years ago.

At that time they both lived in Mulvehill, about one hundred miles north of Winnipeg, and the tales they told over the tea cups were really something.

Rosemary said that she had known the Crowstons for some time but it was only last year that she learned he had gone to school with her father so when Chambers made his first visit to B.C. this fall a reunion with Roy Crowston was a must.

There are still tickets available for the Senior Citizens dinner and social at the Elks Hall at 6:30 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 29.

Tickets are $1.50 per person and are available at Stewart Drugs.

Loved the comment made by Mr. Davies, architect of the new Myrtle Philip School, when he said the workmen asked for danger pay because of the number of bears which walked through the construction site when the school was being built.

Most classes filled in Adult Education courses

The Adult Education and Recreation courses and programs started in the first week of October are going well according to Squamish co-ordinator Roy Penrose. The courses offered in both Pemberton and Whistler have also been well received.

On Monday evenings, sewing for beginners is an on-going course and instructor Carol Bennett said there is room for others. The basic bookkeeping course is filled with 30 students attending. The industrial first aid course started on Monday, Oct. 18 and they meet on Thursdays as well and the course is filled. English for new Canadians has room for additional students and Forrest Johnston is ably assisted by Jane Walker. Crochet and knitting is another course that is on-going and anyone interested is asked to drop in to the Capilano College Centre on Monday mornings at 10 a.m. Mixed volleyball has 40 registered and an enjoyable time is had each week. Jeff Bowcock is in charge of the Kung Fu course and it is open from youngsters through to adults. They are joining forces with the Outdoor Club in order that they get proper indoor fitness exercises for outdoor activities. The beekeeping course originally to start in October has been cancelled until February. The above courses with the exception of crochet and knitting meet in the high school.

On Tuesday night all courses are held in the high school. Typing for beginners has a full course but it also is an on-going course. Olga Nitschke is pleased with the response to the conversational Spanish class as she has 25 students enrolled. The driver training course given by Kai Larsen is always a popular one. It is a driver incentive program with 25 hours of classroom theory and eight hours on the road. It is an on-going course and you may register at anytime. It is too late for new applicants to the CORE (conservation and outdoor recreation education) class but another will be held in the early new year. The pottery class is open and on-going. Not enough interest was shown for the "sewing with knits" and the course had to be cancelled. The St. John's senior first aid course held a registration on Oct. 19 but will be meeting regularly on Thursday evenings. Hatha Yoga has a good class but there is still time to join.

On Wednesday nights the following courses are held in the high school: Painting for pleasure and you are invited to drop in anytime. Conversational French is an on-going course with room for more students. Faith Nelson said she is able to accommodate several more persons for her bridge lessons. The Power Squadron course is going well but it is not open to further registration. The men's floor hockey always has a good turnout but it is not too late to get involved. The badminton classes at both the Brackendale and Mamquam schools are filled to capacity.

Thursday evenings at the Squamish school Lynette Kelley has both the modern jazz dance for beginners and the ladies keep fit class for intermediates. To put it mildly, "the classes are bulging at the seams". At Howe Sound secondary school, the intermediate typing class is full but is an on-going course. Yoga level 2 is open to more students at anytime. The ladies recreation program at the high school on Thursday nights offers a variety of sports from volleyball, basketball, badminton to floor hockey. The group plans each week what they will do the following Thursday. There is room for more so sign up soon ladies. Guido Cella has four separate classes from 6-10 p.m. in the school on Italian language. This is on an experimental basis and it is to teach young people of Italian parents and other Italians who are interested in their own language.

Co-ordinator Roy Penrose said the public is invited to drop in on any class for an evening prior to "signing up" for one or more courses. He said he and the staff welcome any comment be they positive or negative, and suggestions on future courses will definitely be taken into consideration.

On June 23, 1976 the Anti-Inflation Board established by Parliament became, in effect, an agent of the Government of British Columbia. But an agent with very special powers. It could control, overturn, upset, or alter all the wage and benefit agreements that had evolved in B.C. over years of bargaining in both the Public and Private sectors of the economy.

The Provincial Government, elected by the people to protect their interests, has abdicated control of the economy to a Federal Bureaucracy. That Bureaucracy now rules in the only way a bureaucracy can — blind — by statistic, by arithmetic means, with little knowledge of, or regard for, regional differences.

Why has our Provincial Government welcomed this invasion of Federal power into B.C.?

Was the government unable to discern the problem?

Did the government's courage fail in the face of economic difficulties?

Is the government afraid to govern?

Can the government regain its lost prerogative?

Volleyball League results

On Thursday, October 21, the Pemberton volleyball teams travelled to Squamish to play three of the Howe Sound teams — the Bantams, the Juniors and the Seniors.

Bantams: The HSS Bantams started slowly and lost the first game 15-9. Then the long hours of practice came to the fore, and they started to play as a team. They quickly made 12 points, but then lost their momentum. Pemberton Bantams finally took the game at 16-14. In the third game the strong serves of the HSS team helped them to win the game 17-15.

Team members are Liz Brennan, Coral Dent, Karen Denton, Valerie Lewis, Leanne Mitchell, Anne-Marie Staats and Tina Van Der Ree. The girls are looking forward to a return match in Pemberton on Tuesday, October 26. They have a home game with St. Thomas Aquinas on Tuesday, October 28. Spectators are very welcome — the game starts at 3:15 p.m.

Junior Volleyball: The Howe Sound Junior girls team played well together. However, they suffered a few problems and could not score a win over the Pemberton team. The scores were close and Howe Sound should be proud of its effort.

Senior: The HSS Senior team played poorly and were soundly beaten in two games.

Titans lose to Chargers

The Squamish Titans lost 14-0 to a tough Charger team in Gordon Sturtridge league play on Sunday afternoon. The rain- and slippery field did not deter either team from exhibiting some fine ball control.

STAWAMUS ELEM. WINS CROSS COUNTRY RACE

On Tuesday, Oct. 19 the School District No. 48 Cross Country Race was run at the Brackendale elementary school with Stawamus taking top honors.

Stawamus narrowly defeated Mamquam elementary school 1008 to 995. Brackendale came third with 542 points and Squamish fourth with 269 points.

Most of the schools in the district are preparing for the forthcoming volleyball season. Exhibition games will soon be taking place and a tournament is scheduled for Howe Sound secondary school on Nov. 10.

managed to get within scoring position several times but fumbled or were stopped by a fine Charger defence.

Raymond Lapointe turned in one of the finer personal efforts of this season by a Titan. Lapointe, going both ways, ran well and his blocking enabled teammates Nick Pasuzzi and Jack Wright to gain some substantial yardage. Indeed all the Titans who played both ways deserve an extra well done as the weather was anything but ideal for football.

A special thanks also goes to the game officials, parents and other fans for braving the weather and for encouraging our local team on. The Titans remain in fourth place in their division and if Sunday's display of team effort is any indication of things to come, the Titans will indeed be a championship contender.

Bonspiel cancelled

Inflation has hit the annual BCR bonspiel, usually held in the fall of the year.

Bonspiel committee chairman Dick Reimer regrets that increased costs of obtaining the curling rink for the event makes it impossible to hold this annual bonspiel.

FOOTBALL
After seven straight defeats and the prospect of a winless season staring them in the face, the Howe Sound Chiefs finally put it all together last Wednesday to defeat Sentinel Spartans 20-8. The team played very well as a whole and, as a result, were finally on the receiving end of the good breaks.

Sentinel scored first on a sustained drive in the first quarter capping it off with a 20 yard run from scrimmage. It was to Howe Sound's credit that they did not quit but fought back to score on Robin Drygas' fine run off a draw play on fourth down and goal to go at the ten yard line. The two point convert attempt failed and the half ended with the score 8-6 in Sentinel's favour.

In the third quarter, the Chiefs definitely controlled the temp of the game and this eventually paid off when quarterback Laurence Gagnon hit slot-back Danny Thompson on a spectacular 40 yard pass and run play. Thompson juggled the ball momentarily on his fingertips before hauling it in and sprinting down the sideline into the end zone. The two point conversion was good and the Chiefs led 14-8.

In the fourth quarter, Howe Sound's defense, which had played well all game, came up with the big play when it was needed most. With Sentinel pressing for the tying touchdown, defensive end Marv Fulmek forced a Sentinel fumble which the Chiefs recovered on their ten yard line. Two plays later, tailback Larry Smith blew through a large hole on a counter and ran 85 yards for a touchdown.

This was, by far, the longest play from scrimmage this year. This touchdown completely demoralized the Spartans and they did not threaten again. For the first time this season, the Chiefs played as a unit with a minimum of mental errors and turnovers. Congratulations on a fine effort.

SOCCER
October 18 - Howe Sound 1 Argyle 2.

Howe Sound opened this return game with Argyle in poor fashion. Although Argyle's soccer skills seemed much improved since our first game with them there was no obvious excuse for Howe Sound's spotty opening.

Just as we began to get into the game Robin Drygas unfortunately fumbled a ground ball from the wing into his own goal. Despite this setback Robin's play improved and his confidence grew to such an extent that he saved Argyle's second half penalty shot. As the game entered the second half Howe Sound gradually gained control of the game and finished strongly yet were unable to draw closer than 2-1.

Although Mike Sweeney's move to the back four has strengthened the defence his absence in midfield has caused problems yet to be remedied, and these are ones mainly of experience. Jamie Ellis scored Howe Sound's goal in the second half.

October 19 - Howe Sound 5 Mount Currie 3.

Victory at last, and a reward for perseverance. Mounting experience, continual positional changes and a new goalkeeper finally paid dividends and gave Howe Sound a one game lead in this best of three series. The winner of the series will play-off against the North Shore, Burnaby, New Westminster number two team and the winner of that encounter will then advance to the B.C. Soccer finals as one of two representatives from the regional zone.

Cees Van Den Maagdenburg made his debut in goal for the school team and it was his positional and organizational ability in his own penalty area that gave our defence some much needed confidence. This confidence spread to the improving midfield players and gave the forwards enough ball to demonstrate fully, for the first time this season, their ability to score goals.

The forward line of Ron Roberts, Jamie Ellis and Dwayne Constantin, accounted for all five Howe Sound goals. Unfortunately the team began to relax its efforts towards the end of the game thus allowing Mount Currie to steal the advantage, and score two late goals.

October 20 - Howe Sound 7 Delbrook 2.

The rapidly improving Howe Sound team scored its second win in as many days, and gained revenge for their narrow defeat against Delbrook earlier in the season. Mike Sweeney and Phil Ellis, playing their best game so far, anchored the defence that seldom looked shaky.

Howe Sound scored early in the game and dominated throughout. The Delbrook defence was unable to cope with the continuous pressure and had no answer to the speed and skill of our wingers. Goals were scored by Ron Roberts, Neil Roberts, Frank Egedy and Dwayne Constantin.

FIELD HOCKEY
Howe Sound's field hockey team is enjoying a successful season. The team defeated Balmoral junior secondary in North Vancouver 6-0; then tied a Point Grey team here 1-1. On Monday, Oct. 18 the team travelled to Gibsons to play a senior girls field hockey team. Our team surprised the older girls with a strongly offensive game and defeated them 3-0.

Of all the places where you can go to save or borrow money, only Credit Unions are owned and controlled by the members — customers just like you — who use the services.

You'd be surprised what a difference that makes, in a Credit Union's responsiveness to your needs, and those of your community, as well.

As a member, you actually help elect the board of directors, who are also members just like you.

You help determine your Credit Union's policies, and you share in its profits.

Because your Credit Union is autonomous, it can be more responsive to community needs. Your money is likely to stay right there in the community, assisting local business and supporting vital community projects.

Your Credit Union is more likely to help you when you need it, too.

Security
Credit Unions operate under strict provincial legislation, overseen by a superintendent of Credit Unions in the Attorney General's Department. All shares and deposits are guaranteed without limit by the Provincial Credit Union Share and Deposit Guarantee Fund.

In 40 years of Credit Union operation in British Columbia, no member has ever lost a cent of deposits.

Over 500,000 British Columbians — fully one-quarter of the entire population of the province — are presently members of a Credit Union. That's a strong vote of confidence.

Service

Besides the usual financial services — savings accounts, term deposits and certificates, chequeing services, loans and mortgages — Credit Unions may offer many valuable ancillary services. Among them: traveller's cheques, and travel planning to go with them; insurance; income tax service; consumer advice; debt counselling; more convenient hours, often including Saturdays; and more liberal loan and mortgage policies.

Ask a friend about a nearby Credit Union you can join. He'll be glad to help.

Golf club annual meeting

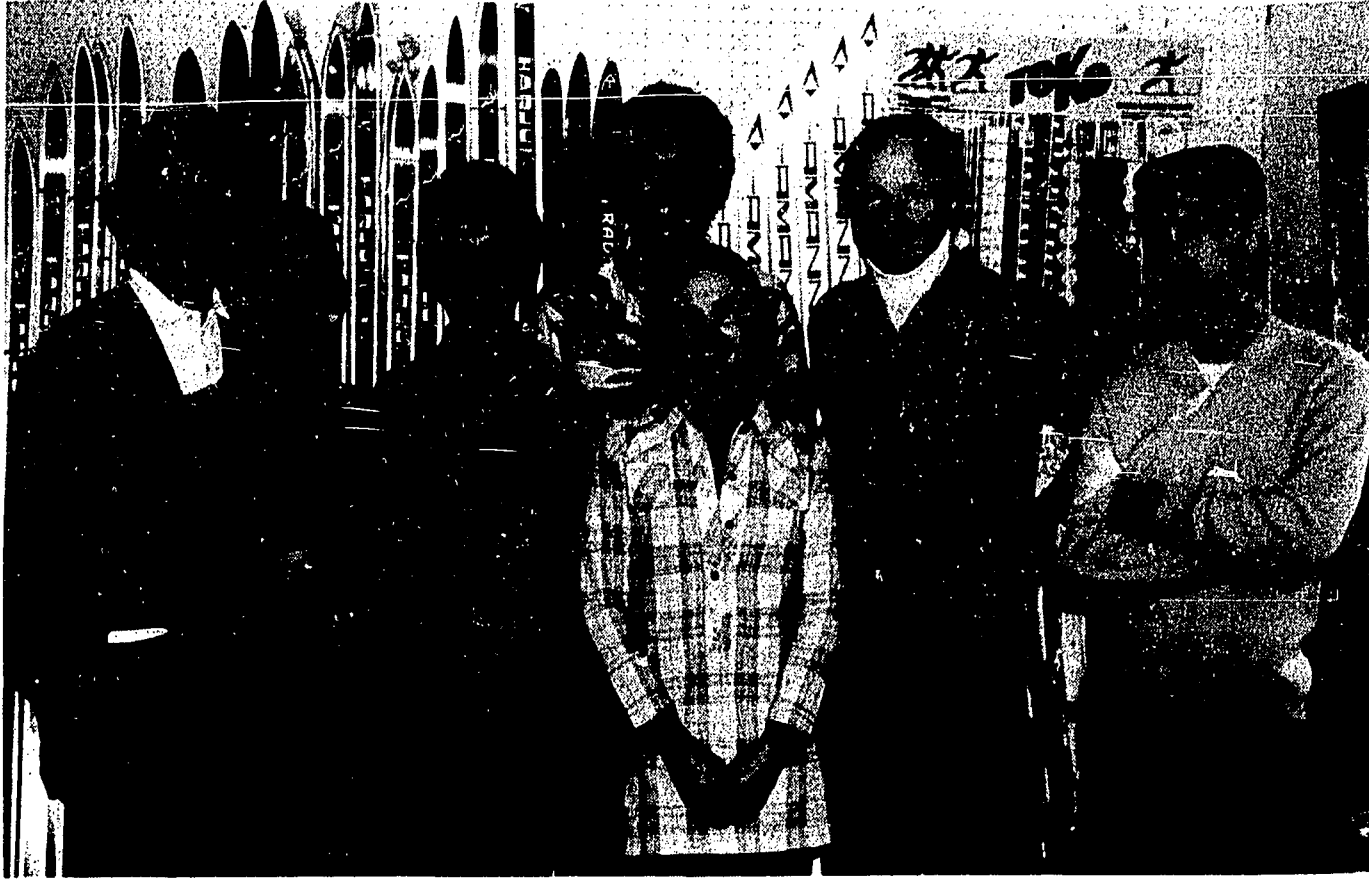

The Squamish Valley Golf and Country Club will hold its annual meeting in the clubhouse on Wednesday, Nov. 3 at 8 p.m.

In addition to annual reports, reports of the president and committees, there will also be an election of officers.

All club members are urged to attend.

Paul Priest new SSOC president

The Squamish Ski and Outdoor Club has started a new year, and are looking forward to lots of snow and a long ski season. Although the weather during the summer wasn't very encouraging, the club had outings to Diamond Head, Duffy Lake, Daisy Lake, Black Tusk, Cheakamus Lake, and some keen skiers even managed to hike in for some skiing on Brohm Ridge — in July! At the October general meeting the following new directors were elected: president, Paul Priest, vice president Chris Dale, secretary treasurer Ian Forbes, and directors Jeff Bowcock, Helen Denis, Al Johnson, Bev Pavlik, Bert Summerskill and Barry Sokolan. They are looking forward to a good year for the club.

Harlem clowns

The Harlem Clowns, predictably, defeated in points the secondary school's senior boys basketball team at a game in the gymnasium Saturday night. But insofar as entertainment value was concerned the Squamish players and the audience, which packed the gym, were the winners.

The internationally known sportsmen-entertainers handled the ball with a combination of athletic skill, sleight of hand, and magician's tricks that kept everyone — on the floor or in the bleachers — in a state that hovered constantly between suspense and hilarity.

When one of the players suffered a seriously sprained ankle, his confreres acted their way around the incident so casually that few people realized the accident was not merely part of the act. As was the case with the whole performance, the "clowning" implied in the name of the group was of the highest artistic order. Referees for the game were David Stathers and Mike Williams.

Memberships are now due, they are $5.00 for families, and $3.00 for individuals over 16. Mail your application form to Box 2317, Squamish. If you need an application form, contact Al Johnson at 898-9244.

The next general meeting will be on November 3 at 8 p.m. at the high school. Arrangements will be made this coming ski season for ski outings, and instructions for beginners. Watch the bulletin and Coming Events in the Squamish Times for details. Or better still come along to the monthly meetings and let us know what your ideas are.

SQUAMISH SELECTS ARE STILL UNDEFEATED

It was another Squamish Selects victory this weekend. Playing in wet cold weather at Sentinel high school, the Selects rolled over the West Van Jets 6-1. A defensive lapse at the end of the first half was the cause of their only goal. Scoring for Squamish were Don Burns with two, Gary Ingram with two, Kevin Doherty and Brad Brohmen's penalty shot.

The game was no contest from the beginning, and only some bad breaks kept the score out of double figures.

Coach Hans Hickli of the Squamish Selects expects a very interesting game next Sunday. Selects will be playing the West Van Falcons, the second place team. This team has a strong offense and an excellent defense. Game time is 1 p.m. Sunday at Centennial Park.

Winter car check must be done now

It will soon — very soon — be winter and vehicle owners should begin preparing their cars for the snow, the ice, and the cold.

A tune up, including the ignition system, points, condenser and plugs, will help prevent many breakdowns. Several things should be specifically checked.

The battery should be kept fully charged in order to battle winter temperatures. The electrolyte should be checked at least once a month, and distilled water added when necessary. The cables should have clean tight connections, at all times.

You should make sure you have sufficient anti-freeze for the cold. Both the radiator and heater hose should be checked for deterioration and leaks. At the same time the fan belt and radiator should be examined.

Worn windshield wiper blades should be replaced before streaking and smearing obscures your view. And put anti-freeze in your windshield washer container.

Make sure you have snow tires. (Studded tires can be legally used from Oct. 1 to April 30.)

A driver should get out and check his lights and have a friend check his break lights.

Leisure

by Maurice Fam
Parks and Recreation Director

On Nov. 12 the high school will be the scene of the first dance for young adults in quite a long time. In making the arrangements I was concerned that we get a quality band that is well known to teens. I am quite sure that they will be pleased with the results. The entertainment for the evening will feature two bands with the main act being the recording stars TROOPER. With this band recently returned from a lengthy tour and currently playing the Vancouver area we have booked them on their only available date.

The dances will also feature something else — RULES! No one will be allowed to take liquor of any kind in the gym and no bottles of any kind will be allowed inside. Doors will close a half hour before the end of the dance and no one will be allowed in after that time. Anyone leaving the dance will not be allowed back in again unless they pay again. These rules will apply to all dances run by the department and steps will be taken to see that they are enforced. We want the dances to be successful and a good place for young people to be and hope that the regulations will discourage troublemakers from attending the dances.

Work has now started on a new parks development at Cottonwood Park in Brackendale. Some clearing has been done and the main job ahead of us is solve the drainage problem and get rid of the swamp area. Some fill has already been taken in and a culvert has been installed to allow equipment into the park.

Group Guitar started last week and seems to be an excellent program. For anyone who missed the original release and is interested, there are two vacancies for children in this program. Registrations are also being taken for the next teen roller skating session and there are a few vacancies in-Kiddies Korner at Stawamus school. Anyone interested in any of these can register at the Municipal Office or phone me at 892-5217 for information.

Last week I mentioned some information on facilities at Dawson Creek and Falher, Alberta. This week the information is regarding two Vancouver Island communities much smaller than Squamish.

Port Hardy
Population 5,000, has an outdoor pool, an arena, playing fields, and two tennis courts. Is presently preparing a referendum for a $1 million complex to include a community hall and a new arena.

Port McNeill
Has a population of 2,000 but draws regionally approximately 5,000. It has a community hall, two outdoor pools, two tennis courts, two indoor tennis courts and has just completed construction of $660,000 arena.

This arena is complete with regulation size ice (200x85 ft.), 1,500 seats, four dressing rooms and an ice plant capacity of 120 tons. With one third the cost being a provincial grant and various donations of labour and materials, the net cost to the community was $300,000. And finally for those interested in the Squamish arena fund stands at $51,000 in actual monies received plus a small number of pledges made during the last arena campaign.

Whistler news

by Jenny Busdon

It is difficult to imagine life at Whistler when the first settlers came in the early 1900s. Fortunately, we still have contact with two pioneers that are able to pass on their interesting tales of yesteryear. Myrtle Philip, who still resides here and one of Whistler's first settlers, was honoured on Tuesday at the official opening of our new school named after her (more on this next week) and has many stories to tell.

Fred Woods who lived here for 20 years, also in the early 1900s who has been corresponding with me over the past two years, visited me a short while ago. He is now 76 years old (and doesn't look a day over 65) and lives in North Vancouver. He is a book of knowledge on the happenings in this area many years ago. Fred Woods, as I imagined, is full of jollity and geniality and a great person to spend a day listening to his bush stories that created excitement in this tiny settlement years ago.

When Mr. Woods came to meet me a few weeks back he related the following story of the capture of a grizzly bear. It's an interesting tale, read on to hear all about it!

"In the summer of the early 1930s a man named Dave Newell, a friend of Alex Philip who owned Rainbow Lodge, came up from San Francisco where he lived to visit the lodge. Bill Bailiff, a resident of the area who made his livelihood trapping and knew the woods just as he did the back of his hand, and myself were asked to the lodge by Alex to talk to Dave who belonged to a sporting club in San Francisco. He admitted on this evening of our meeting that he had never been into the bush and asked if Bill would take him on a three day trip. It was agreed that Dave would visit again in September and stay at Rainbow to prepare for such an excursion. Bill asked if I would go along too, and I agreed. Accordingly, in September Dave arrived on the train and that evening Bill, Dave and I made our plans. Dave said he would pay for all the food, which besides bacon, eggs and bread was all canned goods. Dave, not being used to having a loaded pack on his back carried only his blankets and rifle. Bill and I shared the canned goods.

"Monday morning found the three of us begin walking from Rainbow, known as Mile 38, down to Mile 34 where we left the railroad and headed into the woods following the Cheakamus River up to Cheakamus Lake. Owing to the rough country sometimes we were a mile or more away from the river, but Bill had his trail well blazed, marked with a chunk of bark off certain trees for both coming and going back.

"We finally arrived late afternoon at one of Bill's cabins in the woods located near to a creek. Like all good trappers Bill had a large supply of split firewood under cover and also a lot of wood blocks stacked up which Bill had prepared for winter. On reaching the cabin I began to split wood and Dave went to the creek for water, whilst Bill began to prepare supper. Within three or four minutes Dave came running from the creek, passed me and went into the cabin. I followed and found Dave very excited. In fact he seemed more frightened than excited. He had seen a large bear he said and being from the city this was quite some sight for him, but for Bill and I it was quite a normal occurrence to see brown and black bear.

"That evening over a good hearty bush supper of beans and bacon, with Dave still thrilled on his sighting, conversation turned to bears. Bill mentioned, to Dave's amazement, that there was a chance that Dave had seen a grizzly for they were known to be in this particular vicinity. Dave was eager to hear more and Bill said that the rugged land favoured by the grizzly was high altitude alpine wilderness untouched by development, that like most mammals, grizzlies have home ranges — tracts where an individual animal or a family of bears can meet its requirements for breeding, denning, etc., and finding seclusion from man, its only major enemy. That night I think perhaps we all had dreams of that chance meeting with a grizzly.

"After breakfast next morning we set off up the creek and began walking steadily. However, we stopped suddenly when we heard noises of crashing branches and there we saw it. A grizzly standing in all its glory. Bill told Dave and I to load our rifles and put the safety catches on. The bear, its head on one side had now sensed our smell and was not more than 30 feet away from us, standing on hind legs and growling ferociously. It was then we heard a brush sound and saw a young bear run away. At this point it is very hard to relate exactly what happened and although I have told the story to many people over the years, I doubt if even 25% believe it. The bear moved closer and once again reared up on his two back legs — he was now about 20 feet away. Bill, still with eyes glued to the grizzly, told us to take our safety catches off. I also never took my eyes off this huge creature, until for one moment I glanced and saw Dave's rifle suddenly droop and pointed to the ground. Dave was really shaking. The bear got down on all four legs again and in ungainly gait began steadily walking towards us until only about eight feet away from Bill. Eyes not moving, his stance steady and sure, Bill excitedly told me to be prepared "just in case". Watching that large mammal less than eight feet away standing now with its front paws grasping out in front of him in exasperation, I very willingly complied to Bill's instructions.

"Suddenly, the anguished bear, huge mouth open wide, moved in a flash and grabbed the muzzle of Bill's rifle and pulled it into his mouth. Instantly, I heard a shot, and the bear standing a good eight feet high shook its head viciously, lost hold of the rifle and slumped with a great thud to the ground. Dave was about ten feet away from me. Bill did not move, but was silent for many moments it seemed. I don't think he was scared, but I do know he was sorry. He loved animals — especially wild ones and all those that knew Bill would say that Bill only carried his gun for self-protection."

Needless to say, Dave had his photograph taken at the side of the grizzly — to take back to San Francisco his proof and his story of this, his first experience of living in the bush on his three day expedition!

When Mr. Woods related this tale to me, it really seemed like part of the script of the movie recently released, "Grizzly". In the 1930s up here there was no lack of excitement, it seems!

Eleanor Bishop advises that she will be announcing a date shortly of her forthcoming "Save The Children" party. At this event those attending will be able to purchase many interesting crafts and other items made and donated from England, Lesotho, Botswana, New Guinea, Korea and many other countries, money from which will be donated to "Save The Children" fund. This fund is set up in order to help deprived children all over the world in preventative medicine, vocational training, rehabilitation, food, etc. If you wish to do your 'bit' to help this good cause watch for the date of this event to be announced shortly.

A cub pack is to be formed at Whistler and those children interested in becoming cubs between the ages of 7 years and 11 years are asked to register at the school on Tuesday, November 2nd at 2:30 p.m. It is requested that if at all possible, parents should accompany their children on this registration day.

PEMBERTON COUPLE WED IN PRINCE GEORGE

Linda Darlene Meyers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Meyers of Pemberton, and William Bruce Currie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Currie also of Pemberton, were married in a quiet ceremony in Prince George on Oct. 11.

The wedding took place in St. Andrew's United Church at 11:30 a.m. with Rev. Cummings officiating.

Attendants were Cheryl Meyers and Jim Meyers. The newlyweds are living in Houston.

Flier safe after glacier landing

Thursday, Oct. 14 was a happy day for Pemberton residents particularly Mrs. Gwen Fowler when she received the news that her son Murray Fowler, 23, who had been missing for two days, had been found uninjured.

Murray had left Edmonton in a rented aircraft on Oct. 12, and landed in Kamloops to refuel. From Kamloops he headed for the Pemberton Valley via Bralorne when he experienced engine difficulties and made a landing on Ryan Creek glacier some 30 miles west of Pemberton.

During the evening he attempted to fix his plane for a morning takeoff. The following morning he took off, made a circuit and his engine failed resulting in another forced landing on the same glacier. This landing resulted in the plane sliding into a crevasse. He was spotted by the Buffalo aircraft of Air Sea Rescue, Comox on Thursday, Oct. 14 and shortly afterwards was rescued by the Air Sea Rescue helicopter. The plane has since been removed from the glacier. Everyone is very thankful and happy you were found safe and unhurt, Murray!

MURRAY FOWLER'S RENTED AIRCRAFT after its second emergency landing. The 50 mph winds blew the craft backward until it straddled a 50 foot deep crevasse.

The Parent-Teacher conference held in H.S.S.S. on Tuesday and Wednesday nights of last week was well attended. I think most parents liked the idea of having the interviews on several rooms, allowing for more privacy.

How many parents noticed the signs on the large gym door asking for volunteers for the Learning Assistance Programme? Principal John Hughes said if parents can spare just one hour per week at the Centre it would greatly assist the teacher in charge, Grodon Wilkinson. An individual programme is set out for each student and it is just a matter of tutoring on a one to one basis. If interested drop into the school office any day (9 a.m. - 3 p.m.) or phone the principal at 892-5261.

STORK STORIES — CLARK — A son, Christopher, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Clark (nee Colleen Nelson) in London, England, on September 26. Proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Nelson of Squamish and Mr. and Mrs. Clark in Windsor, England.

MacPHERSON — Dennis and Barbara MacPherson are pleased to announce the arrival of their third daughter, Samantha Kate, weighing 7 lbs. 2 ounces and born in the Squamish General Hospital on October 14. Sisters are Elise and Sara. In Squamish, proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C.F. Applin-Flooch and Mr. and Mrs. S.J. MacPherson.

A sign in a store window read: GUNS FOR HNTING. Noticing this error a customer asked, "Hasn't anyone told you about it before?" "Yes," replied the dealer, "Many have dropped in to tell me, and they always buy something."

The weather was great when Jim and Dorothy Sawatsky were in Hawaii recently. However on their return home, the plane was diverted from Vancouver to Calgary because of fog conditions at the airport. A few hours later they finally touched down in Vancouver.

Miss Cheryl Linley had a wonderful time with her father and other relatives as she travelled in Madrid, Portugal and France. The highlight of her trip to Paris was a visit to the famous Eiffel Tower.

Brag about your dog eating anything and it will. Marg and Ed Olander's dog Herman likes fruit, vegetables, candy and whatever but they were slightly surprised at the last "snack" he had. Marg left three individually wrapped fruit cakes in a bag on the hall floor (silly girl) while they went into the city one day last week. Daughter Deidre thought Herman looked mighty full when she came home. Reckon he did — after eating what was to be the top tier of an anniversary cake!

Bruce and Belle Carson returned home last week after spending a vacation in Las Vegas.

Those ardent bridge players, Faith and Oliver Nelson were right in the thick of it when they attended the Bridge Sectional in Kelowna during the Thanksgiving weekend. From there they travelled to Port Alberni to visit their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Nelson. They did of course manage to get into a bridge game in Parksville.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Klomp were pleased to have their daughter Angelique home again after she spent a six week vacation in Holland visiting her grandparents.

A visit to Toronto to visit their daughter Brenda was taken earlier this month by Mae and Danny Thom. Brenda is a stewardess with Wardair.

Now gals don't you agree with this "A wife is the only person who can look into the top drawer of a dresser and find a man's socks that aren't there".

Hey gang — have you got your favourite costume ready for the big Hallowe'en Dance on Saturday night in the Chieftain Hotel? The Squamish Lacrosse Booster Club is sponsoring it and fun for all is guaranteed. The Dusters, a country rock band, will entertain throughout the night. Tickets are $3 each and if you don't feel like wearing a costume, you are still most welcome.

Two ladies have been having a wonderful time together for the past six weeks. Mrs. Betty Todd has had her friend Mrs. Rhoda Clark from Retford, Nottinghamshire, England visiting here (her first trip to Canada) and they have been "on the go" almost continuously. This included an eight-day bus trip to Reno, a three-day visit to Victoria and many day trips around the Lower Mainland. Mrs. Todd's daughter and son-in-law Walter and Kathleen Sweeney entertained in honour of Mrs. Clark's visit last Saturday night.

Congratulations to those celebrating birthdays this week including Raymond Quesnel, Pauline Gauthier, Eligor Dorey, Don Ross, Maria Diaz, Anna Maria Hobbs, Jason Sinnes, Ronda Kuhn, Gordon Cameron, Ricky Miorin, Debbie Hutchinson, Rosetta Lo Giacco, Kelly Candy, Freda Campbell, Kathy Magee, Wendy Andrzejczuk, Laura Hughes, Jeanne VanDen Maagdenburg and in Australia, hi to Lynn Stathers. Steven Biggin-Pound celebrates his first birthday on Oct. 30.

A large crowd enjoyed both the crazy antics and superb ball handling as performed by the Harlem Clowns in their game against the HSSS boys' basketball team Saturday night in the school gym. The referees Dave Stathers and Mike Williams "took their lumps" as did the school team and a few people in the stands, but I'm sure they were all pleased to have been a part of the Clowns' "act".

Mrs. Teresa Harrop spent a three week vacation in Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario and other northern points visiting family members and friends.

Any youngster interested in taking highland dancing lessons is asked to call Susan Gatzke at 892-5270. Lessons will be held each Saturday morning.

The Olympics were held way back in July but found out recently that Carlotta Harley and Leanne Kilburn had been in the midst of all the excitement then. After Montreal the gals headed for the Maritimes, then into the eastern states and finally to California and then home. Carlotta and Leanne were gone approximately ten weeks.

Do you like to watch topless entertainers? If so the show at the high school gym tomorrow night at 8 p.m. should more than fit the bill. Those marvellous, muscular males otherwise known as wrestlers will be doing their "thing".

Local girl guide companies and brownie packs in the community are planning a joint Rummage and Auction Sale at 11 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 6 in the United Church Annex. The rummage sale is set for 11 while bidding for the auction sale will get underway at 1 p.m. Donations of clothing, furniture etc. would be welcomed and a call to Mrs. Carol Zorn at 898-5974 will assure pick-up of goods.

Jim Sinclair and his son Bob from Red Deer, Alberta have been visiting Jim's sister and husband, Dr. and Mrs. L. Guy.

It's Hallowe'en this Sunday night and I'm sure the witches, ghosts and other wild creatures will be making their rounds. Have fun kids!

I believe daylight saving comes to an end this Saturday night. Best keep your ears tuned to the radio or check Saturday's Province or Sun.

Do hope we're going to hear from the Squamish Chiefs football team soon. I understand they are tied for first place in their division. Coach Brian Marchant where are you? Better luck to the Titans in their next game and congrats to the Howe Sound Chiefs on winning their first game last week. The football dance remember is coming up next week, Saturday, Nov. 6 in the Chieftain Hotel.

Parents of children attending the Storyhour at the Squamish Library please note — there was an error in the story in the Citizen on Oct. 25. With the Storyhour being split into two groups, four year olds should attend on Thursday only and three year olds on Friday.

Silver anniversary for Bev and Bob Howard

The Royal Canadian Legion hall was decorated with green and yellow streamers on Saturday evening, Oct. 23 when relatives and friends gathered to honour Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howard on the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary.

Hosted by their daughter and husband Roberta and Flemming Jacobsen and sons Douglas, Lawrence and Michael, the night's celebration began with a delicious smorgasbord luncheon.

A lovely wedding anniversary cake in colours of mint green with yellow roses centred the head table. Making the traditional "first cut" into the cake were Beverley and Bob. The cake was made and decorated by Mrs. Betty Shilling.

On behalf of their many friends and relations, Beverley and Bob were presented with a money tree and a set of silver goblets as well as several other gifts. A beautiful yellow rose corsage was "pinned on" Beverley's dress by husband Bob.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. D. Goodman Sr. from Ganges, Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. D. Smith and Brenda and Chris Smith, Miss P. Calla, Miss M. Watling, Mr. G. Williams, Miss W. Muir

CONSERVATIVES TO FORM RIDING ASSOCIATION

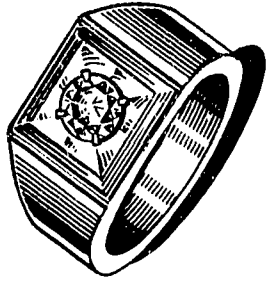

The federal Progressive Conservative Association is having a founding meeting for the new riding of Cariboo Chilcotin at 100 Mile House on Nov. 6 at 12 noon.

This meeting is being held to establish a new federal riding association of Cariboo-Chilcotin. Our previous federal riding area included Powell River, Sechelt Peninsula, Lions Bay, Squamish north to Quesnel and west to Bella Coola. Our new area now has been reduced so that Britannia Beach is the southernmost point and Quesnel the most northerly, excluding Lions Bay, Powell River and the Sechelt Peninsula.

The agenda for the founding meeting is the adoption of a constitution and the election of an executive who will hold office for a year. The agenda will also include the selection of ten delegates to represent the riding at the annual general meeting in Victoria Nov. 12-14. Joe Clark will be the guest speaker at this conference.

It is hoped that anyone interested in the formation of the new association will attend the meeting at 100 Mile House on Nov. 6.

Music society kicks off Concert campaign

The Squamish Music Society held a dinner at the Brackendale Art Gallery on Saturday, Oct. 23 for people who will be canvassing the community for memberships in the Overture Concert series.

This concert series, which could see a minimum of three concerts brought to Squamish during the 1976-77 season, will be open to those who sign up as members of the society and the Overture Concert series at a cost of $12 per single member, $24 for couples and $30 for families, irrespective of the number of children.

Students and senior citizens will be able to join for a $6 rate. Students will be all those in school or attending college and coming home regularly.

Dr. Tim Dundas, chairman of the society, said the main objectives of the group are to help young people to find professional tuition, to start a music library in Squamish and to aid in putting on better productions in the community.

George Zukerman of the Overture Concert Association, spoke to the group, outlining the type of programs which could be brought to the community; symphony orchestras, folk groups, concert music groups, singers, either solo or in groups, or musical groups such as the one which presented a Noel Coward revue in Vancouver recently.

Zukerman mentioned that there had been an active group here in 1957-1959 when Fred and May Leeworthy had sponsored the Overture Association concerts, and at that time 350 people had belonged to the group. With the present population of Squamish compared to the one at that time he was sure there should be no problem in securing at least twice as many people to sign up for the program.

Zukerman explained that the success of the Overture concerts depends on these advance bookings; that a community knows how much money it can spend and can plan the events it wishes to bring in according to that budget.

"Squamish is not a remote area," he said. "Its close proximity to Vancouver should make it possible to bring most visiting artists here as it is such a short distance from Vancouver. You should only be limited by the amount of money which is available."

He stressed that we could bring in artists of our choice, depending on our funds. Another feature of the concerts is that holders of the tickets can attend Overture concerts in other communities.

Among some of the exciting programs he mentioned were the Vancouver CBC Symphony with John Avison, Tonight—Noel Coward, the Marionette Theatre, as well as duo pianists or duo guitarists.

"You cannot fail," Zukerman said, "there are only varying grades of success."

The Squamish Music Society would guarantee a minimum of three events and there could possibly be more. This would depend on the success of the campaign.

The campaign will run till Nov. 6 and by that time the group hopes to have a minimum of 500 members signed up for the Overture Concert series.

Chairman Tim Dundas said that a trailer will be parked on the parking lot in front of McNeill's Pharmacy, from Monday, Nov. 1 to Saturday, Nov. 6, during shopping hours and tickets will be sold from this unit.

If a canvasser doesn't call at your home, drop in at the trailer and sign up as a member of the Overture Concert series. You'll enjoy them and also help to further the activities of the Squamish Musical Society.

Comings and goings

Mrs. Ida Slack of Vancouver was a recent guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Les Moule.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bennett have returned from a most enjoyable holiday around Reno. It has been heard that Mary Bennett had an exceptionally good time.

Mrs. Mae Stack spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gibson of Sechelt.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Kristianson and their sons spent a recent weekend with his mother, Mrs. Anne Kristianson.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. G.S. Clarke last week was his son, Peter Clarke of Inuvik, N.W.T.

She asked her husband to be an angel and let her drive; he did and he is.

The young people of Squamish United Church have enjoyed busy weekends; on the 23rd, Brenda Brewer, Shari Bishop, Wendy Halvorson, Ione Behrner and Rob Bradbury attended a weekend camp at "The Firs" near Bellingham. Last weekend a group of the Tics which included Christine McBride, Mia Dawson, Lana McCallum, Vicki Fraser, Paul Halvorson and Geoff and Doug McCulloch enjoyed a camp out at the same location.

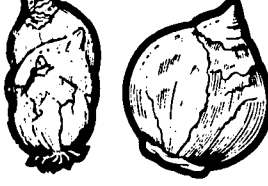

Mrs. John Siggers and sons Mark and Trevor have returned home to Kamloops after spending ten days with Mrs. Marie Halvorson. Mr. Siggers brought the family down for the Thanksgiving holiday but had to return home ahead of them.

Attending Banff Men's Conference were Rev. Jack Lindquist, George Gilmour, Harry McCulloch, Gordon Sellers and Gary Pattullo.

See the greatest movie ever made about the greatest movies ever made.

'Life Goes to the Movies' is a dazzling 40 year history of the silver screen.

Three unforgettable hours hosted by Henry Fonda, Shirley MacLaine and Liza Minnelli.

It's the great Garbo, Shirley Temple, Clark Gable, Gary Cooper, Elizabeth Taylor, Cary Grant, Bogie, Brando. And more stars than the Milky Way.

It's pin-up queens. Hayworth, Grable. Bardot. And of course, Marilyn.

It's all talking. All singing. All dancing. Fred and Ginger. Judy Garland. Bob Hope.

And ba-ba-ba-boo, Bing.

It's the good guys and the not-so-good guys. Edward G. Robinson. Cagney. Peter Lorre. Jimmy Stewart. And yup, John Wayne.

It's special stories about special effects. And personal glimpses into private lives.

It's getting to know the supermen who made the movies. Like DeMille, Disney, Goldwin, Capra, Selznick and Kubrick.

You'll laugh. You'll cry. You'll love it.

The greatest film is all about the greatest films

It's a world premiere, it's 40 years old. It's a thriller, a farce, a tragedy, a comedy, a documentary, a classic drama. It's a movie about the film industry made for television. It's more than 300 film classics rolled into one. It has hundreds of stars, but none gets star billing.

The star is Hollywood itself. The scenario is written in the lives of its players on and off the set.

It's called "Life goes to the Movies" and it is unique. It is the finest film on Hollywood ever made and it will be seen for the first time on any screen on the CTV national television network at 8 p.m. on Sunday, October 31, sponsored by MacMillan Bloedel.

Jack Haley Jr. has conceived a brilliant film quite unlike his two "That's Entertainment" specials. Those consist of long takes from classic movies. "Life Goes to the Movies" pieces together hundreds of short takes from films, newsreels and hitherto unseen private footage. The thread which links them together is the genius of Emmy award winning director Mel Stuart and quick glimpses of covers from Life magazine which from 1936 to its demise in 1972 chronicled the affairs of Hollywood.

With great affection and humor Stuart has put together a film which captures the spirit of Hollywood. To the rhythm of an original score he has produced the definite volume of Tinseltown in pictures.

Great actors and actresses cross the screen in droves of comedies, musicals, dramas and westerns. There are glimpses of their private lives, moments of high drama, segments of farce and slapstick. Slithering

GINGER TAPS — Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, probably the most famous dance team in the history of the cinema, show how it should be done in one of their many Hollywood hits. Astaire and Rogers play major roles in director Mel Stuart's retrospective of Hollywood and its major industry, in "Life Goes to the Movies", which receives its world premiere Sunday, Oct. 31 at 8 p.m. on the CTV national television network.

Hollywood premieres dissolve into scenes of real anguish, the glamorous facade of Marilyn Monroe fades into the pathetic loneliness of a troubled soul. It is great acting, it is real life. Props, spotlights and cues are upstaged by stars' homes, soft lights and real-life dialogue.

Fred Astaire and Julie Andrews, Richard Burton and Ingrid Bergman, Gary Cooper and Claudette Colbert — the film runs through the Hollywood social register from beginning to end at a fast clip. The sequences are short and lively. There is never a dull moment.

"Life goes to the Movies" is a very special film about the studios and their stars. It shows the film industry at its scintillating best. It also captures Hollywood with its hair down and the blinds up.

HEALTH UNIT PLANS IMMUNIZATION CLINICS

Pastor and family leave for NWT

A church farewell supper honouring Pastor Cecil Savage and family was held in the Squamish Baptist Church on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 24. Pastor Savage began his ministry here four years ago.

The congregation has grown in this time from 25 members to approximately 70 members and during his stay here, Rev. Savage saw the opening of the new church building suitable for church, young people's and community activities.

At a 7:15 p.m. service, the Savages were commissioned by the Fellowship of Evangelical Baptist Churches of Canada as church developers to a home mission work in Hay River, Northwest Territories. Rev. Don Merritt from Ruth Morton Baptist Church in Vancouver represented the Canada Wide Fellowship and he was the guest speaker at the service. He said although he had not known Rev. Savage and his family personally he could feel the warmth and friendship the congregation felt for them.

Preceding the service, a number of gifts were presented to the Savage family. On behalf of the congregation, George Kelly presented them with a love gift of money and also a beautiful framed oil painting of Alice Lake. The artist (a member of the congregation) was Mrs. Roberta Carson of Whistler. Mrs. Signey Gorup pinned a beautiful corsage on Mrs.

Savage while Bonnie Teel did the same duties for the Savages' only daughter Debbie. Mrs. Savage was active with the young people's group and on behalf of them, Laila Gorup presented Mrs. Savage with a multi-coloured decorated star-stitch cushion.

The Savage boys were not forgotten and Mark, Stephen, Darryl and Peter received hockey sticks and pucks. No doubt the boys will make good use of them in Hay River. Debbie was presented with a bunny ornament set.

Special guests at both the supper and service were Mrs. Savage's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Robinson from Seattle.

In the interim period until a new pastor is appointed, Rev. David Forbes will minister at the church along with many willing lay persons.

FROM THE CORNER of the cabin at Diamond Head one can enjoy this magnificent scene.

Broadbent to speak Friday

Ed Broadbent, federal NDP leader, will address the founding convention of the North Vancouver-Burnaby federal NDP on Oct. 29. The meeting will be held in the All-College Lounge, Capilano College, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Broadbent, MP for Oshawa-Whitby, is in B.C. for the NDP federal council meeting. Helen Hawthorne, secretary of the old Burnaby-Seymour riding, says that Broadbent will speak following refreshments and a chance to talk to him in an informal atmosphere. She adds that the public is also invited to attend.

The rest of the meeting will be concerned with electing table officers for the North Vancouver-Burnaby NDP, according to Hawthorne.

"The founding convention is of vital importance, and all NDP members are invited and welcome."

Further information can be obtained by contacting either Hawthorne at 985-7481 during office hours, 929-1106 at home, or Colin Gabelmann at 879-3568.

Posters on poles a no no

All political candidates are being asked by B.C. Hydro to refrain from attaching posters to power poles during the forthcoming municipal election campaigns.

Posters on poles constitute a hazard to linemen, who in a number of instances in the past have been seriously injured because their climbing spurs have slipped on the cards, nails or staples.

B.C. Hydro's manager of safety engineering, J. A. DePford, points out that the B.C. Workers' Compensation Board regulations prohibit posters and other foreign attachments on utility poles.

"We request the assistance of all campaigners in making our employees safe on the job," he said.

Just $1 in a UNICEF box at Hallowe'en can transport enough high-protein supplementary food to feed three hungry children, in a drought-stricken country, for one month.

TIME CHANGES AGAIN ON SUNDAY, OCT. 31

If you are still looking for that hour of sleep you lost last spring when we went on daylight saving time you will get it back this weekend when you set your clocks back an hour and gain it back.

That's right, the witches and goblins will have an extra hour of darkness on the eve of Hallowe'en, on Sunday, following the change in time in the early hours of the morning.

So don't forget to set your clock back early on Sunday morning.

OF SQUAMISH & ALTA LAKE & PEMBERTON

ATWELL PEAK, more familiarly known as Diamond Head, looms in the foreground of this picture taken from the high point on the way in to Diamond Head.

Final touches put on new public shelter at Diamond Head

By ROSE TATLOW

The final touches were put on the new public shelter at Diamond Head this fall in readiness for the winter skiing season. Garibaldi Park supervisor Jim Delikatney said the perfect weather this fall made it ideal to complete the work which had to be done to make the building more comfortable for the winter months.

The new building, which is open to the public, and which can be used by groups wishing to go in for an overnight stay, is a Quonset-hut style, with a basement and two main floors. Sited just below the chalet which is now used as accommodation for the park ranger and for work crews there during the summer months, the building is at a commanding spot on the end of the long ridge.

Delikatney said the decision to build the shelter was made following the discovery that the chalet would require a great deal of money and material to make it conform with fire and other regulations. The chalet was originally built by Ottar and Emil Brandvold and Joan Mathews, who later married Ottar Brandvold, and the Brandvold brothers operated it until they retired several years ago.

It was then operated for two years by Hans Schaer and Joe Klausner for two years before being closed down by the former government in 1974. Since that time the only access to the park has been on foot in summer or on skis in the winter as the jeep and snowmobile service was operated by the people who ran the chalet.

When the decision was made to close down the chalet and no longer make it available to the public, the government decided to build the shelter, a cedar prefabricated building which was taken in and erected on the site last year. It was finished in time to be used for the winter season but required considerable work to make it properly suitable for the public.

Delikatney said that the building will sleep 30 people in comfort, but that an extra half dozen could be squeezed in, if the necessity arose. The building which consists of two storeys and a basement; the latter used to store an ample supply of wood for the winter, has a living floor and a sleeping one.

There are tables, benches, two stoves and an imitation fireplace. The plan of the building is open with a centre stairwell leading both to the upper and lower floor, the living quarters at the front of the building and the cooking and eating quarters at the rear. There are sinks, and washrooms; the latter the new biodegradable type with large tanks in the basement.

On the upper floor there are only a few benches, the rest of the building is open and here is where people can sleep; with mattresses laid on the floor. Those wishing to use the building must bring their own dishes and pots, food and sleeping bags.

Delikatney said the building cannot be reserved but they do like to know if a group is planning to use it, mainly so they can advise prospective users if someone else plans to use it at the same time and the place might be crowded. In such a case they would recommend planning to use the cabin on another weekend. In any case, if it is wanted in winter, Delikatney said prospective users should notify the parks branch at Alice Lake that they are planning to be in the Diamond Head area. If an emergency should arise or if they did not come out, the branch could then have an early start on arranging for a search.

A ranger, along with an assistant, usually visits the area on a weekend when people are in the Diamond Head portion of the park. Delikatney said they visit the parking lot during the weekend, and if it appears there are a number of people in the park, will ski in to make sure everything is in order.

The shelter was used during the summer, although the summer season was much shorter than usual, but was closed for a short time after Thanksgiving to permit the finishing touches to be made to the building.

Working in the Diamond Head area this fall was a four-man crew with Keith Paulsen as foreman, Jim Lang, Tim Honey and Earl Carroll as workmen and Linda Edwards as cook. Ranger Don Roberts also spent a great deal of time in the area.

It was an unusual year, this summer of 1976, with supervisor Jim Delikatney stating that the snow didn't leave the area around the chalet till after the beginning of September.

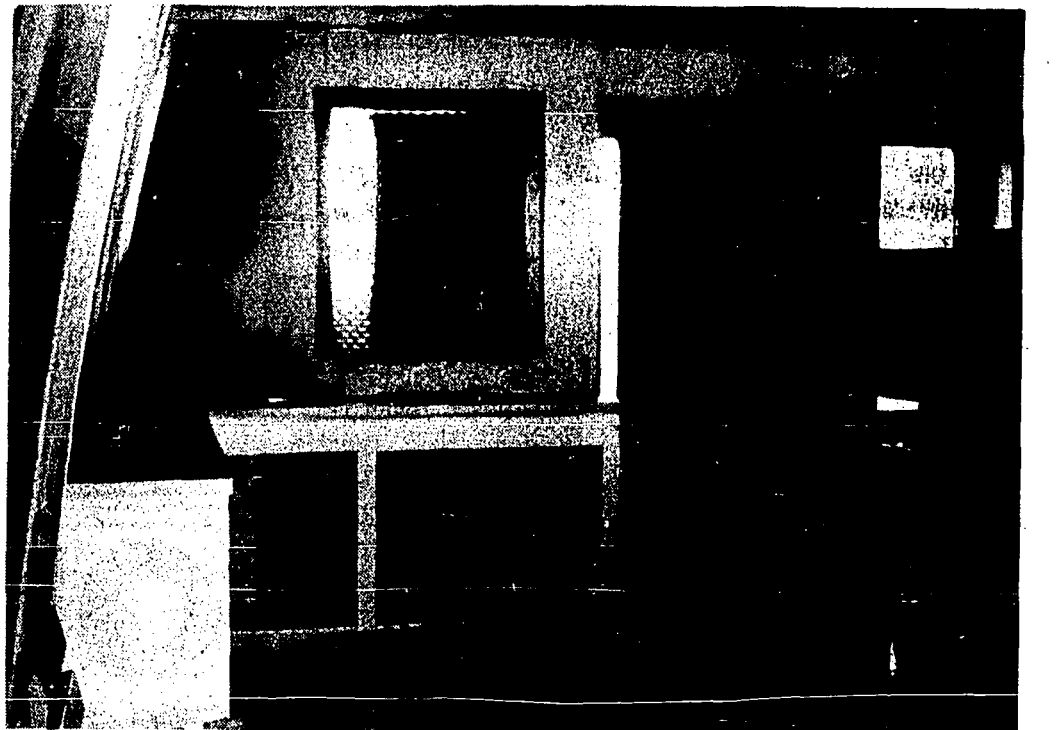

"In fact," we couldn't get the vehicles in till after Labor Day," he said and Linda Edwards said that when she came in at the beginning of September there was still ice on the Elfin Lakes.

There was still snow in the basin where the road winds through the rockslides south of the high point and a small patch of snow still clinging to the south face of the slope above the lakes. In fact, the snow didn't leave the slopes below the Saddle this year and by the time the new snow comes there will still be some of the old stuff left.

Paulsen said these days in the middle of October were beautiful with the 18th being one of the warmest days of the year at the high elevation. But already the hoar frost could be seen along the trail and there was a skiff of ice on the puddles. Winter was coming and the crew planned to leave the high country.

Soon the snow would be falling and the meadows, which had echoed to the sounds of more than a hundred people on the Sunday after Thanksgiving, would be silent waiting for the advent of sufficient snow to bring the first of the skiers to use the new shelter.

District governor speaks to local Rotary club

District governor Gordon Christopher came up from Vancouver to visit the Squamish Rotary Club last week and spoke to the weekly luncheon, later spending an afternoon at golf and then enjoying an evening assembly with Rotary members.

He spoke briefly on 'What Rotary Means to Me', stating that it means working together. "At a recent district governors' conference," he said, "there were seven nations represented at one table. That just proves that when men of goodwill get together communication barriers break down."

Christopher pointed out that Rotary International is not some mystic entity but a group of Rotary Clubs just like the one in Squamish, all working together.

"Rotary is all volunteer," he added. "It is made up of people who are all working together because they want to. There is no bureaucracy. The secretary is there, but only to carry out policy laid out by clubs. There are 17 members on the board of Rotary International and it is kept small so they can make it work better, because when it is small it functions much more smoothly."

"Also," Christopher said, "when they have several meetings a year it is far easier and far less expensive to bring members from eleven countries together, than a group which is much larger. A small board keeps costs down!"

He mentioned several ways in which you can serve Rotary as a club. One is to work on club projects; another is to be a good representative of your vocations in your community and a third is to be heavily involved in the activities of your community.

He pointed out that Rotary is a democratic movement; there is no room for a volunteer society like Rotary in an authoritarian world.

"Contributions made by our group," he told the members, "helps to keep life from becoming boring and onerous."

Christopher pointed out that life needs enriching but it takes effort and work and we must put a conscious effort into doing this.

ORIENTAL DINNER

2 tbsps. oil
2 cups beef or poultry breasts cut in 1/4" julienne strips
Meat tenderizer (if less expensive cuts used)
2 cups turnips cut in 1/4" julienne strips
2 cups celery cut on the bias
1 large onion cut in slices
2 cups carrots cut on bias
1 beef bouillon cube
1/2 cup hot vegetable water
1 1/2 tbsps. cornstarch
1 tbsps. soy sauce
1 tsp. ground ginger (optional)
1/4 cup vegetable water, cooled

In skillet or wok heat oil to almost smoking. Cut beef into strips, sprinkle inexpensive cuts of beef with meat tenderizer according to manufacturer's directions. Stir-fry until meat is almost cooked. Remove to warm platter. Keep warm. In large kettle or Dutch oven heat 10 to 12 cups of water to boiling point.

Blanche turnips, celery, onion and carrots for 2 to 4 minutes depending on age and size of vegetables, or until almost tender. Remove vegetables with sieve or slotted spoon but save the vegetable water, shaking well to remove moisture. Add a little more oil to drippings in pan if necessary. Stir-fry vegetables until each vegetable is lightly coated with drippings.

In a small bowl dissolve beef bouillon cube in one cup of hot vegetable water. Add to vegetables in skillet. Mix well. Sprinkle meat with ginger if desired. Return meat to skillet, toss with vegetables. Cover; steam 4 to 5 minutes or until vegetables are tender crisp.

Mix cornstarch with cooled vegetable water; add soy sauce. When vegetables are cooked, stir cornstarch into meat-vegetable mixture; stir until liquid is thickened and sauce is bubbly. Correct seasoning by adding more soy sauce if desired. Serve with bowls of hot steaming rice and extra soy sauce. Makes 4 to 6 large servings.

$12,500 SHARE FOR STUDY RECEIVED

Squamish council was delighted to receive the news on Tuesday night that Housing Minister Hugh Curtis had approved a $12,500 grant to cover the costs of a portion of a study made of D.L. 4261.

This study was made under the direction of Dr. Peter Oberlander for Dunhill Development and when the project was abandoned council had been presented with the bill.

Curtis informed the mayor that the study had been "undertaken in good faith" and he felt the government should pay a portion of it.
