Cooler weather brings no relief to parched forests

By ROSE TATLOW

Cooler weather has brought no relief to the parched forests and despite the slight spattering of rain which fell in some portions of the Squamish Ranger District on Sunday, the campfire ban is still in effect except for Alice Lake Park and Birkenhead Lake Park where there are park crews in attendance. Rain fell more heavily on Monday night.

On Friday the Forest Service reported there had been no improvement and conditions were still extreme throughout the area. Temperatures were still in the 20's during the day and while they dropped to 13-15 degrees Celsius during the evening there was really no cooling effect noted.

The extreme dryness caused Carling's to close the back portion of Shannon Falls Park. The front lawn and creek bank are open but visitors are requested not to go past the information kiosk till the period of high hazard passes.

Temperatures were above 25 degrees Celsius for the first 15 days of the month of August and then dropped to 24 degrees for three days while Sunday's temperature was lower, a cool 17, but it was accompanied by high winds which can have a drying effect.

The Forest Service says two extra patrolmen have been added to their staff and the popular camping and picnicking areas are being visited more frequently. The aim is to hit every area in the district every two hours. Cat Lake and Brohm Lake are the two worst trouble spots and this is where most of the illegal fires are. Out of 18 reported to Aug. 19, 13 were in

MYSTERY OF ROCK CARVING SOLVED

The mystery of who carved the figure in the rock near the climber's trail to the Chief has been solved.

Last week Dan Sinclair, son of Jim Sinclair, well known climber and one of those who worked on a book of routes describing the various ways in which the mountain had been climbed, called the Times to say it had been carved by Jack Peterson about eight years ago.

Sinclair said Peterson was sitting around a campfire at the base of the mountain near the caves with some climbers and listening to their stories and was so fascinated by them that he decided to carve one in the rock.

The carving took him 52 hours to complete and the model for the figure was Tim Auger, one of the team of Canadian climbers who recently left for the Himalayas to climb a hitherto unscaled peak.

So that solves the mystery of the rock carving near the base of the Chief!

July building permits drop

Building permits for the month of July show a sharp drop in the number of housing starts this year compared to last year, reflecting the surplus of housing in the valley.

There were only three building permits for single family homes issued this July compared to 26 last year, with a value of $100,890 compared to $437,000.

Ten multiple dwelling units were built last year, at a value of $360,000 compared to one this July and its value is $60,480.

Last year's July improvements amounted to one at a value of $65,000 compared to three this July at a total value of $40,786.

The only sector to show an improvement was the commercial building with four at a value of $462,950.

Total building values for the first seven months of the year are $7,529,482 with 154 permits issued. This is made up of 114 single family dwellings at a value of $3,659,892, which is almost half the value of all the building to date this year.

Multiple dwellings were 2, at a total of $258,480; improvements, 23 at a total of $98,226; there were eight commercial buildings at a total of $651,350, four industrial buildings at $426,800, two schools at a total of $2,190,825 and the new municipal hall at a figure of $243,909.

Wants logging trucks moved to new highway

Alderman Nick Candy sparked some spirited discussion at last week's council meeting when he asked if council planned to take the oversize logging trucks off the old highway once the new one was built.

Candy said he felt the density of the population along the present highway which in many respects is partially a residential area, made it advisable to move the logging trucks to the new highway where they would not be competing with the slower residential traffic and the many turnoffs and side roads.

Mayor Brennan said he was sure the trucks hauling logs from the TFL had no intention of using the highway but would continue to come down the present one. Using the highway would mean the loads would have to be reduced to suit highway requirements.

Candy based his objections on the fact that the trucks were going through school zones whereas if they came down the highway they would avoid this. He pointed out that there have been no alternate routes before but there will be one when the new highway is built.

"We should take a look at the whole question of the highway and the logging trucks," Candy said.

Assistant administrator W.N. Bloxham said provision is being made to provide access from the Upper Squamish to the new highway.

Alderman Norm Barr said his comment might be premature but he was surprised to find that the government is still allowing over-sized loads to come out of the tree farm.

Mayor Brennan said there was still no definite time for the highway to be built and that it might be some time before the new highway is built.

Alderman Candy said he had always been concerned about the logging trucks coming down the road, especially in the school zones and through the populated areas. He said he had always feared the possibility of an accident, especially one involving children.

Council decided to wait and see what the highways plan to do before making any decision.

Dillabough is new administrator

John Dillabough has been appointed as the new hospital administrator at the Squamish General Hospital.

Dillabough, who comes to Squamish from Fort Nelson, has been working as an administrator for the past 14 years. While the hospital at Fort Nelson was twice as large as the one in Squamish, and served a much larger territory, he says both he and his family are looking forward to living in Squamish.

The Fort Nelson hospital area had a scattered population with no other major facilities nearby and this was a different situation to Squamish where there are large hospitals only a short distance away.

Dillabough said he was interested in the plans for the Extended Care Unit for this hospital and was looking forward to seeing this develop in the near future.

At present he is living in Britannia Beach with his wife Louise and one daughter Sandra. Another daughter, Nadine, graduated from high school this year and is working in Fort Nelson but plans to come to the coast in the near future.

They will be moving to Squamish shortly.

Council looks for public interest

By ROSE TATLOW

Canada Works grants to the amount of $225,000 are available for Squamish in the six-month period commencing Oct. 1. Mayor Pat Brennan told council last week. A representative of the program had visited Squamish and outlined the program which pays to a maximum of $180 per week for a manager and $138 for workers.

Applications for these grants must be in by August 26. Brennan pointed out that the work must be labor-oriented and there do not seem to be any specifications as to the type of work as long as it is something which will be of lasting benefit to the community.

Council has already decided to apply for a grant for the staffing of the Recreation Centre for the first year with federal grants of $97,488 and municipal monies amounting to $57,984. This would cover the staffing of the centre for the first year, and Brennan said indications were the project would be approved.

Other projects under consideration were Phase I of the new fire hall, additional clearing at the municipal park area adjacent to Centennial Field and the new recreation centre, and finishing work inside the recreation centre.

Brennan also suggested two other projects which could benefit from the Canada Works grant would be the A.A. project where the group concerned is renovating the old police building, and the construction of a club house at the golf club.

At this point it was suggested that perhaps some other groups in the community might be interested in making an application for a portion of the grant, as the suggestions already made did not cover the $225,000 available.

A meeting of clubs and societies in the community was set for last Thursday when he proposed would be put before them and they would be asked to participate if they wished.

FIRE HALL
Administrator Stan Kary said that Phase I of the new fire hall is estimated to cost $100,000. With the employment of one man as supervisor and four workers for six months, along with the $18 per week for materials grant, a total of $21,000 would be available from the federal grant.

As tentative plans for the new fire hall are in next year's capital budget this would merely mean an earlier start on the project as well as the saving of almost a quarter of the cost.

Further clearing of park lands near Centennial Field are anticipated, either for additional fields or for the proposed municipal camping ground. As clearing is a labor intensive project, this could create work for one supervisor and eight men for the six month period, for a total cost of about $60,000, of which $41,000 would be paid by the federal government.

Council also discussed the possibility of doing the preliminary clearing or partially building the new access road to the Centennial Field area under the Canada Works program.

This would be a highly work-oriented program and one which would require considerable labor and would be eminently suited to the program. However the approval for the road would

Group camping area proposed

The Parks and Recreation Commission is planning to create a group camping area at Centennial Park. The park yard at the field has now been completed and a new pump has finally been ordered to facilitate the watering of playing fields which have nearly burnt to a crisp during this latest spell of hot weather.

The commission is sending a letter of thanks to the fire marshal and his department for their assistance in watering down the playing field during the Babe Ruth Tournament. Thanks to the department's efforts, the motor bike trail between Centennial Park and the

Fair books available

The 56th annual Howe Sound Fall Fair books are available and a copy may be picked up at the Squamish Times office. The book contains the list of classes and an entry form.

Date of the fair is Saturday, Sept. 10 at the Howe Sound secondary school gym comencing at 2 p.m. with the pet show in the morning at the covered play area at the Squamish elementary school.

Entry forms should be taken to the Squamish Times office on Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 6 and 7 from 1 to 4 p.m.

Valleycliffe ball diamond is up, but Parks and Recreation director Maurice Farn is not satisfied with it and has asked the firm involved to re-align the backstop before payment will be made. Seeding will begin also shortly.

While the commission was pleased to hear that all the tournaments held at Centennial Field went extremely well, they commended organizers for their thorough clean-up of the grounds afterwards.

Continued High hazard

the Cat Lake and Brohm Lake areas.

The Forest Service says that in addition to their regular crews and the two additional patrolmen, there are four volunteer fire wardens in the area and they are empowered to put out fires and hire people if necessary, up to 10 men, to fight a fire if one is found, in order that immediate action may be taken.

On Friday it was reported that the moisture content of the sticks had dropped to below 20 which is considered highly dangerous.

Despite the cooling trend on Sunday and the continued cloud, the campfire ban has not been lifted. Forecasts say the next few days could be cool with scattered showers.

Forestry officials reported there were no fires on the weekend in this district but six illegal campfires were discovered. Despite the ban they state that people are still lighting fires even when they have to walk by two or three signs stating there are no campfires to reach the place to which they are going.

A check with local logging firms revealed that the conditions in the forest are still extreme and there will be no return to work until there has been at least 24 hours of soaking rain.

MacMillan Bloedel's Les Rush said that conditions in their logging area are the most hazardous on record and the area is still closed to the public. Weldwood's T.F.L. is also closed to the public and conditions there are extreme while Squamish Mills reported that their men are not back at work and will not be going back till the weather breaks.

have to be obtained before work could start.

Finishing work inside the Recreation Centre, where the mezzanine floor could be completed under this project, with three men working for four months.

Other assistance could be a Fire Prevention Officer trainee's partial wages as well as part of the wages of an additional steno and bookkeeper for looking after the Canada Works program projects.

These five items would use an additional $78,578 of the Canada Works grant funds and would require the expenditure of $110,000 in municipal funds.

Administrator Stan Kary said the municipal portion could come from a number of sources; an operating surplus for 1977, Land Sale Reserve or from capital allocations for 1978.

OTHER PROJECTS

Two other projects mentioned by Brennan which could be proposed, were the renovations to the A.A. project where perhaps three men could be employed for a two month period doing some of the inside work at a cost of just over $3,000.

The balance of that project would have to be subsidized by the A.A. group but the services of three people for that period might be valuable enough to make it possible for them to come up with the funding.

The other project, the new club house for the golf course, came in for a bit of comment from Ald. Bob Smith and Ald. Cunningham who felt it was a private project. However Brennan pointed out that it is a public project, and one of the stipulations is that anyone can play in it at times when it is not used for tournaments. Five men for six months with a possible federal grant of $16,560. The golf club would have to come up with the remainder of the monies needed for the project so this would be at no cost to the municipality.

Council members added that any group in the community would be able to apply for special funding for projects. If a number of projects which were work-oriented were proposed, and exceeded the amount of monies allocated for the district, then the advisory panel for the Canada Works program would decide which should be approved.

At the special meeting last Thursday evening representatives of various clubs and groups in the community met with council to hear about the grant structure.

A number of them were interested and would be contacting the municipality on Tuesday for assistance in completing their application forms.

Returning officer named

Bill Bloxham, deputy administrator, will be the returning officer for the municipal elections in November.

He will be empowered to hire his staff to man the three polling booths in the district.

Polls will be held at the Brackendale and Mamquam Schools and at the municipal hall. In addition there will be a mobile poll.

Tracy Reynolds with the cheque she received from the Chamber of Commerce at a breakfast meeting last week, prior to her departure for the PNE.

Vandals apprehended

Much to the relief of the Squamish Valley Golf and Country Club, the vandals who wrecked the club's golf cars on three successive weekends have been apprehended by the Squamish detachment of the RCMP. One person has admitted to the offences, implicating two or three others. Investigation is now in progress and court action is pending.

During that month there were 12 instances of assault, two causing bodily harm; 22 cases of fraud; 14 break and entries; 25 cases of wilful damage; five motor vehicle thefts from motor vehicles; five bicycles stolen; five thefts over $200 and 18 under $200.

There were eight reported missing persons, including five juveniles and one adult who were all located. Complaints numbered four for disturbing the peace, seven concerning dogs and six concerning motor bikes.

Man killed in highway accident

Leagh Maxwell, aged 62, of Pemberton, died en route to hospital following an accident on Highway 99 on Aug. 16th.

Maxwell was proceeding south when his vehicle rounded a gradual left hand curve on the highway just north of the cemetery and never straightened out. It entered the left ditch, climbed the bank and rolled.

In an accident at Whistler on Aug. 18th, 12 year old Jan Bens suffered a fractured knee when he went through an intersection at Valley Drive and Alpine Way on his bicycle and was struck by a vehicle driven by Kimberley Armstrong of Whistler.

The motorist avoided one cyclist but hit Bens. No charges were laid.

On Aug. 21 Errol James Thompson of the Stawamus Reserve suffered cuts to his arm when he was forced to swerve to the right to avoid a collision and struck a rock face on the Squamish Highway. Thompson said a vehicle was attempting to pass him on a double solid line when he saw an oncoming vehicle and swerved to the right to avoid it.

On Aug. 16, a Mr. Wong of Vancouver flipped his vehicle onto its side at Leski's Crossing. He was charged with driving without due care and attention.

On Aug. 19th at the intersection of Britannia Ave. and Magee St. Wayne Mannix, heading north, swerved to miss a cat, and his car flipped over. He has been charged with speeding.

On Aug. 20th two vehicles were damaged and a dump truck also suffered damage when the truck driver, Randhawa Mohinder Singh, swerved to try to avoid a motorcyclist on the highway near Brohm Lake.

Thomas Kevin McStay of Brackendale was attempting to turn on the highway when Singh came down the hill near Brohm Lake and swerved to avoid him, hitting two parked cars in the process. Damage to the three vehicles amounted to $3,200.

McStay has been charged with a turning offence under the Motor Vehicle Act.

Weaving course to be offered in Squamish

Art 267 (Weaving) will be offered in Squamish this fall by Capilano College beginning Thursday evening, September 8, at the Squamish Learning Centre.

This course will offer weaving to students at different levels — beginning, intermediate and advanced. Beginning weaving will offer an introduction to the materials and primary equipment of weaving and will include spinning and dyeing.

Intermediate weaving will include work on the table loom, the basic weaves and pattern drafting. Advanced weaving will include tapestry work, pattern weaves, double weaving and three dimensional weaving.

Mieneke Mees, the instructor, was born in the Netherlands and grew up in Indonesia. Mieneke started weaving experimentally with local weavers in 1964, taking courses at the Handcraft House in 1967. She began teaching there in 1968.

She has now attended various weaver's conferences, workshops and symposiums since that time. Mieneke has organized weaving workshops in Whitehorse, Yukon; Clinton, Sechelt, Courtenay and on Hornby Island. She has taught in Squamish since 1974.

Her special interest areas are colour in relation to textiles and the history of weaving. Mieneke is looking forward to welcoming back returning students and to meeting new ones.

School registration and opening dates announced

Dates for the registration of students at the district's schools for the opening of the schools have been announced. They are as follows:

Registration at Howe Sound Secondary should take place before the school opening and the school is open from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Please note that registration at any school is only necessary if one is a student new to the area. However if students are unable to register prior to the opening day, they may do so on the first day of school.

Registration will take place at the Brackendale, Mamquam, Squamish, Stawamus and Valleycliffe schools will be from August 29th to Sept. 2 from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. A map accompanying the advertisement in the paper shows the attendance area for the new Valleycliffe school and while it is hoped the school will be ready for the opening students for this school new students for this school can register at the Stawamus School.

Garibaldi Highlands school will be open on August 29, 31 and Sept. 2 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. only for registration and the Myrtle Philip school at Whistler will be open for registration on Thursday and Friday, Sept. 1 and 2 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. only.

Britannia Beach school will be open for registration on Aug. 29, 31 and Sept. 2 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. only.

School starts for the high school on Tuesday, Sept. 6 at 8:45 a.m. and pupils will be in session for a full day. For elementary school students it will also start on September 6 but kindergarten will not attend till Wednesday, Sept. 7 unless otherwise notified.

Attendance areas for the Garibaldi Highlands school and the Valleycliffe School have been defined with all pupils to Grade 3 living east of the hairpin turn on Skyline Drive to attend the new Highlands school. Grades 4 to 7 will attend the Mamquam School as will all students from kindergarten to Grade 3 who live east of the hairpin turn.

SEVEN SHIPS DUE IN SQUAMISH NEXT MONTH

Seven ships are due to arrive at Squamish Terminals in the month of September in addition to those which will be coming during the balance of this month.

Last rites for Mae Buckley

Funeral services for Mae Buckley who passed away in Squamish General Hospital on Thursday, Aug. 18, after a lengthy illness, were held at the Squamish Funeral Chapel last Saturday with Rev. Jack Lindquist officiating.

Mae Louise Buckley was born in Vancouver on October 20, 1930. She spent her early years in Birken where her father, John Franson, was employed by the PGE. In 1941 Mr. Franson moved his family to Squamish where Mae and her young brother continued their education.

In 1950 Mae married Brian Buckley; their union was blessed by two children, Michael and Cathy. Mae's life was devoted to her family and her home with gardening as an added interest. In spite of ill health Mae retained her cheerful outlook on life. Her bright smile and friendly greeting will be missed by all who knew and loved her.

Mae is survived by her loving husband Brian, son Michael and his wife Julie, daughter Cathy and her husband Cyril Spivey, grandson Harvey Elton, parents Mr. and Mrs. John Franson of Lillooet and brother Arthur Franson of Williams Lake.

DISTRICT OF SQUAMISH

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Notice is hereby given in accordance with Section 703 of the Municipal Act that the Council of the District of Squamish will hold a PUBLIC HEARING at 7:00 p.m., Tuesday, August 30, 1977, in the Council Chambers of the Municipal Hall, Squamish, B.C., to consider the undemoted amendment to By-law No. 277, being the District of Squamish Zoning By-law No. 277, 1968.

That a certain parcel of land in the District of Squamish, more particularly described as a portion of Lot 36 of the S. 1/2 of the N.W. 1/4, Section 14, Township 50, Plan 14611, as cross-hatched on the sketch below, and presently zoned Commercial III, be rezoned Residential II.

Acting on sticky fingers

Many stores today can be described as a shoplifter's dream, their idea of heaven. Row upon row, tier upon tier, stack in front of stack, all the goodies laid out for touching and taking. Do the storekeepers mean to tempt us? Of course they do; but there is temptation and there is temptation. What the enticing array is meant to do is tempt us into putting our hands into our pockets to buy the items displayed.

But why should we pay? The shopkeepers have plenty more... they won't miss just one of these, a few of those or a bundle of that. The answer is obvious — shoplifting is not just a fun thing, it's dishonest and it's stealing. Those who are caught and convicted acquire a criminal record, and rather than adding to one's macho or standing with the gang, a criminal record is a decided impediment in securing many types of work. Whether the publicity of the court proceedings and sentence is a sufficient deterrent we don't know, but it would have more effect on those who steal (yes, let's use the word steal rather than shoplift) for kicks than on those who steal from hunger or real need.

But you don't steal do you? Why does all this concern you? Plainly and simply because you, the purchasing public, pay for the goods stolen by the sticky fingered fraternity. In many cases the retailer starts by bearing the cost of stolen goods as overhead, but, when his losses become too heavy, it must be recovered by increased prices on the remaining goods. You and I pay for the goods stolen, and if we are to pay the piper, we should be allowed to call the tune.

Who is concerned? Why this commentary? Because the first and obvious group showing concern is the retail industry. It is concerned about the theft of merchandise for which it has paid. It is getting tougher and tougher with offenders, particularly the juveniles who were formerly let off with a lecture and turned loose to roam the neighbourhood looking for another mark.

The other major group showing concern is the police and it would seem that their objectivity is two-fold, to stop the thefts and change the attitude of juvenile offenders who regard shoplifting as a prank, something to do on a dare or just fun. The identity of a juvenile who commits a crime is not made public, but a juvenile who is arrested and convicted, still gets a police record and that record can ruin its owner's chances in life, chances in higher education and in employment. And parents, do they sometimes turn a blind eye? Do they always know where their children obtain the things they bring into the house? Do they set a good example?

Many of us are not retailers. We are not members of a police force and we are not parents. This does not mean that we can shrug off the problem of shoplifting as something that affects the other guy... the 'I'm all right, Jack' sentiment. We are involved, we help pay the cost, and we are subjected to the lowering of moral standards, a lowering that will be accelerated if this trend is not reversed.

In Vancouver a campaign is being waged against shoplifting. In May of 1974 the project SAVE was launched. SAVE derives its name from the words SHOPLIFTING AFFECTS VIRTUALLY EVERYONE. Retail organizations, large and small, in co-operation with the Vancouver Police Department and the Vancouver Board of Trade, started an advertising and promotional campaign to discourage the casual or amateur shoplifter from further activity.

The two principal objectives were the education of residents about the seriousness of shoplifting and a reduction of it in retail outlets. Each year there has been an extensive media campaign with radio, television and newspapers carrying advertising. Members of SAVE have participated in panel discussions and open-line shows on radio and television and speakers have been provided for interested groups.

Plans include the production of a 15 minute movie to train merchants and their staff in theft prevention. Poster design competition and other school activities could be enlarged. The program could also be expanded to cover other communities as well.

The project is successful. The Vancouver Police Department has shown that when the media campaign is in full operation there is a noticeable drop in theft by shoplifting.

Perhaps it would be a good idea to see how the project works and try it out in our own community where merchants claim there are considerable losses due to shoplifting.

Ethics for everyone

The revelation in the past few years that kickbacks, slush funds, under-the-table payments, and in some cases, outright bribery have been employed by a number of large corporations in many countries, including Canada, seems to indicate a decline in morality.

The scandal associated with Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., a Crown corporation, and the kickbacks in the Sky Shops affairs, make it clear that dishonest business practices are not limited to the private sector.

Along with a general decline in personal and social morality, there is an 'anything goes' attitude within the business community that has a deleterious effect on public morality as a whole.

This lack of ethical consideration has resulted in a serious decline in the public's mind of trust in the business sector but while some corporations do not let ethics stand in the way of profits, there are indications that many executives of large and small corporations are beginning to see the need for serious reform.

Generally speaking, the public views big business with the same jaundiced eye it reserves for big governments. But now there are signs that some large Canadian companies understand that public morality includes them. Codes of ethics are appearing in the boardrooms of the nation. Senior executives are being required to sign statements that they will under no circumstances violate these rules.

Bribery, large or small, is of course illegal, but not it is also forbidden in the new corporate morality. Transactions must be conducted in an open and acceptable manner. Lavish entertainment or expensive gifts are prohibited. The laws of Canada and the laws of other countries must be strictly observed in negotiating business deals.

It's good business in the long run, both for the corporations and for the citizens of Canada, if commercial transactions are conducted with rigorous honesty, observing both the letter and spirit of the law.

And then the tarnished — albeit sometimes undeserved — image of business might brighten.

An unusual view of the Mamquam River can be seen through this steel reinforcing for the cement pier for the south end of the bridge. The central and northern piers are already in position.

Howe Soundings

You don't realize how searing the heat has been or how it has affected the vegetation until you drive up the highway or up the valley and see the shrubs and trees which have burned or dried up in the scorching heat.

While temperatures in downtown Squamish didn't climb over 29 Celsius earlier this month, they did climb into the low 30's in the Upper Squamish and at Alta Lake, and to see blueberry bushes all shrivelled up, mountain ash shrubs dying for lack of moisture, their half formed berries almost cooked on the twigs is to understand just how hot it had been.

I drove up to Alta Lake on Sunday and all through the Canyon, along the lake and past Brandywine, the hillsides showed the parching effect of the sun. Where there was moisture it was fine, the trees and shrubs were still green, but on the hillsides and rocky bluffs, the vegetation was brown or dead.

It's easy to see why the Forest Rangers and their staff dread this kind of weather. All it would take is a carelessly tossed match or cigarette and the country would be a blazing inferno. It's so dry you can almost smell the heat; a distillation of dried leaves, evergreen needles and heat that's just explosive.

It was a dull day. All the way up it seemed to be trying to decide if it was cloud or smog and it finally decided it was cloud. By the time I came home I passed through several small showers; just enough to spot the car and streak the windshield but not enough to do any appreciable good.

In fact, the high winds which accompanied the cloud have almost as much of a drying effect as the hot sunshine does.

But it did do one thing. It cooled the air and for the first time this month Sunday's temperature dropped below 24 in the daytime. That was a treat in itself.

The improvements to Highway 99 have to be seen to be believed. I had heard about how terrible it was. How one travelled in a perpetual cloud of dust and even with one's car lights on you couldn't see anything. But large areas had been paved and the new width is absolutely marvellous. Now when they get that centre line in so the turkeys don't come around a corner on your side of the road...

They told me that Alta Lake had been as still as a mill pond the day before. But on Sunday it was ruffled with a stiff breeze blowing from the south and the sail boats and wind surfers were having a marvellous time. It was fascinating to see them scudding over the water, at speeds you couldn't believe; only to tip over and then right themselves again.

From where we were sitting on the balcony half way across the lake we could hear the slap of the wind as it filled the sails. They were brilliant; blue, gold and red and white striped and pure white and to see them scooting over the water with the lake creaming behind them, was beautiful. Now, if it had been sunny that would have been the perfect color picture! Somehow I've always wanted to sail a boat, but never learned. It looks like a lot of work, but it must be fun when the sun is bright and there's a light wind blowing. They said the lake was warm, too, so if you did get dunked it really wouldn't matter, apart from the problem of righting the boat.

Is it just my imagination or does there seem to be more weed and plant growth in the lake than there used to be? I never visited the Rainbow Lodge area too often as we always used to stay at Hillcrest Lodge when we went to the lake so many years ago. But I don't recall seeing as much plant life in the lake as there appeared to be there now.

Sitting on the balcony we watched a blue jay flash by, a brilliant glow of color against the dull sky. Oddly enough he didn't seem to screech but maybe he was carrying some food in his beak. There seemed to be something white in it. Possibly he had been scrounging around the campsites below.

Hopefully, if we do get some rain to break this dry spell, it won't last too long, but will just be enough to wash the dust off the leaves and give the trees and shrubs a chance to breathe again. Maybe it will just cool things off and then summer will come back in all its glory, but with temperatures just a little cooler.

But hasn't it been gorgeous after the dreary summers of the past few years?

Letters

Editor, The Times:

In answer to the article in the Squamish Times on Aug. 17th, 1977.

Mr. Bob Veitch, District Engineer of the Dept. of Highways, is not referring to my problem.

My problem is, that in spite of all the meetings I have been notified of, there has been no definite settlement one way or the other. I would still like to build or sell out, but I can't do either. Also I cannot get the Dept. of Highways to return the parcel they took, which ties up any plans I should want to make in the future.

This problem has been going on for 15 years and all I would like is to have it settled once and for all. Then I would know just what I can or cannot do. Also I feel that as the Dept. of Highways is responsible for tying up a part of my land, it should recompense me for that land.

Whether they used that part of the land or not, as it is I, the owner, can't use it either as it was gazetted.

Mike Melnychuk

Editor, The Times:

The Minor Football program has started again this year in Squamish and as last year the player turnout has been far below expectations. The two teams, Chiefs and Titans, have very enthusiastic groups but require more players to generate meaningful and worthwhile practices. The coaches of both teams, all of whom have come through the Squamish Minor Football system, are more than willing and capable of helping each boy individually and as a group to achieve their goals.

Squamish is a well-respected name in football, as indeed in all amateur sports on the North Shore and football is an excellent character builder both physically and mentally. The understanding of all for one and one for all at this stage of development will give each young man a clear direction to follow.

I urge all boys who are not participating in any other activity, and who are between the ages of 10 and 15 years to come out and give football a try. I am sure that they will find it a challenge but above all fun. Please give it a thought but give football a try.

Waldemar J.F. Krzanowski
President, Squamish Minor Football.

In addition there is a Pet Show in the morning of the Fair.

ASK ABOUT THE FOREST

A Nanaimo reader, Mrs. W. Slocum, requests information on Arbutus trees and asks a number of questions.

Would you please write about arbutus trees. I would like some on my place.

I can understand your wanting arbutus on your property. Its shape is pleasingly reminiscent of an Oriental painting and some would claim this tree is the most exotic of Canada's native species.

Many are intrigued by the sinuous trunks and branches, also by the colour contrast they lend to the landscape. Bark of the tree is sometimes reddish or orange, sometimes partly green, sometimes mottled, varying with the season of the year, the age of the tree and where it is located.

Observe the bark of an arbutus closely beginning mid-August and you will be able to follow an unusual cycle of colour change. There are differences in individual trees, but very generally speaking, if you are looking at an old tree you will find that the red bark on the upper trunk and limbs is beginning to pull off in thin papery strips, exposing a silky yellow green underneath.

In a young arbutus this shedding will probably occur throughout the tree. Foresters call the process "exfoliating" and in a hot weather period you may actually hear the bark rustle as "exfoliation" occurs.

Gradually with the advance of the season, you will notice the newly revealed green turn red. On old trunks the first reddening bark will thicken, breaking into many small flakes and you may see that in some trees, much of the flaking falls off, leaving the trunk with that smooth texture, so fascinating to the eye and touch.

The leaf cycle too is of interest. Although it is always stated that arbutus is the only broad leaved evergreen native to Canada, it does, of course, shed leaves. Unlike most of our other trees, new leaves push out mid summer and this is when the old foliage begins to turn brown, hanging on branches for a time, then finally dropping off.

Watch for bird life. Arbutus produces clusters of creamy white bell shaped flowers in May that are followed in late summer by orange/red berries. For humans these are edible but not palatable. However, birds eat them avidly as late winter food.

We have not had extensive scientific studies of the arbutus. Why not carry out your own research? It will be enjoyable and you will learn a great deal about this tree.

Very approximately, here is what to look for at different times of the year:

Late March, leaf bud swelling begins; May, flower bud swelling begins, flowering begins; June, full bloom; June-July, second year leaves fall; June-September, bark exfoliates; October, fruits mature.

How fast and how big do arbutus trees grow?

On good sites arbutus may grow a foot a year, but height growth tapers off rapidly as the crown forms. Largest arbutus in Canada are about 90 feet tall with a trunk diameter of three feet. Speaking generally, when the tree reaches maturity on good sites it is usually about 80 feet. On medium good sites 30-60 feet; on poor sites, only 15-25 feet. The largest specimen in the U.S. had a circumference of 27 feet eight inches at a height of 4.5 feet from the ground.

Is it true that arbutus trees grow better in an area where coal is found?

No. We find arbutus growing in a wide variety of soils, in many different types of terrain and under a wide range of temperature and moisture conditions. The only thing this tree seems to demand is a well drained soil.

Can I transplant an arbutus? How? When?

Arbutus trees are very difficult to transplant. However, transplanting can be successful with seedlings only a few inches high. It is also extremely difficult to root cuttings.

If you want some arbutus on your property, a good plan is to grow them from seeds in pots, then transplant when they are two or three inches high. Be sure to plant them in their "final resting place" because you won't be able to move them around afterwards very easily.

Remember all trees transplant best in winter when growth has ceased. And be sure your arbutus goes into well drained soil.

Once established, your arbutus will need no special care and you will find them very drought resistant. Amazingly enough they can take both high temperatures and wet freezing conditions.

Is arbutus related to the California tree called "madrona"?

Arbutus and madrona are one and the same. In the U.S. the name "Madrona" was given to this tree by the first white man who ever saw it — Father Juan Crespi, chronicler of the Portola expedition which was exploring California in 1769. The word "madrona" referred to the strawberry tree (arbutus unedo) native to the Mediterranean and related to our species. Most people in the U.S. refer to the arbutus as "madrona".

What is the range of the arbutus tree? Where does it grow?

The arbutus or Pacific madrona has the northern limits of its range at about latitude 50°N, in the vicinity of Seymour Narrows on the eastern coast and locally on the western coast of Vancouver Island. From this point south, arbutus occurs fairly commonly west of the Cascade Range in Washington and Oregon. It grows on the west slope of the Sierra south to central California and extends farther south in the coastal mountain ranges of Southern California.

Alice Lake Park caters to many thousands during summer season

By MARNIE BURNSIDE

This year 200 to 250 thousand people will have visited Alice Lake Provincial Park, situated just off the Whistler Highway in view of the peaks of Garibaldi Provincial Park to the east and the rugged crest of the Tantalus Range to the west.

Covering about 975 acres, the area includes four small lakes set in a hilly, mixed coast forest of western hemlock, douglas fir, red cedar, red alder, black cottonwood and vine maple.

With its two sandy beach areas and many picnic tables, Alice Lake, the largest in the park, has the heaviest usage by picnickers and campers. In fact, the lake's 87 campsites are almost constantly full and the one group camping area is booked solid for the summer season's weekends by the end of January each year. Individual campsites, well laid out among the trees are assigned on a first come, first served basis and firewood supplied by park staff is in continuous supply.

During the summer months the lake's water is not as clear as other area lakes, but Park Supervisor Merv Honey says this is not due to pollution.

"The lake changes at different times of the year. We don't have any weeds this year and then some years we do. Every year, when the temperature of the water and the air is the same the lake experiences an inversion. The water on the bottom which is usually cold at that time warms up and comes to the top, so the water at least has a complete circulation once a year," he said.

In addition, the Coast Garibaldi Health Unit checks both the lake water and drinking water once a week for possible contamination because of the area's heavy usage. Park officials also feel that the land around the lake itself has reached its full development capacity and that the addition of more campsites or parking facilities would place too much of a strain on the quality of the water. If additional camping was provided it would be around one of the other park lakes.

Since the park's development in 1956, Alice Lake has become increasingly popular among campers with small children. It is the only area with a gradually sloping shore line within the district and as such makes a perfect swimming area for youngsters.

Until lifeguards were brought in five years ago, the incidence of drownings was quite high. Park officials are proud of the fact that in the last three years only two drownings have occurred and those happened during hours when the lifeguards were not on duty.

While swimming is the main attraction during the summer, well laid out trails provide access to Stump, Fawn and Edith Lakes for fishermen, naturalist and hikers at any time of the year. These trails require an hour or more to walk and begin at the northeast side of Alice Lake, following the valley up to Edith Lake and then along the ridge northward to Fawn and Stump Lakes. A shorter hike may be taken around Alice Lake.

A second twenty minute walk follows Alice Lake's outlet creek which has been cleared and set up to facilitate spawning trout. The program has been so successful that the fisheries department has not needed to stock the lake for the past five years.

Fishing in the park is at its best when the water is cool. Both Edith and Stump Lakes have been stocked with a hybrid, a cross between a brook and lake trout called splake. They seem to grow faster than naturally bred varieties and have been particularly successful in Stump Lake.

As one of the few areas where open fires are allowed at this time of year, the four lake trail has been closed off while fires in the picnic and campsites have been allowed to continue. The park staff which includes three patrolmen, six lifeguards and two fee collectors feel that they patrol the area frequently enough to minimize the fire hazard. There is always some staff member on duty 24 hours a day to see that visitors to the park enjoy themselves without annoying others.

Occasionally some campers have to be evicted for messy campsites, late night parties or vandalism but this is infrequent and Honey says that only about 10 percent of the people who visit the park have to be spoken to concerning their actions.

According to Honey, vandalism hits a peak in the spring and the fall when there are not so many staff members on duty.

Open all year round, the park receives its share of winter time campers and the staff remains to maintain and upgrade facilities. Their biggest job during that time is the refinishing of the park's beautifully constructed red cedar picnic tables. Each one is sanded, and cracks filled and five coats of varnish applied. Needless to say, vandalism to the tables is particularly aggravating.

At one time the parks branch provided a naturalist during July and August to conduct nature walks. Interest however was not that high and the program was cancelled. Next year, the parks branch hopes to put together a slide show whose theme will be a human history of the park dating back as far as 1888. Old-timers within the area are being contacted for information and park officials hope it will be ready for next year's summer season.

Right now, Merv Honey, who has been at Alice Lake Park for the past six years, gives the occasional nature walk and talk to interested groups. "I tell them, especially the children, that while they are visitors here, they must remember that this is home to many different animals."

With that in mind he hopes visitors will take care to keep the park the way they found it.

Metric conversion, or the breaking of a habit

This is the summer of the kilometre in Canada. By September, most of the road signs in the country will be changed from miles per hour to kilometres per hour. It's the next step in Canada's gradual conversion to metric measurement which began in 1971 and should be completed by 1980.

The road sign changeover will see 30 m.p.h. replaced by 50 km/h and 60 m.p.h. by 100 km/h. School zone signs will dictate a 25 km/h speed limit, instead of the present 20 m.p.h. The speeds will be about the same as they are now only the symbols will be different.

Vacationers, who think metric this summer will find their activities will take on a new dimension. They will enjoy driving through the mountain grandeur of Alberta and British Columbia at approximately 100 km/h. Tired, after touring all that magnificence they can stop for a cold soft drink — a refreshing 300 ml of pop. In Quebec one would simply not think of having a meal without a good bottle of wine which will now contain 700 ml of vintage liquid to complement the Cheateaubriand for two. While in Toronto, one might experience a heat wave with temperatures around 25° Celsius or the high 80s in Fahrenheit. The heat won't bother anyone visiting the world-famous CN Tower. At 5,445 m. there is a beautiful breeze to accompany the panoramic view at the metropolitan centre. The Byward Market located in Ottawa, provides an excellent opportunity for tourists and local residents to test their metric knowledge as they price fruit and vegetables in grams and kilograms. Fishing for bluefin tuna in the Atlantic Provinces will be fun when the catch is measured in metric units. The metric system gives you a choice. If you want to impress friends tell them your fish is 213.36 cm. If you want to be modest you can tell them it is 2.1 metres. Either way it works to about 7 feet and of course there was the one that got away. Changing over to a new system requires effort and connecting the new weights and measures with familiar objects often helps. For instance, body temperature is 37° Celsius or 98.6° Fahrenheit. The average woman is 160 cm or 5 feet 3 inches tall and the average man measures about 170 cm or 5 feet 10 inches.

The joy of the metric system lies in its simplicity and universality. It is simple because all relationships between the various units in the system work in powers of ten. Universal, because most countries in the world use metric. Canada is a new member to the metric team.

It isn't the car that steps on the gas and causes an accident, trying to pass . . . It's the driver!

A car may be bent and twisted away, but it isn't the car that will have to die . . . It's the driver!

Holes in one must be a thing with the Rosser family! Last week Miles Rosser, the 12 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Rosser, made a hole in one on the No. 8 hole at the golf course. He's keeping up with the family tradition. His brother Rick made one two years ago and father Ron scored his hole in one about ten years ago!

Wonder what kind of golf Myles will be playing ten years from now?

Welcome to Squamish to Rumiko Oshiba, the Rotary Club's new exchange student from Japan who arrived in Squamish on Wednesday and made her first visit to the Rotary Club on the following day, the occasion of the club's male fashion show. Wonder what she thought of Canadians after that!

Laughed at Barney Bensch when he said Rumiko had difficulty in speaking English but could read and write it perfectly. "Before long she'll be speaking just as well as we do," said Barney in his strong German accent!

There must be a magnificent crop of blackberries this year and everyone seems to be out picking them. Last Sunday the dyke from the end of Pemberton Road leading to the Senior Citizens' Housing area was just busy with people out after the succulent fruit.

Watch out for those thorns though, they are wicked!

What was the young man who lost his glasses in the pool at the Court House fountain last week doing there when he lost them? It's a good question.

Mayor Pat Brennan waxed poetical at last week's council meeting but it was entirely subconscious. His verse, referring to mini-bikers, said:

"They're not interested in bothering birds and squirrels. So they won't be using the min-bike trails."

He was referring to the newly completed mini-bike trails east of the forestry station and under the power line.

Council Briefs

*****
A study of the Northridge area for the feasibility of the sewer system would cost approximately $9,000. Council felt that there must be unanimous approval of all the property owners in the area before such a study was undertaken.

Alderman Candy wanted to know if there would be anything wrong with putting a tariff on the rezoning of land. He felt this would do away with needless rezoning or applications for rezoning which does impose a cost to every taxpayer in the municipality.

Candy stated that he felt many of these rezoning applications were never completed and he felt a deposit of $500 should accompany each application for re-zoning.

Council disagreed as they felt it would be too much because some rezoning was for very small parcels of property.

North Vancouver Juniors win ball tournament

She's safe! Runner making it safely home as catcher poises for action in game between Cabarettos and Credit Union.

The North Vancouver Juniors, a girl's team from the North Shore, won the softball tournament held at Centennial Field on the weekend. The tournament was sponsored by Olga's Style Shop under the competent management of Doreen Quinn.

Fourteen teams were entered in the tournament which started at 8:30 a.m. on Saturday morning and ended in a close fought game between the Surrey Reefers and the North Vancouver team with North Vancouver winning the trophy and the top prize money.

Team members each received individual trophies. Second place went to the Scar Industries Scarlets from Surrey and in third place and third prize money, were the Surrey Reefers.

Following the final game the All-Stars were selected with the following players making up the team. Catcher was Penny Pratt from the Reefers, second base Lucia Melis, North Van Juniors shortstop, Nickie Woida, Scarlets; third, Lisa Larsen, Scarlets; left field, Dawn Morris, Reefers; centre field, Shelley Bettes, Scarlets; right field, Arlene Molesku, North Van Juniors and the pitcher for the All Star team was Tag McTaggart from the North Vancouver team.

Shelley Bettes, centre fielder for the Scarlets, was the batting champion with a score of .600 based on twelve times at bat. Named as the most valuable player was Starr Atkins of the Surrey Scarlets.

The All-Star team was selected by a three member panel of judges: Verne Gerrard, Bill Galley and Len Kingston.

Special awards were given to Art Wittmann, who acted as announcer for the two day tournament; to the umpires, and to the scorekeepers, in recognition of their work, as well as to the judges who selected the All Star team.

Men's Soccer

By JIM CAMERON

After a long summer's rest it is time to begin organizing the fourth season of the Men's Soccer League. Coming off our most successful season ever, we still hope to improve in a few areas such as refereeing and standard of conduct.

Some confusion has been caused among certain teams by the advent of the new team in the Vancouver league. As a result the men's league will probably not start play until the third week in September.

This year we expect to have at least seven teams: Terminals, Woodfibre, Native Sons, B.C.R., Brackendale, Julian's All-stars, and Whistler.

Anyone who would like to play for any of the above teams, or anyone wishing to enter a team should register their names at the Roadrunner Sporting Goods or call Jim Cameron at 898-3806. The team coaches will be advised of the time and place of the next league meeting.

That's a hefty swing Loretta Cloutier is taking at the ball in a game with Hope during the weekend tournament.

SOCCER TEAMS TO PLAY HERE AUG. 28

Three soccer teams from Vancouver will be meeting Squamish teams in a soccer match at Centennial Field on August 28th, commencing at 10 a.m.

Former Squamish resident Stano Stanev, a soccer and tennis enthusiast, who is now living in Richmond, is bringing the teams to Squamish for the match.

Stanev lived in Squamish in 1969 and was well known in soccer and sports circles and still plays indoor tennis and belongs to the Western Indoor Tennis Club in Richmond. He will present a trophy to the winning team in the competition.

The challenge cup which Stano has put up for competition in this Sunday's soccer games.

Tenders opened

Tenders for the fencing at the new portion of the Squamish Cemetery were opened on Tuesday night of last week and ranged from a low of $4,141 by Gardall to a high of $7,171 by Dominion Bridge.

Council decided to accept the lowest bid, providing it was OK when checked out by the administrator and the works superintendent.

Swinging for action this batter is eager for a hit.

ERNIE BAUER WINS SENIOR GOLF TOURNEY

Last weekend 22 senior golfers (seniors are over a certain age which certain competitors do not wish to disclose) did battle to decide who would be the new club senior champion for 1977.

In a sudden death playoff Ernie Bauer beat Les Ashton on the first hole after they had tied over the regulation 36 holes.

Most of the competitors won a prize for some reason or other (opinions varied as to the validity of some of these awards) and the organizers would like to thank the competitors for their co-operation and look forward to next year's competition.

SQUAMISH, B.C.—WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 24, 1977

SECOND SECTION—Page 9

Squamish Earful

by Maureen Gilmour

Elvis Presley may not have been a household word to everyone but the "king of rock and roll" surely had a following greater than any other singer. His music and songs were for all ages and even though he is dead at age 42 his music will be around for generations. I wasn't a "chartered" member of the Elvis Presley fan club but he certainly was a favourite singer of yours truly!

Visiting Mrs. Helen Acorn recently was her sister, Doris O'Connell from St. John, New Brunswick. During her stay, they travelled to Santa Cruz, California, to meet another sister in that city.

As a result of a car accident, former resident Mrs. Marj Olander is hospitalized in the Royal Columbian in New Westminster. From your many friends, Marj, do hope those casts on your foot and wrist won't be too uncomfortable — and of course, we are waiting for word that you'll soon be going home.

Think about this "thought for the week" — Only those who take leisurely what the people of the world are busy about, can be busy about what the people of the world take leisurely.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Skiffington are pleased to have her mother, Mrs. G. Powers from Sudbury, Ont. and her friend, Mrs. A. Martin from Ste. Sault Marie, Ont. visiting them.

This isn't TV weather but during the past two weeks did you "take in" any of the Canada Games from St. Johns, Newfoundland? My favourite was track and field and the swimming. B.C. athletes certainly fared well.

Miss Wendy Evans from London, England is visiting her aunt and uncle, Don and Daphne Wilson for a few weeks before starting a nursing job in Toronto.

Does this apply to your store? Our produce manager says he "will produce" and our hardware manager says her products will stand "hard wear".

Barry Suter is looking fit and relaxed after spending four weeks in England. He visited his mother and other relatives and friends.

First there was the hoola hoop, then crazy glue, skateboards and so on but the latest craze to hit the stores is "Slime". It's a glob of green, cold, slippery stuff and it "sure do" look like the real thing. Seems like you can do most anything with it — even surprise your friends by plunking it in their hands. It's a queer sensation believe me but it is really quite harmless — after you get over the shock!!

Having a nice restful holiday in Squamish are friends of Fred and Tish Campbell. Norm McFall and Peggy and Martin Hanula are from Belfast, Northern Ireland. The Hanulas had their pub "bombed out" in Belfast.

Visiting Rose and Clarence Tatlow earlier this month were their son in law Bob Mason and grandson Greg of Prince George. They were enroute home after visiting relatives in Duncan.

Former residents Pete and Joe Seymour of Kingcome Inlet were in town visiting family members and friends.

Visitors from Winnipeg last week were Doug and Sue Turner and they were guests of Ruth and Ida Maitland. The Turners are the parents of Fred Turner of the popular Bachmann-Turner Overdrive band.

What do you do when you get a recording on the line telling you the B.C. Tel business office phone is out of order?? You don't believe it and ask the operator for Zenith 8000 again. After going through this procedure twice I finally got through and the receptionist at B.C. Tel was surprised to know the line was "out" — as she'd been getting calls all along!!!

Oliver and Faith Nelson are pleased to have their daughter and son in law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Holowaty, visiting them from Alexandria, Egypt. Before returning to the Middle East the Holowatys will be going to Edmonton to visit his parents.

Do hope the following have happy birthdays this week: Pam Hurren, John Stathers, Jackie Wilson, Myrtle, Gordon and Margit Lovlin; Enzo Milia, Rodney Savary, Peg Tinney, Alan Campbell, Joseph Strubb, Terryne McLennan, Chuck Kozko, Lana Allan, Jennifer Gauthier, Boyd Mauch, Brent Bloxham, Christopher Stockley, Terry Aldridge and Patti Yampolsky.

Stork Story — WIDING — A daughter, Andrea Harmony, was born to Bill and Rosemary Widing in the Squamish General Hospital on August 13, weighing 6 1/2 lbs. This is a sister for Corina. Proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Widing in Chicago and Ms. Patricia Kamm of Toronto.

"Did you hear about the chap who stays up all night figuring out where the sun went when it went down?" "No, what happened?" "It finally dawned on him."

Herb and Marnie Burnside welcomed his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Reg Plater from Collingwood, Ontario, to Squamish last week. They are especially enjoying their three year old great grandson Jesse.

Hi and happy wedding anniversary wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rempel, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Tinney, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Ingraham, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Wilson.

Jane and Mike Horvath and son Mike Jr. have returned home after visiting their homelands. They spent three weeks in Hungary visiting Mike's relatives and a further three weeks in Wales seeing many of Jane's relations and friends.

Another couple who are home again are Stephen and Shirley Boni and they had a wonderful time in England.

Residents of Squamish for many years, Ed and Pauline Theriault have moved to Qualicum Bay. On Wednesday evening, May 10, Legion members hosted a farewell party for the Theriaults and they were presented with a money tree and a large humourous card made by Rory Odenbach. On August 14, Pauline and Ed were guests of honour at a garden party hosted by the Elks Lodge and held at the home of Jack and Doreen Shaw.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. Honaizer for the past three weeks were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Honaizer of Hamilton, Ont.

STORK STORY — Alison and Ed Dorosh are pleased to announce the arrival of their newest daughter Laura Jean, weighing 9 pounds, three ounces, and born at Lions Gate Hospital on Monday, August 15th. Sisters Marie and Elizabeth are delighted with her arrival.

Welcome home to Mrs. Sheila Haffey and Sandra and David who have been visiting relatives and friends in England for the past four weeks. Sandra says she was glad to be home but enjoyed the visit with her grandmother and her aunts and uncle.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Scott were Mr. and Mrs. John Duke of Coudson, Surrey, England, who spent three weeks in Squamish, Victoria and Seattle. They really enjoyed seeing the Loggers Sports and the beautiful weather they have had during their visit. Mrs. Duke says it was "just gorgeous."

Visiting Dr. and Mrs. R. Thacker recently were his parents Mr. and Mrs. Thacker and sister Maria from England. During their stay in Canada the visitors went to Calgary to visit Dr. Thacker's brother, before leaving for England on Sept. 6.

Oktoberfest tickets are going fast. If you're interested get them soon. The Kinsmen Oktoberfest is Sept. 30 and Oct. 1. Contact any Kinsman for tickets or call at the Lumberjack, Adam 'n Eve's or Barnacle Bill's.

A meeting of all those parents of children interested in figure skating will be held on Sept. 15th at 7:30 p.m. in the high school.

The parents are invited to attend this meeting which will set up the first Squamish figure skating club. Officers of the club and directors will be elected at this meeting which will also deal briefly with the bylaws and constitution of the club.

The club will plan and coordinate all the figure skating activities in the community.

Plans have been formulated for both group lessons and private lessons with tot lessons and possibly an adult session.

With the difficulty of obtaining professional teachers, Denise Borrell has interviewed one or two applicants. These applicants, and any others, will also be interviewed by the newly elected executive.

Discussion will take place on the time and frequency of meetings, goals of the club, and future activities of the group.

Maurice Farn, Recreational Director for the District of Squamish, will be the chairman for the meeting, and there is a possibility of having a B.C. coast delegate of the CFSA in attendance.

In the week following the public meeting there will be a pre-registration to determine the number of classes and the cost to each participating family for FSA membership.

Although the arena will not open for several months preliminary work will have to be done by the club before the opening of the arena.

Anyone interested in taking an active part on the committee please call Denise Borrell at 898-5671 or the Recreation Commission at 892-5217.

Testing for the pre-schooler

How well does your pre-schooler see and hear? Is he or she at a level of development relative to other children of the same age? Parents interested in the answers to these questions should take advantage of the Coast Garibaldi Health Unit's Pre-School Screening Program for children aged 3 1/2 to 4 1/2.

One of our two public health nurses test vision, hearing and depth perception in addition to giving parents nutritional counselling and checking the child's teeth.

The major part of the programme is devoted to the Denver Developmental Screening Test which gauges the development of large muscles (arms and legs), the development of small muscles (hands and eyes), the development of words and language and the development of the child's ability to care for themselves and be comfortable with other people.

Developed by a pediatrician and psychologist at the University of Colorado Medical Centre in Denver, the 30 minute test is now being used extensively across the continent. A parent or other adult who knows the child well must stay with him to help and to answer questions about some of the things the child is able to do at home.

Among the aids used by the nurse are bells, balls and blocks.

All results are confidential and become a part of the child's health record. Upon completion, the nurse and parent usually discuss ways in which the parent can stimulate improvement of the child's progress in certain areas.

Parents may make an appointment at any time through the year.

Young Barbara Hadden is drawing pictures for public health nurse Hilka Valsto as part of the Coast Garibaldi Health Unit's development test for three and a half to four and a half year olds. The test measures a child's level of development in comparison to other children of the same age.

How well can your child see? Barbara Hadden, aged four is shown here with her mother Maureen taking the eye test administered by the Coast Garibaldi Health Unit.

B.C. HYDRO ENERGY SAVINGS AND FINANCE PLAN

IRLY BIRD

THE SAVINGS:

Every home deserves proper insulation. Because when your insulation meets modern requirements, you save energy. And during these times of increased concern about energy shortages, it's more important than ever that we all learn to use our energy resources wisely.

And, closer to home, when you save energy — you save money. While actual savings vary with individual circumstances, we know that when home insulation meets modern standards, fuel bills don't mount up as quickly.

And with the prospect for higher prices for energy, fuel and even insulation material in the future, an investment in proper insulation for your home today is a good hedge against inflation tomorrow.

Last, but hardly least, a well-insulated home is simply a more comfortable place to live. All year long. It's cozier in the winter, and cooler in the summer.

THE FINANCING:

Until Sept. 30, 1977, B.C. Hydro will provide up to $500.00 to up-grade the insulation in your home. As long as your home has already been built. The Energy Savings and Finance Plan does not apply to homes currently under construction.

The interest rate is only 10%, repayable over 24 months with your regular utility bills.

To qualify, you must:

- have a residential electric and/or gas account with Hydro.
- own your own home, or be in the process of purchasing it through a mortgage or agreement for sale.
- have a satisfactory credit rating.

You can hire a contractor. Or, if you're handy, you can do the work yourself. In either case, you must agree to bring insulation up to the recommended "R" values. For example, an insulation value of at least R28 for ceilings, and R12 for walls.

SEA BURIAL FOR CAPT. ROY JOHNSON

On Saturday, August 13th, the cremated remains of the late Captain Roy Johnson of Courtenay, were committed to the waters of Howe Sound in a traditional sea burial held on the quarterdeck of the M.V. Garibaldi II. Capt. Johnson was senior captain of the M.V. Garibaldi II until his retirement last year.

The ceremony was attended by Mrs. Irene Johnson, widow of the late Capt. Johnson, and many relatives some of whom had travelled from many parts of North America to pay their last tributes to Captain Johnson.

The service was conducted by Captain Jonathan Auclair, assisted by Mr. Clifford Grand, who was appointed quartermaster for the occasion. At a sea burial, a quartermaster relays the captain's directions to the ship's company, and also to the burial party.

This is the ideal weather for a picnic, either at the lake, or the beach, or even in your own back yard. Anywhere it's cool and where you can enjoy the sun and the wind.

Having hot foods hot and cold ones cold is one sure fire way to make sure that your picnic foods taste better. Today's modern insulated containers make it easy to do this.

Freeze individual cans of fruit juice or flavored bouillon. Freeze milk cartons of water, not quite filled, and pack them frozen and they will keep perishable foods cold.

Be sure salads are well chilled (especially those with mayonnaise or creamy dressings.) Pack in wide-mouthed vacuum containers or next to ice or frozen juice cans in cooler.

Pack plenty of food with lots of fresh fruits for energy.

Try a garden cheese dip or spread with crackers, a chilled beef and chicken liver loaf, a ham-macaroni salad or a marinated vegetable salad for a cold picnic or perhaps herbed chicken and a rice salad. Apple-celery-kraut salad sounds delicious and for a sandwich picnic one could have some tasty sandwich fillings.

GARDEN CHEESE DIP
2 cups small curd cottage cheese
1 pkg. softened cream cheese
1/4 cup minced green onions with tops
1/4 cup minced radishes
2 tbsps. minced parsley
1 small clove garlic, crushed
1/2 tsp. salt
fresh pepper to taste

In small bowl of mixer beat cheeses, onions, radishes, parsley, garlic, salt and pepper till blended. Cover and chill several hours or overnight. Keep cold until ready to serve. Serve with fresh, raw vegetables or assorted breads. Makes 2 1/2 cups.

CHILLED BEEF AND CHICKEN LIVER LOAF
1 medium onion minced
1 large clove garlic, minced
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
3/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1/2 beef or chicken broth, beer

or dry white wine
2 eggs
1 1/2 tssps. salt
1 tsp. marjoram
1/2 tsp. pepper
1 lb. chicken livers
1 lb. ground beef

In skillet saute onion and garlic in butter till golden, cool. In large bowl mix bread crumbs, broth, eggs, salt, marjoram, pepper and onion-garlic mixture. Chop livers fine until mushy. Add livers and beef to bread crumb mixture. Mix well with hand. Fry a small patty of the mixture; cool and taste for seasoning, adjusting as desired. Turn mixture into a 9x9x3 inch loaf pan. Bake in preheated oven 350 degrees, one hour or till done. Let stand 10 minutes. Unmold turning top side up. Cool, then chill overnight. Serve in thin slices. Makes 8 - 10 servings.

HAM-MACARONI SALAD
2 cups elbow macaroni
1/2 cup mayonnaise
2 tbsps. prepared mustard
1 small onion, minced

2 cups julienne cut or diced cooked ham (8 ozs.)
2 ribs celery or 1 medium red pepper chopped (1 cup)
1/3 cup chopped dill or sweet pickle
1/4 tsp. each salt and pepper or to taste minced parsley

Cook macaroni following package directions. Drain, rinse quickly with warm water, drain again and set aside. In large bowl mix mayonnaise and mustard, then stir in remaining ingredients except parsley. Add macaroni and toss gently. Cover and chill several hours or overnight. Sprinkle with parsley. Makes 6 servings.

HERBED CHICKEN
2 broiler fryers, about 22 lbs. each, cut up, or equivalent in thighs and legs.
1 1/2 cups cider vinegar
1/3 cups oil
1 tbsps. plus 1 tsp. salt
2 tssps. crushed rosemary, thyme or sage
1/2 tsp. pepper

Put chicken in sturdy large plastic bag. Mix vinegar, oil, salt, herb and pepper, pour over chicken. Tie bag securely and put in bowl. Refrigerate and marinate one hour or longer, turning bag occasionally. Drain chicken, reserving marinade. Broil chicken in preheated oven 6 inches from heat source or grill over white hot coals, turning and basting frequently, until chicken is tender and well browned, 45 to 50 minutes. Serve warm or cold. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Whistler news

by Jenny Busdon

There has been much talk in the past on the possibilities of pushing Highway 99 north in order to alleviate the Fraser Canyon route and to create the large tourist potential to areas north of Vancouver, if it was completed.

It was in March of this year at a joint meeting of the five Chambers which comprise Zone 9 of the Associated Chambers of Commerce — Squamish, Whistler, Pemberton, North and West Vancouver — met in Pemberton and passed a resolution urging that Highway 99 be pushed north to be placed before the B.C. Chamber of Commerce convention in Victoria. And it was in June that a Bralorne Caravan Trek by Zone 9 members was successfully completed in order to promote this other route to the North.

Over the years there have been several routes proposed. Rose Tatlow, member of the Squamish Chamber and editor of this newspaper, says she has always supported the idea of a direct northern link utilizing the Squamish-Pemberton-Bralorne route via the Hurley River or Railway Pass and then on to the Chilcotin, thus linking together the coastal areas, such as Bella Coola. This route would find access to the coast much shorter by such a road. Lorne Hillstrom, president of the Pemberton Chamber, speaking at the joint meeting of the Associated Chambers, said that Pemberton Chamber would like to see the route go north through the Hurley Pass also, and eventually come out at Highway 16 at either Smithers or Terrace, establishing a second north-south route in the Province which is now slated to have its fourth east-west one from Hope to Merritt and then east to link with the Crow's Nest.

Mayor Pat Carleton of Whistler has always been a great advocate of pushing the highway north and has had many discussions with government officials on this matter. But as we all know — government policy is one thing — reality another.

Being an optimist, it is my personal view that one day we will indeed see construction taking place. It just takes time. And a lot of patience. Especially when it is so obvious to many of us that the extension of Highway 99 North would open up the western end of the Province. Surely our politicians must vividly realize that it is bad to see something end, when it could be so easily continued with valuable tourist dollars being the concluding result.

In front of me I have a newspaper cutting from the Kamloops News, which relates my feelings on the matter. I thought it would be of interest to readers. The article, headed "Coquihalla Doesn't Fit In Highway Priorities" reads as follows:

"The provincial Department of Highways seems to have rather odd priorities in deciding to push a highway through Coquihalla Pass, to provide a link between Hope and Merritt.

Surely upgrading the route from Pemberton to Lillooet and making it into a highway has a much higher priority for British Columbia as a whole.

The Coquihalla will be tremendously expensive to keep open during late autumn, winter and early spring. It is an area of exceptionally heavy snowfall — and records of winter travel difficulties go back to the fur trade brigades.

Not only that, the Coquihalla does not open up a new route between the Lower Mainland (where well over half of all British Columbians reside) and the Interior. It improves a minor tributary for the present stream.

The Pemberton to Lillooet Highway, however, is a new route completely, not dependent on the Fraser Canyon nor the crowded driving of the Fraser Valley.

There are other advantages as well. The road is already in place from the Pemberton Valley and you can drive it now, though it can be rugged at times. This means that we would not be pushing a "new" road through the wilderness. Whatever ecological damage that must be done has already been done — most of it, at any rate.

That is quite different with the Coquihalla canyon and lakes. A highway through that area will have many ecological problems to solve... expensively.

We need more highways to open up British Columbia, and the Pemberton-Lillooet road is the first priority. And surely an improved road to Bella Coola is not far behind, as second priority."

Yes, the lower mainland must be made available to the rest of the Province. Are you receiving loud and clear Victoria?

How could we forget 1976. The summer of '76 that is. It was in this column, practically to the day twelve months ago I wrote about our seven days of recorded sunshine. Seven clear days dawning pink and fresh and staying bright and breezy 'til sunset. In a period of two months!

Yes, the summer of 1976 certainly goes down in our record books as a washout.

But 1977? Ah, now we are talking. Warm, endless days of blue and gold. Indeed, it has been a long time since I can remember so many days of sizzling sunshine when all you want to do is laze around and enjoy the leisurely life summer brings.

Two months of weather like this will certainly make us appreciate the approaching cool of Fall, rains of November and hopefully deep snows of December and January. Peachy perfect, if this hot summer means our Whistler winter will be heavy on the white stuff. Especially after the disaster of this past mild ski season.

Many times these past twenty days where the temperature in the day has stayed a constant high and a fair number of us have tossed and turned in beds stripped of linen trying for a good night of sleep in areas where the sun's heat has been imprisoned, lacking a cooling breeze, suffering in stores not air-conditioned, and always on the lookout to seek a cool place after gasping in cars as we travel to and fro — it's all worth it to experience a real summer again.

Just think — a hot, dry summer just might mean a heavy winter with deep snows. Hope is the name of the game!

Comings and Goings

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson have been holidaying at Pender Harbour with their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Clive Lewis and their daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gunderson of Port Alberni were recent visitors at the home of Bob and Julie Desjardins. David Desjardins joined the visitors on their return home for an Island holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jardine have returned from a trip to northern B.C. during which they visited their son Tom and his wife in Prince George. The Jardines went on to McKenzie and further east to Chetwynd, Dawson Creek and Fort St. John. They were very impressed with the extensive farms in this northeastern area.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Gary Robson last week were her sister Bev Munro, Marcie, Ken and Andy of Lac La Hache. Bev was returning home after picking up Ken and Marcie in Powell River where they had been attending figure skating classes. Ken remained in Squamish for a few days with his cousins Don and Paul Halvorson; later in the week the boys headed for a holiday at Lac La Hache with Ken.

THRIFTY BACK-TO-SCHOOL VALUES

Young models show back to school wear

A number of young models in clothes from three local stores, showed what the well dressed young student will be wearing when he or she goes back to school on Sept. 6.

Corduroy is the fashion material for fall and it appears in slacks, in pants, in jumpers, in suits and in jackets. It's a fine wale corduroy, with a lovely sheen.

For girls, gaucho pants are the fashion in cord or polyester, while corduroy with turtleneck blouses or printed cotton shirts in a western style are in fashion.

Denim with multi-colored trim is still smart for fall wear, but then denim for children's clothes is classic.

For boys, the in thing is the corduroy suit or cord pants with sports jacket or striped sweater. And stripes are in, wide ones, narrow ones, any kind as long as it's stripes, from sweaters to T-shirts to socks.

Last week models at Stedman's Robinson's and Fields posed for pictures of the clothes worn by the young student going back to elementary school. The clothes shown in the accompanying pictures are a sample of what can be bought right in Squamish where there are styles and fashions to suit everyone, and every pocket-book.

Erin Mulholland's gaucho corduroy jumper in brown with pastel checked western style blouse and bright striped socks are perfect for the early days of fall and Jason Everett topped navy blue cords with a striped vee-necked sweater over a turtle neck shell. These are a sample of the clothes which can be found at Stedman's.

At Robinson's Bryce and Kim Mauch the latter in a cotton denim pant suit with multi-color striped trim on the jacket and pant cuffs over a white turtle neck T-shirt; and Bryce in brown fine wale cord with western plaid shirt topped with a royal blue sports jacket with red and white accents.

Gauchos were the thing for the girls at Field's with Louise Penn modelling a brown polyester gaucho outfit as well as a red one piece gaucho in polyester. Sherry Reed wore a rust colored pant suit in polyester while her cousin Elva Reed, modelled a jumper in suede-like material with a cotton blouse. Elva also wore a gold corduroy plaid lined pant suit.

David MacKenzie showed the corduroy influence with beige cord pants, topped with a turtle neck striped sweater and also a three piece blue corduroy pant suit.

If you're shopping for back-to-school clothes for your children take a look at what the local stores have to offer. It might be just what you and your youngster are looking for.

Rotarians star in lunch-time fashion show

Five members of the Squamish Rotary Club with Hilda Rizun as commentator and John Blair supplying the background music, presented one of the most interesting programs ever given at any club luncheon.

The occasion was the 'Ladies Day' and there was some doubt as to the intent behind the program when the men appeared in the latest styles from Owen Carney in slacks and jacket combination at Rotary fashion show.

Merv Foote's Men's Wear. Perhaps the men were trying to tell their wives something!

The witty commentary, which had to be keenly followed to be appreciated, was filled with references to the model's private lives or businesses and some of them displayed an unsuspected flair for their role.

In her introduction Mrs. Rizun said the models were chosen for their physique and their centre fold applications.

Heavy sweater and checked slacks modelled by Lyle Craig at Rotary fashion show.

Fashions ranged from the casual and sporty to the formal suits and ended in lounge and evening wear with emphasis on pajamas.

Owen Carney modelled slacks with casual shirt and wind-breaker type jacket, suitable for sports or casual wear. Lyle Craig appeared in casual slacks and shirt topped with an all-weather jacket and later with a heavy Indian type sweater while Bob Norman, who brought down the house with his modelling techniques appeared in casual slacks and heavy tweed type sweater.

To watch him model with hand on hip and drop the sweater from the shoulders in typical model style, was terrific.

The dressier type of casuals were worn by Don Patrick and Wilf Dowd and the latter appeared as the 'man of distinction' in an off-gold suit of polyester that would be perfect anywhere.

But when they appeared in loungewear and robes or in pajamas, they really created a sensation. Norman wore the latest in judo-style velour robes with colored stripes and Don Patrick modelled a tiger-striped jacket with pull on pant, the jacket with a Chanel front.

The final presentation of the fashion show was a pajama outfit in black and gold with velour robe worn by Wilf Dowd.

Assisting Merv Foote in presenting the show were Lorraine Foote and Doreen Barr.

Don Patrick in jacket and striped shirt; what the well dressed man will wear.

Council briefs

Discussion regarding the amount of parking required for the recreation centre in Tantalus Village resulted in council deciding that the 33 spaces should be required despite the HCBC contention that, as a private development it did not have to conform to municipal regulations. No relaxation of the rule would be permitted.

Mayor Pat Brennan commented on the Court of Revision saying it was a farce and a waste of time as you can swear to a statement on the day of the election and get a chance to vote.

He also said he felt the council should be sworn in on Dec. 1st instead of waiting time till January.

Administrator Stan Kary said the voter's list had been revised and updated in preparation for the Court of Revision.

Don Eaton withdrew the application for a Land Use Contract for the land adjoining the Brackendale Art Gallery but instead will operate under the existing zoning.

BCR PUBLIC HEARINGS RESUME ON SEPT. 15

Public hearings of the Royal Commission on British Columbia Railway will recommence at the Commonwealth Ballroom, Holiday Inn Harbourside Hotel, 1133 West Hastings Street, Vancouver, at 10:00 a.m. on Thursday, September 15, 1977.

Any person who wishes to make a submission to the commission, or to make any further submission in amplification of evidence previously given at the commission's public hearings, should so advise the Secretary in writing or by telephone as soon as possible and not later than September 12th, 1977. The commission's offices are on the 10th Floor, 1111 Melville Street, Vancouver, B.C. (telephone 668-2961).

Details of the tentative hearing schedule for the months of September and October will be available at the commission's offices by September 1, 1977.

Bushnell BINOCULARS

BUSHNELL SPORTSVIEW WITH INSTA-FOCUS

Bushnell Sportsview

Constructed in the traditional German style, Sportsview prismatic binoculars are distinguished by the characteristic two piece body construction — objective lenses in the lower part, prisms and eyepiece optics in the other. Bodies are made of weight-saving aluminum alloy with high tensile strength, encased in grained, non-slip gutta percha. Metal parts are finished in multi-coat baked enamel.

7 Power, 50mm Extra Bright — Highest light gathering power of all Sportsviews. Especially suited for boating, astronomy and use in poor light. No. 7660 INSTA Focus: field 37°, exit pupil 7.1mm, height 7-1/8", weight 35 oz.

BUSHNELL BANNER

INSTA-FOCUS
5 Year Warranty

Bushnell Banner

Constructed in the American style, Banner prismatic binoculars utilizes a one piece body construction which increases rigidity and provides a firm foundation for retention of optical alignment under rugged field conditions. Bodies are made of weight-saving aluminum alloy with high tensile strength, encased in grained, non-slip gutta percha. Metal parts are finished in multi-coat baked enamel.

7 Power, 50mm Banner — Best light gathering for all conditions. Large exit pupil means added eye comfort. No. 12-7601 INSTA Focus: 7 x 50, field 37°, exit pupil 7.1mm, height 7-1/8", weight 36 oz.

WORLD FAMOUS CUSTOM

World Famous Custom

Top rated, the superb 7 x 35 Custom is the established favorite for general use. Focuses down to 14'. Full Wide viewing with or without eye glasses. Special optical elements, non-marring nylon retractable eye cups. INSTA-FOCUS can focus as fast as the human eye. Field at 1000 yards 42°, exit pupil 5mm, height 5", weight 28 oz. Model 10-7351

20 YEAR WARRANTY — A startling achievement in miniaturization. The power and clarity of large binoculars in a miniature 11 oz. body with pocket-sized convenience. Rugged build for the hunter, handbag-sized elegance for the ladies, perfect for travelling.

Council Briefs

Considerable discussion followed a comment about donations to the community by service clubs and the placing of plaques on articles donated.
Mayor Brennan felt this wasn't necessary but the rest of council seemed to feel that a service club should be entitled to put on a small plaque or crest.

A decision regarding the size of the plaque will be made at a later date.

***
Playgrounds in residential areas brought a discussion regarding requirements and administrator Stan Kary said the new 1977 amendments to the Municipal Act will stipulate how much land should be set aside for playgrounds when areas are subdivided.

Pat Goode will be invited to attend a meeting to discuss future playground areas in his subdivision. The administration was to advise him of council's plans and ask him if he can come up with some playground areas.

***
Administrator Stan Kary reported on the meeting of the Tantalus Village property owners and BCHC representatives, saying the strata council was elected and that unqualified assurance was given that any defects in the housing would be remedied.

He also said that the HCBC is not proceeding with Phase II and III but will finish the balance of Phase I.

The Board of School Trustees will be invited to meet with the HCBC personnel Aug. 30 when the meeting with council is scheduled.

Mayor Brennan pointed out that he wanted it emphasized that the corporation will be responsible for the sewers if and when they develop the area.

***
Concern was expressed about the incidence of more dogs on the streets in the past few weeks, especially at night, and it was wondered if an additional person could be employed to patrol at night.

Part of the display being shown around B.C. which was prepared to commemorate the 75th anniversary of the founding of the Vancouver General Hospital. This shows the hospital's burn unit, one of the special services.

VGH display at hospital

The display of special services offered by the Vancouver General Hospital was part of the display presented at the Squamish General Hospital on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week to commemorate VGH's 75th anniversary.

The travelling exhibit, in charge of co-ordinator Tim Stephens, will visit hospitals and shopping malls in the lower mainland and Vancouver Island as well as seven population centres in the Interior and to Prince Rupert on the coast.

Stephens takes the components of the display to the centre in a van and then assembles the free-standing curved plexiglass components to form a walk through display with silk screened photographs and information about the services offered by VGH on the plexiglass walls.

The various units in the exhibit are the renal unit, CT scan, the Intensive Care

Nursery and the Hyperbaric Unit.

Visitors also saw a 27 minute film 'VGH Today' prepared by the University of B.C. which showed some of the services offered by the hospital which receives patients referred to it from all over the province.

The exhibit is being shown at the PNE from Aug. 20 to Sept. 6.

Seniors News

Had a little surprise "gathering" in the Squamish Manor lounge Sunday afternoon, August 14, in honor of Johnny McKinnon's birthday. Mabel Gunn played the piano for a sing-song, and must say that those who joined in were right on key (?). Jean McKillan contributed a delicious "non-caloric" birthday cake for the occasion. It was nice that so many were able to attend this function.

On August 18, Thursday, 35 Squamish senior citizens arrived home from a four day bus trip to Kamloops, Prince George, Quesnel and Barkerville. In spite of the extreme heat a good time was had by all. The only sad part of the trip was in Kamloops, when Norman Brown had to be taken to the hospital, and apparently he will be there for a few days. Am wondering how the Kamloops hospital compared with ours.

DRAMA CLUB

The Howe Sound Drama Club is casting for Henrik Ibsen's play "Ghosts" on Tuesday, Sept. 13th, at 7:30 p.m. in Room B 104 at the high school.

The play will be directed by Doug Gagnon and will be taken to the B.C. Drama Festival in March, 1978.

All interested people are invited to come out and audition for the roles.

Farewell for Willie Ryks

A farewell party was held for Mrs. Willie Ryks when many friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Joyce Gilchuk. Co-hostess of Monday evening, August 8, was Heather Pattullo.

A large homemade card with a beautiful water colour painting of Alice Lake (the work of Mrs. Maureen Brown) was presented to Mrs. Ryks with signatures of all those at the gathering. She was also given a large floor cushion in colours of brown and white and made by Joyce Gilchuk.

As Fort McMurray will be the new for the Ryks, a cake in the shape of a map showing the route from Squamish to the Alberta city was presented to Willie and of course along with other delicious refreshments, was enjoyed by everyone.

Bidding farewell to Willie were Lisa Rafn, Andeline Plaatjes, Peggy Greenwood, Betty Iverson, Dru Gottlieb, Mildred Campbell, Cindy Smith, Mary Lindquist, Sheila Davies, Marie Keenan, Corrine Lonsdale, Billy Hildering, Barrie Calverley, and Pauline Doran.

Sending good wishes but unable to attend were Vera Moule, Jean Ridgley, Dorothy Golden and Doreen Symons.

Sherry Reed wears a rust colored top and skirt, part of a three-piece suit perfect for school while her cousin Elva Reed models an imitation suede jumper with cotton blouse.

Coming and Goings

Mr. and Mrs. David Morrison of Williams Lake spent a few days in Squamish visiting his mother Mrs. Katherine Morrison and his brother-in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Boscarol.

Comings and Goings

Scott Morrison of Williams Lake was a recent visitor at the home of his uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Boscarol.

The next time you run out of fuel when driving don't let it worry you: it happens to the Budd cars, too.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex McBride and their daughters Debbie and Christine have returned from a holiday at Okanagan Falls.

Glen Campbell who is working in Edmonton has been back in Squamish for a visit with his parents Mr. and Mrs. W. Campbell.
