

Council to discuss Public Safety Building

May put services under one roof

Council last week heard a suggestion from Mayor Pat Brennan that the new fire hall now under construction in the Garibaldi Estates area, which will also house the ambulance service, become a public safety building with quarters for the RCMP as well.

This surprise move by the mayor caught most of council unprepared; but he explained that an addition was needed for the police building and to provide a second storey would be costly with Building Inspector Bill Allen estimating a cost of at least $25,000 for the addition.

"I was astounded at the size of the new fire hall," Brennan told council, "and after I looked at it I called the fire committee of Aldermen Candy and Barr and we took another look at it. The office portion of the building contains 3200 square feet and after we looked at it I went to the police station to see Staff Sgt. Zaharia.

"Ald. Barr suggested the RCMP might be able to fit into the new firehall so today I met with Fire Chief Doug Orser and administrator Stan Kary to see if it would be possible to have the ambulance, police and fire departments all together in one building."

The estimated cost of completing the present fire hall was $234,000.

Fire Chief Doug Orser told council that the building was not originally scheduled to be that large but the ambulance services require 2,000 square feet. There are three ambulances and the service would like to have quarters for the drivers as there has to be 24 hour service.

The fire department requires 800 square feet for each piece of apparatus and there is provision for three of these.

Orser said that if all three services were put in the existing floor space it would be too crowded, and that possibly an addition would be needed at the back. He also suggested that a cell block should be added as a separate entity.

Orser added that in the past three years it had been difficult manning three fire companies and that two would be better. The new building would be more attractive and would make it easier to get more volunteers. Office and storage space as well as a lounge for volunteers is also needed.

"I think it's feasible to put all three services in one building," Orser said, "the concept has merit but without some further extension it would be too crowded."

"Strategically the site is an excellent one. It's almost in the direct centre of the municipality but should have direct access to the highway."

Brennan stressed that this was just a preliminary discussion and that no decision would be made that day. However, he asked for comments from the aldermen and wanted to know their opinions regarding the concept.

Ald. Bob Smith said that the police station was already obsolete after only ten years and felt this combined services was the only way to go. However he queried whether the expansion could be made over the basic building.

Ald. Rose Tatlow said the concept can work, in fact it does in Saanich where the services are combined in one building. It merits further investigation, but there must be sufficient room for expansion, sufficient room for all three services and access to the highway.

Ald. N.R. Barr pointed out that the centre of population had shifted north and the residential area is no longer downtown, therefore the building would be in an advantageous location for all services.

Council in general was in favor of the concept and the mayor suggested that if the police were moved into the new building then the present RCMP site could be sold, providing more money for the building and covering the costs of any changes which might have to be made.

Council held a special meeting last night to further discuss the proposal.

S/Sgt. ZAHARIA EXPLAINS COMMENTS RE SENTENCES

Staff Sgt. Fred Zaharia wishes to explain his remarks in the May 17 edition of the "Times" where he stated that one of the contributing factors to the rising crime rate was "the lenient sentences by the courts in cases of local damage."

Firstly, S/Sgt. Zaharia states he was mis-quoted and that he stated "wilful damage" and not "local damage". Secondly, that his comments did not refer to this or any specific area and that his statement merely relayed a general consensus of views in the press throughout Canada.

There was no criticism intended locally or towards any Court in British Columbia. The increase in wilful damage in this area has climbed by 51 percent and is consistent with the increases throughout British Columbia.

S/Sgt. Zaharia is very concerned but is optimistic that his "Veto Vandalism" program and the co-operation of the people in this community will significantly reduce the incidents of this nature.

SIGRID SCHMICH

Sigrid Barbara Schmich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Heinz Schmich of Squamish, graduates from the University of British Columbia today, Wednesday, May 31.

Squamish hosts annual arson investigators seminar

Squamish hosted the annual seminar of the International Association of Arson Investigators on Thursday and Friday of last week at the Chieftain Hotel. Friday was set aside for meetings, films, talks on sorting fires and how to identify arson fires and lectures by representatives of the Fire Marshal's Office, while Friday was a field day with burning exercises showing how typical arson fires are set. The patterns for burns were studied as well as debris searched for clues. In the afternoon there was a panel discussion on the entire exercise.

Ald. Alma Cunningham welcomed the delegates on Thursday morning and this was followed by several films.

Inspector Dan Lemieux, I.C.P.B., spoke to the gathering following a film on firebugs and talked about the motives of an arsonist, suggesting to the investigators what they should be looking for.

"As you're fighting the fire check what might be the reasons for it. Is it a business fire? Was it a successful business? Was it possibly a grudge fire? Or for revenge?"

"Electricity is often blamed for fires which it doesn't cause. Lazy investigators use it as a cause more than they should."

"There are three questions to ask about any accidental fire," Lemieux said, "Are they done by, done to or done for?"

"Done to... that's the majority. School vandalism was a real problem in B.C. and has been considerably reduced in the past year."

"There were 84 incidents of juvenile mischief in 1976," Lemieux said. "They cost $8 million. Juvenile mischief fires are usually motiveless. These fires are sometimes near a previous fire and they usually occur in the daytime."

"He warned firefighters that if they are driving to a fire and see someone coming away from it, look for them, they are the ones to watch."

Children set fires in anger; at parents, at authorities; watch them. Gangs of juveniles are part of the crime scene and in the States they are known as torches.

"They start fires for fun or excitement, or for a dare. Part of the problem is the general apathy of the public which doesn't seem to care too much about the costs of fires."

Lemieux cited the case of a $330,000 fire caused by a person who was angry because his car was towed away from the shopping area's parking lot, and who only received a one year suspended sentence.

He stated that 32 percent of the fires in B.C., 551 of 1774, are put down to juvenile mischief or wilful damage.

Some of the people who start fires are pyromaniacs who enjoy them, religious fanatics, sexual fanatics and idiots. Depressed and suicidal people often set fires to buildings to take their own lives.

Revenge retaliation is another reason; there's covering up another crime such as breaking and entry and theft. Lemieux warned them to watch for fires set as a diversion, to lure police and authorities away from one section of the community.

Fires can be set to intimidate people, to eliminate competition and for economic reasons, such as rebuilding a burned building. B.C. has the worst record of all provinces in Canada when it comes to incendiary fires and fire bombings.

He warned the investigators to look into the fraud aspect of fires and said adjusters can play an important part in any investigation. They can look at causes; can look at the financial background of any business they are investigating.

On the following day, under the direction of Lt. Jack Hastings of the North Vancouver District Fire Department a controlled burn was held at the old Davis house on Government Road. Several fires were set; there were controlled burns and investigators entered the building after the fires had been put out and looked for the cause of the fires or the patterns of the burning.

Brackendale High students at CMOS

Students from Brackendale Secondary School will be spending this week at the Coast Mountain Outdoor School with half the school spending the first part of the week there, followed by the remainder during the second half.

In preparation for the project which will see the students spending two days and a bit at the outdoor school, they had a dry run, raising tents and cooking an outdoor meal on the back field at the high school and if any passersby wondered what was going on, that's what the whole exercise was, getting ready for a camping trip.

Raising a tent was a lot of fun and so was cooking over a Coleman stove. Teacher Mike Weeks, who is in charge of the program, said that he believes it is better for them not to use wood fires to cook on in the outdoors and the students will only have a campfire in the evening when there will be skits and perhaps a bit of a drama production of something of that sort.

The program will include camping, cooking their meals outdoors, canoeing and hiking and they will be staying near the outdoor school.

Before the shakedown practice the students heard A.E. Bird lecture them on outdoor safety. Bird, who is a teacher at their school, is also the provincial Emergency Program Coordinator for this area.

Weeks said a number of the teachers have experience in outdoor activities and the whole project is planned to link with various school disciplines.

All they are hoping for is good weather!

PLACER TO DEVELOP MINE NEAR SQUAMISH

Maggie Mines Limited has announced the signing of an option agreement covering its copper/lead/zinc prospect near Squamish, B.C.

President Harold Hopkins said that Placer Development Limited has agreed to participate in exploration of the property with a program which could amount to approximately $1 million.

Placer has the option of acquiring 65% to 70% of the issued shares of Maggie Mines Limited if it makes a production commitment before December 31, 1981.

Canarim Investment has committed to underwrite the sale of 250,000 shares at 60 cents a share less commission and has a 90-day option covering an additional 100,000 shares at 70 cents a share.

Maggie's geologist, Dr. R.H. Seraphim, states the environment is typical of that associated with volcanogenic deposits.

Flying club holds annual fly-in on Sunday

On Sunday, May 26, the Squamish Chapter of the Experimental Aircraft Association and the Squamish Flying Club co-hosted some 40 visiting aircraft from the lower mainland, Vancouver Island and the North Coast.

This was the second annual Fly-In and Poker Run and with the weatherman providing a break, the day got off to a roaring start with the arrival of Evergreen's VS-64 Sikorsky Sky-Crane.

This monster is working on a logging operation just north of Squamish and the Flying Club was most appreciative of the operators for moving to the airport especially for the Fly-In.

The S-64 first flew in 1962 and went into service with the U.S. Army as one of the largest helicopters in the world in 1964. Also present was the Highland Helicopters Jet Ranger flown in courtesy of the operators.

With the aid of retired CAF controller Jerry Cotter at the unicom, the visiting aircraft began an orderly assault to the municipal airport. During the Fly-In there was also the normal arrivals and departures of non-participating aircraft.

The aircraft of Ken E. Petersen, Ken L. Peterson, Jim McEvoy and the Flying Club were kept busy giving about 50 free rides to the public.

A draw for eight rides to view the Mamquam Glacier courtesy of Garibaldi Tours Ltd. was held. Bill Sadler held the lucky hand here having his name drawn three times. It was reported that Dave Hinds and Al McIntosh, two local notables were seen being dragged to the aircraft for their ride. Ron Banner, the pilot, reported no attempted hi-jacks.

Ian Moretti, Darrel McNutt and Owen Carney gave a demonstration as a prelude to Loggers Sports Day which follows in August.

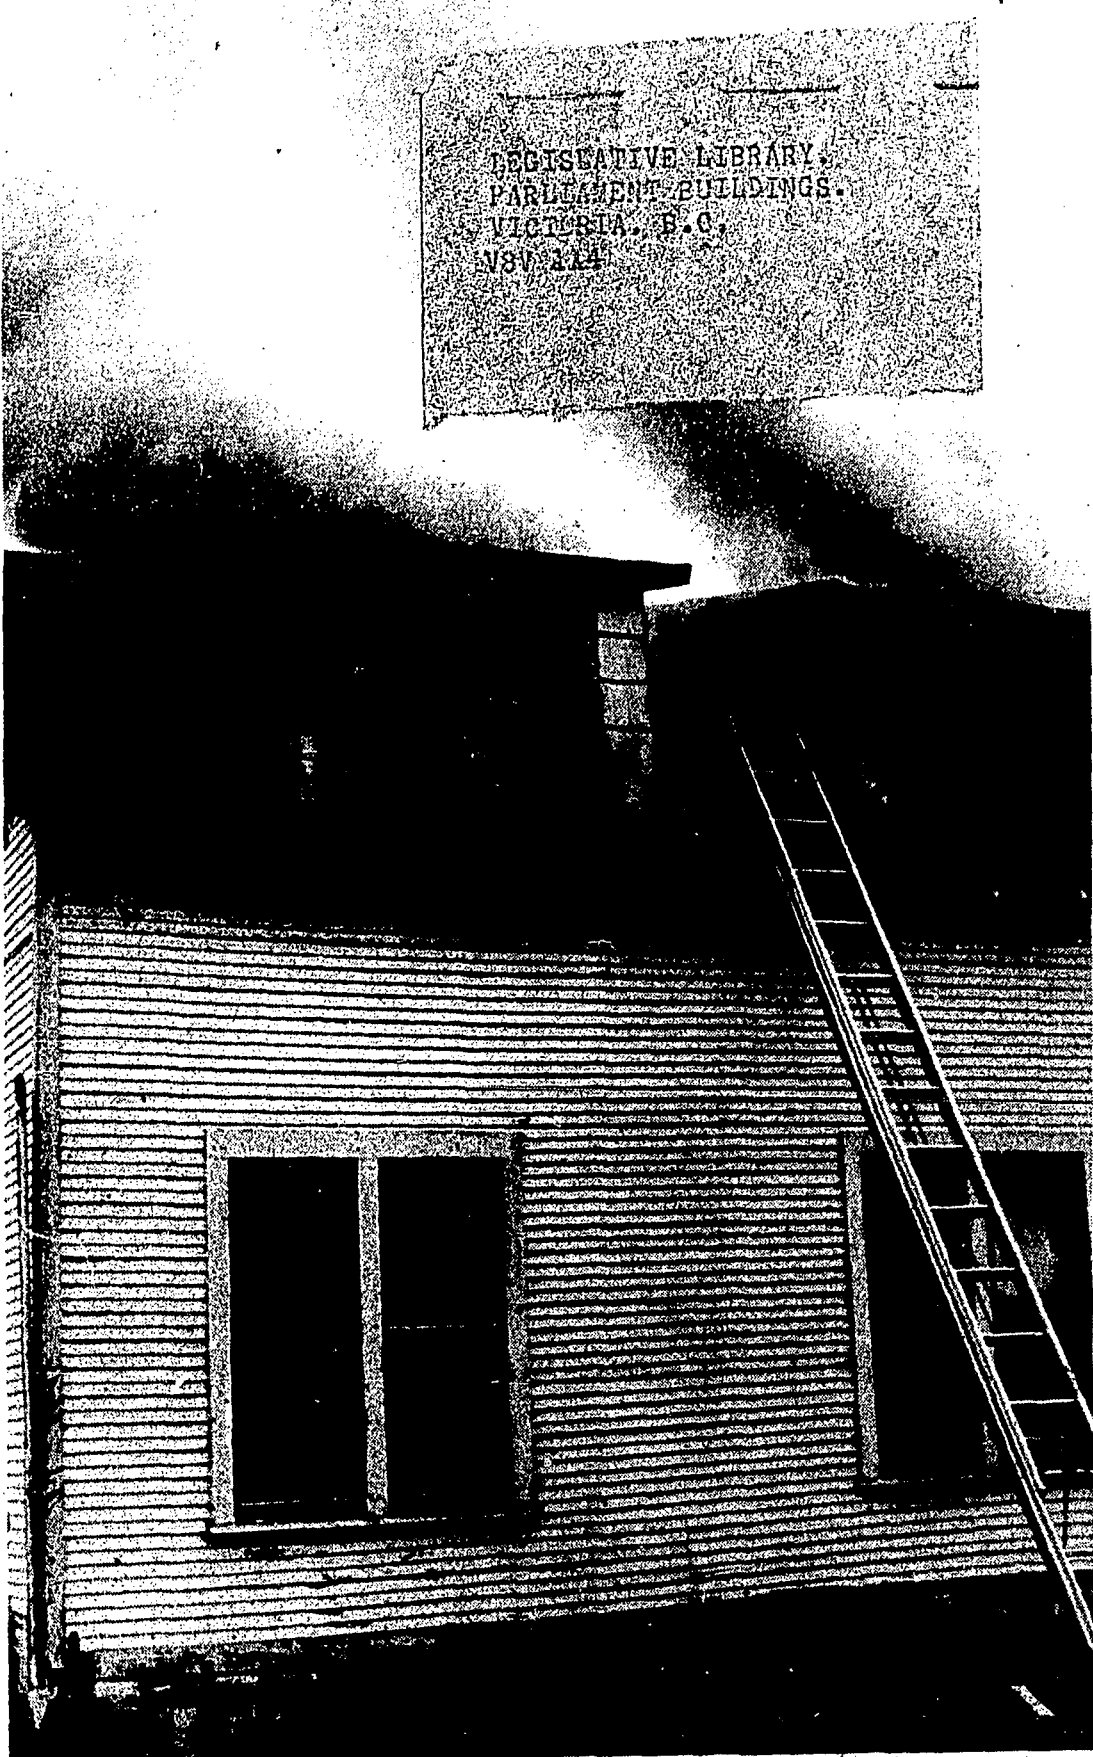

After a meal of fried chicken, beans and potato salad, prepared by E.A.A. president Bob Jones and the members' wives, the pilots began an orderly departure, back to their home base.

The winner of the best poker hand took home $60; the second best hand $40; and an 11-year-old female co-pilot, third and $20. The pilot that flew in with the best looking home-built aircraft was presented with a chair carved from an alder log by Brian Couturier.

Next Sunday is a Pancake Breakfast in Nanaimo at the Cassidy Airport and this flying fun goes on until October.

The organizers wish to thank the general public for their orderly conduct, the commercial operators and demonstrators for providing a fun day for all.

Smoke billows out of the attic of this building on Government Road, set afire during the Arson Seminar when those attending saw how to detect traces of arson left after a fire. Later the building was burned by the fire department.

Fire Chief Doug Orser with Dan Lemieux, Inspector I.C.P.B., at the Arson Seminar held in Squamish on May 25 and 26.

Council Briefs

At the regular meeting of Council on May 23, with all members present, council favourably received a suggestion from developer Pat Goode requesting that the municipality ask the Squamish-Lillooet Regional District to make application to the provincial government for inclusion in those areas qualifying for DREE grants.

The DREE program was instituted by the provincial government to provide financial incentives to new industries locating within chosen districts.

UBCM

An invitation to attend the 75th Annual Convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities in Penticton, B.C., September 20 to 22 was received, however, no alderman indicated a desire to attend.

CAPILANO COLLEGE

Council denied a request from Capilano College regarding approval for the temporary occupancy of the main building at the old Forestry Centre site prior to connection of the sewer line which is planned along with the re-development of the site.

"As you know, our request for funds to develop the site is now in the hands of the Ministry of Education. Funds for the sewer connection form part of that request," wrote Lalit M. Srivastava, chairman of the college board.

"Our educational plan would be to run exactly the same program at the Forestry Centre as last year, i.e., our BTSD vocational program. This puts a maximum of 16 to 18 students plus two instructors on the site at any one time."

"There were no problems with the septic tank this last year and the Health Inspector, Mr. Gordon Mowat, has informed our planner, Alan Smith, that he has no objections from a health point of view to the continuation of this limited use," Srivastava added.

However, council was informed that the Health Inspector had changed his mind and was now recommending sewer hookup prior to any further use of the building.

With the exception of Alderman Rose Tatlow, who opposed the motion, council agreed that the college should be required to complete the connection before going ahead with any programs on the site.

Museums on wheels visit Squamish and Pemberton

Museums on wheels, one of the displays of the National Museum of Canada, featuring the Atlantic provinces will be in Squamish and Pemberton next week.

Arriving in Squamish tonight, the museum caravan will be open to the public at 9 a.m. with a closure for one hour at noon and from 5 to 6 p.m. will be open till 9 p.m. tomorrow and Friday. On Saturday it will be open from 9 to 6 with an hour off at noon. It will be located on the Overwater parking lot.

The caravan will then move to Pemberton where it will be open to the public on the Signal Hill Elementary School grounds on Tuesday and Wednesday. Tuesday hours will be from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. and on Wednesday it will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. with an hour off at noon.

The Atlantic Provinces have arrived in British Columbia. Atlantic Canada, a Museumobile produced by the National Museums of Canada, is beginning its travels across the country to bring to Canadians everywhere the story of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland. The Museumobile explores the relationship between man and the sea and traces the geological, social, economic and cultural development of the four Atlantic provinces.

Third in a series of travelling museums created by the National Museums of Canada in cooperation with the provinces and territories, Atlantic Canada carries museum artifacts and displays to communities which are not otherwise served by major museums and galleries: one more example of the way the National Museums' policy of decentralization and democratization is being pursued.

The museums on wheels, each of which describes a specific region or province, consist of three 8'x45' self-contained trailers designed for the exhibit of artifacts, dioramas and specimens.

Museumobile caravans tour the country for 45 weeks a year, each attracting an average of 85 visitors per viewing hour. The caravans, constructed to withstand severe climates, are assembled in their distinctive U-shaped configuration at each new site in just 1 1/2 hours, and dismantled in a similarly brief period. The mobile museums can be set up in school yards, playgrounds, shopping centres, community centres and parks. They also visit senior citizens' homes, correctional institutions and summer exhibitions. The Museumobiles are carried on flatcars to remote communities, accessible only by rail.

The first Museumobile

Canada North, opened in Margaree Forks, Cape Breton, in January, 1973 and a second, Canada West, was completed in the spring of 1976; together, they have attracted almost one million visitors. The new Museumobile, Atlantic Canada, opened in Victoria on February 18, 1977.

The National Museums of Canada hopes to produce other museumobiles dealing with Pacific Canada and the central provinces within three or four years.

INJURED NURSE WALKS OUT FROM DIAMOND HEAD

Nancy Letherby, a nurse who was injured while in the Diamond Head area, managed to walk out, with assistance, after spending a night in the cabin there, Parks department people reported this week.

The incident occurred on May 26 when Letherby phoned from the park building which she had entered, to say she had injured her leg and was unable to come out without assistance.

Park supervisor Jim Delikatny and assistant Al Jenkins attempted to get a helicopter to go in but the weather was too bad to permit this so Jenkins went in, arriving late that evening.

By next morning she and a companion were able to come out with assistance.

Board hears report on visit to special school

School trustees of Howe Sound School District No. 48 heard a very interesting report by Rainer Schwartz, on a visit to a special school, The Maples, where he spent four weeks studying behaviour modification.

The school, which is operated by the Ministry of Education, invites special education teachers to attend for sessions and the local board heard there was an opportunity to send a teacher to the Maples for the four-week session. They were delighted to send one, and Mr. Schwarz report was the result of that visit.

District superintendent of schools said the board had to find a substitute to take Mr. Schwarz place while he was absent and pay the transportation and other expenses while he was at the school but stated that he felt the knowledge and skills obtained would be well worth the monies expended.

Maglio added that he hoped some of these skills and methods could be passed on to the other teachers in the district for the benefit of children who have learning problems.

In his report, Schwarz said he was very impressed with the materials and programs which are used in working with these children who have problems. Some of the problems are lack of attention, inability to concentrate and complete tasks, disruption of classes and other behavioural problems.

Schwarz spoke about tests and stated that he doubted the validity of many tests; claiming there is a weakness to testing. Family therapy plays a large part in behaviour studies; it helps to contact parents when things are going well so that the child doesn't feel that you only get in touch with his parents when things are bad and he is in trouble!

"Much of behaviour modification is breaking behaviour down into categories," Schwarz said. "Classify them, is it tapping the desk, talking, making unnecessary noises, or some other form of class disruption?"

"When I discovered that the system for handling these problems seemed to be a type of reward system I was surprised but it made sense. It worked on a point system, with a system of rewards for tasks. If the child did something constructive that was so many points and the points could be totalled for something which would make the child want to do what you wished him to do in order to obtain something he desired.

"The ultimate objective," Schwarz said, "is shifting to self-management."

He pointed out that there were many problems, which could be used; some for readers and non-readers, using happy faces or thermometers to show a child's progress.

The programs could work for a child at home as well as at school with certain tasks set out and certain points designated for completing these tasks. There could then be a special reward if the child acquires a certain number of points.

Education supervisor Trevor Harris was very interested in the report and District Superintendent of Schools Gene Maglio said he hoped the knowledge which Schwarz had gained would be of benefit to the district.

Outdoor School committee presents first report

The committee, headed by R. Elvin Gordon, which was requested to prepare a report listing the terms of reference for the co-ordinator of outdoor education presented the report to the board at last week's meeting and this will be studied.

Discussion on the outdoor school led to a statement by District Superintendent of Schools Gene Maglio that "Outdoor education should emanate and be initiated at the school level. Parents should work with local schools and the outdoor school should be an extension of the classroom. This is necessary for it to be successful."

Trustee Betty Shore stated that "everyone seems to have the feeling that the outdoor school is going to disappear and I'm convinced that it will be used as much or more than it has been in the past."

Trustee Paul Burrows added that "I don't think we ever considered dropping the outdoor school or that it would not be the main facility."

In reference to a query about whether the Kamloops school idea would be adopted Shore said that "we all think our school and its programs are better than the Kamloops one."

Trustee Bob McCormick said "We're going to monitor it very closely. If it shows a considerable drop we'll have to take a good look at the program."

Trustee Jim MacDonald added "We don't intend to drop the school. But this is the first review we've had in three years and we'll probably have another one three years from now."

Principal John Hughes of the Howe Sound Secondary School said that "The interest in the Coast Mountain Outdoor School has never been higher. The mere possibility of closure created such an uproar that there has never been so much interest. I have two teachers who are eager to work on programs for the outdoor school."

Several parents attended the meeting to hear what was being done and asked a number of questions concerning the future of the school.

Trustee Betty Shore suggested that perhaps a parents advisory group should be formed to work with the Outdoor School similar to that formed to work with some of the other schools in the district.

Many countries take part in International Festival

Many countries are participating in the International Festival this year and while there is really no space available for any more, any countries wishing to take part next year should contact the chairman of the festival committee, Theresa Summerskill.

Already actively working on this year's program are representatives of Canada, the native Indians, New Zealand, England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland, South Africa, the Caribbean countries, India, Mexico and Latin America, Japan, Hawaii, Fiji, Sweden, Norway, Italy, Holland, Austria and Germany.

Many of the countries are planning to have samples of food to offer to those who visit their booths on the three days of the festival; Friday, June 30; Saturday, July 1 and Sunday, July 2. Others are planning to have more elaborate food displays and food for sale so be prepared to try some different and exotic foods during the three day event.

Do any of you remember the beautiful East Indian food that was available at the first festival held in Squamish? Or the gorgeous sandwiches and cake that were available at the German display in last year's festival? That's just an example of what one can expect when cooks from these different countries start showing what they can do.

A new concept this year will be the addition of the sector for Canada, the Yukon and some paintings and sketches by Squamish's own artist, Mark Armstrong.

The International Festival Committee is looking forward to representing the festival under one roof for the three day period at the end of June and beginning of July and hopes that people will find it more interesting and informative, and that more people will be able to spend more time looking at the various exhibits.

Few accidents during past week

There were very few accidents during the past week with a single car one at Brunswick Beach on May 26 the most serious. In this accident James Cessford of Vancouver, travelling north, skidded on the wet pavement and crossed the road, hitting the rock wall, causing damages to his vehicle amounting to $7,000. He was charged with driving without due care and attention.

On May 26th at the corner of Cleveland Ave. and Pemberton Road in downtown Squamish a two car collision involved vehicles driven by Roy Bell and Heather Pattullo, both of Squamish. Pattullo was turning left off Pemberton while Bell was proceeding south. She was charged with failing to yield at an intersection.

On May 24th at the bridge just north of Mons on Highway 99, there was an accident involving a pickup driven by Douglas Grant of Burnaby and a dump truck driven by Gordon Blackstock of Pemberton. Grant's fibreglass canopy broke loose and struck the vehicle driven by Blackstock.

Rising education costs . . . whose fault?

Just who is to blame for rising educational costs? When you look at the figures in British Columbia which show that in the past five years spending has increased by 113.6 percent while teaching staffs have increased 14 percent and there has been a four percent drop in enrolment.

To add to the confusion the B.C. government has reduced its share of school costs by 20 percent and the local school boards have been forced to pick up the difference.

Taxpayers are the losers but nobody wants to accept the blame for the situation which has seen school taxation take a bigger bite than ever out of the taxpayers' wallet.

And whatever happened to the government that was going to remove school taxes from residential property?

Gross expenditures for school districts in B.C. in 1973 were $530.3 million; there were 548,999 students and 24,585 teachers. This year there are 527,771 students, 20,228 less than five years ago and 28,390 teachers, 3,805 more than five years ago and the costs are expected to be $1.13 billion; $599.7 million more than five years ago or more than double.

And five years ago the provincial government paid 60 percent of the local school budget costs and left the districts to raise the rest. This time the figures are reversed.

The government's reduced contribution means the school districts have to raise an additional $226.5 million this year and the homeowner grant, intended to ease the burden of education taxes, has not been raised in three years.

The BCSTA says that is the main reason for higher education costs to the municipalities despite what Education Minister Pat McGeer says. Earlier this year the BCSTA claimed McGeer's comments about school board budgets growing rapidly despite dwindling enrolment was "biased and incomplete".

BCTF officials claim that costs such as heating and lighting as well as busing, are fixed and cannot be reduced. They are also rising.

Teacher salaries, the main component of school board operating budgets, have increased 56 percent in the past five years. But, according to Statistics Canada, the average industrial-sector salary in B.C. has increased 63 percent in the same period.

While everybody is arguing about who is to blame for the rise in school costs, there's no doubt about who is paying for it. That's the taxpayer. But municipal governments are caught in the middle; blamed by the taxpayers for something that's beyond their control and often forced to curtail needed municipal spending because of the need for financing education.

It's ironic to find that B.C., one of Canada's richest provinces, finds the government contributing less to education than all but two other provinces and those are in the poverty stricken Maritimes.

Easing the debt burden

In Geneva, the rich industrialized nations of the world have been discussing one of the great issues of our time — how to ease the debt burdens of some of the poorest countries on earth. One of the awkward features about the indebtedness of these developing countries is the frequent confusion about the size of the amount owed, and what kind of debt has been contracted by which countries.

Although this is somewhat of an oversimplification, it is fair to say that according to the United Nations and the World Bank, the debts owed by all developing countries to the rich world will surpass the staggering figure of $300 billion some time next year. Statistics indicate that the debt burden has been growing by more than 25% annually in recent years. The outstanding official debt of the 29 poorest and least developed countries was less than $7 billion in 1975 — but brought interest and capital payments of about $500 million. Yet the $500 million was the equivalent of a whole month's imports for the poorest 29.

Now there is some hope of relief at last. Canada, Switzerland, the Netherlands and Sweden have led the way by writing off some of the outstanding loans to the poorest nations. West Germany is ready to convert some of its Third World loans into gifts. Britain is seriously considering forgiving much of its official debt to the very poor nations.

Although commercial bankers tend to have nightmares about the more than $50 billion they have lent to the less developed countries between 1973 and 1976, they can really sleep soundly. It is unlikely that even the poorest countries will allow themselves to be led down the slippery slope to mass cancellation of debts and default. This would hardly be in their interest.

But the fact is that if the richer governments can see their way clear to help the economies of the very poorest by writing off the official debts, they will be on the way to recovery. The explosion in the poor world debt stems largely from the $10 billion increase in the annual oil bill the poor nations have had to meet during the past four years. Canada and a few other affluent nations have shown the way. It is now up to the United States, Japan, West Germany and other well-to-do countries to follow suit and to join a global effort to ease the burdens of the poor.

To help feed the world

An ever-present nightmare in South Asia and Southeast Asia is a dwindling supply of rice in the face of multiplying populations. Now a body known as the Trilateral Commission has put forward a plan to make the countries of this region self-sufficient in riches within one and a half decades. The scheme is not cheap. It will cost an estimated $54 billion.

The Trilateral Commission — so called because it is composed of an independent group of experts from the United States, Western Europe and Japan — says the plan should work. With the co-operations of dozens of governments and international agencies, the plan aims to double rice production in South and Southeast Asia to about 320 million tons by 1993. This would satisfy the needs of the 1.7 billion people who will be living in the area by the early 1990's.

The expansion of rice production can be attained by improved irrigation, more help for small farmers and by encouraging independent technological development in the countries of the region, according to members of the Trilateral Commission. The scheme would require increased aid to Asian countries from Western governments, world food bodies, the private sector and Eastern European nations. A large part of the needed finance hopefully will come from oil-rich Arab nations.

The future of humanity depends more than anything on the adequate supply of food. Some agricultural experts may consider the Trilateral Commission's plan too ambitious. Other critics have attacked it as a capitalist plot to undermine the Chinese model which urges all countries to depend on their own resources and not on aid. They see the industrialized Western nations as merely seeking new markets for agricultural equipment and fertilizer. But in fact the Trilateral Commission is following a moral and not a materialistic aim.

Without a concerted attempt by nations to give all the peoples of the world an adequate supply of food, we cannot rest easily. And even with a $54 billion plan, most of the resources for a doubling of rice production would come from the nations of the regions. It is an imaginative scheme — a costly scheme perhaps — but certainly an experiment that must be tried.

A tense scene just after the arrival of Det. Sgt. Trotter at the scene of the action in The Mousetrap with Roger Allen as Trotter holding the skis he used to arrive on during the snowstorm. In the rear are Giles (David Crowther), Mollie (Pauline Allen), Paravicini (Dean Dunk), Major Metcalf (Bob Owen) and Christopher Wren (Dave Colwell).

Book review

Looking back with Earl Baity

By FRED CLARKE

"I Remember Chilako" is another treat for those who are interested in the personal reminiscences of the early pioneers. Many will remember Mr. Baity's previous book "Wilderness Welfare" in which he described the struggles of a young couple with small children to eke out a livelihood in the wilderness west of Quesnel. His new book takes the reader back to a two-year period from 1920 to 1922 in the Prince George area.

Earl Baity was a 12-year-old boy when his parents, brother Claude, and sisters Hattie and May, came to Prince George from Idaho by way of Victoria and Alberta. The town was undergoing an upheaval; the coming of the Grand Trunk Railway had shifted the population from Central Fort George and South Fort George to the site of the present city. In spite of the boom, town life was not for Mr. Baity Sr.; he was in search of land available for pre-emption and a trapline. The former would provide food for the family and the latter the money necessary for the care of his family. Along with fishing and hunting there should be plenty for all of them.

To Earl Baity with his love of the outdoors this promised a wonderful life; perhaps he would not even have to go to school! With his father he went in search of land; an ideal location was found at the junction of the Chilako River and Dahl Creek where the flat meadow with its encircling hills entranced the boy. They spent a busy summer putting up hay; finding a place for the family to live until a house could be built and setting out the trapline. This was all wonderful for Earl!

In spite of the isolation there were exciting moments, even a murder witnessed by two boys who lived nearby (nearly referring to anyone within 20 miles). There was intermittent schooling for Earl but when farm chores became a burden on his mother and brother Claude while his father was out on the trapline, Earl came home to help. Fortunately a very wise teacher, Jean McClarty, had inspired in the boy a love of good reading; he sent books to the distant home to foster this love.

And so the time passed; by March of 1921 the new home was ready and the family settled in for the summer. Now clearly the author remembers those two years at Dahl Creek! With his love of the outdoors and the wilderness surrounding him, his alert mind absorbed a wealth of useful knowledge. The building of a canoe amazed Claude who could not understand how a canoe could be hidden in a poplar log; even when finished more work was needed before it would float.

Trapping has always tested man's resourcefulness and knowledge of the ways of wild animals; Earl's days on the trapline with his father were a pleasure for him even when the tent leaked or the intense cold pierced the very marrow of their bones. Getting lost, however, was not quite so pleasant. Although Earl was accustomed to trapping for a living and shooting for food it was a sad day when he caught the silver fox. The dream of capturing it burst like a bubble and he wished that he could breathe life into the still body. But the money from the pelt did help to pay the bills when Claude broke his leg.

When Jack Yergeau fired Father Baity's enthusiasm by his description of the untapped area at the head of the Nazko River, Earl wondered if they would move. Earl himself fostered the move by means of a fire he and Harry Dhyman had lit under a spruce tree while trapping earlier in the spring. The fire had smoldered all spring and into the first heat of summer; the ensuing fire all but destroyed the Baity's labours. Only a shift in the wind saved the home buildings. This was all Father Baity needed; it was "on to the Nazko" west of the busy town of Quesnel, the terminus of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway!

This book should appeal to young people as well as older ones who can remember experiences similar to those Earl Baity describes. These were a breed of people who made it on their own, who got by with the produce of the ground and the forest and whose resourcefulness kept them alive and well in the face of great difficulties. They were a hardy breed!

If you can recall the early 20's you will enjoy reliving them with Earl Baity; if you are too young, find out what life in the interior was like in those days; the experience will be well worthwhile!

Editor, The Times:

Education finance is a highly complex matter, often leading to frustration and concern by those who have to foot the bill. Your editorial of April 5 reflects both frustration and concern but ignores the fact that educating children cannot be equated to building sidewalks or paving streets. Both are important and both needs must be met. It is a matter of how the objectives are achieved.

School boards are keeping costs down and Howe Sound is no exception. It might in fact be argued that in spite of increasing costs, more money should be spent to meet all the needs of the district's children. Howe Sound in 1977 was slightly above the provincial average in its spending per pupil — $1,716 compared to $1,654 provincially; making this district 29 out of 75.

This modest dollar difference should be a matter of some pride in view of the fact that, to quote one study, "as expenditures increase, so does the quality of education." Obviously, some of the costs are related to the nature of the district and the size and location of schools.

This year's total mill rate covers modest but necessary increases in several areas. It should be noted that the district has no control over:

1. the basic tax on property owners levied by the provincial government (39.75 mills); or
  2. college costs, amounting this year to well over 2 mills.
- In view of these figures, it is hard to blame the school board for costs that are beyond their control, just as the soaring cost of food and fuel seem to be out of the consumer's power to regulate.

From 1971 to 1977 costs in real dollars have risen from $807 to $1,070 in the Howe Sound District, somewhat below the provincial average. During that time, services to pupils have been substantially improved, some class sizes have gone down, and children for the most part are learning under more favorable conditions than formerly. Even at that, 44 of 75 districts have a better pupil/teacher ratio than our own.

We need more and better resources in the public school system; we must provide for the special needs of all pupils to compensate for learning disabilities faced by so many children.

I think teachers are doing their utmost to provide our children with the best possible education for the dollars expended.

There is no doubt, however, as you so well point out, that the provincial government is pushing more of the costs of education onto the local taxpayer while raiding the treasury to provide over $9 million to help finance private, restrictive schools.

On behalf of the Canadian Red Cross Society and the Blood Transfusion Services, I would like to thank you for the excellent coverage in the Squamish Times of the blood donor clinic held March 22, 1978.

The total of 169 donors attended the clinic which is a valuable contribution to this vital public service.

We have tentatively scheduled our next clinic to be held in Squamish on Tuesday, August 1, 1978. Mrs. Miriam Thompson, Organizer, will be in contact with you regarding this clinic at a later date when the details are arranged.

We, the Foster Parents of Squamish would like to take this opportunity to thank the Kinsmen and Lions Clubs and other interested people for extending a helping hand when needed. There will be a write-up on the Foster Parent Week along with pictures taken at the office and the banquet for next week's paper.

The members of the Chemainus Secondary School Band would like to extend their thanks and appreciation to the families who so generously opened their homes to them during their recent trip here.

A special thanks to Mr. Grant Wilson (H.S.S. Band Director) for his efforts in finding us billets and providing opportunities for us to play concerts. It was a memorable trip.

B. Peterson, Band Director Chemainus Secondary School

Editor, The Times:

Reunion '78 was a great success. It surpassed all our expectations. Many old friends became reacquainted, which made the effort so worthwhile.

There are some who deserve much credit in bringing this about. Judy Poole, Janice Wickstrom, Elaine Hunter, Judy Horth and Lynda Patrick worked very hard tracking down classmates and teachers, also in planning our banquet, dance and picnic.

The evening would not have been as much fun without our emcee Rick Hunter who did a tremendous job. Thanks also to Roy Crowston Sr., who said Grace, to the teachers and Sonnie Rennie for their kind words. To Mrs. Hilda Fairbanks for bringing greetings from the school board; to Alderman Rose Tatlow who welcomed everyone on behalf of the council; to the parents who attended, to John Hurren and Sherry West who were kept very busy.

The Legion ladies outdid themselves on our smorgasbord. The band — Leftover — was great. Thanks go to Diamond Head Motors for donating the ice, to Dusty Rhodes for taking our picture at the picnic and to Mr. Al Bird for conducting a tour through the high school. Last but not least a big thanks to all who attended. Without you it could not have been so rewarding.

Having been in the unique position of being a very minor member of the cast of the recent production of "The Mousetrap", which also permitted me to be a member of the audience, I would like to congratulate both the director and her staff, and the cast, on a very fine performance.

The stage set and furnishings were really most professional.

From my personal experience, I know how much hard work and dedication is involved, in this case, for only four performances. The London production, as you are doubtless aware, has been running for 26 years, and is still going strong.

I would urge all concerned, to consider a repeat run, sometime this fall, in the new Civic Centre, possibly as the premiere stage production.

The Mousetrap catches and keeps the audience's attention

By ROSE TATLOW

Agatha Christie's play "The Mousetrap" presented for four nights last week by the Howe Sound Drama Club, has set a high standard for any future production by the club.

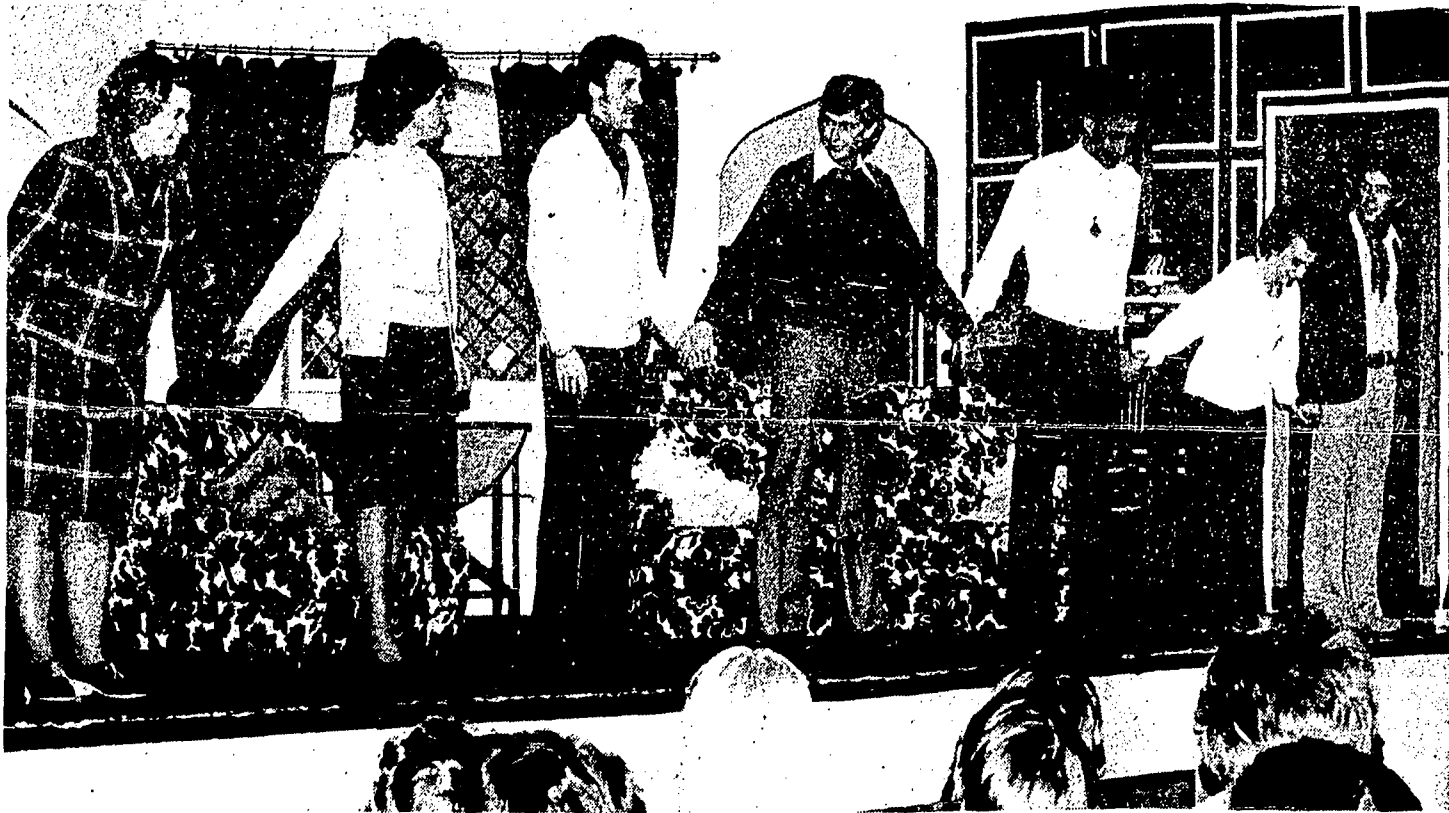

The selection of the play, a long time favorite on the London stage, with its continually confusing clues regarding the identity of the murderer and the constant shifting of suspicion from one character to another kept the audience guessing right to the end.

It was very well cast with Pauline Allen as Mollie Ralston the young wife who has just opened a guest house with her husband Giles, played by David Crowther; David Colwell as a scatty architect Christopher Wren; Louise Brygadyr as the upper class "lady" who continually finds fault with everything; Bob Owen as a pipe smoking army major very much the military type; Audrey Owen as Miss Caswell, a mysterious woman back in England on a mission; Dean Dunk as the foreigner who is too obvious to be the murderer and Roger Allen as Detective Sergeant Trotter.

To complicate matters there's a heavy snowstorm and the cast is unable to leave the house even though there is a murderer in their midst.

From the time Pauline Allen steps into the room in the opening scene till the curtain drops, there's sustained action and director Sheila Haffey kept the play moving along at a rapid pace but without losing any of its effect.

The play, which deals with an oddly assorted group of people assembled in a guest house outside London and trapped there by a snowstorm, contains a murderer. A woman has been murdered in the city and the roots of the murder lie in a case of neglect and cruelty towards three children with one of them dying. This occurred some years before and Mrs. Boyle had been the magistrate who had given the children to the woman and her husband to take care of.

Detective Sgt. Trotter, played by Roger Allen, appears to be the picture of dejection in this scene from last week's production of "The Mousetrap".

She is murdered at the end of the first act and one of the remaining people has to be the murderer. In turn each of the people is suspected of having some connection with the children and seeking revenge. In the end the murderer is unmasked as the detective and all the suspicious acts are explained.

On stage throughout practically the whole play Pauline Allen had a heavy part and played it well. Particularly enjoyable was the bit where she flared at Mrs. Boyle, played by Louise Brygadyr, whose "witchiness" was enough to drive the most even tempered hostess to an angry retort.

David Colwell's pelasure in his nursery rhymes, his obvious affection and his delight in the more gruesome aspects of the events, as well as his fear of the police, were exceptionally well done and he was excellent in his part.

Bob Owen as Major Metcalf, whose military background made him suspect (the father of the children had been a soldier) but who turned out to be the real detective after all, was precise and clipped, pipe smoking and terse, just as you'd imagine him to be.

David Crowther as the husband, Giles, possessive and annoyed by turns, upset at his wife's appeal for other men, and resenting it, capably handled his part while Dean Dunk's foreign intonation and manners, accented by the diamond earring and his fondness for the ladies, was delightful. His sense of the macabre, his pleasure in picking out the tune "Three Blind Mice" and his delight in baiting the policeman, were very well done.

Audrey Owen, in a part which demanded a lot of control but which was very important to the development of the plot, was her usual excellent self and gave a fine performance.

But it was Roger Allen as Det. Sgt. Trotter who dominated the play from the time he appeared at the window during a snowstorm until he was led off the stage by his sister. There were clues which indicated he might be the murderer, but in an Agatha Christie play, it's hard to guess just who it is.

His part was heavy and called for a great deal of action; bullying and cajoling by turns; changing his style and technique but he never failed. It was a surprise to the audience when he finally turned out to be the murderer.

Adding much to the pleasure of the play were the beautiful sets, designed and made by Bill Allen, who also was in charge of the lighting.

Helping in the production were Sharon Erickson who was in charge of the props; Liz Salter the prompter; Lee Wagner who did the makeup; Jamie Lindsay, Roger Allen and Elizabeth Crowther who arranged and played the music; Kevin Gilmour, the go-for; Alison Colwell who was in charge of tickets and Peg Tiney, Maureen Gilmour, Evelyn Dawson and Doreen Ramus, who took care of the refreshments.

Sheila Haffey handled all the publicity for the play as well as producing it. And last but not least, those British tones on the radio were the well-modulated one of L.C. Minchin who filled in as the B.B.C. announcer.

Pauline Allen seems very confused as she undergoes interrogation by Det. Sgt. Trotter in a scene in The Mousetrap.

Council Briefs

Payroll

Deputy Clerk Bill Bloxham was appointed temporary signing officer during the payroll period on May 31 when Treasurer David White and Administrator Stan Kary will be attending a conference in Quesnel. Bloxham and Mayor Brennan will sign the payroll cheques for the final period in this month.

Landscaping

A landscaping proposal presented by Parks and Recreation Director Maurice Farn for the grounds of the Civic Centre was turned down because committee members Manson, Tatlow, Cunningham and Building Inspector Bill Allen felt the flat plane design did not enhance the Centre.

The committee recommendation to go back to the original plan of a competition for a design from BCIT and UBC students was accepted by council on the premise that the more design criteria reviewed, the greater the chance of an acceptable design.

Squamish Hardware

A Planning and Design Committee approval of a proposed Squamish Hardware design for a new facade and canopy was also accepted by council.

Squamish Hardware owners plan to update the appearance of their store front with the addition of a Squamish rock facade and cedar shaked mansard style roof.

Water Safety Week

Recognizing the need to increase public awareness in the area of water safety, council agreed to proclaim the week of June 5 to 11 National Red Cross Water Safety Week in Squamish.

They decided against paying for any advertising connected with such a proclamation.

Hard work and lots of practice is paying off for Ronda Rosser who, in the past year has increased her personal best in the high jump from 1.68m to 1.75m.

"It was 1.71m one week in Vancouver," she said in an interview last week, "and the following week it was 1.75m at the Vancouver relays."

She added that the 1.71m was a meet record.

Ronda, who competes for the Howe Sound Secondary School and who has also been a member of the Vancouver Olympic Club for the past three years, is now training three hours a day; one hour in the morning and two after school.

"I started this training last fall with John Gilmour coaching me," she said, "and it has really paid off. I can't praise Mr. Gilmour too highly for what he is doing because he has worked very hard and he's making me work hard as well."

"Mr. Hotston, our P.E. teacher, also gives us a great deal of extra coaching," she added. "He drives the track team down to the school for practice every morning at 7 a.m."

In the recent inter-high track meet Ronda set three records; in the 100m, 200m and 100m hurdles and she also came first in the high jump and the long jump.

"The first three were my personal best times," Ronda explained.

She explained that one of the advantages of belonging to the VOC is that they have a club meet every weekend in Richmond and this gives them a chance to compete against each other in track meets.

Last year Ronda was the over-all champion in the girls' section of the Vancouver Olympic Club.

She is looking forward to competing this weekend in the provincial championships at Swangard Stadium on June 2 and 3, and is hoping to compete at meets in the United States this summer. Last year she was able to go to one track meet down there and found the experience valuable.

When asked about the possibility of competing in the Commonwealth Games she expressed the fear that she couldn't make the qualifications which were a jump of 1.80m.

But she is planning to go to Simon Fraser University this fall and to take up physical education and become a teacher. She also plans to continue with her track events and to run and jump for the Vancouver Olympic Club.

Her coach, John Gilmour, thinks she's "one of the ten best high jumpers in Canada" and has no doubts that she can become a future champion. "She could be the next Debbie Brill," Gilmour told the Times recently.

Ronda, who has always been interested in sports, says that it helps to come from a sports-oriented family.

"My parents both golf and jog," she said, "my sister Lynn was very active in sports while my three brothers, Myles, Ron and Rick all play soccer, baseball, football, golf and take part in track events."

Last year Myles starred in football and he also scored a hole in one on the golf course, emulating the example set by his brother Rick two years before.

Ronda's love of sports isn't confined to track and field events though. She is also active in volleyball, badminton and basketball and her studies don't suffer either.

But track events are her main interests right now and if you suddenly discover that we've got one of the best girl high jumpers in Canada in our midst don't be too surprised. She's been working for it for a long time.

Ronda Rosser, track and field star with Howe Sound Secondary and the Vancouver Olympic Club, who coach John Gilmour claims is one of the ten best high jumpers in Canada.

United B wins

By NICOLA CANDY
Squamish United B beat out the Sons of Norway A to win the final game of the 5-A-Side Tournament held at Centennial Field last Sunday.

Hosted by the Squamish United, the tournament which began at 10 a.m. had teams from the first, second, third, fourth and ninth divisions of the B.C. Soccer League participating.

Squamish had three teams: Squamish United A, Squamish United B and the Hotspurs. Each of the 15 teams played a minimum of three elimination games, followed by the quarter finals played by the teams who had won two out of three of the elimination games.

Successful teams in the quarter finals were: Squamish United B over Scandia; West Vancouver Rovers over Squamish United A; West Vancouver Trollers over Ambleside Blues and the Sons of Norway A over the North Shore Saints A.

In the semi-finals Squamish United B won over the West

Vancouver Rovers 3-1 while the Sons of Norway A beat out the West Van Trollers 4-0.

The consolation games were played next and the West Vancouver Trollers won against the West Vancouver Rovers to place third in the tournament.

The final game between United B and the Sons of Norway A was well played by both sides with the two teams racing against time as a 5-A-Side game only runs for 15 minutes with no overtime.

Squamish United B came out on top, with a 3-1 lead, winning the tournament.

Leading United B in goals was Mike Sweeney who scored a total of 10 throughout the tournament.

Playing for United B were: Mike Sweeney, Jim Schutz, Gary Ingram, Imre Sorban, Tony Lonergan, Doug Muir and Al Muir.

Squamish United celebrated over a victory dinner at Fergie's Lodge, one of their sponsors.

Foul Lines

By HOWARD HIEBERT

So the softball season has begun. May 15th, as a matter of fact. And here it is almost June and still no scores in the local media. I know, I know. In the back of your mind there is a still small voice that says, "Doesn't anybody care any more?"

But fear not, oh faithful fan, publication of those vital statistics is at hand.

Whether or not these data were worth of mention was never the question. Rather, it was difficulty with the style of presentation that caused the lapse. Trusted reporter was in possession of the final scores of the week, and then, with seeming disregard for the feelings of the faithful reader, spent the weekend peering moodily through the bottom of a never empty beer glass, in a vain attempt to discover the soul, the very essence of softball.

Perhaps the artistic geometry of the game is the centre of its appeal. The leather spheroid that was just made to dance through the air with all the agility of a gymnast. Diamond-shaped infield with the rectangular batter's box, and the whole playing field itself looking much the same as a giant slice of mom's apple pie.

Maybe I'm wrong, maybe softball, is more blood, sweat and tears, something more nitty gritty. (Latin, nittus grittus). Diamonds and dugouts. Sweating tension as the batter awaits the pitch. The peculiar chatter that the infield players use to keep themselves alert. The camaraderie of the dugout. Enthusiasm unbounded by petty constraints.

Not for the softball fan the military precision of football, or the frantic violence of hockey. Not for this fan the time limits imposed on other team sports. Softball is essentially a human game played by human people. I could discuss with you all afternoon the beauty of softball, but Marne Burnside, that luscious luminary of the sports page has set a deadline that even gallant persuaders such as myself cannot evade.

And now, for those hard-hearted data lovers here are the stony cold figures that represent the games to date. The scores are laid out in approximately the same order the games were played.

Do you ever "read" your Biodex in the Province newspaper? We get the paper at the office each morning and for fun check out our "luck" for the day. When backing out of the driveway last Wednesday morning I cut too sharply and in and out of the ditch I went — knocking over a garbage can on the way. It was great entertainment for the neighbours but it left me slightly rattled!!! My biodex for that day — "Danger could be lurking — don't take shortcuts!!!"

Renee and Mike Pocuca were pleased to have her sister Karen Amendt from Prince Rupert visiting for a few days last week.

Calling all Woodfibre Rayonier employees — "your" big golf tournament is planned for Saturday, June 24, at the Squamish Golf and Country Club. Please register with Jack Marshall at the Mill Stores before June 9.

The Hobbs family — Don, Carol, April, Anna Marie and Erik report they had a great time on their recent Hawaiian vacation.

Norm Foote, "the Raincoat Puppets" man, was home for the holiday weekend with his wife and little daughter. Norm has been in the Kootenays and Cache Creek, Salmon Arm districts with the puppet show and will continue on tour until the end of June.

Have you heard about the terrible problem they are having in Australia? Seems they decided to buy 5 million new boomerangs and they can't get rid of the old ones!!!

Dr. and Mrs. Laverne Kindree have returned home after their relaxing three week visit to Jamaica.

Thought for the Week — and think about it please: If we do not take time for health, then we are forced to take time for sickness.

Stork Story — DOUCET — Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Len Doucet on the birth of their first child, a son, Corey Leon, weighing 9 lbs. 11 ozs. and born in the Lions Gate Hospital on May 17. Proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lauckie MacMillan of Squamish and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Doucet of Squamish. Great grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Art Forbes of Langley and great-great-grandmother is Mrs. Bertha Larson of Surrey.

The District Elementary School Track Meet gets underway at 9:30 a.m. at the Howe Sound Secondary School track this Friday, June 2. Bet the kids would love to have lots of parent support. See you there!

A Montreal hockey fan — I'm not — but when they are the best (in the world?) for the third straight year what can you say — but "congratulations Canadiens". Well at least the Boston Bruins made a fight of it and a couple of the games provided great entertainment. And — the Canucks have another new coach!!!

Stork Story — LEUNG — John and Susanna Leung are pleased to announce the birth of their first child, a son, Benjamin Yee-Tung born in the Grace Hospital on May 18, weighing 7 lbs. 6 ozs. The baby's proud grandparents in Hong Kong are expected to arrive here in June for a visit.

Just another little reminder about the Flowers of Hope campaign. If you were not at home when a volunteer called, an envelope was left at your door. There is no returning address on the envelope but anyone wishing to give a donation is asked to drop it off at the post office and the staff will make sure it gets delivered to the proper box. Your donations go to the mentally and physically handicapped.

A "cheery" hello to Mr. and Mrs. Alex Muir here from Glasgow, Scotland, for a five week vacation with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Al Muir.

Camping in the Cariboo was a fine way to spend the Victoria Day weekend according to our "camping" editor Marlene Burnside. She was accompanied by her husband Herb, son Jesse and friends Gary Goodwin, Coral and Jim Henigan and son Jason and his faithful companion, Ole Shep, er... I mean Teddy.

The divorced logger's wife sniffed when anyone suggest ed that it was too bad that she didn't have a husband. "I have a dog that growls, a parrot that swears, a fireplace that smokes and a cat that stays out all night. Why should I want that damn logger back?" (Courtesy of the Journal of Logging Mag.)

It's birthday time for Brad Greffard, Bill Cyr, Mr. John Sobotka, Patricia Osterberg, Mrs. Jean Gunn, Gayle Keyes, Simon Dawe, David Prothero, Anne French, Bob Moloughney, Davina Bush, Ethel Robson, Karen Dudge, Josephine Pascuzzi, Sandy Biln, Russel Monds, Daniel Sargent, Nicki Confortin, Maurine Wright, Arthur Weeks, Daryl Zacharko, Jessie Meninger, Leigha Vinson, Debbie Steeves, Sigrid Schmich, Colleen Eaton, Tony Mameli, Brenda Gillis, Jesse Burnside, Kathryn MacKenzie, Jean Chin-napen, and Danny Baker.

LORRIE (POOLE) TRUDEAU

Bridal shower held for Lorrie Poole

A bridal shower in honour of Lorrie Poole (whose marriage to Marcelle Trudeau took place on May 13), was held at the home of Kay Wirachowsky on Friday, May 5th. Co-hostess was Lorraine Mawer.

The 30 ladies in attendance played a few games prior to Lorrie opening her gifts. She was assisted by her sister Maureen Berube and Donna Matheos while Gail Scully made an attractive hat from the multi-coloured ribbons and bows.

The get-together planned for retiring teacher Mrs. Nancy Hutchinson on Thursday, June 15, is open to anyone who would like to attend. The Parents' Group of Brackendale Elementary School would like to hear from anyone interested. Please call Mrs. Antosh at 898-3784 before June 10th.

I think anyone who attended The Mousetrap at the Mamquam School last weekend found it an excellent production with all members of the cast doing a fabulous job. Take a bow, director Sheila Haffey. There was one sad note however — the attendance. Squamish residents where were you??? In the four night presentation, under 500 people were in the audience!!!

Delegates to the N.D.P. convention held in Victoria on the holiday weekend, were Jim and Helen Lehman and Mick Suter.

Wedding anniversary greetings to Dr. and Mrs. Allan Lam, Dr. and Mrs. Laverne Kindree and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Burns.

The Squamish Community Services Society has its next meeting planned for a week tonight, Wednesday, June 7, when a presentation of programs and suggestions will be given. Anyone interested should be at the Howe Sound Curling Club at 8 p.m.

Mary-Anne Westlund had a wonderful time when she attended the National School Safety Patrol Jamboree in Ottawa last week. She and another young man from British Columbia had the honour of carrying the flags at a reception held in their honour. We are hoping to talk to Mary-Anne in the next few days as I'm sure she has many experiences to share with us.

Seniors Convention held in Cranbrook

By MARY BENNETT
The Senior Citizens Convention of B.C. was held May 15, 16 and 17 at Cranbrook with Fred Bennett attending as a delegate and myself as a visitor. I thought that a few highlights, mostly amusing, might be enjoyed as Mr. Bennett's report will not be given until June 20 Senior Citizen meeting in Squamish.

May 14 — Arrived Cranbrook about 3 p.m. and was advised that there was a smorgasbord dinner re Mothers Day, with special rates for senior citizens. It was "sumptuous" with beef, ham, oysters, scallops, salads and oodles of other "goodies" — and a long stemmed rose for each of the ladies.

May 15 — The regional delegates gave their reports. One gentleman having just become president of his group in Osoyoos, explained that as he had as yet only presided over one meeting was wondering if he had been railroaded into it being he was a man of the "cloth", name of Adams. He was nominated by a man named Christian, seconded by Bishop and having been given a lady vice president, a lady as second vice president and also a lady for secretary — he was wondering if they thought that seeing as the first "Adam" had made such a mess of things with only "one woman", maybe "three" would help him make a better job of it.

Mrs. Sayer, a councillor of Senior Citizens, spoke and told us of an episode that occurred on the ferry on her way to an affair in Nanaimo. She struck up an acquaintance with an elderly gentleman of 92. During their talk he told her that he had never had a holiday until he was age 80 — when he took a trip around the world. Since then he has been to Reno twice a year and on his last trip in February, the person he buys his ticket from said, "Ted I hear you are 92 this month." Ted answered "yep" and he was told "put your money away, this trip is on us, also the drink tickets." In Reno the bartenders heard it was his birthday and he was told "everything's on the house." To end this, she said Ted tried talking to another elderly man on the ferry — but to no avail. All he got was "hmphs", so in his mind he thought "live it up Ted, live it up," this guy should go to the undertaker, ask for a box his size and pull the lid down.

Mr. Clayton Moorhouse, District Supervisory Minister of Human Resources, Cranbrook, spoke to the convention, and in telling of his earlier days as a social worker in the north, he emphasized "cabin fever" — which can happen at any age, but especially to senior citizens living alone. He urged them to try and find an outlet for it. He gave a few stories as examples, and the following is one: He boarded with an elderly lady when in the North, and on returning home through a blizzard one evening, he found baking of every description and on every conceivable place, the table, chairs, dressers, etc. It startled him and he wondered who was going to eat it all. He

Parent meeting on tonight

There will be a meeting in Room A 104 in the high school tonight, Wednesday May 31 at 7:30 p.m. for those parents interested in forming a Parent Participation pre school in the Squamish area. A member of the Parent Participation Pre School Council of B.C. will be in attendance to offer information, assistance and advice.

Please come along if you are interested in helping to provide an enriched learning environment for your child and in having an opportunity for you as a parent to share in this experience.

Starlite Theatre news

Starship Invasions comes to the theatre this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 1, 2 and 3. Robert Vaughn and Christopher Lee star in this science-fiction action. Toronto falls under martial law because of a wave of suicides being caused by outer space beings. From outer space and from below the sea, they came to take over the earth. Only a man of science can stop them and he is earth's last hope. Rated Mature — lots of gore.

On June 4, 5 and 6, Can I Do It Till I Need Glasses will be shown. It's the nuttiest, naughtiest, funniest madcap comedy of the year. Restricted — some nudity and coarse language.

discovered that she did this only twice a year — to rid herself of "cabin fever" and as to who would eat it all — she had 22 grandchildren in the vicinity. The baking soon disappeared!!

On Monday evening a bingo was held with coffee and goodies served by the Cranbrook ladies and later on included a short sing song.

May 16 was a hectic day, business wise, with no time for humorous stories. The banquet in the evening was very enjoyable (225 in attendance), and complete with a huge cake as this was the 25th anniversary of the Senior Citizen Association of B.C. We were all given small gifts in honour of this. After dinner we were entertained by the Bavarian Singers of Kimberley.

The elections were held on Wednesday, May 17, and Mr. Bennett was elected to the executive. Raffle tickets were drawn — sorry none to Squamish.

Have a list of names to bring home with us, of persons wishing to be remembered to people they know in Squamish. Thora Howarth, we met your brother, Peter.

High school grad B.B.Q. June 9

After a meeting with representatives and pastors from area churches a date for the high school Grad B.B.Q. party has been set for Friday, June 9, at 6:30 p.m. at the Henderson home. The "big feature" will be Terry Winters from Channel 8, a super-dynamic youth speaker. For tickets contact your own church now or call Harry McCulloch or Nora Teel.

JUNE WEDDING DATE FOR JANET CARSON

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Carson announce the engagement of their daughter, Janet Lee, to Mr. James Gordon Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Martin of Thornhill, Ont.

A small private wedding will take place in Pemberton on Saturday, June 3. An Open House in honor of the bride and groom, for relatives and friends, will take place at the home of the bride's parents on Sunday, June 4.

First communion

Twenty children received their First Holy Communion on Sunday, May 21, at the 11 a.m. Mass in St. Joseph's Church. As the children entered the Church in procession, the congregation sang "Holy God We Praise Thy Name". The Mass, designated as a Youth Mass, was celebrated by Father R. Griffin, O.M.I., who received the gifts from the hands of Neil Wippich and Allison Vroom. The First Reader was Brent Roche and the Second Reader Jennifer Kosh. Collectors were Paul Schulte and Shannon Roche. Certificates were presented to each child by Father Griffin together with a remembrance gift from the Catholic Women's League.

Following Mass a reception was held in the Parish Hall for the First Communicants, their families and friends. A beautifully-decorated cake inscribed with the name of each child was cut by Sister Maura, S.C.J., who prepared the children for this joyous and most important event in their lives.

The happy youngsters included: Jeanne Kosh, Laura Vroom, Carolyn Gray, Donna Patterson, Christine Roche, Serena and Delki Wanigaschera, Alana Chinnapan, Alan Schulte, Matthew Mangan, Shawn and John McGrath, Michael and Paul Buxton-Carr, Jeffrey Dumka, Richard Tetzlaff, Chris Crowther, Mario Pascuzzi, Ricky Miorin and Peter Vukonic.

Memorial service for Lutheran pastor June 4

Pastor Carl Frederick Baase, minister of Faith Lutheran Church, Squamish, died suddenly on Sunday, May 21, at the age of 73.

During retirement he served two vacancies, one at Kenai, Alaska from Christmas to Easter, 1973, and the other at Squamish, from October 1975 to April 16, 1978, for a time weekly and then twice a month.

While Pastor Baase served the Squamish congregation, there had been a moderate growth and it was gratifying to him when they were able to purchase a church building of their own. There have been many positive changes since the start of the church in Squamish in 1965.

Pastor Baase served as president of the A.B.C. District from 1952-61. He was one of the founders of Creation Science Association of Canada. As a district president he was also involved in the planning and formation of Lutheran Church-Canada, a federation of the three Canadian districts of the Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod.

A memorial service will be held in Faith Lutheran Church, Squamish on Sunday, June 4, at 3 p.m. Pastor S. Redenbach from Mt. Calvary Church, New Westminster, will officiate.

Visiting ministers will conduct services in Squamish between now and the end of July. Pastor Al Laurie will commence his ministry in Squamish and Kitsilano Lutheran churches in August.

LOCAL LINK WITH CAPTAIN COOK'S VOYAGE

Squamish has a link, albeit a remote one with Captain Cook and the Woodfibre ferry landing at Darrell Bay will be the site of a commemorative sign to mark the event.

On his voyage to B.C. in 1778 George Vancouver was a midshipman on Captain Cook's crew. Later Vancouver returned to British Columbia as the captain of the "Discovery" and explored Howe Sound, landing at the spot now known as Darrell Bay on June 14th, 1792.

According to an old map of his voyage in the Howe Sound and Jervis Inlet area, he arrived at 1 p.m. on June 14th and slept ashore, leaving at 12 a.m. on the following day.

Council authorized the construction of a small sign at the spot to mark the event. The sign will be built by the Squamish Parks and Recreation Society.

Comings and Goings

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Alex Davids on the arrival of their son Mark Anthony on May 16th, weighing in at eight pounds four ounces, a new playmate for Shawn and Jody. Surely Mark must be the youngest church attendant in the history of Squamish United Church for he was present at the service on May 21st at five days old!

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Patrick have enjoyed a visit from their granddaughter and her family, Sharon and David Hunt and their children Jennifer Lee and Gregory Allan of Provo, Utah. At four weeks of age Gregory is taking planes, boats and cars in his stride. The visitors took a trip to Victoria while here, then went to Prince George to visit Sharon's mother, and will spend a few more days in Squamish before returning home.

While a local hostess was taking a guest for a drive up the valley past one of our unusual sights, the passenger remarked "I suppose that is what you would call a Bedstead Homestead!"

There's been great excitement at the homes of Mrs. Lisabeth Halvorson and Mrs. Marie Halvorson caused by the arrival of relatives from Norway. Visiting the former is her sister Mrs. Ingrid Lindeland of Sireal, Norway, while the latter has her niece Miss Thorild Gylend of Sokenal at her home. Accompanying Mrs. Lindeland is her son-in-law Randolph Skretting also of Sokenal. Miss Gail Halvorson drove Mrs. Marie Halvorson and her niece to Kamloops to visit John and Karen Siggers and then to Moose Jaw to see Miss Gylend's aunt.

Randulf Skretting made a flying trip to the outskirts of Weyburn, Saskatchewan for a visit with his sister. The traveller's three week holiday will end all too soon; however, they have made plans to see as much as possible of the lower mainland as well as paying a visit to relatives in Washington.

On May 15th, Mrs. Lindeland celebrated her birthday; the occasion was marked by a family gathering at the home of her hostess.

Friends of Mrs. Jessie Brock will be sorry to hear that she passed away during the night of May 18th at her home in Gibsons.

Sawdust & Shavings

Peter McKay phoned last week to remind everyone that the big Loggers Day Parade will start at 12 noon on Sunday, August 6th. But that wasn't really the item. What he really wanted to crow about was that he had managed to snaffle Captain Cook, Kelvin Andrew, for the parade and to let everyone know that he would be here.

John Drenka also reminds all the golfers, that the big Squamish Open is set for the July 1st weekend and that there are going to be some terrific prizes, in fact a whole $3,000 worth.

By the way if you would like to attend the reception honoring Mrs. Nancy Hutchinson on her retirement on June 15th, you'll be very welcome to attend even if you aren't a former student, or parent of one. Just call one of the following three ladies before June 10th and let them know if you'd like to attend: Mrs. Antosh, 898-3784; Mrs. Marini, 898-5188 or Mrs. Cooley, 898-5196.

Pat Alton, "Adventure in Citizenship" student, was sponsored by the Rotary Club of Squamish, arrived back in Squamish on May 18th after her four day tour of Ottawa. While in Ottawa she was able to see parliament in action, along with meeting both Prime Minister Trudeau and Leader of the Opposition Joe Clark.

Laugh of the week must be Don Lecky's remark when he was asked what he was going to do now that he has sold out to Spencer Realty and he said he was "going to join the U.I.C. ski team."

Confidentially, Don as well as Wayne and Gray Mitchell, will be working for Spencer Realty.

Council Briefs

Garbage Grant

Regional District Administrator, I.R. Knowles advised council that the board had agreed to contribute $10,000 from the Solid Waste Disposal Reserve Fund for the development of disposal grounds here.

Council, however, felt there might be a catch in the accompanying resolution prepared by the board for council to pass before receiving the grant.

Examining the resolution they were not sure whether or not acceptance of the grant would entail sharing the facility with the Regional District and did not feel sure of a stipulation which said that the annual cost of the dump could not exceed 2 mills on the net taxable values of land and improvements for general municipal purposes.

The resolution was tabled for clarification from the Regional District.

By-Laws

First three readings were given to a by-law amending Temporary Loan By-law 640, which when adopted will give the district authority to borrow upon the credit of the district up to a maximum amount of $2 million from the Bank of Nova Scotia.

First three readings were also given to By-law 654 which when adopted will allow the district to impose fees with respect to Rezoning and Development Permit Applications.

The fee for rezoning will be $300 and $500 for a Development Permit Application which would take more staff time and legal work to complete.

In answer to a question from the mayor, Administrator Stan Kary said the development permit was somewhat like the now defunct Land Use Contract. The difference between the two, he said, was that the Development Permit could be imposed to control appearance of buildings, etc. but would not allow council to permit a commercial building in a residential zone without a zoning change.

The Capital Expenditure Programme By-law 652 was adopted.

First three readings were given to an amendment by By-law 654 which is the water improvements loan authorization by-law requiring approval of the project by the provincial health officer as requested by the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing.

New Business

Alderman Alma Cunningham questioned the wisdom of a Recreation and Parks Department decision to put in another flower garden at the entrance to town. "I see nothing wrong with putting in a few annuals until the shrubs get bigger but I thought we had decided to cut down on new projects and emphasize low maintenance. I would rather see the trees on Cleveland staked and trimmed — they are in a terrible state."

Alderman Barr agreed with her saying, "I think that all park development should be planned and submitted to council for approval."

Alderman Bob Smith also had a question concerning parks. He said residents in the area of Pat Goode Park would like to know if the grass taken out and replaced by wood chips to raise the ground level would be replaced this summer.

The Administrator advised Alderman Nick Candy that the pool would open on the weekend and the staff would have been given a training program in the maintenance of the pool and the handling of chlorine tanks.

Alderman Candy advised council of his irritation with the continuing interference of television reception and volunteered to pursue the matter with the CRT.

Building Inspector Bill Allen informed council that tenders had been called on sound equipment for the Civic Centre and when asked, estimated the completion date of the complex to be a good two months away.

Shannon Falls

Alderman Rose Tatlow advised council of the number of cars lining the highway near the entrance to Shannon Falls Park on the long weekend and suggested that the Department of Highways be approached concerning the possibility of reducing the speed limit in that area.

She also suggested that Don Rose of Carlings be contacted about the possibility of enlarging their parking lot.

Council members were generally agreeable to the reduction in speed limit even if it was only during the summer. "If they don't get you in Britannia, they'll get you there," said Alderman Bill Manson ruefully.

Fire Department

Alderman Rose Tatlow asked council to "seriously reconsider their decision to abandon a third employee for the fire department."

Gary Robson, she said, has been doing a tremendous job in the schools with a programme of fire prevention education which the students carried home to their parents.

"If the programme he's carrying out in the elementary schools will save one life I think it's well worth it," she said.

However, Alderman Bill Manson suggested that the discussion of an employee would be more appropriately carried out in camera and the matter was set aside.

Garbage Dump

Alderman Norm Barr who is in charge of finding a suitable location for a new garbage dump reported that an area north of Valleycliffe on Crown Land had been examined by himself and Works Superintendent Frank Wilson and seemed to meet the requirements.

He said that it was far enough away that it won't be a nuisance — although the people in Valleycliffe might not agree.

A substantial amount of gravel had been found on the site which is also on a quite level grade, he said, and recommended that council apply for a permit from the Pollution Control Board.

Remembering their previous experience with the proposed site on the Squamish River, council members decided a preliminary examination by a Pollution Control Board Official would save time if the site was not suitable and asked that a letter be sent requesting such an examination.

Lions Swimming Pool

At the suggestion of Alderman Norm Barr, council decided to write a letter to the Squamish Easter Seal Camp regarding the possibility of having an adult program during the winter months at the swimming pool when the facility is not as busy.

Sheriff

Council gave permission for the temporary use of two back offices in the municipal hall to the two new deputy sheriffs to be hired.

The men will handle court work and the escorting of prisoners; a service now provided by the R.C.M.P. Permanent quarters will be sought in town.

Corinne Lonsdale, who with her capable crew of Judy Poole, Judy Horth, Linda Patrick, Janice Wickstrom and Elaine Hunter, put on the high school reunion.

Band visits

Chemainus

Howe Sound Elementary School's senior band under direction of Grant Wilson presented three concerts in Chemainus last week. The visit was a part of an exchange program under which the Chemainus band had visited Squamish earlier in the month.

The local players performed first for elementary school students, and appeared later at two evening concerts arranged for the community by the Chemainus organization. The Howe Sound students were billeted at the homes of Chemainus musicians.

Between concerts — one Wednesday and one Thursday evening — the students visited Victoria where they toured the provincial museum and the Parliament Buildings.

Court News

The following cases appeared before Judge C. I. Walker in police court on Tuesday May 23rd.

Michael Essex, charged with failing to have any insurance on his vehicle, was fined $250.

Ronald Ashley, charged with impaired driving, was fined $600, or in default 30 days in prison.

Timothy Cassidy, charged with failing to have any car insurance, was fined $250.

Steven McKay, charged with failing to remain at the scene of an accident, was fined $250.

James Yeager, charged with crossing a double solid line, was fined $35.

District Elementary track meet Friday

Friday, June 2, has been set as the date for School District No. 48 Elementary Schools track and field meet to be held at the Howe Sound Secondary track. On this day the students will have an opportunity to compete against each other for trophies according to age groups and sex.

The students and their coaches have been training for many weeks in preparation for this meet. Most pupils from grades four to seven will be attending, and parents are cordially invited to attend as well.

The 1977 Individual Trophy Winners were:

Junior Girl - Kim Cizmazia - Signal Hill
Junior Boy - Jamie Raymond - Stawamus
Intermediate Girl - Donna Alexander - Brackendale
Intermediate Boy - Mike Darvill - Squamish
Senior Girl - Trina Gardner - Stawamus

Senior Boy - Stewart Mackin - Brackendale

And, of course, the very popular and much coveted Tug-O-War Trophy was won by Squamish Elementary School.

During the 1977 Meet, six District records were tied or broken. Two records from the 1960's remain unbroken. In 1967, Steve Dawson as a senior won the equivalent to the 400 metre dash with a time of 60.4 seconds. Most of the 1978 junior athletes were not born when this record was set. Les Laventure (Mamquam), in 1969 set the record for senior boys long jump. His unbroken record remains at 5.23 metres (17 feet, 2 inches). Each year as individual competition becomes more keen and coaching becomes more sophisticated, records fall.

This year the track meet, being coordinated by Mr. Nelson Winterburn of Mamquam Elementary School, is again using the services and expertise of Mr. Hotston's C.R. 12 class from Howe Sound Secondary School. The interschool track meet is an exciting day for the students. It begins at 9:30 a.m. Parents are welcome. Refreshments are available on the grounds.

WRIGHT AUTOMOTIVE

1585 Marine Drive, North Vancouver, B.C.

Tel.: 987-8121

He was one of Poland's earliest and finest hockey players, a highly respected Major in the Polish army, one of the so-called "Three Musketeers" responsible for the conquering of the well-known Battle of Monte Casino, whom a famous Polish writer wrote about in a detailed three volume book based on this battle, and the recipient of Italy's Medaglia Al Valore, England's Victoria Cross and France's Croix de Guerre.

A background any person would be more than proud of. Which man do we speak of you may question yourself? At Whistler he is a familiar face indeed. We know him well and Walter Zebrowski is his name. He and his achievements in this valley will always be spoken of. Certainly never forgotten.

It was on Friday, May 26th, that close to 80 people gathered at L'Apres Dining Room to celebrate two stepping stones in this man's life. Walter's 65th birthday and his Company (Garibaldi-Whistler Highland Development) 12th anniversary.

Full of good fellowship, friends of Walter turned the evening into a highly humorous "roast". It was an easy accomplishment to do because of his colourful personality.

Garry Watson, his friend and business associate set the evening's humor by relating many characteristics of Walter's makeup. He said the simple reason of Walter being Polish and himself a Newfoundland citizen he would "have to tell his stories slowly in order that they would be understood." Indeed, the evening was brimful of Polish and Newfie jokes, which caused much mirth and merry-making.

In seriousness, Garry said that the company had formed 12 years ago on the 9th of June, 1966. "It has been an interesting experience being involved in the Company, and certainly not entirely without turmoil." He said it was really Walter's Company and Walter's dreams, and it had been his wish to have an anniversary dinner with good friends. "But what we should really be here for is to salute Walter, and that is exactly what we intend to do." Referring to Walter's 65th birthday on Monday last, Garry said "enjoy yourself because the Department of Health and Welfare are contributing towards this dinner."

It was at this time he made it known to those of us that did not know, that Walter was one of Poland's earliest and finest hockey players and that one of the highlights of his life was defeating the German National Team. "As a result," he discreetly said, "Walter had a great role in causing the Second World War. Because of a winning goal Hitler invaded Poland!"

Everyone who knows Walter also knows of the great part he played in the war. A highly decorated man for his achievements, he received many respected medals during the war years.

We also know that one of Walter's greatest characteristics is his determination. This feature alone has saved his life on numerous occasions. He escaped German concentration camps not once, but three times, because of this trait. He established television in this valley against all odds, and much to everyone's amazement that heard about it, drove down to Vancouver alone two years ago to Lion's Gate Hospital when he suffered a heart attack, not wanting to "bother anyone".

It was two months after this illness, Jack Bright told his gathered friends, that the T.V. signal went on the blink. "It was when I was still involved with Garibaldi Lifts" he said "and Walter constantly kept harassing me at my office door requesting to have some helicopter time to fly him up to the antenna system on Sproat Mountain to fix it. It was at a time when the helicopter was solidly booked for work involving the lifts and I kept repeating to him that I would let him know just as soon as some free time became available. But this is no answer to give a Walter Zebrowski," he continued, "for imagine how I felt when I found out that fidgety and concerned about the poor reception of T.V., he climbed up Sproat by himself, equipment and all, and fixed it."

Doug McDonald also related a few personal stories on Walter and his obsession with television. He said he made the remark once that he was not getting a very good T.V. signal down at his house in Garibaldi. No sooner had he told him than Walter appeared on his doorstep with his "damned little 3" T.V. Screen that regardless where it is always gets a signal. This created quite a few smiles because a cartoonist could have a field day creating and re-creating Walter with his portable small screened T.V. Wherever Walter goes one can be sure his screen goes too!

Cliff Jennings said that during the time he managed Highland Lodge he had many occasions to admire Walter's determination. His creation of the man-made lake in the Whistler-Highland properties was "mind boggling". He put his whole effort into this venture "then dedicated it to his only child, daughter Eva. It is now a favourite spot for many of us to idle some relaxing moments and watch Walter's fish!" Cliff said. Walter's "lame" fish, whose favourite cuisine is macaroni, became the subject of a number of amusing stories.

Harvey McDiarmid, a man whose involvements at Whistler are fondly remembered for those of us who were residents in earlier years and a good friend of Walter's, told some hilarious tales. He emphasized to Walter that there were three things which happened when you reached 65 years of age. The first was that you lose your memory and "I can't remember the other two things!"

After listening, smiling and laughing with us all, as tale upon tale was told of the man we were "roasting", it was Walter's turn to reply. He said that in 1964 when he first came to Whistler and purchased his property close to where the Gulf station presently stands, it was just bush and virgin forest. Many, he said, who saw him clearing his land remarked over and over again, "Who is this stupid Pole trying to create something that will come to nothing? But I could see a great future in this valley," Walter added, "and I wouldn't be put down. If we have enough stamina we can continue to get things achieved at Whistler and make it the great valley I have always imagined and dreamed it would be way back in the early sixties."

It was at this time that Geoff Massey, a partner in Garibaldi/Whistler Highland Development, presented Walter with a gift "the Company should have given him years ago." A bright red hard hat with the bold lettering of "foreman" written on the front, brought forth the adroit remark from its recipient that "at last I will finally satisfy the Workers' Compensation Board."

There's no doubt the evening was a great success. Sometimes moving. Mostly humorous. But with a room brimful of good fellowship, a flawless dinner, laughter abounding and a roasting of such a colorful character as Walter Zebrowski — the recipe could not have failed.

From the Pemberton Valley

by Betty Shore

Sorry to hear that Debbie Malthouse broke her leg at Whistler on the May holiday weekend.

The Chris Arnet family travelled to Vernon for the weekend.

The Spencers, Rosses, Adamsons and Lefebvres spent the holiday weekend at Marshall Lake.

Anyone who doesn't believe we live in an affluent society needs only to stand at the end of Highway 99 and count the campers laden with boats, bikes and even tow bars with second runabout cars, pouring into the valley steadily from Thursday night on, for confirmation. A wise decision was to stay home to plant your garden.

The first fields of seed potatoes were planted a week ago; a couple of weeks later than last year. We are having quite a cool spring.

Chuck Giguere was the lucky hockey pool winner last week, he won $200 for having the right score in the first inning and another $400 for having the final score. Gerald Giguere also won $100 and Edie McGrade $100.

Congratulations to Bruce and Patti Kiloh on the birth of an 8 pound 3 ounce baby boy.

The Royal Hudson arrives next Sunday, June 4th, in Pemberton. Actually not the Royal Hudson but the steam engine that pulled the museum train, will come into Pemberton. 342 passengers are expected and will spend two and a half hours in Pemberton.

The passengers leave North Vancouver at 10 a.m. and arrive back in Vancouver at 11 p.m.

The hotel will open all its facilities in an effort to feed the visitors plus the Centennial and Phil's. Local businessmen will open from 4 to 6 p.m.

There will be a double header softball game and a flea market at the Community Hall. Anyone wishing to set up a stall or bring merchandise is welcome, ten percent goes to the hall committee.

The Mount Currie Indians will also be bringing over some of their crafts for sale.

The trip is sponsored by the Trainmen's Association and will cost the train buffs $38 in fare.

Flying to Ontario for her son Ray's wedding are Mary Shier, Wendy Rivett and Ian McLeod.

Canoeing course for Pemberton

A basic canoeing course will be offered at Pemberton by the Pemberton Recreation Commission, commencing on Wednesday, May 31, and running for the following three Wednesdays and finally ending on Saturday, June 24.

two hour sessions at One Mile Lake and the final session will be held at a lake or easy river in the area and will be a day trip from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Topics which will be covered are loading and off-loading from vehicles, launching them, entering and getting out of canoes, canoe over canoe rescue, entering a swamped canoe, paddling a swamped canoe, portaging and conduct on trips.

A number of different strokes will be taught including the brace, backward, forward, "J" stroke, sweep strokes, draw strokes, sculling strokes and pry strokes.

Theory to be taught will include history and evolution of canoeing, equipment terminology, and safety and hypothermia.

Participants must supply their own canoe. Cost of the course is $15. To register contact Shirley Henry at 894-6477 or instructor Bruce Corra at 894-6525.
