

Greenaway meets Chamber Committee

Federal MP Lorne Greenaway met with the Industrial Committee of the Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday morning of last week and discussed some of the problems facing the development of further port facilities here.

Greenaway said it took six weeks to get the information about what is being done about the study of the waterfront and he was horrified to learn that the initial report would not be ready before the end of June, 1980 and the final one by March, 1981.

He found this particularly disturbing because no new information was being gathered but information presently on hand would be used for the report.

He stated it was an example of obstruction and buck-passing which was shocking.

Discussion on the feasibility of expanding the present Terminals site with an additional warehouse and second berth brought a statement from Frank Collard, Terminals' manager, that the facility would probably double its capacity within the next two years and they could already use the additional space.

Discussions regarding harbour development at Britannia Beach brought a statement by Pat Goode that the shoreline drops off too sharply at the beach and it would not be possible to drive pilings there to secure wharves to the shore.

Ald. Nick Candy suggested that a geographical boundary be determined in the estuary with development on one side of it and the remainder for the salmon program.

Greenaway said he was also disturbed to hear that there would be further hearings to get additional input on the matter. He felt it had been studied and discussed sufficiently.

He planned to meet with John Fraser, minister of the environment, and Ron Huntington, MP for West Vancouver, to further discuss the matter.

Greenaway said he had toured the area on the ground and flown over it and was fully aware of the potential of the area.

On other matters, he said he would like to reopen the whole question of the Ashcroft-Cache Creek rail line, he had flown over the Capilano watershed and supported the recommendation that this become a route for traffic going from Vancouver to Squamish and Whistler.

He told the committee the joint Whistler-Vancouver bid for the winter Olympics necessitated the development of a highway capable of handling more traffic than the present one and the watershed route was the ideal one.

Bill McNeney asked his support of the request for a TIDSA grant for the station for the Royal Hudson and the relocating of the railway line and road, McNeney said the sub-committee dealing with this subject was meeting this month and if the project is approved it will be referred to the main committee and then to the ministers.

Chamber president Ryan Schleycher said he was concerned about the fact that we do not have a federal or provincial minister of tourism, working exclusively on that portfolio as it is an important one.

"Tourism will be Canada's main industry in the year 2000," Schleycher said.

Greenaway said he felt it was very important to put more emphasis on tourism and agreed that a full-time minister was needed.

Cotter to handle special events

Jerry Cotter was named chairman of a special events committee by Chamber of Commerce president Ryan Schleycher, and he will co-ordinate the planning and promotion of special events connected with tourism.

One of Cotter's dreams is to see a Howe Sound yacht race which he claims could become one of the most important on the west coast.

"Here in Squamish we have a yachtman's dream come true," he said. "There's always a wind, beginning in the morning and turning off in the evening, providing some of the best sailing I've ever seen."

Cotter also has some other ideas including possible marina and boat launching areas, whitewater races, and maybe a climbing school to use the Chief, with people coming from all over the world to take lessons in rock climbing on one of the most challenging rocks in North America.

"We've got to become more tourist-oriented," Cotter said. "It's a clean industry and one which doesn't take anything out of the area."

Schleycher concurred, saying that we should concentrate on activities and events which don't require a massive input of money or buildings, but activities which bring people here several times a year.

"If we get started now," Cotter told the executive meeting, "we could have the race next year!"

He was working with Tourist Committee chairman Bill McNeney.

Silver Thaw frozen out in bid for licence

Mayor Izzy Boscarol voted against giving Silver Thaw Signs owner D.B. Ebert a peddler's licence to break a tie vote at the council meeting Tuesday, July 31.

Ald. Bill Manson, Ald. Jim Elliott and Ald. Street voted in favour while the remaining aldermen were against the motion.

Ebert applied for the licence to sell souvenirs of Squamish, Loggers Sports Day and the Royal Hudson for the duration of Squamish Days only.

Ald. Rose Tatlow said she felt this would conflict with Loggers Sports and Ald. Nick Barr added Loggers Sports had their own T-shirts for sale. Ald. Street said he was "for it" on the basis of free enterprise.

If he had received the licence, Ebert would have sold the mementoes from a van on commercial property. He will only be able to sell articles from his shop.

Probe ordered into use of pesticide pellets

The incident of Tordon 10K pellets used to control vegetation on B.C. Hydro power lines in the Upper Squamish flared up again last week after it was revealed that Hydro supervisor Bill Coutts told Upper Squamish residents children could play with the pellets, which are labelled on their containers as hazardous.

Instructions on the packages state that care should be used in handling it, if touched hands should be washed, and those using it should wear gloves.

The Minister of Agriculture, Jim Hewitt, has ordered an internal investigation last week of the situation. Meetings were held between the Pesticide Control Branch and provincial and federal agricultural departments to discuss use of the pesticide which has been identified by American researchers as causing tumors and is suspected of causing cancer and birth defects.

Pesticide Control branch officer Stuart Craig said that a B.C. Hydro supervisor lied up to a point on the permit application for the Upper Squamish Valley. He was referring to the statement that there were no domestic water users in the area.

Yet most of the people in the Upper Squamish valley have to rely on wells to obtain their water and the pesticide could leach into the soil and contaminate the wells.

The application of the pellets began in late June. Part of the area in question was in the District of Squamish, about half of it was on Indian land with the balance in the area occupied by twenty families who expressed their concern about the use of the pesticide pellets.

The municipality protested the application and Hydro withdrew from land inside the municipal boundaries and the Squamish Indian Band were preparing to obtain an injunction to prevent them pelletizing their property but protests from the Upper Squamish residents fell on deaf ears.

Labor minister Allan Williams, MLA for the West Vancouver-Howe Sound riding in which the Upper Squamish lies, then stepped into the act and the application of the pellets was stopped.

However residents in the valley said that the damage had been done and the pellets had been applied to the right-of-way.

They expressed concern at the outset because it is open range country and cattle roam at will throughout the area. They feared there might be a chain reaction with the pesticide ingested by the animals.

One resident said "We'll get it several ways. It could affect our water, the animals could eat the treated herbage and we could get it through the meat. Or it might get into the milk, which we drink and feed to the pigs, so that's another way could be affected."

He also stated that Coutts had told them it wasn't harmful and the cattle could range through the valley, but if they were concerned they should keep the cattle at home.

Another sore point with valley residents was that they had not been contacted with information about the use of the pellets. This was compounded when a statement was issued by a Hydro official stating most of the people had been contacted by telephone, when there are no telephones in the Upper Valley.

Zone 9 meeting hears tips on how to be more effective

A Zone Nine meeting, held in West Vancouver on Thursday, Aug. 9, was given some tips on how to be more effective, in a talk by Bruce Pepper, manager of the Vancouver Board of Trade.

Pepper warned the chambers present to keep their activities business-oriented and to act in a business-like manner.

"There is a danger in trying to be all things to all people," he said. "We cannot speak for everyone with one voice."

Referring to the future he suggested that the chambers must be creative if they wish to be heard effectively at all levels of government.

"We must reach the unbeliever," he said. "The person who does not believe in an independent marketing system," he added. "We are trying and will continue to try to place a great deal of emphasis on business."

He told the meeting that it is difficult to make the chamber program clear to students. "Teachers are not oriented to our theories."

The Vancouver board has made a special video tape on understanding the stock market and it has been very well received. He suggested that this could be shown in the schools where information on business has been neglected.

"The overall key to success is to be effective," he concluded. "Don't dilute your efforts."

Ryan Schleycher, Zone 9 representative, giving a report on the activities in the zone, spoke about the new highway to Lillooet, the search for an identity and some projects which would be supported.

"Twenty-one years ago the then Highways Minister P.A. Gallagher said the road to Squamish should have gone through the Capilano watershed but he didn't have the equipment that could handle snow at the 2500 foot level. Today we have it and we are thinking of highways with passes up to 4500 feet."

Schleycher said chambers in the zone were being asked to host meetings like this one tonight. Whistler will be hosting one in November, with spring meetings in Pemberton and Bowen Island.

"We're looking for an identity for Zone 9 with a prize of $1,000. The judges will be the mayors in each community and a panel of others."

A possible promotion with a float to represent the zone to go to parades throughout the province is being considered as well as a possible Chamber Day throughout the area and a membership drive.

"We are also considering setting up training days for young people working in local businesses, taking over some projects which would bring in some revenue so we can be financially stable and not asking for handouts," he added.

Bob Hallam of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce, said the main project was the presentation of the policy statement to the cabinet.

Council Briefs

Two more apply for Sunday openings

John Lonsdale, owner of the Highlands Camping Supplies Sales and Rentals, and Sheila Haffey, owner of Graham's Gifts and Souvenirs, will open their businesses on Sundays under the Sunday closing by-law.

Council accepts lease and rental contract for public safety building

Council will sign a lease with the B.C. Building Corporation to rent out 2,310 square feet in the public safety building for a five-year term at a cost of $56,595, or $11,319 per year.

The rent does not include janitorial services and an additional charge will be based on a formula of 15 percent of a complete service for the building.

Council will also sign a lease with the RCMP to rent out the public safety building for a five-year term, terminating Sept. 30, 1984, at a cost of $2,267.22 per month for the first year. The rent will then be based on the ratio of provincial-municipal costs.

Council to tour FMC plant

Council will tour the FMC chemical plant on Aug. 28 at 1 p.m.

Up With People coming to Squamish in September

Parks and Recreation director Maurice Farn has been authorized to underwrite the $4,000 cost of the Up With People International Show during September.

Council wants to know the method that will be used to promote the sale of tickets and has requested Farn to submit a report.

Council supports concept of tourism minister

Council will support Ald. Alex Kirilows, Southwestern B.C. Tourist Association board of directors president, in his request to the premier that the ministry of tourism be given one portfolio.

The association is also requesting the position of deputy minister of tourism be reactivated.

Council to try and extend southern boundary

Administration will correspond with the ministry of municipal affairs asking for ministerial direction for the extension of southern boundaries to include those areas between the existing boundary and Porteau.

Budget requests to be submitted in September

Council has asked all department heads to submit budget requests by the end of this September.

Diamond J Properties requests extension

Council agreed to extend the completion time on Diamond J Properties' land use contract for an additional year.

The $5,000 bond will remain in effect.

Owner J.J. Rowledge also requested council to rezone the area from duplex to single family dwelling.

Council will consider the application.

Four small fires in Squamish area

The B.C. Forest Service at Squamish reported that there had been four small fires on the weekend.

One at Brohm Creek was caused by an abandoned campfire and it was just under one hectare in size and put out quickly by the local crews.

Three other fires believed to have been caused by cigarettes, were found at Daisy Lake, Britannia Beach and Alexander Falls. Local rangers said early detection enabled them to stop the fires before they really got going.

All the areas in the Squamish Ranger District were reported to be in the extreme range last Thursday and Forest Service personnel remind everyone that no campfires are to be lit in the district.

Stan Clarke marks 96th birthday

George S. (Stan) Clarke celebrated his 96th birthday with a small gathering at his home on Friday, Aug. 10, with friends dropping in to see him and wish him well.

Mr. Clarke, who was born in England in 1883 on the north coast of Norfolk, and came to Canada in 1910. He worked for the CNR in Winnipeg and Edmonton and ten years later moved to Brisbane, Australia, where he helped to build wooden street cars.

He returned to Canada in 1926, to the CPR at Field and then to Squamish the following year. After a short period on the PGE he went into business for himself operating a gas station and construction business.

During that time he also operated a small sawmill on Goat Creek Road. But he also built many homes and shops in Squamish, some of which have now been removed.

During those years he also served as a member of the municipal council, being elected to the first one in 1948 along with Mrs. A. McRae and J.R. Morrison. With the exception of one year he served on council for the next fourteen years, acting as chairman for seven of them.

When he retired he started to travel and made many trips to England and Europe and also around the world.

He was always an avid reader, he was active on the library board in the early years and made the improvements to the building's interior in those years. He was also active in Squamish, and was a life member of the Chamber of Commerce and the BPOE and a past president of the former Board of Trade.

One of his cronies, Fred Downer, who is just a few months younger, was on hand to wish Stan Clarke many happy returns on his birthday, and to share in the birthday cake which marked the occasion.

Clarke, who had been in hospital for several months following a fall, was happy to be able to be home again and to welcome his friends.

When asked to what he attributed his longevity, he just smiled, took another sip of his favorite drink and lit up a cigarette.

managing director of the Vancouver Board of Trade, and Ed Boyce, a member of both the West and North Vancouver Chambers of Commerce.

Teenage drinkers present problem

Most young B.C. drinkers were consuming alcohol long before they were legally allowed to do so, Consumer and Corporate Affairs Minister Jim Nielsen said recently.

Nielsen, who is responsible for liquor control, licensing and distribution, said that recent studies show that drinkers in their late teens and early twenties had their first taste of alcohol when they were only 14. The majority of drinkers started imbibing at 16.

Problem drinkers — whom Nielsen described as people who consume alcohol to excess at least 50 percent of the time — started drinking at an even earlier age, 13.

Nielsen pointed out that these young teenagers are not being served in liquor stores or licenced premises. They are obtaining alcohol from their homes or their friends.

The legal drinking age to pass as adults are causing problems in licenced establishments, Nielsen said. Last year, charges against minors who purchased liquor or consumed it in licenced premises were up 52 percent to an all time high of 4,008.

Nielsen added that almost 90 percent of the adults in B.C. drink. The vast majority consumes liquor moderately and infrequently. But approximately eleven percent of B.C. drinkers are in the problem category and cause social problems that affect everyone in the province.

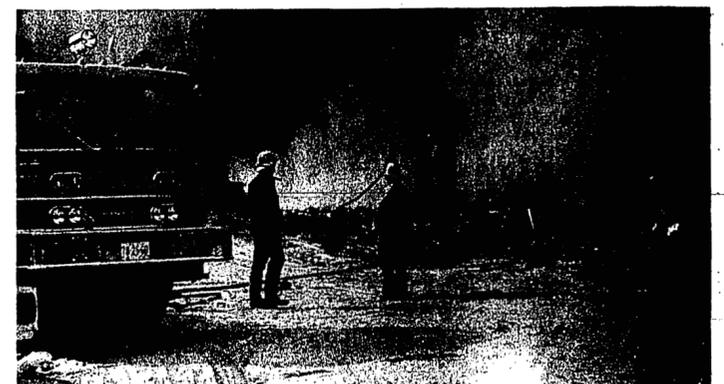

On other alcohol related problems, the minister said that research shows:

- Most people favour the concept of neighbourhood pubs but few want them in their own neighbourhoods, saying pubs are too noisy, and there are already enough drinking places.
- A majority of people favour the concept of private outlets selling beer and wine. Only one in four think that distilled spirits should be sold in private outlets.
- Forty percent of the population have a drink outside their homes at least once a week. Restaurants are the most likely place for that drink and beer parlours the next most common spot.

- Heavy drinkers most likely to lose control of their habit tend to be males, aged 18 to 24, earning more than $26,000 a year and working either full or part time.
- People consider alcohol-related problems third in a list of social concerns after inflation and unemployment.
- Seven out of ten people say they know someone with a drinking problem but only a minority believe they can do anything personally to encourage moderation. The majority, however, believe that an effort should be made to solve the alcohol problem.

Fire department called to dump

Squamish fire department battled a fire in the dump Saturday afternoon and after three hours managed to extinguish it.

The department was called out at approximately 5:00 p.m. Aug. 4.

Gary Robson, acting fire chief, said it is difficult to explain how the fire started. One possibility is a fire was smoldering under the rubbish and flammable garbage was placed on top, allowing the fire to break out.

Robson said fires in the dump are a "problem that is ongoing" and the department is "there all the time."

He said the firemen have often spent four, five or six hours in the dump.

Nature trail created in estuary by corps

The youth conservation corps returned to Squamish to cut out a nature trail in the estuary Friday.

Diane Paxton, program coordinator, said the group will be creating a trail at Pitt Polder, near Pitt Meadows, and do "mostly PR" work in the McKay Creek area near North Vancouver for its next project.

Will Paulik, program coordinator, said the nature trail is one way of getting people to see what we can stand to lose.

Paulik admitted there would be a problem with people walking the trail and leaving garbage behind, but said the answer to that situation would be education.

An education program is currently being developed, and could possibly be shown in the schools this year.

The trail, approximately one-quarter of a mile long, starts at the end of Victoria St. Along the trail are several Oregon white oak trees, which are considered to be quite rare in this part of B.C., bear dens and game trails, as well as several species of animals.

Squamish Days to be shown on Channel 4

The television crew from Channel 4, Seattle (KOMO) which spent three days in Squamish during the holiday weekend will be showing the film later this fall.

They took pictures of the bed race, the Saturday sports and all the Sunday events and the film should be excellent.

When word of the time of its showing is received, attempts will be made to notify the people in Squamish so they can see it.

Highway with a view on Vancouver Island

Vancouver Island, site of British Columbia's gracious capital city, Victoria, and some of Canada's most breathtaking scenery, is considered by many experienced travellers to be a vacation destination beyond compare. The rugged west coast of the 480 km long (300 miles) island, with its sparse population and deep fjords, is a favorite among hikers, campers and deep-sea fishermen.

The more gentle east coast, along the Strait of Georgia, has lush farmlands with a backdrop of high mountains and several pleasant and beautiful towns.

The 265 km (165 miles) drive from Victoria to Campbell River, along a first-class highway, is an experience to be remembered.

Victoria, the capital of British Columbia, is a city of 210,000 that combines the charm of 19th century England with all the modern requirements that make a visit truly commendable.

With the hundreds of yachts of all sizes anchored in the harbor and hanging baskets of flowers along waterfront streets, the view from the renowned Empress Hotel is nothing short of idyllic.

Victoria enjoys Canada's most temperate climate and an annual rainfall of less than 76 cm (30 inches). Average noon temperature in summer is 26°C (75°F). In winter, it's 8°C (46°F).

Around the excellent harbor are the provincial Parliament Buildings, illuminated at night, the Provincial Museum with its Indian relics and natural history displays, the Undersea Gardens, the Wax Museum, Thunderbird Park and its brightly colored totem poles and several first-class hotels.

This beautiful city has many other important attractions and, high on the list, are the specialty shops of Tronice Alley and Antique Row.

Victoria is served several times a day by air or ferry from Vancouver and Seattle.

Leaving Victoria along the Trans-Canada highway, motorists make their first stop at Malahat Lookout for a spectacular view of the Saanich Peninsula and Gulf Islands.

At Duncan, the B.C. Forest Museum tells the story of the province's most important industry, lumber.

The museum, which consists mostly of outdoor displays of old-time lumber machinery and tools, as well as slices of giant trees, also boasts the Cowichan Valley Railway, an old steam train that takes visitors around the park.

The Cowichan Valley, which ends just below Duncan, offers hiking trails, white water canoeing, camping and fishing.

The famous grey and white Cowichan sweater is a favorite of outdoorsmen. It is made by Cowichan Indians, is almost waterproof and may be bought in valley shops as well as at better stores elsewhere on the island.

Ladysmith, where the streets are named after battles of the Boer War, is an important oyster-growing centre.

Nanaimo, with a population of 40,000, is the second-largest city on Vancouver Island. It started as a coal-mining town but is now an important distribution centre, as well as a ferry link with the mainland at Vancouver.

Attractions worth a visit are the Bastion, a fort that used to protect the town against Indian attacks, and the Centennial Museum. Both are octagonal in shape.

The Italian Fountain was built in 1958 for British Columbia's centennial, while Piper Park displays old mining machinery and Georgia Park offers a good view of the busy harbor.

Fires caused by smokers

Smokers are believed to have been the cause of three fires during the past week.

Assistant Forest Ranger Larry Elchuk said the one at Murrin Park was caused by a smoker; another at Britannia Beach, which required the Forest Service and the local volunteer fire department to take prompt action, was also caused by a smoker, while the third was on the trail above Lions Bay.

The latter was three miles up the trail and Forest Service crews had to carry water up there to fight it.

Another fire at Whistler, at the garbage dump, was believed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion and was fought by Forest Service personnel and the fire department. It was contained at about half an acre.

Elchuk said the local office is on a 24 hour call during the dry weather and adds that the conditions are in the extreme range and warns everyone to be particularly cautious if they are going into the woods.

Offshore, unspoiled Newcastle Island is a provincial park popular with picnickers and nature lovers. At Nanaimo, the Trans-Canada highway crosses the Georgia Strait to Vancouver and eventually goes across the country to St. John's, Newfoundland, 7,775 km away (4,828 miles).

Heading north from Nanaimo, motorists follow Highway 19 to Parksville and Qualicum Beach, a popular family-resort area with fine beaches, golf, good accommodation and shopping facilities.

From either town, scenic Highway 4 takes motorists to Port Alberni, a pulp town, and the wild seaside beauty of Pacific Rim National Park.

Just a few minutes' drive along the highway is famous Cathedral Grove in MacMillan Park, a stand of majestic Douglas firs, many of them centuries old.

The Parksville-Qualicum area has hiking trails, a bird sanctuary, waterfalls and a fish hatchery.

The next important built-up area along Highway 19 is that of Courtenay-Comox, renowned for its fresh fruit and vegetables and backdrop of snow-capped mountains.

An interesting legend is attached to the Forbidden Plateau, a beautiful area west of Courtenay with good fishing, camping, hiking and, in winter, skiing.

It is reported that before the white man arrived the Komox Indians moved their women and children high on the Plateau as they were about to be attacked by the Cowichan.

The Komox eventually won the battle, but when they went to fetch their families on the Plateau, they were nowhere to be seen.

No trace was ever found of them and the Indians believed they were carried away by hairy giants who lived in ice caves.

A strange Plateau phenomenon which anyone can verify is its bright red snow. The snow is red in patches and the intensity of the color increases with depth.

Campbell River is known as "Home of the Tyee" and although salmon fishing is popular from one end of Vancouver Island to the other, nowhere is it more so than at Campbell River.

The town of 12,000 has more than 40 hotels, motels and lodges as well as gourmet food and convenient shopping facilities.

Here, the Tyee (Spring) salmon is king. In late summer, it averages nine to 11 kilos (20 to 25 lbs.) while the most frequent coho averages two to three kilos (five to six lbs.).

Local statistics show that an average of 2.3 fish per boat are caught in area waters and with more than 3,000 boats out on certain days, that's a lot of salmon.

The whole area is an outdoor paradise. There are facilities for camping, hiking, boating, fishing, beachcombing and other activities all around Campbell River.

It's a short ferry ride to Quadra Island and its Rebecca Spit Marine Park and Cape Mudge Indian Village.

The highway to Gold River, 56 km (35 miles) to the west, is steep mountain and clear lake beauty all the way and beyond. More than one-third of the distance is along the shores of breathtaking Upper Campbell Lake.

Of the 22 provincial parks along or near the route to Campbell River, from Victoria, 11 offer a total of about 1,000 camping units. The others have picnic tables and other attractions such as beaches, trails and waterfalls.

Victoria has a large number of good hotels and motels while there is also good accommodation at Duncan, Nanaimo, Parksville, Courtenay and other towns and villages along the way.

Campbell River also has several good hotels and motels but many visitors prefer a fishing lodge and the relaxing atmosphere of an evening by the fireplace.

Even though the distance between Victoria and Campbell River is rather short, it is a good idea to stop overnight in the Parksville-Qualicum area and enjoy the wonderful scenery on the road to Port Alberni.

The Campbell River area is worth a few days even for those who don't fish. It is the sort of place one leaves with regret.

Contracts for BCR at Squamish awarded

Contracts for the changeover of the car shop facilities from the former Railwest plant to a car repair plant have awarded to three firms.

Alpine Paving (1978) Ltd. has been awarded the contract for site grading and asphalt paving in the North Yards area; Anvil Construction Ltd. will construct the storm drains in the same area and the chain link fencing in the yard area will be supplied and installed by Van-Can Industries of Surrey.

The surplus equipment from the former Railwest car manufacturing plant in Squamish has been completed.

The building will now be used as a car repair plant. Equipment is being moved in from the railway's old car shop located nearby and the Squamish stores department will be moved into the vacated car shop.

The entire move is expected to be completed by early fall.

Up With People show coming

The international show Up With People will be at the civic centre September 14 for two performances.

Since its incorporation in 1968 the organization has established a program to build understanding and communication among different peoples through song.

The program aims to help young people who participate to discover their own potential and develop leadership skills. Approximately 100 performers will sing and dance during the performances.

The 1979-80 show combines a disciplined vocal sound with the power of a 14-piece instrumental section. Vigorous choreography, colorful costumes and audience involvement add to the impact of the show.

Featured in the two-hour performance is a sequence of international folk songs and pageantry, a medley of hit tunes and steps of the past 50 years and original compositions.

The Up With People show has played in 42 nations, including such settings as Royal Albert Hall, London; Ontario Place, Toronto; 1972 Olympic Games, Munich; PNE, Vancouver; Carriacou, Grenada; Quebec City; Amélie Hall and Lincoln Centre, New York, as well as the team at half-time entertainment at the Canadian Football League western conference final in Edmonton.

The pause that refreshes, Youth conservation corps members rest for a minute before tackling the nature trail in the estuary.

Strike could hurt industry

The present conflict between the Teamsters' Union and the oil companies, while leaving some gas stations without fuel, isn't really hurting anyone yet. But if it continues it could seriously affect the industrial life of this province.

B.C.'s industry is dependent upon gas and oil to drive the trucks, for the trains and for all the vehicles involved in the industrial life of this province. While a gasoline shortage could affect our booming tourist industry, which has benefited from the gas shortage in the United States, it is far more serious on the industrial front.

Here in the Squamish Valley, the forest industry depends upon gas and diesel oil to keep its machinery running. The food we eat, the goods we need, are all supplied by vehicles using gas or other fuel derived from oil.

We realize that this situation doesn't seem to be affecting us very much here in Squamish, but it could become serious if it continues too long. The tourist industry, dependent on people coming into the province, could be hampered if the strike continues for any length of time.

Most people have been quite happy that the gas shortage in the United States, whether real or artificial, as some claim, has resulted in more people coming to Canada and a healthy injection of American dollars into our economy.

Anyone seeing the lineup of vehicles waiting on the Upper Levels highways to get to Vancouver Island or the Sunshine Coast must admit that we are an automobile-oriented society and no matter whether we like it or not we are dependent on the auto and products made by the oil companies.

Hopefully the situation will have been resolved by the time this appears in print, but if it hasn't it would be well for us to realize that we will have to look for alternate energy sources.

And that isn't going to be as easy as it sounds.

Use extreme caution

After almost a month of good weather with warm sunny days and warm nights too, the situation in the forest area in the Squamish Ranger District is acute. All readings hit the extreme reading last week and anyone going into the forest should be extremely careful.

If you are a smoker, leave your cigarettes and matches at home. Campfires are banned and anyone not observing the ban should be advised that he is breaking the law.

Practically all the logging firms have closed down until there is a break in the weather, with some of them having been idle for three weeks. But it isn't the industry which usually causes the fires. It's the hiker and the camper who is careless and doesn't realize or doesn't want to realize that the situation is extremely hazardous.

The four fires in this area last week were all caused by this human error. One from an abandoned campfire and three from matches. That's an indication of just how dangerous it can be.

Our economy depends on the forests. And the safety of the forest depends on you. If you must go out in the woods today be sure to take extreme care not to create a situation which could result in a fire.

We are not alone

Last spring we were upset because of damage done to campsites at Cat Lake after a group of Cubs and members of the B.C. Forest Service had cleaned up the lake in preparation for the summer season.

We have been concerned about the wanton vandalism and damage to the caboose brought in and installed by the Chamber of Commerce to serve as a tourist booth for the Royal Hudson. It has been impossible to keep it locked when not in use and vandals have entered it, damaged it, broken windows and spread filth in the interior of the caboose.

We wondered if we were alone in having these problems. We aren't. A report in the Williams Lake newspaper could be matched almost verbatim by our experiences. Picnic tables have been chopped up, outhouses tipped over, chopped and burned, garbage cans shot full of holes and stolen, fences and signs used for firewood.

Sounds familiar doesn't it. There were reports of broken glass on beaches, bottles thrown in the lakes along with garbage; a regular horror story of how some campers behave. This spring the Cubs, their leaders and the Forest Service worked all one Sunday to clean up Cat Lake and the following weekend there was evidence of trees chopped down, garbage left and broken bottles.

Funding for these picnic and camp sites is limited. The Forest Service has a small budget and does as much as possible with it. However if the efforts are being undermined, there seems little reason to continue pouring money into something which a few stupid and careless people destroy for everyone else.

It's not just the parks and camp sites that have problems. The attractive picnic and camp sites built by B.C. Hydro at Daisy Lake, Stanley Lake and Roe Creek, while not being damaged too much, are often the site of noisy parties which keep people awake till the early hours.

Surely it seems unfair that something which is created for the people, and which is appreciated by most of the people who use it, can be damaged by the few thoughtless and careless people who are doing the damage.

howe Soundings

Recently I received a note containing the sayings of a janitor at a public building near Victoria who, to say the least, has trouble with his English. Some of his fractured comments are delightful. You may enjoy them too.

On Fencing. I was talking to my neighbor about fences. I think the best type to put up out my way is the chain mail type.

On alarm systems. I think the best type of alarm is the buzzard that goes off when your car is being stolen.

On health. The doctor said my blood contains too much cholesterol.

On pills. The finest tablets to purify water contains potassium cyanide.

On trees. Those popular trees that grow along the highway sure are pretty.

On sterilization. Before my wife cans anything she fertilizes the jars.

On houses. Boy the houses they build out here sure are tacky. I'm surprised the NHL approves them.

On time zones. GMT ... GMT, gee that's Great Mountain Time.

On mowing the lawn. Last night I cut my long grass with a sigh.

On alimony payments. I know a guy who had to pay out $400 a month for alimony.

On deletions. Boy the union meeting was fast the other night. They delated almost everything.

On tea cozies. My wife is knitting a tea caddy for the pot.

On noisy cars. Boy, have I got a rattle in my car. I think the muffler is banging on the membranes underneath.

On subscriptions. I have now paid off the entire conscription on this magazine.

On Anti Inflation Board. That ARB is ruining everything our union is trying to gain.

On remands. This guy appeared before the judge yesterday but he was reprimanded until tomorrow.

On his dog. Well, she's a female and she's not spaded so I think I'll get her bred.

On strong silent types. You know that big guy, he's all bronze and no brains.

On NSF cheques. I wrote twelve cheques and six of them are lost. I hope they don't turn up S.F.U.

On surgery. My wife's friend is having troubles with her virginia. Do you know any which could be added to these?

The unusually long hot dry summer period (would you believe it has lasted for more than a month), has brought an early drying to many of the trees and shrubs in the areas in the valley which are thinly covered with soil. Motorists travelling along the highway to Vancouver must have noticed how many of the trees and shrubs on the rocky slopes are dry and brown, victims of the unusually dry weather.

Local lawns and gardens are showing signs of the prolonged dry spell with some of the schoolgrounds being brown and bare, an unusual sight in this area which usually has such a high amount of rain and where grass is brilliant green throughout the year.

But have you noticed how lovely and green the grass at Centennial Fields is? It's beautiful and the fields do look like a beautiful green oasis when you look at them from the highway.

Incidentally one of the nice things about the new highway is the way grass seed has been planted along it and has caught. It's particularly noticeable in the stretch from Depot Road to Alice Lake turnoff.

This unusually long summer heat wave has lasted more than a month, starting in July on the 11th and is now well into its second month with no indications that it will be breaking.

All that would be needed now would be to have a thunderstorm occur. With a forest service which is already exhausted from the last few weeks of fire-watching, a storm is all they would need. Forests are tinder dry and a storm now would be sure to cause some fires in the tinder-dry woods.

Maybe there is something to be said for the rains we enjoy during the year. We do thrive on it and it does keep us green and fresh, something which many other countries envy. But it does leave us web-footed and when the weather dries out as it has this summer, the membranes between our toes tend to dry out as well.

But we agree with the people who say they don't think they could live in a climate like the Okanagan where the sun shines every day most of the year. Granted there are times when it rains for a week and we long for the sunshine but give us too much of it and we want the rain, or at least the moisture in the air. I know that on trips to the interior I have noticed the difference when I hit Allison Pass on my way back to the coast. There's a moisture or dampness in the air that my skin seems to need.

But, one of these days the good weather will end and then perhaps we will wish it was still warm and sunny. But until then, for the benefit of the loggers, who have been out of work for a long time, and for the Forest Service who are heartily tired of the constant watch which must be maintained, maybe we would like at least one day's rain!

Did you hear about the streaker at the recent ball game? Apparently he came out to home base, ran all around the bases, in the buff, and then modestly using his hands to cover strategic areas, headed back for the dugout.

LETTERS

Editor, The Times:

It certainly seems strange that our local fire protection officers found it necessary to close the Squamish Gun Range because of "extreme fire hazard" when our forests remained open to the public. I understand their reason was the sawdust at the range, however, there are other areas where sawdust is used.

By closing the range, shooters found themselves forced to practise elsewhere, in the bush. This certainly cannot be safer. However, Squamish can still be proud of the Gold Medal that mountain-woman Vi Hogarth brought home from the B.C. Summer Games when such uncalculated obstacles are encountered in our municipality. Perhaps our council has other reasons for making this sport difficult.

ASK ABOUT THE FOREST

A Salmon Arm reader, Mrs. J. Romyn, asks the following question:

We are constantly having to clean our chimney. Could this have anything to do with the fact we are burning slab wood?

In all probability, yes. Slab wood pieces, as you know, are the rounded outside parts of the tree that are removed when a log is squared off to make boards, two by fours, beams and other lumber.

Do your slabs still have the bark on them? If so, this could be one reason for the deposits of material in your chimney. Bark, particularly fir bark, burns "dirtier" and with more soot than inside pieces.

If you have ever examined the fire burns, the lower your combustion efficiency and with this comes an increased amount of deposit in the chimney. Where the wood is dry, combustion is more efficient — the fire burns hot, more cleanly and you have less chimney deposit.

Send your questions about the forest and forestry to "Ask about the Forest", c/o Canadian Forestry Association of B.C., 410 - 1200 W. Pender Street, Vancouver, B.C. V6E 2S9. A professional forester will reply and a book prize will be sent to each person submitting a question that is published. This column is a joint project of the Canadian Forestry Association of B.C. and the Association of B.C. Professional Foresters.

Maggie should shut up

It's time the strange estranged wife of the former prime minister learned to keep her trap shut.

It's also time the press learned not to sensationalize, or even print, the ramblings of a woman who apparently has not yet grown up mentally.

We think Canadians have had enough of Maggie's sexual, and alleged sexual, escapades with senators, singers and movie stars, not to mention Pierre.

We take particular exception to her reference of having a "beautiful chocolate-colored daughter" with singer Lou Rawls.

Who cares if she wears a black garter to entice and tease and who cares if her tight, little bottom drives men wild with desire?

It's time for the tacky, flighty, flower child to die a natural death and a new dignified woman emerge.

We are not saying Maggie has shamed Canada, but neither has she induced much pride or respect.

And in a time where women everywhere are fighting for equality and respect, and gradually receiving it, a woman such as Maggie throws us back to the age of the troglodytes.

Even if she has been elected mother of the year.

Elks want to improve building

John Dyck, a past Exalted Ruler of the Squamish Lodge BPOE, expressed his concern and the concern of the members about their inability to enlarge and upgrade the present Elks Hall.

Dyck says they have plans to enlarge it and make it more attractive and functional, but are hampered by the lack of adequate parking space. If they make any changes to the building.

They appeared before council several years ago to ask if they could proceed with the extension and improvement of the hall but at that time they were stymied by the problem of parking.

"I've been over there painting it again," Dyck told the Times last week "but all the painting in the world won't improve it. We really have to enlarge and improve it to make it functional."

Dyck said the building is used by the Senior Citizens group for meetings and the lodge itself does a great deal of useful work in the community. He was concerned about the difficulties they were having in trying to expand and wondered if there was any way the parking problems could be solved.

What's in a name? Well, there is a prize of $1,000 for the right one for zone nine.

The chambers of commerce in the zone are sponsoring a name contest for the area comprising Pemberton, Whistler, Squamish, Bowen Island, West Vancouver and North Vancouver.

A cash prize of $1,000 will be given for the best name, slogan, logo, label, flag or color composition. All entries must be original and not copied or changed from existing symbols.

The contest is open to any individual, group, club, school, society or team from this area or outside and closes November 1.

The entries will be judged between November 1 and 15 by a selected blue ribbon jury, consisting of celebrities and mayors.

The winner will also have a special privilege of naming a street, stream or hill in the area. Additional prizes may be announced later.

Good luck to Mike Sweeney and members of the Canadian Youth Soccer team as they depart for the 1979 World Cup Championship in Japan between August 25 and September 9. Mike has travelled extensively with the team to several cities in the U.S.A. and to Honduras for the zone finals in December.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bartsch are pleased to have relatives visiting them from Germany. A warm welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Stefan Derlinger from Offenbach and Mrs. Martha Malinowski and son Oliver from West Berlin.

The Kiwanis Junior Sports Day held on August 4th proved to be great fun for both parents and children. This year, races in the pool were included and the top point winner was Steven Hughes, who won a carved chair courtesy of Bryan Couture.

Don and Meta Hall of Britannia Beach have their granddaughter, Belinda Edwards from Port Alberni, visiting them. Grandpa and granddaughter have been having a fun time in the pool at Britannia each day.

I like this thought for the week: Youth is an act of nature; growing old is a work of art.

It was a pleasant surprise to see former residents, Rev. and Mrs. Wayne MacKenzie and son David from Nelson, in town last week for a short visit. They attended their daughter Holly's marriage to Donald Stinch in Knox United Church, Vancouver, on August 4th.

There is more news from the MacKenzie household! Four months ago, daughter and son in law Susan and Maynard Embree presented them with a grandson, Christopher.

It's birthday time for a few of our citizenry and congrats go out to Aileen Amos, Glen Alexander, Dave Pinchbeck, Carol Meyers, Brenda Bird, Grant Bullington, Mrs. Sobotka, Marcia Drenka, Adrienne Pullen, Gary Lam, Kulwant Roorpia, Andrea Widing, Reed Turcotte, George Bacon, Christopher Ramsay, Jody McPherson, Harry Nichols, Marie Halvorson, Laura Dorosh, Mark Westerlund, Suzanne Babuin, Ross Rivett, Clayton Ayres, Christopher Barthel, Melanie Machan, Della Sidsworth, Maureen Gamracy, Celia Huber, Candice Dickinson, Darlene Smith, Jeffrey Babuin, Leona Ross, Norm Halvorson, Tracy Downing and Norman Halvorson. Belated greetings to Bert Larsen and Art Rogers.

Two young fellows celebrating first birthdays this week are Colin Harker and Eddi Rogers.

Sincerest sympathy is extended to the family of the late Mrs. Florence Sewell who died on August 5.

Dell and Kathy Roberts and children Shalah and Dustin spent a week in Prince George visiting Kathy's parents, Clancy and Pat Park.

Just about had my arm twisted off unless I promised I'd run the following "announcement": Racing Sailor and Andy's Song are the pleased parents of a filly, Sailor's Song, born Saturday, August 4, and standing approximately 8 1/2 hands high. I understand the "grandparents" are doing well!

Peg Tinney and family were pleased to welcome relatives from England last week. Mr. and Mrs. R. Morse and daughter Jayne from Chapel Allerton, Somerset, are in B.C. for a three week visit.

This week, Peg is away to Castlegar to visit her daughter and son in law, Pat and Jim Waldie.

Welcome home to Hedy Eppel who has been in the Vancouver General Hospital for almost three weeks. She did appreciate the many acts of kindness shown her while hospitalized.

Jim and Muriel MacNeil and children are pleased to have his father, Arthur Deboo from Bowmanville, Ontario, here for a visit. Mr. Deboo has made a trip to Squamish every year since 1968.

Here it is vacation time again. You know what a vacation is. That's what you take when you can no longer take what you've been taking all along!

Thinking about vacations, Percy and Marjorie Hammerstrom spent a three week camping holiday that took them along the Alaska Highway to Whitehorse in the Yukon.

Rick Dawson decided to "leave the driving to us" and took a three week greyhound bus trip across Canada to Ottawa. After arriving on the mainland from the Queen Charlottes he was "on his way". Rick made stops in Calgary, Winnipeg, Kingston and finally Ottawa. On his return to the west coast he stopped off for a visit with his parents, Dick and Evelyn Dawson, before returning to the Queen Charlottes.

Wedding anniversary wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Russ Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Manzer, Mr. and Mrs. E. Ollander and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Mephram.

It looks like 'Paula' the clown (Paul MacKenzie) will be around for a number of years yet. Well perhaps not Paula forever, but how about that young son of his, 'A.J.' I think this young fellow has quite a future ahead of him - don't you?

Taking in all the fun of the Loggers Sports with Chuck and Gwen Rattray were friends Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilson of Maple Ridge and Mr. and Mrs. J. Adair and Mr. and Mrs. G. Holm from Coquitlam.

Ian and Jane Walker and children, Carl, Jimmie and Sarah spent a vacation at Watch Lake where horseback riding was the order of the day.

Valerie Bird wed at Squamish United Church

Squamish United Church was the scene of a beautiful wedding on Saturday, July 7, at 2 p.m. when Valerie Bird, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan E. Bird of Squamish, was united in marriage with Louis Nyiri, son of Mrs. Anna Nyiri of Vancouver.

Baskets containing sprays of basil and ferns adorned the altar for the ceremony. Rev. Jack Lindquist officiated, and Mrs. Wendell Tee played the organ.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose an ankle-length layered gown with a cream-coloured spaghetti-strapped underdress of satin polyester and a sheer floral print overdress with a draw-string neckline and long puff sleeves. A sash gathered the dress at the waist. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis, baby's breath and asparagus fern and a circlet of matching flowers was worn on her auburn hair.

Cheryl Bird, as her sister's maid of honour, and bridesmaids Michelle and Leanne Mitchell, cousins of the bride, wore identical calf-length gowns in varying pastel shades for the dresses and matching printed sheer cap sleeved jackets tied at the waist. They also carried bouquets which matched the one held by the bride.

Amanda Laithwaite, the groom's niece, as flower girl, wore a cream-coloured ankle length dress with ruffles at the neck and hem, trimmed in pink satin ribbon and white lace. She also wore a circlet of stephanotis, baby's breath and asparagus fern in her hair and carried a basket of matching flowers.

Christopher Laithwaite, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man, with Les Stoyanovich, Zoltan Nyiri, the groom's brother, and Tom Syroid acting as ushers. They wore boutonnières to match the bride's flowers. The groom's nephews, Geoffrey and Aaron Laithwaite, served as ring bearers, also wearing matching boutonnières and carrying wine coloured satin ring pillows.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bird chose a suit of polyester in a terracotta and light blue plaid on white, with accented pleated skirt and matching terracotta blouse, accented by a pink and white carnation corsage.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Nyiri, chose a sky blue suit with white bow-tied blouse and a white orchid corsage.

At the reception at the Masonic Hall which followed the ceremony, Gray Mitchell, uncle of the bride, was master of ceremonies. A long time family friend, Manuel Seymour of White Rock, proposed the toast to the bride.

Breaking convention, at the request of the bride, a toast was given to the groom by his new father-in-law, Mr. Alan Bird.

The bride's table was accented by the wedding cake, made by her mother and decorated by Mrs. Betty Shilling. It was three-tiered, iced in white and decorated with clusters of pink flowers with green leaves and pink lattice-work with the top tier featuring two large rings held by doves.

Convention was again disregarded as both married and unmarried men were invited to vie for the garter. It was caught by Glen Chabaylo, cousin of the bride, and a bachelor.

The bride's sister Brenda caught the bouquet but later presented it to the youngest miss at the reception, Angela Stoyanovich.

The couple spent one week of their honeymoon on Vancouver Island and then went camping for a week at their favourite spot, Trout Lake in the Lardeau Mountains near Revelstoke.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Nyiri are living in North Vancouver.

Relatives attending the wedding from out of town included the bride's sister Brenda Bird of Calgary, Alta., her cousin Glen Chabaylo from Lethbridge, Alta., Dr. and Mrs. George Johnson and Gary from the Okanagan. Also attending was the groom's sister Mrs. Chris Laithwaite from Campbell River and his cousin and her husband, Rossica and Ray Porter from Bahrain on the Persian Gulf.

Friends from Vancouver included Mr. and Mrs. Norm Adair, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Geiger, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Herd, Miss Doris Jensen, Ms. Agi Hajdu, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Laithwaite, Mr. Oemo Orpan and Ms. Kay Whipple, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Moon, Mr. and Mrs. George Samordin, Mrs. Heinz Veerman, and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Zsopka and son Steve.

From Vancouver Island came Mr. and Mrs. Tim Laithwaite of Port Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. James Forsythe and son David and Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Kavanaugh of Campbell River.

Attending from Port Moody were Mr. and Mrs. Les Stoyanovich and daughter Angela, from Burnaby Mr. and Mrs. John McLeod and from White Rock Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Seymour.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mainak of Seattle, long time friends of the groom and his family, were also present.

Girls who rode the Royal Hudson on its trip to Squamish the Sunday before the competition were, front row, Brenda Mensinger, Darcee LaRiviere, Bev Hughes, second row, Kathy Golden and Lorraine Campbell, and at the top, former Queen Marian Den Dekker and Carrie Boyd.

Four generations are represented here when family members gathered for the baptism of Desmond James Gilbert on July 7. Along with Desmond on his great grandmother Mrs. G. Watson's lap is older brother Shane. Standing at the back is grandmother Mrs. W. Westwood and the boys' mother Mrs. J. Gilbert.

Young couple wed in North Vancouver

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Olson of Squamish are pleased to announce the marriage of their youngest daughter, Joanne, to Kary Karton, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Clarke of Squamish.

The wedding took place in North Vancouver on Monday, July 27.

Comings and Goings

Mrs. Esther Lane enjoyed a visit from her daughter, Mrs. Peggy Hutton of North Vancouver, who was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Perry and their daughter from Glasgow, Scotland, and Mr. and Mrs. Hutton and their daughter of Churchill, New Zealand. The travellers are spending an enjoyable holiday touring around British Columbia for three weeks. Part of their itinerary included a visit with Peggy's daughter Mrs. Heather Begin of Port Hardy.

Col. and Mrs. Dan Munro and their son Carl of Edmonton are holidaying with his brother-in-law and sister Norman and Lynette Halvorson. Daughter Michelle arrived earlier for a longer stay with her Squamish cousins.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Lapointe and their son Mark were enjoying a holiday in the Kamloops and Cranbrook areas.

Silence is not necessarily always golden; there may be times when it is plain yellow.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Scott MacDonald on the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. John Makowichuk from their North Okanagan home.

Old friends of Stan Bennett, son of former residents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bennett, will be sorry to hear that he passed away in Grand Forks Hospital last week.

Mrs. J. S. Eadie celebrated her birthday last Thursday at the home of her daughter and son-in-law Marion and Martin Bochon. As an added pleasure her sister, Mrs. John Kenmuir of Powell River, who is exactly ten years younger than Mrs. Eadie, was also present.

Mrs. Kay Morrison and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Boscarol enjoyed a visit from their son and brother David Morrison and his wife of Williams Lake over the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Boscarol have recently returned from a trip to a family gathering at Kelowna.

Pemberton Community Plan will ask for local input

The official community plan being prepared for the Village of Pemberton is well under way with the firm of John Connelly and Associates undertaking the task. The study team includes the engineering consulting firm of Zoltan Kuhn and Associates of North Vancouver, which is undertaking the traffic and engineering servicing studies in the area.

The official plan will include a statement of the broad social, economic and environmental objectives to be achieved by implementation of the plan and a statement of the policies of the municipal council respecting the general form and character of the future land use pattern within the area.

This should include the location, amount and type of major commercial, industrial, institutional, recreational and public utility uses; the location, amount and density of residential development required to meet the needs of the area for the five years and protection of land areas subject to hazardous conditions.

It should also include preservation and protection of land and water areas of specific importance and the preservation of land needed for present and future food production.

No questionnaires will be circulated in the Pemberton area but, in order to have public involvement in the preparation of the plan posters stating that one is being prepared have been displayed in the community and participation has been invited.

Members of the public, the business community, council and provincial and federal government people have all been asked to obtain local comment and input for such a plan.

The plan will give the council of the Village of Pemberton the planning concerns and issues of the community and will provide objectives and policies for council and the people of the community during the coming five to ten year period.

If anyone wishes to contact John Connelly their name and telephone number could be left at the Pemberton Village office.

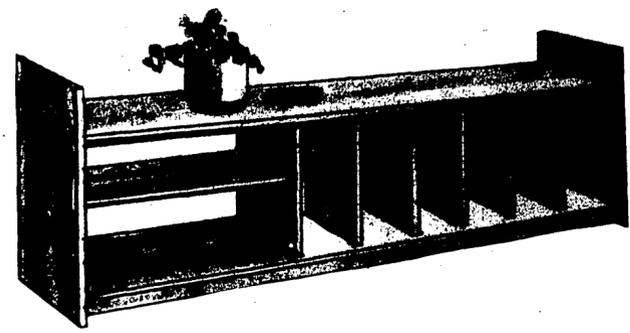

An informal public meeting and a Public Hearing will be held prior to the adoption of the plan and the time and place of these meetings will be advertised.

The Ministry of Municipal Affairs has provided a grant of $15,000 for the study and the village council has added a further $7,500.

Pemberton couple to teach in Nigeria

A Pemberton couple, Richard and Peggy Scott, have been assigned to Nigeria for two years as volunteers under the auspices of the Canadian University Service Overseas (CUSO).

They will participate in an orientation program in Ottawa from August 11-22 prior to departing overseas. CUSO is an independent, non-profit, development agency which sends skilled workers overseas to help Third World nations train their people in a fast-changing, technological world.

Set up in 1961, it originally recruited mainly young university graduates.

Now, as the needs of developing countries change, it has more requests for volunteers skilled in trades and technology.

Age is no longer a barrier. Many volunteers have years of experience to contribute as well as basic knowledge.

Quiet family wedding for local couple

Marriage Commissioner Jim Elliott united in marriage Phyllis Bowden and George Cleveland (Cleve) Dawson at a p.m. ceremony on Friday, July 20.

The matron of honour was sister of the bride, Betty Lloyd and the best man was Bob Dawson, brother of the groom.

A family reception was held at the home of Bob and Arlene Dawson. Coming from Edmonton on this special occasion was the bride's son and daughter in law and grandson, Lynn, Shirley and Garth.

Sawdust and Shavings

An indication of the drawing power of the annual Squamish Days celebration was the fact that there wasn't a vacant hotel or motel room anywhere near Squamish on the weekend and many people had brought recreational vehicles and camped out as well.

Overheard at the Squamish Hotel dining room "One volunteer is worth a dozen pressmen."

There were some wildly excited youngsters on the Royal Hudson last Thursday from an East Vancouver Community Centre. They were from the Day Care and Summer programs, all under six and had come up on the train and were feasting on pizzas at Mykonos.

The five leaders, who had excellent control of the group, said it was really wild whenever they came to a tunnel. The kids really enjoyed that!

One trenchant comment on Margaret Trudeau's latest remarks... "If she gets any flakier she'll become a French pastry!"

Lynn Wellard reports that the movie crew, shooting scenes for a television Walt Disney special at Daisy Lake ran into some snags on the last day of shooting when "Doc" the Kodiak bear refused to perform.

"His trainer said he was going on short rations," Lynn said. "He'll have to learn that if he doesn't work, he doesn't eat!"

It's better to be sun-burned on your vacation than to be tanned on your weekend!

Carloadings up at B.C. Rail in August

Carloadings on the British Columbia Railway in July totalled 14,710, a slight increase over the 14,591 cars loaded in the previous month.

Loadings for the first seven months totalled 95,213 compared with 93,612 during the corresponding period of 1978.

Showing an increase in July this year, compared with July last year, were movements of export lumber and local wood chips.

There was a substantial decrease in shipments of lumber eastern rail.

Mike Sweeney, formerly of Squamish, will play with the Canadian youth soccer team in the World Youth Tournament scheduled for Japan August 25 and September 1.

Mike Sweeney off to Japan

Mike Sweeney, formerly of Squamish, will soon be playing soccer in Hong Kong and Japan. Sweeney, 19, is a member of the Canada Youth Soccer Team which will compete for the Junior World Cup in Japan between Aug. 25 and Sept. 9. There are four sites for the games: two in Tokyo, one in Osaka and one in Kobe. Sweeney left for Hong Kong Friday, Aug. 10 to play in several exhibition games before travelling to Japan on Aug. 20 to play against Portugal, South Korea and Paraguay. The Canadian team defeated Costa Rica 4-0 in the Central and North American zone finals to insure their trip to the Orient. This will not be Sweeney's first taste of international soccer play. His first game with the Canadian team was against the Scottish team, Queen's Park, and he travelled to Honduras last December for the qualifying round games in the zone. "It's not the first time, still, every time is exciting. Although he has been playing soccer since he was five or six years old, he does not know if he will turn professional. "It's pretty hard-making the big time." He has played for the Canadian team for one year and previously had played for SFU for one year. Sweeney is taking an economics and commerce course at the university.

Council Briefs

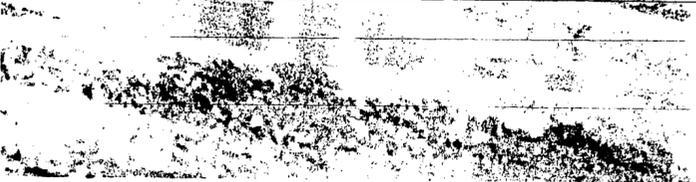

Big Scoop concept approved
The planning and design committee has approved the concept of the Big Scoop Sundae Palace. The ice cream parlour will be built on Cleveland Ave. kitty corner to the Chieftain Hotel.

Budgetary finance committee to study gravity sewer
The 1980 budgetary finance committee will study three gravity sewer systems to connect the main from the caretaker's building at Centennial Field to the gravity main on Centennial Way. The prices for the different systems are $7,350, $11,350 and $25,900.

Frank Wilson, works superintendent, recommends the third option, costing $25,900, be accepted because the pumping systems will accommodate the specific building only and power and maintenance will be continuous with possible replacement in the future.

Locals place well in B.C. summer games

Squamish was well represented at the B.C. Summer Games held in Richmond on August 3, 4 and 5. Six members of the Squamish Mountain Men (division of the Squamish Rod and Gun Club) competed in the black powder rifle shooting and Viola Hogarth emerged as a gold medal winner. There were seven women and 53 men competing and of the seven women, Viola was 12 points ahead of her nearest competitor. The other club members included Alan Hogarth, Wally Goral, Bill Graham, Max Tetachuk and John Ursulescu. Four high school students also had the thrill of participating in the Games. Tami Casey placed a respectable 5th in the high jump, Robin Reece was 7th in the triple jump and Andy Dawson placed 7th in the hammer throw. Colin Rempel of the Squamish Aquatic Club participated in several races. He was accompanied by Greg Clark and Dorothy Cram who were chaperones for the swimming region.

Owen Carney's face shows the dogged determination which won him the Pat Brennan Memorial Trophy this year in this best of the chokerman's race.

White takes top prize in truck roдео Aug. 6

Bob White of Squamish was the winner of the truck roдео held in the Highlands Mall parking lot Monday, Aug. 6. White had a total of 1,376 points, 769 from the second run and 607 from the first run, and a winning time of 4:54. Rocky Robson came second with 599 points from the first run and 695 from the second, for a grand total of 1,294. Wilf Murphy placed third with 1,180, Elgin Telachuk came fourth with 1,153 and Wayne Burt brought up the rear with 945. All prizes supplied by Super Valu.

All-native softball tournament weekend

The all-native provincial softball championships will be held in Brennan Park this Saturday and Sunday, August 18 and 19. Ten men's teams, including teams from Port Alberni, Skokale, Moricetown, Stoney Creek, Tsowout and Northbend, and 10 women's teams, including teams from Saanich, Ajynsh, Nanaimo, Penticton, Monashee, Stoney Creek and Kispiox, will play in the tournament. The first games start Saturday at 8 a.m. and the finals will be played Sunday at 7 p.m.

Timber Queen Carrie Boyd presents the first place trophy to Bob White during the truck roдео. White had a total of 1,376 for two runs.

Fishermen take care

Several streams in the Squamish area have been closed to fishing, according to the latest word from the Fish and Wildlife Branch.

These include the Cheakamus River which is closed to salmon fishing from the B.C. Rail bridge at mile 56.6 from Aug. 16 to Sept. 30. Cheekye River and Brohm Creek closed to all fishing.

Little Stawamus Creek is also closed and also Mashiter and Meghan creeks. Don't drop a salmon line in the Mamquam River from Aug. 16 to Sept. 30th and don't use roe in the Squamish, Mamquam or Stawamus Rivers.

There's also a closure on Chinook fishing in the Squamish River from June 1 to the end of the year.

Chicken still a good food buy

Despite the fact that chicken prices have risen sharply over the past year, up 31.4 percent over the same time last year but only 3 percent in the past month, it is still one of the best food buys on today's market.

Compared to beef which has risen 49 percent in the past year and 8.7 percent in the past five weeks, and pork which is up 13.6 percent over last year but down 0.3 percent in the past month, chicken is one of the best animal proteins you can buy.

Once you have bought your chicken, cook it carefully, and you'll have a tasty and appetizing meal. Try our recipe for Lemon-Light Chicken; or Pollo di Anna, a delicious version of grilled chicken or even Favorite Herb-Broiled Chicken. Your family will love them.

LEMON-LIGHT CHICKEN
Juice of 2 lemons or 4 tsps. lemon juice
Juice of two limes or 4 tsps. lime juice
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 tsp. crushed tarragon leaves
1/4 tsp. pepper
1/2 cup Mazola corn oil
1/2 cup dry white wine
2 1/2 to 3 1/2 pound chicken, cut up
Combine lemon juice, lime juice, tarragon leaves, pepper, corn oil and white wine in a large bowl. Place chicken in marinade. Cover and refrigerate for 8 hours or overnight. Remove chicken from marinade and arrange in shallow roasting pan. Bake in 425 oven basting occasionally with marinade. 55 to 60 minutes or until chicken is tender. Makes 4 servings.

POLLO DI ANNA
1/2 cup olive or peanut oil
1 large clove garlic
1 tsp. dark brown sugar
1 tsp. chopped fresh basil OR 1/2 tsp. leaf basil, crumbled
1 tsp. fresh lemon juice
1 broiler fryer (about 2 1/2 pounds) quartered
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
Heat the oil, garlic and sugar in a small saucepan, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Remove from heat and stir in lemon juice and basil. Brush over chicken and let marinate for 5 to 10 minutes. Grill, skin side up, 6 inches from hot coals for 15 minutes; turn and brush with the marinade; grill 15 minutes longer until tender but not dry. Before serving sprinkle with salt and pepper. While chicken is grilling, cook the zucchini and peppers.

FAVORITE HERB-BROILED CHICKEN
1/2 cup vegetable oil
1/4 cup cider vinegar
1 egg
1 tbsps. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
Pinch paprika
1 tsp. poultry seasoning
1/4 tsp. leaf thyme, crumbled
Pinch garlic powder
1/4 tsp. leaf oregano, crumbled
6 broiler-fryer chicken portions OR
One 4-5 pound roasting chicken
Combine oil, vinegar, egg, salt, pepper, poultry seasoning, oregano, thyme, garlic powder and paprika in a small bowl, beat with a fork to blend. Brush over chicken.
Grill chicken skin side up, 6 inches from hot coals, 15 minutes. Turn and baste with sauce. Continue turning and basting about 30 minutes longer or until chicken is tender but not dry.
For whole chicken: adjust and secure chicken on barbecue spit so it will turn freely. Brush all over with sauce. Place spit about six inches from hot coals. Start spit rotating and roast chicken brushing frequently with sauce, about 1 1/2 hours or until juices run clear when thigh area is pierced with a fork.

Senior Citizens news

Our next trip will be to the Exhibition on Senior Citizen's day, Wednesday, August 29th. The bus will leave the Squamish Manor at 10 a.m. and leave the Exhibition at approximately 5 p.m. Tickets are now on sale at Stewart's United Pharmacy. We have on hand, at the Manor, free gate stickers for Senior Citizens which can be used on Wednesday, August 22nd, and on the day of our trip August 29th. (Those seniors going on the chartered bus will receive their sticker on the bus). Let's fill the bus. We have ordered one to seat 49.

Due to cancellations from our group, we have reservations available for two ladies to go to the Royal Canadian Legion Camp at White Rock Sept. 3rd to Sept. 12th. Our local Legion sponsors this trip for us and the only cost is your transportation to and from White Rock. As we must advise the Legion Camp at once if we cannot fill these reservations - please phone Jessie Cameron 892-3318, or Fran Hurren at the Legion office (898-3444 by 2 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday 16th). We have two ladies going - we need two more.
