Woodfibre to reopen June 6

The Squamish Division of Western Forest Products, located at Woodfibre, will be re-opening on Monday, June 6, according to plant manager Stan Smart.

Smart told the Times that some workers would be called back for plant start-up a few days earlier. The plant has been closed since Feb. 11. A few workmen were called in for maintenance work, but were laid off as soon as the temporary work was done.

The wood plant will not commence operations till early July as there is a glut of chips at present with all the chips available from the mills. When the wood plant opens it will only be operating one shift.

While pulp prices are up, sales have not increased. Smart said the plant inventory was down to 16,000 tons and would probably be lower by the time the plant reopens.

About 400 people will be returning to work.

Plant labour dispute affecting production

A labour dispute at the Times North Vancouver printing plant has been causing a lot of confusion over the last couple of weeks.

The pressmen, members of the graphic arts union, have gone on strike and while negotiations are ongoing, production of the newspaper has been thrown into a constant state of flux.

Times staff is doing the best it can, under the circumstances, to keep the operation running as smoothly as possible and is attempting to get the paper back on a more regular schedule until the strike is settled.

Eight get degrees

Eight university students received their degrees from UBC at the spring convocation this year.

Marian, Amy Den Dekker of Brackendale received her Bachelor of Education (elementary); Brian Paul Butterworth of Garibaldi Highlands received his Bachelor of Science, majoring in geological science and Judith Una Gurney, also of Garibaldi Highlands, received her Bachelor of Science in nursing.

A diploma in dental hygiene was presented to Lisa Anne Searles of Garibaldi Highlands and a Bachelor of Education (elementary) to Fernanda Maria Rodriguez Martinez of Squamish.

Carol Marie Gilmore of Pemberton received her Bachelor of Education (elementary) and Kathleen Patricia Collin, also of Pemberton, received her Bachelor of Science in pharmacy.

Nancy J. Wilhelm-Morden of Whistler received her Bachelor of Laws.

Local man given award for bravery

A fast-thinking millwright who saved his co-worker from falling to his death has been given a Worker's Compensation Board

Bravery Award.

Gerald Olney of Squamish works for Western Forest Products at Woodfibre. He was working alongside Don Buchanan on June 25 last year when Buchanan was hit on the head by a falling beam. The blow knocked Buchanan towards an opening in the recovery building.

Instantly Olney reached out a hand and grabbed Buchanan, saving him from a 60 foot fall, which would undoubtedly have killed him.

Olney was given his Bronze Medal Bravery Award because his swift action saved his fellow worker and because he put his own safety at risk to save Buchanan, as he could easily have overbalanced and fallen himself.

Presenting the award on behalf of the WCB, Bravery Award Committee member Lief Hansen thanked Olney for his selfless and effective action.

The award was presented over a lunch Tuesday at the Loggers' Inn in Squamish, attended by representatives from management and the FPWC Local 3, which represents the Woodfibre workforce.

Fatal accident Saturday

A 24 year old Squamish resident was killed when he was thrown out of the back of a pickup truck when it rolled about 8 a.m. Saturday.

Thomas Robert Tobus was riding in the back of the truck and three males were in the cab of the vehicle which was travelling south on Highway 99. The accident occurred just north of the lights at Garibaldi Way.

The highway was closed off between Depot Road and Garibaldi Way and traffic was detoured to Government Road so the RCMP could complete their investigation of the accident site.

The cause of the accident is still under investigation and charges are pending against the driver of the truck and one passenger, but the names of the three people in the cab of the vehicle are not being released.

Break and enter at mining museum

The B.C. Museum of Mining at Britannia Beach was broken into and items valued at about $2,000 were stolen in an incident late Friday or early Saturday morning.

The third level of the museum, containing the history of Anacosta, was the target of the break and enter. A gold medal presented to Anacosta in 1931 and an antique .38 calibre revolver, valued at $2,000 total, were stolen from an open glass display case. RCMP are still investigating the incident.

Five convicted in Whistler assault

Five young men, four from the Lower Mainland and one from Washington, were convicted last Tuesday in Squamish provincial court before Judge C.J. Walker on charges of common assault, arising from a melee at a Whistler condominium at a 1982 New Year's Eve party.

They were among eight people charged after a party at the Alpine Meadows condominium complex ended with some of the partying youths attacking tenants in the condominiums.

Judge Ian Walker found North Vancouver resident Timothy Sheedy, 19, guilty on two counts of common assault; Gordon Beedler, 21, of North Vancouver; Ricardo Galvez, 19, of Bothell, Wash.; Kenneth Coe, 19, and William Cason, 21, both of West Vancouver, were found guilty on one count of common assault each.

The charges arose from events at the Snowbird Condominiums, a ten-unit complex at Whistler, on the night of Dec. 31, 1981. One unit was owned by William Patrick Catalano, another by the father of Robert Michael Basaraba, who was staying there on a holiday with guests and one owned by a Mr. Bellware.

During the evening a large group of young people, male and female, gathered at the unit owned by a Mr. Wynn, crowded the parking lot and filled the tenants' parking areas with their vehicles. The noise and large concentration of vehicles caused considerable annoyance to the occupants of the three units.

The four civilian witnesses described a chaotic scene, loud stereo music, but-door drinking, huge crowds indoors and out, visible urination and a crowded parking lot. Basaraba went to the unit in question, asked the group to move their vehicles and returned to his unit for dinner.

Approximately an hour later the confusion had not subsided and someone called the RCMP, who eventually came and took two men away.

A number of people had gathered in Catalano's unit for a New Year's drink and about midnight Basaraba looked out and saw two men urinating on the front porch. He ran out, pushed them down the stairs and asked someone at Catalano's to call the police.

Basaraba then went to Wynn's unit where a scuffle took place and he was jumped on by about ten males. He broke away and was chased back to his own porch.

Meantime Catalano went outside and saw Basaraba being chased onto his own porch. He went to Basaraba's assistance and was confronted by eight to ten males, was threatened and kicked in the leg, but broke away, running back to his own place.

About ten men also confronted

Basaraba on his porch; he was repeatedly assaulted before he made it into his own unit. Meanwhile a bottle was thrown through the window of his unit.

The police were called again and arrived at about 1 a.m., broke the door into the Wynn unit and removed a number of people.

During the trial, which involved hearings on nine different dates over the course of ten months, a number of arguments were raised by defence counsel claiming that some of the assaults were provoked.

However, Judge Walker ruled there was no provocation of Sheedy by Basaraba or Catalano and that Beedler, Galvez, Coe and Cason were all involved in the assault and attacks on Basaraba.

Whistler's Black Vancouver found a way to beat the heat Saturday far away from the madding crowd. He went to a spot six miles east of Whistler on the Squamish River where the rushing snow melt made the temperature at water's edge extremely cool. That was a good thing as the air temperature climbed to about 33C.

FMC manager dies suddenly

Joseph W. (Joe) Kass, resident manager of FMC of Canada's chloralkali plant in Squamish, died at his home in Garibaldi Highlands last Wednesday night. He was 53.

Kass had been resident manager at the Squamish plant for the past six years, transferring here from Pocatello, Idaho, where he had managed the FMC plant for four years. Prior to that, he held senior positions with the company in New York City; Carteret, New Jersey; and Kemmerer, Wyoming.

He held the position of vice-president of FMC of Canada Limited.

Kass leaves his wife, Sarah, two sons and a daughter. The sons and daughter are U.S. residents. Funeral service and burial were in Pocatello, Idaho.

Break in

The Garibaldi Lanes building was broken into on the night of May 21.

Police said a coke machine and the pinball machines were broken into and approximately $150 was taken.

The case is still under investigation.

Last rites for Fred Downer

Fred Downer, who passed away on May 26 in his 99th year, was one of the early settlers of Squamish and a pioneer railroad man.

Downer, who was born in Chichester in Sussex in 1884 and came to Canada 20 years later to join a friend who had emigrated earlier. He worked his way west and finally arrived in Squamish in 1910.

He drove the old One Spot for the Howe Sound, Pemberton Valley and Northern Railway and was engineer on the Two Spot when the railway became the Pacific Great Eastern. That engine is now the one sitting in the park in Squamish.

He worked for the logging railway and when the PGE started operations he was told he would have to upgrade his skills to become the railway's engineer as his qualifications were only for a logging train.

Downer was married in North Vancouver in 1912 and settled in Squamish with his wife and family. He went fishing and worked at a number of other jobs in the area including working with a fish warder.

In his later years he became interested in painting and worked in oils as well as pen and ink.

He lived in the Cedars for the last ten years of his life.

He is survived by one son John, a daughter Ruth, Mrs. Frank Wilson, both of Squamish and another daughter Alice, Mrs. Lester Goddes, of Vancouver, many grandchildren and great grandchildren.

A memorial service was held in the Squamish Funeral Chapel on Monday, May 30 at 1 p.m. Rev. Father Walters officiating. In lieu of flowers donations to the Squamish Intermediate Care Society would be appreciated.

Four accidents

Four accidents in the past week resulted in several people being treated for minor injuries in hospital.

On May 20 on Highway 99 south of Porteau, Hazel Lassmann of Squamish, travelling north, left the road causing damage to her vehicle amounting to $2,500. She told police she was not feeling well and fell asleep at the wheel. She has been charged with driving without due care and attention.

On May 21 on Valley Drive and Highway 99, a vehicle driven by Michael Nahane of Squamish suffered $1,000 damages when it was in collision with another driven by Steve Alexander of Squamish. Nahane was travelling south and Alexander west on Valley Drive when the collision occurred. Alexander has been charged with failing to yield at an intersection.

north of Lyall Creek a vehicle driven by John Sleight of Vancouver, suffered damages amounting to $3,000 when an oncoming vehicle forced him off the road. Sleight said he was travelling south, was forced off the road, over corrected and crossed the road and overturned in a ditch. The case is still under investigation.

On May 23 on Highway 99 near Lions Bay, 16 year old Ronald Schneider of Mt. Lehman, travelling north, said his vehicle had steering problems and he hit a rock face and turned upside down. Damages amounted to $5,000. The driver and a passenger, 18 year old Tony Elliott of Nanaimo, were taken to Lions Gate Hospital.

No charges have been laid.

Insulators cause of outage

As shoppers and residents of Squamish know, the lights went out here Saturday.

A problem in B.C. Hydro's substation on Loggers Lane caused the power failure.

"One of the insulators just blew apart", probably because of heat stress, Gary Wong of B.C. Hydro said Monday.

All of Squamish was out of power from about 3:17 to 4:22 p.m. Saturday, but Hydro found the broken insulator and fed around it to restore power.

Exchange teacher Steve Manlow and his wife Marilyn were honoured at a going away party last week. They are returning to England.

Volunteers aiding growth of library

The volunteers, who put in so many hours making the Squamish Public Library available to the public, were honoured at the annual library dinner, held in the Logger's Inn on May 24.

judge the needs and direction of the community, it is expected.

"In a multi-cultural society such as Squamish this is essential," she added.

Library board chairman John Crowther welcomed the guests, stressed the work done by the volunteers and thanked them for their help.

Alderman Minchin, speaking for the municipality, also commented on the terrific service done by the volunteers who come out faithfully to do their stint at the library desk.

Librarian Jane Horvath said that Squamish was fortunate to have 35 men and women who regularly, throughout the year, make a gift of their time to the library. Collectively during 1982 they volunteered in excess of 1,600 hours, which is indeed a valuable gift.

"The strength of the volunteers and concern of an informed board contributes to the growth of the library, as does the curiosity of an expanding community. The support and encouragement of an enlightened mayor, council and municipal administrators inspires enthusiasm in the staff," she said.

Horvath added that they were aware of the efforts being made to plan for the future growth of the library and to this end, through a variety of programs, the library was building bridges into the community.

When the goals are within reach there will be structures in place which will enable it to accurately

"During 1983 we have been fortunate in that all grants applied for have been approved, which will enable us to begin compiling our local history collection and also provide summer employment for eight students.

"Through the generosity of the Leon and Thea Koerner Foundation we will acquire a micro fiche/film reader and with the co-operation of Capilano College, will have the Squamish Times newspaper microfilmed.

"Canada Council Book program has supplied us with 80 non-fiction books for the collection".

Horvath said these were small items but do help develop the library.

The board is initiating a "Friends of the Library" project. It will consist of a loosely knit group of people who would like to help the library on a more casual basis rather than within the more formal structure of the board and volunteer schedules.

The first meeting will take place on June 7 at 7:30 p.m. in council chambers and all interested parties are invited to attend.

"When Laura Harris left us she gave us buttons reading 'I love my library' and by your catpaw all of you this evening have proved that you do indeed love your library and your library loves you", Horvath concluded.

Little brothers waiting

On May 18 Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Squamish board members hosted a banquet at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant for the local members.

Big brothers and little brothers, big sisters and little sisters, and other guests feasted on lasagna and salads followed by cheesecake for dessert.

The excellent meal, prepared by the Wagon Wheel staff, was enjoyed by all 20 people in attendance.

President Paul Hickman presented Nancy Harris with a thankyou gift for a job well done as treasurer in 1982.

Following the dinner, the regular monthly board meeting was held. The priority at this time is recruitment. Big Brother volunteers are needed as there is a waiting list of little brothers.

If you have three or four hours a week to have a good time, as well as provide some male influence and guidance to a needy young boy in our community, apply to become a Big Brother.

Big Sisters are on hand to help young girls in need. A little sister is a young girl, seven to thirteen years of age, needing an extra female friend whom she can turn to, rely on and trust.

For more information on how you may become a Big Brother or to refer a little sister applicant, contact Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Squamish at 892-3125 anytime.

ICE USER'S MEETING

Representatives of the Ice Users are invited to attend the annual Ice User Meeting with the Parks and Recreation Commission on Monday, June 13th, 1983 at 7:00 p.m. in the Junior Lounge of the Squamish Civic Centre.

Written requests must be forwarded to the Civic Centre not later than June 8th, 1983 for consideration.

For further information contact the Civic Centre at 898-3804.

510 graduates at Capilano College

On May 15, 510 students from Capilano College took part in the 1983 graduation ceremonies at Centennial Theatre in North Vancouver.

After welcoming remarks from principal Paul Gallagher and chairman of the College board, Hilda Rizum, the overflowing crowd of graduates, friends and relatives heard an address by graduation speaker Bruce Pepper, president of the Vancouver Board of Trade.

Elaine Young, computer systems management student, was the valedictorian for the occasion and made an impressive presentation.

Present at the ceremony to award the Lieutenant Governor's Medal to Maxine Donaldson of Business Office Training was Lieutenant Governor Bell-Irving himself, who after awarding the medal made a few brief remarks.

Other special awards presented were: Governor General's Silver Medal and T. Buck Suzuki Memorial Scholarship to Mark Seger, academic; Principal's Award to Frances Ellen Thomas, academic and Lesley Ann Walker, business management; Harold Kirchner Scholarship to Brenda Allison Baird, commercial music and Maxine Donaldson, business office training; CGA Scholarship to Philip John McCourt and Tracey Lorraine Sine of business management; IBM Scholarship to Tammy Doreen Braidon, medical office assistance; Grace Green, word processing; and Gisela H.I. Labrie, legal secretary program; Society of Management Accountants Scholarship to William A. Craig and Leslie Ann Walker, business management.

One important note: the small number of academic students represented at the graduation is no indication of the number of academic students who complete their courses each year.

Since most academic students are on a university transfer program and their work at Capilano represents only the first two years of their post-secondary education, they seldom apply for the college's diploma or attend the graduation ceremony.

For career students who have finished their two year program, on the other hand, graduation generally marks the end of their education (for the time being at least) and the beginning of a career out in the "real world".

Banff Centre celebrating 50th anniversary this year

Vacationing in Banff this year? Or passing through? If so you will find even more than usual to enjoy in this spectacular site in the Rockies in 1983.

The Banff Centre, home of the annual Festival of the Arts, is celebrating its 50th anniversary with a variety of special events.

A special event, an exhibit called The Second Link: Viewpoints on Video in the Eighties, by video artists from all over, will be displayed July 8-21 in the gallery, from noon to 3 p.m. daily.

The Banff Centre started out, in 1933, as the Banff Summer School of the Arts Related to the Theatre, in response to the interest in theatre widespread in Alberta at that time. The centre now runs the internationally-known schools of management, of fine arts and a conference centre (used mainly in winter), as well as the festival, now in its 13th year.

The festival runs from May to October. Some of the events specially chosen to take place during the centre's 50th anniversary are new dance works by Eva von Gency, Brian Macdonald and a choreographer yet to be named. These will be performed July 28-30.

Other festival highlights include Richard Strauss's opera Ariadne auf Naxos, July 13-16; Shakespeare's Twelfth Night, July 27-31; and Oklahoma! by Rodgers and Hammerstein, August 18-20.

Tickets are usually available to a play or two of a performance (except perhaps for Oklahoma!), but to get tickets or information ahead, write the Box Office, The Banff Centre, P.O. Box 1020, Banff, Alberta, T0L 0C0, or call (403) 762-5561.

All this variety of cultural events takes place near a small town in a large national park.

League and playoff champs in the darts league were the Crazy 8's, from left - Glenora Odenbach, John Shaw, Louie Acorn and Terry Reed.

Darts league honours champs

The Squamish Darts League honoured winners of various events at the annual darts league banquet held in the Royal Canadian Legion Hall on Friday.

President Dave Musselwhite and treasurer Bernice Reed did the honours and helped present the trophies to the winners.

Winners of both the league play and the playoffs were the Crazy 8's Louie Acorn, Glenora Odenbach, Terry Reed and John Shaw. In second place in the league were the Six Pack Laurence Leedham, Greg Acorn, Sheila Harley and John Smith, who also placed third in the playoffs.

Third place in the league and second place in the playoffs went to the New Waves with Ted Odenbach, Malt Carey, Carla Crosson and Bernice Reed.

Winners of the ladies singles was Shelley Neilly, followed by Bernice Reed and Catrol Carmichael and for the men it was Gary Harley, followed by Ian Fitzsimmons and Louie Acorn.

Doubles winners were Gary Harley and Wayne Mrammell, followed by Helen Acorn and Bill McAdam and Brian Hopkins and Bernice Reed.

Perfect scores were made by Louie Acorn, Dave Musselwhite, Ian Hall and Malt Carey. Louie Acorn made a men's high score of 177 while nine women all held the same high score of 140. They were Alice Wild, Wendy Acorn, Iola Files, Shirley Dundas, Helen Acorn, Sheila Harley, Carla Crosson, Bernice Reed and Ruth Yake.

The Halfway Cup, to the team which is ahead at the halfway mark, was presented to Dave Musselwhite, Bruce Proudfoot and Karen and Les Smith. Alice Wild received the most improved trophy for the women and Steve Acorn for the men.

At the end of the evening the new executive was elected with Bernice Reed chosen as president and Carla Crosson as secretary.

Dodgers off to good start in Sr. Babe Ruth

By Mike Eckerley

Besides winning, the one aspect of all sports that teams strive for is basic competitiveness.

If a club is thoroughly demoralized every time it steps on to the field pretty soon interest in the game fades away.

Luckily for many years now, the Squamish Dodgers, while competing against Vancouver sides in the Sr. Babe Ruth League, have not experienced such difficulties.

Or is it luck? Before they dropped their first double-header at home, the team, under the management of Dale Rockwell, was off to one of its best starts.

True, a couple of games being rained out didn't hurt matters but sweet victory was theirs on May 1 as the Dodgers, using their own words, "waxed" Davies Pharmacy 9-1 and 8-0 in the season opener.

Glen Antosh pitched the win in the first match as he struck out nine batters and put out another two.

Teammate Bob Babuin finished off the series in game two by striking out four, putting out four and assisting on a pair.

On May 12, Squamish increased its record to 3-0 as Antosh hurled a 5-3 victory over Keith's Plumbing. For the win all Antosh had to do was strike out five batters and retire an additional six.

Things took a slight turn for the worst on May 15, however as errors resulted in Rockwell's crew it is always Squamish's team when they win and the manager's when they lose - being knocked off twice in their home park at the hands of Coquitlam.

In the top of the sixth inning of the first contest in the double-header, with the score 5-4 in favour of the visitors, Antosh got himself in a spot of trouble as he loaded the bases.

With two away the seventh Coquitlam batter popped the ball to left field where a Squamish player was preparing to snare it for the third out. But before this could happen the centre fielder came across in front of his teammate and tipped the ball to the ground.

As a result the error turned into a triple, bringing in three runs and putting Coquitlam well in front and off to an eventual 13-6 victory. They collected five more runs in the seventh thanks to their ability to pick holes in the infield.

Undaunted by this loss, Dodgers went into the second match looking for a win; it eluded them in extra innings as Coquitlam came away with a 7-5 squeaker.

Still, Squamish didn't go down without a fight this time for they opened up by jumping in front 3-0 in the first frame. The three lead off men, Fern Raguero, Pat Seeley and John Stuart, all came home on unearned runs.

This, combined with some sparkling pitching by Babuin, who struck out six batters and saw to it that 14 others failed to get on base, made it look as if the Dodgers were on their way to a victory.

Going into the top of the seventh inning the home boys were trying to preserve a 4-3 lead but had to settle for overtime as a Coquitlam blast to left field drove in the tying run.

In the top of the eighth the Vancouverites connected three more times after Babuin, who had walked the first two batters, gave way to Paul Watson on the mound.

Squamish then fell short in its turn at the plate as Seeley sacrificed to bring in Raguero, but two men were left stranded when Jim Burnie and Terry Van Den Maagendberg went down to finish the match.

On May 29 the team, using a format of playing down in Vancouver one week and then returning for a home series the next, was competing in its own park. Their opponent was Keith's Plumbing in a double header.

Due to the excessive use of water for garden sprinkling, the District of Squamish Water Department cannot keep up with the demand. Therefore, in order that sufficient storage of water is maintained for fire fighting and household use, water restrictions are going into effect immediately.

Water restrictions for garden use will be as follows:-

- Odd numbered houses on odd days
- Even numbered houses on even days

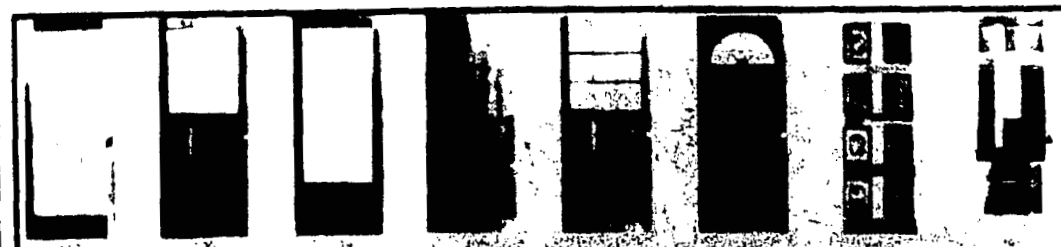

This restriction will be in effect until further notice and the cooperation of all residents will be appreciated.

Mt. Currie wins on goal aggregate

With their quick, accurate passes, hard work on and off the ball and some strong goalkeeping, the Mount Currie Strikers took all the honours on a Victoria Day holiday weekend.

The event was the Squamish Native Sons Invitational soccer tournament that was made up of four teams: Mt. Currie, the Native Sons, the Cheekye Chiefs and the North Shore Chiefs.

Led by the competition's most valuable player in Bryson Edmonds, the Strikers posted a 2-1 record in the two day event with their only loss coming at the hands of Squamish's own Native Sons in the final, by the score of 3-2.

Now wait just a minute, if they lost in the final to a club that possessed a similar 2-1 record, how then do they get away with calling themselves the champs?

The answer is quite simple as one of the organizers, Bebe Lewis, explained. Mt. Currie won on aggregate having scored three more goals than the local heroes.

In their first match, the Strikers walloped the eventual third place finishers (and most sportsmanlike club) the Cheekye Chiefs 7-1, though some claimed the score was 8-1.

While the score difference of a goal didn't matter in this game, it did in the best as the Native Sons best the tournament all-star goals of Mt. Currie three times to extend the champs to a 3-1 lead.

The Strikers, however, got around this by claiming a victory thanks to a 4-3 edge on corner kicks.

So luck, as always, did play a part. But the Sons, which also earned their first win over Cheekye, that being 4-3, did have one consolation. Out of the 11 all-star players, they fielded six players.

Lawrence George headed this list for Squamish at his every goal - which was 70 per cent of his team's total output. Let all shooters, Matt George, Colin Quast, Ross Macfarlane, Gordon Newman and Willie Johnny were all chosen from the Squamish side.

Mt. Currie, meanwhile, besides Edmonds and their all-star keeper, got some outstanding support from Tom Phillips, Alex Pascal and an unidentified fifth individual.

Bill Lewis and Gilbert Jacobs were selected from the Cheekye side with the North Shore Chiefs accounting for last place and no all-stars.

Cheekye Chiefs, in dark shirts, did their best to score, but managed only one goal as Mt. Currie Strikers won the game 7-1 and went on to take tournament honours in the Native Sons Invitational May 21 and 22.

Memory of a West Coast Fisherman

I wonder if you know the men
Who fish our western coast?
I'd like to tell you of just one
I knew, and loved the most.

His hands were old, like centuries
Of gnarled and weathered work
And on his leathery face
The sea had left her mark.

Tales he told of days gone by
Along the western shore,
Of fishing in the bays and coves
For forty years or more.

He knew the Swedes, the Finns, the Greeks,
All men with mutual dreams
Of bigger boats and stronger nets
To handle next year's seas.

I saw him once, while at his work
Out on the stormy sea
And with respect that's true and deep
I hold that memory.

There's just a few of all mankind
Who make their life at sea.
And I am richer to have known
One, through my destiny.

Bantams fair well in Vancouver games

Quite often when a Squamish team is competing against their counterparts from Vancouver, whether it be in soccer, hockey, or baseball, it seems the locals, as far as the opposition is concerned, are considered poor in quality and/or competitiveness.

In other words, to coin a phrase, Squamish is strictly "bush league".

On May 15 four local bantam girl softball squads did their bit to dispell this rumour. In total about 75 parents and players were bussed down on that date by Terry Aldridge - whom everyone would like to thank - to Lynn Valley.

They were greeted by a gravel field, no concession stand, no washroom facilities, no balls and nobody.

That's right, at game time the opposition had yet to put in an appearance, which prompted one of the local coaches to exclaim, "Our league is far better run up here (in Squamish); it is better organized."

Nevertheless when the games finally got under way they all managed to have "a good time", especially considering the positive results.

With each team competing in two contests, for a total of eight, the Squamishites came away by winning five and losing three. Both GarDee Trucker and the Burger Baronettes went undefeated in their matches.

The Blue Angels split their series 1-1 and the Dairy Queen had to settle for two losses.

Out of it all, the four clubs undoubtedly gained more than just an ounce of respect.

At home, on the other hand, the situation is slightly different for it is GarDee and the Burger

Baronettes that have experienced some trouble of sorts while the Blue Angels are on top of the league.

On May 16 the Angels reminded the Baronettes of this fact as the pitching arm of Lone Jensen, combined with some strong hitting on the part of her teammates, led the former side to a 20-11 shellacking.

At first the game was relatively close as both sides exploded for four points in the first inning. But in the next three at bats, Jensen shut down the Baronettes, allowing only three hits and stranding one runner in each frame.

At the same time the Blue Angels continued to build up the score, collecting five in the second, four in the third, three in the fourth and closing with another four in the fifth.

Leading the pack was Jensen as she, in her six times at bat, connected for a hit each time, batting six runners and scoring four times herself, thanks to two stolen bases.

And while a late comeback bid by the Baronettes fell short, such was not the case on Wednesday as they decided to make amends by walloping the GarDee Trucker 22-4.

Like Monday's match, Angelica Vergara and Deanne Shantz split the pitching duties, allowing only seven hits by GarDee.

The Baronettes, on the other hand, got some strong hitting from the bottom of their line-up as Coline Gratton went five for five, batting in two runs and scoring four times, as did Vergara.

For GarDee the loss was their second of the week as they had earlier been defeated by the Dairy Queen, a team that later fell before the might of the streaking Blue Angels on Wednesday.

Sweeney stars for Whitecaps

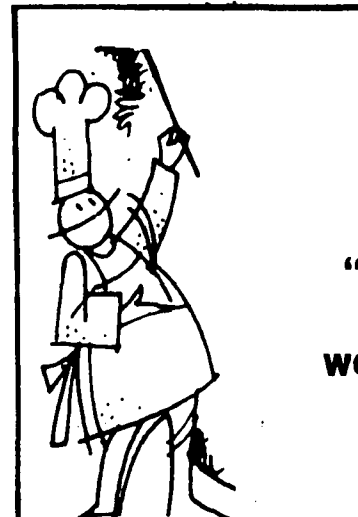

Several Squamish Whitecaps supporters left the May 23 soccer game at Empire Stadium with a genuine sense of pride. The significance of the introduction, prior to the game, of Michael Sweeney as a Canadian National player stirred local hearts.

His play and conduct during the game from the outset conjured thoughts of he and the Whitecaps taking part in the Soccer Bowl '83.

In the first two minutes Sweeney assisted on a Fran O'Brien goal which shocked the opposing Chicago team. From then until the 76th minute when Carl Valentine put away a Sweeney cross, the trio of O'Brien, Thygyesen and Sweeney put on one of the better displays seen at Empire Stadium.

Soccer is a game intended to be played for fun - although it does have its serious side at the professional level - and that is how Mike Sweeney makes it look. There was no putting, shoving or questioning of the officials but only exciting, well-played soccer.

Sweeney covered far more than his share of the turf at Empire Stadium displaying skills seen in few Canadian players.

A night of "Fun and Fashions" is planned for the Highlands Mall on Thursday at 8 p.m. The fashion show will feature all the Timber Queen contestants as well as younger members of the community. This will be the first public appearance for the young ladies. Stephanie Hudson, from CISQ radio, will commentator. A make-up demonstration will also be part of the evening. All shops in the mall will participate and spot prizes will be awarded every 20 minutes.

Special bargains will make your trip to the mall well worthwhile as the stores will be open from 9 to 11 p.m.

The Royal Canadian Legion's provincial convention was held in Vernon this week until Wednesday. Local legion delegates and spouses include Dave and Peggy Watt, Del and Bessie Stephens and Bill and Margaret Curran.

Here's a little thought for the week: There are at least four things you can do with your hands: you can wring them in despair, (like when there is a strike!), you can fold them in idleness, you can clench them in anger, or you can put them to some useful task.

Mrs. Lillian Newbert of Edmont was a visitor to Squamish recently and she enjoyed seeing her sisters and their families, Freda Clarke and Rose Tatlow.

Celebrating birthdays this week are Patricia Osterberg, Simon Daw, Gayle Keyes, David Prothero, Izzy Boscarol, John Lacoursiere, Roslyn Bryant, Shaun Marriot, Angelica Vergara, Anne French, Bob Moloughney, Ethel Robson, Karen Dudge, Bruce Rourke, Dustin Roberts, Jamie Wilde, Conrad Fassler, Davina Bush, Josephine Pascuzzi, Landa Peeman, Shaun Marriot, Margi Forde, Sandi Blin, Russell

Monda, Daniel Sargent, Nicki Confortin, Daryl Zacharko, Maurine Wright, Alida Hoogenboom, Jesse Mahinger, Leigha Vinson and Debbie Steeves.

Also having birthdays are Colleen Eaton, Sigrid Wilson, Jesse Burnside, Tony Mameli, Brenda Gillis, Kathryn MacKenzie, Jean-Alain Chinnapen, Alana Sinclair, Trevor Foley, Mike Drake, Danny Baker, Kenny Pattullo, Cindy Mason, Barbara Schultheiss, Mary Jost, John Drenka, Jim Harley and Jamie Knight.

Two little ones with first birthdays this week are Master Christopher Kent and Miss Shannen Mameli.

Thinking about birthdays and gifts — would you agree the nice thing about a gift of money is that it's so easy to exchange??

The "buckle up" seat belt campaign must be working. A friend of mine who generally doesn't bother with her seat belt suggested that I buckle up before we took off in her truck last week.

Ray and Svea Mountainay were pleased to have his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McNally of Regina, visiting them.

Guides Anne Brander was one of the guides honoured at the annual guides meeting last week. How long has Anne been involved in the guiding movement? Well a few years ago Marianne (Schutz) Tichauer and Joanne (Dickie) O'to were girl guides when Anne first became involved in guiding. Now Marianne and Joanne are brownie leaders and have daughters of their own in brownies.

The Squamish Hospital Auxiliary looks after the hospital library and two new additions are books from the B.C. Lung Association. The books give hints on how to stop smoking and also give a bit of a "morale booster!" — after you've licked the habit. Anyone wishing further information on this subject is asked to contact Janet Duxbury at 892-3362.

The Squamish Valley Music Society is sponsoring a public recital for Karen Pattullo. This will give Karen some public experience before taking her Toronto Conservatory Music grade ten piano exams. Everyone is invited to the Squamish Baptist Church at 8 p.m. Friday night.

Wedding anniversary wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Bears, Mr. and Mrs. Don Lecky, Dr. and Mrs. Alan Lam, Mr. and Mrs. Al McIntosh, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bonar, Dr. and Mrs. Laverne Kindree, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Bortolotto and Mrs. and Mrs. Chris Jenkins.

A Hawaiian dinner and dance is being planned by the ladies auxiliary to the Legion Branch #277 on June 11. Susie France and her band will entertain you throughout the evening. Susie was a big hit at the Burns Supper in January. Tickets at $25. couple are available at the Legion, Times office and Fashionality Shop.

A trip to Winnipeg was enjoyed by Dave and Peggy Watt earlier this month. They visited their daughter and son in law, Jane and Paul Boni, and granddaughters Alicia and Amanda.

Oranges provide cool summer snack

Orange kisses are a neat candy substitute. Citrus refresher is nothing more than home-made orangeade zipped up with apple juice and maple syrup. For a real treat, keep a supply of chocolate-dipped orange crunch on hand in the refrigerator or freezer.

ORANGE KISSES

2 cups Valencia orange juice
2 to 3 cup sugar
1/4 cup coarsely shredded orange peel

ORANGE CRUNCH

4 to 6 navel oranges, sectioned
4 ounces German sweet chocolate
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
2 tbsps. light corn syrup
Chop nuts, coarsely crushed cereal, flaked coconut, crushed granola, crushed cookies.

Place orange sections on paper towelling to dry. In small saucepan, heat chocolate, butter or margarine and corn syrup over low heat until melted. Stir until smooth. Reheat as necessary. Dip orange segments halfway into chocolate and toss with desired crunchy coating.

CITRUS REFRESHER

2 cups Valencia orange juice
1 1/2 cups apple juice

Katimavik youth present program

The Katimavik people who are working on local projects in Squamish showed some slides of the purpose of Katimavik and talked about their reasons for joining the movement Thursday.

The young people wrote about their experiences and these were placed on the walls for everyone to look at. In addition they answered questions about why they joined the program and what they were getting from it.

A small but interested group of people attended the presentation and showed a keen interest in the work done by Katimavik.

Special night with Folk Song Circle

Join the celebration! Come to the Brackendale Art Gallery at 8 p.m. Friday for an evening of music and fun. It's the Squamish Folk Song Circle's 5th Anniversary.

The Circle will welcome back former member Dave Baker as well as long-time regulars Carol Finnie, Joanna Schwarz, Roseanna and Detlef Rudolf, Astrid Anderson and Marie Atkins. Many others will also be on hand.

Another out-of-town guest as a special surprise, will delight you with his unique arrangements for harpsichord, harmonica, recorder, guitar and mandolin. There will be songs for audience participation.

The celebration on June 3 promises to be a fresh change from the usual routine. There will be something for everyone.

Tasty refreshments will be available for sale.

Anne Brander recipient of certificate of merit

Anne Brander, retiring division camp advisor, as well as receiving a camp sweatshirt (from Squamish district), was presented with a 15-year numeral and the prestigious certificate of merit award at the 1983 annual dinner and meeting held in the legion hall on May 25.

She received a standing round of applause as she came forward to receive this award given for exceptional service.

It was the commissioner's opinion that "Anne Brander lived girl guiding and that she exemplified the laws we strive to put into practice."

Guiders of the Garibaldi Division of the Girl Guides of Canada welcomed Lions area Commissioner Pat Druggie. She told the assembled guests and husbands that "Garibaldi Division is growing and that means you're keeping your girls."

She also issued all present the challenge of learning or trying something new and different in the coming year.

Greetings were brought from the school board by Trevor Harris and from the scouts by Urbain Mangan.

Jonathan Brett and Julie Anderson from CISQ radio and Maureen Gilmour from the Times, with husband George, also attended. The World Hunger Grace was led by Anne Brander.

Former Commissioner Joanne Dheilly, who is also Squamish alderman, mentioned the significance of the beautiful butterfly decorations as being a part of the logo of "Serendipity" - upcoming international camp.

Thanks to all the girls in brownies, guides and pathfinders for constructing such wonderfully colourful decorations.

Twenty-five of the international guests will be trooping to Alice Lake for a picnic with any Garibaldi Division girls and guides who can attend on August 7.

Local delegate at Lung convention

The B.C. Lung Association held its annual convention in Vancouver on May 19 and 20.

Among the approximate 60 delegates was Janet Duxbury, a member of the Squamish Hospital Auxiliary.

An explanation of how the organization functions was presented by several speakers and through slide presentations.

On Thursday afternoon, convention delegates were taken on a tour of the pulmonary department of St. Paul's Hospital where a great deal of research is done on lung diseases and related illnesses.

The B.C. Lung Association supplies much of the equipment used in this department. It also pays the salaries of some of the staff at both this unit of the hospital and the Vancouver General. Some of the money donated to Christmas Seals goes towards equipment and salaries.

The new president for the coming year is Dr. McKenzie with Dr. King as vice-president.

Scott McDonald is the new executive director. He is in charge of the Seal Wall Fitness van stationed in Stanley Park during the summer. Some business firms donate large sums of money for the upkeep of this vehicle and staff of five.

In the past year there was an increase in the number of TB patients with more men than women affected.

THANK YOU

We would like to express our heartfelt thanks to our many friends and neighbours for the thoughtfulness and care shown to us during the recent loss of a beloved husband, father and grandfather, Oliver Nelson. Special thanks are extended to the doctors and nursing staff at Squamish General Hospital. The comforting words of Rev. Jack Lindquist were much appreciated.

Science degree for Brian Butterworth

Brian Paul Butterworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Butterworth, received his Bachelor of Science degree majoring in geological science. He received his degree at convocation exercises at the University of British Columbia on Thursday, May 26. Butterworth received his elementary and secondary education in Squamish, graduating from Howe Sound Secondary School in 1974. He is an assistant geologist with a mining company in Northern B.C. and the Yukon.

Ministers offering marriage preparation

The spring session of the Marriage Preparation Course, presented by the Squamish Ministerial Association, has recently been completed. Eight couples attended the four-session course which is intended to help those contemplating marriage make their happy and joyous life together. Sessions cover the need and ways of communicating, budgeting and legal matters, love and the family, and the nature of the marriage commitment. The growing epidemic of troubled marriages and unhappy homes and the alarming rate of divorce in our community and nation indicates the need for this type of preparation for marriage. The Christian pastors of the community believe marriage is meant to be a gift of love which brings great joy and happiness, and therefore have been presenting this course three times a year. It is designed to provide engaged couples with a positive growth experience which will strengthen their relationship and help pave the way to happy marriages. The fall course is scheduled to begin on October 13. Those who are considering marriage should consider attending. Contact any of the members of the Squamish Ministerial Association for information.

Fernanda Martins gets ed. degree

A Bachelor of Education (elementary) degree was bestowed upon Fernanda Maria Rodrigues Martins at convocation exercises held at the University of British Columbia on May 26. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rogerio Martins. Miss Martins received her elementary education at Britannia Beach and graduated from Howe Sound Secondary School in 1979. Although she is qualified to enter the teaching profession, Miss Martins is hoping to enter law school at U.B.C. in September.

Marian den Dekker UBC graduate

Marian den Dekker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake den Dekker, received her Bachelor of Education (elementary) degree with concentrations in psychology and librarianship. Convocation exercises were held at the University of British Columbia on May 26. Miss den Dekker graduated from Howe Sound Secondary School in 1978. During that year she served as Squamish Timber Queen. Future plans for her include more studies, travelling and pursuing a career in education. Mr. and Mrs. den Dekker, son Mark and friends Scot Kelly and Janice Guesz attended the ceremonies on May 26.
