Hilltop House officially opened

Mrs. Stack, who named the new Squamish Intermediate Care facility, Hilltop House and Robert Nicklin of Canada Mortgage and Housing Commission, cut the ribbon on Saturday afternoon which officially marked the opening of the new building which provides 30 beds for intermediate care and eight for extended care.

A portion of the capital cost of the building $1.7 million, is being met with a 35 year loan from Morguard Trust Co. This loan has been guaranteed under the National Housing Act by CMHC, the federal housing agency.

Through CMHC assistance will be provided in the form of a maximum annual subsidy of approximately $146,000 to reduce the mortgage interest rate to as low as two percent. The total contribution to this project, under the present contract terms, could amount to approximately $5.1 million.

The provincial health ministry provided the Squamish Intermediate Care Society with a $65,000 grant to cover the cost of some furniture and the facility's day care program. It will also provide the facility with its operating funds, including the two percent to cover the unsubsidized portion of the mortgage.

The building, contains a large lounge with fireplace, two activity rooms and a dining room as well as the 30 intermediate and eight extended care beds.

It was built on land donated by the Squamish General Hospital, adjacent to the hospital and to the proposed new one.

In announcing the opening, the Hon. Charles Lapointe, minister responsible for CMHC said "the government of Canada is proud to be part of this development which helps to fulfill its commitment of improving housing for Canadians."

The brief ceremony marking the opening took place in brilliant sunshine with many local residents as well as visiting dignitaries present for the event.

Rev. Walters came back from Cold Lake to give the invocation at the opening ceremonies and Margaret Johnson led in the singing of "O Canada."

Master of ceremonies Dave Stewart introduced Peter Gordon, chairman of the Squamish Hospital Board who said it was a "milestone in our history, and a place for our pioneers. We were a little slower than we would have liked but it is finished."

Gordon thanked the community and the senior governments for their assistance and said the boards were overwhelmed by the donations and support from the community.

"It's amazing a community as small as Squamish could bring in the amount realized in the radiothon," Bill McAdam, chairman of the Intermediate Care Society told the crowd.

Mayor Jim Elliott thanked everyone for the long hours and hard work which had been put into the building.

"I was a member of the hospital board when this was started," Dan Cumming, chairman of the Squamish-Lillooet Regional District, said, "and I'm happy to see it finished. I hope the new hospital will not be too far down the road."

Gary Cardiff, representing the provincial Ministry of Health, said he would like to be able to announce the funding for the new hospital but couldn't.

"Your position is very high on the list when the freeze is over," he said. He commented on the spirit of support and co-operation shown by the community.

Robert Nicklin, representing CMHC said the society had been knocking on their doors since 1978 and they were happy to have been able to assist in the financing.

Nicklin unveiled the plaque at the entrance of the building and Christine Carrat and Ev McCareney presented the flag for the building. The keys to the new facility were presented to McAdam and Gordon by Mike Weller of Paul Smith & Associates, the architects, after Mr. Adrusak of Gisborne Construction had given them to Weller.

The honoured guests were piped to the site by the Squamish Kinsmen Pipe Band under the leadership of Pipe-Major Ian Walker and following the ceremony there was a tour of the building.

Visitors commented on the magnificent view of the lounge, and on the tasteful decor, from Beyer-Brown and Associates, which gave a home-like atmosphere to the lounge.

Prior to the official opening there was a luncheon at the Wagon Wheel restaurant for board members and visiting guests.

Among those present for the luncheon and ceremonies were CMHC, R. Nicklin, Mrs. C. Martin and Marleen Norris; Ministry of Health, Gary Cardiff and Susan Frizzell; Squamish-Lillooet Regional District, Dan Cumming and Frank Rollert; Pemberton, Mayor Shirley Henry and Joan VanderLee; Paul Smith, architects, Mike Weller, Gisborne Const., Gerry Baychuk and Mr. Adrusak; HLRA, Roy Nikaido, BCHA, Frank Butler and Morguard, Andre Gagnon.

Another special guest was Pat Goode, one of the original members of the Intermediate Care Society.

Grand Opening

Assisted by resident care co-ordinator Roseanne McCormack, resident Mae Stack who chose the name Hilltop House for the intermediate and extended care building which opened officially on Saturday, cuts the ribbon across the doors.

Late flash!

Hospital administrator John Dillabough said late Thursday that, following the final inspection of the new Hilltop House and grounds, approval had been given to start moving in the intermediate care residents.

The move was scheduled to start at 9 a.m. Friday and Dillabough said he expected to move in three people in that day. The total time to have all the residents in the building would be about three weeks.

The extended care patients were moved in earlier as the concern about the fence along the drop off outside the building only affected ambulatory patients.

At the same time Dillabough said the Squamish General Hospital had been accredited for a further two years.

Not just any white bird

A pair of rare albino crows were in Brackendale last week. Brackendale resident Jack Morey phoned to tell us of the pair.

Banks bid with insurance and lawyers

A committee has been formed to look into what legal, insurance and banking services the district is currently using, and what else is available in Squamish.

Alderman Chuck Harvey says the district's banking policy hasn't been looked at since 1976 and the question of who can provide the best services for the least price for insurance and legal services hasn't been looked at for the last four years. Harvey would like to see these issues reviewed every two years to make sure the district is spending its money wisely.

"If it's going to cost a lot of money to switch banks for not much more services we shouldn't do it, but we should at least look," says Harvey who told council he has talked to people from the other two banks in town, the Royal Bank and the Bank of Montreal (the district banks at the Bank of Nova Scotia) as well as the Squamish Credit Union.

All refused to comment later to the Times on the prospect of going after the districts business but all said they welcome all new accounts.

Mayor Jim Elliott was against Harvey's proposal.

"I don't believe it should be bounced around from bank to bank," says Elliott, "what you do with your own money is entirely your business, but what you do with trust money...it's got to be well taken care of and not necessarily for the best dollar you can get. You want to get as good as you can, but you want to keep to a responsible bank."

Harvey suggested Elliott thought the other banks were irresponsible.

"I'm not saying that," he replied.

Elliott also didn't want the Squamish Credit Union to get the districts business. "Now we're openly discriminating," says Harvey.

City Treasurer Charles Schilberg says a credit union share for every account they would open, and the district has many accounts.

The city solicitor is Don Wilson, also Chairman of the School Board. There are three other law firms in town. Squamish currently insures with Squamish Insurance and there are two other insurance companies in town, one of which is Jim Elliott Insurance.

Elliott and Barr voted against striking a commission to review the services given the district with Alderman Corrine Lonsdale, a bank employee, abstaining.

Victoria, Ottawa testing waters

Victoria and Ottawa are launching a full scale investigation of possible contamination in the waters of Howe Sound.

The investigation was triggered by reports last year that Audrey Floyd of Surrey was suffering from mercury poisoning as a result of eating contaminated fish. Her husband had blamed contamination of Howe Sound waters as the cause of his wife's illness but he had stated that he bought his fish from stores and there has been no commercial fishing in Howe Sound for many years.

Researchers said the joint study was prompted by public concern about waters tainted by mercury from the FMC plant at Squamish.

Samples of sediment, marine life tissue, vegetation, offshore water and well water near the FMC outfalls are now being investigated, a representative of the Environmental Protection Service in Vancouver stated.

But the department doesn't expect to find out anything different from what is already known. He said they knew there were a number of "hot spots" but nothing short of dredging Howe Sound from top to bottom, would solve the problem."

In the late 1960's there was an investigation into the loss of mercury from the plant, the situation has been greatly improved and the company has received high praise for its efforts to reduce the spilling of mercury into the water.

Resident manager Jack Selby says the plant is monitored continually.

Election '84 Cariboo-Chilcoot Countdown

The first week of the election has the NDP and Conservatives well-prepared for the fight but the Liberals, now with a polled majority, lagging behind in organization and support in the West.

The NDP chose Christine Slater, a 35 year old resident of Williams Lake. She founded the Women's Center in the town and works for the local IWA. A conference call Sunday night, linked the major towns in the riding. Slater, a first time candidate, won out against Squamish resident Dave Manning and two others from 100 Mile House.

Local NDP club president Elsie Anderson is confident the NDP have a good chance of winning the riding.

"There was just 2000 votes difference between the Conservatives and the NDP so we certainly feel it is a winnable riding," says Anderson.

Anderson says unemployment would probably be the main issue in the election, but said Slater should be the one making the policy statements.

The Liberals are going with Larry Ozero, again who works for the Quesset School District and came third in the last election. Ozero, 31, says the problem of youth unemployment and the deficit will be the major issues this campaign.

Progressive Conservative MP Lorne Greenaway could not be reached for comment.

More next week.

New Loggers event planned

A new event, tree climbing, will be added to the list of competitions at the Novice and Intermediate Championships on Saturday, August 4.

This event, brought back from Finland by the local team which visited that country earlier this year, consists of climbing a tree in the fastest time. Bryan Couture entered the event and was lucky enough to do well in it.

A full list of twelve events is planned for Saturday and many past competitors as well as new ones will come for these novice and intermediate events while the Open Show, held on Sunday, Aug. 5.

In addition there will be trophies for the top logger of the day and for the most sportsmanlike competitor, each day.

Last year's top logger was Ron Hartill in the Open Show and Dwayne Constantine top logger on Saturday in the Novice Show while Brad McLaughlin took the top logger trophy in the intermediate events.

Robin Dorey won the Sportsman of the Day award in the Open Show.

Events start with the Timber Queen competition on Thursday evening, followed by bed races, pajama shopping and the Timber Beast competition the following day. On Friday there are the kids races in the morning at the high school grounds, followed by the novice and intermediate sports at the new grounds on Loggers' Lane. In the evening there will be the annual Squamish Days Ball.

Sunday is the big day starting with the Logger's Breakfast in the MacKenzie Plaza, followed by the big parade. Mike Tickner promises that it will be bigger and better than ever with lots of floats and bands. The main event of the day is the annual Loggers Sports Show with the world championship tree climbing event as well as the world championship power saw tree falling and standing butcher block chop. The sole Canadian championship is the men's double hand bucking event.

On Monday, B.C. Day, the annual truck rodeo will be held and this will be the final event of the Squamish Days celebrations.

Industrial land prices go up

While the Industrial Park area continues to be an unsaleable white elephant, council has voted to raise the price of some of the lots up five to 20 per cent to "reflect current market values."

"We felt that the property at the current upset price was not anywhere near market value for the land (in the park) along the perimeter of Highway 99", says Alderman Ron Barr a member of the Technical Planning Committee in charge of the Industrial Park.

Barr says the price changes will have to be ratified by the provincial government who share the costs in developing industrial park projects around the province, but that they have "no qualms" about them raising the price.

Six parcels, ranging from just over half an acre to over two acres, will now range in price from $30,800 to $145,150 for those perimeter lots in the industrial park affected by the change. The rest of the lots go for $60,000 per acre.

So far one lot has been sold in the two years industrial land has been up for sale. Barr says they have had recent interest from a group representing "a foreign country" in four or five acres of land.

The TPC also suggested a finder's fee of three percent, for real estate sales firms, not be brought in at this time.

Barr said the committee felt it is already in the best interests of local real estate firms to refer prospective customers to the site because, says Barr, if an industry is started providing 200 more jobs, that's 200 more new homes to sell.

Alderman Will Dowad says the proposed three percent commission is far below the industry's usual ten percent commission so the real estate firms would probably not work very hard to sell the property.

Alderman Dave Stewart said, "we need all the help we can get," and was the only one to support the finder's fee.

Rash of B & E's during past week

Police report a number of complaints about breaking and entering during the past week. The cases involved private homes, cars and businesses.

On July 8, police received reports of two entries into cars parked overnight at the Black Truck parking lot in Garibaldi. In the first instance an American visitor reported that his vehicle had been broken into and a number of tools stolen.

In the second instance a woman reported that her car had been entered, the culprits had broken into the locked trunk from the inside and taken her purse and a number of cassettes.

On the same day there was a report of a break-in at one of the apartments in the Garibaldi Garden Court in which a quantity of food was taken.

On July 9, police said a trailer, parked at the gravel pit on Government Road had been broken into and the aerial on the roof stolen.

On July 8, a woman reported that she was checking her parent's home in Brackendale when she discovered entry had been gained through a broken window. As her parents were away on holiday, she was not sure whether anything had been taken. However, the culprit had cut himself on the broken window when he gained entry.

On July 9, a resident on Gambler Ave., reported the theft of a CB radio from his vehicle which had been parked on the street.

The Wagon Wheel Restaurant reported an attempted break-in on July 12.

Early Bird Winners

Diane Adams and Tanis Crocker were the winners of the Lottery 59-100 Early Bird Draw of $200.00. Their lucky ticket number 18, was drawn July first, live on Mountain F.M. radio. There are still many prizes left, including eight prizes of $100.00 each and three grand prizes of $300.00, $500.00 and $1,000.00. The next draw will be held August first. Tickets cost $59.00 and only 100 tickets will be sold. Tickets will be on sale until July thirty-first at the Howe Sound Womens Centre 38009 Third Avenue. Call 892-5748 (or 898-3713 after 6 p.m.) for more information.

Local company supports buckle-up project

Up to 75 employees of FMC of Canada in Squamish are getting behind 'Clickcheck' a seat belt project launched by the Insurance Corporation of B.C. last April, by buckling up when driving a company vehicle, going to or from work or off the job.

The workplace project has been developed by the Traffic Safety Education department of ICBC with the help of an advisory committee representing industrial management, unions, health and safety organizations and government agencies. The project includes a documentary video, posters and car stickers for "Clickcheck: A seat belt project we can all get behind."

Statistics show that seat belts can reduce serious injury and fatalities in traffic accidents by up to 60 percent. Police and ICBC accident reports document the fact that individuals who buckle up are more likely to escape with minimal injuries, while unbelted victims of identical accidents may never recover sufficiently to return to work.

Sawdust & Shavings

This is really going to be some election. Someone commented that we really have a choice. Either the Man from Glad or the Jaw that Walked.

One local man has the following plaque on the walls of his office: "I've been reading so much about the bad effects of smoking, drinking, over-eating and sex, that I've decided to give up reading!"

School Board briefs

There was considerable discussion regarding the purchase of computers for the various schools in the district. The board had decided to go ahead with the purchase of 27 computers. The decision was to use Arrow computers which cost $500 less than the Apple and have the same capability.

Pemberton Secondary requested an Apple, as this is needed for some special programs. As Howe Sound and Brackendale Secondaries both have the Apple for their programs, the request was granted.

A query about additional costs for servicing the new computers as they were from another firm brought a response from Director of Education Tom Rothney, that the firm employed to service the computers could handle any the board has.

A number of staff changes were announced with Mrs. C. Cheal replacing Mrs. E. Bowcock at Mamquam Elementary; Mrs. B. Rudkirk appointed to a part-time position at Brackendale Elementary; Z. Los appointed to a position at Signal Hill, Mrs. C. Gander also a part time appointee at Signal Hill and Mrs. V. Davidson to half time temporary at Signal Hill.

For the non-teaching staff, W. Harness was appointed temporary groundskeeper in Squamish.

Parents of the kindergarten students at Myrtle Philip Elementary School objected to the proposal to put some of these students with Grade One pupils in order to comply with the staffing of the school. The problem was shelved pending the return of District Superintendent Trevor Harris this week.

Capilano College informed the board that it would no longer be needing the Forestry Centre. The board will see if the municipality has a use for it.

The college also requested the use of one of the district gymnasiums for a fall class. The board will ask for the regular rates for the gym.

Trustee Margaret Marchant said she was disappointed with the condition of the tennis courts at Whistler and wanted to know if something was going to be done about them.

Trustee T.B.M. Fougberg told the board he had inspected the new log cabin built at the Coast Mountain Outdoor School and said that it was excellent.

Murals planned for Squamish's sake

Want a free paint job on the side of your building?

That is what five students, hired in a summer Canada Works project for painting murals on the side of walls, have been asking merchants around Squamish for the past few weeks but so far only two have wanted it.

The wall beside the Village Deli on Cleveland will be first with the 2nd Avenue side wall of the IGA store going next.

The five, Jean Hurrion, (a student in last year graphic arts at Capilano College), Grant Merces, (a student at Emily Carr school of art and ex-Times cartoonist) his brother Craig Merces (current Times cartoonist and going into grade 12 at Howe Sound Secondary) Glen Anderson (also going into grade 12) an Andrew Slee (just graduated and wants to go to Emily Carr), are paid minimum wage for the summer and supplied materials for the murals.

Hurrion says the Murals will, "give the town a little zing," and that once the merchants see how good they look, others will want the students to do their walls.

The murals are supposed to represent a transportation theme for EXPO, but the student artists wish to incorporate other themes into the works.

"Squamish is more a historical town than a transportation town," says Slee.

Aside from the transportation theme restriction they will be free to do what they want. A contest for the best mural design drew only one entry so they are now working on their own designs and adapting them to the wall space they have available.

Hurrion says there are about "ten or twelve walls" around town that are suitable for their murals.

"Lots of potential out there," says Slee.

The students expect to start painting next week and hope to finish the two walls by the end of the summer. If the murals turn out they expect others will want them on their walls and the program will be continued next summer.

Various works of art from Howe Sound Secondary students are at the Library/Municipal Hall, all this month. Works by Andrew Slee, Craig Merces and Susan Camm are highlighted.

Needed, a market spot

With the congestion at the spot north of the Chevron station where the chip wagon, fruit seller and fish man bring their wares, it appears that Squamish is rapidly reaching the stage where some place could be found for these peddlers or itinerant sellers of food and produce could congregate without causing parking or other problems.

Whether you approve of them or not, they seem to be here to stay. But council should plan for an area where there would be sufficient off-street parking, where there could be attractive stalls or pads set up and where they would have to pay for the cost of providing these.

A lively market can be an attraction. But certainly it should be neat and tidy, properly set up and properly supervised.

It could also provide booths or stalls for some of the craftspeople in the community who might like to market their wares.

But it should be planned instead of just growing up like a weed or an eyesore.

One down, one to go

The opening of Hilltop House on Saturday with 30 intermediate and eight extended care beds, marks a milestone in the history of health care in Squamish. Hopefully the construction of a new hospital within two years or slightly longer will complete a modern, up-to-date health care complex for Squamish and the corridor country.

It was the culmination of six long hard years of work, planning, struggling and conniving, but the official opening made it all worth while. Now there will be a place for the people in our community and to the north who can no longer take care of themselves and must go to some form of care facility.

The bright cheery surroundings, the magnificent view and above all, the hominess of the building make it more like a residential complex than an institution.

Everyone who worked on developing the building, who served on the committees which brought it to fruition and everyone who contributed, in even the smallest manner to securing the building for Squamish, must have felt proud as the centre was opened.

It was fitting that Gary Cardiff, representing the Ministry of Health, commented on the unqualified support given by the community in the fund raising for furnishing the building.

This has put us at the top of the priority list for the new hospital when funding becomes available.

Ribbon development

The application for rezoning of a piece of property north of the Royal Canadian Legion building alongside Highway 99 for a 100,000 square foot shopping mall, currently before council is one which certainly needs a great deal of consideration.

The official community plan for the Squamish area specifically recommends against development along the highway and suggests that a strong core be maintained in the downtown area. Development of such a mall would fragmentize the downtown business area and cause a shift of stores and businesses to the new mall.

The community plan recommended rezoning of some of this property to Commercial 5, not Commercial 2 which is the request by the developers of the property in question.

If this request is granted we can see it as the beginning of other requests for similar rezoning of large pieces of property along the highway and within municipal boundaries. Certainly a developer is entitled to try to get the highest possible zoning for his property and to attempt to make the best use of it.

But there are times when this would be against the public interest. This appears to be one of the times when such a development would be detrimental to the overall economic health of the community.

We have seen too many communities in which ribbon development has resulted in a succession of businesses along the highway. Aesthetically it isn't desirable, and we can see problems rising if there are too many business outlets or access roads.

Highways has the final say in such developments, and it is hoped that it will take a long hard look at the possible problems which might result from approval of the rezoning request.

Maybe our summer weather has finally arrived! It was delightful last week with bright sunny days, tempered with a bit of wind. It was gorgeous weather for drying clothes, super for weeding the garden because the weeds died in the heat and I even managed to get the whole thing hoed. But it sure took the water! I soaked the cucumbers and tomatoes and was so pleased to find that the cukes are starting to run. I even found a small tomato on one of the plants. About as big as a fingernail but still a tomato!

The glads are looking well and even the celery seems to be thriving. I've never grown celery before but my granddaughter says it is really easy to grow so---The roses have been beautiful but I'm going to have to find a post for one of them. It bends over so much that some of it is on the ground and I have to hold it up when the young man comes to cut the lawn.

Am hoping to move some small hemlock trees in from the roadsides and make a hedge in front of the house. Then after they have grown high enough to keep clipped I'll put a low fence, maybe about a foot and a half high, of just posts and rails and plant some Van Fleet roses along the low fence. Can't you just see the deep green evergreen hedge with the masses of roses in front of it?

Gord is having problems cutting the brush and trees on the south forty. Part of the problem is that I want some left and the other part is that Dad used to cut it every year and kept the brush down but it wasn't done last year and now it's out of hand. Nothing grows as fast as salmonberry and blackberry bushes!

But hopefully that will be trimmed as well and by then the place will begin to look better. Yards are a lot of work but with the help of a young man to keep the grass cut I should be able to manage. But next year I think I'll see if anyone wants to share a piece of garden with me and I'll get a larger piece dug in the spring and let them use it for helping me with my part of it. Should work out. There must be someone who would like to have a bit of a garden.

The saga of poor little Perdido continues. Not only was he sick over the holiday weekend because of a fight he must have been in, either with the black cat or one of the neighbor's four, but at the end of last week he was walking around on three legs, holding up the left front one. He didn't seem to get better so on Monday morning I took him to the vet who found he had one claw loose. He thought this might have been the problem so I took him home to see if time would heal the problem. But it got steadily worse and by Wednesday I knew he would have to go back to the vet.

I had tried to see what was wrong on Tuesday night but could see the paw was badly swollen. Each time I came close to his paw he would snarl and he did try to bite. I couldn't blame him because he was hurting and I'm sure I'd be snarling and trying to bite if someone treated me like that.

He was also very listless and seemed to want to lie around, but still jumped on the bed and curled up on the couch with me when I read the paper.

So it was off to the vet again and Dr. Hoff took one look at his swollen paw and said he would have to anesthetize him and find the wound and drain it. I felt like a criminal leaving him there because he is such a people cat he hates being away from me or the house. But he was in a great deal of pain and it had to be fixed.

So, after getting him home and giving him a lot of TLC, he'll be fine and his old self in a few days. But you don't realize how attached you become to the little beasts until something like that happens.

Despite the cold wet spring and rain during the growing season the strawberries have been gorgeous this year. Got some more last week and if the kids don't come over will have to freeze a few more. There are enough in the freezer to have them every second week of the year and a few more will just make sure there are enough for extras if needed. Can't wait to get some raspberries and I must see if I can find a loganberry vine or two. My mother-in-law used to have loganberries and they made the best pie. You'd slather it with cream and it was delicious.

Have made few strawberry flans this year. They look gorgeous and taste as good as they look. Want to make one with apricots, kiwi fruit and blueberries and then cover it with a clear glaze or one with a hint of lemon in it. Should look super and taste as good as it looks. Individual fruit tarts are super too. Just put a creamy vanilla filling in the tarts and then top with assorted fruit, sliced or whole. You use a clear glaze with these (I find that melting some apple jelly over hot water and then spooning it over the fruit serves as a glaze.) Then top it with a dollop of whipped cream and serve. Or don't bother with the cream but just serve them as is. They are truly jeweled fruit tarts!

Must go out one evening and start gathering up some of the pearly everlasting and the yarrow for dried winter flowers. The everlasting is such a pure white and looks so nice with other flowers or even with artificial ones. I strip all the leaves off the stalks and hang them upside down in the carport as long as the weather is dry and warm. If it gets damp they should be brought inside to a cool airy room and left to finish drying.

The yarrow is treated the same way. Leaves are stripped off and if the flowers are to be left white just hang them up to dry. If you want to color them you can put the flower stalks in dyed water and the blooms will absorb the color. You take them out of the water when the intensity of color has been achieved and then hang them up to dry. Or you can use clothing dyes to color them. Dip the flower heads till the desired color is reached and then hang them up to dry.

If you are going to the interior some of the wild baby's breath makes a pretty addition to a bouquet and if you know where there are some plants of the sweet rocket or money plant, the seed pods make a delightful addition to a winter bouquet.

Of course there are strawflowers and everlasting you can grow as well but it's fun to scout the roadside and see what you can find to make something different.

And it's not too early to start thinking about Christmas. Getting the materials would give you a big jump on planning your Christmas gifts!

A small child, alone and abused

Dear Editor:

Frequently people gather to protest what they feel are infringements upon their fundamental rights. They gather in the name of Solidarity, Gay Rights, Nuclear Warfare and numerous others, each claiming to be victims of political or social injustice. But, what of the real victims of society today? The SMALL CHILD, standing alone and totally defenseless, beaten, molested and even murdered, often by his own parents. Where are the protests in defense of their loss of rights?

One recent example is the case of a father in SQUAMISH, who was brought before the courts on an alleged sexual abuse charge against his two-year old child.

Even though there was conclusive evidence that something had taken place, it was the fact of the child's age that supposedly hindered the case. The end result was that the father was ordered to stay away from the child for SIX MONTHS and ADVISED to seek sex therapy. The question arises, what happens to the child when it is reunited with its father?

The Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, part 1, schedule B, section 15 (1) states: "Every individual is equal before and under the law and has the right to the equal protection and equal benefit of the law without discrimination and, in particular, without discrimination based on race, national or ethnic origin, colour, religion, sex, AGE or mental or physical disability."

Where are the child's rights as the charter states? Perhaps the members responsible for child welfare, as well as the members of the legal profession, should put themselves in the place of the child, before they let anymore children back into the arms of their tormentors.

It is not enough that the ATTORNEY GENERAL'S department is CONSIDERING looking into a new get-tough-policy. WE must see that they DO IT. REMEMBER, YOUR CHILD could be the next victim.

Slur on two citizens unwarranted

Dear Editor:

Regardless of your reporting that the affiliation between the mayor, Mr. Elliott and his son-in-law Mr. Don Patrick was instrumental in the curling club being successful in its request for a site at Brennan Park, it was going to be built anyway, either at the original site, at the golf club, or at Brennan Park.

The curling club members voted in favor of the curling club being built at Brennan Park if council approved - which council did unanimously. Your slur on two citizens of this town is unwarranted.

The directors of the curling club.

The consequences of our massive unemployment problem are affecting families, workers, businesses, communities and our economies, both provincially and federally. Therefore, it is incumbent upon each part of this common unity of men and women - you and I, that whatsoever may be injurious to another be prevented, be turned back, be challenged, in order to reserve the well-being, dignity and the just rights of all. As it has often been quoted: "In what measure you shall mete, it shall be measured to you again..." (Mark 4:24). What kind of a society do you wish to live in?

Squamish Solidarity Coalition

Cap College now on one site

Good news! Capilano College is very pleased to announce that as of August 1, 1984 all of our Squamish services will be located at 37827 Second Avenue. We feel that this move will enable us to serve our students and the community better.

Presently, our office is located at 38038 Cleveland Avenue, while the classrooms are at Second Avenue and the Upgrading program is located in the old Forestry Building.

We will be holding an OPEN HOUSE on August 23 and we invite you to come and view our new premises. Office personnel, faculty and deans will be on hand on the 23rd to answer any questions you have and to listen to any suggestions you wish to make.

Don't wait until then to come and see us. We are presently open at Cleveland Avenue every week day from 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. We have information on the courses coming to Squamish this fall and also, we have telephone access to counsellors in North Vancouver.

152 Golfers in annual ladies Open

152 ladies golfed in the annual Ladies Open at the Squamish Valley Golf and Country Club on Thursday, July 12th. Nanaimo, Powell River, and the lower mainland were represented, together with some of the local ladies.

At the pre-registration wine and cheese party, held on the previous evening, 114 ladies pre-registered and were entertained by Gary, Bud and Owen, with their music. The Wine was donated by Tiffaney wines, and the cheese goodies by the ladies of the Golf Club.

Not only golf took place on the day of the event, but a bake sale which was all donated by the members, door prizes, also donated - and to top it off, a very entertaining talent show - including the three judges who were ready with their gong, and the M.C., who didn't always stick with his "lines". This show was "saved" by the chairman of the Squamish Days committee, Bryan Couture, who obligingly set up the P.A. system for the Golf committee.

Low gross for the day was won by Connie Grant of Sunshine

Coast, who also won the event in 1980. Low new was won by Sybil Plommer, of Capilano Golf Club - with net 69. Twelve of the local ladies also won net prizes.

The trophies were made by Ian Moriatti of Squamish, and were unique in that they were clocks made of Mexican Ironwood. Squamish Mills and CRB Logging donated these.

The Committee would like to thank all those who helped make the day a success, including the senior men and the junior boys, who acted as spotters.

Low gross - Congratulations

Team and Ryans to face off

Offence, defence, and goaltending.

That in a nutshell is what the game of hockey is all about and with these three ingredients it will surprise nobody if the Team and Ryans met in the finals of the Squamish Ball Hockey League.

Starting tonight, at 6:30 pm, both these clubs, which finished one-two respectively in the point standings at the end of the regular season, will kick off the 1984 playoffs with Ryans meeting the Chiefs in the early bird draw and the Team drawing the Highschool at 8:00 pm for the best of three semi-finals.

The Team, led by the league's top point getter in Ron Rosser (16-12-28) showed through the ten game season that they are indeed the club to beat, finishing with 17 points, one up on Ryans, with a record of eight wins, one loss and one tie, and the division's best goals for and against record at 85-27.

In their final game of regular play on Sunday, the Team clinched the overall title by getting an 11 point night from Ron Rosser, who bagged six goals, and five more goals from Norm Cyrene as they walloped the Grasshoppers 20-2.

Steve Brunn was beaten only twice on 12 shots and both times they came from the stick of Ron Elliott. Gary and Norm Gratton meanwhile split the duties between the Grasshopper pipes and took on 53 drives as the Team also got hat tricks from Miles Rosser and Terry James, two goals from George Furniss and a single from Rick Rosser. But the Team, which had won 8-2 on Thursday against the "A" Team Flyers proved on Tuesday that they are indeed human.

Up until that time they had yet to suffer a defeat but penalties proved to be their demise as the Chiefs, with a two man advantage collected a third period power play goal from Bob Mahnger to break a 2-2 tie, eventually leading to a 4-2 victory.

Outshot 25-18, the Team took a first period 2-0 advantage on tallies from Miles and Rick Rosser, on the power play. But a total of 47 minutes in penalties, compared to the Chiefs' 12, took away their momentum especially since the Team was served two game ejections, three double minors and a five minute major.

This was all the incentive the Chiefs needed and so when Jack Wright converted on a set up from Randy Smith early in the middle frame they were on their way back. Minutes later Barry Wright hit pay dirt, setting up the clinching third period in which Mahnger and Smith both connected to salt away the win.

On Thursday the Chiefs tried to copy this performance against Ryan's, a side which was just coming off a 5-3 victory over the Highschool. This time it was a question of too little too late as Ryan's, despite getting no points from sniper Keith Downer for the first time ever, built up a 3-0 lead on efforts from Terrence Knox, Gary Trento and Darren Doak.

squamish earful

BY MAUREN GILMOUR

The Squamish Intermediate Care Society Auxiliary held a summer draw in the Highlands Mall on June 30. The lucky winners were: sweater, Pat DoDorico; rug, L. Johnston; vest, N. Reite and decanter set, Helen Kirby. The Auxiliary thanks everyone for their wonderful support.

Roxy McCluskey and family are pleased to have her son Joe McCluskey and children Tammy, Shawn and Joey visiting them from Strathmore, Alberta.

On the July 7th and 8 weekend, George and I were in Lillooet. Randy (our middle guy) celebrated his birthday on the 7th with a barbecue and all the trimmings and he thought it was a good idea to have mum and dad along. His friends certainly gave us a "fine Lillooet welcome" including former residents Tom McStay and Paul and Rhonda Symons. You can tell this hasn't been a "normal" summer—when the people in Lillooet complain about the cool temperatures!

This seems to be a popular birthday week. Congrats to: Gregory Epslen, Ivy Wilson, Sarah Sheffield, Colleen Gruber, Monty Walsh, Bradley Essex, Sandy Schildhorn, Vivienne Manzer, Janice Hurford, Judy Schildhorn, Don Hobbs, Andrew Doheny, Pat Goode, Retta Behner, Terry Braumberger, Barry Ethier, Tina Archer, Leah Ewisak, Phillip Harness, Joshua Cates, Jeannine Fairchild, Teresa Milia, Douglas MacKenzie, Jerry Marshall, Glidia Buchanan, and Joseph Bennett.

Also celebrating birthdays are: Leah Otto, Karen McLean, Brett Cunningham, Del Alton, Manjit Kang, Kirsten Sikora, Robbie McKenzie and grandma Ann McKenzie, Jay Aldridge, Michael DeCook, Laurie Martin, Kristopher Keyes, Denise DeCook, Pat Yonin, Bill McNeney and Polly Knox. Belated wishes to P.J. (Patti) Mangan.

Miss Rebecca Pearson and Master Christopher Acorn celebrate first birthdays this week.

A mature person—an animal lover is urgently needed to serve as a SPCA inspector on a voluntary basis. If interested, please call 892-5059.

When Joanna Dheilily was in Japan from Jan. to April, she stayed with a friend, Motoko Ip-poshi in Tokyo. Last week, Motoko was in Squamish and she attended Yvette Dheilily's marriage to Allen Cuthbert of Portage La Prairie, Manitoba. A Tokyo broadcasting station recorded the wedding.

After having a round of visitors at her home, Mildred Frasz went to Westbank to visit her sister Alice Lynn. She returned home on the weekend.

L.C. "Minch" Minchin and his wife Ellen have returned home after spending the past eight weeks in their native England. They visited the home of Minch's ancestors - would you believe Minchinhampton in Gloucestershire? Their travels also took them to Sussex, Essex, Brighton and Birmingham. They attended D-Day observances at Portsmouth and South Sea. Minch said he didn't go to Scotland because he "does na' ha' the garlic." They did spend a week in Wales though!

The Kiwanis Club of Squamish meets each Tuesday evening and on July 10, they were pleased to have guests from Sanford, Florida. George Willis and his wife Jo were heading for Whistler from Vancouver and being a Kiwanian, he thought it would be good to attend a meeting here. The local club was pleased to welcome the Florida visitors. They all enjoyed a dinner-meeting at the Old Time Deli and Donut Shop in Valleycliffe. Owner Michael (and wife Helga) Pouste is also a member of the Kiwanis.

To find out where and when the Kiwanis would be meeting, George Willis phoned the Squamish Chamber of Commerce office from Vancouver. He wanted to express thanks to Corcen McEnery for her courteous and helpful assistance.

Wedding anniversary wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Brian Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Remo Gamba, Mr. and Mrs. Real Lapointe, Mr. and Mrs. P. Geisbrecht and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Rourke.

Darlene and Rocky Covucci and children Richard, Vanessa and Victoria from Prince George were here for the 1974 class reunion at the end of June. When they returned home, they took nephew Roger Dawson with them. He came back home with his grandparents Roy and Mary Crowston.

The 5th Annual Squamish Open Regatta (SOAR) will be held Aug. 11 and 12. Stan Bannister is in charge of the Regatta this year and if you wish to enter or want more information, contact him at 898-5905. A dinner-dance will be held on Aug. 11.

Cyndy Mason and Gary Lewis from Elkford visited Cyndy's grandmother Rose Tatlow last weekend.

Janice DesJardins who is an administrator for the U.S. Ski Association in Colorado Springs was home visiting her parents Bob and Julie DesJardins. She also attended her brother David's graduation from HSSS on June 27 and the 1974 class reunion on June 30.

Shawna Bayers, from Brackendale Junior Secondary school made the Zone 5 track and field eliminations and became eligible to compete in the 1984 B.C. Summer Games to be held in Burnaby, Thursday through Sunday. She will compete in the long jump, triple jump and 4 x 400 relay. Howe Sound Secondary School students Frank Hurrell and Corrie Ellen Zaharia will also compete in track and field events at Swangard Stadium.

Last rites for railway engineer
 The funeral for a former resident of Squamish, who died in Vancouver, will be held at 2 p.m. on Tuesday, July 17, at the St. Joseph's Church, 38009 - 3rd Avenue, Squamish. Burial will be in the St. Joseph's Cemetery in Burnaby. Contributions may be made to the B.C. Cancer Society.

A warm welcome to Lee Joubert, his wife Anne and children Robbie and Joni. Sgt. Joubert was stationed in Surrey (but the family lived in Langley) and he replaces Sgt. Frank Kelley who was transferred to RCMP headquarters in Vancouver.

The provincial Babe Ruth Tournament for 13 year olds will be held at Brennan Park starting tomorrow, July 18th to the 22nd. With all star teams coming from all parts of the province there no doubt will be many excellent games. I'll bet the Squamish team would appreciate the stands being filled with local supporters!

Sarah Kass (and her late husband Joe) resided in Squamish for several years. Last week, Sarah's friends bade her farewell as she returned to her former home near Birmingham, Alabama, as members of her family live close by.

The next distribution date for the Squamish Food Bank is this Friday, July 20 from 1 to 3 p.m. in St. Joseph's parish hall on 4th Avenue. The Food Bank is operated by the Howe Sound Women's Centre and in conversation with Diane last week she said the community has been very supportive and she hopes the trend continues. If you have any large grocery bags to donate and/or food please take them to the Centre at 38009 - 3rd Avenue. The phone number is 892-5748 if you wish further information.

Louise Bourque wed June 30

A quiet family wedding was solemnized in Squamish United Church on Saturday, June 30, when Louise Mary Ida Bourque, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bourque of Squamish and Paul Andrew Halvorson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Halvorson of Brackendale were united in marriage.

Pastor Jack Lindquist officiated at the double ring ceremony at 5 p.m.

Pink and white carnations graced the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a champagne; long sleeved, street-length dress. The bodice featured inserts of applique embroidery and a stand-up collar. A small matching clip adorned her hair. For her something borrowed, Louise wore her mother's blue sapphire earrings. She carried a bouquet of pink and white roses and carnations and trailing pink ribbons.

The groom was supported by best man Guy Boscarol.

An open house was held at the home of the groom's parents following the ceremony.

The young couple are making their home in Squamish.

This week

Alice Lake Amphitheatre

The weekend at Alice Lake starting on Thursday, July 19th, the Amphitheatre will be featuring a slide show on the birth of the logging industry in B.C. called "The Tale of Tall Timber" at 9:30 p.m. Friday night is movie night and at 9:30 p.m. there is double feature. First, for the children is "Mr. Frog Goes to Courtin'" followed by the CBC production "Frogs, Snakes and Turtles". On Saturday, the programs at Alice Lake begin at 10:00 a.m. with a 2 hour guided nature hike up Debeck's Hill. Please meet at the south beach information board. In the evening, starting at 9:00 p.m. the Amphitheatre will be presenting "Hermit the Frog", a humorous look at frogs that provides fun family entertainment. On Sunday, a guided nature walk around Stump Lake will begin at 10:00 a.m. Please meet at the Stump Lake parking lot.

This weekend at Porteau Cove Park, starting on Thursday, July 19th, join us for an evening stroll around Porteau Cove. Birds, plant life, and history of the area will be featured in this one hour walk. Binoculars and cameras welcome! Please meet at the Information Booth at 8:00 p.m. On Friday, July 20, our evening program is a fascinating slide show entitled "Mammals of the Sea". The mysterious killer whales, cuddly seal pups, and noisy sea lions will all be featured. Please meet at the Amphitheatre at 9:30 p.m. for this one hour show!

Three programs will be featured on Saturday, July 21. At 10:00 a.m. a special children's program "Sea Treasures" introduces children to some of the mysterious animals lurking around the beach. At 1:00 p.m. everyone is invited to "What to Look For", a "show and tell" talk featuring beachcombing finds of crabs, shells, and...! Our evening program is an exciting slide show "Something Fishy at Porteau". Everything from barnacles to bullheads will be discussed. Please meet at the Amphitheatre at 9:30 p.m.

At 1:00 p.m. Sunday, July 22, get a close look at a fish, inside and out. Specimens will be discussed then dissected! Please meet at the Information Booth for "Fish, the Inside Story" at 1:00 p.m. At 9:30 p.m. it's movie night at Porteau. Two films on whales will be shown at the Amphitheatre. Hope to see you there. bring your own popcorn!

Notes: If it rains heavily, programs at Alice Lake and Porteau will be cancelled.

Prizes for best window

A number of prizes are being offered for the best windows with a Squamish Day theme and the windows will be judged throughout this month.

In order to generate more publicity for the annual five day celebration, the committee is hoping that merchants and business people will get in the act earlier and start their promotion well before the big days.

Squamish Days are only three weeks away, starting with the Timber Queen pageant on August 2 and ending with the truck rodeo on August 5, the B.C. Day holiday.

The parade route this year will go up the main street, Cleveland Ave., and disperse at the school grounds while the heavy equipment will proceed to the new loggers sports grounds where it will be put on display.

Bigger and better things are expected this year and as a symptom of this, the Rotary beef barbecue has upped its order for beef to 1200 pounds. Guess they are expecting to sell a lot of those luscious sandwiches.

Don't forget to get your tickets for the dinner and dance following the Timber Queen pageant. All tickets must be pre-sold and there will be none sold at the door. So make sure you get yours early.

Weldwood road has to be rebuilt

About 4000 feet of road below the washed out Mud Creek bridge in Empire Logging's operation in the Squamish Valley will have to be rebuilt, according to engineer Charlie Deminger.

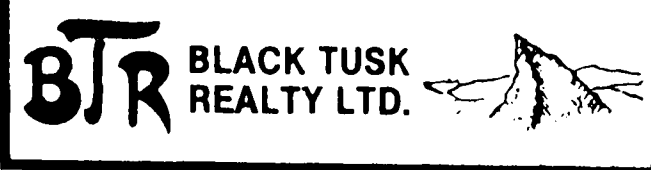

Deminger told the Times last week that when the creek overflowed its banks, it filled the Squamish River bed with debris and covered about 2000 feet of road with gravel and debris.

The road will have to be rerouted and approximately 4000 feet will have to be built. This will take two to three weeks and then the bridge can be constructed.

Deminger said a temporary bridge has been put in place so there is access to the upper areas of the tree farm.
