"We will start clearing the property in four to five week, equipment will be arriving this winter and the first phase of the construction of the plant will start early next year to be finished in January of 1987 with the second phase completed in July of that year," Peter Knorr, general manager in charge of the pulp and paper branch of Makin Pulp and Paper, told the Squamish Rotary Club on Thursday, Sept. 19.

"We have acquired the property for $4.5 million and the for sale signs are gone," he added.

Knorr said the project is on schedule and they will be hiring key people in the second quarter of next year. Others will be hired from the middle of 1986 to the end of the year.

"Half the employees will be tradespeople," he said, "and these may have to come from outside the area, but the rest will be hired locally."

He said they were asked why they were building another paper mill when B.C. already has so many of them.

"Our product is not one that will be produced by anyone in Canada," he told the meeting. "There is a small mill south of the border which produces paper of a similar type."

"We will be making fine papers, glossy papers and paper of a quality which is not produced in this country."

"The mill will be a flexible one, which will be able to use hardwoods such as aspen in varying amounts for different papers. It will not smell as our process is different from the kraft process which produces a characteristic odor."

He added that effluent is not as noxious as that of a kraft mill and explained they would be using a chemithermo-mechanical process which does not cook the materials.

The plant will be located on the gravel pit site and will be close to the hill. They will be using calcium carbonate which they will obtain from B.C. and not china clay.

In answer to a question regarding research money, he said they had received some from the federal government and it will be for research into the utilization of hardwood chips.

These chips would be obtained either from their own forest area, probably in the interior, or they could be purchased from ranchers and landholders.

In answer to another query about the softwood chips, they would also need for the process, he said "our spruce softwood supply is no problem."

The process will use megawatts of power and will produce 50 tons of pulp per day.

Knorr fielded a number of questions concerning the site, the possibility of future highway relocation, a dock and whether the plant would be unionized.

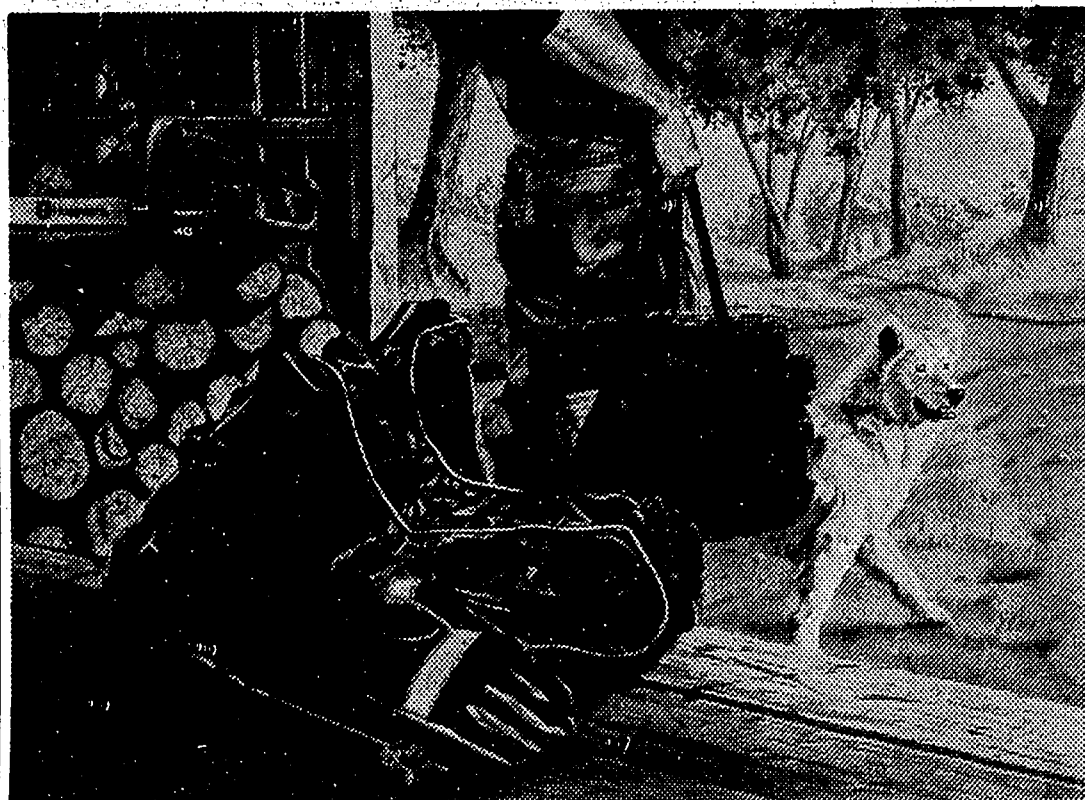

In reply to the latter, he said this would be a decision of the employees.

But he assured the club members there had been lots of activity in the past few months and that a start on the new development would be made in the near future.

Peter McKay and Peter Knorr, holding up a drawing of the pulp and paper plant planned for Britannia. Knorr, who is general manager in charge of pulp, spoke to the Squamish Rotary Club last week and said the project is 'on schedule'. Work on clearing the site will start in a few weeks.

Dog days numbered at pound

The temporary hiring of an assistant dog catcher at the Squamish Pound has meant good news for the community, but bad news for roaming canines.

A report for the month of August delivered to council revealed the temporary assistant has contributed to an overall increase in the number of dogs impounded.

"The numbers look better, there's no question," Alderman Chuck Harvey commented on the report.

"There's still a bit of a problem," noted Alderman Ron Barr, "but things do look better."

Harvey told council he was prepared to introduce a motion to authorize the hiring of the temporary assistant for the remainder of the year. The idea was squashed, however, by Mayor Egon Tobus who pointed out to council that they hadn't budgeted for the extra manpower.

Council authorized the hiring of the assistant dog catcher last month after receiving several complaints from local residents about the high incidence of loose dogs and dog bites.

Compared to the month of August report last year, this year the Pound reported an increase of 17 in the number of dogs impounded and an increase of $425 in revenue received from impoundment fees.

In addition, the number of licences issued by the Enforcement Officer was up 19 from August 1984, and donations to the Pound totalled $420 for the month of August as opposed to the $350 collected in the same period last year.

Council decided to wait for a report from the Administration before acting further in the matter.

Chamber hears talk on "Alternatives"

Alcohol and drug problems are among the most serious facing society today, according to Allan Podadowski, the executive director of the Alternatives Society, based in North Vancouver.

Podadowski, whose group which deals with alcohol and drug problems, provides counselling and help, says that alcohol constitutes the greatest health problem in B.C. and that alcohol creates more problems and is more harmful than cigarettes. Alcohol is also one of the most potent killers.

"The provincial government only spends four percent of the money it takes in from alcohol on alcohol treatment," he said.

"Some of the costs of alcohol are that each problem drinker costs industry $3,000 per year. Another statistic is that 60 percent of employees are fired for personal reasons not related to work and that alcohol is one of the main reasons."

He also said that five percent of the workforce is addicted to alcohol and another five percent are on heavy drugs. Job stress, which is related to alcoholism and drugs, costs Canadian business two billion dollars per year. Another statistic is that Canadians eat six million Valium tablets per week.

Speaking of the Alternatives program, he said 60 percent of the people they see have alcohol problems, 10 percent with prescription drugs and 30 percent with illicit drugs.

The Alternatives group works with people in North and West Vancouver, the lower portion of the Sunshine Coast and the Sea to Sky Country.

They have found that they have a highly educated clientele—it's not the "skid row" type of person and between 55 and 60 percent of their clients are working.

The case load in the past few years has increased so much that there is now up to a 10 week waiting period for those seeking help. Before restraint it would be only a few days.

Podadowski said that people came down from Squamish to North Vancouver to see the Alternatives people and in order to serve them, a counsellor came to Squamish one day a week, starting in 1982. This was discontinued this year.

Alternatives had asked for additional funding for the counselling service for the lower portion of the Sunshine Coast and Squamish-Whistler-Pemberton. Despite being told they were very high on the priority list there was no action.

"We are hoping to get some government aid," he said, "and we are asking the community to get behind us."

Podadowski told the chamber meeting that he hoped representatives from the community, including business, labour and the municipality as well as the Chamber would get together to meet with MLA John Reynolds to try to get assistance for such a program. MP Lorne Grenaway had also said he would try to see if there was federal help available.

He estimated the cost of a full time counsellor for the area would be in the vicinity of $35,000. This would include an office, a counsellor and some secretarial assistance.

In answer to a number of questions he said there had been a 400 percent increase in the use of cocaine by adults in the past few years. Liquor and marijuana are most popular with young people and alcohol often leads to the use of hard drugs.

A committee, headed by Henry Metzler, was set up to look into arranging a meeting with Reynolds as soon as possible.

Allan Podadowski, of Alternatives, who spoke to the Squamish Chamber of Commerce on the alcohol and drug problems and what his group was doing to treat them.

School Board briefs

The school board is concerned about the damage done to the tennis courts at Whistler and refused to accept the argument by the Whistler Land Corporation that it was not prepared to undertake major reconstruction of the court surface. Trustee Ellenore Ross said that the damage was caused by heavy machinery and the board should talk to the municipality about this.

The land company maintains that it has done all the work it was obligated to do and that other items are the on-going maintenance problems which are the responsibility of the board.

Trustee Thelma Johnstone said that Whistler would be asking for more shared facilities in the future. One of these would be an Olympic sized skating-rink to be located between the municipal hall and the school grounds.

The board decided to sell the Creekside school site and the teacherage by public tender.

Mrs. Jane Burrows and Mrs. S. Balfour were appointed as half time teachers at Myrtle Philip Elementary School.

E. Smit has been appointed as half time bus driver for the Pemberton-Whistler route.

Bruce Thevarge, the new home-school coordinator for the Anderson Lake Indian Band was introduced to the board by Indian Education Committee representative May Harris.

Mrs. Harris said the local education group wanted the special art instructor to start going to the schools and also the continuation of the services of the consultant for the Indian education program.

Rick Harry is the art instructor who visits the various schools in the district and teaches native art.

Theft at Magnesia Creek

Police were notified of a break in at a trailer located at the site of the New Magnesia Creek bridge.

The trailer, belonging to Interland Construction, was broken into and tools valued at over $200 were stolen.

There was also some damage to the trailer.

Sidewalks hazard a "sign" of the times

Not only is the uneven condition of the sidewalks on Cleveland Ave. a hazard to passersby, but so are sandwich board signs.

That's the feeling of the municipality of Squamish administration in a report to council on Sept. 17.

City Clerk Bill Bloxham, in his report, said: "While it is the Administration's belief that enforcement should be made, it has been difficult because of the unresolved problem of some of the merchants displaying their merchandise."

In other words, until council determines a policy regarding the displaying of merchandise on the sidewalk sandwich boards are here to stay.

The controversy over the potential sidewalk hazard arose from a request from Mulholland Western Merchants Ltd., for use of sidewalks for displaying of merchandise.

Mulholland, owner of Stedmans store on Cleveland Ave., had been informed by the local RCMP of a violation of Section 3, Article 6 of the District of Squamish Traffic By-Law.

That portion of the By-Law states: "It shall be unlawful for any persons to place, or cause to be placed, or suffer to be placed by any person in his employment or under his control, an merchandise or vehicle or wares of any nature on any street or sidewalk for the purpose of sale or display, or for any other purpose whatsoever, except in the actual course of receipt of delivery or to use any portion of any sidewalk for the purpose of selling any goods, wares, or merchandise of any nature or for measuring, packing, or unpacking goods, wares or merchandise, except with permission granted by the Council."

As there is no strict enforcement of the By-Law to date, Mulholland would like to see council decide once and for all whether or not to authorize the use of a portion of sidewalks in those appropriate places for the display of merchandise.

Alderman Dave Stewart, himself a merchant on Cleveland Ave., spoke in favor of the sandwich board signs.

"Cleveland Ave. seems to lend itself to sandwich board signs," Stewart said, referring to the considerable width of the sidewalks.

Alderman Chuck Harvey introduced a motion that the matter be referred to the By-Law Committee for further study.

The motion was passed by council.

Council supports Blind Channel dredging proposal

Council passed a motion at the Sept. 17 council meeting to support the efforts of the Harbour Association and independent loggers to have the Blind Channel dredged.

In passing the motion, introduced by Alderman Chuck Harvey and seconded by Wilf Dowad and Corinne Lonsdale, Dowad said: "It would be an obvious improvement to have it deeper."

The Harbour Association and independent loggers are seeking Federal aid for the dredging program. The dredging is envisioned to take place between the Railway Bridge and the mouth of the river to deep water.

Local Member of Parliament Dr. Lorne Greenaway is expected to give his full support to the request for Federal aid.

The request for council's support of the dredging program came specifically from John Drenka, owner of Squamish Mills.

The completion of such a dredging program is expected to allow the Blind Channel to be better utilized for various commercial enterprises. The program should also coincide with a proposal to deepen the Channel for the M.V. Britannia. The proponents of the proposal hope the Squamish Yacht Club and local marinas will be enhanced by the project.

Flexible care needed at Hilltop House

Dear Editor,

Would you want your mother to suffer unbearable stress and certainly an early death by moving her from the intermediate care facility near family and friends - indeed, from her very home, to an alien environment far away because extended care is called for?

This is happening in Squamish! We have a wonderful facility, Hilltop House, that is home to 30 intermediate care residents and to another eight individuals in extended care under one roof. If a person's health changes, however, he or she cannot necessarily transfer as would be expected, to the extended care unit.

If a bed, and particularly enough staff are not available, one's name will be put on a long waiting list. This means transferring elsewhere, likely Vancouver at a time when one can least afford to move. The problem can be solved by:

- 1) changing the policy to allow residents to remain in their facility when their care level changes from intermediate to extended care.
- 2) providing the funding for the extra care needed.

We are asking those responsible for health care policies to provide funds for flexible care, taking into account a person's changing needs over the years.

The main reason for building the facility in Squamish was to keep families together while providing the care necessary to help persons maintain their independence. We really want to keep our families in their home community.

Copies of this letter have been sent to the Minister of Health, the Hon. Jim Nielsen, and to our M.L.A., John Reynolds.

Yours truly,
Joanna Schwarz

Concern over chemical spraying

Dear Editor:

I know I'm repeating myself, but it cannot be said often enough. Any council or government is elected by the people, and gets paid by the people to do a good job for them. Lots of these temporary "taxi drivers" think they can drive you any which way they want.

After attending the council meeting on Sept. 5, I have only contempt for the council with the exception of Alderman Corinne Lonsdale and Mayor Tobus.

I hope the press will give a good and factual report of what is going on. Anybody who shows any interest in the future will remember that almost any day, in the press, radio or T.V. is news about chemical pollution or even disasters.

Now, anybody with any sense and who can put two and two together, will realize that, when we don't put a stop to this abuse of chemical pollution, we don't have to worry about an atomic war. The human race will kill itself or get killed by

Vancouver shopping better

Dear Editor,

Shop in Squamish they say. Support our town. Where is the support for the local people who live here and try to patronize their home town family. I am very disappointed in paying top dollar for substandard food, clothing and courtesy. I had the honor to purchase four eclairs from our Squamish Bakery, which were not fit for human consumption. The baker owner argued with me, the customer (who they say is always right). But then I was not a Royal Hudson Tourist. No need to thoughtless, inconsiderate, and power hungry temporary "taxi drivers."

At the last council meeting, council voted against a suggested referendum concerning a pesticide free zone for the Squamish Lillooet District.

Sooner or later, future generations will suffer from this effect.

would prefer to drive to Vancouver, have an enjoyable lunch, smiles and polite conversation, and be treated like an intelligent person. Shop in Squamish - Why? the prices in Vancouver save me money. "Yes," I feel you do save by shopping in Vancouver, not only in dollar value but in the quality of being treated like a customer of great value.

Opinion Time

Construction on the new Overwaitea Mall is well underway. This week, the Times went to the Highlands Mall to ask merchants to voice their concerns about possible competition. "How will the new Overwaitea Mall affect the Highlands Mall?"

Mima Runzer, Red Balloon:

"I think it will make us more competitive and smarten up our own mall. I don't really think I'll lose business. People will still shop here because it's the only enclosed mall in Squamish. This mall is going to be more of a people place. My concern for the new mall is that they are overbuilding for the work force."

Joan Wippich, Craft Connoisseur:

"I think in the long run it will be good for Squamish. It will stop people from going to Vancouver. People will go because it's something new and then settle back."

Juliana Egyed, Whistle Stop:

"At first, I think it (Overwaitea Mall) will be new for the people, but this will always be a nicer place to shop. I do have confidence in this mall."

Leslee Lucy, Kentucky Fried Chicken:

"I think it's going to hit hard."

Do you think that the United States, or should I say, New York, has finally discovered that there is a country to the north, and that it actually has a ball team! It was surprising to hear residents of the Big Apple on television the other night saying such things as "where is Toronto?" and wondering how they could have a ball team which could humble the mighty Yankees on their own home turf.

But isn't it typical of our southern neighbours who call the annual series between the two American leagues the World Series? We don't mind having them refer to it that way if they would just realize that America isn't the only country in the world!

To hear the comments made by the Yankee fans, you would think that Canada had a lot of nerve in even having a ball team to compete against the home town heroes. They must realize that we do exist, that we have hockey teams which have won the Stanley Cup many times. Of course, I suppose they think that hockey and Canada are synonymous seeing we are considered to be the land of ice and snow with Eskimos lurking above the 49th parallel.

But to take them on in their national game and to be in the final run for the leadership of the league; that's just a bit much. It should ease their pain to realize that while the Blue Jays are called a Canadian team, they are made up of the same assortment of Americans, Latins and Central Americans who make up their own teams. Perhaps that's the only context in which we can refer to the teams as competing in a world series.

However, we can remember the furor a few years ago when the Korean team won the Little World Series for the younger ball players. The Americans seemed to feel that only American teams should compete . . . and as for a team from outside the United States winning the trophy . . . heaven forbid!

Whether the Blue Jays go on to the final rounds of the World Series or not, they will have done one thing for Canada, made the Americans in the Big Apple realize that there is a country to the north. It's probably the first time they have remembered it existed since the time Ken Taylor rescued the embassy people in Iran!

Of course we've had another boost in winning the soccer series to advance Canada to the World Cup in Mexico City next year. It truly deserves the title of World Cup because it is a game which is played world wide and there are countries from many nations vying for the honor to be represented in Mexico City next summer.

In fact, soccer is almost the only game which could probably be considered to be of world status. It is played in practically every country in the world and the rivalries are tremendous.

In South America, they take the game so seriously that one of the soccer stadiums has a moat just outside the field so the people in the stands can't roar out on the field and harass the players or referees if they dislike the calls or the result of the game.

We went to a soccer game in Medellin in Columbia one year when I was visiting down there and the men were frisked as they entered the stadium to make sure they didn't have guns on them! And to make double sure there were police in riot squad gear in both the home team and the visitor's areas! We were told that the crowd didn't like the decision in a game played in another town in the country and took some pot shots at the referee!

In the Latin American countries and especially in Brazil, the home of the greatest soccer player in history, soccer is almost a national game and it is a matter of national honor to excel and to win.

One gets an idea of the popularity of soccer if you visit different countries. I remember during a tour of Costa Rica a few years ago we visited several small towns and every one of them had a soccer field with people playing on it.

The American game of baseball will never reach the stature of soccer in the rest of the world, but we will admit that they are as fanatical about it as other countries are about soccer, but don't go to the extremes the more highly excitable people do.

Maybe it is better to work your energy off in a hard fought soccer or baseball game than to come to blows.

It's astonishing to see how the animals react to the coming of the cooler weather. During the summer, it was often difficult to get the cats to come in. It was warm and comfortable outside and they seemed to enjoy staying out late. I also think that, in their perversity, they enjoyed having us call them and try to get them to come in to be sure they were safe at night. There are too many dogs and raccoons at large in the neighborhood.

But now Perdido seems to be quite content to come in when he's called. In the mornings when he goes to the door to go out, he will sniff the weather and if it's raining or cold, he takes one look and then comes back in again as much as to say "You think I'm going out in that!"

When I come home from work, he's anxious to get into the house and doesn't roar around trying to get out after he has fueled up, but seems quiet content to curl up on the bed or the big chair and have a snooze.

He also seems to be more affectionate in the winter. And more playful. Maybe he does appreciate being in a house and being warm and comfortable. But cats are such material beings, that they like their ease and comfort and often I think this is why they love us, because we provide it for them.

It's like a friend of mine used to tell the children when they went to visit her and stood around with pleading eyes for a goodie or one of her special buns. "It's just cupboard love," she used to say when they told her how much they loved her!

I remember how funny Perdido was the first time he saw snow. He would put a paw down, lift it up and look at the white stuff and shake it, and then gingerly put down another paw to see if the same thing happened. Finally he decided this was fun and would jump in it throwing gobs of snow up in the air and playing in it just like a youngster.

They seem to enjoy the changing weather but dislike the rain.

H.S.S. School students sell B.C. School sports tickets

Students of Howe Sound Secondary school are now canvassing the Squamish area with the 1985 edition of the province-wide B.C. Secondary School Sports Draw. In the 14 years the draw has been conducted, it has raised over four million dollars to help with the funding for extra-curricular sport and activity programs both in this community and across the province.

Students from more than 205 B.C. Secondary Schools will be selling the $2.00 tickets which are eligible for five chances to win cash and a travel package for two featuring a grand prize of $10,000 and Pacific Western holiday package for two to Loreto, Mexico.

Support students from Howe Sound Secondary and you just might be the winner of an outstanding vacation package!

For further information contact Shirley DeCook at the school, 892-5261.

Annual Hospital meeting

The annual meeting of the Squamish Hospital Society has been set for Thursday, Oct. 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the Royal Canadian Legion.

Besides the transaction of the annual business and election of members to the hospital board, new business will consist of amending the society bylaws to bring about a joint board of trustees with the Squamish Intermediate Society.

Members who have not paid their dues to the society are urged to do so in order to be eligible to vote at this meeting.

Council dickers over Dickey

Council fell into an argument over the appointment of a recording secretary to the Tourism Committee with Recreation Director Grant Dickey caught in the middle. The argument came after Alderman Corinne Lonsdale, Chairman of the Tourism Committee, approached council with a request for a recording secretary for the Committee meetings.

Lonsdale told council she saw a relationship between Parks and Recreation and Tourism, and believed Dickey would be good for the job, which entails attending 7 a.m. Tourism meetings at the Golf and Country Club.

Said Assistant Clerk Brenda Sims in a memo to council: "Mr. Grant Dickey agrees that in some respects there is a relationship, however, not 100 percent."

Lonsdale told council: "To have an effective committee we have to have someone take minutes. It wouldn't be a bad idea to have our own people there."

The rest of council was not entirely in agreement with asking Dickey to take on the role of recording secretary which would be in addition to his regular full-time duties as Parks and Recreation Director.

"I think there's too many chiefs in this committee,"

Alderman Wilf Dowad said. "I don't think there's any workers."

Dowad added he took exception to the idea of taking a department head and loading him up with extra duties.

"It takes a lot to being a secretary," Dowad said.

Alderman Dave Stewart noted all the committees have resource people sitting in, except the very small committees.

"It's good exposure for the community," Stewart added.

Alderman Chuck Harvey also defended the proposition of having Dickey sit in on the Tourism Committee.

"He is an important person," Harvey said. "It's nice to have him there."

"It's too bad that Mr. Dowad couldn't handle a few events next year," Harvey added. "I'd like to see him do Canada Day."

Council passed a motion to install Dickey as recording secretary on the Tourism Committee with all councilmembers, including Dowad, supporting the motion.

Mayor Egon Tobus presented Reg O'Neill with his 20 year service pin at the retirement party held in his honor.

Sprinkling regulations still in effect

The water sprinkling restrictions imposed by the municipality during the summer dry spell are still in effect despite the cooler and wetter weather.

A spokesman for the Public Works department reported as of Sept. 19, the sprinkling times - 4 p.m. to 10 p.m., odd numbered houses on odd days and even numbered houses on even days - still apply to the Squamish area.

In a report to council, John Payne, Works Superintendent, said as a result of the water sprinkling restrictions, the District has successfully maintained a sufficient domestic water supply. Payne added though the water level in the Stawamus River, Squamish's chief source of water is rising, it is still not back to its normal flow. Payne said as of Sept. 12, he estimated the water flow to be 50 percent the normal flow.

Payne also mentioned in his report that because of the unusually low water levels experienced this summer, the Waterworks department accumulated considerable overtime amongst its employees. Payne said the overtime placed a heavy demand on the budget.

Firemen seek help from Rotary

Ric Raynor appeared before the Squamish Rotary Club last week asking for assistance in the upcoming safety program, "Plan to Get Out Alive."

Raynor said the program will start in the schools in the latter part of this month and will culminate in a nation-wide exercise on Oct. 9 at 6 p.m.

Preliminary stages of the program will be to go to the schools with promotional material to be distributed among the pupils for them to take home.

The program will enlist the help of the children in a national fire escape program which will have families plan how to leave a home in case of fire, plot escape routes and chart action to be taken if there is a fire.

Raynor told the club that most of the fires occur at night and that 91 percent of the people who die, die in residential fires. Smoke alarms have been very effective in saving lives and people are urged to install them.

"We have found that taking the safety programs to the schools is most effective," Raynor said. "The children go home and really bug their parents about fire safety."

He said that Squamish had been very fortunate in that there had only been one fire death in the recent past.

However, he explained that the campaign did require some funding for advertising and promotion and he asked the Rotary Club if it could provide $400 for this purpose.

The rationale behind the burning of slash

Always at this time of year there are queries about the burning of slash. But slash-burning has always played a key role in the provincial reforestation and protection program. Slash is only burned however when there is a valid reason for it. These are some of the most common:

- * To reduce fire hazard.
- * To facilitate reforestation. Fire makes the job easier for tree planters or for natural regeneration by removing the debris and exposing the soil.
- * To lessen the need for herbicide use; on some sites if slash is burned, forest weed growth will be retarded and seedlings can become established before brush invades the area.
- * To improve nutrients availability; on some sites, heavy layers of leaves and needles have built up over the years. Essential nutrients are "locked away". A properly executed slash burn can help make nutrients more available.
- * To reduce costs; slashburning is usually less costly and less environmentally damaging than mechanical removal of logging slash.
- * To reduce disease; slashburning may be essential to eliminate or reduce losses from disease such as mistletoe.

A number of questions always rise when slashburning occurs. One concern is that it will lead to soil erosion.

Experts agree that it will damage the soil if not done properly but a new guide has established procedures for determining if an area can be burned without soil damage or erosion. If so, weather, moisture and other conditions must fall within specified limits before burning begins.

Another query is why can't slash be collected and sold for firewood. On many areas firewood harvesting is done but sometimes it is not advisable if the purpose is to destroy disease or control brush.

The question of the smoke as a pollutant, eyesore or health hazard, is often raised. Foresters try to reduce the amount of smoke by monitoring weather carefully, extending the burning season to reduce the amount of smoke trying to get a quick burn, taking advantage of winds and mopping up and extinguishing fires as soon as possible.

Slashburning is controlled and burning permits are suspended when smoke builds up or there is a large number of slash fires at one time.

Properly managed and controlled, slashburning is an important part of good forest management. It greatly reduces the chance of wild fires and promotes the establishment of a healthy forest.

Burning is controlled by the Ministry of Forests.

Graduating Class of 1950 holds reunion

Ernest Hayes and his wife Carrie of Portland, Oregon, were the guests of honor at the reunion of the graduating class of 35 years ago. They met at the home of Jim and Christine Bourdon in August to celebrate the occasion.

Hayes was the principal of Howe Sound Secondary School at the time and Bourdon taught the Grade 12 and Senior matriculation classes of "Squamish High" now called Howe Sound Secondary.

The class of 1949-50 had eight students, four boys and four girls. The first graduating class picture on the wall of the present high school shows this class. Seven of the eight graduates managed to attend the reunion 35 years later.

Attending the graduation class reunion were Norm Barr and his wife Doreen; Jack Stathers and his wife Marylu; Marg Candy (Boscariol) and her husband Nick; Anne Boscariol (Morrison) and her husband Willie; who all live in Squamish. Others were Terry Frost, Frank Axen and his wife Mary of Burnaby, and Christine Bourdon (Nygard) and husband Jim of North Vancouver.

Over appetizers and cocktails they enjoyed talking over "old times", looking at pictures and annuals and "remembering when". The reunion ended after a delightful Chinese buffet supper.

Also attending were Aleeta Armstrong and Harold and Shirley Halvorson of Squamish and Mary Ann Jacobsen of Vancouver.

Sending regrets that they were unable to attend were Eleanor and Bob Bishop of Whistler.

Seven ships in September

Seven ships are due in port during September with Japan being the destination for three of them. The Star Fraser was in Squamish on Sept. 8, loading for Japan while the Star Fuji is due on Sept. 18 with another ship due to load for Japan on Sept. 28.

Loading for Europe will be the Star Dieppe, due on Sept. 18 and the Star Dover on Sept. 24.

The Mediterranean will be the destination of the Star Visayas, due in Squamish on Sept. 28 while another ship will arrive in late September to load cargo for India.

Frustrated with ordinary banking? Bank with us instead.

British Columbians are switching to Credit Unions.

Why?

It isn't just because of the friendly, personalized service we extend to all our members.

It's innovation.

Did you know that B.C.'s Credit Unions were the first to offer daily interest accounts? And we improved personal money management by introducing the "all-in-one" statement.

Competitive rates aren't the only reason why one-quarter of all the residential mortgages in B.C. are with Credit Unions. We've led the way, with open mortgages and bi-weekly payment plans.

You see, since we're not large, cumbersome organizations we respond quickly to our members' needs. For example, we're pioneering computer assisted financial planning.

Nearly one million British Columbians enjoy financial security and superior service at their local Credit Unions.

Sea to ??? Country

by Al Herman

A Squamish resident has taken the Sea to Sky theme to heart, literally.

Byard Wood, a long time resident, has not only helped to develop, but is heading as well, what he feels is one of the greatest opportunities of Canadian youth today to become better prepared for a future of space technology and exploration.

"The main idea," says Wood, "is to encourage young Canadians between the ages of 6 to 16 years of age, to become actively involved in space-based technology and related activities, while maintaining good grades in math and science related subjects during their school years."

"By doing so," he points out, "it will enable the students to be better prepared with the technological literacy that will be demanded of them in the future."

It is with that idea in mind, that Young Astronauts Canada, a privately sponsored, non-profit organization, was incorporated on August 6th, 1985.

With that incorporation a program was brought into existence that will not only deliver challenging and motivational materials to encourage the member to study, but will also include, along with other items of interest, a Young Astronaut's Journal. The latter will not only be informative, containing articles on Canada's space program, guest editorial articles and suggestions for experiments, but will also include articles written by Y.A.C. members themselves, while at the same time offering them information on how to win awards and scholarships.

As for distribution of the program itself, it will be preceded by a letter to all schools across the Nation in early September with a solicitation for membership, the major push for this will occur in late September, early October. Following this will be the formal launch of Young Astronauts Canada in early November.

So positive is Wood of the success of his organization, that he predicts a membership base of upwards of 200,000 members by June 1986.

"Already," he points out, "the United States, as well as Russia, have instituted their own programs and similar ones either exist, or are being considered in India, Australia, Japan, Sri Lanka and France to name but a few."

"All of this," according to Wood, "is indicative of the fact that there is a mounting wave of excitement worldwide for the exploration of our last great frontier."

"The creation," he states, "of Young Astronauts Canada, not only put Canada into the position of being able to contribute to, but to participate as well, in the formation of an International Young Astronauts Council."

As for his supporters, Wood's only comment was that other than the National Research Council of Canada, he was not at liberty to give names at the present time.

He did, however, stress that they included major consumer as well as high-tech based Canadian corporations and many individuals in Education and Government. He also pointed out that Marc Garneau, Canada's first astronaut, is also behind the program and has in fact become its first Honorary President.

It should be noted, by those with a staunch Western frame of mind, that although Young Astronauts Canada was conceived and developed in the West, it has met avid support in the East as well.

"In fact," said Wood, "they (the east) were adamant that the program not only come from the West, but be controlled from the West as well. 'But remember,' he states, 'that while this may be the case, it is, and will remain, a National program.'"

When asked how he felt about what he was striving to achieve, Wood's comment was, "it's something that I feel needs to be done for the betterment of our youth. And besides, it's fun."

Board asked to acquire Porteau Cove Camp

Nelson Winterburn, who has been taking classes to Porteau Cove for studies of sea life, marine animals and the botany and biology of tidal areas, gave a presentation to the school board on the desirability of acquiring the area for an extension of the outdoor education program.

He has used the site for these classes for the past five years. Winterburn also told the board that the lessee of the property is willing to let the board use it for the equivalent of the monies he has spent on upgrading it. The lease has a year to run and after that it might be possible for the board to obtain its own lease.

He outlined the recreational uses of the property, such as swimming and fishing, the possibilities of geological studies as well as marine studies, and it could also be tied in with a study of transportation.

Winterburn said the cost, $6,000, for use of the area and facilities, was reasonable but he realized the board might find it difficult at this time. However, he suggested the area could be used by other schools and possibly by Capilano College, for marine studies.

"I've put a fair amount of work into this program," Winterburn told the board, "and I would like to see it go ahead."

The board expressed an interest in the property and said it would complement the present site at Pemberton, but cost was a factor.

There was a suggestion that other boards could be contacted to see if they would use the area if it was available and Winterburn said he would explore the possibility of this.

He told the board the present lessee, whose lease still has another year to run, would have to raze the buildings if the property reverted to the B.C. Railway which owns the land.

Winterburn also showed the board a tape he had made of the school and the students in their marine studies.

Dear Friends:

We sincerely thank everyone for the many acts of kindness for Harold's 65th birthday and after his passing.

For visits and phone calls, the beautiful sympathy cards with equally beautiful prayers and messages. For donations to charity in his memory. For help with driving, food brought to our home and refreshments after the service.

Special thank you to Dave and Joan Hinds, Rev. Chris Burnett, Norah Teel, Marilee Lang, Royal Canadian Legion and Ladies Auxiliary Members to Branch no. 277.

Thank you, all these kindnesses will always be remembered.

Peg, Roe, Laird, Bev and Bill, Elleen and Bruce and families.

ROCK VIEW

Philly fans spread the word: 'Give a Hoot!'

By Marianne Meyer

Some viewers may have wondered why a (then) relatively unknown band called "The Hooters" appeared at Live Aid two months ago, but hometown fans in JFK Stadium had no such reservations. In Philadelphia, The Hooters are local heroes, backed by strong radio support, highly successful independent records and a touring rep that had them headlining large halls way before the July 13th Live Aid concert. Eric Bazilian, the band's guitarist/vocalist/saxophonist, explains: "It wasn't like someone took us, dumped us on Mars and said 'Go!'. We felt like we were the host band. We were the ones who got to say 'Welcome to Philadelphia.'" world is starting to share Philly's enthusiasm for the guys. With drummer David Uosikinen, guitarist John Lilley and bassist Andy King rounding out the crew, The Hooters have become national radio and video favorites.

Bazilian gives full credit to English director David Campbell for "All You Zombies," the band's stylish video debut. "That was really his baby," he says of the clip, shot in a subterranean London water pumping station. "David understood the song the same way we did - as a symbolic thing rather than a literal story."

By contrast, "And We Danced" was a video for which Bazilian and Hyman (the band's acknowledged leaders) had definite ideas. The opening shot, which shows two guys playing a hooter (the Hohner melodica from which they took their name) and a mandolin was "something we conceptualized a year ago when we were writing the song," Bazilian recalls.

The setting was inspired by a visit to a St. Louis radio station located next to a drive-in. The group discussed these images, and others, with director John Jobson, Bazilian adds. For the location shooting, about 1,000 Hooters fans - and their cars - gathered at an abandoned drive-in in Exton, Penn., a small town outside of Philadelphia. During the 17-hour production, the band entertained the crowd with an impromptu concert.

"It was great," Bazilian says, "because these were real fans. It was a very special thing, like a private concert, a party."

Eric Bazilian

Now, thanks to the success of "And We Danced," "All You Zombies" and "Time After Time" (which Hooter vocalist-keyboardist Rob Hyman co-wrote with Cyndi Lauper), the

NVOS open house "child's play"

Children of all ages were treated to bee-keeping, candle-making, archery, canoeing and a host of other attractions at the annual Open House at the North Vancouver Outdoor School on Sept. 15.

John Moffat, spokesman for the NVOS, said the attendance figures were around 400, or "about what we expected."

"We were very pleased with the turnout," Moffat said. "It was a good, sunny day."

Moffat added the attendance figures reflect the School's change in time of the year for the Open House. In past years, the School has traditionally held its Open House in May, rather than September.

Visitors to this year's Open House came from Squamish, Whistler, and Pemberton, as well as from Vancouver and North Vancouver. Moffat said the Open House gives parents of North Vancouver schoolchildren a chance to see where their children go each year to attend the alternative school.

Although families were the predominant visiting group, the Open House was really "a child's day," said Moffat.

Big attractions included the "heritage crafts" such as weaving, candle-making and other displays. Young children particularly enjoyed the School's farm, complete with chickens, pigs and cows.

All display booths were busy and the School managed to sell over 100 lbs. of apples from trees on the property.

A new display this year was family photos taken in front of the School's barn.

The Open House marked the sixteenth year of operation for the North Vancouver Outdoor School.

The School, owned and operated by the North Vancouver School District, receives students from all 31 elementary schools and six secondary schools in North Vancouver. Each school sends two groups of students to the NVOS each year, one primary group and one intermediate group. In addition, many high school students return to the NVOS as volunteer counsellors.

The students stay at the NVOS for several days where they take part in science, language and outdoor activities to correspond with their regular school curriculum.

The NVOS is run by a staff of 23. In addition, the School maintains a volunteer workforce from North Vancouver high school students as well as local Katimavik participants.

Children visiting the Open House at the North Vancouver Outdoor School on Sept. 15 try their hand at candle-making.

Local performers gearing up for next year

The Squamish Songwriters and Performers Association, an enthusiastic group just under a year old, are reviewing their experiences in holding the Squamish Summer Festival, and are already planning a summer music festival for next year. "This is our first major event and we've all learned a lot from organizing the Summer Festival," says President Ed Yourk.

"We had terrific support from local organizations, business and the Squamish Days Committee. Next year, the music festival is going to be even better."

The group is compiling a list of performers from its members, with profiles, to use as a performers' referral service. This will give the community access to which bands or entertainers are available in the area. Those interested in being added to the referral list can contact Ron Marier at 898-5425 for information.

A benefit dance, Sept. 28, at the Elk's Hall promises to be a real event with four live bands: "No Dogs Please," "FSP", "Bert and the Boneheads", "Holly Wood and the Producers", and possibly others. Tickets are available through SSPA members. Call Paul Wagner at 892-5764 for tickets, information, or to volunteer to help that night.

"Our main goal in the coming few years is to establish a centre for performing artists," Yourk says, "Squamish needs a facility to help develop and encourage local talent."

The Squamish Songwriters and Performers Association meet the first Wednesday of each month.

Next meeting will be Oct. 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the Arts Council Building. Interested performers and writers are invited to attend. For more information, attend the Oct. 2 membership meeting, or phone 898-3536 or 892-3130.

St. John's Anglican Church is holding a potluck supper in the church (40285 Diamond Road) on Thursday from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. An open invitation is extended to the community.

Erich and Elfreda Schleiper are pleased to have friends from Hesse, West Germany visiting them. Matthias and Trudi Rosdahl are also enjoying their sightseeing tours and shopping trips to Vancouver. Trudi and Elfreda were school friends many years ago.

Stork Story
SCHUMACHER - A second child, a daughter, Erin Loretta was born to Dawn and Peter Schumacher in the Lions Gate Hospital on Sept. 9, weighing 7 lbs. This is a baby sister for Jordan. The proud grandparents are Loretta and Pat Conway of Squamish and Hilda and Kurt Schumacher of North Vancouver. Great grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Earl Laird and Mrs. Ruth Conway of North Vancouver and Mrs. Freda Grentzer in Germany are thrilled with Erin's arrival.

A young man's name was left out of a birth announcement in last week's column. Let's hope the "gremlins" are on holiday this week!!

HEIDENREICH - Christopher and Kevin are happy to welcome a little sister into their family. Kattie Leigh was born to proud parents Peter and Sonja Heidenreich in the Lions Gate Hospital on Sept. 3, weighing 7 lbs. 3ozs. Sharing in the joy of Kattie's arrival are grandparents Mr. and Mrs. A. McGoldrick of Abbotsford and Mr. and Mrs. Heinz Heidenreich of Squamish. Equally proud great grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. Grant of Abbotsford, Mrs. and Mrs. W.J. Carter of Salt Spring Island and Mrs. O. Vetter in Germany.

Howe Sound Drama Club will present a Showboat Spectacular in the Civic Centre on Nov. 13, 14, 15, and 16. Ladies costumes (from late 1890's - 1900's) - long dresses, poke bonnets etc are required. The Drama Club promises to "handle with care" any items you would care to lend them. Please phone Doreen Ramus at 898-5375 or Peg Tinney at 898-5260.

Sign language - On a golf course: "Please don't find lost balls until they stop rolling." and -on a garbage truck: "Your garbage is our bread and butter."

The official wedding photographer for Kevin and Katrina Doherty's wedding was Glen Frankland. Their marriage write-up was in last week's paper. Glen regularly runs an ad on the business directory page.

Jacuis and Staf Peeters and sons Vital, Jan and Mon-jef had good friend Suruba (Bi-Geolo) Ibumando and her friend Howell visiting from New York City. Suruba and Jacuis are originally from Zaire. Staf's sister Sie Peeters and friend Met Bierinchx from Herenthout, Belgium are guests at the Peeter's home this week.

Get in shape gang-the Squamish Rotary Road Run will be held on Sunday, Nov. 3.

Wedding anniversary wishes to: Mr. and Mrs. Joe Laventure, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Chapin, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Saddler, Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Furniss, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Pickering and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Reimer.

Are you looking for something meaningful to do this fall? Hilltop House has many opportunities for the volunteer worker. Perhaps you could share a favourite hobby participate in a group activity. If you play a musical instrument the residents would be pleased to hear you perform. For more information on how you can get involved, contact the Activity Co-ordinator at 892-9337

Bill Barnfield, who was born and brought up in Squamish was down from Williams Lake last week visiting his brother and sister in law Fred and Peggy Barnfield.

This week, Howe Sound Women's Centre sent out letters to local business and community groups requesting financial assistance for the Centre to enable it to continue providing services to the women in Squamish. They would like to thank Squamish Mills for their immediate response with a generous donation.

STORK STORY
MCDONALD - Greg and Heather McDonald are pleased to announce the birth of their second child, a son, Scot Gregory, born in the Squamish General Hospital on July 25, weighing 9 lbs 3 1/2 ozs. This is a brother for three and a half year old Jade. Proud grandparents are Mrs. Pat McDonald of Vancouver and Mr. and Mrs. John Buchanan of Squamish. Mr. and Mrs. Harley Gillies of Courtenay are the thrilled great grandparents.

The Royal Canadian Legion Branch #277 recently donated two remote controlled colour television sets to the Squamish Hospital. The purchase of the televisions was made possible from bingo receipts. The next bingo game will be held this Thursday with an early bird game at 7: p.m. and the regular card starting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday night bingo alternates each week with the Legion one week and the Elks Lodge the next Thursday.

Birthday people this week are: Shannon Price, Lynn Gauthier, Terry Cyr, Maurice Scott, Luke Plunkett, Jack Merces, Helen Lehman, Rene Trudeau, Kimberly Kiloh, Jackie Wright, Domenic Milia, Gregory Burt, Donna White, Linda Looyen, Linda Finter, Teresa Langstaff, Gerri Beaulieu, Peggy Tinklin, Michael Mills, Cindy Hughes, Walter Regier, Sherrie West, Bob Middeimann, Kai Jenkins, Sarah Johnston, Stephen Kelm, Christopher Dunham, Brenda Ryan, and Todd Singer.

Congrats also to: Christopher Clark, Sharon Julien, Debbie Kary, Robert Phillips, James Bank, Jon Halvorson, Eric Howie, Randall Giguere, Mrs. E. Middelmann, Michele McEwan, Robert Forsyth, Sharron Johns, Michael Looyen, Michael Keeler, Tommy Newman, Melody Cirgulis, Kim Goodall, Samuel Carey and Miranda Wray.

Miss Piper Black celebrates her first birthday tomorrow. How could I forget Master Tyler Falt??? This young lad had his all important first birthday on the 19th.

Government pension cheques will be in the post offices on Thursday.

Tony and Flo Martin attended the Earthquakers reunion in Vancouver on Sept. 12-15. The veterans (and spouses) from the 12th Bombardment Group (USA) which included a few Canadians held the reunion in Canada for the first time. Approximately 50 (of the 300) came up to Squamish on the Royal Hudson/MV Britannia and all were impressed with the beauty of our valley. It was over 40 years since Tony had seen some of his "buddies". The next reunion is in Minneapolis in 1989 and Tony and Flo hope to be there.

Double Ring ceremony St. John's Anglican Church

Rev. Charles Walters officiated at a double ring ceremony in St. John's Anglican Church on Saturday, July 13.

Yvonne Nadine McGoldrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McGoldrick of Abbotsford and Jeffery Owen Tinney, youngest son of Mrs. Peggy Tinney (and the late Jim Tinney) of Squamish exchanged their marriage vows and rings at the 4 pm ceremony.

The organist was Mrs. Anne Kristianson, an old family friend.

A lovely variety of pink, blue and white summer flowers with gladioli as the prominent flower decorated the church and altar. The floral arrangements were done by Mrs. Ruth Fenton.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a cathedral length A-line chiffon gown, trimmed with tiers of lace. It featured a scooped neckline and long sleeves of Queen Ann lace and seed pearls. The seed pearl headpiece held a chapel length veil trimmed with matching lace. A cascading bouquet of red roses with white stephanotis, pink carnations and baby's breath was carried by the bride. For her something old, Yvonne wore a mustard seed necklace belonging to her late grandmother, Mrs. Edith Burns.

Matron of honor, Sonja Heidenreich, sister of the bride wore a long dress of pink polyester, sleeveless and softly pleated in front. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and baby's breath. Bridesmaids, Shelley Teichman and Sean Trudeau, twin sisters of the groom and Wendy Gracey, cousin of the bride wore long baby blue polyester dresses featuring a chiffon empire bodice. They carried bouquets of blue carnations and baby's breath and a head-dress of comb shell with a sprig of baby's breath and blue ribbons.

Also in the wedding party was Lisa Trudeau, (niece of the groom) as flower girl, who wore a calf length dress of white satin featuring a tiered skirt and a halo of tiny flowers in her hair. She carried a basket of pastel flowers.

Master Christopher Heidenreich (nephew of the bride) acted as ring bearer. He wore grey trousers, a white shirt and bow tie.

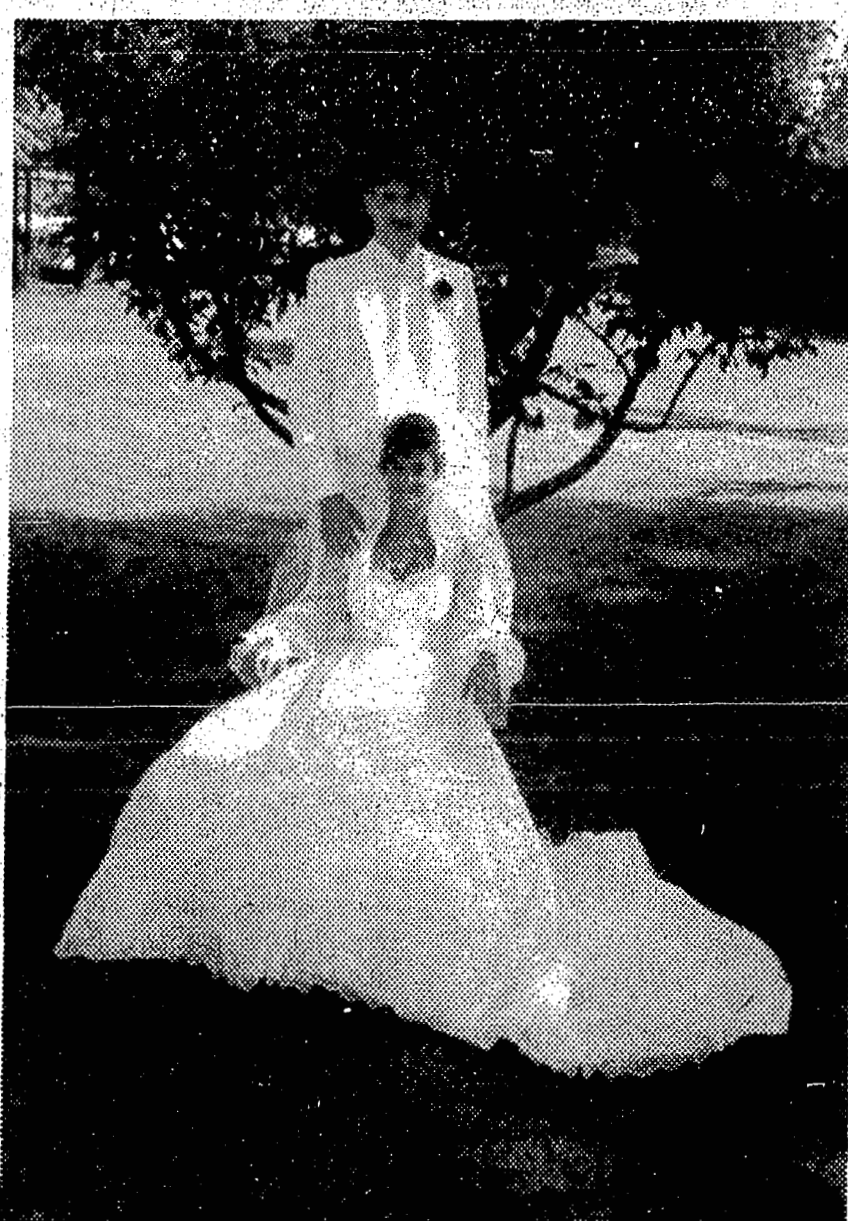

Brother of the groom, Chris Tinney of Prince George was the best man.

Ushering duties were shared by Jim Waldie, brother in law of the groom from Castlegar and Kevin Gilmour and Robert Carlson.

Mrs. Megan Beise, cousin of the groom sang "The Wedding Song" during the signing of the register.

On the occasion of her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McGoldrick wore a short floral red and white polyester dress with a white jacket and accessories and a red and white carnation corsage.

Mrs. Tinney, the groom's mother chose a short length tan linen dress with woven

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Tinney

belt, bone accessories and coral and white corsage of carnations.

At the reception in the Royal Canadian Legion hall following the ceremony, the bride's uncle Bill Poole acted as master of ceremonies.

Rick McGoldrick, the bride's brother was pleased to give the traditional toast to the bride.

The wedding cake was made by the groom's mother and was beautifully decorated by Mrs. Yvonne Flummerfelt. The cutting cake was made by the bride's aunt Lee Cooper.

Before leaving the reception area, the bride donned a three-piece cotton dress in pink and white and featured a wide leather belt. Her accessories were white shoes and pink and white carnation corsage. The young couple honeymooned in Castlegar and Kelowna.

Out of town guests came from Abbotsford, Clearbrook, Quatsino Sound, Castlegar, Prince George, Vancouver, Victoria, Port McNeill, Vancouver Island and Watson Lake, Yukon.

Mr. and Mrs. Tinney are residing in Squamish.

Evelyn Carson feted at bridal shower

YOU AND THE POLICE

Drugs
part 1

In the following articles, we will discuss the drug problem in Squamish. The laws relating to drugs and the enforcement of those laws will be discussed, so will the types of drugs found in our area. We will also write about the signs and the results of drug abuse.

Drugs have been around for a long time and will continue to be with us for a long time yet. But it is a problem in Squamish. Let's look at the facts.

Drugs are bought, sold and used every day by most age groups. Recent information points sadly to the fact that drugs have reached elementary school levels. Locally available statistics show that last year 86 drug incidents were investigated as compared to 50 the year before.

Those numbers represent only a tiny fraction of the amount of drugs and users. Drug laws are extremely difficult to enforce. This responsibility is left in the hands of our local police force, the RCMP, whose members are very well known in the community. The fact that they are easily recognized makes enforcement of drug laws that much more difficult. Most drug seizures done in Squamish are the result of routine checks by police and from response to complaints and/or information received from the public by the RCMP. Response and co-operation with members of the community is essential for a better enforcement of drug laws in Squamish.

We are governed by the Narcotic Control Act and the Food and Drugs Act. Offences range from simple possession, possession for the purpose of trafficking, trafficking (an actual drug or imitation of a drug), importing (into Canada) and cultivation. Penalties range from a $1000 fine or six months in jail to seven years in jail for a maximum sentence.

The drugs that are used most commonly in our town are cocaine, marijuana, chemicals (LSD) and psilocybin mushrooms.

Cocaine is referred to as nose candy, snow, blow or coke. The drug can be injected or sniffed and is commonly carried in small paper wrapping. There is no physical dependence on the drug. The dependence is purely mental. Cocaine gives the user a stimulant effect. Possible signs for spotting a cocaine user are enlarged pupils, dry nose and sniffing. One gram of cocaine at 20 percent strengths would cost around $150 to $180. The drug can be found in varying strengths and is commonly sold in bars.

Marijuana is from the Cannabis family and is referred to as grass, weed, smoke, pot or reefer. It is commonly smoked either in cigarette form or in a pipe. Symptoms of marijuana use are red eyes, dry mouth, talkativeness, daydreaming, coughing and thirst. There are many different types of marijuana such as homegrown, Columbia, Red Hair Sinsemilla and Thai stick. Marijuana is sold anywhere from $100 to $250 per ounce and $25 to $40 per unit for the Thai Stick. Homegrown is about $25 to $100 per ounce. Homegrown marijuana is reported to be the number one money crop in Canada and has grossed more than the B.C. apple crop. Three crops are harvested per year and homegrown is very abundant on the Sunshine Coast, Vancouver Island and somewhat in our area.

Hashish is also in the Cannabis family as Cannabis resin or hash oil. Hashish is usually in a solid form either dark or light greenish brown in color. Hash oil is usually a thick dark liquid. Both hashish and hash oil have the same effect as marijuana and sell for $10 to $15 per gram.

Lycergic Acid Diethylamide, more commonly known as LSD is a chemical taken orally. It is usually presented on blotting paper. LSD is a hallucinogenic whose signs are dilated pupils, cold hands, vomiting and occasionally violent or disturbed behaviour. One hit of LSD will sell from $5 to $7.

A drug Awareness Information Seminar to further discuss our local drug problem is scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 1, 1985 at 7:00 pm at the Howe Sound Secondary School.

Pavilion to get Electricity

The recently completed pavilion at the Squamish Junction will soon be channelled with electricity.

Council passed a motion introduced by Alderman Ron Barr and seconded by Alderman Corinne Lonsdale that funds be made available to install the pavilion with electrical outlets and electrical current.

The funds are to come from the Tourism Budget for 1985, if available or from the Parks and Recreation Budget for 1986 if necessary.

Council passed the motion after receiving a recommendation from the Parks and Recreation Committee endorsing the project.

According to Lonsdale, the outlets will be vandal-proof and capable of supporting heavy speakers and other equipment anticipated to be used in the pavilion.

Council recently authorized the allotment of municipal funds to install electricity in the Squamish
Junction pavilion.

EAGLES EARN FIRST VICTORY

With the season opener of the Squamish Eagles two days away, Thursday versus Mission, there are still a lot of questions left unanswered from the fans point of view.

Will it be typical Junior B goon Hockey show? Will we be watching a bunch of North Vancouver players in Squamish uniforms, a team we can't relate to? How will the players handle the pressures of suddenly being put in the limelight, put under public scrutiny and expected to show results?

More importantly will the team be competitive? Will it put numbers under the win column or under the goals against in astronomical numbers?

All are valid questions and all have been posed at one time or another ever since the word first got out about the coming of Junior B hockey to Squamish. All are almost impossible to answer at this point with the Eagles skating through only two games, versus Grandview and White Rock, which could closely resemble what they will look like during the regular season.

Two games does not a season make. The only way to test an army is to get them into the trenches when it really counts.

Locals will be glad to know however that there will indeed be Squamish players on a Squamish club though exact numbers won't be known until the final cuts. But if those two games are to be any indication the Squamish Eagles will be a competitive club.

Though Squamish gave up 3-0 and 4-1 advantages on September 15 in settling for a 6-6 draw with Grandview, later in the week they turned the tables.

On the road for the first time, the Eagles found themselves down 3-0 early in the first period against White Rock. Led by the front unit of Brad Fanos, Dan Payne and Gord Trenamen though, Squamish connected for three tallies in each frame for a 9-7 victory.

Amongst themselves the Payne-Fanos-Trenamen line accounted for six of those goals with Fanos peaking for the hat trick, Payne for a pair and Trenamen snaring a single. Other goal scorers were Jamie Raymond, Miles Rosser and Chris Frederick.

"It was an offensive game," was all coach Mike Marshall could muster afterwards while manager Bill Jackson let on that the new rule of ignoring the center line in two line passes contributed to the high score.

Besides showing that they can score goals the Eagles, most notable in the Grandview match showed that they can hit and have some solid goaltending in the form of Peter Miklovich, though he did let in seven shots at White Rock.

Meanwhile the club has also announced that Vancouver Canuck, Ron Delorme will be present on Sunday for Squamish's home opener against Grandview. Game time is 1:30 pm. Delorme will take part in the center ice festivities.

After the game the club will be moving to Mykonos for the "Fourth Period" and fans are welcome to join.

As a reminder season ticket sales are continuing at a brisk pace. The 22 game package, which can be purchased at the Civic Centre, is worth $60 with buyers getting first choice of seating and playoff tickets.

Dart Winners

The standings from the Tuesday Night League Darts at the Royal Canadian Legion are as follows:

Nickel Pot Shots	18 wins
Spear Chuckers	16 wins
Hot Shots	15 wins
Won Ton	15 wins
Basket Cases	13 wins
Mixed Nuts	11 wins
Family Affair	11 wins
No Bull	11 wins
The Spoilers	10 wins
Frank N Steins	10 wins
Fish & Chippies	8 wins
The Underdogs	8 wins
Catch Up	8 wins
Back House Bunch	8 wins
Ten Stars	8 wins
Bamboozers	5 wins
Double Trouble	3 wins
Foghorn Hens	2 wins

Terry Reed and Gary Harley both hit perfect scores of 180.

High score of the night was 156 by Greg Acorn.

High finish of the night was 92 by Helen Acorn

Double Trouble is an outstanding team with fantastic sportsman-like qualities (commentary by the Spearchuckers who can afford to say that, seeing as they beat them 9-1).

More Dart Winners

The results of Singles Wednesday Night Darts at the Royal Canadian Legion on Sept. 18 were: Gary Harley (first) Jim Reed (second) Laurence Leedham (third) Brian Hopkins (fourth)

Laurence Leedham has the high finish with 115.

Gary Harley still has the high score with 156.

Singles starts at 7:30 p.m. every Wednesday. Everyone is welcome. For more information call Bruce or Debbie at 898-3440.

Attention motorists and cyclists!

Cyclists -- tired of being nudged off the road by passing cars? Motorists - fed up with dodging cyclists?

The Safe Riders For All Committee will be holding an informational meeting on Oct. 21 at 8 p.m. at the Chamber of Commerce Information Building to plan action to have a bike path built along Government Road.

The Committee welcomes input from motorists and cyclists who must currently share a narrow and windy road.

In addition, the Committee is asking concerned individuals to sign a letter supporting the proposed bike path. The letter can be signed at local bike shops.

For more information, come to the Oct. 21 meeting or contact Ian MacDonald at 892-3195.

Hotspurs still winless at home

If it is of any consolation to the Squamish Hotspurs, it could have been worse.

Despite it still being a very young season, which is three weeks old, the Centennial Fields has already been unkind to the third division local soccer club. Two weeks ago they were unlucky not to get anything better than a 2-1 loss in the season opener and on Sunday, back on home turf, the Spurs lacked the spark which is the hallmark of their play.

If it isn't for one Kevin Pederson the 1-0 defeat suffered at the hands of the Vancouver Holdings Hawks could have been much worse.

Pederson's sole duty for Squamish is to protect that gaping area between the posts. Protect it he did as he made a number of spectacular blocks that helped keep Squamish eligible for at least a point, perhaps even more had the men in front of him been capable of mustering an offence, for much of the contest.

The Hotspurs as a whole did play well defensively, adapting quickly to the situation in light of the feet-footed and tricky Vancouver forwards who had everyone on red alert with their forays around and behind the back line. But then that was the trouble.

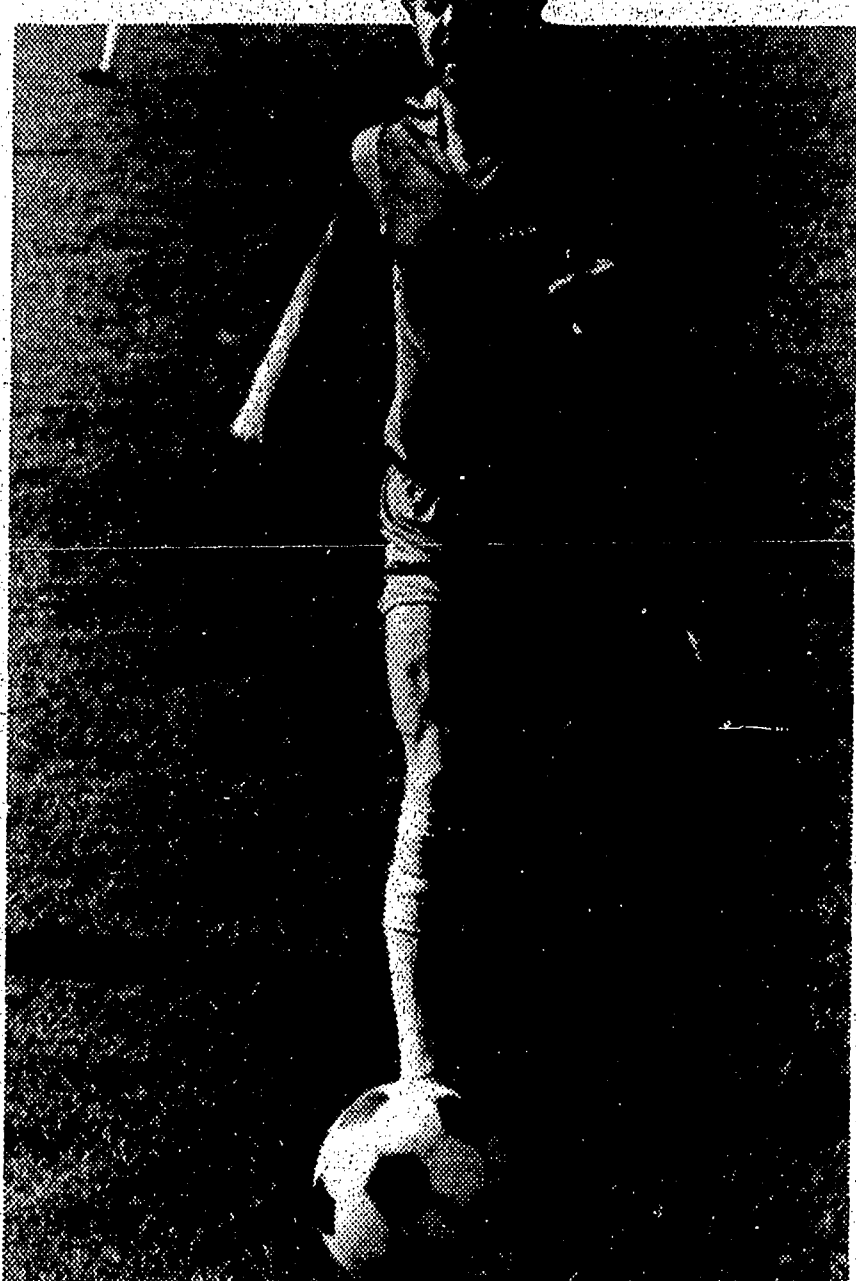

In trying to keep up with the Hawks, who were constantly slipping through balls behind the defence or simply just steaming around the right side, the Hotspurs' turn at the offence was often too brief and fleeting.

Its best, and perhaps only, chance to find the back of the net came late in the first frame, with the score still at 0-0, when Glen Rivett, in chasing down a long, lead, breakaway pass, stripped the keeper of the ball at the edge of the box and then fired off the inside of the far post.

Instead of rebounding in, like it would nine times out of ten, the ball ricocheted straight back out where Squamish failed to penetrate a hastily built wall of Hawks on the goal line.

Fifteen minutes into the second half though, Vancouver did penetrate and it was a tribute to Pederson and his defensive line that the only way they could do it was on a set piece. Knocking a rather too aloof Cec Van Sickle off the ball to force a corner kick, Holdings sent a perfect pass in front, relaying it off a pair of head to beat Pederson, who had no chance to make the stop.

The loss was the Hotspurs second of the year with its only win coming last week against Club India in a 3-1 triumph in Vancouver.

Not quite able to make it, Squamish Hotspurs defender Cecil Van Sickle fails to catch the ball before it rolls into touch. The Hotspurs as a whole were playing catch up as they dropped their second game of the season 1-0 to Vancouver Holdings.

Welcome to the big leagues! Buljit Binning, the youngest member to grace Squamish United in quite some time, didn't lack the confidence nor the skills to back up that confidence in Sunday's home match against the Firemen.

Terminals enter premier on strong footing

Centennial League, premier division, it all means the same to the Squamish Terminals.

After being booted out of the former league for having scored 17 goals and letting in one in its first two games of the season, the eleven year old division six soccer club was forced to go one division up, to the premier. Still, despite playing in a Vancouver league, the change has made little difference on the scoreboard. The Terminals are still winning but not by such a big margin is all.

On Saturday the local squad faced off the Centennial

Fields against Burnaby Heights. With the strong performances of the forward line of Mike Oord, Danny Muir and Kevin Barr Squamish was all over Burnaby from start to finish and was rewarded with a 3-0 victory. Jordan Stinson collected the shutout in his lonely role as the Squamish keeper, though at times his defence, perhaps unaccustomed to actually playing defence thus far, did look a bit shaky.

But the story of the game was the forward line which not only has speed to go along with scoring punch but also a common ability to push the ball up.

"There is a lot of individual skill up there", said coach Doug Muir, "and what pleases me is that they play together as a team and that is saying a lot when you consider that every one of them started out by just chasing the ball around by themselves."

With Oord and Muir providing the speed down the wings, where they had the Heights' defense in fourth gear of reverse, it was largely their work and crosses that found the target man, Barr, in his favourite spot, right on the Burnaby doorstep.

Oord, besides opening the scoring and thus notching the winner in the first half on a long ball that caught everybody by surprise, also set up Barr's first effort. Patrolling the right side, Oord fed cross after cross to the feet of Barr and moments after the latter missed on such an opportunity by putting it over the bar, he found that opportunity does know twice.

This time he put it low and made no mistake in picking off the short side. Late in the first half Barr would finish the scoring, moving into open space after a quick Squamish counter attack and putting another drive to the same spot.

The Terminals will now travel to Vancouver for a Saturday appointment with Kerrisdale before coming home on October 5 for an 11:30 am start.

Our compliments to the Show Committee for two excellent days - Dawne St. Cyr, Kath Winstanley, Susan Herity, Ann Loneragan.

Our next event will be our year end banquet and trophy night. We thank all the local business and private citizens who have supported our endeavours and we ask for your continued interest.

We would like to invite all interested people and horse owners to our Hoof and Foot Care Clinic which is coming up on Oct. 20, 1985.

For further information on this, please contact Laurel or Joyce (898-5938).

Gilmore claims summer open

In the final tennis tournament of the season, the Summer Finale Singles Open, John Gilmore survived five rounds undefeated to take first place overall.

Meeting Parn Johal in the final, Gilmore battled off a determined finish by his opponent to take the best out of three set series in two straight, 6-2 and 7-5.

There were 23 entrants in the double knock out event which was supposed to last a mere five days. Instead, due to the weather, it was stretched to two weeks.

But despite the fact that the tennis season is over on the courts it is still going off the courts as the Recreation Commission is currently being petitioned to improve the existing courts in Squamish as well as to build a new set with lights at the Civic Centre.

A special mention though does go to Walter Sweeney who not only provided the balls and trophies but whose home served as the club house.

It must have been a long two weeks.

Council briefs

Council received a complaint from Ed Holden, of the Big Scoop Restaurant about the incidence of signs along Loggers Lane being knocked down and hampering truck business for the restaurant.

Council told Holden the Downtown Drainage project should commence shortly and the offending signs will then be removed and replaced in areas specified by the Works and Services Committee.

Council tabled a decision whether to acquire a former forestry site on Highway 99 for the municipality.

Council adopted the District of Squamish Capital Expenditure Program By-Law No. 883, 1985, Amendment By-Law No. 901, 1985.

Council adopted the Land Sale Reserve Fund Downtown Drainage Appropriation By-Law No. 902, 1985.

Mr. Dhanoa of the Squamish Taxi appeared before council on Sept. 10 and expressed his concern regarding the time limit in the loading zones in the downtown area.

City Clerk Bill Bloxham was directed to arrange a meeting between himself, Bob Splinter (By-Law Enforcement Officer), and Dhanoa to determine the situation and report back to council.

Alderman Wilf Dowad expressed concern over the amount of time the By-law Enforcement officer is spending in that area rather than building inspections, his dual role.

City Clerk Bill Bloxham advised that a statistical report will be prepared and forwarded to council with respect to the time being spent on by-law enforcement and in the Building Department.

Alderman Norm Verner advised council that he has had several complaints regarding the Auction at the corner of Victoria and Cleveland Streets, and in particular the appearance of the area.

City Clerk Bill Bloxham advised that a report is forthcoming to council.

Council received a report from John Payne, Works Superintendent, stating that work on the Downtown Drainage contract is due to start on Sept. 16 and should be completed by Nov. 1, 1985.

Payne said some inconvenience is expected for logging trucks on Loggers Lane. One lane will be kept open for loaded logging trucks, however, and empty trucks can return on Cleveland or Second Ave.

Payne also reported that sidewalk construction on Westway Ave. has started and should be finished by Oct. 15, 1985.

THE EAGLES HAVE LANDED!

PRESENTING THE SQUAMISH EAGLES JR. HOCKEY TEAM

Mike Marshall
Head Coach
North Van. B.C.

Al Stewart
Asst. Coach
North Van. B.C.

September 29 at 1:15 p.m. the puck will be dropped at the Squamish Civic Centre arena to begin the first home game of the newly formed Squamish Eagles Junior Hockey team. The idea of having a Squamish team in the West Coast Junior Hockey League has been germinating for several years. Early in 1985, a Squamish committee, comprised of Bill Jackson (General Manager), Rick Hunter, Jim Raymond, Jay Carrat, Doug Horth and Lionel Guy, united with Mike Marshall (Coach), Bob Nestor, Rick Vanrickxoort of North Vancouver, to make this concept a reality.

It was their intention to create a winning team which would not only produce good hockey entertainment at the Junior level but to which would also stimulate the Minor Hockey program in Squamish and provide another attraction for Squamish citizens.

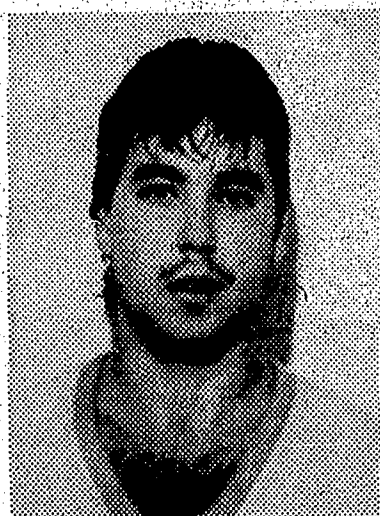

The West Coast Junior Hockey League is composed of nine teams: Surrey Saints, Grandview Steelers, University of B.C. Braves, Mission Pilots, Nor-West Americans (Seattle), Ladner Rebels, Whiterock Whalers North Shore Winter Club Flames and the Squamish Eagles. These teams play a 40 game season, 20 of which will take place in Squamish each Sunday afternoon at 1:15.

Through a series of hockey camps and training sessions over 50 candidates for the Eagles team have been evaluated. A team has now been established and is ready to take to the ice for the League Opening game in Mission on September 26. The local season opener on September 29 will be marked by special opening ceremonies. Ron Delorne of the Vancouver Canucks will address the Squamish Eagles players prior to the game and then will drop the puck to begin the first game against the Grandview Steelers. Local and provincial dignitaries will be present to officially open the 1985-86 home game series and will be hosted by Mr. Phil Turner, Squamish Chamber of Commerce president. The Squamish Eagles management is grateful for the help and support already demonstrated by Squamish residents and wishes to especially recognize the enthusiastic assistance offered to the team by Jim Mulholland, Dave Stewart and Merv Foote.

Seasons tickets are still available and may be purchased at the Squamish Civic Centre for $60.00. Many special contests and prizes are planned for Squamish Eagles fans and will add interest and excitement to the between period breaks during home games to be held each Sunday at 1:15 p.m.
