WEATHER

We had a "preview" last week of what spring weather is all about. Unfortunately, the sun had to share a few hours with cloud and showers. The high for the week was recorded on the 6th of 18.5 C (21.1 C in 85) and the low on the 4th was 1.4 C (2.2 C in 85).

Precipitation was 13.1 mm (3.6mm in 85) and 49.1 hours of sunshine was enjoyed, while for the same week last year the total was 35.2 hours.

All aboard!

HOMEOWNER TAXES TO GO UP

How the municipal share of your tax dollar is spent

1986 Tax Levy

Local homeowners will have to dig deeper into their pockets this year as a result of Squamish council's decision to increase the municipal budget by $125,000 to allow for additional paving and sidewalk construction.

The 1986 municipal budget, finalized by council last week, will see an increase of about 10 percent in residential taxes over last year.

Coupled with the Howe Sound School Board's decision to submit a budget which is $1.7 million in excess of provincial government guidelines, Squamish homeowners can expect increases in their residential taxation levies over last year.

The average Squamish home ($58,000 assessed value) will see total taxes raised from $860.25 in 1985 to $954.41 in 1986, an increase of $94.16.

Of that $94 increase in total taxes, $28.54 comes from the increase in municipal taxes, while the bulk of the increase—$60.34—comes from education taxes. The remaining taxes come from such requisitions as the Regional Hospital, Regional District, B.C. Assessment Authority, and Municipal Finance Authority.

Squamish homeowners will not be the only ones to feel the pinch due to the excess budgets of the municipality and the school board, however.

Local businesses will also see an increase in their overall taxes. For an average business ($200,000 assessed value), total taxes will be increased from $5,703.29 in 1985 to $6,042.97 in 1986, an increase of $339.68.

Local industries, however, may enjoy an actual decrease in total taxes due to the provincial government's attempt to reduce the proportion of education taxes industries must contribute.

Thus, an industry assessed at $500,000, whose 1985 total taxes were $17,441.97, will be paying a total of $16,714.81 in 1986—a decrease in total taxes of $727.16.

The decision to increase the 1986 municipal budget by $125,000, thereby effectively increasing residential taxation, was made by council at a special meeting held May 7.

At that meeting, council passed a motion to increase the budget by $125,000, with $75,000 of that amount to go towards the construction of the Westway Ave. sidewalk, $25,000 to be added to the already budgeted $49,810 for the construction of the Skyline Drive sidewalk, and $25,000 to be put into the budget for general paving.

Alderman Terrill Patterson voted against the motion to increase the municipal budget.

Council earlier defeated a motion introduced by Alderman Norm Verner to increase the municipal budget by $175,000.

Council, however, was split over that motion, with Alderman Dave Stewart, Corinne Lonsdale, and Verner supporting the proposed $175,000 increase.

Speaking for the $175,000 increase, Stewart said although he recognized the concern about raising taxes, the money was needed to improve the conditions of the roads and sidewalks.

"We have a responsibility here," Stewart said, "to maintain our municipality. We just can't keep it (budget) at this level forever. All of us are reluctant to support this but I would encourage council to do so. It's important to designate money to roads and sidewalks."

Added Verner: "Our system is dilapidated. If we don't make a step soon we're going to get caught. Pay a little bit now—it's a lot easier on everyone. I don't see any problem with the motion."

Speaking against the motion to increase the budget by $175,000, Alderman Ron Barr told council they had to take into account the probable increase in taxes as a result of the School Board's budget.

"I could support a lesser amount but not the $175,000," Barr concluded.

Patterson questioned the need to increase the budget at all.

"We have more than ample for roads right now," Patterson said. "We have enough for roads unless you want to pave the road all the way up the Cheakamus."

Patterson added: "The most important thing is to keep the taxes down."

Council also defeated a motion to increase the budget by just $100,000.

"I will not support any motion that does not give us more money for paving," Verner said, speaking against the motion.

After more re-hashing, council was able to arrive at the $125,000 increase in the municipal budget, and the motion was carried.

Local bars welcome Sunday openings

Drink all week and now Sunday too!

Local bar-owners are grinning in their beer mugs at the prospect of Sunday openings.

Since Expo bars and cabarets are permitted to open on Monday, April 21, the B.C. Cabinet announced that in order to be fair the province's drinking establishments will be allowed to open seven days a week.

Although it is not stated whether the new opening will be extended beyond Expo's Oct. 13 close, the Cliffside, Chieftain, Squamish Hotel, Highlander, Country Club and Royal Legion all believe that it will remain.

Gerry Cotter, of the Country Club, said once they institute something like that, it will stay.

Cotter said they have always been open on Sunday but it's still a good thing.

Under this new rule, hotel pubs will be permitted to open Sunday from 11 a.m. to midnight and cabarets will be able to extend their hours also.

Bob Doerkson, of the Garibaldi Highlander, said the bar will be open but not the cabaret.

Doerkson, M. Tepper of the Squamish Hotel, and Joyce LaFavor of the Royal Legion, feel that it is long overdue.

Tepper thinks it will demand more from him but that's the way it should be.

LaFavor said they cannot open, according to Dominion command, but they are trying to question that. She also stated that Sunday should be general time.

Burrell Nesbitt, of the Chieftain, feels that it should be open for tourists. The Chieftain will be open from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Margaret Noir of the Cliffside said, "it's great - it's an opportunity for people to do what they want."

All these five pubs will be opening on Sunday.

Bears back in town

The Squamish detachment of the RCMP are advising local residents that sightings of bears have been reported in the Highlands area. Police are requesting residents to be on the alert for bears, and ask that they call the RCMP if the bears become a nuisance.

Local climber plunges to death

A Squamish man fell to his death in Kluane National Park on April 29 while on a climbing expedition.

Keith Gordon Flavelle, 22, died after falling from a ridge near the base of Mount Logan.

Flavelle, along with five friends from B.C., had been attempting to climb to the peak of Mount Logan, the highest in Canada at 6,050 metres. After failing to reach the peak, the climbers had decided to descend.

According to fellow climber Darrell Adzich, 26, of Smithers, the group had stopped on the ridge for lunch and had removed their safety ropes assuming they had passed the dangerous portion of the climb. Adzich said Flavelle and climber Max Laughtenbacher, 28, also of Smithers, ran down the slope but Flavelle, hitting a cornice, fell over an edge.

Adzich and another group member later discovered the body. RCMP officers and Parks Canada workers were notified and retrieved the body.

Good turnout for H.S.W.C. open house

The Howe Sound Women's Centre held their Open House on April 23.

The many men and women who attended discovered that it is not necessary to be in a crisis situation to utilize the Centre, but that the Centre is there to help fill the needs of all women in the community.

Guests enjoyed the works of local artists, Lise Colson Hamilton and Paulette Steeves Whitney, whose works will be on display at the Centre until May 8.

The Raffle Prizes were won by Shirley Biglow (burl clock) and Cheyenne Toronend (the miniature rose bush). The 50/50 Draw was won by June Gardner.

The Howe Sound Women's Centre's present executive would like to take this opportunity to thank all the many volunteers and individuals who have donated their skills, talents, and time to help make this past year a rich and rewarding experience.

Census counts in more ways than one

June 3, 1986, Census Day, is not just another count conducted by Statistics Canada to determine how many people live where and earn what.

The 1986 Census is the next opportunity for Canadians to keep the government and the private sector apprised of their working and living conditions.

Women, in particular, should pay attention to the Census results.

Data from the 1981 Census, for example, revealed that women in Canada are startlingly underpaid and locked in traditional careers. Although results indicated that significant gains had been made by women in traditionally male-dominated fields—engineering and law, as two examples—the majority of women continued to work in the traditionally female fields of teaching, health, clerical and sales and service industries.

As a matter of fact, the percentage of women working in these traditional fields has actually grown—up four percent since 1971.

To further add insult to injury, while women's earnings have increased, they have not kept pace with those of men with the same education and experience. For instance, in 1980, a woman with a university degree earned the equivalent salary of a man with a grade 10 education.

Average employment income for a woman who worked full-time, for a full year, was just under $14,000, while for a man the equivalent figure was near $21,500.

The 1981 Census also revealed that unemployment for women is higher than for men at every level of education.

Given the current economic state of the country and the new phenomenon of two wage-earners families, the statistics derived from the 1981 Census reveal that action needs to be taken now to alleviate the discrepancy between male and female employees.

1986 may indicate some progress in the imbalance between men and women but will undoubtedly show a real need for improvement.

Do you think an overpass should be put over the Cleveland Ave. railway crossing tracks to alleviate lengthy delays?

Billy Milne, student:
 "Yes, I hate the tracks because they're bumpy."

Celine Thouin, Whistler resident: "Sure, I think it's a good idea. Squamish is growing and there's too much traffic to wait for the train to pass."

Fraser Marshall, student: "Yes, lots of hassle could be avoided and you wouldn't have to worry about the bumpy tracks."

Vivianne Drought, housewife and student: "Yes, because it's a problem for downtown residents, also for anyone in a hurry. It's a solution. B.C.R should take some responsibility."

Mail Time

Let's start thinking

Dear Editor:

Recently in Squamish there was a clean-up day for which bags were available (thanks Earl) to pick up Squamish Litter. Mother Nature didn't co-operate, of course, so most of our enthusiasm came from the schools on the Friday. Thanks to the principals who put some type of effort out (you know who you are). Also, there were a couple of citizens who showed a lot of spunk towards the project.

This clean-up was sure needed in Squamish to clean some of the gross sights we pass daily, such as the distance between Burger Baron and the Dentville Variety Store. If the municipality cannot afford to hire someone to clean up the areas other than just Cleveland Ave., then maybe they should pass a by-law very common all over Canada where establishments such as the two above will be forced to do a radius cleanup around their business. Simple task to ask since all these sales of theirs end up on the ground.

Also, if we're so concerned about Disarmament, which is good, and so declare our town as nuclear-free, why don't we also go after slow killer "pollution"?

Too bad the litter mentioned earlier is one of the minor problems compared to Woodfibre for example.

The only good thing about Woodfibre, besides producing a useful product, is the hiring of a percentage of Squamish residents. If it weren't for that they would be totally useless. Sure they pay the municipality for their location plus other assorted fees, but is that worth the reputation they give Squamish of reeking and ruining our environment for us.

Just great when a recent oil spill that caked our shore over here gets regarded as just a little spill. How about their handy expansion that laid guys off, put the pipes two times higher so it floats further and takes a bit of smell away, or put the mill's exhaust pipes two times deeper with twice the diameter. That should spread the gross brown sludge that appears by the Ferry Dock. Who knows what it consists of?

I don't know what stipulation council has for controlling this problem, but enough is enough. Do we want the Sound's water to resemble Lake Ontario? No! Let's get on these big companies to take care of our environment. It might rub off and make them more aware.

Ian MacDonald

Export tax needed for log exports

Dear Editor:

Let the market work. Let logs go to the highest bidder. Let some of our timber go overseas providing it pays its way including reforestation. A new, special export tax is needed, however.

Tree farm licence areas would not qualify. But otherwise timber from over-aged and diseased stands, distant areas and local woodlots would qualify. Thousands of road-builders, loggers and truckers would be employed in this trade.

The new, special export tax must be based on gross value of sales - say 25 percent of all sales receipts. And tax income generated in this way would be used for planting and thinning trees, reforestation in the source areas involved.

This free market approach would minimize red tape. It would also break the stranglehold which the big forest product companies now have on logging in B.C. Timber would move which would rot otherwise. Money and jobs for a questionable resource. Forest renewal can also be accomplished in this way.

I had not been down to Vancouver for a few weeks when we drove down on the last Sunday in April and I was amazed at the beauty of the trees alongside the road. There were so many varying shades of green from the pale greenish yellow of the willows and the emerging Canada maple leaves and flowers, through the tender green of the birches and wild cherries to the deeper green of the alders. And, in counterpoint there were the glossy green leaves of the arbutus, dark and shiny with their clusters of white flowers held high above the leaves.

But there were many other shades of green; the wild cherry with its olive green foliage and white flowers, the leathery dark green leaves of the salal brush and the deep green of the different conifers.

In some places you could also see the last traces of the flowering currant blooms, while the salmonberries and thimbleberries added their shades to the multi-colored palette.

We drove through Stanley Park from the Prospect Point turnoff to the Beach Ave. entrance and I was surprised to see how many cherry trees there were blooming in the park. Wonder how they got there? Was it the birds who dropped the stones or did someone plant them? And did they bear fruit? Was it edible or were they just beautiful in the spring when they produced masses of white blossoms?

Along Beach Ave. there were azaleas and rhododendrons in bloom; rocky flowers spilled over the rock walls around the apartment buildings and there were people everywhere, going to Granville Island, to the Children's Festival at Vanier Park, and of course the hordes who took part in the peace march.

Out in the bay, the sailboats were taking advantage of every puff of wind and as we watched, one of the yacht clubs held a sail pass, the vessels, evenly spaced apart, seeming to glide over the water with little or no effort.

We came home by way of the new Robson Street Market and if you've never been there you will love it. It's nice, light and airy with a glass roof and lots of food stalls on the main floor. There are luscious vegetables, succulent fruit, flowers, meats, fish, cheese, pasta, you name it it's there.

I was fascinated with a flower stall near the entrance. There were some beautiful orchids there, some proteas (the South African national flower), birds of paradise and many others as well as different varieties of orchids and exotic flowers. The shiny patent leather like anthuriums were there as well.

One booth featured fudge and other candies which looked delectable and would probably completely blow your diet. But they would taste so good.

It was lots of fun and while I was tired with all the walking and climbing stairs and things, the market is an experience. Now I'd like to have a look at Lonsdale Quay and see what the market there is like.

Granville Market is neat but it is so difficult to find a parking place there that the location of other markets in other areas of the city is a wonderful idea. The fruit and vegetables look so much nicer and fresher than they do in most stores or supermarkets and really there is very little difference, if any, in price.

I love the different and exotic fruits and vegetables like the jicamas, a crispy fleshed root vegetable from Mexico, or watercress or many others, such as snow peas. But I can't hack artichokes. Seems like too much work for too little taste!

I have been amazed at the number of birds at the bird feeder outside the kitchen window. There are some I have never seen before and some familiar ones. But the feeder is one which does not permit the bigger birds to feed there so the little ones have a chance to get there first. There are several varieties with gold on them, some with black bars on the wings and a beautiful slender one with a rosy flush on its head and neck. I must get a colored bird book. The ordinary ones give you the sizes and shapes but you really need the color to identify them.

They birds are greedy little things though. They go through a feeder full of seed a week and between them

As summer draws near, mountain bike users should be aware of restrictions in Garibaldi Provincial Park where sensitive alpine meadows are easily eroded by bike tires if people go off the trail. Even when bikers stay on trails, as is requested in provincial parks, there is a potential conflict with hikers. But if tolerance, cooperation and consideration is exercised, both user groups can gain safe and enjoyable access to the park's backcountry.

Fat-tire enthusiasts should heed the posted sign at the Black Tusk parking lot, banning use in the Nature Conservancy. The 17,600-hectare conservancy includes the Black Tusk area and the northern portion of the Diamond Head area. It is dedicated to the preservation of all natural resources in their native state. Internal combustion engines, open campfires, dogs, cats and other domestic pets are prohibited.

Most other trails in the park, including the 11 km road into Elfin Lakes (southern portion of Diamond Head), and the trails into Cheakamus Lake, Fitzsimmons Creek and Singing Pass are available for mountain bike use. Users must stay on the trail just as hikers must. The trail into Wedgemount Lake is extremely steep and rugged, and considered too dangerous for bikers.

Although mountain bike use is only a recent phenomenon in B.C. the fat-tire revolution has been popular in California for about 10 years. It all began in Marin County, north of San Francisco, when a few hardy souls decided to take their old coaster bikes and careen down fire roads with brakes and bearings smoking.

The appeal of mountain bikes for most people is not the bizarre downhill races but rather another means to see the backcountry. But naturally, no one likes to think of others gaining access by an easier method. Backcountry skiers don't like helicopters, cross-country skiers dislike snowmob-and the cat I'm sure I'll go broke.

Of course the sight of the birds drives Perdido wild. He sits on the floor (we've finally made him understand he does not get up on the table!) with his tail just a twitching and his little mouth making the weirdest noises. The birds know they are safe and don't pay any attention to him!

This spring has been much cooler than usual and the spring bulbs have lasted much longer than they usually do. However, it has been so cold that one doesn't want to work in the garden and there are many chores which need to be done such as weeding the herb bed, planting some new roses and clipping edges. The south forty is almost ready to crop so it will be difficult to cut and someone will have to be found to do it for us. There are edges to be weed-eaten as well as trimmed and a host of other things to do.

Noticed that one of the clematis vines is ready to bloom. It is a new one and I am anxious to see what it is going to look like. There are two others which are also new but it looks like the big purple one couldn't take the cutting back and will have to be replaced.

They should look beautiful when they are all in bloom and if I don't get snip-happy with the shears when I'm clipping around them and cut them off like I did last year we should have a chance to see what they look like.

There's a small amount of color in the garden despite the chilly weather. Pansies have been planted in the front bed and the two dozen plants are blooming bravely despite the cold. They should be gorgeous once they spread and cover the area.

As soon as the weather warms up it will be time to plant the hanging baskets and boxes. This is quite a job but they did look so beautiful last summer, we'll have to do them again. But it's much too cold to do more than plan what to put in them at this time. That will come later.

Celebration planned for May Day

Organizers of this year's May Day celebration, Sunday, May 18, are promising a fun-filled day for the whole family.

The day begins at noon with an official welcome by Gary Baldy, Squamish's official Expo mascot, at the Squamish Junction. At the welcome, the winning "Squamish Song" will make its debut performance. In addition, there will be a ribbon-cutting ceremony to christen the new wharf built especially for the M.V. Britannia to dock in Squamish.

Dancing will be performed shortly following the ceremony. At 12:45 p.m. there will be a Native dancing performance, and at 1:15 p.m. the Maypole dance will be performed. Entertainment will continue through the afternoon with music for everyone starting at 1:30 p.m.

Even the Kinsmen Pipe Band will be on hand to give a musical welcome to passengers disembarking the Royal Hudson Steam Train and the M.V. Britannia.

Refreshments will be available for purchase throughout the day, and for those thirsty souls, a beer garden will be held.

Other events include Bingc at 2:15 and Kids' Races. In addition, local artists will be on hand to display and offer for sale handicrafts and artwork.

Council considers rezoning fee increase

It could cost property owners in Squamish as much as $600 to have their property zoning changed.

That would be double the $300 the municipality currently charges for a rezoning application.

Council is waiting for a breakdown of administrative costs in the processing of a rezoning application before it makes a final decision on the new cost, but discussion of the subject at the April 28 meeting indicated an increase is in the works.

A comparison with other municipalities given to council by the administration indicated a significant discrepancy between application charges.

The City of Nelson, for example, with a population of 9,143 (roughly equivalent to Squamish), charges only $150 to process a rezoning application, while Whistler, with a population of 1,365, charges $750, with monies reimbursed later if the cost of processing the application is less than that amount.

Most members of Squamish council believe an increase in the processing charge is in order to ensure that a property owner pays for the benefits he may accrue once his property is rezoned.

"We should recover our costs," Alderman Norm Verner said, citing $580 as his own calculation of the total processing cost of an application.

Alderman Ron Barr concurred with Verner: "If anything, Alderman Verner's estimates are low. We shouldn't incur a large cost on behalf of the other taxpayers. We have that happening all the time. If they want to do it (rezone), they pay the expense."

The procedure involved in the processing of a rezoning application comprises several steps, most of which are administrative. Such steps include a meeting of the Technical Planning Committee, Public Hearing, the preparation of appropriate by-laws, approvals from various governmental ministries and/or departments, advertising, and amendment of Official Community Plan maps.

Not all council members were in agreement with the proposed increase in processing fee, however.

In Alderman Terrill Patterson's view, there should be no charge whatsoever for rezoning property.

"If this town was zoned properly, there would be no need to rezone," Patterson said.

"Even $300 is out of line."

New play offers laughs & fun

The Howe Sound Drama Club is kicking off its twentieth anniversary with a presentation of Henry Denker's comedy, "The Second Time Around."

Under the direction of Roseanna Rudolph and produced by Doreen Ramus, this hilarious play is billed as "adult" entertainment and children must be accompanied by an adult.

Playing at the Brackendale

Art Gallery, the play will feature two performance-only evenings, May 15 and 22, at $7 per person or $10 for two people. Dinner/theatre evenings are scheduled for May 16, 17, 18, 23, 24, and 25. Cost is $15 per person and includes a chicken dinner served by the Art Gallery. Due to limited seating, reservations are required. Call 898-3333 for reservations.

The cast features some of the Drama Club's best known performers. Dianne Newman plays Cynthia Morse, a suburban matron, neurotic, well-dressed and good-looking. Newman, who has been with the HSDC for four years, has also been a member of drama groups in Chilliwack and Nelson. In White Rock, she worked for Summer Theatre as production assistant.

HSDC newcomer Dave Manning, who plays Dr. Arthur Morse (Cynthia's husband), studied at Pasadena Playhouse, both acting and directing.

Jude Bannister is Michael Curtis, a mid-thirties, hard-driving young businessman with a nervous stomach. Although Bannister has been a HSDC member for three years, this is his first role. However, audience members may remember him as the 'body' in "The Real Inspector Hound." Currently, Bannister is a very active member of the committee promoting the new Art Gallery stage and serves as a liaison person between the Art Gallery and the Drama Club.

Suzanne Campbell needs no introduction to the community. Although she has only been with the HSDC for two years, her golden voice has been heard in Club musicals, church choirs, and other local functions. Campbell has been a member of the Prince George Drama Club, and her principal role was that of Maria in "The Sound of Music." This is her first play in Squamish in which she portrays Eleanor Curtis (wife of Michael), a woman with "the face and smile of an angel, the soul and strength of a tyrant."

With family and in-laws as these, it's no wonder the principals, Samuel Jonas and Laura Curtis, throw up their hands in despair when they try to announce their intention to marry.

Join the cast and help celebrate their twentieth anniversary with an evening of laughter and good food.

April not as rainy as everyone thought

Enough of April showers,
"Let's have some sunshine" was the lament most of the month of April. It might surprise everyone to know that there was much less rain for the same month last year, 177.4 mm compared to "only" 89.8 mm this year.

The sun shone about the same amount of hours in '85 and '86 of 126 hours. The high temperature for the month was 17.0 C (21.1 in
'85) and the low was -1.4 C (-2 in '85).

Along with those showers came an estimated 1/2 cm of snow.

Missing child safe and sound

A thorough search conducted by Whistler residents and RCMP for a missing
two-year-old in Whistler came to a happy conclusion
May 8 after searchers found the girl about half a mile from her home.

Police said just after 9 p.m., Cheri-Lynne Calvert wandered off the porch of her home on the Alta Lake Road after her mother had stepped inside the house momentarily.

A search involving 46 civilians and three RCMP officers resulted in the finding of the child at about 2:35 a.m.
The child was cold but in good health.

The Whistler RCMP wish to express their sincere thanks to the many persons who assisted in the search.
Special thanks go to Cliff
Jennings and his 12 Search and Rescue personnel, the

Lone Butte residents protest PCP plant

An estimated 500 people jammed the Lone Butte Community Hall April 21 to protest the Bradbury Chemical Corporation's plans to build a pentachlorophenol (PCP) plant in the area.

Williams Lake Tribune reported the meeting was called by the Concerned Citizens of Lone Butte to protest the chemical plant proposal, already turned down by Williams Lake residents, as well as Squamish council.

Also at the Lone Butte meeting were representatives from Greenpeace, International Woodworkers of America, the Cariboo Tourist Association, and the Ministry of Environment.

Bradbury had approached Squamish council last year with a proposal to establish the plant in the Industrial Park but was met with vocal opposition from area residents.

At the Jan. 14 council meeting, council voted against the Bradbury proposal which would have seen the sale of a parcel of land in the Industrial Park for the chemical plant.

Council members, with the exception of Alderman Ron Barr, cited safety concerns and the potential for chemical contamination of the area as a deciding factor against Bradbury.

The April 24 edition of the Lone Butte marks the third B.C. community in recent months to protest the plans by Bradbury to establish a PCP plant.

KATIMAVIK LIVING ON THE EDGE

by Renald Bigeault

Katimavik is over. I wonder how much the huge wooden hockey stick at the Expo site cost the federal government? I suppose the education that Katimavik provided for young Canadians from all across Canada was less important than big hockey sticks and large but failing companies.

Without Katimavik, communities will suffer. We worked with the poor, the elderly, and the handicapped. We worked on community projects that would never have gotten off the ground or would have taken much longer to achieve. We have cleaned grounds, walked with the elderly, worked in a food bank, painted signs, and the list goes on. All our work came from the heart.

What really makes me angry are accusations of Katimavik being ineffective or simply a pit of sex and alcohol. I think people see only what they want to see. Between working all day and participating in learning programs almost every evening, there is very little time to "party". Sleep is the thing we usually miss the most of; Katimavik is very demanding of us.

I have learned English. I have learned about myself. I have learned to work with my hands. I have learned responsibility. Katimavik has given me job search skills, planning skills, communication skills, etc., etc. For me, this has been the best experience of my life. It is a pity that no one after me will have this opportunity.

In April, residents of Williams Lake formed a lobby group to oppose the plant. The Williams Lake proposal by Bradbury came less than two months after Squamish council voted against a similar proposal by the company.

B.C. PAVILION REPORTS

THE CELEBRATION BEGINS The British Columbia Pavilion is open! And the world is beating a path to our door to experience the spectacular Host Province of Expo 86.

YOU'LL SEE THE BEST — THE FINEST At the B.C. Pavilion you'll see the unique, the UNDISCOVERED British Columbia. You'll ride the TREES OF DISCOVERY — giant exhibit towers showcasing "made in B.C." technology — see your own region brought to life in our B.C. REVUE area — and marvel at the majestic landscapes captured in our DISCOVERY THEATRE SHOWSCAN FILM.

And that's just for starters! Top entertainers... special events... submarines... daily loggers' sports... a family restaurant... and the best "after hours" entertainment at Expo. It's all here at the B.C. Complex — the largest at Expo — for all the world to see.

IT'S YOUR SHOW Our glass-enclosed Discovery B.C. building is both exhibit area and your "living room" — a place to call your own during the fair. Challenge B.C. shows off your lifestyle and working traditions — B.C.'s economic story and the partnership that makes it tick — while the Plaza of Nations nearby is the GATHERING PLACE for special ceremonies.

Collectively, it's a place for all to relax, enjoy — and show off to the British Columbians world.

AND IT'S YOUR STAGE By day, more than 8,500 British Columbians from every region will perform during the fair. Night-time will see more than 100 professional B.C. entertainers on the PLAZA OF NATIONS stage. It's the greatest collection of B.C. talent in the history of the province!

SO COME FOR THE FUN! In short, the B.C. PAVILION is THE place to be at Expo; for exhibits, music, entertainment and a celebration of that special B.C. spirit.

operations of the hospital. Some of the events in the past few years which have taken a great deal of his time and effort have been achieving accreditation for the hospital, re-organizing the staff and upgrading the services in the hospital.

In the latter field have been diagnostic services, the expanded role in coronary care and improved surgical and obstetrical capabilities.

Much of his time is also spent working with the boards of both the hospital and Hilltop House, the intermediate and long term care facility.

He has also acted as a key person in working for the construction of Hilltop

House and in preparing for the planning and construction of the new hospital, scheduled to begin construction this summer.

In the past few years coping with the hospital deficiencies and trying to mesh the intermediate and extended care units with the hospital has taken much of his time.

He is looking forward to the new building, the new services which will be available and the modern plant.

He also said that he has been pleased with the excellent staff at both the hospital and Hilltop House and the amicable labour relations which they have enjoyed.

John Dillabough is the hospital administrator and has been serving in that capacity for the past nine years.

His duties are to oversee the physical plant, to work with the hospital and intermediate care boards and to oversee the day to day for the patients in the hospital and the residents at Hilltop House according to their special needs.

He has a staff of twelve and they prepare meals for the seventeen patients in the hospital and 38 in Hilltop House, in both the intermediate and extended care.

"We've had some problems," he pointed out. "There is a lack of sufficient room in which to prepare the food and we need more equipment."

"The new hospital will provide more room and a proper staff cafeteria will be available. We're also looking into the Aladdin system instead of plates to use in the new building. These will be much more efficient."

Clegg said there is no problem keeping the meals hot when they are transferred from the kitchen to Hilltop House because there is a hot cabinet inside the wagon which takes them from one building to the other.

He is looking forward to the new hospital where there will be more room, a larger preparation area, and where they will be able to take advantage of the new equipment.

In preparation for his position at the hospital he took some special training before moving to institutions.

Peter Clegg, who has been in charge of the kitchen and the dietary services to patients in the hospital for the past 15 months, was hotel-trained in England and says his main concern is providing good nutritional meals activities which take place there.

She has been working at this position ever since Hilltop House opened two years ago.

There are a number of programs for the residents of Hilltop House and these include ceramics, bingo, exercises, art appreciation, poetry and discussion groups.

Many of the residents have special crafts or hobbies and Joanne helps them to find patterns, shows them where the craft materials are and helps them get started.

Some of the services which are available for the people in Hilltop are a library service, shopping cart service entertainment. There is also a "pub night" once a month.

"I also help them if they want to do some cooking or baking," Joanne said, "and we go into Squamish occasionally for tea at people's homes."

She also does background work for special events such as the regular monthly birthday parties which are put on by the United Church Women.

"We compile patient records for each department, store them and have them available for the doctors as well as doing diagnosis and operative coding so they can be used for statistics, studies and audit," she said.

"The program originated from admitting and will be considered the central data control area in the new hospital," she added. "It will be ideal to have all the information on hand."

She said their work is primarily with the doctors, nurses and the administrator, but they have contact with all departments which contribute information to the data centre, as well as all in patients.

Emergency records, amounting to about 500 per month, are all kept in this department as well.

Dandie Holy is the regular medical stenographer with Rita Doak serving as a replacement when needed. She does all the typing for the physicians and the indexing of patients. They also have access to the computer and use it for word processing and coding.

"Eventually we hope to have all the patient information stored in the computer where it will be readily available to both the doctors and the hospital administration.

Monday, May 12, is National Health Day, a Week, we would like to recognize the Squamish factors in the continuing health of Squamish General Hospital, which has been completed within two years and a new hospital will rise on the site. The sod-turning ceremony should take place on May 12. The new hospital services will be completed early in 1987.

This long awaited development will be a milestone in the history of the community. At this time, we salute the people who have managed to cope with deficiencies and an obsolete plant and provide the best possible health care for Squamish.

Yoly Heizmann
Housekeeping

Yoly Heizmann of the housekeeping department at the hospital, said she is one of those the public rarely sees, one of the group of people who keep the hospital functioning on a day to day basis.

She said that Esther Norman is the head housekeeper and her duties include seeing that the wards are kept clean, the floors mopped and generally keeping the premises as spotless as possible.

Norman is also in charge of overseeing all the laundry for Hilltop House as well as the hospital. Her staff consists of nine people including some casual help as well.

The laundry is equipped with institution-sized washers and dryers as well as mangles and folding tables.

"We are all looking forward to the new hospital," Heizmann said, "where there will be mobile shelves for the linen, a sewing room, more closet and cupboard space and a bigger folding table."

"In addition there will also be an office for the head housekeeper."

Keith Stannard
Accountant

Keith Stannard is the accountant for the hospital and his duties consist of the payroll, accounts receivable, general ledger, and statistics as well as financial reports for the Hospital Board and the Intermediate Care Society.

In addition there are reports which have to be made to the regional district, the provincial government and the federal government.

Hilltop House provides intermediate and extended care and the staffing is done by the hospital management team. Stannard has to ensure that sufficient staff is allocated within the financial guidelines and to keep an eye on the costs.

A great help in the overall control of financing is the new computer which was acquired in March. It is already being used to help with the budgetary forecasts and they will be working with a data agency which will handle the general ledger as well.

"We'll have to give more details to the centre," he said, "but while there will be the same amount of work the output will be much better. We will be able to provide monthly reports for the department heads with a monthly breakdown."

Stannard says use of the computer makes the necessary data more available and the data agency will only be used until a program specifically geared to hospitals may be found.

He is looking forward to the new hospital where he will have a storage area for his material as well as other improvements. Work for Hilltop House takes up between 10 and 15 percent of his time, and it is the amount of work generated by the hospital and the new facility which made it necessary to go to computers.

On a final note he said if patients come to the hospital for lab or X-ray work it would be a great help if they fill in the data on the form which they must supply and also bring along their medical card or number.

WEDNESDAY

MAY 14, 1986

- 9:00 "STARK: MIRROR IMAGE" (Premiere) Nicolas Surovy, Pat Corley. In Wichita, Kan., a no-nonsense policeman investigates the death of his misguided best friend and former partner. □
- 9:30 "SEVEN" (1977) William Smith, Barbara Leigh. U.S. Intelligence calls in seven specialists to stop the imminent merger of seven Hawaiian crime syndicates.
- 11:00 "BIKINI BEACH" (1964) Frankie Avalon, Annette Funicello. A British pop singer gives an American boy competition when they fall for the same girl.
- 11:35 "CRUISE MISSILE" (1978) Peter Graves, Curt Jurgens. A task force composed of an American CIA agent, a Russian security officer, and a trio of attractive assistants struggles to prevent a worldwide nuclear holocaust.
- 12:00 "JEZEBEL" (1938) Bette Davis, Henry Fonda. A tempestuous Southern belle faces the consequences of her actions when she succeeds in creating a jealous rivalry between the two men in her life. (R)
- 12:05 "GUMSHOE" (1972) Albert Finney, Janice Rule. A nightclub emcee turns private eye and winds up entangled in an African revolution.

THURSDAY

MAY 15, 1986

- 8:00 "AIRPORT 1975" (1974) Charlton Heston, Karen Black. When the crew of a 747 is killed in a freak accident, the chief stewardess must pilot the huge jet to safety.
- 8:30 "TRAILING TROUBLE" (1937) Ken Maynard, Lona Andre. An honest cowboy finds himself surrounded by duplicity and treachery.
- 9:30 "SMOKEY BITES THE DUST" (1981) Jimmy McNichol, Janet Julian. A high school delinquent makes off with the homecoming queen and heads across the state with the whole town on his trail.
- 10:00 "LOVE AND BULLETS" (1979) Charles Bronson, Rod Steiger. A police detective from Arizona travels to Switzerland on a mission to bring the knowledgeable moll of a top gangster back safely.
- 11:00 "HOW TO STUFF A WILD BIKINI" (1965) Annette Funicello, Wayne Hickman. A young man in the Naval Reserve worries about his girlfriend's fidelity.
- 12:00 "THEY DIED WITH THEIR BOOTS ON" (1941) Errol Flynn, Olivia de Havilland. The events that led up to the Battle of Little Big Horn involving General Custer and Chief Sitting Bull are explored. (R)
- 12:05 "THE HIRELING" (1973) Robert Shaw, Sarah Miles. After suffering a nervous breakdown, a recently widowed woman hires a chauffeur.

FRIDAY

MAY 16, 1986

- 8:00 "THEY WENT THAT-A-WAY AND THAT-A-WAY" (1978) Tim Conway, Chuck McCann. Two hopelessly inept policemen are sent to prison to conduct an undercover search for a cache of stolen money.
- 9:30 "TRACK OF THE MOONBEAST" (1976) Chase Cordell, Donna Leigh Drake. A young scientist, struck by an asteroid chunk that crashed on the moon, turns into a lizardlike creature at night.
- 10:00 "THE MONSTER CLUB" (1981) Vincent Price, John Carradine. A vampire entertains a mortal writer with three bizarre stories at a disco for monsters.
- 11:00 "TENSPEED AND BROWN SHOE" (1980) Ben Vereen, Jeff Goldblum. A fast-talking con man and a day-dreaming stockbroker run afoul of neo-Nazis and mobsters in Los Angeles after they steal $1 million from a gangster's safe deposit box.
- 11:25 "MONSTER FROM A PREHISTORIC PLANET" (1966) Tamio Kawaji, Yoko Yamamoto. Three men discover a young prehistoric creature and enrage the creature's parents by taking it to Japan with them.
- 11:30 "MUSCLE BEACH PARTY" (1964) Frankie Avalon, Annette Funicello. A wealthy woman idles away her time, money and affections on muscle men at the beach.
- 12:00 "SLIGHTLY SCARLET" (1956) Rhonda Fleming, John Payne. A gang leader stops at nothing in his attempt to take over a local government.
- 12:05 "IN THE MATTER OF KAREN ANN QUINLAN" (1977) Brian Keith, Piper Laurie. Having accepted the reality that their daughter is terminally ill, the Quinlans attempt to have her life-support equipment removed.

SATURDAY

MAY 17, 1986

- 8:00 "THE DEER HUNTER" (1978) Robert De Niro, Meryl Streep. Three close, carefree friends from a small Pennsylvania steel town are changed forever by experiencing the terrors of war when they are drafted and sent to Vietnam.
- 8:30 "JACKSON COUNTY JAIL" (1976) Yvette Mimieux, Tommy Lee Jones. A woman's cross-country trip becomes a nightmare of imprisonment, rape and murder when she is detained in a small Western town without identification.
- 9:00 "THE BOYS FROM BRAZIL" (1978) Gregory Peck, Laurence Olivier. A determined Jewish professor stalks an ingenious Nazi doctor whose genetic experiments performed during World War II may spell terror for modern-day society.

SATURDAY CONT.

- 10:15 "COME SPY WITH ME" (1967) Troy Donahue, Andrea Dromm. A female special agent is sent to the Caribbean to investigate the deaths of other agents and a proposed meeting of world leaders.
- 11:00 "HAIR" (1979) John Savage, Treat Williams. A young man on his way to Army induction meets a band of hippies in Central Park who take him on a joyful, cross-country musical odyssey.
- 11:30 "THE KID FROM BROOKLYN" (1946) Danny Kaye, Virginia Mayo. By a strange twist of fate, a milkman becomes a boxer.
- 12:00 "THE LONG VOYAGE HOME" (1940) John Wayne, Ian Hunter. Based on the play by Eugene O'Neill. A crew of seamen share adventure and excitement on their return trip home.

SUNDAY

MAY 18, 1986

There's gotta be something better than this. That's what Steff (Tom Cruise) and Lisa (Lea Thompson) decide after they make "All the Right Moves." The 1983 film airs Friday, May 23 on CBS.

HOLLYWOOD REPORT

Locklear hooks into 'Dynasty' finale

By Ian Harmer

HOLLYWOOD — Absolutely nothing on earth will dislodge the wide grin from Heather Locklear's face. Her TV series "T.J. Hooker" has been canceled, but since the actress has a key role in "Dynasty" as well, her pink slip didn't depress her too much. An old flame, Mark Harmon, has been saying some uncomplimentary things about her in print, but her marriage this month to rock idol Tommy Lee has rendered her deliriously burn-proof.

Heather Locklear

This is, in fact, turning out to be quite a month for Locklear. First there's her quiet "little" wedding — 500 guests have been invited — and this week, there'll be a double dose of Locklear: a two-hour special edition of "T.J. Hooker" and the season finale of "Dynasty." She is excited about what "Dynasty" holds in store for her. The cliffhanger sees her taking to water for a tooth-and-nail cat fight with Catherine Oxenberg, a.k.a. Amanda Carrington.

The two women clash over the attentions of Clay Fallmont (Ted McGinley), and when Sammy Jo (Locklear) spots Clay romancing Amanda beside a swimming pool, she decides to introduce some unscheduled watersports to the proceedings. The assumption has to be that the writers of "Dynasty" ran out of excuses to pit Krystle Carrington (Linda Evans) against arch-rival Alexis (Joan Collins), so Amanda and Sammy Jo had to be literally thrown in the deep end. It's supposed to be a happy occasion, with the entire cast of "Dynasty" assembled to celebrate the belated engagement of Dominique Deveraux (Diahann Carroll) to Garrett Boydston (Ken Howard), but Sammy Jo's aquatic attack on her rival dampens the do more than somewhat. Says Locklear: "I've had four years of fighting crime on one show, while being a bad girl on another. I must admit, bad is much more fun."

For the record, Mark Harmon compressed a four-month fling with Locklear into "a few days," and in a People magazine article, the actor described Locklear as "an emotional cup of coffee."

"It wasn't a nice thing to say, but I'm not angry at Mark," says Locklear. "He's a neat guy, but he hasn't spoken to me since we split up, so he hasn't told me why he thinks of me that way. The split was my idea," she adds, "so perhaps that's the problem."

Health Care...

The role of the hospital and Hilltop House

May 12 is National Health Day and this is National Health Week. In Squamish the Squamish General Hospital has played a key role in health care for more than 30 years and now Hilltop House, the intermediate and extended care facility is adding to health care of the community. This week the focus is on the hospital, the people who work there, and the services they provide. With construction of the new hospital scheduled for this year, the interest of the community is focussed on the improved health care facilities.

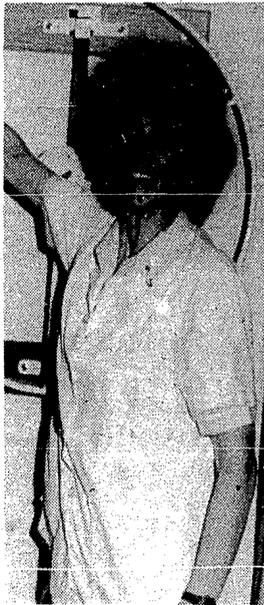

Isabelle Duff Physiotherapist

Isabelle Duff says her duties are to treat most musculoskeletal disorders to permit maximum function. Treatment is mainly for those suffering from arthritis, multiple sclerosis, cerebral palsy, sprains and tendonitis as well as post cardiac patients. "My main interest is in keeping patients in as good a physical condition as possible," Duff said. She works with in-patients, out-patients and residents of Hilltop House and will also make home visits if it is possible to schedule these.

"I'm really looking forward to the new hospital," she said. "It will be more accessible for patients with everything on one level and it will be easier to deliver certain treatments. It will be great to be out of the basement," she added.

Duff is also looking forward to the hydrotherapy unit which will be part of the equipment in the new hospital.

Roseanne McCormack Resident Care Coordinator at Hilltop House

Roseanne McCormack has been resident care co-ordinator ever since Hilltop House opened and is in charge of the 30-bed intermediate care facility which also contains eight extended care beds. In this capacity she works closely with Gloria Healey, the director of nursing and the administration. She also works with Heather Pattullo who is the long term nurse assessor for the area. Her duties consist of monthly evaluation of the patients and the level of care they require. "Hilltop House has certainly filled a need in the community," she stated. "There are fourteen people waiting to get into the intermediate care portion and seventeen for the extended care area. The need is great and there is no doubt the extended care area should be enlarged.

"It would be wonderful," she added, "if the unit was large enough to accommodate all those who need it."

"The building is a model facility," Roseanne pointed out, "we have everything that long term care philosophy desires."

She also commented on the excellence of the staff and the food which is provided for the residents.

Referring to the new hospital she said it would be great to have the new hospital facilities and would certainly lessen the stress on patients who had to go to the hospital for tests and X-rays.

Dr. Ken Schellenberg, Chief of Medical Staff

Dr. Ken Schellenberg is the chief of medical staff, a position which is rotated among the doctors serving the hospital. His main duties are to act as liaison between the medical staff and the board.

"I relay information from one group to the other and help to co-ordinate the smooth running of the hospital," Schellenberg said.

He admitted there had been many problems in the past few years due to the lack of space in the present hospital, need for more room for emergency cases and generally inadequate facilities to serve a community of this size.

"Although the hospital is fully accredited and good care is given," he said, "the staff is constrained by the inadequacies of the physical plant."

"We are all looking forward to the new modern hospital, which will be spacious and provide more room so that more and better health services can be provided for the community. There will be new and better equipment, better obstetrical facilities and it will be much easier to provide adequate health care for the community."

Hal Hughson X-Ray

Hal Hughson has been in Squamish for six years and is in charge of the X-ray department and general duty radiology services. He works on special procedures with the X-ray specialist Dr. Pittman.

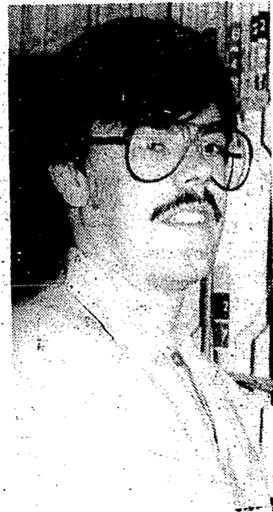

Most of his work consists of check ups, all trauma cases, and accident cases and is on 24-hour emergency call.

Hughson says he also assists in diagnosing problems. "The X-ray load is heavy for the size of the hospital," Hughson said, "but we manage to cope." He has a part-time assistant Rob Moffat and there are four others on call if needed.

"We are looking forward to the new hospital," he said.

"There will be a new unit, a Kodak Kods-flex system which will eliminate the need for a dark room because the machine does the work. There will also be a TV imaging system for fleuro procedures, as well as new up-to-date computerized equipment.

"The new ultra-sound equipment will be used for obstetrical patients and they won't have to go to Lions Gate Hospital for this service," Hughson said. "There was often a delay of up to three months before this could be done," he added. This service will be part of the X-ray department in the new hospital. It can also be used for abdominal cases.

Gloria Healey Director of Nursing

Gloria Healey is the director of nursing for the Squamish General Hospital and for Hilltop House.

Her duties consist of management of nursing services for the hospital for intermediate and extended care.

She is in charge of staffing, the general nursing care, scheduling of employees and is in charge of all materials needed for these duties.

She is also a key figure in making policy decisions in various areas of the hospital along with other members of the administration.

As Squamish General Hospital is an accredited hospital she must assure that an acceptable standard of health care is maintained.

This has been difficult because due to budgetary concerns she is operating with a skeleton staff. This is specially difficult in Hilltop House where many extended care patients require special care and there is no government assistance available for this.

Coping with an antiquated building such as the existing hospital with congested areas, insufficient washrooms and a limited lounge area are for patients and visitors, doesn't make the task any easier.

"I am impressed with the quality of nursing ability in the staff," Healey said. "The nurses are willing to accept responsibility for continuing education and other improvements."

She is looking forward to the new hospital with new surroundings and space in which to move. There will be a lot of room in which to move. She is also looking forward to the new equipment which would be available.

"Even if we did have new equipment here," she said, "we wouldn't have any place to put it."

Brian Cheal Laboratory

Brian Cheal is the chief lab technician with a staff of three assistants and has been in that position for the past seven years.

They do most of the laboratory work assigned to them but some of it is sent to Lions Gate Hospital in North Vancouver.

Much of their work is with out patients and one of the reasons a great deal of the tests are sent to North Vancouver is because of the lack of space in the laboratory which is located in the basement of the present hospital.

With the extra space which will be provided in the new building there will be an opportunity to expand their services and include microbiology, cultures and throat swabs, etc.

Cheal said the new premises will also provide better facilities for out patients and also provide more amenities such as sufficient washrooms.

Another new service will be the use of computers for centralized data processing of outpatients.

"In general we are looking forward to moving into the new building when it is completed," Cheal said, "and to improving our service to the patients in the hospital and Hilltop House."

Each month a birthday party is held at Hilltop House and this month the date is Wednesday, May 21. Four residents will be honoured and you are invited to join them if you wish, starting at 2 p.m. Congratulations to: Margaret Clarkston (May 11), Rheta MacDonald (May 13), Walter Green (May 25) and John Sobotka (May 28).

Boy Scouts of Canada - National Council announced the winners in the 1985 Amory Adventure Award Competition. Congratulations to the 7th Squamish Helicat Venturer Company who were the third place winners. This is a great accomplishment for these young men and their leader Kevin Woods. They were in competition with other Venturer companies right across the company. Kevin Woods will submit a story on this award in the near future. The first and second places went to groups in Regina and North Vancouver.

A former resident, Fred Vander Linden, who now resides in his native Holland, is on a four week visit to B.C. He was a recent visitor at the home of Rainer and Joanna Schwarz.

Many young people are now looking for jobs--A teen-ager was making application for a job. The employer asked: "What makes you think you are responsible?" Teen-ager: "On every job I've ever had so far, whenever anything went wrong, the boss would say "You're responsible!"

Wedding anniversary wishes to: Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Proudfoot, Mr. and Mrs. Cy Marchant, Mr. and Mrs. Les Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Guido Celella, Mr. and Mrs. Doug McCulloch and Mr. and Mrs. D. Tedaldi.

In last Thursday's edition of the Vancouver Sun there was a picture of Mrs. Clara Johnson cutting a birthday cake. The Sun celebrated its 100th birthday and as Mrs. Johnson will be 100 on June 16 she was asked to cut the cake. Mrs. Johnson, who lived at Britannia Beach for many years, is the mother of former Squamish resident, Flo Stevens.

The Junior Forest Wardens are planning a special Seniors Day at Evans Lake on Sunday, May 25. All seniors in the community are invited and a bus will be provided to transport you to the lake. Please drop in to Paragon Cleaners and leave your name or give them a call at 892-3231.

Amazingly--people are still finding their way to our new office! It was good to have former resident Debbie Haycock drop in for a visit. Debbie, who lives in Prince George, was here visiting her mum and dad, Norma and Jim MacNeil in the Upper Squamish.

Howe Sound Drama Club's production of The Second Time Around has its first viewing on Thursday at 8 p.m. and May 22 for theatre only. If you would like to make it a dinner/theatre evening, the dates are May 16, 17, 18 and 23, 24 and 25. Please phone the Brackendale Art Gallery to make your reservations--898-3333.

Gary and Heather Pattulo are pleased to have his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pattulo visiting them from Smith Falls, Ontario.

Tracey Downing wed in April ceremony

In an afternoon ceremony on April 12, Tracey Downing, daughter of Frank and Vivian Downing, and Rex Reece, son of Ron and Rose Reece, exchanged their marriage vows before Marriage Commissioner Joan Hinds.

The 4 p.m. ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents in Brackendale. Two vases of pink rosebuds and baby's breath, pink and white streamers, and pink bells hung from the fireplace, graced the front room.

For her wedding day, the bride chose a long, white off-the-shoulder dress, with pink accessories, pink hat and white gloves with a pink flower design. Tracey carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds and baby's breath with pink ribbons.

Melanie Clausen, the sole attendant, wore a pink dress and carried baby's breath with ribbon through it.

Rory Green supported the groom as best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Downing chose a pale yellow dress with a pink corsage. Mrs. Reece, the groom's mother, wore a flowered off-white dress and pink corsage.

A reception following the ceremony was attended by some 50 relatives and friends of the bride and groom.

They came from the Queen Charlottes, Lillooet, New Westminister, Pender Harbour, Langley, Vancouver, Britannia and Squamish. Tracey was pleased to have her grandmother, Mrs. Harding, from Langley, in attendance as well as her brother Les. Gerry was unable to attend.

Family friend Jill made the lovely wedding cake, decorated in the theme colours of pink and white. A delicious buffet table was laden with a variety of salads and cold cuts.

Mr. and Mrs. Reece are residing in Lillooet.

Canadian parents for French

A late French Immersion programme will be starting in this District in September. In grade six all subjects will probably be taught in French, and by 1987, grade seven will follow suit. The same curriculum will be followed as that of the non-Immersion students.

All parents with students entering this programme and others interested in promoting French learning are invited to a meeting of "Canadian Parents For French". Some members attended the A.C.M. and workshops and the Conference of French Immersion teachers at U.B.C. which was open to parents. There will be a discussion on the information obtained.

The meeting will be held on Thursday, May 15 at 7:30 p.m. at 2565 The Boulevard, Garibaldi Highlands. For further information please call 898-9279.

Carolyn Teel graduate of V.G.H.

A member of the 1986 Vancouver General Hospital School of Nursing graduating class is Carolyn Heather Teel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Teel of Garibaldi Highlands.

Ceremonies were held in the Queen Elizabeth Theatre on May 9. The Teel family and friends were in attendance.

Teel completed her elementary and secondary schooling in Squamish. She graduated from Howe Sound Secondary School in 1983.

A nursing career in the Vancouver area is planned by this young lady.

Nancy Halvorson graduates school of nursing

Nancy Halvorson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Halvorson of Brackendale was a member of the 1986 Vancouver General Hospital School of Nursing graduating class.

The ceremonies were held in the Queen Elizabeth Theatre on Friday, May 9. The Halvorson family and friends were in attendance.

Miss Halvorson, who was born in Squamish, received all her schooling here. She graduated from Howe Sound Secondary School in 1983.

SLOW-PITCH PICKING UP PACE

Ask a variety of people how they feel about the game of slow-pitch and one is liable to get a variety of answers. "I hate it"; "It's boring"; "It's fun".

In this hustle and bustle, eat and run world, North Americans seem to like their sports to fit their lifestyles, fast-paced and with plenty of action. How else does one explain the bastardizing of the game of soccer to the hockey-like indoor game of the M.I.S.L.?

And it is true. For the spectator at least slow-pitch befits its name for while in regular baseball there is a maximum of six pitches before anything is decided, barring of course foul balls, in slow-pitch it is not unusual to see double or even triple that number.

The only way to get on base is to hit and once there, there is no stealing or lead-offs, so therefore the only way to get home is by another hit. But don't let the facts fool you for, as president Hal Hughson points out, slow-pitch has the biggest adult baseball league, at 29 teams in two divisions, going in Squamish. So why, you may ask, is that?

For one, like some other sports such as curling or darts, it is a game that must be played to be appreciated, a game not designed to entertain spectators more than the actual players.

"It's more of a recreational, husband-wife sport," puts Hughson who has been president of the local league since day one back in 1983, "where you just go out to throw the ball around and have fun. You don't have to be a particularly good ball player to enjoy it."

Steps have been taken though to make slow-pitch a quicker and more pleasing sport to play and watch. While in Vancouver and through much of the States balls and strikes are called, in Squamish, where two competing sides provide their own umpiring, it is not quite that advanced.

Instead there is a single, enlarged, at least from previous seasons, strike plate which the pitcher must hit with a certain amount of arc on the throw.

Also, for the players' benefit, for the first time the local league has joined Softball B.C. which provides insurance and a ticket to compete in provincially sanctioned tournaments. It also means the addition of some more new rules such as all plays at home are forced and once a runner passes a line twenty feet from home plate down the third base line then he or she can't turn back.

But these changes will have a minimum effect on people's attitudes towards the sport and on how the actual game will be played. It is before all else, a player's game and one in which more and more are joining up every season as a break from the dedication a higher level of baseball stresses.

Slow-pitch's origins are obvious. What child or adult can resist having a little game of scrum to pass away a lazy summer afternoon?

So what started as half a dozen teams getting together every now and then to do just that ended up in the creation of a 10 team league in 1983. The next year the number went up to 14 and last season it hopped to 23 making up two divisions.

The A side, which has twelve clubs for 1986, is for the more competitive at heart while the B, though still competitive, is more of a past-time. To accommodate its own maturing the local league is holding three tournaments. The first is this weekend, opening the baseball tournament season.

Playoffs are then held in a July jamboree followed by another open competition on August 9-10, a week before the provincials move into town.

Evans Lake "Open House" scheduled

The Evans Lake Forestry Centre will be holding its annual Open House, Family Picnic, and Forestry Sports Day, on Sunday, June 1.

Visitors are invited to spend a fun day of forestry sports, hiking, fishing, swimming and canoeing, and viewing the Centre and its facilities.

The Centre, run by the B.C. Forest Association, is located just 15 km north of Squamish, and about 3 km from Cheekye.

The Centre will be open from 10 a.m. and there will be a small admission charge of $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Picnicking is encouraged but food can be purchased from a snack bar. Prizes and awards will be presented at 3 p.m.

There will be competitions for all ages going on throughout the day in such events as log bucking, nail driving, fire lighting, fishing, and tree identification.

Each year, about 5,000 children and leaders use the facilities at Evans Lake to participate in programs to learn about the forest environment and enjoy various recreational activities.

During the summer holidays, any children between the ages of 8 and 14 can attend a week-long residential camp program.

During the rest of the year, the Centre is used by the Junior Forest Wardens, school groups, and various community groups.

For more information about the Open House or camp programs, contact the B.C. Forestry Association at 688-6684 or 683-7591.

Local campsites beckon Expo fair-goers

Local campsites in the Squamish area may be able to bank on the expected influx of visitors to Expo this summer.

A survey conducted recently by Tourism British Columbia identified 10,975 site nights in Squamish available for rent during Expo.

That's just a portion of the total of 750,000 campsite nights the survey determined will be available in the Lower Mainland or southern Vancouver Island during Expo.

The survey also indicated that more than 66 percent of campground, trailer park

Dickson earns all-around athlete

Two first place results were the crowning points for Nicole Dickson at a recent North Shore Gymnastics competition.

Competing out of the North Vancouver Flicka Club in the seven team tournament, the daughter of locals Graham and Sue Dickson earned first place finishes in the floor exercises and on the beam for the midget bronze division. Coupled with a fifth on the vault and sixth at the bars Nicole ran away with the all around top honours.

First Horse Show of '86 for Equestrian Association

Squamish Valley Equestrian Association held its first Horse Show of the year at Squamish Valley Feed and Stables Riding Ring on April 27. In spite of the unpredictable weather, over 30 participants took part. The judge, Barb Siebeck had a great time judging while Wendy Mielleur was ring master.

Between calling the entries and keeping the time clock dry, Wendy and Barb kept the Show in motion. The excitement of the games was great! Good sportsmanship was shown by the competitors and a great day was had by all.

The high points winners of the day were: 1. Chelsea McNeill on Christopher Robin, 2. Corrie Fraser on Honest Entree, 3. Sally Winstanley on JJ, Nicole Gilchuk on Ronchie, Kirsti Barnes on Sparkie, Jackie Herity on Tommy.

Western Junior Classes: 1. Chelsea McNeill on Montevisto's Snowcap, 2. Jackie Herity on Tommy.

Games Junior Classes: 1. Mette Knudson on Kuhlua, 2. Chelsea McNeill on Montevisto's SnowCap, 3. Nicole Gilchuk on Ronchie.

English Senior Classes: 1. Kirsten Bicknell on Hyack, 2. Karen Piche on Tana, 3. Susan Herity on Tommy, Anne Lonergan on Suzie.

Western Senior Classes: 1.

Karen Piche on Tana, 2. Kirsten Bicknell on Hyack, 3. Glydia O'Neill on Pepper, Nikki Doiron on Sonny.

Games Senior Classes: 1. Karen Piche on Tana, 2. Kirsten Bicknell on Hyack, 3. Anne Lonergan on Suzie.

The ground crew, concession gang and clean up crew made the day a great success.

Come on Squamish

Take the Squamish Challenge

After May 28, all of Squamish will feel the thrill of victory (or the agony of defeat).

May 28 is Challenge Day, the day Squamish and Courtenay face off in a one-day contest to determine which community is the fittest. Winner of the contest gets to fly the loser's flag for a week. Loser of the contest gets to, well, eat crow.

All you have to do to get in on the Challenge is register your preferred choice of 15 minutes of activity that you promise to perform sometime on May 28. Register by calling the Civic Centre, or at a number of outlets in Squamish, including Eagle Run Fitness.

The CrownLife PARTICIPATION Challenge is part of National Physical Activity Week's (May 25 to June 2) attempt to encourage people to exercise and get fit.

Squamish residents, young and old, are asked to register their chosen activity be it running, hiking, cycling, walking the dog, dancing, or whatever. The winning community will be whoever records the highest percentage of participation.

But the real winner will be you—in the form of a fitter, healthier, more active person.

So take up the Squamish Challenge and help Squamish show Courtenay who's tops in physical form.

Besides, you wouldn't want Mayor Egon Tobus to have the humiliation of flying the other guy's flag, would you?

NEWS BRIEFS

Appearing in Provincial Court May 5 before Judge C.I. Walker, John Robbins, charged with impaired driving, was fined $500, in default 14 days.

Also charged with escape from lawful custody, Robbins was fined $300, in default 10 days.

Police reported a breaking and entering and theft of two pairs of cork boots from a residence on Westway Ave. May 5.

Some tools and torch equipment were reported stolen from a truck parked at the Graehold Construction site at Newman Creek sometime between May 3 and 5.

Police request anyone seeing anything suspicious at the site to contact the Squamish detachment of the RCMP.

A ceramic cannister set valued at $200 was reported stolen from a shop at Britannia Beach May 5.

A Squamish woman was taken to Lions Gate Hospital and treated for arm injuries after the car she was driving on Highway 99 northbound was hit by falling rock.

The accident occurred May 5 at 1:30 p.m. about a half a kilometre north of Deeks Creek.

Two other occupants of the vehicle escaped without injuries.

The female driver of a car involved in a two-car motor vehicle accident May 8 was charged with impaired driving and refusing to provide a breath sample following the incident.

According to police, the car she was driving went into the opposing lane and hit another vehicle head-on. A passenger of the other vehicle received a slight cut to the upper lip.

The incident occurred at 9:20 p.m. at Buckley crossing.

An unknown quantity of money and jewelry was reported stolen from a trailer at the Three Rivers Rivers Trailer Court on April 22.

Trailer owner James Mackin reported his trailer had been entered.

The case is still under investigation.

A TOUCH OF CLASS HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

by Shannon Cooley

On April 25, I along with four other students from Howe Sound Secondary school, attended a Peace Talk/Peace Action conference at the University of B.C. About 500 other students from all over the province filled the auditorium, bound together by one common goal: peace.

The opening plenary consisted of four speakers: James Anderton, M.P. from New Zealand, a nuclear-free zone; Joanna Miller, a prominent Canadian peace activist; Admiral Eugene Carroll, of the Defence and Information department in Washington, D.C.; and Mr. Kawamoto, a Hiroshima bomb survivor.

As a soldier, Carroll participated in Korea and Vietnam, being at one time the second man in charge of U.S. defense. Carroll resigned his position upon realizing that his colleagues would not cooperate with his desire to slow down the arms race.

Carroll reminded the audience of the beginning of the nuclear age when the U.S. had 400 nuclear bombs capable of killing 75 million people instantly. Carroll said the U.S. presently has 11,500 long-range missiles, while the USSR has 9,500.

"They (U.S. and USSR) are trying to dominate each other with superior military force," Carroll said.

"If we fight a war we will end up in a suicidal situation. We won't end up in a superior situation, we will just end up dead."

Kawamoto, the Hiroshima survivor, received a standing ovation for his moving account of the bombing.

Kawamoto, who was 13 at the time of the incident, said he was blinded for three months and bed-ridden for one year with blisters and sore after the attack.

"I don't know how I survived and still feel repentant for leaving my classmates in the rubble," Kawamoto said.

"After this experience, I realized how precious the world is."

Following the plenary, I attended a workshop on "Violence and Militarism in Society" led by Marcie Thom. Later, in the afternoon, I watched a performance of the award-winning play, "The Thousand Cranes," performed by a children's troupe. Later still, I attended another workshop designed to generate ideas for peace.

THE COQUIHALLA

... a whole new point of view
in British Columbia

One of the most outstanding auto routes in the world is now yours to explore. Phase I of the magnificent Coquihalla Highway joins the Fraser Canyon and the Hope-Princeton routes as a third gateway into British Columbia's vast Interior. From Hope to Merritt, and connecting to Kamloops, the Coquihalla opens up some of Canada's most spectacular scenery, and shaves off an hour's driving along the way.

This four-lane, 115 km (71 mi) divided free-way offers more than magnificent scenery. By making the Interior more easily accessible, the expanded highway system is helping encourage commercial development and B.C.'s tourism industry.

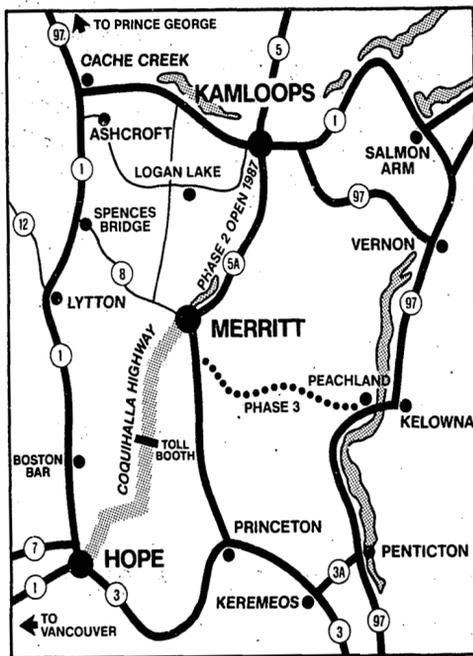

Wildlife and unrivalled scenery abound in the area, so be sure to bring your camera and plenty of film. Pack a picnic basket to enjoy at one of the convenient rest stops along the way. However, there are no gas stations so be sure to top up in Merritt or Hope.

A colourful history!

First explored by the Hudson's Bay Company, the Coquihalla Pass was the sole domain of trappers, hunters and fur traders until the late 1850's, when prospectors entered the area in search of gold. The Pass later saw the Kettle Valley railway line put through and, after it was closed in 1960, two major pipelines, one oil, one natural gas, were developed along with local logging operations. Now, with touring and commercial drivers discovering this fast new route to the Interior, the future of this area has never looked brighter.

SHAVING TIME - SAVING MONEY

- Phase I - Hope to Merritt is 115 kilometres (71 miles) - four lanes, divided highway with extra lanes on grades.
- Posted speed limit is 100 km/h.
- Planning the Coquihalla began in the late 1960's to relieve future traffic congestion on the Hope-Princeton and the Fraser Canyon.
- Construction was accelerated in 1984 to be completed in time for EXPO 86.
- Construction created more than 26,000 direct and indirect jobs.
- The distance between Kamloops and Vancouver is shortened by 80 kilometres — saving one hour in driving time. Millions of dollars will be saved each year in vehicle operating costs for commercial and recreational drivers.

Coquihalla Toll Plaza is located 60 km West of Merritt and 55 km East of Hope.

Drive Coquihalla circle tours

With the Coquihalla opening, you can enjoy circle tours using all three highways — the Fraser Canyon, the Hope-Princeton and the Coquihalla. The Fraser Canyon highway with its spectacular scenic viewpoints and world-famous Hell's Gate. Circle through Kamloops via Cache Creek, for a rest and excellent dining. The gorgeous Hope-Princeton through wildly beautiful Manning Park, a stop in bustling Princeton, by the Similkameen River, then up to Merritt with its sprawling cattle ranches and nearby lakes teeming with rainbow trout. Plan a circle tour driving the Coquihalla one way. An incredible experience for your visitors this summer.

Engineering feats as spectacular as the scenery

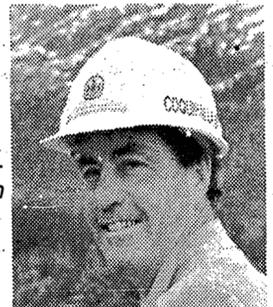

Avalanche zones. Rockslide areas. Delicate ecosystems. Raging rivers. Those are just some of the concerns addressed by the men and women who built the Coquihalla.

As you travel this route, note the stands of timber that have been left to maintain scenic beauty and to offer protection against avalanches. "Avalaunchers" (artillery guns mounted on tracked snow vehicles) are used to release avalanches under controlled conditions, thus reducing any threat of them occurring along the highway. Special bridge footings are placed well above stream beds in areas where flooding is common. Exceptional care was taken to ensure the environment and wildlife of the area were well looked after during and after construction. For instance, sections of three rivers were actually relocated. 10,000 fish were retrieved from the original channels and safely introduced to the rerouted rivers.

Phase II and Phase III to come!

By Fall 1987, Phase II will be complete, extending the Coquihalla another 75 km (46 mi) to Kamloops. The drive from Hope to Kamloops will then be 80 km (50 mi) shorter than before the Coquihalla was built. The completion of Phase III, will see the Coquihalla Highway reach Peachland in the Okanagan Valley.

"In British Columbia, maintaining and improving our transportation system has always played a key role in the development of our economic potential. Like each of the other routes into the Interior, the Coquihalla will help open the door to growth and new investment."

Premier
