LOCAL PIONEER DEAD AT 95

Whistler pioneer Myrtle Philip has died in Squamish. She was 95.

Philip was a 44 year member of the school board and a well-known proponent of community and education.

She arrived in Alta Lake in 1911 with her husband Alex, where she built Rainbow Lodge. Philip is perhaps best remembered for her successful drive to establish the area's first school.

In recent years, Philip has been a resident of Hilltop House in Squamish. On her 95th birthday, she was honored with the declaration of "Myrtle Philip Day" in Whistler.

Alderman pushes "aggressive approach to B.C.R."

THANK YOU

*A sincere thank you to the many family & friends for the support and comfort to our family during our time of grief. A special thank you also to

The Eaton Family

"I'd like to see us taking a little aggressive approach with B.C.R."

That was the opinion expressed by Alderman Dave Stewart and echoed by other members of council in response to a report from Works Superintendent John Payne which indicated that railway crossings in the municipality require upgrading and should be included in the 1987 budget.

Stewart and other members of council think the municipality has already spent enough money on railway crossing upgrading and the railway should take on more of the financial burden. "They're the only railway in this province that doesn't pay taxes," Stewart added, pointing out that if the railway was required to pay property taxes the amount would be about $400,000 enough to fix all the crossings in the municipality.

"Why do we have to use taxpayers' money to repair crossings?" Stewart added.

Mayor Egon Tobus concurred with Stewart, adding that he would do everything he could to see that the municipality does not spend any more money on railway crossings.

B.C.R. crews have recently completed the Cleveland Ave. crossing under a cost-sharing agreement with the municipality.

Alderman Terrill Patterson cautioned council against coming down too hard on B.C. Rail.

"Let's not knock the railway too much," Patterson said, pointing out the benefits the municipality has gained from property leases with the railway.

"We have gotten revenues off them, we just haven't used them properly," Patterson added.

No peddlers, says council

Squamish council is continuing its hard line against peddlers in the community. Council turned down an application from Tri-Star, a door-to-door vacuum cleaner sales operation, for a peddler's licence to conduct sales through telephone solicitation and door-to-door solicitation.

"I do not believe in telephone solicitation," Alderman Terrill Patterson told council at the Aug. 5 meeting, and introduced a motion to deny the licence.

Added Alderman Dave Stewart: "As long as we allow peddlers in our community we'll continue to have empty storefronts. I don't think we need them. No peddlers."

Alderman Robert Ewacha also spoke against granting the licence, saying that he had received complaints about the company's business practices.

Council had previously granted Tri-Star a business licence as the company was operating out of an office in town. Representatives of the company who appeared before council Aug. 5 told council that there wasn't enough business in Squamish to sustain the cost of keeping an office going. In response to a question from Alderman Norm Verner, the representatives told council that they now operate their telephone solicitation from a hotel in town.

According to the company representatives, their business procedures consist of telephoning people offering them the chance to enter a free draw, and offering to come by their residences to demonstrate the vacuum cleaner.

"We're not going up to the door and trying to push our way in," said a representative of the company.

At least two members of council were in favor of granting the company its licence.

"At least Tri-Star has the decency to come to council," Alderman Ron Barr said. "I think if a business is reputable enough to come to council I would support it."

Alderman Corinne Lonsdale concurred with Barr, saying she was in favor of granting Tri-Star a licence.

The motion to deny the licence, however, was carried.

Thieves hit local parks

A number of thefts from vehicles parked at local parks were reported last week.

On Aug. 5, a purse was reported stolen from a vehicle belonging to a North Vancouver woman parked at Cap Lake parking lot.

Murrin Lake was the target of two thefts from vehicles last week. On July 31, a Port Coquitlam man reported the theft of a camera from his vehicle parked at the lake. On Aug. 2, police received report of money from a vehicle parked at the lake. About $68 Cdn. and $100 in Australian funds were stolen from an Australian woman.

A motorist from Woodinville, Washington, reported the theft of money from his vehicle parked at the new Chief lookout Aug. 3. About $65 U.S. and $55 Cdn. were reported stolen.

A purse containing $15 was reported stolen from a vehicle belonging to a Squamish woman parked at Alice Lake parking lot Aug. 4.

Alderman blasts train noise

Eliminate nuisance noise - that's the opinion of Alderman Terrill Patterson who told council at the Aug. 12 meeting he has been receiving complaints about noisy trains in the municipality.

"Some engineers lean on that horn as if there's no tomorrow," Patterson said, adding that with the installation of signal lights and crossbars at crossings, there is no need for trains blowing their whistles at all.

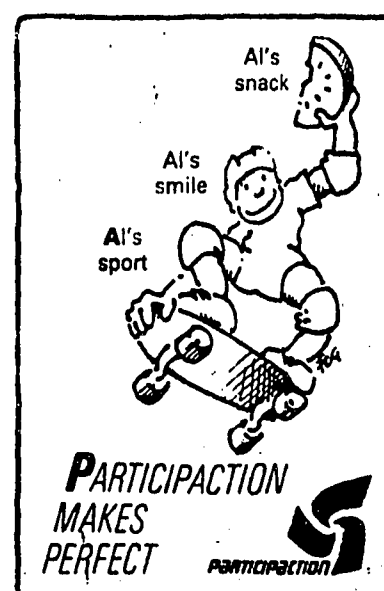

In fact, said Patterson, the train whistle does nothing more than encourage motorists to speed through the train crossing to avoid having to wait for the train.

But Alderman Ron Barr disagreed with Patterson's attempt to "muffle" train whistles.

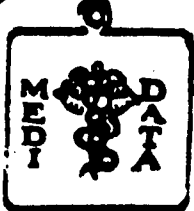

"I'd hate to think how many people would get run over if there weren't whistles," Barr said.

"I think people are just going to have to put up with it."

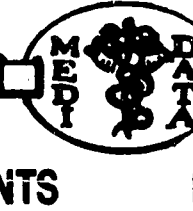

Clerk Bill Bloxham further added that the issue of train whistles most likely falls under provincial statute and therefore is beyond the municipality's reach.

More extended care beds needed for Squamish

The eight bed extended care unit opened in July of 1984 has been full ever since it opened and there are nineteen people waiting admission to the facility at this time. In addition some of the residents in the intermediate care facility will be needing extended care before too long. There is also a demand for additional intermediate care beds but this cannot be met because some of the extended care cases are occupying some of the 30 intermediate care beds.

With this in mind the hospital board has been considering the addition of additional extended care facilities to the present Hilltop House. Fortunately when the building was designed it was with expansion in mind and this could be done quite easily.

The board is discussing the addition of 12 additional beds to the unit. While this will not solve the total needs of the community it will be an addition which will alleviate the problems.

The Squamish Hospital Board More than just beds are needed though. There would have to be a satellite nursing station, strategically located to be incorporated into the central nursing station and commanding a full view of the corridors.

Some additional bathing facilities would have to be added as well as a number of rooms to serve various purposes.

Food services, laundry and other support services would be provided by contract from the acute care centre as it is now. Some rooms for the staff would also have to be provided and there would have to be a patio for any outdoor activity.

Discussion of costs brought the proposed figure of under $500,000 since several services do not have to be provided and there would be no land development costs.

There will have to be an additional staff to operate the facility and the board is looking at approximately six graduate nurses and four nursing aides.

The board is concerned about the need for the additional long term care facilities in Squamish and the number of people in the present intermediate care portion who are receiving long term care. The conditions can only increase and the board is already seeing that the present facility, built only two years ago, should be three times as large. With the increasing number of older people in the province requiring long term care, there is a greater need for more beds for this purpose.

These could be added to the existing facility at a reasonable cost and if it is done when the acute care centre project is under construction, costs could be even further decreased.

The Canadian Council of Christians and Jews sponsors a student exchange programme between French and English high school students each year, involves approximately 1,000 students. Three Howe Sound Secondary School students participated. The French students came here from June 28 - July 14 and the English students departed for Quebec on the 14th, arriving back home on July 26. In the back row are: Diane Long (HSSS) and Stephane Lemire (Shawinigan), Isabelle Lafreniere (Montreal) and Peter Yaremkevich, (HSSS). Front row, Sylvie Millette (Val Senneville) and Pam Winterburn, (HSSS).

Committee turns to gov't for Squamish promotion

The Tourism Committee had decided to turn to the provincial government for financial assistance in the promotion of Squamish.

Under the Economic Development program, the B.C. Government will totally fund and produce 5,000 brochures, provided the municipality furnishes the information and photographs. The program also supplies a professional writer to consolidate the material into an article for the brochure.

According to Alderman Norm Verner, member of the Tourism Committee, the committee would like to see a four-page brochure on Squamish produced, ideal for insertion into major magazines.

Discussion on ways to expand the promotion of Squamish has been on-going since first initiated by Mayor Egon Tobus who cited the displeasure with a write-up on Squamish in Trade and Commerce magazine. Council then directed both the Industrial Development and Tourism Committees to investigate better promotional schemes for Squamish.

The Tourism Committee

further suggested that the editor of a national magazine be invited to Squamish for a pre-determined event such as Loggers Sports in the expectation that the editor would feature the article on the event in his magazine at no charge to the municipality.

Intermediate Care briefs

Board members were informed about a 'Tray Audit' which is being carried out to assess the meal services and to make improvements where indicated. Dr. Damji, nutritionist, and the B.C. Hospitals Program dietary consultant will be assisting the dietary staff in this program.

* * *
An exercise in the Hospital Disaster Plan is being planned for this fall and the resources of Hilltop House will also be tested at this time.

* * *
Administrator John Dillabough has asked the W.C.B. to waive the requirements to have a First Aid attendant on duty at all times. This has been done elsewhere since there are always qualified nurses on duty.

* * *
Planning is proceeding to implement a Candy Stripper volunteer program at Hilltop House.

Auxiliary needs more members

The Squamish Intermediate Care Auxiliary is desperately in need of new members to assist with the work being done for those in the centre.

If you are interested in volunteering to help in this cause, call any member of the group or Alma Thackeray at 892-9034 or Chris Carrat at 892-5444.

Board approves hospitality course for Pemberton Secondary

The school board last week gave final approval to the hospitality/tourism program for Grades 11 and 12 in Pemberton Secondary School.

The program was designed for this area because the Whistler area needs a trained work force geared to the hospitality and tourism industry and it is much better to have this work force come from the surrounding areas.

It will give the students of Whistler, Pemberton, Mount Currie and D'Arcy a chance to benefit from a Tourism/Hospitality course given in their area. A further spin off will be opportunities to work close to home.

The program will include classroom time and Job Entry skills and Work Experiences designed to help the students to prepare for careers in tourism and hospitality; to provide academic students with direction for post-secondary training, and to develop an awareness of the employment opportunities in the industry.

The program will consist of three classes a week and will cover such subjects as employee responsibilities, how to successfully win a job interview, management and employee relationships, First Aid, and C.P.R.

Interspersed with the classes will be practical experience in rentals and accommodation; restaurants, food and beverage; ski facilities, retail; and conference centre, public and guest services and sports services.

Also included in the course will be an escorted tour of Whistler while the various sectors of the industry will be discussed. These include accommodation, food and beverage, outdoor recreation, retail, the travel trade, transportation as well as events and attractions.

An important part of the course will be the relationship of the industry as it applies to Whistler, which is one of the largest employers in the area.

This will include the geography of the corridor and the history of Whistler and it will also deal with the activities and objectives of the Whistler area.

The Whistler Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the Grade 11 students taking this course to attend the Whistler Guest Services Course designed for those who will be working at Whistler.

The Whistler Mountain Corporation holds a one half day orientation to the mou-tain course and the students have been invited to attend this course as well as the two hour Guest Services Training session in January.

A number of members of the Whistler Chamber of Commerce have offered their services as guest speakers or resource people for this Job Entry course. They include Peter Alder, WRA manager; Lorne Borgal, president, Whistler Mountain Ski Corporation; Werner Defilla, Food and Beverage manager WMSC; Val and Wendy Jazic, sports store owners; Thelma Johnstone, director, Whistler Chamber; Dave Kirk, co-owner of four sports stores; Drew Meredith, president Whistler Real Estate Co. Ltd.; Dave Roberts, general manager, Delta Mountain Inn; Gary Raymond, vice-president finance and administration for Blackcomb Skiing Enterprises; Nancy Treiber, president, Whistler Chamber of Commerce and Jeff Wuolle, general manager of Twin Peaks Property Management Ltd.

Fall curriculum encourages students to think

The 1986/87 B.C. school curriculum will be a reflection of the Ministry of Education's attempts over the last decade to place a greater emphasis on the development of thinking skills, according to Education Minister James Hewitt in a recent press release.

Hewitt defines those "thinking skills" as the ability to analyze critically, to reason and think independently, and to be creative and curious.

"What has developed in a gradual yet systematic shift away from the view that schools are conveyers of facts and information, to the position that schools ought to help students develop thinking skills that will enable them to analyze and evaluate a rapidly changing and expanding information base and the myriad of different points of view in today's society," Hewitt says.

According to Hewitt, the fall curriculum will include a variety of new materials including Social Studies (grades 6,7, and 10), Biology 11 and 12, Science 9, Science and Technology 11, additional software in support of growing enrolments in Computer Science 12, and new materials for the teaching of Fine Arts (grades 1 through 7).

Hewitt says the new mathematics program, being finalized this year, will continue to demand mastery of facts and basic skills, but will place greater emphasis on the use of those skills to solve problems.

The new Social Studies programs, introduced last year, not only require students to understand the history and geography of Canada and the world, but also, Hewitt says, expects students to use this knowledge to analyze current social and economic issues.

A result of the new emphasis on thinking skills is new demands and higher expectations on teachers, Hewitt adds.

"Developing student ability to reason and think independently is a goal that has become common to all school curricula," Hewitt says. "Ensuring students achieve this goal is one of many challenges we face as we strive to provide the new generation of citizens with the best education possible."

Whistler playing fields spark controversy

Discussion regarding entering into an agreement with Whistler regarding the use of the playing fields at Myrtle Philip Elementary School revealed some divergence of opinion on this subject.

Early in the year the municipality did some work on dethatching the field and fertilizing it with fertilizer supplied by the board. Since that time the board has made some improvements and has fertilized the fields as well.

However, the municipality has collected fees for the use of the field and now wishes the board to enter an agreement regarding this.

There is some concern about the municipality collecting fees for this purpose. Other school facilities which are used by the community are paid for but the fees are equally divided between the school board and the regional district.

There is no charge for the tennis courts on the school grounds. They are free to the residents of the community.

Trustee Ellenore Ross said she did not wish to see the charge made for the use of the fields. She said if this was permitted at Whistler there might be similar requests from Squamish and Pemberton.

Trustee Shirley Brown also said she objected to a user fee by the municipality.

School Board briefs

The board voted to accept the bid of Briggs Bros Sales for two new 72-passenger school busses. The bid was $97,981 for the two vehicles.

* * *

The contract for the running track at Pemberton Secondary School was awarded to Sabre Construction at a cost of approximately $28,000.

* * *

A request from teacher T. Dowler to take the Work Experience class from Howe Sound Secondary School for a hike down the West Coast trail on Vancouver Island from Bamfield to Port Renfrew at the end of September was discussed. It was decided to ask him to appear before the board.

Dowler made the request because the students would be absent from school from Sept. 22 to Oct. 1. He felt the experience would bring him closer to the students.

* * *

Ellenore Ross said that she still wished to see stop signs at the Ryan Creek bridge in the Pemberton Valley despite the fact that the highways people seem to think the signs are adequate.

She says it is difficult for a loaded logging truck to stop and then start again and that she fears some might not stop, thus creating a hazard.

* * *

The board discussed damage being done to the property at the Coast Mountain Outdoor School where property is being washed away. Secretary-treasurer Don Ross said the provincial water department tried to get about $40,000 worth of repairs into this year's estimates but failed.

It was estimated that some $40,000 worth of work should be done to repair the damage. Ross said he feared there could be considerable damage if nothing is done.

Ellenore Ross concurred and said something should be done immediately as considerably more land could be lost and more property endangered.

* * *

A request from Brian Edwards of Brackendale Elementary to change school times thus having students remaining at school for about an hour, and asking for a supervisory aide to look after the bus students during that time, was tabled.

Trustees felt that they should look into the situation at other schools and see if a request was liable to come from any of them for similar needs.

It was also pointed out that the cost of hiring a supervisory aide at an estimated $2,425.00 was not in the budget.

* * *

A number of staff changes have been announced. Ed Smith has been employed for temporary maintenance at Pemberton and Brian Thomas to a similar position at Squamish. Darlene Elchuk has been hired as a custodian at Squamish and Betty Burton as a temporary custodian for Squamish while Carol Parsons has been appointed as a media centre aide, part time at Squamish. Lorraine Lloyd has resigned.

Bring us your editorial

The editorial page of a newspaper, whether it be a large daily, or a small weekly such as ours, should be its lifeblood: the place in which comments can be made, congratulations given, and criticism aired.

Over the past few years we have attempted to make this an interesting page. More and more interest is shown by the public in both letters to the editor and in general comments.

Up till now there is one portion though that has been solely ours; that is editorial.

We use it to express our opinions on many matters; some local, some national, and even international should we feel strongly about it. Hopefully, we praise as often as we condemn or complain. We know that we antagonize and sometimes even please our readers.

This section, though, does not have to be ours alone, for as ours is a community newspaper, so should community members be able to express themselves here as we do.

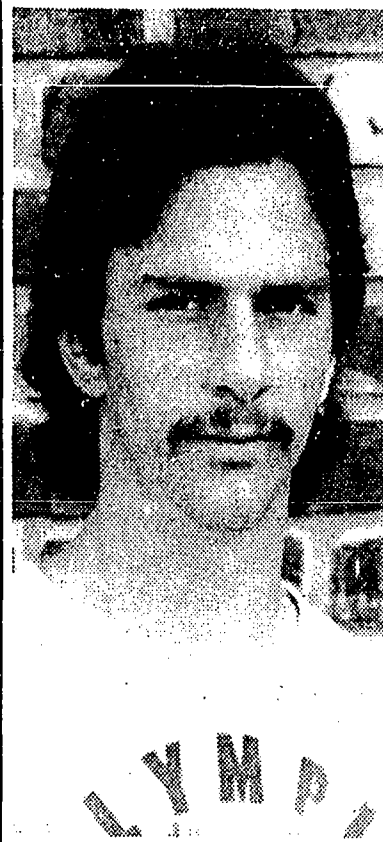

Do you feel strongly about an issue; is there something that you would like to see changed or improved? Why not write an editorial for us and lend your opinions to this section. It doesn't have to be an opinion on a local scale, for anything and everything (within reason of course) is an editorial.

We all have opinions - from the way our community is run, to actions of the government or the state of farming in Saskatchewan.

Why not give it a try - for if we can do it, so can you. Bring us your editorial and add more spice and local involvement in this page of the Squamish Times.

Opinion Time

What are your views on the IWA strike?

Lorraine Hurren: "I understand their reasons for striking. But in all strikes there are losers."

Dan Barreau: "The strike is stupid. There's too many people on strike already. They always seem to want more."

Mike Candaele: "I'm behind the strike. The record profits of the companies should be shared with the workers."

Linda Barnes: "It's senseless. There's no benefit to the companies or the workers."

Weed out incompetent teachers

Dear Editor:

Should we allow gambling in our schools? Should getting an education depend on the luck of the (teacher) draw?

Many parents believe that getting an education should not be a gamble, ie. only those students lucky enough to draw competent teachers have a chance at a quality education.

Two letters that appeared in recent Vancouver papers are worth quoting:

"I fail to understand why more effort is not made to weed out incompetent teachers. I realize that to lay anyone off on any basis other than seniority is sacrilege to most union members, but teaching is too important to have incompetents or those who will not do a proper job.

There has to be some means of retaining good teachers while weeding out those who have more seniority but cannot or will not teach. I have no axe to grind against the union, but I do know teachers who should be in another line of work.

Perhaps teachers should not automatically have their jobs renewed from year to year without having their work reviewed. Parents, and, to a degree, students should have some input as to which teachers are retained. "The B.C. Teachers Federation complains loudly about 'quality of education' in this province, which is of course the teachers euphemism for 'we want more money for salaries.' They're right. The quality of education is sadly lacking and the responsibility for this lies squarely on the shoulders of our teachers. Salary increases every year will not improve it, maybe demotions or refresher courses will.

Who examines the teachers? Are they tested at all? Are they graded by performance? Are they advanced on merit and conversely demoted or fired for lack of it?"

Should gambling be allowed in our school, to the detriment of our children? Most parents and some teachers say NO!

Jack Helmers

Dear Vandal

Dear Editor:

I cannot understand the utter complete disregard for other people's property.

To those (you know who you are) responsible for demolishing my utility shed at the rear of Billie's Bouquet - caving in the roof, buckling the doors, and tearing the eavestrough from the building - I can only say I hope you enjoyed the fun, to over $500-plus.

This is the cost to replace the damage you have done, not to mention the work hours of moving the supplies from the now-worthless shed.

Next year on Loggers Sports Day I will be there accompanied by a guard. Apparently this is the only way you people will understand, being without conscience, decency, and respect for others.

How Green Was My Valley was the name of a book written earlier in this century about the Welsh coal mining area and the grimy countryside. Today we think of that as something in the far distant past; something we will never see again.

But the residents of Elkford in the Elk Valley just east of the Rockies on the B.C. - Alberta border are wondering if present plans by Westar are going to create the desolation of the Welsh coalfields in their area.

You say it can't happen here; that we have laws and regulations which won't permit devastation of that sort to occur in B.C. Don't kid yourself. The company is proposing to mine the Greenhills range just north of Sparwood and dump the spoil on the west side of the range where it will form a huge pile of rock and coal several hundreds of metres high.

While the proposed development is several miles from the small, clean community of Elkford, it is highly visible from the town. Most of the people in Elkford work for Fording Coal whose mines are east of the valley, well away from the community. There is no evidence of this mine from Elkford but you can already see the lights of the Westar operation at night and in the daytime it is very visible.

A few years ago when I visited by granddaughter, Gary took me up to the mine. It is about 14 miles from the community, and as I said you go over at least two ridges to get there. Mines aren't very pleasant places and this huge open pit operation was a series of holes in the ground which were being filled as they were mined out. Later they would be reclaimed and planted with grasses. But when they are fresh they are ghastly black holes and there is coal dust everywhere.

However Fording has kept its operations away from the town and the employees willingly travel the distance between the community and the mine by bus in order to keep their town clean and pleasant.

Now Westar, which has huge piles of the mined-out material beside its plant at Sparwood, is asking permission to dump waste rock from which the coal has been extracted, on the west side of the hills in full sight of Elkford.

The slopes outside Sparwood, only a mile or so from the town, have been partially reclaimed but in the four years since I have been visiting the area there is very little signs of reclamation. The steep slopes are still black with only a few vestiges of green.

If Westar wins its request to dump the spoil on the west side of the Greenhills range it will be highly visible from Elkford, the town that made every effort to have no signs of the mining operation visible from its homes.

But it is not only the proposal which has riled the community to the point where it took action last week and formed a citizen's committee to aid the municipal council in fighting the proposal; it was the arrogant attitude of the company which called the first meeting to state its plans and refused any input from the 250 people who attended the meeting.

Westar's representative, Mr. Humble, (who was anything but), told the people it was his meeting and he wasn't prepared to stay late to hear their opinions.

At the citizen's meeting in the first week in August one of the newly formed committee members, in an eloquent statement, said that he had come to Elkford to bring up his family in the beautiful surroundings where they could enjoy clean air, recreation and the quality of life he wanted for himself and his children.

Each of the people who spoke at the meeting referred to the beauty of the valley and the pleasant surroundings and said they did not want this changed.

Westar had marshalled facts and figures which it claimed proved that they had to dump the spoil at that site in order to keep operating. It claimed the alternative was to have to lay off employees but it has only a handful of employees who live in Elkford. The balance live in Sparwood or Fernie miles away and they are not concerned about the Elk Valley in the vicinity of Elkford as it is many miles away.

The residents feel, and justly so, that the quality of their lives should not be endangered by a company whose employees don't even live there.

Perhaps it is a question of motherhood issues, but I know how incensed I would be if this happened in the Squamish Valley. Can you imagine a pile of rock and coal dust hundreds of metres long and several hundred metres high on the west side of the Squamish Valley?

It reminds me of the time a number of years ago when Neil Cook's company wanted to mine the basalt on the west side of the valley near the base of Castle Rock. He proposed bringing the material down to the tide flats, covering a great deal of the low land on the west side of the Squamish River, and establishing a pile of material there and building facilities to load out the material.

The residents of the valley were up in arms against the proposal and it never amounted to anything. But it would have left a barren hillside well in view of the community and almost impossible to reclaim.

Jobs and money are important, but if there is another alternative to desecrating the hillside and making it ugly and unsightly, just because it is cheaper, it must be found. People have a right to have their wishes respected, especially when there will be no benefit to them in the action.

We all have our priorities and in this case, the residents of the community, who chose to have it built away from the scene of the mining operations, have a right to have their wishes respected.

More power to them in their fight to have the Elk Valley in the vicinity of their town, and west side of the Greenhills Range preserved!

Hopefully they will not have to say "How Green Was My Valley" but will be able to say how green it is!

Annual siren test by Canadian Forces

The Canadian Forces in conjunction with the B.C. Telephone Company and hydro electric authorities, will conduct the annual test and evaluation of the sirens in our community. The date for the test in Squamish is 10 a.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 20.

The test is silent test. Only the telephone and power circuits are activated. However, on occasion due to the infrequent use of the sirens there have been inadvertent soundings during these annual checks.

Residents are requested to keep this date and time in mind should the sirens sound.

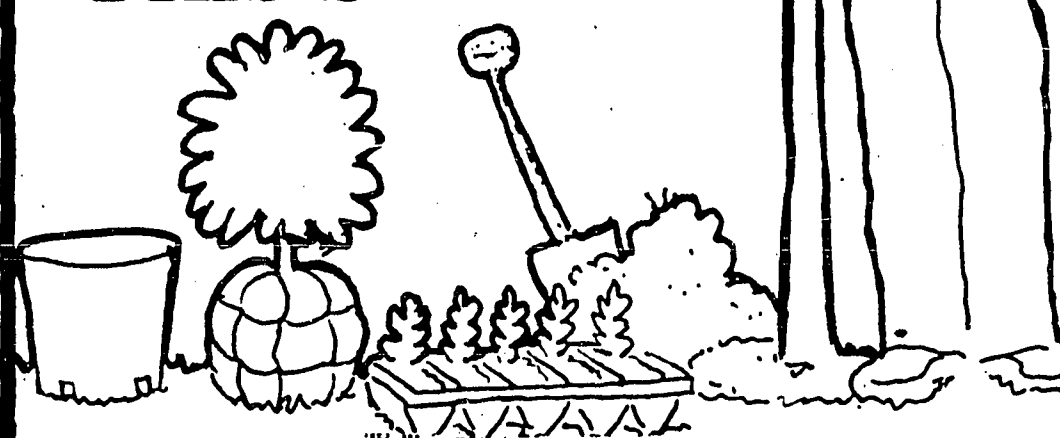

Restaurant operators arrested by Immigration Officers

Immigration officers, escorted by two members of the RCMP arrested three male adults at the Relais Henri IV Restaurant, (formerly the Schnitzel House) at 6 p.m., Thursday, August 14. The three had recently opened the Restaurant after purchasing it from a Squamish couple.

Under the Canadian Immigration Act, if the immigration officer (Fred Trzaskowski) had grounds that the three in question had violated immigration laws, a detention order would be issued. This appeared to be the case and the three were detained in Squamish overnight and were escorted to Canadian Immigration authorities in Vancouver on Friday morning.

The date of the initial appearance by the three was not known by press time.

Municipality encourages employee upgrade

Municipal employees who take the initiative to upgrade their skills and education have the opportunity for advancement and promotion, according to a policy adopted by the municipality and in effect for several years.

The program, which sees current staff being promoted into new positions upon obtaining the proper skill upgrading, was instituted in conjunction with management staff and representatives of the Canadian Union of Public Employees.

Said Clerk Bill Bloxham, in a memo to council explaining the program, "the reasoning behind this move over the years is to encourage our employees to better equip themselves and handle the various jobs that would be allotted to them during their career as a municipal employee."

"As a result, our employees have, in part, been taking various courses to prepare themselves for these various positions," Bloxham added.

Under the program, both the union and the municipality have agreed to various job descriptions and the accompanying wage levels, now reflected in the 1986 Collective Agreement.

An example of how the program works is currently evident as the position of Gardener 1 requires filling. Instead of hiring an additional staff member, the position is being created to allow for a promotion of an existing staff member who has taken it upon himself to upgrade his skills to comply with the pre-set job description.

Said Bloxham: "By filling this position, we will then have the ability to have trained personnel to look after the investment in our parks that has been encouraged over the years."

Truck Brake Alert issued by ICBC

The Insurance Corporation of B.C. is asking owners of trucks and commercial vehicles to check for improperly aligned spring brake units which can impair efficiency in the main braking system as well as the parking/emergency systems.

A message has gone out to the owners of 600 commercial fleets plus 14,000 small companies and individuals who operate heavy equipment, alerting them to the hazard and outlining procedures for checking their vehicles' braking systems. The only solution to the situation is to replace the units showing misalignment.

In addition to the vehicle operators already contacted, the warning also applies to as many as 10,000 unlicensed and unregistered vehicles in use at remote off-road locations such as logging and mining sites. New vehicles at dealerships may also be affected.

The misalignment, which can accelerate brake wear and reduce breaking efficiency by up to 50 per cent, is found in self-centering double diaphragm spring brakes. ICBC estimates that this type of unit is installed in 80 per cent of the 100,000 heavy vehicles it insures.

The Corporation's action follows a spot check carried out by ICBC's Fleet Safety Manager, Fergus Savage who found at least one misaligned brake unit in every one of the 40 vehicles examined. The problem, which would not normally come to light in a routine brake check, can be identified by a simple manual procedure described step by step in ICBC's message to fleet operators.

"Owners of vehicles equipped with this system should check them as soon as possible," says Savage.

"In everyday use, the problem may not show up for some time, but when it does, the consequences can be serious."

Increased economic development will be one of the goals of newly elected president of the Squamish and Howe Sound Chamber of Commerce, Gary Zukowski. Other goals of the new president will be increased involvement of Chamber members in committees, implementation of new administrative policies aimed at streamlining the Chamber operations, and increased communication and cooperation with other community organizations having common goals.

Zukowski, a chartered accountant with Dunwoody and Company in Squamish, was elected president of the Chamber at the Annual General Meeting. He was transferred to Squamish with his wife Karin late last year.

Along with Zukowski, Chamber members elected the following Executive: Louis Devent (Secretary), Graham Friberg (Treasurer), Dr. Laverne Kindree (first Vice-President), and Nancy McCartney (Second Vice-president).

Five directors were also re-elected by the membership, with D. Miller elected to the position of director vacated by Rose Tatlow.

Zukowski replaces outgoing president Phil Turner who continues to serve as a director of the Chamber.

Tourists tout Squamish scenery

"Breathtaking", "gorgeous", and "wonderland", are just some of the terms used by tourists to describe the area.

Visitors who expressed their opinions in the Guest Book at the Howe Sound Chamber of Commerce's In-focentre at Squamish Junction appeared most impressed with the mountains, Howe Sound, and the friendly people.

"God's country, had to be His chosen area," commented Verd Whertvine from Hermann, Missouri.

"Surely shows God's handwork!" echoed Don and Jerry Pinon from Nebraska.

Chris and Shelly Zencheure, from Madison, Wisconsin, mentioned the "fantastic service and scenery", while Lou and Al Wesley of Seattle pointed out the "terrific country and friendly people."

But for Rob Ford from Bramalea, Ontario, the area left him speechless.

"Words can't describe it," Ford wrote.

The Chamber reported about 4,768 visitors made inquiries at the Infocentre during the month of July. In June, 3,672 people visited the Infocentre, and in May, 2,776 people wandered into the building.

Presentation to Ollie Long

Ollie Long, who has been the manager of the Chamber of Commerce for two busy years, has resigned from the position, and is going into a business of her own.

On Monday evening, Doreen Shaw presented her with a Royal Hudson plate in appreciation of her dedicated service to the Chamber over two busy years.

Contributions to Entertainment package

Dr. L.C. Kindree, chairman of the Tourism Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, says the Royal Hudson Steam Train Society will provide $2,500 to the cost of the entertainment provided for visitors to Squamish at the pavilion each day, provided the Harbour Ferries will match the grant.

The program is proving to be very popular with visitors and also with residents of the community who are coming down to see the fun during the hours the train is in Squamish.

Nancy McCartney, reporting on the very successful Merchants Day on Friday evening during the Squamish Days weekend, said it was what they had hoped for. Local participation was excellent and there were people everywhere downtown.

One local resident made the comment that it "was just like Squamish used to be."

A total of 46 stores participated in the event.

Cancer society needs volunteers

In order to continue providing vital emotional and financial assistance and educational programs in local communities, the Canadian Cancer Society relies entirely on volunteers.

At present, the Society urgently requires volunteers in the following areas: Patient Services (providing emotional support and financial assistance), Education (making presentations to schools and adult groups), and Administration.

Anyone interested in becoming a volunteer in the community for a worthwhile cause, or who simply wants more information, is urged to call the Canadian Cancer Society at 294-1871.

Jean Baker-Pearce

Ontario publisher chosen president of newspaper group

Jean Baker-Pearce, publisher of the Herald, Alliston, Ontario, was chosen president of the Canadian Community Newspapers Association (CCNA) at the association annual general meeting, held in Calgary July 30 to Aug. 2.

Squamish Times Publisher Cloudesley Hoodspith and his wife, Dorothy, and Assistant Publisher Rose Tatlow, attended the annual meeting.

In accepting the presidency, Baker-Pearce stressed the fraternal nature of the CCNA in further developing communication across the country among the six regional associations which make up the national association.

Baker-Pearce brings many years of association work to this new post. She first joined the CCNA board in 1978 and served as secretary, treasurer and chairman of the executive committee before accepting the vice-president position in 1985.

She got her first taste of newspaper work as a high-school student in Barrie, Ontario, working at the then-weekly Barrie Examiner after school. From there, she went to a variety of other newspaper positions.

In 1977, she purchased The Alliston Herald, and she and her husband, Tim, became joint owners of Alliston Press Limited.

They have three daughters, all working in Toronto.

Doug Morrison receives a certificate from Gerry Mills, president of the Squamish Lions Club, for donating 50 units of blood over the last 25 years to the Canadian Red Cross.

Blood donor honoured

Doug Morrison was presented with a certificate by Gerry Mills, president of the Squamish Lions Club, on Friday, August 15, for donating 50 units of blood over the last 25 years.

The Red Cross Blood donor clinic however needs many more like him. Only three per cent of the population of Squamish donates blood. There are many who are unable to donate for a variety of reasons, so there is an urgent need for more eligible donors.

A blood donor clinic will be held on Monday, August 25 at the Civic Centre from 2 pm to 8 pm.

This mobile clinic comes to Squamish three times a year.

John Dillabough, administrator of the Squamish General Hospital, and a member of the Lions Club points out that the Canadian Red Cross and the Squamish Lions Club are co-sponsors of the clinic.

All blood donated is kept as either whole blood for emergency wards and surgery, which can be stored for only 21 days, or is broken down into a number of components including: red cell concentrates, used for increased red cell mass for oxygen transport; platelet concentrates; cryoprecipitate, used for treating hemophiliacs; fresh frozen plasma provides a source of all plasma proteins; normal serum globulin which is used for burns and shock, and as an adjunct in blood exchange transfusions; immune serum globulin and Rh immune globulin; and Factor IX Complex used in some congenital deficiencies.

Nothing is wasted from each unit of blood. And since there is no synthetic blood in a fully developed form, the need for donated blood is even more reason to give.

In the province of B.C. the Canadian Red Cross collects an average of 600 units per day of which approximately 250 units per clinic is collected in Squamish.

The planners of the Clinic are expecting at least 300 units. All donors are urged to attend to meet this objective.

Women's Centre Association established

The Association of B.C. and Yukon Women's Centres has been established after four days of intense deliberation at Naramata, B.C., bringing the Women's Movement one step ahead in B.C. and the Yukon.

The Association includes 36 centres representing 100,000 women from all regions of B.C. and the Yukon. The purpose of the Association is to provide a unified voice to address the many pressing issues affecting women today and in the future.

"While women represent 52 percent of the population, far-reaching disparities still exist in all facets of society, and this is especially true of conditions in B.C.," said Jean Kavanagh, spokesman for the Association.

"We will impress upon politicians in our upcoming provincial election the urgency of these inequities."

Regional representatives have been selected to form the Association's first executive.

The Association encourages all people to support their local women's centre in order to continue to advance the status of women in B.C. and the Yukon.

For further information, contact the Howe Sound Women's Centre or Jean Kavanagh at 385-4969 (Victoria).

Saturday night bingo popular with seniors

After some seniors complained to the Squamish Days Committee that they felt somewhat left out of some activities - Loggers Stomp, Friday night entertainment, children's sports, etc., Legion Branch #277 was asked to fill the gap.

It was decided to hold a Saturday night bingo - with special prizes for seniors. Squamish Days donated $200, the Legion, $200 and the Kinsmen Club, $400. The money was divided into $50 envelopes, and when a senior won a bingo, that person was given an envelope on top of the regular prize. Also, each senior was given three free cards to play.

A friendly atmosphere prevailed, with visitors from the United States, United Kingdom, and out of province, being introduced to the floor.

The Junior Forest Wardens donated their bus for seniors requiring transportation, and Jim Reid of Aaron Cabs also offered his services free of charge.

It is hoped this type of evening will be offered to seniors in 1987 during the Squamish Days celebrations.

No major fires in Squamish District

The Squamish Forest District, as well as other areas in the province is experiencing one of the quietest summers in many years as far as forest fires are concerned.

Al Hoyrup of the Squamish office said that after the outbreak of several major fires in this District last year, they expected another busy summer in 1986. However, that has not been the case and that is good news for Forestry officials.

On Aug. 15, the high hazard rating was given to all areas in the Squamish Forest District with the exception of the Upper Squamish which had an extreme rating and the Pemberton - D'Arcy area was listed as moderate.

Water supply low

Hot, dry weather is once again playing havoc with the Squamish water supply.

According to John Payne, works superintendent, the volume of water at the water intake on the Stawamus River is down to about 30 percent and must be monitored constantly to maintain the necessary volume and pressures for the water supply.

Moreover, Payne said, during the hours of 4 p.m. and 10 p.m., the water supply is down to "dangerously low levels."

"We haven't had the rainfall to replenish the water levels," Payne said, adding that even though there have been overcast days, there still has not been sufficient rainfall.

In response to Payne's report, Mayor Egon Tobus reminded council that it will have to consider budgeting for a second water supply source for the future. The proposal is for a second intake on the Mashiter.

Weldwood reports strong performance

Weldwood of Canada Ltd. reported an increase in net income for 1986 to date over the same period last year. The company announced recently net income for the six months to June 30, 1986 was $15,873,000, or $1.59 per share. This compares with last year's first six months' net income of $2,815,000, or 28 cents per share.

Tom Buell, president and chief executive officer, attributed the strong performance of the company to good markets for all its products as well as a gain on disposal of property of $2,800,000.

Buell said lumber prices drifted lower through the quarter but on average returns exceeded the first quarter. In the plywood market improvement shown during the first quarter, some softening occurred during the second quarter resulting in inventory build-up. Waferboard continued to have mixed results.

He added pulp markets continued to strengthen with a further price increase announced for the third quarter.

"Higher pulp sales returns together with a high rate of production combined to give us much improved operating results," Buell said.

Buell added that due to the current strike action taken by IWA members, there could be a significant effect on the third quarter results depending on the duration of the dispute.

Wood industry moves out of recession

B.C.'s wood industry is slowly putting the recession behind it, according to a recent article in Trade and Commerce magazine.

Last year, seven of the nine publicly traded forest companies in B.C. reported financial improvements over previous years.

As an example of increased levels in the industry, timber harvested in B.C. last year reached record levels, or a total of 76.6 million cubic metres. This was up from the 1984 level by three percent. Due to an increase in U.S. lumber consumption last year, there was a nine percent increase in the amount of B.C. lumber shipped to the U.S. Overall, lumber production in B.C. was up seven percent last year.

While production was up, lumber prices remained low, although they did improve slightly over 1984 levels.

B.C. sawmills also saw an increase in plywood production, by about five percent over last year. This increase was due in part to a strong Canadian housing market and an expanding overseas market.

Plywood prices also rose in 1985, although further mill closures in the coastal region were effected last year owing to a depleting supply of peeler logs and reduced demand for sanded plywood.

There appears to be a strong indication that our Provincial Premier has a plan to in mind to check any further departures from the Cabinet. This will take the form of a dyke around the cabinet room. Should a hole appear in the dyke, the premier will put his foot in it, always providing that his feet are not otherwise engaged; les pieds en bouche, as those who read and understand the French on cornflake boxes would say. This little item is "courtesy" of Minch Minchin!

UPDATE

BY Cathy Dunlop

Have you seen the spectacular Brandywine Falls yet this summer? They're located only 50 kilometres (32 mi.) from Squamish, right off of Sea to Sky Highway 99.

Brandywine Falls borders the Cheakamus River Valley on the west. During the Caribou Gold Rush of the 1860's, miners and prospectors used this valley to reach their eldorado. Some of the original trail still exists in the park where a way-station serviced travellers.

In 1912, two railway surveyors, working on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway between the Squamish and Quesnel, seemed to be more intrigued with Brandywine Falls than the gold seeking adventurers of fifty years before. The falls forced a wager between the two men over its height. The wager was bottles of brandy and wine. And the name stuck.

It isn't Brandywine's great height that makes it so special. But it's the way the quiet gurgling creek suddenly plummets in a single drop to the bottom of a bowl shaped canyon, 66 metres (211 ft.) below.

The cliffs or escarpments making up the canyon show a pattern of neatly shaped rectangular columns called "columnar basalts." They were formed when erupting lava from six million years ago came in contact with glacial ice. The escarpments mark the edge of the lava flow.

The viewpoint sits perched on the edge of one of the escarpments. Here you look across to Brandywine Falls, and then down, down, with a nauseas feeling in your stomach perhaps, to the canyon and creek below.

Several kilometres of trails connect the viewpoint, 15 site campground and lakes in the park. A four kilometre (2.5 mi.) trail called the Calcheak Trail takes you to a suspension bridge over the Callaghan River. The Callaghan joins the Cheakamus River at this point too. Both rivers offer good fishing for rainbow trout and dolly varden.

So there's lots of good reasons to visit Brandywine Falls Provincial Park. Why not plan a visit this weekend?

Squamish feature in new recreation map

Squamish is just one of the regions featured in a new map showing the recreational opportunities in the Lower Mainland available from the Outdoor Recreation Council of B.C.

The Council, a non-profit organization committed to promoting outdoor recreation in B.C., produced the map, a high quality, color topographic map which shows trails, campsites and picnic areas, fishing opportunities, horseriding trails, wildlife habitats, and other recreational possibilities.

On a scale of 1:100,000, the Greater Vancouver - Squamish - Lower Fraser Valley Region covers the area east to Chilliwack, north to Squamish, and west to Howe Sound.

Mapping of the province started in the early 1980's when the Council, which works on behalf of 46 provincial organizations, realized that a key to encouraging people to enjoy the outdoors was to provide detailed, accurate, and easy to use information. The Council has produced a series of 16 maps covering different areas of the province.

Each map has up-to-date descriptions of activities of each area, as well as access routes, climate conditions, wildlife and vegetation, safety considerations and historic background information. They also provide information on who to contact for current trail and facility conditions.

Maps are $3.95 and are available from recreational retail outlets, bookstores, and the Council's office at 1200 Hornby St., Vancouver, V6Z 2E2.

Parks contest offers Manning Park vacation

B.C. Parks is featuring a five-day holiday for four at Manning Park Resort as one of the prizes in the B.C. Parks 75th Birthday contest.

It's part of B.C. Parks' program to publicize the variety and quality of holiday adventures offered by parks all over the province.

Manning Park Resort is the only commercial facility in all the 17,400 hectares of Manning Provincial Park. Just 224 km east of Vancouver, the park is a wilderness area of thickly forested mountains, deep valleys, subalpine meadows, virgin lakes and the headwater of two major rivers: the Skagit flows west and south to the Pacific Ocean; the Similkameen turns east to join the Okanagan, a major tributary of the Columbia River.

The Resort offers a choice of deluxe rooms or family housekeeping cabins. There's a sauna, games room, tennis courts, outdoor skating rink, playground, a spectacular mountain setting, and hiking and skiing.

Just one kilometre east of Manning Park Resort is a B.C. Parks Visitor's Centre where displays depict recreational opportunities and the natural and human history of the area. An active summer program includes park interpretation walks in valleys and subalpine meadows, canoe excursions, old-time hootenannies and puppet shows.

The B.C. Parks 75th Birthday Contest features a chance to win one of six B.C. Park holiday adventures for four people, including the Manning Park Resort holiday or a wilderness fishing trip, a sailboat cruise, a houseboating holiday, or a holiday at Mount Assiniboine Lodge or Silver Star Mountain.

Entry forms are available at B.C. Parks offices, Travel Infocentres, fresh water fishing licence outlets, and from the B.C. Parks Booth at Expo.

Flush toilets rank high with campers

Flush toilets, more showers, a freeze on campground fees, and greater campground security are just some of the items campers said they would like to see more of in B.C. parks.

More than 5,000 provincial park visitors were responding to a B.C. Parks' satisfaction survey last year which indicated a high level of satisfaction with the system, according to Parks Minister Jack Kempf.

Kempf said the features of the parks receiving the highest accolades were: beautiful natural setting, accessibility, privacy, cleanliness, and helpfulness of parks staff.

Kempf added that in response to the suggestions from visitors, the Ministry has already added showers to 11 campgrounds.

"And campground fees, with a few exceptions, have remained at last year's levels," Kempf said. "For those parks in which visitors had safety or security concerns, ranger patrols have been increased."

Kempf said another survey will be conducted this summer to allow visitors to comment on the quality of the provincial park facilities.

Diggers get added juice to win at home

The rewards are quite simple really.

To earn the right to wear a little medallion, to earn the right to take a trophy home with you. To earn the right to say that you are the best in the province. At this moment that right belongs to Squamish's L&A Diggers who on Sunday, on home ground, captured the Intermediate C Men's Fastball Provincial title.

A bit of a mouthfull to be sure but in securing an 8-6 victory over the Prince George Royals and thus go undefeated in all of their five games, it took more than just a bit of hard work and hitting; it took nothing less than some solid all around baseball in what may have been one of the most dramatic games seen in Squamish.

Most of those dramatics were supplied in the top of the fifth where L&A found themselves down 5-1. But the Diggers gave added credit to the adage, "the game ain't over 'til it's over" as the locals promptly loaded the bases with one away.

Bob Versluis, or "Juice", just as promptly made use of the situation, getting every piece of a Rick Cunningham pitch, parking it over the left field fence for a grand slam home run that tied the game at five. And so it remained until the seventh and last inning where, facing a new hurler in Grant Williams, the Diggers again put runners on each bag with one away.

But then this is where it gets confusing as Dean Kingston stepped to the plate, after Dave Simpson was walked intentionally, watched the count run to three balls and no strikes then to three and one and then smacked the next throw right to the third baseman.

To make a long story short- another term for "copping out" - instead of turning a double play and ending the inning it seemed as though the Royals simply got the same runner out twice.

At least so it seemed as the inning continued, this time with the bases still loaded and two away. And that brought Dave Burns to the plate. Before he left it though two runs would score, Versluis on a passed ball and then Simpson for the winning run on Burns' high fly was mishandled by the centerfielder.

Don Burns would add a little insurance to that score as he punched in Dean Kingston on a double to left. Prince George got one of those back in the bottom half of the frame and threatened to come back to win, what with Harry Dawson coming within a few feet of banging in a three run homer but coming short and loading the bases as well, but as pitcher Don Schellenberg and his crew hung on in the end.

Schellenberg incidentally played all five games for L&A, earning an e.r.a. of 2.03 whilst batting .429, good enough for the men's MVP honours. Bob Versluis got the nod as most inspirational, a feat not hurt by his big homer, but more than anything the Digger's win was a team win.

Also impressive for the home side was short stop Dave Burns who made several big defensive plays as well as supplying the winning point and a home run in the second that got his side on the board after the Royals scored four in the first.

It was a final though that narrowly missed being an all Squamish showdown as the Highlander Hotel's Mex Pub, which won a 12 team tournament in Whistler on July 30, was eliminated by Prince George in the semis on the B side, thus finishing up in third spot with a record of four wins and two losses.

Yet the weekend was far from over. Along with the 14 men's teams there were 15 ladies' squads as well competing for provincial championships, including the Highlanders, and Clippers, both from Squamish. The former lasted three games, knocking off Southarm Excavating in game one before losing back-to-back games to Bencher's Logging, the eventual champions, and to home town rival Clippers, which therefore went one game farther before losing a tough one to Sydney Freight. The Clippers were chosen as most sportsmanlike team.

And what of the final? Falling behind schedule, the ladies' side was a victim of a lack of time and light as the semis which was played after the men's final, was a five inning affair while the championship bout became a sudden death game.

In the long run that hurt the Haney Charades, costing them a potential second shot at a provincial title as they went without a loss through the tournament before losing 8-5 to Prince George in the final.

That however did not take away from a well played game by Bencher's in the come from behind win and to top it off short stop Eva Reikort, in lieu of 6 rbi's and an average of .438 earned female MVP nomination. Shelly Endersby of the Charades was selected as most inspirational.

Other awards handed out were to Coast Bastion Inn as most sportsmanlike men's team, Susan Aucterlonie of Pylon Tools (batting nine for eleven for .818 average) and Stan Weins of Marten's Agency (eight for eleven for .727) as top batters in their respective divisions.

Top pitchers were Sydney Freight's Gail Lamont were a 2.33 e.r.a. and Gold River Expos Randy Gerome, who had an e.r.a. of 1.33 and five wins in seven games.

Fastball in not over on the local front by any means however as the men's league playoffs between the L&A Diggers and the Mex Pub begin tonight. And that brings up an interesting thought; what if the provincial champions happen, just happen that is, to fail to win their own league playoffs??

Some members of the pool staff demonstrate the spinal removal rescue procedure used for spinal injuries.

When members of the Vancouver Rowing Club Senior Women's team returned from eastern Canada, each member of the team was sporting not one, but four gold medals.

Sofia Ciechanowski is a member of both the Women's fours and eights. The teams first competed in the Canadian National Rowing Championships in Montreal and the senior women's four and eights with coxswain won the gold.

The same great results were in store when the fours and eights with coxswain competed at the Henley Royal Regatta held in St. Catharines, Ontario. Gold was waiting for them at the finish line!

NEWS BRIEFS

Appearing in Squamish Provincial Court on August 12th before Judge Paradis, Hugh Neufeld, charged with possession of a narcotic was given three months probation

Dale Dawson was charged with possession of a narcotic for the purpose of trafficking. He was fined $750., in default 30 days.

Elaho Logging Company reported windows were broken in two of its trucks and two CB radios were taken.

Douglas MacDonald, of Black Tusk Village (old Garibaldi townsite), reported on Aug. 9, the gate was broken open and between five and six thousand dollars worth of cable and scrap metal was missing. Police are investigating.

The Dog Pound building was broken into on Aug. 9 and a sum of cash (approximately $30.) was stolen.

The Squamish RCMP have received complaints from various areas of the municipality of bears wandering at large.

Residents are reminded that even the smallest cub could present a dangerous situation as its mother could be lurking nearby. If you sight a bear, please contact the RCMP at 898-9611 or call the Fish and Wildlife Branch at 892-5971.

To date, no one has been injured by a bear.

If you plan to be a tourist in the future or have visitors in your home, remind them not leave purses, wallets or other valuables in vehicles. All valuables should be locked in the trunk. Following reports of vehicles being broken into, a couple of suspects were checked but no charges were laid.

On the 25th anniversary of the ascent on the Chief on July 19, BCTV personnel were here filming the event. A cameraman left a piece of equipment behind. It was a small aluminum suitcase with equipment inside valued at $6,000. The equipment is of no value to anyone without the camera. If you have any information on this item please contact the Squamish RCMP office.

Remember sprinkling restrictions

With the recent bout of hot, dry weather, Squamish residents should be reminded that water sprinkling restrictions are still in effect in the municipality to safeguard against a potential shortage of sufficient water supply.

The following watering / lawn sprinkling restrictions are currently in effect: odd-numbered houses on odd days, even-numbered houses on even days, between the hours of 4 p.m. and 10 p.m.

The water restrictions are in accordance with By-Law No. 676, Section 9 (f), and will remain in effect until further notice, with the Superintendent of Public Works empowered to rescind these restrictions as weather conditions permit.

More gardens than ever before

A record number of families had food gardens in Canada last year. This year over 50 percent of all households had vegetable gardens. Millions of individuals said they plan to start gardens next year; if even a portion do so, we should be well past the halfway mark.

Garden size this year is somewhat smaller, probably because of the large numbers of new gardeners. The average garden is 547 sq. ft. compared to 663 a year ago.

Saving money continues to be the number one motivation for food gardens, closely followed by a desire for better tasting food and enjoyment of the activity.

Home garden production in the early 1980's had an estimated retail value of $16 billion.

More young people are getting into the pea patch. Forty-one percent of the 18-29 age group gardened, compared to a previous mark of 33 percent. Lower income groups showed an increase from 37 to 49 percent and college-educated an increase from 42 to 47 percent.

Vegetable gardening is the fifth most popular leisure activity and tops the list as a form of physical exercise. Television is the most popular leisure activity; listening to music is second; sewing is third, movie-going fourth. Gardening is far ahead of fishing, camping, hiking, swimming, tennis, bowling, golf and other sports, even ahead of watching pro sports on TV, which stands in eighth place.

Biggest change in leisure activities came in the category of "pleasure trips in cars". Thanks to the high price of gas, that has fallen from its former third place standing.

Lack of space for a garden continues to be a big problem. Some 12 million households would start gardens if they had land available.

WEATHER

It's fun to report the weather these days as it is pleasing to everyone. The sun honoured us with 57.4 hours of sunshine (69.9 hours in '85) and no rain fell last week (3.4mm '85).

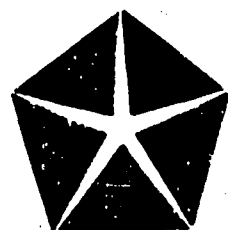

The hottest day of the week was on the 9th of 30.7 C (30.15 C in 85) and the low was a respectable 10.3 C on the 15th and 6.1 C in 1985.

Regional District allocates fund for promotions

The Regional District Board voted July 21 to allocate funds towards promotions of the Regional District in the Sea to Sky Association brochure despite concern expressed by some members over the partisan nature of the material.

The Board voted to make available $825 for tourist promotions and $175 for the Cariboo-Chilcotin region. In addition, the Board decided to direct a letter to the Sea to Sky Association, a tourism promotions group set up to promote the Squamish-Whistler-Pemberton region, stating that the Board is not happy with the brochure.

Council turns down door-to-door photo business

Council turned down a request for a business licence from a photography firm to sell family portraits door-to-door, citing the high incidence of empty retail space in Squamish as a need to discourage such ventures.

"I'm concerned with the number of empty storefronts in the community," Alderman Dave Stewart said, adding that Squamish already has a number of photography services who are trying to establish themselves.

"I don't think it's a necessity," Stewart said. "It's not something we need."

Added Alderman Terrill Patterson: "We're just legitimizing a nuisance." Patterson suggested the firm, Tellier Photography, place an ad in the yellow pages of the phone book instead.

"I'm against it," Patterson said.

Looking for some lighter eating?

Are you looking for something tasty that isn't loaded with calories? If so, here are a few recipes which you should enjoy. They are low in calories but are tasty and We liked the Confetti Spaghetti, the Tarragon Beef over Zucchini Strips and the Chicken Mandarin. The Beef Stroganoff is also delicious. Try any of them for a different taste treat and one that's guaranteed not to put on pounds.

Confetti Spaghetti
8 oz. uncooked spaghetti
Sauce
3 tbsps margarine or butter
1 tbsp finely chopped onion
1 tsp flour
1/4 tsp salt
1/8 to 1/4 tsp nutmeg
1 cup milk
2 cups hot cooked vegetables
1/3 cup chopped red or green pepper
1 cup sliced mushrooms (canned)
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
Cook spaghetti to desired

doneness as directed on the package. Drain, rinse with hot water.

In small saucepan, melt margarine, saute onion till tender. Add flour, salt and nutmeg, gradually stir in milk till well blended and smooth. Bring up to a boil over medium heat; boil one minute. Remove from heat. Stir in cooked vegetables, pepper and mushrooms.

To serve, spoon sauce over spaghetti on platter or toss spaghetti and sauce in a large bowl till well combined. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese.

Note: I use raw mushrooms but add them to the sauce before the cooked vegetables. Thawed frozen vegetables are excellent. Serves 6.

Gov't. introduces changes to municipal liability

The B.C. Government has announced new legislative provisions significantly affecting the vulnerability of municipalities and their officials in liability claims.

Bill Ritchie, Minister of Municipal Affairs, said the new legislation reduces municipal susceptibility to frivolous claims while maintaining the level of public protection from municipal negligence and misconduct.

Under the new legislation, local councils may now indemnify members for legal expenses and damage claims where gross negligence or wilful misconduct have occurred. This is being complemented by another provision which prevents actions from being brought against local government officials or employees unless they have wilfully misconducted themselves. At the same time, local government continues to be liable for negligence on the part of its employees.

One feature of the legislation is that building inspectors may file warning notices at land title offices against buildings which pose safety problems which pose safety problems in violation of by-laws or permits. swift discharge of these notices by council.

Local governments will no longer be liable for refraining from going to court to enforce building regulations. Municipalities will no longer be liable for damages caused by malfunctions of infrastructure unless it can be established that the municipality was negligent.

"These provisions have been designed to balance increased protection for local government with adequate protection for individual citizens," Ritchie said.

"This will send a message to the insurance community that we are taking steps to look after our municipalities."

Pulp and paper production reached record highs in '85

Volume of production and shipments reached record highs in 1985 in B.C.'s pulp and paper industry, according to the May issue of Trade and Commerce magazine.

However, because prices were substantially below record levels, the result was little change in value of 1985 shipments over 1984.

Overall employment was on the upswing in B.C.'s 24 pulp and paper mills, due in part to increased activity in the mills; however, employment levels are still below the 1979 level.

In the market pulp sector, shipments rose 15 percent above 1984 levels, and one percent above the record 1980 level. Last year, 3.4 million metric tons of product were shipped. Despite price fluctuations throughout the year, the average was about $400 U.S. a metric ton, well below the 1984 price of $500 U.S. a metric ton, for bleached softwood kraft pulp. This year's prices appear to be better, however, with two U.S. price increases already made, raising the value to $450 U.S. per metric ton.

In newsprint, churned out by four coastal mills in B.C., production was up over 1984, bringing it to 1.5 million metric tons which is 10 percent higher than 1980's record production.

B.C. remains highly sensitive to world market condition in its pulp and paper industry. B.C. exports 85 percent of its total pulp and paper production, and therefore is at the mercy of current global production overcapacity and international currency fluctuations. However, with the weakening U.S. dollar and an expanding global economy, prospects for the upcoming year should improve.

Industrial Park committee seeks foreign business

The Industrial Development Committee of council has decided to look outside B.C. and even Canada for businesses for the Industrial Park.

In a report to council, the committee said it will select a number of foreign countries and forward brochures on Squamish to their embassies in an effort to attract new industry.

The idea to seek foreign industry came from committee member Wilf Dowad, who showed the committee a pamphlet being distributed at Expo's Canadian Pavilion which indicated that the Department of External Affairs has offices in various countries where such information can be made available.

Are You At Risk?

MYTH: Most drownings occur when people are swimming.

FACTS: Over 60% of all drownings occur when the victim falls into the water unexpectedly; from a wharf, shoreline or boat.

Autopsies have shown that over one-third of these victims (mostly males) were impaired by alcohol.

Alberta Creek targeted for reconstruction

A $5.6 million contract has been awarded to Jaemar Construction of Surrey to reconstruct the Alberta Creek Channel on the Squamish Highway, announced Alex Fraser, Minister of Transportation and Highways, and John Reynolds, MLA for West Vancouver - Howe Sound. Fraser said the "Very complex design" that has gone into the Alberta Creek Channelization "will prevent any more damage from debris flows to private property, highway and railway structures."

Reynolds also welcomed the news of the last of four contracts to control mudslides. "The designs and planning have been pretty thorough and once it is completed I don't think we'll see any more problems like we had in the 1980's."

The four projects in the Lions Bay area cover Magnesia Creek, Harvey Creek, Charles Creek, Newman Creek, and now Alberta Creek.

As many as 40 people will be working on the project, which is expected to begin in the first week of June. The project will begin with the clearing the evacuation in the upper creek area above Bayview Place.

The projects, several of them under one contract, will be located at Lions Bay, about 12 km north of Horse-shoe Bay.

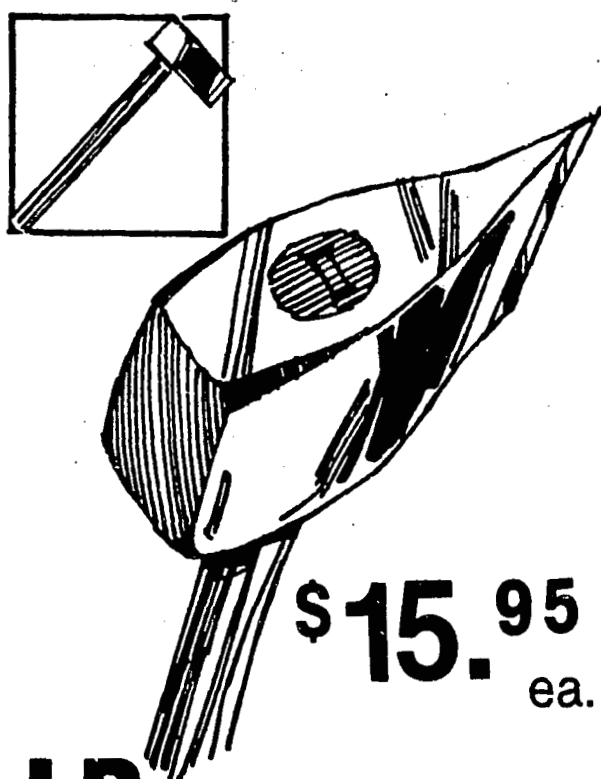

The contract calls for a concrete retaining wall, reinforced earth wall, bridge demolition and replacement, dredging basin outlet, shore protection, approach roads and access across the channel for local residents, and channel fencing.

Reynolds said the work is not only important to the local residents and users of the Squamish Highway, but the overall project's success of ridding the area of slides is vital to the economy of the local communities.

While the completion date of the Alberta Creek Channelization project is slated for June 30, 1987, Jaemar Construction said it hopes to complete the project by Nov. 31, 1986.

The firm was the lowest of 10 bidders for the job. Total cost, including materials, engineering and contingencies, is $7.3 million.

1986 limited entry hunt draw completed

Limited Entry Hunting authorizations have been mailed to hunters whose applications were selected in the random draw held July 11, 1986. Unsuccessful and late applications are also notified by mail. Applicants who do not receive notification may contact Ministry of Environment regional offices or any Government Agent's office for information.

Six hundred hunts and eight species of animals in fifty areas are involved in Limited Entry hunting this season. Applications received totalled 75,579, an increase of 6% over 1985. The 22,271 authorizations available were distributed to applicants randomly selected with the aid of a computer. Biometrician John Thornton of the Wildlife branch officiated at the draw.

The odds on an applicant being drawn vary greatly between hunts, depending entirely on the number of applications received, relative to the number of authorizations available. This year odds on receiving one of two authorizations for Rocky Mountain bighorn sheep in the Phillip Creek area were 252:1, and 157 hunters applied for one authorization to take a California bighorn from the Junction herd in the Chilcotin. In contrast some hunts were undersubscribed. Eight authorizations for moose and 270 for deer in the Peace-Omineca went unassigned, as did fifty authorizations for mountain goat in the Skeena region.
