VOL. 33 NO. 33 CIRCULATION 3690 40¢ per issue TUESDAY SEPTEMBER 1, 1987.

The on again, off again attempt to develop the corner of Cleveland Avenue and Highway 99, is on again, District of Squamish officials said.

Plans for a McDonald's restaurant and a 7-Eleven convenience store/gas bar have been submitted to municipal fire, building, and planning departments for approval, according to Building Department Secretary, Marilyn Cloutier.

An artist's conception of the development planned by North American Shopping Centre Company Ltd. arrived in town last week. The drawing shows the golden arches, a sit-down restaurant, and the home of the Big Gulp, but Cloutier said no plans have yet been submitted for the proposed "family-style restaurant." She said approval of the plans will take about two weeks.

Works Superintendent, John Payne, who had earlier expressed concerns about how the development would affect snow removal and traffic flow in the area said he was satisfied with the plans. Although any raised traffic islands would make snow removal more difficult, he said, "we're not talking about any great edifice here, it would only be about six or eight inches high."

All costs incurred by changes to the roadway will be borne by the developer, Payne said. And, he said, the proposed changes to traffic flow should not create undue hazard.

"There's no guarantees, but it's as safe as we can make it."

Strike cuts B.C. Rail business

The CN/CP rail strike hasn't forced layoffs at B.C. Rail yet, Corporate Information Officer, Gerry Collins, said, but it has cost the corporation about a quarter of its business. "Overall we've lost about a quarter of our business, mainly through the loss of coal traffic from the north-east coal fields. (Normally we take the coal to Prince George, then CN takes it to Prince Rupert."

All of BCR's losses result from its need to interconnect with CN/CP for the export market, Collins said. Domestic traffic and passenger service are not affected.

"A lot of what we carry (about 50 per cent), particularly lumber, goes for export."

Collins said interconnections in North Vancouver, Prince George and Dawson Creek have been affected, but "by no means does it mean our railway is shut down."

For the duration of the strike, about 100 cars a day of "interconnect off-line traffic" are being loaded onto barges in North Vancouver and shipped to Seattle to avoid the interconnect, Collins said, but he called the measure an "unsatisfactory solution."

The main problem is that cars sent south via barge can't be returned until after the strike, he said.

"Normally U.S. carriers take them (the cars) to the border and connect with CN. They'll get returned eventually, but in the meantime we're running out of cars."

A further problem is that the usual volume of interconnect traffic is about 400 cars a day, Collins said, making the 100 cars sent by barge a poor solution.

"We've had to impose quotas on the various mills that export."

But Collins said although BCR is running fewer trains, the "system of guarantees" enjoyed by workers means that "people will be getting paid whether they're called to work or not."

BCR has no plans to make representations to government to legislate an end to the strike, Collins said.

"The provincial government is doing a good job of letting them know how all those affected by the strike feel."

Leave guns at home

The next time you go to a provincial government campsite, leave your guns at home.

It is an offence under the Parks Act to have firearms in a campsite, Squamish RCMP Cpl. Dan Larratt said.

"(And) even pellet guns qualify as firearms under the Parks Act."

Parks officers are empowered to seize any firearms they find. They then take the weapons to the RCMP who hold them until the owner comes and signs for them.

Hi-tech analyser eliminates guesswork

It's not much bigger than a bread-basket, but it's smarter and faster than machines 10-times its size.

RBL Services' new $8,000 Alltest Advantage engine analyser can perform a plethora of diagnostic tests, including: cranking amps, no load voltage, alternator diode (previously involved removing the alternator), power balance, timing, firing kilovolts, and others, all while keeping up a snappy banter with the mechanic.

The machine asks questions like: Is the vehicle gas or diesel? How many cylinders does it have? What's the firing order? What's the idle speed? And, what test(s) do you want to do?

While operating, the analyser keeps the mechanic apprised of what it's up to. During the 15-second period when it suppresses starting to collect data, it reads: "Data acquisition in progress."

RBL Owner, Rod Yaremkeiwich, said the best thing about the machine, besides its small size and ability to run a large number tests, is that it gives the mechanic and car owner a written record of its findings.

"The beauty of this machine is that it records the information. With this machine," Yaremkeiwich said indicating a large Sun engine analyser, "you turn it off and it's gone."

He said the machine can be set-up in 15 minutes, but he added, it doesn't work on all makes. The unit has no trouble with North American cars, and most imports, but cars must have an electrical circuit that the machine can "tap into" to conduct its tests.

Yaremkeiwich said the Advantage is especially good for certain tests such as vacuum advance which, on this machine, can be tested through a full range of rpms. It is also much better at power balance tests which require briefly suppressing ignition in one cylinder on new computer-controlled ignition systems, because it conducts its tests so quickly.

On older machines, where ignition was suppressed manually, test results were unreliable, he said, because the vehicle's on-board computer would begin compensating for the power loss before readings could be taken.

Because the Alltest Advantage is a computer, Yaremkeiwich said, it can be expanded to perform additional tests such as exhaust gas analysis with the addition of computer chips and external apparatus.

Week starting SEPTEMBER 2, 1987

Aries (March 21-April 20) - Career, reputation great Wednesday, Thursday. Aries, but legal/talk/travel troubles in air. Friday says no, Saturday yes, to friends/love. Sunday on, lie low, rest.

Taurus (April 21-May 21) - Travel/talk/love truly good Wednesday/Thursday, but money endangered: forget sex! Friday bad, Saturday good for ambitions. Sunday on, problems, delight, mixed!

Gemini (May 22-June 21) - Finances/sex fine before Friday, but partners/mate refuse to co-operate. Ideas push wrong way Friday, right way Saturday. Career great Sunday, home dim Monday/Tuesday.

Cancer (June 22-July 22) - If you can avoid co-workers (even work!) love/marriage/partnerships great before Friday! Bad money luck Friday turns good Saturday! Sunday on, be wise: work irks.

Leo (July 23-August 22) - Work gets done splendidly Wednesday and Thursday, but love pays the price. Friday a relationship fouls, but rights itself Saturday. Careful with money Sunday on!

Virgo (August 23-September 22) - Home snarls, snags, but romance soars, Wednesday/Thursday! Safety, workplace need care Friday, but Saturday okay. Relationship fine Sunday, not Monday/Tuesday!

Libra (September 23-October 23) - Rest, home, family good before Friday: don't travel/communicate. Friday demands love adjustment, but Saturday sweet! Work/health okay Sunday, not Monday/Tuesday.

Scorpio (October 24-November 22) - Happy friends, unhappy money Wednesday/Thursday. Subtle problem deep (at home?) Friday, but celebrate family Saturday! Sunday on, romance "high before fall."

Sagittarius (November 23-December 21) - Money excellent, career awful, Wednesday/Thursday! Friday problem communicating: say it Saturday! Sunday on, home, retreat, rest - lie low in career.

Capricorn (December 22-January 20) - Energy, charm, luck high Wednesday/Thursday but "big intangible" fights money. Change money plans Friday; Saturday $$ come! Sunday on, say little.

Aquarius (January 21-February 19) - Protect money, don't spend before or after weekend. Same re sex and future plans: barrier, danger. Energy soars weekend: get it done, seek money action!

Pisces (February 20-March 20) - Wishes come true, but career, status suffer pre-weekend. Protect self. Friday/Saturday - tired: lie low. Sunday you charm/love! But Monday on, opposite: be cool.

Rafting regulations to cover all B.C. rivers

All B.C. rivers are now covered by rafting regulations for commercial operators, according to officials of the provincial Ministry of Environment and Parks.

The federal government has amended the Boating Restriction Regulations which have applied in past to eight B.C. rivers, including the Fraser and the Thompson, to include all rivers in the province, the ministry said in a recent press release.

Ted Foster, a senior safety and enforcement officer with Environment and Parks, said the amendments not only expand the scope of the legislation by including all B.C. rivers, but improve the consistency of its application.

He said many aspects of the legislation, such as requirements of boat construction, capacity, machinery, and equipment required, were unchanged, because they already specified high quality.

Significant changes included: increased raft marking, to make rafts "stand out;" an upgrade of the required first aid level from a general course (that could be done in one day), to 16-hours; provision of helmets on all rivers where "risk of head injury may exist;" and most significantly, Foster said, an increase in the amount of experience a guide must have on the route he will be rafting with the equipment he'll be using.

To become a certified guide, he said, candidates must have seven days training under a certified trip leader, and 20-days running time. Amendments provide for an additional two trips on the river a guide will be running, with the equipment he'll be using. Guides will be certified and issued a card that they will be required to produce before they can hire-on with rafting companies, Foster said.

The RCMP will enforce the new regulations which take effect immediately although rafting companies have until Sept. 30, 1987 to comply, he said.

Foster said significant changes would likely be made in future based on the recommendations of an "advisory committee made up of high-powered representatives from the industry and government." He said a number of people have come forward to offer to serve on the committee, but that it would not likely be formed for "a couple of weeks."

Because the Boating Restriction Regulations are made pursuant to the Canada Shipping Act, Foster said, the advisory committee will make recommendations to the Ministry of Environment and Parks, which is designated as the provincial representative of the Department of Transport. The Department of Transport would make any further amendments to the legislation.

No more "Alf" at 5 p.m., "Tonight Show" at 8:30 p.m., or "David Letterman" at 10 p.m. As of Sept. 1, Squamishites will have to stay up late to watch the late show.

Reliance Distributors Cable Company has announced that Squamish will tap into the "western feed" for the three major American networks and PBS. ABC, NBC, and CBS will now come to Squamish through their Seattle affiliates, instead of Detroit stations.

The rest of the dial: CITY Edmonton, CHCH Hamilton, KVOS, CBC, BCTV, KVOS, and the Knowledge Network will be unchanged.

The Times' T.V. and Entertainment guide is compiled by T.V. Data Inc. of Glen Falls, New York. This week's guide could not be updated in time to reflect the changes, but will be on track next week.

Because major network affiliates run many of the same programs, you should be able to get a reasonable idea of what's on by adding three hours to the times shown in the schedule (to account for the eastern time zone), for the American networks. But there will be some variations, especially on PBS, due to regional programming.

Do you wear your seatbelt? The driver of this two-piece Honda did, and she walked away from this crash in Whistler on Hwy. 99 last winter, RCMP Cst. Phil Noonan said. Police will be stepping-up enforcement of seat-belt laws between Aug. 28 and Sept. 7.

"If you love them, buckle them in" is the message Squamish RCMP want to emphasize as they intensify seat belt law enforcement from now until Sept. 7.

Road checks started Aug. 28 both in and out of town, Squamish RCMP Cst. Phil Noonan, said.

"We're going for high visibility through the Labor Day weekend. We'll also be looking for impaired driving and other traffic offences."

Noonan said road checks will be around the clock and throughout the district "anytime or place."

Police will be paying particular attention to laws concerning mandatory restraint use for children. Children under six must wear approved restraints:

Infants (less than 9 kg) must be restrained in an approved infant carrier in a rear-facing position.

Toddlers (more than 9 kg, but less than 18 kg) must be restrained with a lap belt, or approved seat in a front-facing position.

And preschoolers (18 kg or more, and under the age of six) must wear a lap belt no matter where they are in a vehicle.

In all cases the driver can be assessed a fine of $100 for failure to comply.

The driver is liable for a failure to comply by passengers between six and 16, and can face a $50 fine. Drivers and passengers over 16 who fail to comply face a $35 fine, Noonan said, and motorcyclists caught without a helmet face a $100 fine.

Approval given for Extended Care

The Board of Trustees of the Squamish General Hospital has been given approval to proceed with planning for the 12 extended care beds to be added to Hilltop House.

The Board had earlier sought approval of the extension, stressing the need for the extra beds because of the long waiting list and the number of people in the Intermediate Care facility who should be receiving extended care.

The Board will be selecting an architectural firm to do the work.

Hospital move planned for November

The move to the new Squamish General Hospital is scheduled to begin in early November, a few months ahead of the original time for the move.

The mild winter and excellent construction weather has facilitated the speed of construction.

In other news concerning the hospital, emergency statistics show that figures are up over last year. While Director of Nursing Gloria Healey said this is to be expected in summer, the increase from 1,895 to 2,172 amounts to about 12 per cent.

Supplement to Squamish Times and Citizen.

It's 25-years in the future, the human race has been almost wiped-out by a lethal virus, and the survivors are fighting it out in Squamish.

Two groups have risen from the ashes of the "post-virus" world: the Lards and the Raiders. The Lards, a collection of leucocyte deficient crazies who live in the mines at Britannia Beach and hunt down uninfected victims for their daily transfusion of blood (high-tech vampires), come into conflict with the Raiders, who are also looking for uninfected people as breeding stock.

The result of this competition for the remaining uninfected but as yet unaffiliated survivors results, according to Movie Producer John Curtis, in "a lot of action and Mad-Max style shoot'em up."

North American Releasing Inc. of West Vancouver chose to film "Empire of Ash 11" (yes, it's a sequel), in Squamish, Curtis said, because of the availability of sets, actors, and extras.

Most of the shooting will be done at North Vancouver Outdoor School and vicinity, he said.

"Almost everything we need is there, forest, road, and beaches."

Locations. Manager, Bradley Kennedy, described the response to the Aug. 27 casting call as "phenomenal." Between 20 and 150 locals will be used in the film, he said, and it's still within the realm of possibility that a local will play the hero/heroine.

We haven't designated any principals yet," Curtis said.

Curtis said the company prefers to use local actors because they're cheaper, and don't have to drive up from Vancouver every day. And, he said, the company's record for spotting talent is good.

"We've been lucky in that in past - we discovered Dorothy Stratton (the ill-fated playboy centrefold) in an ice-cream parlour in 1980."

Hopefuls trying for acting roles were auditioned, and those trying for roles as extras (or even, extra extras) were photographed and catalogued. Remuneration for those selected varies from a free lunch and a video-tape copy of the film for extra extras, to monetary payment for actors.

"It's a good opportunity for people to come out, have some fun, see how a movie set works, and kill somebody."

Curtis said the film will have a crew of 20 (including some locals), and a budget of about $250,000.

Extra hopeful, Curtis Campbell, is photographed and catalogued at a North American Releasing Inc. casting call, Aug. 27 in the Civic Centre.

"We're considered the kings of small budget productions. We always make them look like a million bucks."

The first shoot will be Sept. 19, Curtis said, and filming will continue until Oct. 10.

No mistake

Dear Editor:

I feel I must reply to last week's article relating to the Squamish Golf and Country Club. It was unfortunate timing on my part to have scheduled my holidays from August 9 to 16 because I was not present to state my case and refute certain statements made by Alderman Patterson.

To begin with let me state that to my knowledge there are three subjects only which may be dealt with "in-camera"; land acquisitions or sales, personnel matters and legal actions. I didn't believe then, nor do I believe now, that the meeting of July 28th fit the criteria. Had I not been comfortable with my own conscience I would not have answered your questions when you called following the meeting. May I point out that I did not at that time or since divulge the dollar figure discussed or the names of the two council members who felt the proposal should be given consideration. To my mind only that information should have been qualified.

As reflected in your article Alderman Patterson at least twice stated that I was responsible for "leaking" the information I had received to the public prior to the "in-camera" meeting. I did no such thing and challenge him to provide evidence that would prove his statements. I was approached on three separate occasions prior to the meeting by persons who had already received as much, or more information than I had. One of these persons was a member of the Golf and Country Club, one a member of the Curling Club, and the other yourself. To each of the three I replied that I didn't believe the subject should be "in-camera" - my judgement - and that it was my intention to put a motion on the floor to open the meeting to the public, which I did and the motion failed.

I find Alderman Patterson's manners at most meetings extremely abhorrent. He is the most negative person I have ever encountered. His attendance at committee meetings to which he has been appointed leaves something to be desired. He is disruptive at all meetings and cannot be controlled by the chair. He continuously belittles the staff in open council. He makes numerous claims that he will not substantiate. Alderman Patterson sees fit also at all meetings to ridicule and criticize all council members. Our municipal election is coming up soon. Let's not make the same mistake twice.

Yours sincerely,
Corinne Lonsdale
Alderman

Club interest sought

Dear Editor:

I would like to use your letter column as a medium to put the word out the pensioners--be they old age, disability or other--that are mobile, and in turn help those not so lucky, to start a Hobby Club. If you have nothing to do and nowhere to go, we should get together and organize!

For instance, if you like gardening and have no garden, I have a couple of acres that will be cut up into garden plots and free to use.

You could do whatever turns you on: painting, carving, automotive. There are a lot of little jobs around Squamish that people will gladly get you the material if you will fix it, as they haven't the time or the patience to do it themselves, and if they want to donate a couple of bucks to the Club, fine, if they're broke, still fine.

With a bit of luck and a generous council we might even bum a small building to meet and socialize.

If interested, phone 898-5830.

Miss Nude Trash stinks

Dear Editor:

I'm writing to voice a complaint against the newspaper which I thought you were overseeing.

I firmly believe in moral standards being held up so that people can live up to them and set the example for the children, teens, and young adults to see and set for their own lifestyle!

So when reading this week's newspaper, I was shocked! and appalled! that you would allow the picture of "Miss Nude Trash" to be published!

If someone has to stoop so low as to be crude, nasty, and dirty just to get attention, then they have a problem...and you are advertising for people to come and pay money to see it! That's gross! disgusting! and indecent! and I am sorely displeased that you would advertise any crude thing just for a buck!

Unless you begin to evaluate what you are promoting, I will not be the only customer/advertiser that you will lose!

Strong talk, but serious!

Arlene Duncan

Enough red tape

It is common knowledge that the wheels of government bureaucracy turn slowly, but in the case of the effort to acquire a speech pathologist for Howe Sound, the provincial government's wheels appear to be turning backwards.

That Squamish may be left out in the cold in the government's allotment of speech pathologists because it has not met the end-of-month deadline for submission of a proposal, is mind-boggling, given that local citizens have been appealing for the additional service for years.

If the Ministry of Health is not already fully aware of Squamish's need for a speech pathologist, it is either deaf, dumb or blind, or more likely, a combination of the three.

It is disheartening to think that the countless stream of letters, petitions, meetings, and even trips to Victoria have been in vain.

What more must local citizens do to convince the provincial government that not only does the Howe Sound corridor require the services of an additional speech pathologist, it is entitled to it.

Highway blues

The recent outcry over highway closures and delays is a classic example of area residents wanting their cake and eat it too.

Granted, unannounced and untimely delays are an inconvenience to the travelling public, but the bottom line is that no road construction can take place without a degree of inconvenience to motorists.

Long-time commuters, used to such delays, travel equipped with books, magazines, thermoses of coffee, and patience. They are long past the days of venting their frustrations on the car ahead of them or the unfortunate flag-girl. They remind themselves--continually-- that the eventual four-lane highway will be a godsend and well worth the aggravation.

Motorists who venture out on the highway during pre-publicized closure times are asking for trouble. And, for those days when overblasting has caused extended closures, remember it is all in the name of progress.

Rome was not built in a day; neither will the Squamish Highway be magically transformed into a super speedway overnight.

And, after all, what's a little short-term pain for all that long-term gain?

Opinion Time

Should council re-define Residential 2 zoning to allow construction of duplexes in the downtown area?

Mack Mackinnon: "If that's the only way they can get them (people) closer (to downtown)."

Louise Olson: "No, I'm not in favor of it. We've got houses now with five or six families in them."

Ed Bartholet: "They should look at improving access to downtown, either with a bypass or an overpass over the railway crossing, before they look at increasing the density."

Lorraine Lapointe: "I think anything would be an improvement because they have no bus service."

Maybe the dog days of summer are not the right time to talk about the chills of winter but as I sit in the living room with the fan whirling overhead and keeping the heat down I think of how it works in the opposite way in winter and brings the heat down from the ceiling to keep the rest of the house warm.

Winter isn't much of a problem today. People have cars and travel to work and play in a comfortable atmosphere. And every home is automatically heated. Getting them warm usually means just flicking a thermostat and sitting back while the temperature climbs. But it was not always thus.

When we were young, many homes did not have automatic heat and keeping warm was a never-ending battle with the wood pile or the coal pile. Of course, there was also the work of getting the wood into the shed or shovelling the coal into the furnace or the pails to take into the house. Splitting the wood and packing it into the house also warmed you in the process.

In Vancouver we lived in a big house with a basement and had to carry everything up a steep flight of stairs to the kitchen range. The old wood furnace in the basement was balky and had to be continually manipulated to keep it from smoking and to ensure it poured out the heat.

In Squamish, we used wood in both the range and the heater unless we managed to get some coal which did burn longer but was much dirtier and messier than the wood. But with wood there were bark splinters, shavings and a lot of dirty ashes to be handled. And you could never be sure that the fire would burn. If the wind wasn't right, or if you didn't adjust the dampers correctly, the fire would go out.

Later, in my own home, it was a battle with wood stoves, both for cooking and heating. I used to hate the woodbox and the mess it entailed. It seemed to be a catchall for the papers and bits of discarded wrappings; there were always bits of wood, bark and shavings around. It was also difficult to keep the stove's heat a constant level. Trying to bake or cook was awkward at the best as the oven would be either too hot or too cold. But you did learn to adjust to it and to build the fire accordingly.

But I think the thing I hated the most about the wood burning stoves was the fact that the house would get so cold at night unless you got up and kept the heater burning. Most people of my generation remember getting up in an icy cold room, starting the fire, and popping back into bed until the room heated up sufficiently to get dressed.

Getting dressed was an ordeal. You would stand by the heater and while the front cooked, your back froze, or vice-versa. You would pull your clothes on under your night clothes so no portion of your body was exposed to the cold air if you could help it and you got dressed in a hurry. There was no dawdling over getting ready for school in those days. If you dawdled, you congealed.

In the cold weather we also used to keep the oven door of the range open so some of the heat would disseminate through the room, and I can remember the permanent bruises on my shins from hitting that oven door! We would huddle around the range, in our spare time, often with our feet on the oven door, trying to keep warm when the north wind howled outside and the rain beat against the window panes.

Times were tough in the early days of our marriage. Dad worked away from home and wages weren't high. Every extra cent we could save was welcomed and when the old mill up by the site of the present Burritt truck shop was operating, they would let us pick up bits of wood which fell out of the hopper or off the trucks when they were being filled.

The girls and I used to go up every evening to see if there was any wood and often we brought home several wheelbarrow loads. Over the course of a summer it was amazing to see how they mounted up and we often had a shed full by the time fall came.

I was delighted when we converted the range to oil and switched to the new fuel which was steady and could be more easily controlled. And when we added an oil heater and it would go all night, keeping the house warm, it was wonderful. No more icy feet in the morning and no freezing backsides when you dressed.

Then came the final conversion to an electric range and to an oil furnace with the added space and ease of control.

Now one wonders if they should go back to the old wood furnace or to one of the new total-combustion wood-burning heaters which can keep your house warm and burn more efficiently. But there are problems securing wood and one wonders if it isn't just about as costly as oil.

One way to beat this is to keep the room temperatures lower and add more layers of clothing. Sweaters used to be very popular when I was young and you always had a few of them. You added a cardigan or took it off, depending on whether it was too hot or too cold, instead of adjusting the heat.

Of course, if you were lucky enough to have your own source of wood, you managed to cut it and bring it home at very little cost. But if you were cutting it to sell you were lucky if you got ten dollars a cord for it.

When we built the house I wanted a fireplace but Dad said we would need a ten-acre lot to keep us in firewood so he didn't put one in. But I would still love one and I swear that if I ever build another house, it will have to have a fireplace. There isn't anything more cosy or warm than a fireplace and the glow of the flames through the rooms adds a feeling of warmth and comfort that cannot be equalled by any other form of keeping warm.

Maybe it's a reflection back to the days when the caveman crouched beside the flickering fire in his cave and felt warmed by the heat and was happy to be sheltered from the storms and cold outside. But man has always had an affinity for fire and even if we become so sophisticated that our homes are heated by beams or rays and we don't need stoves or furnaces I am sure we will always want to curl up in front of a fire with a good book and dream away the hours.

NEWS BRIEFS

Squamish RCMP responded to a single motor vehicle accident at 9:18 p.m. Aug. 21 on Hwy. 99 near the entrance to the Weldwood sawmill. John Webb, of Surrey, overturned his vehicle on the east side of the highway, police said, but suffered no injuries.

Webb was charged with driving with undue care and attention. His vehicle sustained $3,000 damage, RCMP said.

Greg Porter reported that 12 Super Valu grocery carts valued at $1,000 were "burnt up" in an area of bush between the Highlander Hotel and the Royal Canadian Legion, RCMP said.

The incident is under investigation.

The Highland Grocery reported a break-in Aug. 25, and a quantity of goods taken.

Losses were estimated at $300 in food items, and $100 damage to the store, RCMP said.

Squamish RCMP reported a number of break-ins last week:

Karl Schaer of Diamond Head Road reported that his home was broken into and a number of articles taken Aug. 20.

Police said the residence of Myrna Markan on Government Road was broken into between Aug. 18 and 20. Some articles were taken but no damage was done to the house.

Merle McKay reported that the Mountain Burger House on Cleveland Ave. had been broken into Aug. 27, and items of food stolen. The incidents are under investigation, police said.

Forest closure in Squamish area

Industrial operations including logging, in any area governed by the Squamish Weather Station were closed last week. On Friday, Aug. 28, the duty officer for the Squamish Forest District, Al Hoyrup, said the Squamish area was rated extreme hazard.

Hoyrup said this rating is much higher than for the same month last year. However, because of the time of year, (late August when the temperature is colder at night and there is dew in the mornings), the likelihood of a fire spreading is reduced.

The rating in Alta Lake/Whistler is high and in the D'Arcy/Pemberton area, is moderate.

On Thursday, Aug. 27 the Forestry Service was called to a fire at 15 Mile in the Upper Squamish. A tree had fallen across a power line, resulting in a grass fire below. The infra-red scan was used to check for hot spots on Friday morning, and one was located. Patrols continued their checks throughout Friday.

The Swift Creek fire has been totally extinguished. To date, Hoyrup said 40 fires had been reported in the Squamish Forest District and the cost of fighting them was approximately $100,000. This amount is expected to be considerably less than the cost of fire fighting in 1986.

Cap gets $585,000 grant

Career and technical programs offered locally through Capilano College will receive a much needed injection of capital over the next few months, according to Bursar Marie Jessup. Capilano College has received $585,000 in grants from the Fund for Excellence to be used mainly for the replacement of existing program equipment and the purchase of new computer hardware and software. Jessup said that programs offered in Squamish, which tend to be "equipment intensive" will benefit from the funds. She credits Stan Hagen, minister of Advanced Education and Job Training, with procuring the and said that this is the first time since 1981 that funds of "this order of magnitude" have been offered with no strings attached. Almost $480,000 will be spent on equipment and computer hardware and software to support instructional programs. Because the funds are for programs and not directed for projects or buildings, Jessup said, benefits will be felt wherever programs are offered. She said that over the last seven years, the college has developed a priority listing of courses most seriously affected by technological change, and the funds will be allocated to programs accordingly. The balance of monies, $110,000, will be used to develop an International Studies Co-op Certificate program. While not a business program per se, Jessup said its focus will be on improving trade and other links with Pacific Rim countries. She said she anticipates that many of the students who enrol in the program will be adults who already have specific training, but who wish to fine tune and remarket their skills. Jessup stressed that the $110,000 would be used solely for curriculum development for the program.

Outstanding students named

Several local students were among those who achieved outstanding grades during the Spring 1987 semester at Capilano College. Named to the Dean's List, which gives special recognition to all full-time students who earned a grade point average of 3.5 (approximately A-) or better, in career/vocational programs are: Diane Adams, Nimfa Auger, Randi Bevilacqua, Cheryl Ciuk, Irene Colcord, Jacqueline Dutchyn, Josette Focant, Charleen Head, Deborah Kelly, Deanna Larsen, Lorraine Marsolais, Yvette Mitchell, Lisa Moss, Gwen Rivett, Alexandra Usher, Brenda Addis, Aaltje Dendekker, Donna Jackson and Gwen Stant. Nola Dinwoodie was named to the Merit List in academic studies, for part-time students with a grade point average of 3.5 or higher.

Rothe to chair ski-school committee

Despite reservations about the merits of the proposal, Trustee Peter Rothe was appointed chairman of a committee of the whole that will study the feasibility of operating a special school for alpine skiers in Whistler, at an Aug. 12 meeting of the Howe Sound School Board.

"The assumption is not that there is going to be a school," Rothe said, "but just that we're going to look at the feasibility of one."

Trustee Thelma Johnstone suggested the committee be struck, composed of "trustees, two interested individuals, the principal of Myrtle Philip School (where the proposal suggests the school be located), and anyone else who is interested in participating."

Johnstone said the two interested individuals were Harley Paul of Squamish, and Bill McCance of Whistler, who responded to announcements encouraging public participation in the study. She further suggested the newly formed committee meet before the end of August so that it could invite the Assistant Superintendent of Schools for West Vancouver, Douglas Player, who will be in the district at that time, to discuss a ski program that has been operating successfully at Hillside school in West Vancouver.

"We've been dragging our feet on this for months," Rothe said the first meeting of the committee will be held Aug. 26 at 7 p.m. in Myrtle Philip School. The meeting will be open to the public.

Student exchange offered

Local students interested in discovering a new country while continuing their education, now have the opportunity to do so under the exchange program of Interculture Canada.

Interculture Canada, a leading international exchange organization, is offering youths between 15 and 18 years of age the chance to study in more than 30 countries around the world. There are departures in summer or in winter, depending on the country chosen. The program lasts 11 to 12 months.

In addition to the intercultural learning, the program encourages personal growth and development of young people.

Students interested in obtaining more information about Interculture Canada programs may call 1-800-361-1879, or write to 59 St. Jacques Str., Suite 700, Montreal, Que., H2Y 1K9. Final applications must be received by Oct. 30 for winter departures and

Nov. 30 for summer departures.

Interculture Canada is a not-for-profit, non-governmental organization. It is a member of AFS International/Intercultural Programs network with over 70 member countries, making it the world's largest exchange organization.

Lange awarded scholarship

It's not just beauty but brains as well that make a Timber Queen.

And 1986 Miss Squamish, Alisa Lange, is testimony to those requirements.

Lange, who was also chosen as Top Academic Student in this year's graduating class at Howe Sound Secondary School, has been awarded scholarships to B.C.'s three universities, and now faces the tough decision of which school to attend.

She was awarded a $2,000 President's Regional Entrance Scholarship to the University of Victoria, and a $2,200 scholarship to U.B.C. S.F.U. has offered Lange a $3,000 President's Entrance Scholarship, plus free tuition for the first two semesters.

To qualify for these scholarships, which recognize academic excellence, the student must have achieved an "A" average throughout his or her highschool years, and be a Canadian citizen.

In addition, the student must show promise of continuing outstanding academic performance at university, and must have contributed to school and community life.

Once deciding which university to attend, Lange plans to enroll in the Faculty of Science to study kinesiology and genetics.

Cycling to safety

Cyclists should know and observe basic traffic regulations no matter where they ride.

1. Cyclists have the same rights as motor vehicles and are obliged to follow the same regulations.

2. Obey red and green traffic lights, one-way street signs, stop signs.

3. Keep to the right and ride in a straight line, single file.

4. Give pedestrians the right-of-way. Avoid using sidewalks and stay off grass.

5. Slow down at all intersections and look to right and left before crossing.

6. Look out for cars pulling into traffic and sudden opening of car doors.

7. Never latch onto other moving vehicles, stunt or race in traffic.

8. Never carry passengers or packages that obstruct vision or prevent proper control of the bicycle.

9. Be sure brakes operate, and keep your bicycle in perfect running condition.

10. If riding at night, you must have a white light in front and an approved reflector or light behind.

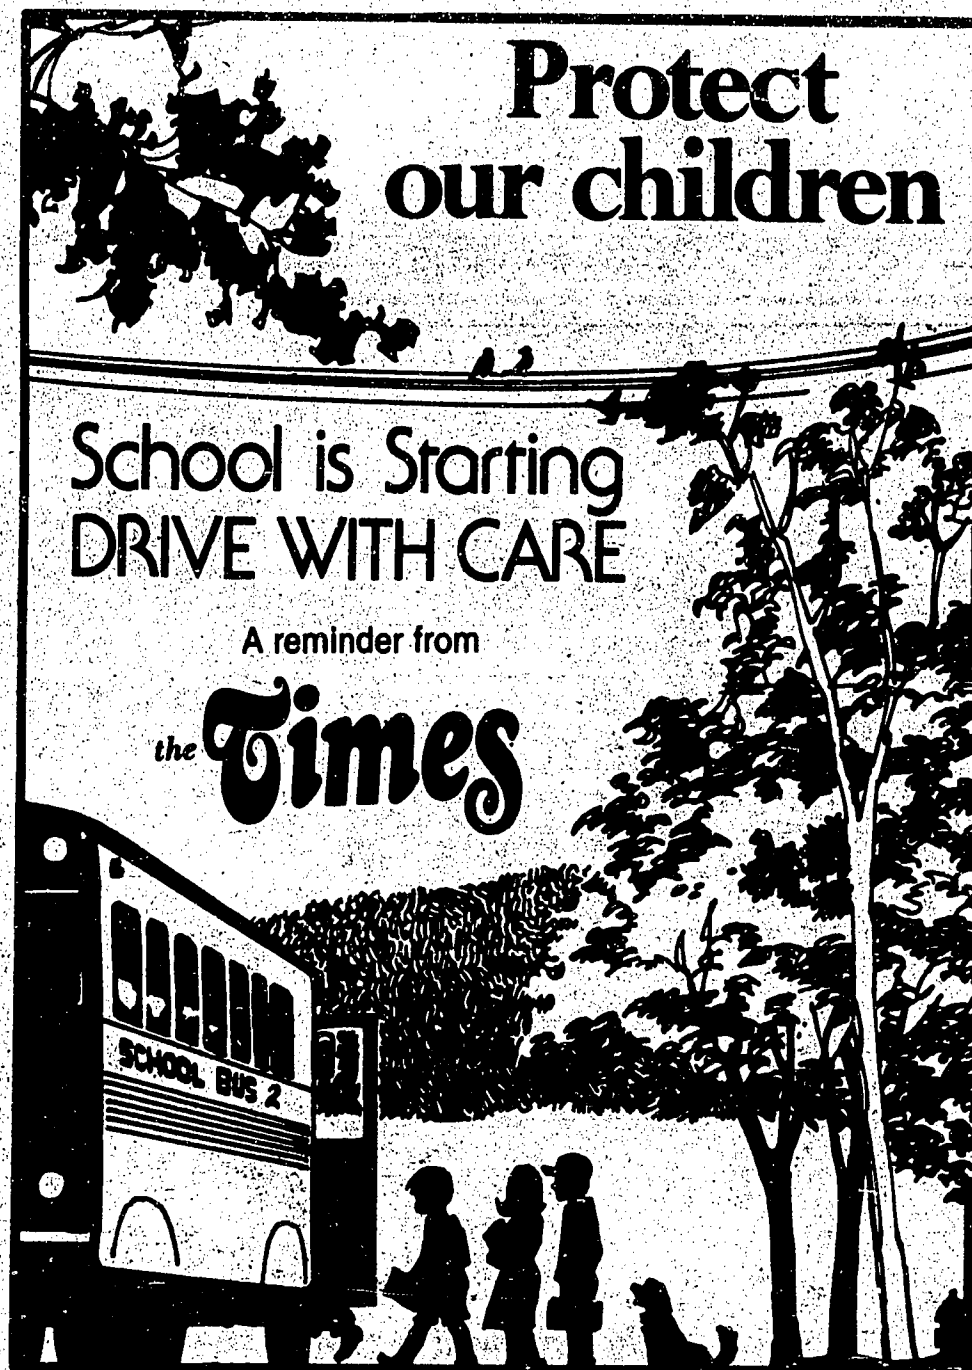

11. Be predictable. A bike that is under proper control is much easier to overtake than one that is not.

12. Use common sense and courtesy when riding. Cyclists don't own the road, they share it with motor vehicles.

Kids fashions keep pace

Children's fashions for fall are basically a reflection of what's popular for adults, Red Balloon Children's Shop Owner, Mime Runzer, says, and back-to-school fashions reflect the demands of their fashion-conscious consumers.

"Kids are very fashion-conscious and fussy about what they wear. Children's fashions used to lag a season behind adults, but not any more."

Acid-washed denims in jeans, jackets (with a sherpa lining), skirts and purses, will be big this fall, according to Squamish Saan store manager, Pat Reid. Bright colored crew neck sweaters, blue and black jeans, fleece tops, and corduroy jackets and pants are making a comeback, she said.

Blouses, skirts, and jump suits in natural colors with animal prints are popular with the older girls and teens.

Popular footwear will include girls flat dress shoes commonly known as "skimmers," and black running shoes (white is passe) with brightly colored contrasting stripes, Reid said.

Pre-school and first grade girls still prefer dresses and jumpers, Runzer said, and older kids are into stretch leggings with an oversized top.

Polyester/cotton blend "fleece" tops, jumpsuits and jogging suits in bright colors are popular, she said, because "children want comfort, they like to be cozy and comfortable."

Oversize tops have taken a new turn with the Super-bite, Runzer said, a super-large top that can be worn like a dress, or belted.

Boys will also be wearing fleece tops and T-shirts, with stonewashed canvas-look pants and a pleated front.

"Corduroy is in fashion this fall. But wider wale, a plusher, more luxurious, cord."

And when the weather cools, practical wearing acrylic knit sweaters with the feel and breathability of cotton will be popular.

Log sort to become movie set

Weldwood's dryland log sort on Loggers Lane in Squamish will become a movie set in September, according to Weldwood Charge Hand, Bryan Couture.

Paramount Pictures will be making a film "about a fellow who comes back from Vietnam and tries to get into the workforce," Couture said.

"He gets a job with a logging company".

So far people from the production company have been up to look over the log sort, Couture said, and to determine what buildings they want to set up on the site. Weldwood employees and machinery will also be featured in the production, he said.

Hunting, angling fees up

Licence fees for hunters, anglers, and other users of B.C.'s fish and wildlife will be increased this year.

The fee increase includes: 25 percent for hunters from outside Canada; 20 percent for trappers and guides; a doubling of firearms fees; a $2 increase in annual freshwater angling and hunting licence fees; a $1 increase in short-term angling fees.

Commissions to licence vendors will stay at 10 percent of sales, to a maximum of $5 per licence.

Environment and Parks Minister Bruce Strachan said the new fees are necessary because of the $800,000 increase in the budget for wildlife and fisheries programs.

Reynolds, Henry to Bridge

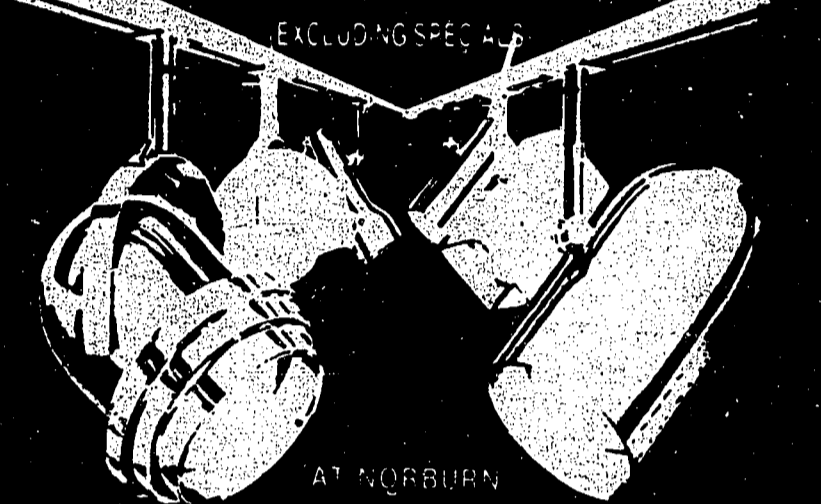

The new Lillooet River Bridge will be officially opened with a ribbon cutting ceremony at 4 p.m. Sept. 18, 1987, according to a Ministry of Transportation and Highways press release.

West Vancouver-Howe Sound MLA, John Reynolds, and Pemberton Mayor, Shirley Henry, will attend to cut the ribbon and open the bridge.

The span, built by B.G.M. Construction of North Vancouver at a cost of $1,026,000, is located 3.5 km east of Pemberton, on Pemberton-Portage Road.

Residents and visitors are invited to attend the ceremony and reception to follow.

GRAD 87

Just in Time

BY MAUREEN GILMOUR

A three-part public affairs special will be aired by BCTV this week on the subject "Facing AIDS". Actually the first part was on last night but the second segment will be aired at 5 p.m. tonight and the last part on Thursday, Sept 3, also at 5 p.m. The series combines panel and public forum discussion with frank and intimate interviews from people with AIDS.

Christina Perssons was pleased to have her mother, Ingrid Perssons from Linköping, Sweden visiting her for two weeks. This was Mrs. Perssons first visit to Squamish and she had a wonderful time. Prior to coming here, she spent a week in New York City.

We all know exercise is good for us but, last week, I met a 90 year old lady, who has an unusual way of exercising. She goes down to her son's recreation room and plays pool! She claims to be a pretty good player!!

Stork Story - BISHOP - Kevin and Joanne Bishop are pleased to announce the birth of their first child, a son, Allan Edward, born in the Squamish General Hospital on August 5, weighing 8 lbs. 6 ozs. Proud grand-parents are Mr. and Mrs. Larry Bishop and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bourque, all of Squamish. Thrilled with the arrival of her first great grandchild is Mrs. Rene Bishop of Squamish. Mr. and Mrs. D. Rouleau of Granby, Quebec are also proud great grandparents.

Former resident, Ethel LeClerc from Edmonton, is visiting her daughter and son in law, Debbie and Bruce Proudfoot and grandchildren Jared and Brittany. Debbie's brother John, who has moved to Edmonton (and enjoying his new job), will be missed in the community by his many friends and business associates.

All good wishes are extended to Jack and Brenda Selby, who have moved to North Vancouver. They and their children Tracey and John resided in Squamish since the 1960s.

Ross and Gwen Rivett have returned home after spending a vacation in their former home province, Ontario. They visited many relatives in the Goderich and Clinton areas.

The annual canvass for funds for the Arthritis Society is the month of Sept. The Squamish Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will once again sponsor a door-to-door canvass in the area. Volunteers are still needed in the Dentville and downtown area and anyone interested in volunteering a few hours is asked to contact Donna Scott at 898-9897 or Kelly Shollert at 898-9470. They will also be glad to answer any questions regarding the Arthritis Society.

Chris and Carla Tinney and three sons, Shane, Morgan and Chad and Chris's sisters, Pat (Trish) Waldie and son Clifford from Castlegar and Shannon Carlson and children, Shaya and Jesse from Stewart, are visiting their mother, Peg Tinney and her Squamish family.

Little Ziyaad Badshah has a second birthday coming up this week.

When September rolls around, it's time to think about going back to school, registering for sports and getting back into the "meeting habit". Please check Dateline this week to see if any of the activities affect you or your children.

Thinking of dateline, please note this...Correction - Hope not too many people went to Alice Lake this past weekend for the OWL event. It is this weekend!! The evening bird identification and movie is Saturday night, Sept 5, the movie on Sept. 6 at dusk and on Monday, Sept. 7, the bald eagle will be released at 10 a.m.

The Squamish Open Doubles Tennis Tournament will start Friday, Sept. 4. Any combination of players, (male/female) is invited to participate. It's a single knockout with consolation round. The deadline for entries ($8. per team) is Thursday at 6 p.m. Please call Simi or Parm at 898-3169. Sponsors of the tourney are Overwatea Foods and Road Runner Sporting Goods.

Stork Story - EPPELE - Joshua is happy to announce the birth of his brother, Joseph Thomas, born on August 12 at 7:40 a.m. to Carol Ann and Thomas Eppele in the Squamish General Hospital, weighing 8 lbs. 8½ ozs. Celebrating the arrival of their new grandchild are Carl and Joyce Durban of Scarborough, Ontario and, Fritz and Hedy Eppele of Squamish. Special thanks are extended to Dr. Raymond, Dr. Stevenson and the nursing staff for their much appreciated care and support.

A group of dedicated actors, directors, prompters etc. are busy preparing for the evening(s) of one-act plays at the Brackendale Art Gallery on Sept. 18, 19 and 26 and 27. One of the plays to be presented by Howe Sound Drama Club, is "Patio" and stars Debbie Pietila and Dianne Newman. It is a hilarious comedy about two sisters in Texas. Naturally, the gals have "a right" Texas accent to go along with their roles!! Tickets are available at Mostly Books, Craft Connoisseur, and the Brackendale Art Gallery.

Birthday people this week are: Alana Chinapen, Patrick Sweeney, Mike Lloyd, Chet Misiurka, Brandon Franklin, Jame MacMillan, Clifford Finter, Dr. Laverne Kindree, Terry Lewis, Veronica Urbanczyk, Natalie Quinn, Christopher Harris, Katrin Klausner, Stephanie Halvorson, Colin McCarthy, Shari Bishop, Aaron Kilby, Craige Ross, Darren Williams, Kattie Heidenreich and Raelene Pino.

Good wishes also to: Michael Johannes, Maria Chinnapen, George Sayed, Renie Cockell, Nadine Dillabough, David Paull, Lloyd Ingraham, Colin McIntosh, Leona McKay, Clint Hunter, Lisa Marie Hedderson, Ninder Bir and Luke Cudmore.

A special first birthday wish to Alyson McCann, whose day to celebrate is tomorrow, Sept. 2.

The fund raising raffle being sponsored by Big Brothers/Big Sisters for a chance to win a 1987 Porsche 944S will have tickets available ($2. or three for $5.) for the draw, at not only Stedmans but also at Work Wear World.

Wedding anniversary wishes to: Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Mills, Cst. and Mrs. Marv Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Leedham, Mr. and Mrs. Will van den Born, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. David Laurier, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Barkhouse, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Theriault, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Halvorson, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Sellers, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Rick Katnich, Mr. and Mrs. Brian Clarke, Cst. and Mrs. Perry Penney, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. Tag Neighbor, Mr. and Mrs. Ian Walker and Mr. and Mrs. William Rose.

Last rites for pioneer resident

Scott Fraser MacDonald, a pioneer resident of Squamish, passed away quietly on August 14th. He was 91 years of age. Interment in Mount Chris Burnett officiating. Garibaldi Cemetery.

MacDonald was born in Nova Scotia and came to Squamish in the early years of the century. He worked in the woods on logging railways before going to work for the BCR, then known as the PGE.

In 1926 he married Mildred Schoonover, the daughter of another pioneer family.

MacDonald served overseas in the First World War and was a member of the Royal Canadian Legion, Squamish Branch 277.

He is survived by his loving wife, Mildred, four nieces and one nephew, and many relatives in Nova Scotia.

Funeral services were held in the Squamish Funeral Chapel on Wednes-

Local physiotherapist awarded

Newly graduated physiotherapist, Heidi Wippich, has been awarded the prestigious Canadian Physiotherapy Association Prize.

Each year, the Association awards a certificate of membership in the Association to the physiotherapy student in the graduating class of each school who has attained the highest aggregate mark in academic and clinical physiotherapy subjects for the entire program.

Wippich, a graduate of Howe Sound Secondary School and Capilano College in Squamish, earned her BSc. (PT) degree in Rehabilitation Medicine this year, graduating with a first class standing over three years.

Other awards include the Rehabilitation Medicine Award and the Heather Howard Memorial Scholarship.

Della Sidsworth honor grad at BCIT

Della Susanne Sidsworth, daughter of Wayne and Heather Sidsworth, graduated with honors from the British Columbia Institute of Technology in Broadcast Communication, Television Option.

Sidsworth, a graduate of Howe Sound Secondary School in 1985, was also a Squamish Princess that year. She is now working for a video post production company in Vancouver.

PUBLIC NOTICE

COMMERCIAL RIVER RAFTING

The Boating Restriction Regulations made pursuant to the Canada Shipping Act have been amended and now apply to all rivers in British Columbia.

These regulations state that no person shall operate a commercial river raft in British Columbia unless authorized by a permit issued by the Ministry of Environment and Parks. Operators and companies who do not possess a valid 1987 operating permit are required to secure the necessary permits from this Ministry by September 30, 1987.

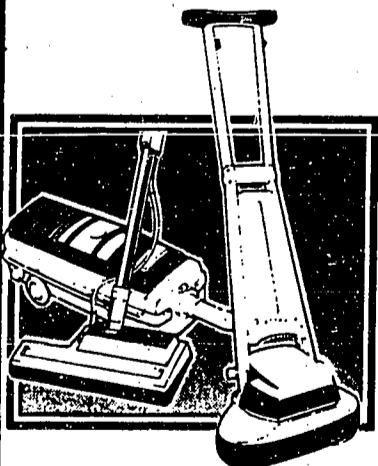

Amended River Rafting Standards relating to equipment requirements and the certification of guides and trip leaders are now in effect. Copies of these standards are being sent to all known operators.

All commercial river rafting operations in British Columbia are expected to be in full compliance with these standards immediately.

For information on how to comply with the legal requirements of this amended legislation, to acquire application forms for permits and crew certification, and for copies of the legislation and standards, please contact:

Pioneers lead the way in Legion tourney

They got their money's worth and more.

Despite the fact this weekend's annual Legion fastball tournament drew just seven competitors, three of which play on local grounds, the event was a marketable success. Financial is actually more the word for it as a top prize of $600 was on the line when the Pioneers of Vancouver and the Cliffside Blues squamed off in the final.

Good pickings in lieu of the numbers and the Pioneers made sure of a quick delivery as they stung the Blues 7-0 in five innings.

The Cliffside were limited to just four hits through the course of the game by winning pitcher Doug Roberts, two of which came in the last frame as the home side got as close as they ever would to breaking the shutout. So it happened to be that the game was mathematically over in the first inning when d/h Grant Mills smacked a two bagger over left fielder Tom Rivett to score Sandy Kerr from first.

That lead would be increased in the third as Carey Trembley, whose 416 average earned him the honours as top batter of the tournament, lofted a Jim Raymond offering over the right field fence for a two run shot enroute to a three point Vancouver frame.

Raymond later relinquished his spot on the mound to Rivett in the fifth after the game was no longer in doubt and a Trembley lead off triple had paved the way for another three run inning.

Despite the loss the Blues took home a purse of $400 and helped avenge their loss to the Highlander Hotel in the league playoffs as the former side doubled their adversaries 6-3 to advance to the finals. Earlier the Blues dropped their first game of the weekend, a close 3-1 decision to the Pioneers in the winner's side semis.

Indeed the Pioneers had to work for their berth in the championship round having clipped the Highlander 2-1 in the opener and then needing six runs in the ninth to beat Boot Pub 9-4.

For their fine showing the Highlander took home a third place prize of $200 though it was the Pioneers that dominated the silverware.

Besides Trembley's batting title, Wayne King, also of the winning team, took the top pitcher award having struck out 14 batters in 17 innings pitched. The Pioneers were also selected by the umpires as the most sportsmanlike team.

The only one to break the ice was Jim Raymond who was chosen as the most valuable player.

PET Time*Dear Cousin Cat:

Am I being over-protective in not allowing my pet to roam?

Answer:

Not at all. Roaming not only sets your pet up as a target for being hit by traffic but also increases his chances of picking up parasites from garbage.
