Council legalizes secondary suites

By Brigitte Petersen The Chief

Squamish council passed two motions Nov. 3 which set the wheels in motion for a plan to legalize secondary suites in single-family houses.

Sandra Bauer wants suites to be safe

After much debate, council adopted a zoning amendment bylaw designed to set standards for accessory suites. Mayor Corinne Lonsdale and councillors Paul Lalli and Ted Craddock voted against the motion.

Members also passed a motion to launch a secondary suite registration program starting Jan. 2.

Lalli, who has been opposed to the bylaw since t was introduced, urged other council members not to apport it. He said the bylaw will cause financial ardship for homeowners and for suite dwellers.

"There are a number of faults in the bylaw," said alli. "I don't believe it's the right time to implement Craddock said he is concerned about how the bylaw vill be enforced.

Grant McRadu, district administrator, said enforcenent will be an "onerous task" and more staff may iced to be hired. Joe Barry, district clerk, said he estinates there are about 800 secondary suites in iquamish.

Coun. Sandra Bauer said the district must address he illegal suite issue. She said the main intent is to egalize suites and make them safe places to live.

We cannot have unsafe housing," said Bauer. The bylaw defines a secondary suite as, "a residenial use accessory to a single-family dwelling, limited ogne dwelling unit contained within the same buildng as the single-family dwelling."

Secondary suites are allowed if there is only one uite per property, the single-family house is occuied by the owner, and the dwelling is serviced by the listrict's water and sewer system. Suites are limited p a certain size, off-street parking must be made vailable for residents of suites, and the property hust not include a bed and breakfast. Homeowners vill also be required to bring the suites up to the stanards outlined in the B.C. Building Code.

Lonsdale recommended council withdraw the wher-occupancy requirement for now and consider dding it in three months to allow owners more time comply, but other councillors did not agree.

Under the registration program, homeowners who ave secondary suites in single-family houses will ave until Aug. 1, 1999 to voluntarily register the uites at Municipal Hall and cut registration costs.

Homeowners will be assessed double municipal tility charges for the property and will be required to comply with a number of technical requirements.

Council voted to reduce a proposed annual $110 usiness licence fee to $55 annually. Homeowners ill be required to pay a one-time registration fee of 220. This charge includes the cost for an inspection. Those who register during the voluntary registration eriod and owners of new houses will only be equired to pay $55. The cost of processing registraon applications and inspecting suites is estimated to -wost the district about $180 for each suite. Council lans to review the bylaw in six months to see how it working.

Interfor chipping operation exceeds company expectations

"We're in survival mode right now."

By Brigitte Petersen The Chief

The whole log chipping operation started Oct. 26 at the reopened International Forest Products' Squamish sawmill is more successful than the company had planned.

Fred Lowenberger, Interfor's vice-president of forestry and land use, said while only 13 workers were originally called of 21 employees ended up work- ... ing, including full- and part-time workers. Lowenberger said the operation will be run on two shifts this week, translating to at least 26 full-time workers.

"It looks like it's doing well," he said.

Lowenberger said in the first five days of operation, a total of 1,120 volume metric units of chips were produced using 2,489 cubic metres of logs. He said the crew is now trying to produce chips using more than 3,000 cubic metres of timber. The company has secured a customer for this month and is working on getting a customer for December.

"We're in survival mode right now." He said the company does not yet have a confirmed long-term plan for the sawmill and various believe the mill will produce the same product. Hirakaku beams for the Japanese market, in the future.

This point was also made clear to about 100 Interfor sawmill and logging division employees who attended a meeting Nov. 2 at the Best Western Sea to Sky Hotel.

Those leading the two-hour meeting included, Lowenberger, provincial job protection commissioner Eric Van Soren, the Minister back in for the first week, a total — Fred Lowenberger of Forests' parliamentary secretary Glenn Robertson, Mayor Corinne Lonsdale, IWA representatives Harry Bains and Darrell Wong, mill manager Jim Belsheim, sawmill working group member Bill Manson and Squamish Forest District manager Paul Kuster.

After the meeting, Lonsdale said many employees left the meeting, "knowing the situation is grave."

Ken Bayers, a first aid attendant with Interfor's logging division, was at the meeting and he asked Lowenberger whether or not the sawmill would ever produce Hirakaku beams again.

Bayers said hearing Lowenberger say it would not be the same mill it was before hit home for a lot of employees.

"That's a really big statement," he said. "It upset a lot of people."

Half of the 100 laid-off sawmill workers at Weldwood have returned to work and the remaining 50 may be back on the job soon. One day shift, each on the head rigger and planer, was back to work Monday, leaving two night shifts in the ranks of the unemployed.

"Sales have picked up a bit. We are cautiously optimistic," said mill manager Tony Kerr.

"We're hoping everyone will be back to work within a couple of weeks."

A municipal election is only weeks away. Running for mayor are Egon Tobus and Corinne Lonsdale. Seeking terms as councillor are Ron Barr, Tom Bruusgaard, Don Ross, Norm Verner, Tim Agnew, Ted Craddock, Lonnie Ewacha, Meg Fellowes, Debra McBride and Terrill Patterson.

KAREN MILSTEIN/THE CHIEF A tow truck driver helps at the scene of a two-vehicle accident which involved an offduty Squamish RCMP officer. The accident took place Nov. 3 just after noon at the Garibaldi Way and Hwy. 99 intersection. The officer was travelling westbound on Garibaldi Way in his personal vehicle when a northbound pick up truck went through a red light and struck the other vehicle on its passenger side. No one was seriously injured. The driver of the truck, a 37year-old Squamish man, was charged with disobeying a red light and was fined $144.

Parents want Mamquam overpass caged

Nov. 17 meeting planned to discuss issue further

By Brigitte Petersen The Chief

Parents of children who attend Mamquam Elementary School are concerned about children's safety when they cross the pedestrian overpass on Hwy. 99 and they want somebody to take action.

Linda Wright and Wanda Groetelaars, members of the Mamquam Elementary parent advisory council, appeared as a delegation in front of Squamish council Nov. 3 to request council consider funding the installation of a protective cage on the overpass and signs informing people to dismount from their bicycles when using the crossing.

"It is imperative that this be done immediately," said Wright.

She said there are a number of safety issues regarding the overpass. Children often throw objects onto vehicles below, several children have been injured during mishaps, and some have been threatened by bullies. Wright said she is worried even more serious accidents will happen.

Between 100 and 160 children use the overpass twice on a daily basis to access the school. There are also many other users including high school students and the general public.

Wright said it is council's responsibility to ensure the public is safe. She said when this issue has come up in the past, no government agency stepped in to take responsibility. Council passed a motion to refer the issue to the district's public works department and a report will be brought back to council. Council members are also planning to meet with Howe Sound School District officials and Ministry of Transportation and Highways (MoTH) representatives during a committee of the whole meeting Nov. 17 to discuss the issue.

Mayor Corinne Lonsdale said the overpass is owned by MoTH.

Lonsdale said she is concerned about children's safety, but the responsibility does not fall solely on the district.

Coun. Sandra Bauer said someone needs to take

"I just can't see continuing to send this around in circles," she said.

After the meeting, Mamquam principal Mike

Edwards said the overpass is monitored by a playground supervisor 15 minutes before and after school. But he said he is concerned about children during after school hours. He said many children have had bicycle accidents on the overpass.

"It's just a matter of time before —Mike Edwards someone is hurt," said Edwards. "It strikes us as common sense that (the overpass) should have protection.

The question now is, who should pay for it?" Nancy Edwards, the school board's secretary-treasurer, said the board has not looked at this issue recently. She said school district representatives plan to attend the Nov. 17 meeting.

Future of Squamish harbor uncertain as federal government backs out

By KAREN MILSTEIN

The Chief

The Squamish harbor is in limbo as government officials try to determine who should run it.

The federal government recently announced, as of Dec. 31 the Squamish harbor will no longer fall under its jurisdiction.

In 1995, Transportation Canada announced all public harbors in Canada would no longer fall under federal jurisdiction.

"The majority of public harbors have been costing them money. So they have decided to drop out," said harbor master Tom Bruusgaard.

The federal government's responsibility for the harbor

includes collecting docking fees, paying the harbor master's salary and dredging to allow for boats to pass safely.

The provincial government owns the sea beds. Beginning in the new year, the harbor becomes the provincial government's responsibility. But there are many questions about what will happen then.

To allow for more discussion, Squamish council passed a motion Nov. 3 to harbor is finalized.

District administrator Grant McRadu said district officials have many questions and need to sit down with representatives from the federal and provincial government.

"The question

now is,

who should pay for it?"

"At the time of deproclamation, no money will be charged and therefore there will be no revenues," said McRadu.

"Will the provincial government charge? Do they need to develop legislation? Will they take responsibility for dredging?"

> The district is also investigating attaining authority for the harbor, which means revenue would stay in the district. Some communities, such as Powell River, have developed a local commission.

There are a number of issues which need to be examined. These include dredging, insurance, what authority would be needed and what legislation is necessary to collect

"We are exploring all potentials."

"We need to look at what the benefits and responsibilities are. We are exploring all potentials," said McRadu.

According to Bruusgaard, revenues from Squamish harbor are roughly $200,000 a year and it is a profitable port. Between 200-250 deep sea ships dock request a time extension from Transport Canada before deproclamation of the here per year and ten per cent of the funds collected come from tug boats and barges.

increased need expected for Christmas Care hampers

By Karen Milstein The Chief

Most people look forward to the bustle and warmth of the Christmas season. However, this year, maybe more than others, many families in Squamish will be going without.

Pastor Derwyn Costinak is one of the community members who volunteers his time to organize Community Christmas Care hampers for those in need. The hampers of food and toys are prepared through the Squamish Ministerial Association. Last year, 267 hampers were distributed.

"It's difficult to say, but we expect the need to be greater this year, because of the economic down-turn of the town," said Costinak.

Community Christmas Care is relying on the generosity of the community to help those who are in need. Businesses are encouraged to display donation boxes for non-perishable food items and toys, and should contact Community Christmas Care to arrange for pickup. When donating toys, remember items are needed for teens.

"It's always difficult to find toys for older children and teens. We don't need stuffed animals."

Community Christmas Care also relies on the efforts of many community groups. Activities such as the B.C Coalition of Motorcyclists Toy Run, make a big difference.

Last year, local organizations, businesses and individuals raised a combined amount of $30,000 for the hampers.

Costinak said money is needed to round out the hampers and purchase items which were not donated.

He is concerned this year there will be an increased hamper need and decreased resources.

"There will be a challenge. Many people who likely supported Community Christmas Care in previous years might need to be supported by Christmas Community Care. We hope people who hadn't taken part in previous years will have a greater awareness of the need in the community and contribute."

To make item donations look for boxes in local retailers. Financial donations can be made at the Squamish Credit Union or sent to Community Christmas Care, Box 375, Squamish, V0N 3G0. To find out more about the project call 892-3680.

If in need of receiving a hamper, applications are available at: St. Josephs's Catholic Church, Squamish Baptist Church, St. John's Anglican Church, Squamish United Church, Valleycliffe Christian Fellowship, Squamish Pentecostal Church, The Miniflee Market, and The Ministry of Social Services Office.

The deadline for application is Dec. 10.

At around 12:15 p.m. on Nov. 3, police responded to a two-vehicle accident at the Garibaldi Way and Hwy. 99 intersection. An off-duty Squamish RCMP officer was travelling westbound on Garibaldi Way in his personal vehicle when a northbound commercial 1986 Ford pick up truck went through a red light and struck the other vehicle on its passenger side. The truck flipped and rolled onto its roof. No one was seriously injured. The male RCMP member sustained whiplash injuries. Nearby vehicles were sprayed with paint which was stored in containers in the back of the truck. The driver of the truck, a 37year-old Squamish man, was charged with disobeying a red light and was fined $144.

Squamish resident Dietrich Wilhelm Henschel, 70, is in stable condition and is recovering in the intensive care unit at Vancouver General Hospital after an accident

Oct. 31 which left him with several broken bones and other injuries. Henschel was struck by a vehicle while crossing on foot north of the intersection at Hwy. 99 and Garibaldi Way just before midnight on Halloween. The driver of the vehicle, a 56-year-old woman, had been proceeding through the intersection on a green light. The driver had not been drinking and driving, and no charges have been laid against

On Oct. 31, police responded to a vehicle on fire at around 4 a.m. just south of Lions Bay on Hwy. 99. When officers arrived on the scene, they found a 1998 Dodge Dakota pick up truck completely engulfed in flames. After running a check on the vehicle, police discovered it had been stolen from Maple Ridge. Police are investigating the incident.

Police recovered a vehicle last week which had been reported stolen from the parking lot in front of Save-On-Foods on Oct. 23. The vehicle, a black, two-door 1991 BMW, was found at the bottom of an embankment about five kilometres up Ring Creek Road. Police are continuing their investigation.

An electronic sign informing motorists about closure times on Hwy. 99 due to rock slope stabilization work was vandalized on Oct. 30 and Nov. 2. The sign was damaged after someone threw rocks at it.

Pemberton man arrested following huge drug seizure

AL PRICE The Chief

A 51-year-old Pemberton man was among 12 people arrested and charged last week following a massive cizure of hashish from a fishng boat at Fanny Bay on Vancouver Island. The man's name was not released, howver all 12 were scheduled to ippear in court Friday in Nanaimo.

Police seized 12 tonnes of ash from the 18-metre fishng vessel Ansare II when it locked at Fanny Bay. They elieve the drugs were ffloaded from a larger vessel, ne Blue Dawn, several hunred nautical miles at sea. The lue Dawn was being escorted back to Vancouver Friday by a Canadian Navy destroyer, and it is anticipated more drugs will be found on the vessel once it is searched in Vancouver.

The Blue Dawn is registered to Sanford William Hatley, the brother of one of the accused. His address is listed as a Whistler postal box, however police said he may not be currently living in the Whistler area. Sanford Hatley has not been charged.

12-tonne seizure were Joel Hatley, Kurt Guilbride, Richard Farrington, Kenneth Thomson, Mirella D'Angelo, Nelsen, Daniel Robert Berrigan, Ronald Thomson, Kenneth Abt, Douglas

Davidson, Steve Oczkowski, and Wolfgang Fitznar. All have been charged with conspiracy to import hashish, and further charges are anticipat-

Police said the seizure of the two vessels came after a 16month coordinated surveillance operation by the RCMP, the Department of National Defense, Canada and U.S. Customs, U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration, the Internal Revenue Service and Coast Guard Investigative Service.

The surveillance included seven long-range planes including five from CFB Comox and two brought in from Nova Scotia.

Diabetes is a silent killer

By MARY BILLY Contributed to The Chief

Diabetes is a serious disease which can affect anyone and have serious complications with potentially fatal consequences. It is often referred to as the "silent killer" because many people don't recognize the symptoms.

One in 20 Canadians has diabetes, many of them children. Some of the symptoms are: frequent urination, unusual thirst, unexplained weight changes, blurred vision, fatigue, slow healing of cuts and sores, or skin infections.

What often isn't known or is soft-pedaled are the consequences of not taking diabetes seriously. They are: adult blindness, nerve damage, amputations, kidney, heart and stroke disease. The key to delaying, or preventing these complications is good management and early detection.

Most people believe that insulin is a cure. It is not. It's simply a control, a way of managing a very serious disease.

Diabetes is not caused from eating too much sugar. It is a lifelong condition in which your body cannot properly use and store the fuel you take in from the foods you eat. There are three types: Type 1 occurs when the pancreas no longer produces insulin or produces very little. Insulin is needed to help the body convert food into energy. About 10 per cent of people with diabetes have Type 1.

The remaining 90 per cent have Type 2, (sometimes referred to as "mid-life onset diabetes) which occurs when the pancreas does not produce enough insulin or when the body cannot use the insulin produced. A third type, gestational diabetes, is a temporary condition which occurs during pregnancy.

In a recent survey, just half the people polled believed that diabetes only poses a serious risk and is controlled by insulin.

"The reality is quite different," says Kate McDonald, national executive of the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation, "Diabetes and its complications kill more people each year than breast cancer, AIDS, and lupus combined."

Regular checkups with your family doctor are the best way to find out if you have anything to worry about. A simple fingerpoke blood test can tell you if your blood sugar levels are within the "safe" range.

There is also a support group in Squamish which meets every third Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at The Tantalus Seniors Centre at 1471 Pemberton Avenue. Speakers are often invited such as dietitians, physiotherapists and others with special advice on the management of this illness. Non-diabetics are welcome to Give a gift which gives three ways

By Karen Milstein The Chief

By purchasing a Golf Privilege Club membership, golfers are entitled to reduced and free green fees across B.C. Entering its seventh year, the membership is a fund-raiser for the B.C. Lung Association.

Muff Hackett, the Squamish area director for the B.C. Lung Association, said last year $269,000 was raised through the golf membership program.

"It is our fourth best fund-raiser," said Hackett.

The association relies on donations and fund-raisers to pay for medical research, public health education and programs on air quality issues.

There are 172 courses across B.C. which are participating in the Golf Privilege Club membership fund-raiser. These include Furry Creek Golf and Country Club, Squamish Valley Golf & Country Club, Big Sky Golf and Country Club, Chateau Whistler Golf Club, Whistler Golf Club and Pemberton Valley Golf and Country Club.

"We are truly grateful for the support of these local businesses," said Hackett.

Memberships, which cost $30 also include a 10 per cent discount off golf travel packages and automatic entry into a draw for $1,460 worth of tickets to the 1999 PGA Greater Vancouver Open Air Canada Championships.

The membership makes a great gift because it gives in three ways, golfers save money, they enjoy a healthy sport and they are supporting a good

Hackett said it is an ideal gift for Sea to Sky corridor residents because of the number of courses available in the area.

Strokes have not slowed singer down

By KAREN MILSTEIN The Chief

Singer-songwriter Dave Baker, a former Squamish resident, has had a turbulent year. On Jan. 30, the day he received copies of his new CD, he suffered a mini-stroke. Everything isn't quite back to normal though. Baker is adjusting to increased mood swings and his singing voice has been affected. He has lost three octaves, and is now a bass instead of a baritone.

"It takes about 30 years to develop a voice, and in one flash it is gone."

Baker is about to start vocal rehabilitation therapy and is facing the challenge with a positive attitude.

Baker will be performing songs from his new CD, Sounds and Songs of Canadian Steam. The CD has 14 railway songs which are a culmination of his music career. Some of the songs on

Lack of trust means lack of respect

nuilding trust. That was the issue which came up at the end of the Nov. 3 council meeting after Coun. Paul Lalli said Municipal Hall needs to cut the red tape. Lalli said a way to decrease the bureaucracy would be to reestablish standing committees to make recommendations to council about economic development, public works and planning issues and to do away with the committee of the whole system which council currently follows. Every other Tuesday, between regular meetings, council members and district staff meet for public sessions called committee of the whole meetings which usually run as long as six hours, before entering in-camera meetings which are closed to the public. During committee of the whole meetings, council, staff and members of the public discuss issues in detail before they go to council for voting.

Last Tuesday, Lalli said he would like to do away with this committee. He said, in his opinion, this system is not working and it lacks focus. Lalli said standing committees, made up of district staff and a representative from council, would be much more efficient.

Lalli's motion to look at setting up standing committees was not given a warm welcome by other council members.

Trust is one of those dous slap in the face" essentials which make any relationship work well, including workplace relationships. Once that trust is broken, it is very difficult to re-establish.

Coun. Dave Young called it a "tremenfor staff. Coun. Sandra Bauer said she sees a great potential for "political abuse" through standing committees because not all council members would be present to vote on issues. Mayor Corinne Lonsdale said the previous council set up the committee of the whole structure because standing committees had become a "nightmare."

Lalli should be careful what he wishes for. Now that other council members have shown they feel Lalli's attempt at establishing standing committees may be a way to leave some politicians out of the loop, there may be even more debate and more division at the table.

District administrator Grant McRadu is truly a breath of fresh air, as far as bureaucrats go. Since he began overseeing all the departments at Municipal Hall earlier this year, he has proven to be a very candid individual who is unwilling to tow the line for the sake of the status quo. During the council meeting, McRadu said major changes at Municipal Hall are needed to make the town run more efficiently and these changes can only take place if there is "trust around the table." McRadu said he does not believe there is trust between council members and staff and that needs to change if the District of Squamish wishes to be more customer friendly. This lack of trust is, in the administrator's opinion, the underlying problem at Municipal Hall.

Council members are now planning to go on a retreat to try to build that trust. No details have yet been finalized on where and when the retreat will be held and whether or not municipal staff will attend.

It will be interesting to see what comes out of this planned retreat, and if trust can be built. Trust is one of those essentials which make any relationship work well, including workplace relationships. Once that trust is broken, it is very difficult to re-establish.

But is it healthy to have total trust between politicians? What would that do to debate over important issues? How well would we be governed if all of council voted one way or the other on everything which comes before them?

What we are really talking about here is respect. Respect for differing opinions and consideration of varying viewpoints. Let's hope council members can develop this respect for each other and municipal staff without compromising their public trust.

Remembering how the Canadian Scottish Regiment helped liberate Wagonbergen

As told to Rosann McCormack, Squamish resident and family friend, by Donald McRae.

It was dark when we came upon Wagonbergen. Our Lartillery was behind us, shelling our advancement. Many times the shells were landing directly in front of our platoon, leaving us with the actual reality that we were under attack by our own men.

I saw in the darkness a shape of a building. My buddies and I ran to the building for safety. When I got to the barn the door was locked. I maneuvered towards another 'barn' shape a little way up the road.

Just as I neared the barn, a German soldier ran out from the houses across the road towards us. He flung back his right arm and threw a grenade at our position. As he turned to run back for cover, one of us shot him. He fell dead on the road.

Before we could get in the barn for cover, another German came down the road on a bicycle. I yelled 'halt!' to him. When he continued going, I shot him and he fell near the other dead German soldier.

My buddies and I shot at another German soldier walking down the road and he disappeared in the darkness. We got inside the barn next to Mrs. Glass's house. I had a position looking north out of a window and east out of another window. Cox and Williams were next to me at windows facing Mrs. Glass's house.

Cox said to me, 'Watch it Mac!' I looked up and there was a German walking up to my win-The Chief dow. He looked in and I shot him with my bren. We chased four others off with gunfire. I traded positions with Cox and gave him my bren gun. He gave me his rifle. I went into the other room by a window and saw a German coming around the side of Mrs. Glass's house by a tree. I shot him.

The Germans seemed to have us surrounded, yet they were unorganized. A bazooka attack was directed at us from up the road. The barns were the obvious targets of the Germans.

On April 23, A-company, the Canadian Scottish Regiment, finally had secured the village. D-company had south of the village secured. — Donald McRae

A bazooka shot hit our barn, starting a fire. Flying shrapnel caused a head wound on myself. We evacuated from the burning barn, skirting around the side next to Mrs. Glass's house.

We secured another farm building and set up one room to care for our wounded. About an hour later, we observed nine German soldiers running past the back of Mrs. Glass's house and heading out of town.

I was watching out of an east window and saw an old Dutch man crossing over the road to our position. He had a German soldier in tow. When they neared the barn with the locked door, I lost sight of them.

My buddy and I went outside and headed towards the barn searching for the Dutch man and the soldier. We searched behind the barn and were returning to our unit when the German soldier stood up from behind a bale of hay and raised his hands over his head.

We captured him and secured him in the building we had taket over. We kept him under guard with our wounded. I watched five German soldiers running away out of town. We didn't fire on them, they were like shadow in the dark, difficult to keep in sight.

Ten German soldiers were observed heading out of town in the direction of the church. On April 23, A-company, the Canadian Scottish Regiment, finally had secured the village. D-company had south of the vi lage secured.

We had marched 80 miles to liberate Wagonbergen. Our mission was successful.

Our platoons received food and ammunition, which we needed. The Canadian troops were credited with the liberation of Wagonbergen. The people of Holland recognized this immediate ately. The Canadian government took many years before acknowledge edging our war effort.

This version of the liberation of Wagonbergen was dictated by Donald McRae, of the Canadian Scottish Regiment Victoria, B.C., during his battle with a terminal disease. Donald McRae was a brave soldier in any battle.

Received by The Chief for publication: Carol Lee, executive assistant, B.C. Rail

I think it's appalling B.C. Rail ever considered selling the right of way space for an ugly sign to the Jim Pattison Group for Volkswagen and Kal Tire, (Kal Tire is not represented in the Sea to Sky corridor).

I'm speaking of the sign in Britannia Beach. I see by the Squamish Chief the one in Function Junction got exactly what it deserved and the one in Furry Creek got done in before it started. Thank God for some intelligent people. B.C. Rail belongs to the people, or so we believe, but seldom are we ever considered in decisions, except after raising real hell such as the case of Seaview Walk in West Vancouver. This kind of thing has to stop. Anything for money, I suppose.

This is one of the most beautiful areas in B.C. to drive, void of large signs and skyscrapers, so let's keep it that way. Please don't get greedy and ruin it for the people.

I notice Jim Pattison didn't put his name to it. You decision-makers at B.C. Rail and Pattison's group should be ashamed of considering signs like this and ruining the view of our beautiful Sea to Sky Country.

Letters

Protesters the first line of defence

Editor,

"First they came after the Jews, and I was not a Jew, so I did not object,"

This is the first line of a poem written by Protestant churchman Martin Niemoeller. He was briefly arrested in 1937 and again 1938 for speaking out against the Nazi regime. For anyone who has read this powerful poem, hardly a Remembrance Day goes by without reflecting on its historical importance. It was on my mind when I wrote a letter to this paper one year ago condemning the Liberal government for inviting Hitler-like dictators to Canada ("Governments should represent people rather than trans-national corporations." The Chief, Nov. 11, 1998)

Two weeks ago, the spirit of this poem was evident in a moving letter written by L.C. Minchin, It encapsulated the sordid depths to which this Liberal government has been willing to go to appease mass murderers in the name of free trade. People who lost loved ones in the last war used to be able to console themselves with the thought that those lives were laid down for our freedoms. I wonder what they think now.

After Minchin's emotional letter, I found it very disturbing to read the pathetic musings of Syd Pudney, who was unable to grasp all of the finer, and most of the obvious points made by Minchin. Allow me to address some of the lack of critical thought and/or research in some of Pudney's points;

He states that the police acted "quite correctly" by pepper spraying an "undisciplined crowd." Was he referring to the students, who were quietly and peacefully sitting down on the road, who were pepper sprayed (along with the CBC cameraman) while in the process of getting up, only nine seconds after being told to leave by the RCMP Sergeant?

He states, "the PM does not admire the president of Indonesia any more than any other Canadian does." Really. Wasn't it this government that reversed Canada's long standing policy of refusing to allow trade with countries that violated human rights? He talks about "mob hysteria, acting in direct disobedience to police instructions." I'm just wondering, by what authority can police issue instructions to a pro-APEC student to take down his paper signs which say nothing more than "Free speech" and "Democracy"?

Pudney ironically ends his letter by comparing rights to responsibility and duty. I agree with him on this point, albeit in a different context. The PM has a right to use his elected majority to govern his term. He has no right to deserve respect, as Pudney claims. Respect must be earned, and it cannot be earned by abrogating his responsibility and duty to defend the Charter of Rights. In fact, the PM deserves nothing but contempt for denying Canadians of their right to free speech so as to ensure an embarrassment free "comfort zone" (above and beyond the previously agreed "security zone") afforded to Mr. Suharto and others of his ilk.

Most people understand Canadians went to war to preserve freedom of speech and freedom of assembly and association. Sadly, Pudney and all too many others don't understand civil disobedience played a large part in gaining most of the benefits that we all take for granted today. The right to vote, union recognition, elimination of child labor, health and safety standards, unemployment insurance, pensions, paid holidays, medicare, etc., all came about through civil protest and labor strikes which were unlawful at the time. Should we give up any of these without a fight?

My parents' generation fought in the war, and my children's generation protested the encroachment of our rights and freedoms. Meanwhile, most of the baby boom generation is fiddling with their RRSPs, mutual funds and hockey pools while their freedoms burn.

I for one am grateful to the student protesters. To me they are the first line of defence. Without them we would soon live the last line of Martin Neimoeller's poem: "And when they came for me, there was no one left to object."

Let us not forget the price paid by the Merchant Navy

Editor,

Thank you to Mr. Minchin re: his letter Oct. 27 titled: "Remember the price of liberty" and while the good citizens of Squamish heed that call on Nov. 11, let us not forget the price paid by the Merchant Navy in a war that could not have been won without them.

The death rate for merchant seamen was one in eight, for the RCAF one in 16, for the Canadian Army one in 32, for the RCN one in 47.

Not for them a military uniform, and when they lost a ship they were back at sea again as soon as they were fit. A little known fact is that when their ship was sunk, their wages were stopped, unlike their fellow naval seamen.

The government of the day conveniently forgot about them at war's end.

No university education, housing grants or cheap loans to start a business. Go back to sea in peace time, it's your job they said.

All well and good, but the Canadian Merchant Navy deteriorated rapidly as the remainder of the Park Steamship fleet was sold off and the crews were beached with no jobs in sight as Canada relied upon foreign tonnage.

In 1992, the merchant seamen of the Second World War were finally given equal status of "veterans" after an uphill battle with the service associations, but nothing to reimburse them for the benefits that were denied them.

Three merchant seamen in their 70s recently held a hunger strike on Parliament Hill to shame the present government into action. Minister Fred Mifflin promised to attend to their wants, but I am hoping they do not have to resume their hunger strike on Remembrance Day.

Opinion/Letters

Honor the courage, determination and spirit

ach Nov. 11 it is traditional that we pause for a moment to reflect on the World Wars and to give thanks and silent prayer to those men and women who unselfishly sacrificed and served this country.

This year is a particularly historic occasion, for it is the 80th anniversary of the signing of the armistice that silenced the guns of the First World War.

Canada sent 650,000 young men and women to the killing fields of Europe. More than one in 10, or 68,000 never returned home to family and loved ones. The immensity of this loss is as staggering today as it was 80 years ago. And it is important to never let this chapter of history and of the indomitable spirit of these brave Canadians to go unobserved.

Most of us today have largely known only peace in our time and find it hard to comprehend the ignominious nature of trench warfare and the grief and horror experienced by those who served to preserve what we enjoy today

Most forget the virtual annihilation of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment in a mere 30 minutes fighting at Beaumont Hamel, or the 80 per cent fatality rate incurred by Canadian regiments during 10 arduous days of fighting at Passchendale.

These figures can sometimes be lost in the freedoms and liberties enjoyed today, but it is worthwhile to pause and honor the courage, determination and spirit of the Canadian soul that was tested in Ypres, Vimy Ridge and Arniens.

On Nov. 3, 1998 in the House of Commons we had the distinct honor of the presence of 17 of Canada's First World War veterans. Ranging from age 98 to 105, these veterans served to remind us of courage, loss and the price of war. Frederick Connnett, a 101-yearold veteran was one of the representatives and he hails from my riding of West Vancouver-Sunshine Coast.

It was a moving occasion, particularly having a chance to speak with them. They came to Ottawa from across Canada, perhaps a bit frail and shaky, but as courageous, dignified and respected as they were 80 years ago on

Reynolds the battlefield. More than

REYNOLDS WRAP

100,000 of Canada's young never grew old. They lie in foreign graves from the battles during the First and Second World Wars and the Korean War. We honor their greatest sacrifice on Nov. 11 and we grieve for their loss, for that of their families and we will never forget.

Children's safety being compromised on Mamquam overpass

Editor,

Re: The pedestrian overpass on Hwy. 99 requires a cage to prevent accident and injury to our children and motorists. Children throw objects at the oncoming traffic, and threaten to throw the younger children over. Children have climbed over the three-foot rail and hung "for fun." Nobody claims responsibility. Council has informed me that this is a political issue. Years of passing the buck has to stop.

I think I know what it is I want to do in life. I have decided to become a politician's wife. Please don't be upset, it is a good job really. It has great pay and benefits.

All I really need to do is smile a lot, and get my picture taken. I do have to swear an oath, kind of like marriage, but nobody really listens, and we all kinda fudge on that one.

On days when my husband comes home from a long day of politicking and there is no supper on the table for him, I'll simply remind him of the budget restraints. Then later when he looks for a clean shirt and the laundry hasn't been done, I'll simply tell him that position has been tendered out. Later when he requires entertainment in the bedroom, I will abruptly inform him that he did not put that on the agenda and therefore it is not even up for discussion.

But what about the children? Oh yeah. Surely they are not my department. Well, they are technically not 100 per cent mine, so surely he can take some blame, can't he? I guess all the promises and arguments only add up to scars when it comes to our children.

Wait — I've changed my mind, I'll become a writer. Then at least I can be honest, have passion for my life and my community and I will always do what is right in the name of my children. And truly, uphold the promise I made to God to love and protect them until their flight into adulthood. If one looks up politics in the Oxford dictionary, one finds the word "sagacious." This word means: showing insight or good judgment. Hmmm, how ironic.

Politicians have great names for things. Day of the Child, Year of the Child, International Year of the Child, yet still our children's safety in this example of going to and from school every day is being compromised in the name of politics. What are we really teaching our children? Do we need to wait for a law suit or death?

I feel like this is the Wizard of Oz, I am Dorothy, and I have to find a politician with, (you guessed it) a heart, a brain, and MLA Ted Nebbeling will be the guest speaker during Remembrance Day services at 10:55 a.m. Wednesday at the Brennan Park Leisure Centre. Members of the Squamish Ministerial Association will also take part, including Rev. John Stephens, Rev. Derwyn Costinak, Rev. John Crozier and Rev. Victor Peters.

HSPAA and Rotary join forces to purchase a heart monitor for Squamish General Hospital

The Howe Sound Performing Arts Association and the Squamish Rotary Club are holding a fund raiser to help purchase a heart monitor for Squamish General Hospital. The cost of the monitor is approximately $10,000.

On Friday, Nov. 20, the doors open at the new Totem Hall and the silent auction and lively music to the six-piece Celtic band Blackthorn gets under way at 7:30 p.m. During the evening, a live auction will take place and some unique items will be up for bidding. Tickets at $50 each are available at Garibaldi Graphics, Greg Gardner GM, Race and Company and Squamish Valley Golf and Country Club.

Remembering D-Day

Saskatchewan farm boy remains in the memory of a young English girl

By Margaret Fernandez-Williams Contributed to The Chief

s we remember once again the fallen of two world wars, I recall as a small girl growing Lup in England, the weeks leading up to the D-Day invasion.

Amongst the hundreds of U.S. servicemen filling our small town, I got my first impression of Canada from a young airman my father had befriended. Little did I know then that I would one day make his wonderful country my home.

Pilot Officer Paddy McLaughlin was from Saskatchewan. That was all he said to me when I curiously asked him why he was in a different uniform from the Americans.

Like many families in England in those days, servicemen from overseas were made welcome to our homes. He was an extremely private person, only 19, and I was used to chatting with the Americans on the way to and from school when they would hand out chocolate bars and chewing gum quite freely to us.

But somehow I liked Paddy and thought how quiet and "classy" he was compared to the raucous Americans. Then suddenly one day I noticed most of the men had left and the town grew kind of silent again.

My father explained they were preparing for the invasion.

This took place on June 6, 1944, and we neither saw nor heard from Paddy again. My parent's letters were returned marked "missing in action."

This event was forcibly brought to mind many years later when visiting England.

Having a few days to spare, I decided, on impulse, to spend Christmas in Paris. So on a cold winter morning I checked out of my hotel in London, purchased a return ticket for the crosschannel ferry in Victoria Station, picked up a couple of magazines, and boarded the train.

Shortly we reached Dover. Braving the elements, I went up on deck. I found myself remembering the D-Day invasion.

Following in its wake as the strong waves lifted and tossed the boat about, I tried to visualize what those men must have felt on that June day so long ago. Many of them were just young boys or perhaps professional soldiers, fathers and husbands. Perhaps many were seasick, others frightened or claustrophobic in those small sea vessels.

As the white cliffs of Dover receded in the background, I thought of Vera Lynn and her songs of inspiration to the allied troops. Were those soldiers perhaps wishing to sing in order to relieve the tension they must have felt? But there had to be an element of surprise in this invasion. They could not break the mandatory silence.

Paddy

then...

McLaughlin was probably working on his family's

Saskatchewan

The attentive cry of the seagulls broke my train of thought, and I realized we were getting close to Calais.

Passing quickly through customs, I found a comfortable seat on the express train to Paris, and settled down to enjoy my first view of the French countryside.

As the train gathered speed, I tried to capture visually the neat little farm homes, with their tidy window boxes filled with flowers still, and the checkered and gingham curtains covering the small square win-

I wondered then, how many men, both invaders and liberators alike, had taken refuge in these farmhouses, either forcefully or as long-awaited friends. Watching the cows grazing peacefully in the fields, I wondered, too, what had this same terrain been like when the liberating forces fought their way through mud and mined fields, towards their objective — Paris.

It was then, that a wave of gratitude swept over me. I owed them all so much, many of them now long dead, dying to give me, a small English schoolgirl, my freedom and my future.

"Chocolaite, café ..." The sudden sharp voice of the young train attendant reminded me this was 1994, not 1944. Purchasing a welcome café, I glanced down at the still unopened magazine on my lap. Before long, we would be arriving, and I had spent the entire trip reminiscing.

Taking a sip of the hot coffee, a man and his hardy field horse came into view, almost like a painting by Constable. I had thought all farms were now mechanized, and that work horses were as obsolete as the jug and water basin in a lady's bedroom. As he leaned over the horse, touching him gently with the crop, I remembered the Frenchman walking slowly on crutches in the garden of a convalescent home in northwest England, telling to a little girl in extremely broken English about his farm in Normandy, and the family he had to leave when he joined General de Gaulle's Free French Forces in England, to continue fighting the invader in his homeland.

Even as the farmer stopped briefly to look up at the cloudy sky, it was as if this same Frenchman's face came into view, as if today and yesterday were as one, and I was again that schoolgirl.

It was 1940. My mother had just come to the school to take me home when I heard singing coming from along the road.

As we made our way out of the school yard, I saw about 60 soldiers marching along, singing in a foreign language.

It sounded nice, and to my young mind, a good marching song.

We stood to watch them go by, and I saw that some of them were crying as they sang.

I asked my mother why they were crying, and she replied, "Because they have lost their country." "Where have they come from?" I asked. She said, "France."

Writer Margaret Fernandez-Williams remembers her youth in England, and a trip to Paris which brought back recollections of the Second World War.

They were singing The Marsellais.

As we walked on a little further, other men in different colored uniforms passed us on the sidewalk, each with his country's name on the sleeve of his uniform. Some were Polish, others from Belgium and Holland.

One of them stopped my mother to ask her something. She could not understand him, so he coughed and pointed to his throat, still asking the same question. He used the words, "doctor" and "pharmacy," and mother knew then that he wanted a drugstore.

Then she asked him which country he came from This he understood and pointed to his sleeve. On it was a flash, which I later came to make a childish game out of with my friends, counting the different "flashes" from various countries. He was from Poland. This was my introduction to the Second World War.

Paddy McLaughlin was probably working on his family's farm in Saskatchewan then, not knowing that four years later he would be part of the D-Day invasion of Europe and would give his life for my country.

From humble beginnings, cranberries are used in many different ways ollow cranberry sauce to its source, and you'll end up in the farmlands on the outskirts of Vancouver. We're talking bog rubies here, a serious crop.

Without B.C., the country would face something of a cranberry crisis. About 80 million pounds of Fraser Valley cranberries make up 80 per cent of what Canadians consume.

While the cranberry industry is impressive, the berry itself had humbler beginnings. The Pilgrims called it the "craneberry" because of its arching blossoms. Its debut as a sauce is believed to have been made on turkeys in the Thanksgiving of 1621.

Not that there was much choice. The cranberry was one of only three major fruits indigenous to North America (along with the blueberry and Concord grape). But it quickly became prized.

In 1773, anyone in Cape Cod caught picking more than a quart before Sept. 20 was fined a dollar.

Sport nTV ds

However, the cranberry wasn't grown as an agricultural product until 1816. Captain Halls, a native of Cape Cod, realized the berries were plumper when sand from the beach dunes blew over the plants. This led him to plant some bushes in swampy ground and cover them with sand — the first modern-day cranberry bog.

Today, huge swathes of peaty land near the Fraser River are berry bogs. When the berries are ready for harvest, river dikes are opened and the fields flooded waist-deep. This allows farmers to go through the bogs with what they call an "eggbeater," a kind of raft mounted with a gas motor and spinning steel rods to beat the bushes. Once knocked off, the hollow berries float to surface, making a crimson sea. They are then scooped up.

Apart from sauce and juice, cranberries are showing up in breads, salads, desserts and main courses which don't involve turkey. Their sharp flavor makes a fine contrast to sweet cakes.

Cranberry Upside-down Cake

for the bottom: 2 Tbsp. butter

4 how Sport skr

ss

3/4 cup light brown sugar

2 cups fresh cranberries for the cake: 3/4 cup but-

Cathie Price 1 cup sugar

WHIPS & SPOONS

pose flour 1/2 tsp. salt

2 cups sift-

2 eggs

ed all-pur-

1 Tbsp. baking powder

2/3 cup milk 1 tsp. vanilla

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Spread 2 Tbsp. butter in the bottom of a 9 inch spring form pan. Spread the brown sugar evenly over the top. Pat down firmly. Spread the cranberries over the sugar.

With an electric mixer, beat the butter and sugar until light. Add the eggs one at a time, beating well. Sift together the flour, salt and baking powder. Add to the creamed mixture alternately with the milk and vanilla. Spread the batter over the fruit. Bake for about 75 minutes, until the top is brown and a skewer comes out clean. Cool in the pan. Remove the sides of the pan. Invert onto a serving plate and remove the bottom of the pan. Serve warm or cold with whipped cream (lightly sweetened and flavored with a dash of dark rum).

1/2 tsp. baking powder

1/2 tsp. salt 2/3 cup chopped walnuts

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Butter a 9 inch by 13 inch baking dish. Simmer the raisins in the rum for 5 minutes, until they absorb the rum. Cool. Chop the cranberries and sprinkle with 2 Tbsp. of the sugar. Let stand. Melt the butter and stir in the sugar. Cook until mixture bubbles. Scrape into a bowl and cool until lukewarm. Beat in the eggs and vanilla. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Stir into the batter until well mixed. Fold in the soaked raisins (and any rum that wasn't absorbed), cranberries and walnuts. Spread the batter into the pan. Bake for 35 to 40 minutes, until a skewer inserted in the center comes out clean. Cool in the pan before cutting.

Thinning out our second-growth forests leaves the healthiest trees to grow larger and faster. Last year, we funded projects across B.C. that saw forest workers space an area almost five times the size of Vancouver.

Spacing work was just part of Forest Renewal BC's $596 million investment in communities throughout B.C. last year - an investment that directly created 7,575 jobs for B.C. workers.

Eighty per cent of our investments are made in resource communities outside the Lower Mainland - most delivered by private sector companies in communities like yours.

Residential Wood Heating

heating appliances is one of the leading causes of house fires in Canada.

- Installation permits are required from Squamish Fire. Clearances from combustibles must be maintained.
- Clean and inspect chimneys and flue pipes regularly. The more you burn, the more you should inspect and clean. Only properly trained and certified chimney sweeps should be used.

Never let the fire smolder, there should always be flames. Smoldering fires create more creosate and more. poliution.

Burn dry seasoned wood only.

 When purchasing a wood burning appliance, make sure It is tested to a recognized Canadian standard.

Education News

The gym at Garibaldi Highlands Elementary School was set up to look like the historic town of Barkerville as some talented entertainers dropped in for a performance.

Thrilling entertainment abounds at schools lack Moon Productions came to Garibaldi Highlands Elementary Nov. 2 and presented a lively show which educated while it entertained. There were catchy songs, lots of humor and a great deal of history. All the grades seemed to be equalby absorbed in what was going on.

The scenery depicted Barkerville as it was during the Gold Rush days. (Teachers had given their classes the background knowledge they needed to follow this; but one of Ms. Stroh's very young students had still asked e why the gold should be rushing about, and where it was going to.) There were four characters involved in the play: Duncan and Sparky; two prospectors: Miss Fisher, who had come by boat from England to find a husband in B.C., and Miss Patricia, who kept order generally. She stopped the characters' quarreling, linked the events by her narrative, and also signaled to the audience when they should clap out the rhythm with the dancing 92 or the songs.

During the question period which followed, some students told Miss Patricia they remembered her from a school trip to the real Barkerville. Of course, the youngsters always want to know performers' ages and how long they have been performing. Duncan wisely gave them the combined ages of all four players. As for starting a career, the students were strongly advised that elementary school age is the time to start practising.

Brackendale Elementary Fantastic Frills Hair Salon appeared on the stage of the activity room at Brackendale.

The beauty parlor had a telephone which never seemed to stop ringing, two sophisticated beauticians to deal with it and a collection of the strangest clients one could ever hope to meet.

SOUND SCHOOLS

One young lady, with a mass of almost white hair, rushed in and demanded a coloring job as fast as possible. She explained the police were looking for her and would arrest her, but her hair was the only means by which they could identify her. She had honestly made a mistake by going into the house of the Bear family, but they had turned really grizzly and accused her of smashing up their furniture.

A girl, who introduced herself as just "Alice," complained that she had got her hair into an awful mess by falling down a rabbit hole. She must have been a bit unstable, though, because she suddenly shouted she could see the rabbit, and walked straight through the mirror. At Valleycliffe Elementary

Grade 1 students at Valleycliffe produced a play called "The Old Woman Who was Not Afraid of Anything," and they had a most appreciative audience in the kindergarten class.

Those littlest students were excited anyway, because they were wearing their Halloween costumes.

Remembrance Day services at the leisure centre

The Brennan Park Leisure Centre is the location for the annual Remembrance Day ceremonies on Wednesday, Nov. 11 at 10:55 a.m. The parade into the auditorium will be led by the Royal Canadian Legion Diamond Head Branch Pipe Band, members of the Legion Ladies Auxiliary, RCMP and many groups from the Scouting and Girl Guide movement. The Sea to Sky Singers will sing a beautiful rendition of Amazing Grace during the service. Following the ceremonies, the wreath laying will take place at the cenotaph in Stan Clarke Park across from the Squamish Pavilion.

Brackendale Elementary School will be all decked out for its annual Christmas Craft Market planned for this Thursday, Nov. 12 from 6-9 p.m. Along with the crafts will be a sale of holly and lots of home-baking. Gary Hastings kindly donated a cord of wood for the raffle. Donations of non-perishable food items or unwrapped toys for Community Christmas Care would be much appreciated. Table rentals may still be available. Call 898-5951 for more information.

Garage items, baking, crafts, computers, tools, clothing concession, furniture and more will be featured at Howe Sound Secondary School's fall sale on Saturday, Nov. 14, from 9 a.m. - noon. Sign up at HSSS office for table rentals at $10 each. For more information, call 898-9549 or 898-9789.

Who says seniors don't have any fun? Gordon Greenwood, Harry Greenwood, Ray Miles and Bill Berg are enjoying and learning new skills each time they do a new segment for Community Cable 10 television on Not Just For Seniors. Gordon says it wouldn't be possible without the expertise and knowledge of Allan Richardson of Channel 10. The reflections on Remembrance Day aired last year will be repeated tonight, Nov. 10 at 7 p.m. and tomorrow at 11 a.m. Three veterans representing the army, navy and air force, L.C. "Minch" Minchin, Frank Wheeler and Harry Greenwood, share their experiences of life during wartime.

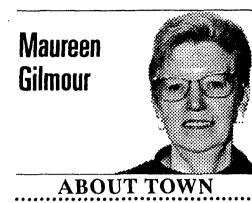

The next segment of Not Just for Seniors to be aired Nov. 17 and Nov. 24 at 7 p.m. and Nov. 18 and Nov. 25, at 10 a.m. on Community Cable 10 is entitled: Let's Ride the Buses, and highlights the Squamish Transit System. It shows the advantage of the bus system and riders' points of views are aired.

Children and Adults with Attentions Deficit Disorder (CHADD) will hold its next meeting on Monday, Nov. 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the HSSS library. The guest speaker will be Dr. Hamson, pediatrician of the Squamish/Whistler area.

The beautiful queen-size quilt made by Zel Bird was the raffle prize sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to Squamish General Hospital. It was won by eight-year-old Jamie Geche and his dad bought the ticket for him.

Next Monday, Nov. 16 is the pick-up day at Kotyk Electronics for the Operation Christmas Child shoe boxes through Samaritan's Purse. A variety of gifts can be included in the shoe box after you decide whether the gift is for a boy or girl and the age categories: 2-4, 5-9, or 10-14. The shoe boxes are distributed to children in less fortunate situations around the world. For further information, pick up a brochure at the store on Cleveland Avenue or call 1-800-303-1269.

Stork Story - ISAAC -Kerri and Sherwin Isaac of North Vancouver welcome with love, their first child, a daughter Kyra Leoni Flora, born at 8:55 p.m., Oct. 18 at Lions Gate Hospital, weighing 9 lb. 11 oz. Proud grandparents are Flora and Bob Thorburn of Squamish and Leoni DeJong of North Vancouver.

Whistler Community Arts Council will present Fred Penner in Songs of the Season at the Whistler Conference Centre on Saturday, Nov. 28 at 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. Penner is a well known children's entertainer, and performing with him in the second part of his show will be the Moving Chords Youth Showchoir, co-directed by Colleen Koop and Sadie Culliford. Tickets for the Whistler performances are available through the Pemberton and Whistler Public Libraries.

The Squamish Food Bank will hold its monthly distribution day tomorrow, Nov. 11 from noon-1:30 p.m. in the Elk's Hall on Second Avenue. Donations of non-perishable food and cash are always much appreciated. Supermarkets have specially marked boxes and cash donations may be dropped off at the Howe Sound Women's Centre at 38132 Second Ave., or mailed to HSWC at Box 2052, Squamish, V0N 3G0.

The new Totem Hall complex is the location for a Christmas craft fair on Saturday, Nov. 14 from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. Anyone interested in table rentals at $20 each is asked to phone 892-9015.

On Tuesday, Nov. 17, the Squamish Public Library will welcome children's author Sarah Ellis, who she will read from her books during the afternoon.

The Bronze Cross will be starting on Nov. 22 at the Squamish Aquatic Centre. This course teaches the difference between life-saving and life guarding, the principles of emergency procedures and teamwork. Call 898-3604 for more information.

Just a reminder, the Brennan Park Leisure Centre will be closed on Remembrance Day but regular programming will continue Nov. 12.

Howe Sound Performing Arts Association and the Squamish Rotary Club are holding a fund raiser to help purchase a heart monitor for the Squamish General Hospital. The cost is approximately $10,000.

On Friday, Nov. 20, the doors open at the new Totem Hall and the silent auction and lively music to the six-piece Celtic band Blackthorn gets under way at 7:30 p.m. During the evening, a live auction will take place and some unique items will be up for bidding.

Tickets at $50 each are available at Garibaldi Graphics, Greg Gardner GM, Race and Company and Squamish Valley Golf and Country Club.

St. John's Anglican Church's annual Christmas bazaar will be held in the church on Saturday, Nov. 21, with doors open at 1 p.m.

- UNDERSTANDING -"I'll lend to you for a little time A child of mine," he said. "For you to love while he's alive, and mourn him when he's dead." It may be six or seven years or twenty-two or three. But will you till I call him back take care of him for me? He'll bring his charms to gladden you, and should his stay be brief You'll have his lovely memories as solace for your grief.

I cannot promise he will stay, since all from earth return, but there are lessons taught down there I want this child to learn. I've looked this wide world over in my search for teachers true. And from the throngs that crowd life's lanes, I have selected you. Now will you give him all your tove, nor think the labour vain, nor hate me when I come to call and bring him back again?

I fancied that I heard them say, "Dear Lord thy will be done", for all the joy thy child shall bring, the risk of grief we'll run. We'll shelter him with tenderness, we'll love him while we may and for the happiness we've known, forever grateful stay. But should the angels call for him much sooner than we've planned we'll brave the bitter grief that comes Legendary daffodils to Steve, Gord, Fernando and all my fellow co-workers at White Spot. You make my job very rewarding and a positive, fun place to work. A happy and proud employee.

You stuck it out and worked hard. Now who's pulling up the daffodils at Emerald? Great work. An admirer.

A town full of daffodils to the ladies and gentlemen of the district who cleaned our downtown core of leaves and debris. Your hard work has not gone unnoticed. Squamish should recognize the time and effort it takes to do such tedious jobs.

To help provide

safer and healthier

The Workers'

workplaces,

Compensation Board

has introduced new health and safety standards.

The new Occupational Health and Safety Regulation took effect on April 15, 1998, with a one year graduated compliance period. The standards under the Regulation will provide a solid foundation for achieving safer, healthier workplaces and further reducing the number of workers injured or killed on the job in British Columbia.

The new Regulation contains legal requirements for employers on the protection of workers from occupational injury and disease. It applies to all work sites around the province and primarily reflects changes in industry, technology and work practices.

The WCB will be hosting a free industry specific information session to provide an overview of the Regulation. Small business owners and operators, and employers in high-risk industries are invited to learn why new health and safety standards are required. New key sections of the Regulation will also be reviewed, along with changes to existing requirements, both of which will impact business and industry.

All participants will receive a copy of the Occupational Health and Safety Regulation, along with an easy-to-read guide highlighting key sections, changes and new additions.

PUBLIC COMMENT INVITED ON THE PROJECT REPORT FOR THE WESTCOAST GAS SERVICES INC. LNG STORAGE PROJECT

Westcoast Gas Services Inc. (WGSI) has made application for a project approval certificate for the WGSI LNG Storage Project. The application is for approval of a liquefied natural gas (LNG) storage facility connected to Centra's existing Vancouver Island Pipeline. The proposed facility will be located between Squamish and Gibsons, approximately 7.5 kilometres from the shore of Howe Sound and 12 kilometres northeast of Port Mellon. The facility will store up to 145,000 m³ of LNG (equivalent to 85 million m³ of natural gas) and will be capable of delivering 8.5 million m³/day of natural gas into the Vancouver Island Pipeline.

As part of Stage 2 of the environmental assessment of the WGSI LNG Storage Project, WGSI has prepared and submitted a project report to address additional information requirements as detailed in the Project Report Specifications issued by the Environmental Assessment Office (EAO) on May 12, 1998.

On August 21, 1998, WGSI applied for an amendment to its original application to reflect changes to the project rationale and the manner of implementing the project. This amendment was approved in an Order issued by the EAO on September 11, 1998, resulting in a change to the project report specifications. WGSI's project report addresses this change.

The project report may be viewed at:

- Sechelt Public Library, 5797 Cowrie Street, Sechelt, B.C.
- Squamish Public Library, 37955 2nd Avenue, Squamish, B.C.
- Gibsons and District Public Library, 464 South Fletcher Road, Gibsons, B.C., or at the
- EAO Project Registry on the 1st Floor, 836 Yates, Victoria, B.C. V8V 1X4

Visit the EAO website for information about the environmental assessment process and projects under review. The address is: http://www.eao.gov.bc.ca

The EAO invites comments on the project report to ensure that public views on the adequacy of WGSI's effects assessment and impact management proposals are taken into account in the review of the project. All comments received by January 11, 1999 will be considered as part of the review. All submissions will be available to the general public through the EAO Project Registry as originally submitted and required by the Environmental Assessment Act. If your submission does not indicate that you wish your address to be treated in confidence, your name and address will be filed in full on the EAO Project Registry.

Comments on the project report for the WGSI LNG Storage Project must be received at the EAO by January 11, 1999. Please send your submission to: Jan E. Hagen, WGSI LNG Storage Project Committee Chair, Environmental Assessment Office, PO Box 9426, Stn Prov Gov't, Victoria, B.C. V8W 9V1. Tel: (250) 356-7441; Fax: (250) 387-7440. Thanks for another record season

The West Coast Railway Heritage Park closed for the season Nov. 1, after a successful final community event the Hobgoblin Express on Halloween Oct. 31. A total of 355 haunting guests dropped in for a ride on the Ghostly Mini Rail through a legion of carved pumpkins and then warmed up with hot chocolate.

A good time was had by all — a fitting close to another record season.

This is the fifth year for the Heritage Park, and the fifth year guest visits increased.

In 1998, more than 20,400 passed across the bridge and enjoyed the presentation of Western Canada's largest heritage railway collection. While our guests came from all over the world, we were delighted to see so many Squamish folks back again.

More of you opted for the economical family season's pass this year, and became regular visitors, dropping in with the family for a ride on the Mini Rail and just enjoying the sights and sounds of the park.

Many of you brought your guests and introduced them to this great local attraction. A special thanks this year to our great guest services staff, who worked very hard and did a fantastic job for us. Of particular note were the numbers of volunteers who joined with us this year.

They did every kind of job imaginable, from transforming the entrance bank of the slough into an attractive garden, to painting some of the rail cars, to maintaining and operating the Mini Rail trains on a regular basis.

Many of the volunteers put in hundreds of hours each year, and their work is truly appreciated. We are a volunteer organization, and without them we would never be able to provide the sort of experience that we do at the park.

Even with winter now closing in, work at the Heritage Park will continue as we prepare new exhibits and work on with the construction of our phase two area.

Don

Next year will bring another host of new attractions as the park just keeps on growing.

To all of you who visited us in 1998 and participated with us in any way thanks for helping make this another great season at the West Coast Railway Heritage Park.

Province launches new Punjabi business resource guide

CONTRIBUTED TO The Chief

Punjabi business people can now access a popular British Columbia government publication in their own language, Small Business Minister Ian Waddell announced last week.

Waddell released unjabi version of Solutions for Small Business — A Resource Guide for British Columbia Businesses.

"Immigrants have helped hake our province's small business growth greater than any other province in anada," Waddell said. Entrepreneurs have started successful businesses in retail, import and export, high ech, finance, professional ervices and other areas, and his resource will make finding government services and jusiness information a lot asier."

"This publication provides ssential information for anyone starting a new business in C. and, by being available Punjabi, gives many more ritish Columbians access to at information," said Ashok harma of the Punjabi Market ssociation.

Earlier this week, Waddell eleased a small business and employment eport which showed that 98 cent of B.C. businesses small (fewer than 50 iployees) and 80,300 new obs were created by small usinesses between 1994 and said the Business esource Guide is one of the ost comprehensive of its and for anyone going into business. It outlines guideines and requirements for new businesses, start-up conderations, a list of resources nd contacts, business manement issues and taxation. opies are available from B.C. WE'VE INCREASED ROAD SAFETY. WE'VE INCREASED AUTO CRIME AWARENESS. WE'VE INCREASED FRAUD PREVENTION.

WHICH EXPLAINS WHY WE HAVEN'T INCREASED INSURANCE RATES.

Keeping insurance rates affordable is something we'd all like. And we'd all prefer to see fewer crashes on our roads. If we work together, we can reduce crashes, save lives and keep insurance rates stable. We've held premiums at the same level now for three years and we think we can do even better. ICBC is targeting the root causes of crashes and claims. Here's what we're working on and what you can do to help.

BETTER PROGRAM FOR NEW DRIVERS. We've introduced Graduated Licensing to help new drivers become better drivers.

INTERSECTION SAFETY CAMERAS. One-third of all crashes in BC happen at intersections. The Intersection Safety Program will target dangerous drivers who run red lights. Please, be cautious when entering an intersection.

A CRACK-DOWN ON IMPAIRED DRIVERS. We're continuing our Drinking Driving CounterAttack program to deter impaired drivers and keep the public informed on how to get home safely. If you plan to drink, make sure you plan ahead for a safe ride home.

IMPROVEMENTS TO UNSAFE ROADS. Unsafe roads contribute to crashes. We are working with the government and local authorities to fix unsafe trouble spots on our roads.

> AUTO CRIME COSTS US ALL. We're combining resources with groups to combat auto crime. To encourage the use of anti-theft devices, we offer a premium discount. If you need help selecting one, we have a free guide rating products on the market.

FRAUD ADDS $150 TO THE AVERAGE PREMIUM. We're protecting you from the cost of fraud with new detection systems and tougher fraud laws. If you suspect someone of making a fraudulent claim, call the Fraud Tip Line: 1-800-661-6844.

SPEED AND DANGEROUS DRIVING. Excessive speed is still the number one cause of fatalities on our roads. We are supporting the police and community groups, like Speedwatch, to help raise public awareness and prevent tragedies. Please, watch your speed and drive carefully.

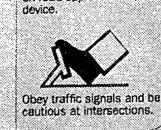

IMPROVING VEHICLE SAFETY. We have continual liaisons with auto manufacturers and regulators to improve the performance of features such as ABS brakes, headrests, children's car seats and anti-theft devices. Check out "Preventing Injury" on our web site.

ICBC ENCOURAGES SAFE DRIVING. We want to work together to make driving in BC as safe as possible for you and your family. Our commitment to reducing crashes, saving lives and stabilizing insurance rates has never been stronger.

Walking Club News

First of all, my apologies to Carl Halvorson at the North Vancouver Outdoor School for the misprint in the paper last week. Somehow the credit for the walk went to Carol. They all enjoyed the walk and hope they can do it again soon.

This Thursday, Nov. 12, meet at the far (south) end of Alice Lake for a walk along Jack's Trail.

Diabetes Association

One week from today, Tuesday, Nov. 17, is the Diabetes Support Group meeting in the Tantalus Seniors Centre at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome including non-diabetics.

This Thursday, Nov. 12 the prostate cancer support group will be holding a meeting in the Tantalus Seniors Centre from 7-8:30 p.m.

Tantalus Seniors Centre News

The Halloween party at the centre on Friday, Oct. 30 was a great success. The food was delicious. Our compliments to the cooks. Ed and I didn't dress up, but many did and the costumes were good. Margit Abt won first prize for the ladies, dressed as a lady from Africa, complete with a basket on her head. She was doing a great job walking around and keeping it balanced.

First prize for the men went to Vince Diotte for his hippie costume and the prize for the most original went to Val Blackman dressed in a riding outfit. After a half-hour or so of jokes, the dancers took over. It's nice to sit back and watch everyone having a good time. The ladies from the line dancing group performed for us. A great evening. As usual the soup and sandwich day was a bit hit, thanks to chef Dorothy Buchanan. The soup was delicious. The next one is on Thursday, Nov.

Hilltop House

Five residents from Hilltop, Ev Ramsay, Dot Knott, Marjorie Hammerstrom, Thelma MacDonald, and Bud Zorn went on a week's bus trip to Reno with their activity coordinator, Joanne Zander. They all had a wonderful time and Joanne must be commended for the time and devotion she spends with these people. The hostess on the bus said she is "just a marvel."

Congratulations to Leo Davis who was honored with a lifetime pin by the Elks. Get well wishes to Inger Olsen, convalescing at home after a bad fall. Next meeting of the Hilltop House support group is this Thursday, Nov. 12 at 9:30 a.m. in the activity room.

Moderation best for caffeine intake any of us depend on coffee, tea or cola to help us lift the curtains on Lour groggy minds or to continue to stay alert. Caffeine is the world's most popular stimulant. But if we are women concerned about brittle bones, sleeping well, PMS or trying to become pregnant, we might want to cut back or find a substitute.

Too many of us have learned that despite its pleasure, sometimes it's a habit not only hard to break, but necessary. Health folks generally say two cups a day is okay. But think about the size of the cup and the strength of the brew. One famous chain has such nerve-busting stuff to be at least double in strength.

Most of our caffeine comes from java. But in that cuppa also comes xanthines: theobromines, those mood elevators we enjoy, and theoplylline.

Both are stimulants and can either perk us up or send our nerves over the edge.

Ever heard of cafestol and kalweol? These are oils found in ground coffee. As long as we drink the instant or the filtered drip kind, our LDL "bad" cholesterol should be unaffected. But use plunge coffee or expresso and our LDL and triglycerides could climb as much as 12 per cent.

Simply returning to the old rule-of-thumb of "moderation in all things" our coffee life won't impede our vigor. And trying ginger, licorice or decaf is worth a tipple.

Fryer intends to call the shots at the National Hockey League

By Karen Milstein The Chief

For Stephen Fryer, hockey is about much more than playing the game. At just 19 years of age, Fryer is the only level three referee in Squamish.

Fryer has been playing hockey since he was three years old. It runs in his family. His dad used to play, and his brother Jeff, 22, has played since he was young.

Currently, Fryer plays defense for the Juvenile A team and the men's hockey league team the Red Wings.

wings.

to go the way I am

"I like the physical element. It's going there is only up." fun. I think it takes more to play hockey than any other sport. You are just on a little blade," said Fryer.

Fryer qualified for his level one referee ticket when he was only 12 years old. His brother was a referee and it was natural for Fryer to follow his

"I was already involved. I didn't have a job, I was 12. Refereeing does pay some and it was something to do on the weekends."

When he was 16 years old, Fryer qualified for his level two.

In order to qualify for a level, individuals need to get a certain score on a written exam, which is dependent on the level they are trying to obtain.

"My first year, I got 42 per cent. Maybe that's what kept me in it. Wanting to do better."

Fryer scored 70 per cent on his level two exam. In September, Fryer wrote his level three, and scored more than 80 per cent.

In order to move up a level it's also necessary to have the support of the area's referee in chief, and the regional coordinating manager for the B.C. Amateur Hockey Association.

When he is playing hockey, Fryer likes to get physical and considers himself a fighter. When he is refereeing, his approach is to back off.

"There is a certain amount you put into it (refereeing) to get a good game, which means no injuries and brawls. No team likes to play two teams, the referee and the other team. For me, I like to try and stay out of the limelight. I'm two different people. When I play I take most of the penalties." Fryer has his hockey career all planned out.

"I've always dreamed of being in the NHL, every kid in Canada who loves hockey has. It's not going to happen through playing, refereeing I'll have a shot. I just want to be involved."

Fryer plans to continue moving up the levels until he reaches the top, level six, which qualifies him to referee in the NHL.

"I believe if I continue to go the way I am going, there is only up. I have a passion for it. I'm half way there and I'm only 19. There are not a lot of level three 19 year olds."

Stephen Fryer Level three hockey referee

The Squamish minor hockey Bantam Rep A team controlled the buck during Saturday afternoon's game against Whistler at the Brennan Park Leisure Centre. Squamish won the game 7 - 1. Squamish's first goal was made by Travis Buckley and Brad Cameron scored three goals.

In their first game of the North Shore zone semi-finals, Howe Sound Secondary School's senior boys team played a tight game against Collingwood.

HSSS boys perform well in zone semi-finals

By KAREN MILSTEIN
The Chief

The Howe Sound Secondary School's senior boys' soccer team played a close game Wednesday against Collingwood.

The game was their first in the North Shore zone semi-finals.

The team, made up of Grade 11 and Grade

The team, made up of Grade 11 and Grade 12 players, was strengthened with four Grade 9 Brackendale Secondary School students.

Steve Bir scored early in the game, leaving the team with a 1 - 0 lead at the end of the first half. In the last nine minutes of the second half, Collingwood brought the game up to a 1 - 1 tie sending the game into overtime. Howe Sound scored in the first two minutes of overtime and then Collingwood scored a goal with 20 seconds left leaving the win up to penalty shots. Collingwood took the game 3 - 2.

"We did pretty good for what we expected. They played very well and dominated most of their games," said coach Tom Johnston.

Selected to the North Shore high school allstar teams were: Steven Bir, selected to the first team; Karam Takhar, selected to the second team; and Nick Miller received honorable mention. Congratulations.

KAREN MILSTEIN/THE CHIEF

Howe Sound Ringette Tween B division goalie, Leanne Humphreys deflected 16 attempts on goal in a game against Vancouver Saturday at Brennan Park Leisure Centre. The Howe Sound team won 11 - 7. Team captain Erica Fletcher scored seven goals.

HOROSCOPES

November 8-14

You have an important business decision to make this week, Aries. While you need to look out for your own interests, don't disregard everyone else involved. Try to make a decision that will benefit everyone. People are counting on you to be fair. A loved one gets into financial trouble late in the week. Do what you can to help.

Aries - March 21/April 20

You have the perfect opportunity to enhance your love life early in the week. You've been waiting for this chance for a long time. Don't let it pass you by. A close friend needs to talk with you about a business situation. Don't put him or her off. This is an important matter that you have to deal with. Cancer plays a key role.

Gemini - May 22/June 21

It seems as if you're facing an uphill battle when it comes to a personal problem early in the week, Gemini. Don't let these setbacks get you down. You need to stay determined if you want to accomplish anything. A loved one offers you some constructive criticism. Listen to what he or she has to say without getting upset.

Cancer – June 22/July 22

Your sense of humor saves the day early in the week. A tense situation has everyone on edge, but your wit makes people laugh and relax. While only a few actually tell you, everyone appreciates your efforts. A friend of a friend calls you unexpectedly. Listen to what he or she has to say.

Leo – July 23/August 23

A close friend invites you to an important social event. Even though you're nervous, say yes. The evening has many pleasant surprises in store for you. A loved one needs your help dealing with a family situation. Be supportive, and do what you can to help. Gemini plays a key role.

Virgo – Aug 24/Sept 22

There's a lot going on this week, Virgo, so keep things organized. It's the only way to get things done. A close friend comes to you with a personal problem. While you would like to help, you know that you really can't do anything to improve the situation. Resist getting involved.

Libra – Sept 23/Oct 23

You have to make a decision about your complicated romantic life this week, Libra. You've been putting it off for too long now. Think about what you really want, and make your decision. It's the best thing to do for everyone involved. Leo plays

Scorpio – Oct 24/Nov 22

Don't let a business associate influence a career move that you're considering. You have to do what is best for you. Those closest to you will understand and support your decision. A former friend wants to get close again. Think about the consequences before saying yes. Is it really worth it?

Sagittarius – Nov 23/Dec 21

ieds'

Keep your wits about you early in the week, Sagittarius, or you're sure to say the wrong thing at the wrong time. Listen to what others are saying, and respond to them. Don't just blurt out whatever is on your mind. That special someone has a surprise for you this weekend. Enjoy yourself!

Capricorn – Dec 22/Jan 20

A close friend introduces you to an important business associate. Don't let his or her outgoing nature overwhelm you. Be confident, and you're sure to make a good impression. The person whom you've been seeing wants to call it quits. While you're upset, think about it. This really is for the best.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20

An acquaintance offers to assist you with an important matter late in the week. Don't overanalyze the situation. He or she just wants to help. A loved one needs your advice about a romantic relationship. Be honest. While he or she may not want to hear what you have to say, it needs to be said.

It seems as if everyone you know is trying to hold you back this week. Don't get discouraged. Getting upset only will make things worse. Try to make as much progress as you can. A friend needs a shoulder to cry on late in the week. Be there DISTRICT NOTICES

DISTRICT OF SQUAMS! PUBLIC INFORMATION

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

NOTICE is hereby given that the public including all persons who deem their interest in property affected by the following proposed bylaw will be afforded an opportunity to be heard respecting matters contained in the proposed bylaw at a public hearing to be held at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, the 17th day of November, 1998 in the Council Chambers of the Municipal Hall, 37955 - 2nd Avenue, Squamish, British Columbia.
