"He knew me by name," said Karen Pattar, who was at the front desk at the hospital when Pacino dropped in.

"Squamish has been great and the people have treated us so well," said Julia Frittaion, unit publicist for the production.

Squamish was standing in for Nightmute, Alaska for the last two weeks of filming in downtown Squamish, behind Hudson House, at the Squamish Windsurfing Spit and the hospital. Shooting wrapped up Thursday with a bar scene inside the Chieftain Hotel.

Besides putting smiles of a few lucky fan faces, the spin-off from the movie shoot has business owners grinning.

The Super 8 Motel has been booked solid for two weeks as home to the production office for the film.

General manager Wendy Magee said the crew was just fantastic and she hopes more movie company's will choose Squamish in the future.

"This is injecting a tremendous amount of revenue into Squamish," Magee said. "We have so much potential here for this industry to flourish here. As long as we make a good impression with them and continue to make them happy, this can continue for a long time."

Pattison pitches billboards

Council defers proposal for intown signs

> By TIM SHOULTS The Chief

Squamish could be seeing signs for national brands and some local businesses on highway billboards on district land.

But for now, Squamish council has sent Jimmy Pattison's offer back to the drawing board.

John Moonen of Pattison Outdoor came to council's committee of the whole May 22 to talk about the sign giant's newest proposal for billboards in Squamish.

The proposal offers to pay between $14,000 and $20,000 per year to the district for a 10-year lease on two prime sign locations on municipallyowned land along Hwy. 99.

The 10-foot by 20-foot double-sided billboards would be in a "trio" form, with three advertisements rotating on each side of each sign and "welcome to Squamish" signage on each of the billboards.

Depending on the lease rate the District agreed on, Pattison would sell one of the six spaces on each billboard to local merchants at deep discounts — up to 70 per cent off normal rates — if the District agreed to a minimum lease rate.

"It takes advantage of the thousands of cars that drive by downtown Squamish every day and hopefully would get them into your downtown core," Moonen said.

Regular rates for the signs would start at $500 per month, depending on the side of the sign, the location and the time of year.

Pattison Outdoor also offered to set up four transit shelters and eight bicycle racks in town, with a portion of the revenues from advertising on the transit shelters going to the district.

Councillors Paul Lalli and Shelley Smith greeted the idea with enthusiasm.

"I think everybody in the room supports the initiative," said Lalli, who moved to recommend support in principle for the offer.

"As a local business owner I would love to be on this, even if it's only one side out of six," said Smith.

But other councillors and Mayor Corinne Lonsdale expressed concerns about billboards advertising out-oftown businesses.

"My concern is there are very few businesses in this community that can afford $500 a month, so five out of six businesses on this sign advertising would be Whistler, Vancouver or more universal stuff," Lonsdale said.

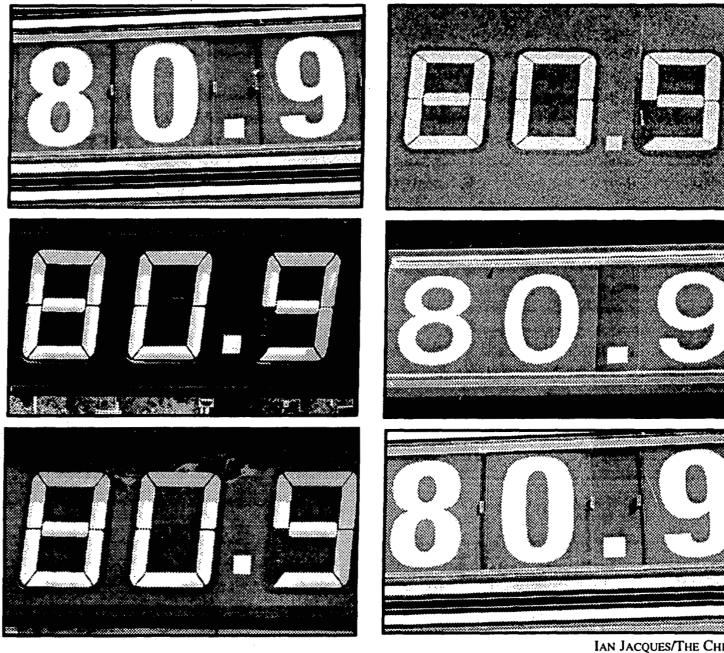

Lonsdale asked for more information before approving the idea, and also asked for costs if one of the sides of a sign were made static — with district advertising — rather than changing.

Moonen said such an arrangement would cancel the discount for local businesses.

Other councillors expressed concerns after Mick Gottardi, district director of community development, noted that the billboards don't fit into Squamish's new sign bylaw and would require amendments.

Council voted, with Lalli and Smith opposed, to refer the proposal to next month's committee of the whole meeting June 12.

Interfor lays off 100

International markets prompt TFL shutdown

> By Kathleen Brennan The Chief

More than 100 loggers, employees and contractors with International Forest Products in the Squamish area, are now out of work for at least most of June.

The men in Interfor's Empire Logging Division were notified of the layoff as of last Friday, said Keith Rush, Interfor general manager for the south coast.

"It's certainly going to have an impact on Squamish," Rush said.

He could not predict the length of the closure but said the situation will be reviewed weekly.

"It's a market-related shutdown."

The lumber market to Japan has slumped since, on the international scene, the Japanese yen was significantly devalued against the U.S. dollar, Rush said.

All Interfor's lumber transactions are concluded in American currency. "It made our shipments really expensive," he said.

The shutdown does not have an effect on Interfor's Squamish sawmill, which shut down for more than a year in 1998-99.

To complicate matters, loggers could be idle for a portion of the summer because of the risk of forest fire.

A number of loggers have speculated that the dry spring conditions — one of the driest on record — will force the forest service to close the woods before they have a chance to return to work this summer.

Forestry officials are already gearing up to protect the forests this summer.

Jim Tietila, a forest protection officer with the Ministry of Forests, said the Squamish forest district will have 50 firefighters on staff as of June 4, slightly earlier than from previous years.

Tietila said he is not going to panic unduly, but wait to see what kind of weather conditions Mother Nature produces.

Currently, the Forest Service has rated the woods around Pemberton at three, a moderate fire hazard, and in Squamish, the woods are deemed to be two, which is even lower, Tietila said.

About 180 loggers from here to Hope will be affected by the shutdown, he said.

Creek faces identity crisis

Cottonwood Creek becomes Brackendale Creek thanks to BFI

> By Tim Shoults The Chief

The signs on the side of Government Road look very official, with logos from Fisheries and Oceans Canada, the Squamish Streamkeepers and the District of Squamish Brackendale proclaiming Creek.

But as far as the municipality's concerned, there's nothing official about the renaming of what was, until last Tuesday, Cottonwood Creek.

On Thursday evening, a group from the Brackendale Farmers' Institute (BFI) appeared at the site, bearing the signs to replace similar. the ones with name "Cottonwood Creek" that mysteriously disappeared only two days before.

The watercourse, which crosses under Government Road north of Judd Road, was officially unnamed but commonly known as Dryden Creek West until a few months ago, when the District of Squamish began working with Fisheries and Oceans Canada and the Squamish Streamkeepers started putting up signs on local minor creeks and streams to raise awareness.

The creek sported a sign calling it Cottonwood Creek, prompting a visit by Thor Froslev and Merv Honey of the BFI to Jas Michalski, the district's environmental coordinator, about how the creek had been named.

Upon learning that the creek was not an officially designated name by the province, "the BFI took it upon themselves to change it to Brackendale Creek with Jas' blessing," said Froslev.

"It's an ongoing thing to awareness Brackendale," said Honey. "We have a community in Brackendale and we want to keep it that way."

The group also seems to know quite a bit about the disappearance of the Cottonwood Creek signs.

"It wasn't vandalism," explained Bill Berg, one of those present at the installation Thursday. "It was beautification."

"You could say we're a decisive team," said Froslev.

Michalski confirmed Friday that he had spoken with Froslev and Honey, but didn't give them any permission to change district signage.

"They wanted to change it and they have proceeded to shewek without district knowledge on tario. permission," Michalski saidmembersl adding that he has alread He was spoken to the BFI about the North disappearance of the district 930s and signs and the installation of all of Fa the new ones.

Test of weight at Test of Metal

Rotarian to pull 260 pounds up Skyline for Rotary Cares Fund

> By Tim Shoults The Chief

With less than a month to go to the Test of Metal, Squamish celebrities are already starting to line up for the "other" main event — the Test of Metal Celebrity Challenge.

Each year since 1999, dozens of local business leaders, politicos and other celebrities have followed the 800-rider pack at the Test of Metal start line to raise funds for the Squamish Rotary Club's Rotary Cares Fund.

The fund, which provides medical aid and equipment to local families, is now called the Linda Carney Rotary Cares Fund after its founder, Squamish Rotary Club past president Linda Carney, who died in an accident on a Kamloops golf course a year ago.

Ueli Liechti of Squamish's Rotary Club has issued the first challenge to his fellow celebrity riders.

He will ride the celebrity course from Brennan Park Recreation Centre to the top of Skyline Drive in the Garibaldi Highlands while pulling a 260-pound stone bench behind him, he announced to his fellow Rotarians May 17.

The bench will be part of a table/bench set to be auctioned off at the end of the race to raise more money for the fund.

For more information on the Test of Metal Celebrity Challenge, call Ron Anderson at 892-3511 or 898-5822.

Applications for aid to the Linda Carney Rotary Cares Fund can be made confidentially through local physicians.

Students at Brackendale Secondary School will be making a global difference on Thursday with just a drop in a bucket.

On Thursday, students will be participating in the Great ing more than 10,000 students across Canada, in connection with Foster Parents Plan.

The event is designed to teach participants that water is a valuable resource no matter where you live.

The event features teams of and fund-raising event involv- racing through an obstacle course. Team members must successfully carry all the water from the "well" bucket back to their "community" bucket. The first team to fill the "community" container wins the race.

Nationwide.

GUARANTEED TO WORK or Your Money Back!

Now, for the first time ever in Canada, you can experience the phenomenal pain relief and joint repair of the Lakota Joint Care System. This amazing arthritis product developed by the Plains Indians is currently the fastest selling product of its kind on the Canadian market. With a success rate of almost 100%, arthritis sufferers will be absolutely astounded at the pain relief they will achieve with the Lakota Joint Care System. No natural product available on the market today works better - WE GUARANTEE IT!

This incredible, first-of-its-kind, arthritis system contains both topical and oral products that alleviate pain WITHIN MINUTES from arthritis, strained muscles, sports injuries, low back pain, fibromyalgia and shingles while providing your body with the essential nutrients it needs to help lubricate joint capsules, repair damaged joint cartilage and help prevent further joint degeneration. By providing fast pain relief, people with joint and arthritis problems can maximize joint movement thereby increasing blood circulation to the joint which allows the other nutrients in this formula to work better and faster repairing damaged joint cartilage.

Due to its fantastic results the Lakota Joint Care Formula is being heavily endorsed by many Pharmacists and Natural Health Consultants. Dr. Henry Cheng, M.B., B.S., D.M.R.D., C.N.P.A., Pharmasave owner in Cloverdale, B.C, has this to say about the Lakota Joint Care Formula, "In all my years working in a Pharmacy as a Natural Health Consultant, I have yet to see a natural arthritis formula that works as well as the Lakota Joint Care Formula, especially for pain control. Its unique combination of American Indian, Ayurvedic and Chinese herbs combined with an enzyme (for maximum absorption) and modern mucopolysaccharides (glucosamine and chondroitin) has put the Lakota Joint Care Formula in a unique class all by itself. And for people who cannot take the capsules because of contra-indications, the Lakota Topical Roll-on has produced remarkable results".

The Lakota oral capsules provide pain relief for the vast majority of people in less than 72. hours while the Lakota topical roll-on brings relief within 15 minutes. We strongly urge anyone with joint or muscle pain to try the Lakota Joint Care System - we guarantee that you won't be disappointed!

Dear Lakota Herbals.

I've been severely arthritic for 12 years and in pain daily... I tried Lakots and after five days ! could not believe it, there was no more pain. It is now day 14 and I am still pain free. I now just take one capsule in the am and one in the pm to keep the pain in check. I have also noticed the swelling in my joints disappearing daily. I think everyone should try this wonderful product.

amish RCMP and BC
bulance paramedics onded to the scene near iton Creek around 3 p.m.
family of four were on
y. 99 when they somehow control of their car and t over the hill.

An elderly man was taken to SGH for treatment and later released.

Police are still investigating.

A Pemberton Avenue resident had her 1989 grey Ford Mustang stolen from her parking space last week.

The vehicle bearing licence plate HRS 064, went missing sometime between May 11 and May 18.

Anyone with information is asked to call Squamish RCMP at 898-9611.

A 20-year-old Squamish woman was allegedly assaulted last week.

The victim made her statement to police at the detachment on May 21 after being allegedly attacked at a bar in Squamish.

The victim had minor injuries. Police have suspects and the case is still under investigation.

A Britannia Beach business was broken into in the early morning hours of May 23.

Culprits smashed a window to gain entry and made off with a quantity of cigarettes and some money.

Some of the property was recovered nearby. Police said it appears the culprits had dropped it as they were fleeing the scene.

Police are being assisted by Forensic Identification Services and the matter is still under investigation.

With the recent break-ins around Squamish and the summer weather right around the corner, police have a few reminders for people.

"I would like to remind the public that this is the season where people leave their windows and doors open for ventilation — this also leaves the public vulnerable to thefts and break-ins," said Const. Dan Seward. "Please ensure your house is secure when you go out. Another problem that is often reported to the police is stereo noise from your neighbour residences. Police are asking that you be considerate of others rights to enjoy the peaceful enjoyment of their property as well."

Opening in Squamish soon!

Business booming downtown and elsewhere

New stores open doors in Squamish

> By Ian Jacques The Chief

Whether it's getting a good cup of java in the morning, a great haircut or a tasty sandwich for lunch, Squamish has seen a new trend for consumers of late — new businesses opening their doors.

The Songbird Coffee Company opened in the Highlands Mall last week.

The coffee shop is a threefold business with Royal Lepage/Black Tusk Reality in the upstairs offices, with the coffeehouse and a new Sea to Sky Tourist Information Centre on the lower floor.

The tourist information centre should be up and running in about three weeks. It will feature a number of brochures and information outlining events and activities in the will feature a myriad of inforcomputer system with information about Squamish, and Whistler Vancouver.

"One of my goals is to drive traffic downtown," said Songbird Coffee Company co-owner David Squamish. Smith. "This computer system will be user-friendly and area as well as a touch-screen mation about Squamish restaurants, shops and attractions. "The potential is limitless." drive traffic downtown."

Besides the coffeehouse, two new hair salons have opened up downtown

Divaz Hair Co., located on Second Avenue opened on April 2, and Headlines Hair and Colour Studio (formerly Vision Hair Salon) opened in early April in the Royal Bank Plaza.

Route 99 Auto Repair is a new automotive service centre located on Pemberton Avenue and two new eateries, Chef Big D's Deli and The Pause Café, both are now open for business on Cleveland Avenue.

"Seeing these new businesses is great to see," said

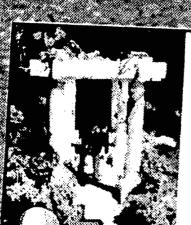

Chamber Squamish Commerce Manager McKenzie.

"Downtown cores in lo places go through cha The more services you the more people it will be to the area."

"Certainly it's a revital tion of sorts for the do town," said Mayor Con Lonsdale. "It's nice to some of those business spa that were once empty, are ing back up again."

EDITORIAL

Hidden merchants

The theme of the Squamish Chamber of Commerce's Sea to Sky Trade Fair this year was "Hidden Treasures.

It could as easily have been called "Hidden Merchants." In 1998 and 1999, the Trade Fair was an absolute sell-out, with 136 booths filling Brennan Park to overflowing for three days.

Last year, a scaled-back two-day Trade Fair saw 106 booths. This year, that number dropped to 85 — a 38 per cent drop in just two years.

The dropping attendance numbers reflect the lack of stuff to see. Despite the efforts of the organizers, who covered nicely with "rest areas" and a setup that only used threequarters of the arena at Brennan Park, you couldn't hide the fact that the old Trade Fair just ain't what she used to be.

Merchants that have been very visible in past Trade Fairs, from grocery stores to real estate firms to car dealerships to banks to retail shops, were very conspicuously absent this year.

So was the District of Squamish. After having elected a council on a clear "open for business" platform, after having had a commendable presence last year and a mere two weeks after the Mayor addressed the Chamber of Commerce to talk about the district's many business-friendly ventures, there was no sign of the district anywhere at the Trade Fair.

Some merchants we spoke to on Saturday, manning their stores rather than booths at the Trade Fair, expressed doubts about what good the Trade Fair does for local business and if the costs outweigh the benefits.

They have a point. After shelling out hundreds of dollars to book a booth, merchants have to spend more money and time planning and preparing a booth, spend an entire weekend manning it, and either have to hire staff to mind the store for the weekend or simply close up shop to attend a fair whose attendance continues to drop year over year and where direct sales benefits difficult to measure.

But one merchant who did set up at the Trade Fair put it best: being at the Trade Fair isn't necessarily about doing business. It's about laying the foundations for business by networking, by putting faces to names and voices heard over the telephone.

And perhaps most importantly, it's about showing support for Squamish and demonstrating to ourselves, to each other and to our visitors that this town is open for business.

It's clear that a change in format is needed. After 18 years of doing essentially the same thing with some minor variations, it's time for a shake-up, be it a change in venue, hours, the time of year it's held or the entire concept of a local Trade Fair.

Perhaps a recreation/outdoor sports fair combined with the traditional merchants and booths is what's needed to draw in visitors and highlight both our great recreational opportunities and our strong business community at the same time.

Whatever the outcome, when the new Trade Fair model is ready, it needs merchants — and the District of Squamish — to step up and show some support.

ed Nebbeling had the bad MLAs will understand that." MLA of the New Era on the hot seat on Friday.

The West Vancouver-Garibaldi MLA found himself under the media's microscope on BCTV and in Vaughn Palmer's column for having lobbied BC Ferries on behalf of Horseshoe Bay residents opposed to the Crown corporation's expansion project.

Perfectly appropriate behaviour for an MLA looking out for his constituents. The only problem was they weren't his constituents at the time. Under our legislative system, re-elected MLAs are technically out of office from the time the legislature is dissolved for the election campaign until the time they are sworn in again.

In a scrum with reporters in Victoria Friday, premier-designate Gordon Campbell was asked if Nebbeling's behaviour was appropriate.

"No. It is not," Campbell told the cameras." It's not an unusual thing to take place I think as we go through a transition period. I have communicated [with Nebbeling] and said it is not appropriate and I think all of our luck to be the first Liberal The wrist has been slapped, in other words.

While at least one local source claims this will hurt Nebbeling's chances of getting into cabinet next week, we still don't agree. Big as the caucus is, Campbell will ill afford to let one of his more experienced MLAs languish on the considerable Liberal back benches. If anything, Nebbeling has to be cursing his timing and his luck. With the NDP, the poster boys and girls for scandal, run right out of town, the provincial media has been waiting for the first Liberal MLA to stumble to make some hay from. Somebody had to take the first post-election cream pie, and Nebbeling's wearing it.

He just has to make sure not to make a habit of stepping in it. The media would love to paint somebody as the next Jeremy Dalton, Nebbeling's fellow Liberal in West Vancouver who was drummed out of caucus and office for over-use of his MLA letterhead in some very personal causes.

Consider it a lesson learned.

Lovely to have Robin Williams and Al Pacino working their magic here in Squamish again last week.

The magic that counted with the locals, though, was the offscreen variety, with both stars making unscheduled cameos in both Squamish General Hospital and Hilltop House to spread some cheer to those who probably won't be able to get out to see the film once it's released.

That's true class.

It was also gratifying to have Mr. Pacino in our very own establishment, the Squamish Chief hotel bar, on Thursday filming a scene for Insomnia.

No, wait! That's the Chieftain, for those of you who wondered after seeing Pacino's picture in the Sun Friday.

LETTER OF THE WEEK

Why was the library funding cut?

Is there something wrong with this picture?

Our town is experiencing tough times due to a declining industrial tax base.

As a result the District has cut the budget of the Tourist Information Service when exactly the opposite is required.

The Library's request for funding from the District to meet increased operational costs has also been cut, resulting in Saturday closures for what is arguably the most important public institution in the community. And then, in the most bizarre twist, we hear that the District has committed $110,000 this year (and apparently an additional $100,000 for next year) to produce a series of chainsaw carvings depicting the history of Squamish.

Where did this notion come from? Where was the public consultation? Why has this money already been committed when we do not even have a space allocated to install the carvings? Where is the volunteer organization that should be making this sort of community project happen? Where is the majority public sentiment demanding that this be done?

Though not particularly attracted to chainsaws, I believe a museum that celebrates the history of logging in Squamish is long overdue. Something along the lines of the Railway Heritage Park — a museum that has slowly grown through the enormous dedication of countless volunteers, with support from the private sector and facilitated by local government.

I do not support the use of public funds to pay for one councillor's pet project.

Let us thank the four candiates who ran for the recent ovincial elections in the Vest Vancouver-Garibaldi iding: Peter Tatroff — Freen Party; Ted Nebbeling -Liberals; Barrie MacLeod - NDP; and Robert Adam Marijuana Party.

Congratulations to Ted Nebbeling who won. He is now facing a tremen-ous challenge to help folow through on the promises the B.C. Liberals have made, specially when it appears that there are not enough unds to provide all what has een promised regarding ublic health care, educaon, and the creation of a renewed economy.

It is not impossible to fulfill these promises if the 76 candidates strife to fight against waste.

Waste throughout government and their agencies; waste in schools, hospitals and municipal matters; and waste in the use of our provincial resources.

Likewise, we the majority of B.C. citizens whom have awarded the B.C. Liberals a massive mandate, let us work with them to achieve their goal of a "positive future" by also being accountable and cutting out waste!

They are about to change the name of our school from Brackendale Secondary to Don Ross Secondary School. The good side is that it will honour the man who worked so hard to build this school. The name also sounds more sophisticated but there are some down sides. The school will be the only school in Squamish not named after geographical locations. I

Bid News:

The benefits of bidding for the Olympic Games

Preparing a winning bid for the Olympic Winter Games and Paralympic Games in 2010 is no simple task. We know that Canada will face excellent bids from other countries, but the goal of the Vancouver Whistler 2010 Bid Corporation is to have the best plan when members of the International Olympic Committee make their selection for the 2010 Games in 2003.

That's why the Corporation is currently developing every aspect of the Winter Games Bid including sport venues, accommodations for athletes, transportation, economic opportunities, environmental impacts and media facilities.

All this work for something that may or may not happen nine years from now may seem like a lot of effort, but it's a worthwhile venture.

believe that the school board has no right to change this

"The bid process is an excellent platform for tourism marketing," says Don Calder, CEO of the Vancouver Whistler 2010 Bid Corporation. "As we take the bid to the international stage, we have an opportunity to showcase B.C.'s natural beauty, community spirit, pride, skills and achievements."

The bid is also a catalyst for regional infrastructure improvements.

However, B.C. doesn't have to wait until 2010 to experience the full impact of the Bid. An immediate tangible is Legacies Now, a province-wide program that focuses on sport, youth, events and communities. To date, sport, youth and athlete development programs have received $775,000 through Legacies Now initiatives.

Legacies Now ensures the Winter Games Bid will leave a lasting sport system legacy for the benefit of all British Columbians. The program is supported by the 2010 Bid Corporation, the provincial government and corporate partners to benefit athletes throughout B.C. - from introductory to Olympic levels, in winter and summer sports.

The economic benefits of producing a winning bid and hosting the 2010 Winter Games include an estimated more than $1.2 billion in direct revenues from licensing, sponsorship, ticket sales and television rights, up to 25,000 jobs and up to $258 million in provincial and federal tax revenue.

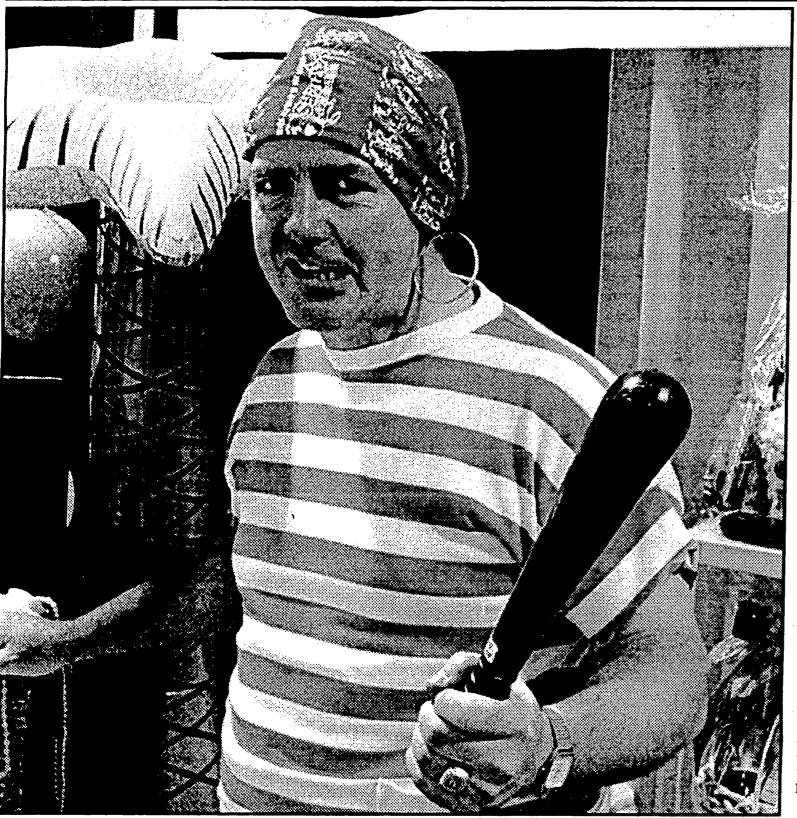

The words of the late Carol Anne Letheren, former CEO of the Canadian Olympic Association sum up the benefits of participating in the bid process. "Like the Olympics itself, a bid to host the Games can inspire a community to be the best it can be."

While Hollywood took over Squamish with their movie shoot, young stars dazzled for the cameras at this year's Trade Fair.

The Treasure Mountain movie area was one of the most popular venues among the more than 80 booths and displays.

The new movie, set to begin shooting in July, had more than 80 people audition throughout the weekend.

"We had people from as far away as Victoria strutting their stuff in front of the cameras," said director Adriane Polo. "It's just been a great response."

The ever-popular Jack Fowler from Health Food Heaven got into the spirit of the theme, dressing up in his best pirate costume.

Hidden Treasures owner David Feth also did a pirate impression.

The Lions Club held their own treasure hunt with participants collecting clues from different booths to be eligible for prizes.

Squamish Chamber of Commerce manager Karen Hodson said she felt the event was positive and like most years, there are areas for improvement.

"The numbers might be a little bit down, but the positive feedback is very high," Hodson said.

"There are factors like the weather that you can't control. On Saturday, I'd say we had about 1,000 people come through and that was with a beautiful day outside. On Sunday, it was pretty steady all day long."

Precision and care for vet hopeful liesha Timms is a stickler for detail when she's creating beautiful sculptures in her 3D art class at Howe Sound Secondary School.

She has the same philosophy when it comes to dealing with her other passion caring for animals.

Timms has used her years at HSSS to help carve out a career as a veterinary technician once she graduates with her class on Friday during commencement ceremonies at Brennan Park Recreation Centre.

"We (my family) have always had lots of animals and I love taking care of them," Timms said. "I've just completed a work experience program working at the local vet clinics and it's really giving me a lot of valuable experience that will go a long way once I get to school."

Veterinary technicians care for sick or injured animals, under the supervision of a veterinarian.

To do so, they take blood samples and x-rays, give medication, perform dental work and assist in surgery.

Howe Sound grad Aliesha Timms with one of her of latest creations, a bust of Joxer, a character in the fantasy television show Xena Princess Warrior. Timms, a avid artist and sculpture, is hoping to become a Veterinary Technician.

To do the job effectively, you need to cope with both physical and mental demands. You may have to care for dozens of animals at any one time and you are often on your feet all day.

These pressure filled demands don't faze Timms in the least.

"When I'm working on my art work and sculptures, I'm often on my feet for a long time," she said. "It's very demanding and precision orientated work. If you make one mistake when you're creating a sculpture, it might mean starting all over again from scratch.

"In a lot of ways, the things

I do and feel when I'm sculpting are things that I will have to do when I go into this field."

Timms hopes to continue sculpting in her free time, but for now she's devoting all of her energies into getting into her college of choice — Richtown in Chatham, Ont.

"It's a two-year program and it's a very specialized course," Timms said. "The program is associated with Guelph University and they have probably the best vet course in the country. My family is moving to Ontario, so it's nice having the opportunity to go to a great school and still be close to my famianimals, or creating beautiful artwork, Timms is part of the Global Awareness program at the school and is involved in the school choir.

For grad, she created her own grad dress and is looking forward to showing it off to her friends on the weekend.

"It sounds like a lot of work, but there is a balance that you have to achieve in order to get everything done," she said. "I like to be busy and active, so to me everything that I do really isn't work to me.

"Maybe that's one of the reasons why this job area appeals so much to me."

Dry Grad a home-town affair for class of 2001

Boat, convention centre, bylaws prompt change

By Darren Gallagher The Chief

The demand for an all-night party has Squamish grads sticking around town this year.

Dry Grad 2001 got off to a bit of a rocky start, with manure sales at half of what was expected. However, things have picked up and with a variety of fund-raising efforts the party should do just fine.

"Everything has come on," said Dry Grad committee chairman Luc Leblanc. "We're down to about one tonne of manure and that should be gone pretty soon.

"We're trying to provide a fun and safe environment for these kids to have a good time.

"We couldn't make our grad a success if it weren't for all the people buying our manure."

A contribution also came from the Liquor Distribution Branch and its province-wide bookmark sale, the proceeds of which benefit dry grads.

In the Howe Sound School District, the LDB raised $1,500, which will be distributed to Howe Sound, Pemberton and Whistler secondary schools on a per grad basis.

"We're trying to provide a fun and safe environment for these kids to have a good time."

—Luc Leblanc

The itinerary for the Dry Grad starts on Friday, prior to the graduation ceremony.

At 7:30 p.m the parents of the Grade 11 class will host a Grad Tea.

Then the Rotary Club hosts a casino night 9-11 p.m. at Brennan Park Recreation Centre.

The following day, Saturday, will be a mocktail reception and presentation at 5:30 p.m., though this will also occur at Brennan Park rather than in the multi-purpose room at Howe Sound Secondary as in years past.

After mocktails the grads will take a cruise around Howe Sound, and are back by midnight for a dinner dance.

Between the MVBritannia's schedule and Vancouver bylaws not permitting a party in a public building past 1 a.m., Leblanc said a convention centre such as the Pan Pacific Hotel and B.C. Place is the only option.

The Pan Pacific was already booked when the grad committee called: B.C. Place was available, but in March called to say the group could be bumped.

A facility on the North Shore was an option, but there was no place to dock the MV Britannia.

The reduced cost also means more money can be devoted to prizes and activities during the Dry Grad.

"We've probably got 25 parent volunteers that have worked very hard and a real big thanks to them," said Leblanc.

"All the grads have put some time in, but there's a special 15 or 20 that have really worked hard."

Forestry and tourism come together with an international flavour when a dozen students from all over the world come to Squamish this week. A dozen undergraduate and graduate students from the University of British Columbia's International House are coming for a two-day trip this Thursday and Friday to learn not only about forestry, but also family life in Canada.

The tour is a joint effort of the Squamish Rotary Club and the Vancouver South Rotary Club.

The students come from China,

Germany, Brazil, Iran, Singapore, Japan, China, Chile and Poland and are involved in a variety of fields of study at UBC, including architecture, biotechnology engineering, film, theatre and creative writing as well as forestry. "It's quite a good group," said Bill Manson, who is organizing the tour on the Squamish side.

While in Squamish, the students will tour Interfor's dryland sort, sawmill and Tree Farm Licence 38 logging operations, as well as Squamish Terminals and the West Coast Railway Heritage Park. They may also be shown a new film produced by Interfor on its activities in TFL 38 and other coastal logging operations.

The students will be billeted by local Rotarians, giving most of the students their first off-campus introduction to Canadian residents, according to Clyde Griffiths of International House.

The program, which has run for several years with students going to Penticton, is a pilot project for Squamish, Griffiths said.

The students will be hosted at a special dinner at Squamish Valley Golf and Country Club Thursday night by the Rotarians, and Manson hopes the students will share their stories and experi-

"All in all I think it's going to be an interesting exercise," said Manson.

Big Leaguers get a wake-up call

Howe Sound suffers first loss of the year

By Ian Jacques The Chief

The Howe Sound Big League baseball squad learned a few valuable lessons on Sunday — never take any opponents lightly.

Howe Sound came out flat in their double-header against the White Rock Athletics and it cost them their first game of the season.

Fortunately for the home

The Athletics picked up a single in the third, and two runs in the fourth to tie the game at three.

Howe Sound went ahead by one in their at-bat in the fourth, but coughed up the lead again in the fifth.

White Rock tacked on two more runs in the sixth and seventh innings to pull out an 8-5 win.

The loss spoiled a solid pitching performance from Andrew Bennett, who pitched six innings of five-hit ball.

Bennett rung up 10 White Rock batters in the process and only three walks.

Offensively, Howe Sound was led by Sean Roberts who scored once and drove in two, Dion Romano also scored a pair of runs.

"White Rock is a little more solid than some of the other teams that we've played so far this year," said coach Don McKenzie. "If the kids were side, they regrouped in game on their game we would have as Bennett reached on an infield single, stole a pair of bases and scored on a sacrifice fly.

Despite the offence, Krzanowski struggled in inning three as White Rock put together a couple of hits and an error to lead 5-3.

Krzanowski left the game pitching two and two thirds allowing three earned runs on four hits while walking three.

Jesse Pettersen came in for Krzanowski and shut White Rock down the rest of the way, allowing Howe Sound to begin their comeback. In the fifth, Roberts, and Krzanowski Cole McKenzie all scored to put Howe Sound a head 6-5.

The big hit of the inning was McKenzie's double.

In the sixth, Howe Sound tacked on a little insurance with a home run from Pettersen and another run scoring double by Cole.

"It took us about 13 innings to get the sticks going and I'm glad they did," McKenzie said.

"If our guys play up to their potential, we can beat any team. I think we showed that in the later innings of game two and it paid off."

On Sunday, Howe Sound returns to action with a makeup doubleheader against Cypress Park that was rained out earlier in the season with games at 12 and 3 p.m. at Brennan Park.

"We'll have to come loaded and ready for bear," McKenzie said. "Cypress Park is probably the top team in the league. If we don't come to play, we'll be in trouble."

The Howe Sound Minor Softball season is in full swing as teams prepare for the district zones.

A Midget team has been put together recently, bringing the league up to 20 teams.

There are four teams in Mini-mite, four in Mite, five in Squirt, three in Peewee, one in Bantam and two teams from Whistler competing in the Peewee division.

All teams will be involved in a mid-season tournament the first week of June with the Midgets, Bantam, Squirts and Peewees are looking to qualify for the North Vancouver District Zone Finals set for June 15-17 in North Vancouver.

The minor ball wrap-up is set for June 23 and 24.

Justin Krzanowski looks doesn't seem to agree with umpire Ian Sutherland's call in game one of Howe Sound's twin-bill with White Rock.

Gardner grabs three of four⁵q Fastball squad ups record to 6-4 with solid

weekend

Greg Gardner brought their A-game down to Vancouver on the weekend and it paid off with three wins.

The Gardner fastpitch club started the weekend strong with a split on Friday night with the Vancouver Grey Sox at South Hill.

In game one, Doug Allin pitched a solid game for Gardner in a 6-2 win.

Player/manager John Stuart said no one really stood out offensively for the squad, but credited a good team effort for the win.

In game two, Jim Ullock took to the hill and he pitched a gem.

Ullock threw a five-hitter and struck out seven, but fell 2-1 in a heart-breaker.

Gardner had a 1-0 lead going into the seventh, but let the lead slip away.

"It hurt a lot not to get both wins," Stuart said. "We made a few mental mistakes in the inning and it cost us."

On Sunday, Gardner was back at South Hill, this time to face the Whikkinish Hawks, a team Gardner swept in Squamish on May 13.

Gardner swept them again with solid hitting and even better pitching.

In game one, Allin pitched a two-hitter to pace his team to an 8-0 win.

Calem Gardner, Dave Gaudin Kevin and Schellenberg led the way offensively.

In game two, Ullock picked up the win with another solid outing as Gardner blasted the Hawks 12-1.

"The young guys hit really well and we just had an outstanding day," Stuart said. "We're happy with the three wins, but obviously we would have liked to get all four."

Schellenberg went six for six on the day and paced the attack all day long, Stuart added.

Stuart also mentioned the influence of having Ullock's experience on the team.

"Jim's been huge for us and I just don't mean the pitching," Stuart said. "He's coached the Australian Olympic team and his experience and his coaching has really had a positive effect on the young guys."

for Squamish five

By Ian Jacques The Chief

Squamish was well represented at the Peach City Marathon in Penticton last weekend.

Ray Peters, Mae Palm, Ken Adams, Imre Sorban and Tom O'Brennan competed in the event.

For Palm, it was the 98th marathon that she has competed in.

Palm is planning to take part in the Penticton Ironman Triathlon, which she competed in last year for the first time and is still deciding which event will be the century mark for her.

The event marked the fifth marathon for Peters in just under a year.

"We all had a great time and it was a fun race," Peters said.

The race results for the Squamish grow were:

Ken Adams – 40th in Men's 45-49 in time of 3:33:24. Imre Sorban – 40th in Men's 50-54 in time of 3:33:24 Tom O'Brennan - 51st in Men's 45in a time of 3:39:27

Ray Peters – 76th in Men's 55-59 in time of 3:51:20

Mae Palm – 98th in Women's 60-64 a time of 3:57:33.

Open house at NVOS and Evans Lake

he staff at the North Vancouver Outdoor School look forward to the annual Open House each year when the public is invited to tour the facility.

The fun-filled family event will be held this Sunday (June 3) from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. There will be many activities to keep you and your children occupied including visits to the Salish Big House, the salmon hatchery and forest lab and of course, checking out the animals at the farm.

Please leave your pets at home that day. Take along a picnic lunch or taste the food available at the school.

There is an Open House at the Evans Lake Forest Information Centre on Sunday (June 3) as well from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

You can either drive up to the lake or take the shuttle bus from the North Vancouver Outdoor School.

Adults and children will be able to tour the facility, meet the summer camp staff and enjoy forestry and water front sports.

If you wish more information; please call 898-3832.

Last week, our Over the Hill columnist Kay Wirachowsky was in hospital and we do hope you are feeling a little better each day Kay.

Thinking of Kay and her column, just want to mention that the Tantalus Seniors Centre Society will hold its annual general meeting on June 6 at 1 p.m. when the election of officers will take place. The last soup and sandwich day at the Centre until the fall will be held on Thursday (May 31) starting at 11:30 a.m.

The Squamish Special Olympics is holding a garage sale at the Elk's Hall on Second Avenue this Saturday (June 2) from 10 a.m. to 2

Donations are always welcome and they can be dropped off at the Elk's Hall after 7 p.m. on Friday. If you need items picked up please call Martha at 892-1565.

Tomorrow evening (May 30), the Squamish Public Library will be closed for the annual volunteers' dinner. This year, 26 volunteers will be honoured and Jean McKinnon will be recognized for her 40 years of volunteer service at the library.

Everyone is invited to a reception at the Squamish Public Library on Saturday (June 2) from 1 to 3 p.m. Come and meet the people who created the variety of birdhouses now on display at the library. Bids on these houses will be taken until 3 p.m. on June 2.

The person with the highest bid will be able to take the birdhouse home at that time. The people's choice award will also be awarded that afternoon.

The Squamish Soup

Kitchen is a lifeline to many people in our community and volunteers keep it running. The Soup Kitchen is asking for more volunteers and if you can only spare three hours every two weeks you are accepted.

Please call Gloria at 892-2225 and she will give you more information. Cash donations are always welcomed and the address is Box 2106, Squamish VON 3GO.

The additional interviews for the Moving Chords Junior and Youth Choirs will be held tomorrow, (May 30) from 4 to 6 p.m. in the Squamish Baptist Church. Each singer will be required to sing a short song with a suggestion of Oh Canada or Happy Birthday. Parents are welcome to sit in during the interview. If you wish more information please call the director, Colleen Koop, at 898-5981.

A special presentation by the Sechelt Youth Orchestra will highlight the ninth annual Star Search set for the Eagle Eye Community Theatre on June 8.

The Howe Sound Performing Arts Association sponsors this event each year and it features the talented youth in our area.

Tickets are available at Mostly Books, Highland Video, IGA Plus and Billie's Bouquet at $8 for adults and $6 for students and seniors.

Two pioneers from our community, Rose Lamport and George Behrner, passed away recently and our sympathy is extended to their families. A memorial service was held for Mrs. Lamport last Saturday and this Saturday (June 2) a memorial service for George and his wife Mary, who died earlier this year will be held.

Storytime for three- and four-year-olds at Squamish Public Library has finished until September.
